

The Book of True Life – Introduction

1. General Information

The current teachings in German are a faithful translation of the original text of the Book of True Life in 12 volumes and proclaim divine revelations. It is nothing less than the Second Coming of the Lord as the Holy Spirit. Through specially selected and prepared tools (the word in the Spanish text is: "spokesman" as well as singers, promoters of words) Christ gave us great truths to explain to us the meaning of our earthly life, to reveal unknown or not understood secrets of the Spirit, and to give us comfort, strength and guidance in the midst of a growing chaos, which brings many tribulations, to humanity in order to purify it. It is the eternal and constant message of God to His children: in the First Time through Moses and the prophets, and in the Second Time through Jesus and his disciples. If the message seems new to us in the present Third Time, it is because many of the words of the First and Second Times that are not understood are explained, and because the Lord gives us more spiritual insights that He could not give us at that time. ("I have a lot to tell you, but you can't understand it now." Joh. 16,12.)

Each teaching is divided into many verses and each verse is numbered; this not only serves as a precise reference to a passage of the text, but also aims to show that it is not an easy reading; rather, the content must be read, studied and established with the senses collected and carefully. After, however, the most important thing should follow - the execution, the fact.

The attentive reader will notice that many spiritual thoughts and teachings are repeated more often, although mostly in different words or from different points of view. There are several reasons for this: firstly, the teachings have been given for many years in dozens of meeting places. Secondly, there were several mediators of words, and depending on the spiritual maturity of the instrument, the Word of God could manifest itself. And finally, the teachings were not held in closed circles, but in public in front of a simple audience, so that newcomers could come again and again, so that the Lord would have to repeat the basics for the same in His Word.

Today we should not run into repetitions, but they should give us the opportunity to imprint the divine thoughts within us. And besides, the repetitions confirm that the teachings come from God; because despite the multitude of places in which they were given and the many mediators of words, the unity of the Word is manifested.

It would be disastrous for all humanity if, due to materially misunderstood prophecies — like the Jewish people almost 2000 years ago - they had to overcome and remain deaf to the voice of their Lord, who in this unmistakable and genuine word of God addresses every human spirit and calls him to contemplate, convert and spiritualize. The same voice will one day ask each of us to tell us how far he has fulfilled his kind warnings and instructions.

In the work "Book of the True Life" the main theme is the spirit, which is why this word is very often found in various connections. What does "spirit" mean? - In today's common use of language and dictionaries, the word "spirit" is used in the sense of the ability to think, that is: mind, intellect, idea, wisdom, etc. — In these teachings, as in the Bible, the word spirit has a different meaning, and Jesus has made it clear when he said: "God is spirit, and those who worship him must worship him in spirit and in truth" (Joh. 4, 24). The eternal elemental power, God, is pure spirit, without form, but this does not exclude that He reveals Himself to His children in special cases also in human form, as a Father. The most essential quality of God is love, and for this love he created other spiritual beings out of himself in order to be able to give them His love. These spirits, sparks of the Spirit of God and, to a limited extent, with the same qualities as God, filled the infinite space until they separated from God because of their arrogance and disobedience, and were buried in a material body in order to return home. The essential part of man is therefore his spirit, the spark of the Divine Spirit in him. Briefly summarized below:

Spirit of God = love, wisdom and power.

Human spirit = Spiritual spark of God in man.

Spirits = spirits-primordial angels and human beings spiritual, are still in the material (incarnate) body or out of it (disembodied).

The divine revelations took place in Mexico in Spanish. The translation into German was done with great care, so that the spiritual sense was reproduced in any case. Translators have largely adhered to the original text in the formation of words and sentences, so sometimes some unusual expressions and sentence structures arose. Only in relatively few cases did we have to choose a freer translation in order to find a pleasant form of expression in German, but the spiritual sense always remained faithful.

In order to study the teachings of Christ in the "Book of True Life", it is absolutely not necessary to read the volumes in turn, that is, to start with Volume I, because not only each of the volumes, but also each teaching contains a closed and understandable discourse on the teaching of Christ.

Each of these teachings represents a harmonious unity of divine teachings, addressed to listeners in Mexico of the time, but — as has been stressed several times in it — they are a legacy for all humanity today and for future generations.

It is not the letter of the divine word, but its deep and inner meaning that elevates the spirit of man and is food and balm for his hungry soul. At the same time, it serves as a guide for their behavior in everyday life.

Listening to the divine word is the first step on the path to perfection. It awakens in us the desire to internalize what we hear and apply it in our daily lives in order to fulfill the divine commandment that Jesus gave us 2000 years ago: "Love God above all things and your neighbor as yourself." This is the true worship service that leads to inner peace and therefore peace in the world.

Since a single earthly life in general is not enough to become "as perfect as our heavenly Father", we have been given the possibility to gradually unfold our soul and to amend through the law of reincarnation — a law of divine love, mercy and justice.

In many teachings, the Divine Spirit warns us how important true spiritual prayer is for us to draw closer and closer to God, to communicate with Him in the end from spirit to spirit, and also to put everything in His hand in our daily life.

In the Second Time the Divine Spirit taught us the Lord's prayer through the mouth of Jesus. Today, in the Third Season, God recommends an even shorter prayer that contains everything that we don't even have to say out loud, but that we can direct to our Heavenly Father deeply felt in our hearts as an inner longing: "Lord, your will be done to me."

The Commission, entrusted with the compilation of this compilation, dedicates this work of revelation in the name of the Lord to all people of good will in the world, inspired by the desire to achieve the elevation of their spirits by studying the divine revelations and exercising the teachings of the Divine Master. Everyone who feels in himself the desire to live the teachings of the Sixth Seal, received in this age of the Spirit of Truth, must taste to the last drop the spiritual sense contained in this work. Then a plea will come out of his heart to all mankind, and a prayer will sound the most delicate strings of the human heart.

2. The Need for Divine Revelations

At all times, God has made Himself known to humanity, He has comforted us with His Word, He has given us His commandments and He has transmitted to us teachings about His creation and our existence.

Whenever people in pre-Christian times forgot these divine teachings, God sent His prophets to remind them of His laws.

When men created more than 600 human rules of these Ten Commandments, God sent Jesus, through whose mouth Christ, the Divine Word, proclaimed himself, who summed up the Ten Commandments in a single commandment: "Love God above all things and your neighbor as yourself."

Once again, men forgot this simple and redemptive recommendation of God. Cruel wars and inhuman persecutions to this day are a sad proof of this.

Mixing divine truth with human dogmas, with excessive emphasis on external rites and ceremonies, as well as with false human interpretations of the pure divine word, many people today live in a mode of spiritual slavery.

Therefore, it was and is necessary for God to address humanity again today with illuminating and warning words. This happened for 66 years (1884-1950) in Mexico — in more than a hundred meeting places at the same time, where simple people gathered Sunday by Sunday to hear the uplifting and teaching words of God.

Witnesses of these meetings reported that these divine words flowed like a torrent of crystal-clear water from the mouths of the transmitters, called voice-carriers, for two or three hours without interruption and without the slightest lapse of language. Whoever took the meaning of the divine word with a pure and unprejudiced mind felt the presence of the Lord and the infinite love of the Heavenly Father.

Humanity: I seek your reconciliation. You do not live in my Law; your harmony with your God and with everything created is broken. You do not love each other among brothers, and that is the secret of happiness that Jesus revealed to you. And if you have lost the harmony between one and the other, do you think you can preserve it with the elements of Creation?

The hand of man has unleashed justice on himself; a whirlwind stirs in his brain, a tempest roars in his heart and all this manifests itself also in Nature, its elements are unleashed, the seasons become inclement, plagues appear and multiply. It is that your sins grow producing diseases and foolish and reckless science does not recognize the order of what is arranged by the Creator.

If I only told you, you would not believe it, it is necessary that you feel the result of your works so that you will be disappointed; precisely you are now at that moment of your life, in which you are going to see the result of everything that you have been sowing. (100, 5-7)

People, persevere in my Doctrine and truly I tell you that three generations after yours, the spirit of your descendants will have achieved a great spirituality. Seek true elevation and then all humanity will do it, because your world is not condemned to be eternally a valley of tears, a land of sin, a hell of lust and war. The day of the Lord is already with you, my sword of righteousness will touch perversity. What will happen if I destroy the evil seed, vice and pride, and instead offer protection to the seed of peace, of concord, of regeneration and of true faith in Me? The world will have to be transformed; man will be transformed once his spiritual worship and his life are better. (87, 9)

My Word is poured out inexhaustibly on you. I am the Christ who dwelt among men in the Second Time, and who comes down to you again, to testify of Himself, fulfilling his promise and his word, as at that time I came to confirm by my works the law that the Father dictated to Moses, who did not do his will, nor that of men, but the will of the Eternal, therefore I tell you, if I did not erase what Moses said, neither would I now come to erase what I taught you in Jesus.

I am with you, because I promised and announced this to my disciples, when on a certain occasion, finding myself surrounded by them, they questioned me in this way: Teacher, you have said that you will leave, but that later you will return; tell us, when will this be? I saw that innocence and the desire to know made them search the arcana of their Lord; however, I kindly told them, "Indeed, the day is not far off when I will return among men," giving them to understand that my presence would be in Spirit, and at the same time, letting them know the signs that would announce my upcoming arrival. Those signs would be wars, chaos and great bitterness in all the earth; but truly I tell you, this is how my arrival was at this time, in the midst of chaos. Here I am, humanity, with a message of light and peace for your spirit, from which I am going to make an ark into which all men of faith who want to be saved will penetrate, where humanity can take refuge. This ark will be strong because of the faith, hope and charity of those who follow me and will have a spiritual resemblance to the one entrusted to Noah, when the elements were unleashed.

What time are you in? Analyze and you will realize that I have given you my lesson in three times. The first was the law, the second love and the third, which is the present, corresponds to wisdom.

One Spirit, which is mine, has always been with you; but if I have manifested it under three different phases, think that the forms in which I manifest Myself in all creation are infinite and at the same time perfect.

In the First Time you knew the Father as Judge and Legislator; in the Second Time I made my Word incarnate in Jesus and his word spoke with divine wisdom; Christ is the Word, the same one who said to men. "He who knows the Son knows the Father." Now you are in the Third Time, in which I pour out my wisdom on you.

Fulfilling my promise, I have come in Spirit, on the symbolic cloud that your spirits form when they rise to Me, to build the true temple in the heart of humanity.

When listening to me through these spokespersons, do not think that my Spirit lodges in these small and impure bodies; I have already told you that it is on your spirit that a ray of my light descends, which is divine inspiration, which is wisdom and love. Feel the miracle of this communication, recognizing that through the understanding of these rude creatures, the word springs from their lips that enlightens the ignorant and converts the sinner, making him build in his heart, a dwelling worthy of God, and giving him the key of faith, the one that opens the door of wisdom.

With infinite patience I waited for the time when the development of your spirit would allow you to understand my communication through the understanding of the speaker, as a preparation for the perfect communication between your spirit and mine.

That is the reason why the spokesman pronounces my word without his brain getting tired or his throat getting hoarse; because it is I who moves those lips, to make the call to humanity. I am inviting you to rest under the shade of the tree of life and to eat the fruit of eternal life. (123, 1-10)

3. Historical Development, Translation, Publication

At all times, God has revealed Himself to humanity — in the past and today.

The purest and highest form of communication between God and man is that of spirit to spirit. But since most men were not and are not prepared for this internally, God has taken mediators who revealed His Holy Word to the people in the form of laws, announcements and teachings:

In the First Time by Moses, the Patriarchs and prophets.

In the Second Time by Jesus, his disciples and apostles.

In the Third Time - today - through a crowd of voters during the years 1884 to 1950 in Mexico.

"This is the announced time when I had to speak to humanity and I want you to compile books in fulfillment of my prophecies with these words that I have given you,..." (6,52)
The announcements in Mexico were wisely prepared by the hand of God. In 1866, the spirit of the prophet Elijah was revealed for the first time through the mind of Roque Rojas and he said: "I am the prophet Elijah, the one of the transfiguration on Mount Tabor. He made Himself known to those gathered so that the Third Time, the age of the Holy Spirit, could begin. A few years later, after the fellowship had grown and the tools of Christ had been prepared, in 1884, it was revealed for the first time through the human mind of His chosen instrument, Damiana Oviedo.

Sunday after Sunday, ordinary townspeople gathered in simple meeting places to listen for about two hours to the divine message. As mouthpieces God used the numerous spokespersons (prophets of the present time) who made the ray of the divine word audible in an elevated state of mind.

Let the Lord Himself tell us about these extraordinary events:

Do you know about that cloud on which my disciples saw me ascend the last time I manifested myself to them? For indeed it was written that he would come again on the cloud, and I have fulfilled it. On the first of September, 1866, my Spirit came over the symbolic cloud to prepare you to receive the new lesson. Then in 1884, I began to give you my teaching. I did not arrive as a man, but spiritually limited in a ray of light to place it on the human understanding. That is the means chosen by my will to speak to you at this time and I will take into account the faith that you place in this word, because it will not be Moses who guides you through the desert in pursuit of the promised Land, nor Christ made man who makes you hear his word of life as a way of salvation and freedom; it is now the human voice of these creatures that reaches your ears and it is necessary to spiritualize to find the divine essence where I am present, that is why I tell you that it has merit that you believe in this word because it is given through imperfect beings. (236, 50)

According to God's will, the advertisements in Mexico lasted until the end of 1950. These divine revelations, messages or teachings were recorded and recorded in the last ten years before 1950. After 1950, 366 teachings were selected from this huge number of protocols and published in the 12-volume work "Book of True Life".

After 1975, Walter Maier, who had participated in the Sunday meetings from 1943 to 1950, and Traugott Göldenboth translated volume I into volume V into German and published it in Reichl Verlag (Germany). After Walter Maier's death in 2001, Traugott Göldenboth completed volume VI and published it in 2004.

Volumes VII to XII were translated by Traugott Göldenboth and published by the Buchdienst zum Leben (Book Service for Life) in 2014 to 2016.

4. Witness Walter Maier and a Speech by the Lord to 20 Germans

Walter Maier talks about his experiences and activities after his return to Germany:

I was lucky enough to go to Mexico in 1930 to continue my professional training. For many years I have enjoyed the joys of a new world and professional successes. While the great struggle of the nations was unfolding in various theaters of war, I came into contact with the Divine Revelations in the capital of Mexico in 1942 and was immediately attracted to them. However, I began to critically examine the messages until I soon realized that they were true revelations from the Heavenly Father. Then I was an enthusiastic listener and a personal witness to it.

There was a time when we were a group of up to 20 Germans within the Mexican community who listened to the teachings of the Divine Master on Sunday mornings in the middle of the Mexican community. We were known and respected as the "foreigners". Particularly between 1942 and 1945, when the Second World War broke out with its atrocities, we Germans found security and comfort in the Mexican community in the words of Christ. Because the events of the war weighed us all down, and the bitter fate of our distant homeland wounded us. Only God knows how many tears have been shed and how many sincere prayers have come to Him. In these years it happened that on several occasions, but always unexpectedly, the Lord addressed the Germans present directly in the course of his teachings.

He comforted us and exhorted us to pause in prayer and persevere, because when His hour has come, He will end the war, and then — sooner and faster than expected by men — the reconstruction of our homeland will take place. But at the same time, He also exhorted us not to leave arrogantly again, but to put our will under His, because we still have great tasks to fulfill in His work. He also called on the Mexican community that listens attentively not to stand up as judges, because they do not understand the background of the war. These words were a balm for our wounds, because as Germans we suffer the worldwide accusation of being the main culprits of the war.

It has its profound meaning that in the Mexican congregations of spiritual doctrine almost only the Germans listened as foreigners. The reason is that according to the statement of the Divine Master, there is a great "seed of Israel" in the German people, that is, that these human souls were incarnated in the Jewish people a long time ago. Only God knows these beings who are scattered among all peoples and religions, and in this Third Time he collects them spiritually and forms with them his spiritual Israel.

Next, Christ's address to the Germans during the teaching of May 6, 1945, will be pointed out to a wider circle of readers:

Blessed are you, my beloved children, I receive you. Behold, O blessed people of Israel, in the midst of you are these my beloved children. I want them to find in your chest the warmth of my Spirit, respect and brotherly love. I want them to be allowed to nest close, very close to your heart. Remember that I have entrusted you with a great task. Have mercy on them as I am merciful to you.

Do not be judges, blessed people, for verily I say to you, "You know nothing of what is happening in the present world, only I know it; for you see and judge things according to your intellect. But behind everything that has happened is my hand, there is my justice, my divine advice from the beginning of eternity is my divine advice that has no beginning. So what can you judge and what can you know? In the bosom of this (German) people there are many seeds of Israel, a great seed of Judah, the tribe that took up arms for the first time to attack a breach for the people of Israel, to open a road to Canaan. Now he took up arms to pave the way before the world. But I have taken him down, and have stopped him, and have said to him, Not because ye bear the sword of Judah, can ye show yourselves arrogant in the world. Reflect and persevere, for I will raise you up, who have always believed in Me. I will give you your bread, your house. I will make you like the other nations, and they will make you like you. No one will be worth less, no one will be worth more. The time will come, and the last will be the first again by his humility. Therefore I say to you: listen only to my word, understand it and keep your lips silent. But you, My beloved children of mine (that is, the German listeners), come to your Savior, not to your Judge. Your prayer is like a burnt offering, like a fragrant essence ascended to the height of My Throne. Day after day and night after night, your spirit has been like a guardian of your people, of your nation. Oh, if only My people of Israel of this nation (Mexico) would fulfill their spiritual duty as you do — how far I could have progressed! But, therefore, do not be vain, continue fulfilling your task and have that zeal, that love and respect for each other also in the future, because you do not know the hour when my hand sends you. I will prepare the way, and you will go forward.

I have already entrusted you to Joseph (head of the congregation) before and once again I am sending you to him. Why? that I may prepare you as a Messenger for my Trinitarian and Marian Work that appeared in this Third Time in this Mexican Nation, and that I may send you with this mark, this Work, this Love, this zeal and this Law, and that when you are in distant nations, you may contact my Son José and he may sound with joy the pleasant bell of your heart and sing Hosanna because the seed has been sown in a foreign land and the time will come when my word will be proclaimed in that country. When will this moment come? When you have safely progressed and have received my teachings. Always remain in contact with My people (meaning first of all the congregation in Mexico), keep meekness and humility. At this moment I make you feel the warmth of my return again. Stay healthy and healthy. Do not be afraid, through you thousands and thousands will receive my blessing, not only from your nation. Ask me not only for them, ask me for everyone. At this moment I grant your spirit a higher stage of development and I elevate the spirit of your guardian angel to a higher sphere of spirit, those spirits full of power that I have prepared for you. Those protectors will also be with you, here and in that nation.

Do not worry, My children, only the bad and the weeds will be uprooted. I will spare the wheat, I will preserve the good plants, and I will take advantage of them, and they will bear fruit. When? When you are ready to take care of them, because this is my will. Take My power, receive My peace and wait in vigil and prayer. Continue to be united with My son Joseph so that when the time comes, under his command, you will fulfill your task in full obedience according to My will.

What do you ask of me for those places (in your homeland)? Yes, it is really the same thing that you have already asked me so many times: peace, forgiveness, healing balm and justice, and in truth I tell you: I who am divine justice, love, the balm, the perfect ear, at this moment I draw men closer to Me and cover them with My hand, I bring them on My bosom and let the blood flow from My side that is the balm, to scourge the sick.

Spirits who look at these intercessors from beyond - see how much they have achieved and still achieve. Receive the light, O Spiritual World, I remove the shadows, the chains and the blood. I fill you with peace in My Name, who am Father, Son and Holy Spirit.

Continue in the vigil, my dear my children, wait in the suffering; in the end you will be full of rejoicing. You will come to me crying again, but then I will tell you: take the pain out of your heart and realize that I am life and I will put you in (real) life because this is my will.

Set out on your way, take up the cross on yourselves and follow me, my beloved children.

As for the words of the Lord.

Eleven years ago, when the time came when I wanted to leave my professional job in Mexico, I returned to Germany. Soon after I started translating the first volume into German with my friend Traugott Göltenboth, so that the revelations would be accessible to the German-speaking people. The first volume has been translated for a long time and was published some time ago by Otto Reichl Verlag, Germany, under the title: "Buch des Wahren Lebens" (Book of True Life). Now the second volume is finished, and we hope that he will also find his way into the hearts of German spiritual brothers and sisters.

5. An Account of the Life of a Spokesperson

No one else will be able to express better and more convincingly the deep feeling and experience of his inner and outer personal transformation than a direct contemporary witness who for many years was a spokesman for the Divine Revelations in Mexico:

I had just finished my 21 years of life. For years I had been tied to my house as a victim of a very annoying skin disease, which prevented me from enjoying the benefits of the sun or fresh air even for a few moments.

In those years of solitude, which seemed to me an eternity, all the more so when I was at the dawn of youth, where people chase the most vain dreams, I suffered a not slight crisis of impatience and despair. I must confess that only the benevolent generosity of my parents and brothers provided me with moral support in this ordeal, in addition to the quiet hope of recovering my health someday.

Many doctors took care of my case and subjected me to countless treatments, all without success. I just remember that after each failure, my hopelessness grew.

As my isolation, silence and loneliness became more unbearable every day, I fled to prayer and realized that my spirit found an unspeakable peace in it, and that in my heart there was a sense of anticipation that I would soon be released from my imprisonment.

My prayers grew more and more, and my spiritual concentration became deeper and deeper. I tried to meditate as often as possible, because as long as the prayer lasted, I remained relieved of all suffering. When the bliss ended and I fell back into the reality of my lonely, silent and homogeneous life, I always felt as if I had come from another world in which my spirit had been strengthened and inspired. Here I have to mention the fact that I formed my sentences from unthought instant ideas. I will never forget how I lost the concept of time during such raptures, and there were times when everything around me disappeared. However, I remember that in my childhood - around the age of 12 — without being able to explain this, almost daily I was in a kind of detachment from the soul, which lasted for several minutes, during which I had to act like an automatic machine, perhaps guided by the subconscious mind. There has never been any difficulty while this strange state lasted. Curiously, at first it scared me, but little by little I got to know it as the phenomenon intensified over time.

My illness reached its peak. Sometimes I felt as if my skin was burning under the effect of an internal fire, which could be moistened with anything. At the same time, my appearance became more and more deplorable.

One day, my Father appeared with the news that he heard the word of the divine Teacher from the mouth of a simple man, certainly chosen by God. In a poor assembly area in a remote part of Mexico. A good friend, who had long admired such revelations, had taken him away.

For a moment I was certain that it was He, the Teacher, who spoke with the help of human perception to approach men, seeking those who were hungry for light and thirsty for justice.

The miracle I was waiting for day after day was before me. He, with whom I had spoken so many times in my hours of pain, was now very close to me and was waiting for me to heal my body and soul.

I followed the call of the Lord! It was on Sunday, February 14, 1934, that I first entered that modest meeting room, one of the many where the divine message was heard. I was particularly impressed by the conversion and the deep concentration with which those present prepared to await the coming of the "divine ray", which was to inspire the inner ear of the "spokesman", who was to transmit the heavenly word.

The spokesperson or instrument was a woman on that occasion. A simple woman of, one might say, ordinary appearance and blind from birth. I must confess that her appearance did not make a particularly pleasant impression on me. All the more amazement, then, when his lips opened and let a sermon be heard of such depth, as wonderful and as wise as can hardly be imagined, interpreted with a sweet voice and full of a surprising intonation, which gave the message a deeply impressive and touching accent.

In the further course of the revelation, those present in the presence of the spokesman completely forgot and rose to the regions of the Spirit and fully enjoy the divine instruction. But if, during the revelation, someone accidentally opened his eyes and looked at the spokesman, he could notice how that miserable and ordinary being had been transfigured in the elevation of his sense, yes, how at such moments great beauty and imposing majesty radiated from him.

The divine word poured from his lips like an inexhaustible wave, an hour, two hours, three hours and more. All this came without getting stuck, without interruptions, without errors, without signs of fatigue and without the voice becoming hoarse or brittle. On the contrary, the longer the instruction lasted, the more inspiration seemed to increase perfection.

The presence of the Divine Master was felt so strongly in those moments of communication that his closeness and friendship felt very tangible. He spoke to all hearts! He read the most hidden thoughts of those present and touched the secret fibers of his listeners without hurting or accusing anyone. Each one felt in his heart what words of the Teacher's restless gaze, of love and wisdom, were addressed to him.

The divine message took on different shades and colors on the lips of the spokesman. When the Lord spoke as a Father, the voice communicated tenderness, forgiveness and love; when he proclaimed himself as a Teacher, it became deep and wise; and when he brought out the Judge, the voice of the spokesman received the tone of infinite authority and power, in which justice and divine zeal could be heard in such an impressive way that it really struck the listeners with devastation and blackmailed them with tears of repentance, and allowed them to make firm intentions of conversion and reparation.

I felt very small in front of so much greatness and like the last of those gathered. In my ignorance I thought that the Lord had certainly not noticed my insignificant presence. But soon I had to convince myself of my mistake and learn that the Teacher's gaze discovered everyone. After several months of frequent visits, with which I had no other purpose than to enjoy this spiritual feast, I was called by the Lord on an unforgettable afternoon. It was August 9, 1934, when I was marked and anointed to serve the divine word as a spokesman without leaving my amazement.

The deepest movement, the noblest and most abysmal feelings touched my heart at that highest moment. What could I refuse to deny to those who have an unrestricted right over their creatures at this sublime moment?

My fate was predetermined. Since that day I have lived nothing but to dedicate my life to such a difficult and delicate ministry.

A few months of preparation, which at the same time brought with it my complete physical recovery, served for training as a spokesman for the divine Master, to whom I have dedicated myself with body and soul since that hour, until December 31, 1950, when the light of the Deity ceased to manifest itself in this form.

If we, who were the torch bearers, wanted to relate the experiences, impressions and experiences we had in those years of unforgettable struggle against the crowds of the different meeting places scattered throughout our country, we would have to fill entire volumes, because our career was an uninterrupted succession of wonderful events, and it would be impossible to count them within the confined space.

But it is extremely important to emphasize that we had no other book for our preparation than the word that came from our lips. Because there must be no interference in our minds, so that we can receive the divine message as faithfully as possible. If we remained humble, the Lord distinguished us in love and well-being before His people. But once we let ourselves be dominated by vanity or selfishness, He touched us with His justice by withdrawing His inspiration from us for some time to show us that without Him we can do nothing, because without Him we are nothing.

Since the last communication from the Master at the end of 1950, I have never again felt any of the strange sensations that I carried in my being, year after year, during the exercise of the mission as a spokesman.

From that day on, a large number of brothers dedicated themselves to the task of collecting as many as possible of the teachings and revelations that the Lord had given us, which fortunately had been written down. From them a book was compiled that must be made accessible to the general public, and which is the source so far from which humanity can drink of the water of truth that the Master has left to the peoples of this and the future as a gift of love, light, justice and peace.

I was asked to give a testimony, that I did not deserve to be a spokesman for the Master during his teachings in this form, and I have tried to do it with these words. I did it with all the sincerity of which I am capable, with the fervent desire to serve and achieve this testimony as an incentive, to awaken trust and faith in those who take this book in their hands, containing messages that the divine Master to humanity of that time revealed in his goodness through mediators as simple as unworthy.

At the same time, I send a fraternal greeting in the name of the Lord to my brothers and sisters in Germany, whose wonderful spiritual awakening of the Master indicated to us through his human mediators.

6. Spiritualism, Religion, Life on Earth, the Afterlife

In the following original excerpts the Lord gives us an idea of some important topics:

Today I return to the men in the midst of the rumors of war, of the events and signs with which I predicted my arrival to you; however, the men have not felt me.

In the midst of this silence, of this humility, in this corner of the earth I am making my word vibrate through the human understanding, calling men, awakening them to a new life, regenerating them with my persuasive and sweet teaching, awakening in them their dormant gifts, to raise them on the roads to imitate their Teacher.

I must tell you that at this time I found you involved in greater religious or idolatrous fanaticism than in any of the past, and at the same time your spirit more naked of virtues than ever. Now I ask you: After having listened to me for years and years through this communication, who feels that I have come to destroy his principles? Who thinks they feel confused or see their Christian faith destroyed? Verily I say to you, what I revealed to you in the earliest times, I have come to remind you, because you had forgotten or distorted it. That what men had hidden from you, I have come to bring to light and what I was keeping in my arcanum, I have come to reveal to you. This era is one of spiritual freedom; men are enlightened by conscience and will know how to choose the right path. (188, 33-35)

Do not confuse this communication with that which men freely make at their own will, inspired some by science, others by curiosity and others by superstitions. (188, 45)

I, the Father, have rejected no one from my bosom of love and forgiveness, not even those who have allowed themselves to be touched by temptation and have fallen into the abyss. I haven't abandoned anyone. There are no helpless beings on earth or in the spiritual valley, which of you could be thrown out of my lap, no matter how sinful and unworthy he was to receive my charity? I live in the heart of the inveterate sinner who has not been able to receive the light of my Divine Spirit because he has not heeded the call made to him by the voice of his conscience. Do you think that by his chain of wickedness I have turned away from him? No, really. I am the Father of all creatures, without distinguishing any, of my children. I am love and as a loving Father I do not neglect anyone, my people.

It is up to you to pray for the lost one, to ask that the light of my Spirit enlighten his spirit, so that he awakens, breaks the bonds of temptation and separates the darkness that has blinded him. (206, 36-37)

The good sowers of spiritualism will never be distinguished by anything external or material. There will be no habits, no insignia, no special way of speaking in them. Everything will be simplicity and humility in their actions; however, if they are distinguished for something, it will be for their charity and their spirituality.

The true preachers of spiritualism will not be notable for the floridness of their language, but for the wisdom and simplicity of their word, but above all for the truth of their works and goodness of their life.

Remember that I on earth did not need the beautiful external language to captivate the hearts of the multitudes, but I knew how to reach them with love, with truth, with balm and wisdom. That is the example that I want you to take into account and imitate.

Nor do I want you to enclose your worship in material enclosures, because you will imprison your spirit and you will not let it open its wings, to conquer eternity.

The altar that I leave for you to celebrate in it the worship that I hope for is life, without any limitation, beyond all religions, all churches and sects, because it exists in the spiritual, in the eternal, in the divine. (194, 24-28)

I have allowed religions to exist on earth, which are for the spirit paths that lead to God. Every religion that teaches goodness and love and exalts charity is good, because it contains the light of truth. When within them men degenerate and turn into evil what was good in the beginning, then the path is lost between materialism and sin.

That is why I come at this time to show you again my coming, which is the way, the essence and the law, so that you may seek this law, which is a beacon and a star, beyond forms and rites, beyond everything human. The one who seeks me in this way will be a spiritualist. (197, 10-11)

The unification of religions will be, when the spirit of humanity rises above materialism, traditions, prejudices and fanaticism; then men will have united spiritually in a single cult: The good for the love of God and neighbor. When this is the case, humanity will enter a period of perfection. That is why I ask you to show my work through good and pure acts. Do not worry about not getting to contemplate the realization of all this; but you will achieve the satisfaction of having contributed with your sowing to the establishment of the kingdom of peace, a sowing that will bear fruit in the hearts of the generations of tomorrow. (187, 43)

I have told you that the time will come when light will spring up in all places, in all countries, on all continents; that light will shine according to the spiritual preparation of man; but through it a new and more accurate idea of creation will be formed, a new stage of spiritual evolution. (200, 41)

When you understand that you have come to this world to gather experiences and to put into practice the divine Law of love and charity for your fellow human beings, you will have penetrated into the harmony of this life; you already know from my revelations that whoever does not obey my Law will have to return to this world. (228, 54)

There is in you a part of matter that is from the earth, and a spiritual part that is from heaven. There is a time when man feels matter and a time when he feels spirit. When you leave this matter and move on to the spiritual state, you will understand what you have not understood now. Your body will remain here, because it belongs to the Earth, but your spirit will fly to high regions where you will continue to live to continue your spiritual evolution. (228, 69)

Spirits are on different rungs of the ladder, but I love them all equally and give them the means to reach the top. In the same way you must love your brothers, regardless of the degree of spiritual elevation they possess. (223, 72)

The Kingdom of the Spirit is infinite and to reach the elevation that allows you to enjoy and live it, it is necessary to know the way and have light to ascend through it; but do not think that I despise your material life, no, disciples, why should I despise it, if I prepared it for you? Understand that life in the material world is also part of life in the spiritual Realm, infinite and eternal. (223, 26)

If you could transform this Earth, from a valley of tears into a world of happiness, where you love each other, where you care about practicing the good and living within my Law, in truth I tell you that this life would be before Me, even more meritorious and higher than an existence of suffering, vicissitudes and tears no matter how much you have to suffer it. When will you come to unite the spiritual life with the human life, in such a way that you do not see limits between one and the other? When will you make of your existence, a single life, turning away the idea of death, to penetrate into eternity? That light will be in men until spirituality flourishes in the world. (219, 16)

The time will come when the borders of this world will be erased by love and when the worlds will draw closer to each other by spirituality. (213, 61)

7. Summary of the Divine Teachings with the Words of the Lord

Certain essential themes run as a common thread through the entire work of the revelation "Book of True Life". Below are some original excerpts that can serve as a guide and overview for the reader.

The Second Coming of Christ

No one should be surprised by my new message and the meaning of my Word, because the prophets of the First Time, like Christ in the Second Time, announced with great clarity the era that you are living today. (279, 9)

My love lesson did not come intended for a few who have heard it through the spokespeople. My message has reached the world to be known by all men, so I tell you that it will come in many forms, to the ends of the Earth, because it is the beginning of the consolation promised to humanity, from the Second Time, for when it would reach the culmination of the times of affliction on Earth. (282, 57)

I had to come before your immense need for light, light that means wisdom, love, elevation. In order to give you this light, it was not convenient for Me to present Myself as a man before you, because in order to induce you to spirituality it was necessary that I manifest my presence in a spiritual form, invisible and yet sensitive to your faith and love. (293, 57-58)

When this word spreads throughout the world and men ask who inspired it and who dictated it to be written, the emissaries and sowers of it will testify that it was the Holy Spirit who revealed it through the prepared understanding of his spokesmen. (295, 26)

The Third Time

The First Time is like the spiritual childhood of man in which he opens his eyes and contemplates the face of his Father, listens to him but is far from understanding him, proof of this is that he tried to obey him by sticking to the letter of the texts, without penetrating with the spirit in the meaning of them.

In the Second Time I, the Word, came to dwell in Jesus with you and to teach you with my life the way of the Spirit. That Second Time is that of adolescence or the first spiritual youth, it is the age in which Christ came to teach men love, to awaken their sleeping fibers so that their heart vibrated under a new feeling, under the powerful impulse of love for his Father and for his fellow men.

This is the Third Time in which the spirit of humanity will have to free itself from the chains of materialism, that will bring with it the greatest struggle of ideas recorded in the history of men. (295, 56-57+64)

This Third Time, in which human evil has reached its greatest height, will, however, be a time of reconciliation and forgiveness. (305, 12)

The Sixth Seal

The Sixth Seal has been untied and has shown part of its content to you, the precursors of spirituality on Earth; but he will continue to pour out his light on all men, even if this word that you are hearing today has already ceased. (284, 46)

For now, I receive these multitudes on behalf of humanity, and when I refer to humanity I am not only talking about the men of the present, but about all the generations that through six spiritual stages have inhabited the Earth. The messages that I have given you in those six times are precisely what I have symbolized with the name of "seals", which as you already know, one is missing to be untied, so that he reveals to you the meaning or meaning of all the others, that high meaning of the life of the spirit, of evolution and perfection. (303, 52)

The People of Israel and the Spiritual Mission

The People of God will arise once again among humanity, not a people personified in a race, but a multitude, a legion of my disciples in whom blood, race or language do not predominate, but the spirit.

This people will not concretize to teach, my Doctrine through the letter; for the words to have life, it is necessary to live them; this people will not only be propagators of writings and books, but also of examples and facts. (292, 28-29)

It is necessary that this people, to whom these revelations have been entrusted, rise up bearing witness, because with this men will awaken and will be able to perceive the signs and spiritual manifestations proper to this time. (277, 15)

A world of spirits is just waiting for the time to come and inhabit this valley. They are beings of light who will not disdain to come to incarnate in the bosom of the backward peoples, because their mission will be precisely that of awakening those who sleep. (288, 46)

Spirit and Soul

Man is a reflection of the Creator, an image of God, necessarily the children will have to resemble the Father from whom they sprang; that similarity is in the spirit for being endowed with the attributes of God and also having eternal life; matter, that is, the human body is only a fleeting garment of the spirit. (295, 44)

The human spirit is the one who should walk in front of how many works man performs, because he is the one who has been entrusted with life on Earth, however, there in your world you do because the spirit neglects its highest missions, to consecrate it to earthly ideals and envelop it more and more in the vertigo of that life that you have created. (305, 7)

The Spiritual Prayer

You have been traveling a thorny path and in every sorrow you have you hear the voice of conscience that tells you that you are still far from fulfilling the Law of your Father and that is why you falter. The spirit retains the intuition of having left the Creator's womb a long time ago and knowing that he still has a long way to go to return to the starting point, he gives himself up to prayer, because he knows that at least at that moment he can communicate with his Father. The spirit knows that in prayer he finds a consolation that caresses, comforts and heals him.

I bless those who pray, the more spiritual their prayer is, the greater the peace I make them feel, this you can easily explain, because he who to pray needs to prostrate himself in front of images or objects to feel the presence of the divine, will not be able to experience the spiritual sensation of the presence of the Father in his heart. (279, 1-2)

Instead, see how easily one is transformed who puts into practice an atom of my teaching. Do you want an example? The one who all his life was telling me that he loved me through verbal prayers that others formed, prayers that he did not even understand, because they were made with words whose meaning he did not know; but suddenly he knew what the true way of praying was and putting aside his old habits, concentrated in the depths of his spirit, raised his thoughts to God, and for the first time he felt that presence. She did not know what to say to her Lord, her chest began to sob and her eyes to shed tears. In his mind only a phrase was formed that said: "My Father, what can I tell you, if I don't know how to talk to you?" But those tears, those sobs, that inner joy as beautiful as you can never find it in your human languages or in your books.

Those babbles of the man who begins to pray spiritually with his Lord, sister, similar to the first words of children, which are delight and charm for their parents, because they hear the first expressions of their being that begins to rise to life. (281, 23-24)

The Perfect Spiritual Communication

After 1950, I will stop speaking to you in this language, I will speak to you in a higher, higher language, which you will gradually get to know; in that language in which there is no need for material words. You are the spiritualist people, the one who has received my teaching at this time, that is why I ask you for spirituality, so that your spirit can manifest itself and not find any disturbance in its passage, in its prayer, or in its spiritual acts, but that it be free on the way and can come to Me. I have told you a lot about spiritual communication, I have told you that you will come to practice it in a high way and you are going after this desire. (291, 81)

When this Doctrine spreads, they will have to ask you the object of this message, since there are already so many religions. Then you will reveal to them that this word has come to humanity to teach men the spirit-to-Spirit communication that their religions do not teach them, and that this message is the divine light that reveals to you all the spiritual attributes that you possess. (294, 44)

Practice spirit-to-Spirit communication, which you will be perfecting more and more every day, because this is my will that you communicate with me, you and humanity. Through this communication you will receive my inspirations, my commands and I will receive your spirit, I will listen to your prayer and I will let your spiritual arms embrace me. (304, 51)

This communication has been the stepping stone that has made you climb one step further on the path, which is bringing you closer to perfect communication. (278, 44)

Acceptance and Rejection of Divine Instructions

How many there are who from the writings of past times know the prophecies that announced this Era, and yet, if they witnessed my manifestations, they would not give them credit, nor would they take them as the fulfillment of those promises! They are those who have not reached the degree of advancement that allows them to contemplate this light. On the other hand, how many of those who today would give their lives testifying that it is I who communicates with men at this time, were not even aware that there were prophecies that spoke of these events. It is that his spirit was already prepared and in time to receive the light. (298, 19)

These multitudes are made up of believers and unbelievers, but they are all spirits hungry for love, thirsty for light and truth while those who have faith are fed and strengthened, unbelievers despise the bread of eternal life and have to endure their hunger and thirst. They are spirits confused by a life of materialism, ignorance and fanaticism that they cannot forget, in order to contemplate and feel my presence; they are hearts afraid of the judgments of humanity; How are you going to be able to concentrate on the height of your spirit to feel my essence, when you are thinking about what others will say about you? They will come out saying that my presence in these places is not true, when the reality is that they are the ones who, being present, have not been with me, because their spirit has stayed where their thoughts, their interests, their concerns and their passions have tied them. If I have come, I have been with you, for I am always thinking of those who need me, of those who pour out the cup of bitterness and eat the bread of slavery and humiliation. (301, 2)

The Meaning of the Tests

Sometimes your peace turns into struggle, worries or capsizing; it is when the hurricane hits the fields and orchards, shaking the trees and defoliating the flowers. So you ask what is the point of those tests. And I tell you that the whirlwind causes the bad fruits and the dry leaves to fall from the trees, and throws out of the garden everything that should not exist in its bosom. (278, 31)

You have traveled the long way of experience; that innocence, which is blindness and ignorance, has disappeared by acquiring the light of experience. Moreover, you have soiled yourselves and that is what trials and pain are for, to wash you and purify you. (301, 24)

Spiritual Inspirations for all

People: know that not only you are in time to be able to receive spiritual messages and inspirations; there are many men in the world who, without knowing that I am pouring out my word through these spokespersons, sense the proximity of a light ready to overflow in revelations about humanity. They will receive from my Spirit the preparation, so that when they hear your testimony and transmit my divine message to them, they will say with joy: "This is what I expected." (283, 51)

Spiritual Harmony among all

Goodness and love, from which charity and peace are derived, will be the keys that open the doors of the mystery, thus giving men a step towards universal harmony. (292, 5)

The spiritual harmony between all beings will reveal great knowledge to you, will provide you with the spirit-to-Spirit communication that will shorten distances, bring the absent closer and erase borders and limits. (286, 3)

I am the Father who works so that harmony may reign among all his children, both among those who inhabit the Earth and those who dwell in other worlds. (286, 2)

The Spiritual Awakening

This humanity, after living in disunity for so many centuries, after all the painful and bitter experiences it has had, is able to understand that the union between all peoples, the harmony between all men, will not be able to be based on material interests, nor take strength in earthly values. At last he will understand that only the high spirit can be the firm foundation, the unshakable stone on which the peace of men rests. (289, 3)

I speak to you this way, because no one knows the evolution of your spirit better than I do and I know that this humanity, despite its great materialism, its love for the world and its passions developed to the maximum of sin, only in appearance lives clinging to the flesh and material life. I know that as soon as he feels the loving touch of my love in his spirit, he will come quickly to Me to throw off his burden and follow me on the path of truth that, without realizing it, he wants to travel a lot, (305, 36)

Charity

The first step towards the regeneration of men, so that they reach a state of spiritual elevation, is charity. Charity to the spirit, charity to the body, charity to fellow men. Moreover, I must tell you that this feeling has not been properly interpreted. Charity is a name that you give to certain actions that you carry out, which in most cases, do not carry in their background piety or a true intention to alleviate a need. (287, 31)

Why, if I look at hospitals, prisons, homes in mourning, broken marriages, orphans or those hungry for the spirit, do I not find you there? Think that in addition to teaching you to pray, I have given you the gift of the word and I have taught you to anoint and on many occasions I have told you that your presence can work wonders if you are truly prepared. (306, 27)

Roque Rojas, the forerunner, wrote inspired by the spirit of Elias, this phrase: "Charity and more charity with your brothers and you will see my Father in all his splendor". There is truth and light in these words, disciples, because whoever does not practice charity in his life will never enter my Kingdom. On the contrary, I assure you that through charity the hardest and most inveterate sinner will be able to be saved. (308, 52)

Reincarnation and Spiritual Evolution

Jacob, revealed to you with his dream the existence of the spiritual ladder by which beings ascended and descended without ceasing. Who has understood its content? Who has solved his mystery? There, in the sense of that figure contemplated by the patriarch, is the evolution of spirits, the incessant reincarnation of spiritual creatures in men, the restitution and atonement of beings, the communication of God with man and the communication of spirit to Spirit. (287, 59)

In this Third Time, I have brought you the confirmation of the reincarnation of the spirit. Humanity through the ages, has had this intuition and the spirit has been revealing this mystery to the flesh, but this always incredulous and fragile, has put it in doubt. Beings from beyond have come to deliver this revelation to men and have only been believed by some, but these have been fought in their beliefs and repudiated by the ignorant and unbelievers, but today the presentiment, the certainty of these manifestations throbs more than ever among humanity, although not everyone dares to confess it, out of fear of the outside world.; but I have come at this time to bring you confirmation and to tell you: In the reincarnation of the spirit my perfect Law of love is manifested and truly I tell you: How few there are who have only once come to incarnate on Earth, and how many opportunities I have given the spirits through different matters in the world, to restore what the spirits had done wrong, but your matter is a thick veil that prevents you from discovering the bottom of these teachings. (309, 22)

The Beyond

The life of the spirit, which exists beyond your material world, could not and should not be a mystery to man. The Father, contemplating your need to know, began his lesson through the gift of revelation and inspiration, manifesting himself in infinite forms. Moreover, that lesson began since the first man existed and has not ceased until the present. (289, 17)

Alert, people! The afterlife is watching your steps on Earth! The worlds know of your works! When they see this humanity drowning in the sea of their hatreds and passions, they are moved and pray for you. (298, 41)

In order for the faith of humanity to be affirmed in the knowledge of spiritual existence, beyond material life, in the past times some manifestations of envoys of the Father were granted to you, to whom you gave the name of angels. Those first manifestations were followed by some works that I, through Jesus, carried out to make you penetrate a little more into the Arcanum. Of these

I will remind you: The presence of beings of light announcing my advent to Earth, the influence of troubled spirits exerted on human beings, called possessed; the detachment of the spirit from his body and his return to him, shown by Me at the instant of the transfiguration; and the materialization of beings who have not risen to his true kingdom, because they are enveloped by the darkness of ignorance, like those who manifested themselves in Jerusalem on the day of my crucifixion. (301, 10)

Also do not think that you are working alone in this work, because you do not yet have the necessary strength to carry out works of such spiritual importance. It is necessary for you to know that there are beings who are pointing out to you the path that you should follow and are preparing the path and the places where you will have to take the seed, those precursors are your brothers from other worlds, from other abodes, from which they watch your steps and open a gap for you, because they are also laborers of peace, of love, of fraternity, they are spirits of greater purity than yours, of greater knowledge and experience, you can fear nothing bad from them. They are the ones who do not let you park, the ones who put restlessness in your heart when you abandon the planting. (297, 6)

The Law and the Power of Love

The law of love, from which charity, understanding and forgiveness towards your brothers derive, is the foundation that I have inspired you for your spiritual mission. (291, 8)

Let it not be fear that guides your steps or that forces you to fulfill the Law, let it be faith and love, the force that impels you to perform good deeds in your life, because then your merits will be true. (305, 51)

Peace, the Highest Treasure

It is my word that comes to give calm to your heart and peace to your spirit. The greatest thing that I have destined for him is peace, whoever possesses that treasure, has everything, whoever knows that spiritual state, would not change it for the greatest passions or treasures on Earth.

If you ask me what is the secret to achieving and preserving peace, I tell you that the secret consists in doing the will of your Father; and if you ask me how the divine will is fulfilled, I would answer that by applying my Law and my Doctrine to your life. (307, 1-2)

The Voice of Conscience

Be intimate with the conscience, it is the friendly voice, through which the Lord his light appears, already as a Father, already as a Teacher, already as a Judge. (293, 74)

See how man is before and above all that surrounds him; that he is the only being endowed with free will and conscience. From that free will all the errors, falls and sins of humanity have come; but they are temporary errors before the justice and eternity of the Creator, because then consciousness will be imposed on the weaknesses of matter and on the weakness of the spirit, with it will come the triumph of light, which is knowledge over darkness, which are ignorance; it will be the triumph of good, which is love, justice and harmony, over evil, which is selfishness, debauchery, injustice. (295, 49)

Spiritual Liberation

Useless and vain will be the efforts that religions make to keep their faithful in the routine of ancient beliefs and out-of-time methods, because no one will be able to stop the divine light that penetrates to the bottom of the understandings, awakening the spirit to an Era of revelations, of divine confidences, of clarifications of doubts and mysteries, of spiritual liberation.

Nor will anyone be able to stop the torrent that humanity will have to form when it rises up in pursuit of its freedom of thought, spirit and faith.

No one believes that I have come to snatch away their adherents, faithful or followers of the different religions, no, but the time has come when a new time makes its entrance, removing forgotten lessons, erasing useless customs, beliefs and traditions, purifying and stripping the spirit of all falsehood, to give him the true bread of the spirit that has always been changed by the rite, (290, 58-60)

For how many of you who have listened to my word at this time, the day of your liberation was precisely the one on which you first heard this voice, with how much love you have engraved in your memory the blessed date that reminds you of the miracle of your resurrection to faith! (294, 24)

(The Book of True Life)

Book I

Teachings 1-28

Love one another!

Love one another!

Teaching 1

1. In the beginning of time, I, as a Father, inspired man to practice the good. But men turned away from the divine commands, falling into idolatry and abominable acts before Me. The strong won, the weak fell, and the man took the woman as a slave. It was necessary to deliver to Moses on Mount Sinai, the ten commandments of the Law. In that Law were the commands that should govern the people of Israel. And in them it was said to them, "Whoever kills, let him bear the same sentence on himself. Whoever steals, let him restore his brother. Whoever does evil, an eye for an eye and a tooth for a tooth will pay."

2. The Second Time came and I came in Jesus to dwell with you and in my word I said to you, "Whoever is wounded on the right cheek, show the left. Forgive your enemies." And in the Third Time, in which you are, I have come to tell you: If the murderer of your father, persecuted by human justice, knocked at your door imploring help, what would you do? Protect. If you do so, you will prove to have achieved spiritual evolution, which allows you to fulfill the Divine Law of your Heavenly Father who commands you: "Love one another"; "raise up the spirits that have died to the life of grace, for every spirit will be saved."

3. Today I come to speak to your spirit and to reveal to you the contents of the Seven Seals, the Book of your history, of Prophecy, of Revelation and Justice.

4. It is I who have come to tell you that today you live in the time belonging to the Sixth Seal.

5. 1866 marks the beginning of this time of light. I sent Elijah so that he would lift the veil of mystery and begin the time of my communication as the Holy Spirit among humanity. Elijah enlightened a man destined by Me to be the forerunner. That chosen one named Roque Rojas, was the one who listened from spirit to Spirit the voice of the Prophet who commanded him in my name, to call and gather his brothers, because a divine revelation was about to illuminate the destinies of humanity, Roque Rojas, meek and humble as a lamb, obeyed the spiritual voice, answering: "The will of my Lord be done to me".

6. Roque Rojas gathered a group of men and women of faith and goodwill, and there, in the midst of their first meetings, Elias manifested himself through the understanding of the Envoy, saying: "I am Elias the Prophet, the one of the transfiguration on Mount Tabor". And he gave the first instructions to the first disciples, at the same time announcing to them the Era of Spirituality and prophesying that soon the Ray of the Divine Master would come to communicate with his people.

7. One day when the humble Roque Rojas compound was full of followers who trusted in the word of that man, Elias came down to enlighten the mind of his spokesman, and inspired by Me, he anointed seven of those believers to whom he gave the representation or symbolism of the Seven Seals.

8. Later, when the promised moment of my communication arrived, I found that of those seven chosen, only one was watching waiting for the arrival of the Chaste Husband and that heart was that of Damiana Oviedo, the maiden whose understanding was the first to receive the light of the divine Ray as a reward for her perseverance and her preparation.

9. Damiana Oviedo represented the Sixth Seal. And this was one more proof, that the light of the Sixth Seal is the one that illuminates this Era.

10. In the Second Time I found a woman's lap, a mother's lap, and in this time too, I rested in the clean and pure heart of Damiana Oviedo. Her maiden lap was maternal for the people of Israel and through her I prepared the guides, the spokesmen and the farmers. I let her reach the threshold of old age and said to her: "You who have risen up as a source of love and have left a torch of faith burning in your hearts, rest." She asked me to come in spirit to work, because she was jealous of my Law and did not want it to be defiled, and I granted it.

11. I gave her one more mission at that moment, telling her: "Damiana, it is not my will that the turbid waters mix with the crystalline waters. Be at the right hand of the guides, so that the torch of faith may be greater every day in them. Rejoice, and from the place where you are, recreate with this people. Look at the crowds who love you and have recognized me. They are treading on the footprint that you left them. Look, the torch is still lit. The Master has said: He who sows love, gathers love; he who sows light, gathers light. You have fought preparing the understanding of the spokesmen and cleansing the ways of my chosen ones, behold your seed"

12. Truly I tell you, people, it is Damiana the chaste maiden who, in representation of Mary, has come in the Third Time to give you tenderness and caress. Blessed are the maidens who walk in this path, for in them I will pour out my grace. And in all of you who are my children, my divine desire is to become disciples, because the moment of my departure is approaching and I want to leave you as teachers among humanity.

13. Walk with a slow step so that you will reach the end of the path and become the strong of the Earth, through humility and charity.

Love one another!

14. The men materialized in this time, have also called me. In them my Voice has resonated spiritually and the Master has given peace in abundance, but being with them, they did not want to have me and wanted to sow a different seed.

15. At this moment I receive you and I give you my essence and my light that you have been waiting for so long. Do not judge your brothers who are outside the path of truth, for you do not know if tomorrow you too will be confused in other paths. Pray, therefore, for the lost, for those who have fallen. I take away the confusion from you and give you milk and honey.

16. Today I come to repeat my word to you, reminding you of the teachings of times past. I no longer come to remind you of communion in the way that Jesus symbolized it in the Second Time with the bread and wine of the earth. The time when the material bread was offered to you in representation of my word has passed. Today the bread is my word and the sacred wine is the divine essence that I give you spiritually every moment.

17. Feed yourselves, feed yourselves, that is my will. Give the truth to the one who feeds on imposture. Bring the unbeliever closer to Me and make the discords and disunions disappear, so that the bread of eternal life may reach all my children, because if you have been about to fall, my love has come to save you. Like a saving anchor, my Spirit full of mercy, saves you in storms.

18. When you believed yourselves alone in the hour of trial, I made you feel my presence to encourage your faith.

19. Then your lips, which were already beginning to blaspheme, were silent, saying to me, "Lord, if you say that I am your chosen one, why do you allow my own brothers to hurt me?"

20. Ah, little ones, who have not yet resolved to be my disciples, when I have said: "Blessed is the one who is touched and knows how to be strong in the trial, and in it forgives his brother and blesses my name, because from his being light will spring up, which will convert to my Doctrine the one who has unknown him!"

21. Every good deed will have its reward, which will not be received on earth, but in the Hereafter. But how many of you would like to enjoy that glory here in the world, without knowing that he who works nothing for his spiritual life, when he enters it, will find himself without merit and great will be his repentance.

22. Little by little my Doctrine will make men understand the essence or purpose of life and then this brief passage through the Earth will be used for the good of the spirit, but for this it is necessary that you forgive each other so that light and peace may arise among humanity.

23. But if you, who are my disciples at this time, do not give an example of these virtues, from whom can humanity expect?

24. Understand that this is said to you by the one who at that time gave his blood and his life to you, loving and forgiving a multitude who judged him, sentenced him and put him to death.

25. But the truth that is life, that is love, is immortal and here it is again among you, as my Spirit communicates through human understanding. My word of this time comes to repeat to you that lesson of "Love one another, as the Master loves his disciples". I also come to explain it, so that every mystery may be clarified and that book that I bequeathed to you and then men hid or closed, may be opened again before you.

26. Many veils will be torn. My word is a sword of light that destroys darkness.

27. Hidden lessons will come to light and unknown teachings will be revealed to you. Many mysteries will be dispelled. But these revelations you will not find in the books of the world but in this word.

28. Everyone who wants to be in truth, a child of light, enter respectfully into the depths of my word and there you will see your Teacher waiting for you to teach you.

29. Truly, truly, it will not be the doctrines of men that will make peace in the world and save this humanity from its abyss.

30. Here are the religions ignoring each other, claiming to be teaching my Doctrine.

31. That is why all those who at this time are destined to be my emissaries, my new disciples, are being defiled and purified, so that they may be worthy to bring this good news to their brothers.

32. In the Second Time there were twelve disciples who spread my Doctrine throughout the world. On the third day, twelve thousand from each tribe will be the ones who will make my teaching of truth and love known to all humanity.

33. Where are those one hundred and forty-four thousand? Elijah is gathering them together without it being an obstacle for some to meet in spirit and others incarnate. All will be spiritually united in this divine Work.

34. You will contemplate great events, many of them will surprise you, but I will give you the light with my lessons, so that you will never be confused. Study my word, for it inspires you with love for your Father and for your brothers. It is not necessary to be part of the one hundred and forty-four thousand in order to serve the Father or become disciples of the Master. Those who are part of that number, are only those who have to open the way and be like guardians of my Work.

Love one another!

35. Today I come in Spirit. In the Second Half I was visible in the eyes of men, because I became a man.

36. When many saw me, they asked themselves, who is this who speaks in the name of God? And others said to them, he is the son of Mary and Joseph the carpenter, he is the Galilean. Then they mocked Jesus.

37. But the carpenter's son caused the blind from birth to contemplate the light and in the midst of it, the face of Jesus, who had healed them. These, feeling the miracle of the Master's caress, fell at his feet shouting loudly, that they recognized him as the promised Savior.

38. Amazed, the unbelievers wondered: How was it possible that this humble man whom they knew as one of many, did such wonders?

39. Today I come in the spirit and mankind will not be able to call me the carpenter's son, but truly I tell you, even at that time there was no justice to call me that. It was written that a virgin would conceive and the Word would take flesh in her womb. Joseph the patriarch, was on the path of the virgin and child, only a guardian angel visible to the eyes of men; on the other hand Mary, was the incarnation of divine maternal love and Mother of Jesus, who is the human part of Christ.

40. With simple lessons I will make you understand revelations that you call mysteries and that are not. I will teach you to pray, so that you will raise your thoughts to your Father in the hours of trial.

41. At all times you have been taught prayer.

42. Moses made you pray the last night you spent in Egypt and throughout your passage through the desert.

43. In the Second Time, I taught you the Lord's Prayer, so that inspired by it, you would turn to your Father in your needs and always keep in mind the promise of the coming of his Kingdom; so that you would turn to Him in demand of forgiveness, consulting with your conscience if you had already forgiven your debtors in the same way before.

Love one another!

44. Now I teach you the spiritual prayer, the one that does not come from the lips, but from the depths of your spirit and that with humility and trust they tell me "Lord, your will be done in us".

45. I taught you how to heal. Jesus was the balm, he was health, his word healed the one who heard it, his mantle gave health to the one he touched, his gaze imparted infinite comfort to the one who received it; even his robe, when touched by the faith of those who came to Him burdened with bitterness and ailments, restored peace to them, and even his blood, falling on the centurion's face, restored the lost light to his eyes.

46. Only love and charity, which is the daughter of that love, can perform these miracles. With them you will be able to heal.

47. Feel me very close to you, proof of this I give you in the difficult moments of your life. I have willed that you make your heart my dwelling place, so that you may feel my presence in it.

48. How is it that when I am in you, you do not know how to feel me? Some look for me in nature, others just feel me beyond everything material, more truly I tell you, that I am in everything and everywhere. Why should you always look for me outside of you, when I am also in your being?

49. Telling you who I am, you have not heard or understood the voice that speaks to you, and when you have seen me you do not know whom you have contemplated. This has been proof of your lack of spiritual sensitivity.

50. but you are coming before Me so that I can teach you and not just point out your imperfections. You come bringing in your spirit your past, as a beacon of restitution.

51. Then I take away your burden and make you rest, I take away your sadness, I offer you a delicacy igniting in your heart the light of hope.

52. How many hearts hardened by the trials of life, have felt dominated by the sweetness of my word. They have felt that they are comforted, that they are healed, that they are resurrected. This is how those who are to follow me attribute to my power and my love what they have received and their spirits can no longer turn away from Me, because their heart is full of gratitude and love and they would not change the whiteness of their spiritual garment for the regal garment of the most opulent monarch.

53. But there are those who stay with me and despite receiving my word as a torrent of crystal clear waters, they insist on their evil inclinations. Among these are those who imitate the envious Cain, seeing that their offering is less pleasing to the Lord than that of the humble one who imitates the righteous Abel, they ignite their heart with anger and envy, drawing the two-edged sword that they carry on their tongue to sow pain in their brothers. And after leaving them sobbing, or having put them to death, they come before my sanctuary, lift up their thoughts to Me and hypocritically tell me that they love me.

54. But I do not throw away these hard-hearted and hard-hearted children from Me, I subject them to great trials and make them deeply feel my word. If they bend, they have triumphed, if they rebel, they will have to err again and wait another time.

55. Of all these I speak to you, so that you may become my good disciples and come to possess true wisdom.

56. Never flaunt knowledge, because behold, the Arcanum of the Father is only opened for the one who knocks at his door with humility.

57. If the men of science who move and transform your world were inspired by love and goodness, they would have already discovered how much light I have reserved for science for this time and not that minimal part with which they have become so puffed up.

58. Solomon was called wise, because his judgments, counsels and judgments were clothed with wisdom, and his fame crossed the borders of his kingdom, reaching other countries.

59. But this man, being king, prostrated himself humbly before his Lord asking for wisdom, power and protection, recognizing that he was only my servant and before Me he deposited his scepter and his crown. If all the sages, all the scientists did this, how great would be their wisdom, how many teachings still unknown, will my Arcanum reveal to you!

60. You, humble in material things, have received many lessons that have not been revealed to you by the wise men, nor by scientists.

61. The mystery of the resurrection of the flesh has been clarified by the revelation of the reincarnation of the spirit. Today you know that the purpose of this law of love and justice is for the spirit to be perfected, so that he will never be lost, because he will always find an open door as an opportunity that the Father gives him for his salvation.

62. My judgment in every spirit, through this law, is perfect and inexorable.

63. Only I know how to judge you, because every fate is incomprehensible to men. Thus, no one is discovered or betrayed to others.

Love one another!

64. And after getting lost in sins, so many struggles and vicissitudes and so much walking, the spirits will come before Me full of wisdom from experience, purified by pain, elevated by merits, fatigued by their long pilgrimage, but simple and joyful as children.

65. People, look at the time that is before you and listen to my word, for it is the way. Understand and fulfill your mission and bear with patience your sorrows, that there is no path that is clean of thistles to reach the summit of perfection.

66. The light of my word will unite men in this Third Time. My truth will shine in all understanding, making differences of creeds and cults disappear.

67. Today, while some love me in Jehovah and do not know Christ, others love me in Christ, ignoring Jehovah; while some recognize my existence as a Holy Spirit, others for my Trinity, argue and divide.

68. Now, I ask this humanity and those who lead it spiritually: Why distance yourselves from one another, when you are all recognizing the true God? If you love me in Jehovah, you are in the truth. If you love me through Christ, He is the way, the truth and the life. If you love me as the Holy Spirit, you draw closer to the Light. You have one God, one Father. There are not three divine persons who exist in God. If not a single Divine Spirit, which has manifested itself in three different phases to humanity and this in its smallness, penetrating into the depths, believed to look at three people where there is only one Spirit. Therefore, when you hear the name of Jehovah, think of God as Father and Judge. When you think of Christ, look at God in Him as a Teacher, as Love and when you try to understand where the Holy Spirit comes from, know that it is none other than God manifesting his infinite wisdom to the disciples who have advanced the most.

69. If the humanity of the first times had found it spiritually evolved, like this one now, I would have manifested Myself before it as a Father, as a Teacher and as a Holy Spirit, then men would not have seen three gods where there is only one. But they were not qualified to interpret my lessons and would have been confused and turned away from my path, to continue creating accessible and small gods, according to their imagination.

70. When men understand and accept this truth, they will regret having lived in ignorance because of a mistake that with a little love they would have avoided.

71. Know the Law, love the good, practice love and charity, grant your spirit the holy freedom to rise to his dwelling place and you will be loving me. Do you want a perfect model of what you have to do and what you have to be to get to Me? Imitate Christ, love me in Him, seek Me through Him, come to Me by his divine imprint, but do not love me in his corporeal form or in his image, nor change the practice of his teachings by rites or forms, because you will be eternalized in your differences, in your enmity and in your fanaticism.

72. Love me in Christ, but in his spirit, in his doctrine and you will be fulfilling the eternal Law, because in Christ is summarized the justice, the love and the wisdom with which I have manifested to humanity the existence and the omnipotence of my Spirit.

73. If Christ is Love, can you believe that He is independent of Jehovah, if I am Love?

74. If the Holy Spirit is Wisdom, do you think that Spirit is independent of Christ if I am wisdom? Do you think that the Word and the Holy Spirit are different from each other?

75. It is enough to know something of the word that Jesus taught humanity, so that you understand that one God has existed and will be one forever. That is why I said to you through Him: "Whoever knows the Son knows the Father, because He is in Me and I am in Him." Then, announcing that in another time he would return among men, he not only said, "I will return," but promised to send the Holy Spirit, the Spirit of Consolation, the Spirit of Truth.

76. Why should Christ come separately from the Holy Spirit? Peradventure He could not bring in His Spirit truth, light and consolation?

77. How little have men penetrated into my truth! And in that little that they have penetrated, how much they have been confused! They think they have reached the bottom of the truth, but as long as they live using the truth to lie, to kill, to destroy peace and to ignore each other, which is the opposite of what my word teaches, men who walk on the path of truth will not be able to say.

78. I am sending my message to all of you at this time, a message promised to humanity by the lips of Jesus when he was among men.

79. I know that at first this teaching will be despised because it was delivered through humble and sinful creatures such as those who are my spokespersons, but the truth that this revelation contains will be imposed and the teaching will be heard, because in its essence the Holy Spirit is present, the Comforter and the promised Truth.

MY PEACE BE WITH YOU!

Love one another!

1. I am here, among you, in this hour in which your spirits listen to me and thank me.
2. Every time a new year presents itself, humanity is filled with hope, although there are also those who feel fear. Why are you afraid of life and times? They are always the same, you are the ones who pass. Today you are children and tomorrow men; today you are on Earth, tomorrow no longer; today you are born and tomorrow you die.
3. You are at the consummation of time. Your spirit is no longer subject to material life; he has penetrated into eternity. You are atoms of my Divinity. I am eternal. I always have been. The Divine Spirit never ages. I am immutable and imperishable. The beginning and the end, the Alpha and the Omega. From Me you sprouted, and therefore to Me you will return.
4. Certainly, each year that comes is a mystery to men, but truly I tell you that it is a new step that you will have to take on the path of your evolution.
5. Do not be afraid of the future because you do not know it, do not see it wrapped in darkness, think that I am time and eternity: think that I am in the future.
6. You, people, know something about the future, because I am revealing it to you and among you you have prophets who penetrate into the future by my will, and they testify to you about it.
7. You have no right to doubt, you are not the blind ones who are afraid of stumbling on the way.
8. I have prepared paths for all men so that they may find peace, I have pointed out paths for them so that they may find me in all my truth.
9. Ah humanity, that you have me so close and do not feel me!
10. I have given you the secret of peace which is the love of one another.
11. The time will come when peace will be so greatly desired by men that they will seek it by all means: in religions, in science and in doctrines. Believers and those who call themselves atheists and free thinkers, they will all go to the same point in search of that peace, and when they find it, they will find themselves in front of Me.
12. See that at this moment you are listening to this word, but that you will soon cease to hear it. It will not be in this year when this manifestation ends, but until the moment appointed by my will: 1950.

Love one another!

13. Remember those who heard me a long time ago, that I said to you, "My word will descend from the top of the new mountain and you will be on the skirt of it to receive it."

14. From the first understanding that I used for this manifestation, I told you that this divine communication, which began in 1866, would have its end in 1950; and that after that year you would not be orphans, because my presence would be felt closer, if you knew how to prepare.

15. You are on the first day of the year 1941, therefore, ten years you will still hear my word, enough time for many of your brothers to know this doctrine, so that many who have not believed, believe; and many who have not been obedient, rise up fulfilling my commands.

16. My humble and meek word will have sweetness for the one who suffers and will be like dew and perfume, for every spirit. This word, which so many have denied and so many have been pleased to profane, will be for everyone like a caress.

17. Do not believe that your country will be the only one to receive my spiritual blessings, no, from the beginning I have prepared the inheritance for each of the nations of this world.

18. My Truth will return to penetrate into every dwelling, as at that time Jesus penetrated into the temples dedicated to the worship of God, and surprised the priests, the elders and the doctors of the Law with his word.

19. Who will imitate me in this time? Who will be those who do not fear humanity? Those who bear witness to the truth through their works. Verily I say to you, whoever finds himself telling the truth, he will not fear even death, like his Teacher.

20. It was high time that this word had resounded in the interior of temples and churches, and that its echo had reached the men of power. But it is necessary that those who carry it purify themselves and amend themselves to be worthy messengers of it, and behold, the times have passed without you having had that preparation.

21. I am not demanding any sacrifice from you, I just want your works to be spontaneous and your true love. However, do not forget the example of obedience and submission of Abraham, when the Father asked him for the life of Isaac, the beloved son. Who of the men of this time, of those who love me, would give me that proof of obedience, of love and of faith?

22. My apostles preached my Truth, and when men judged them, they did not flee from death.

Love one another!

23. He who lives in the truth can fear nothing.
24. Your path, people, is strewn with beautiful examples.
25. The light of the Sixth Candlestick illuminates the men of this time, plus the five seals that have passed, also left their light on the spirits.
26. When you have come before this radiant light, some in spirit and others in matter, you have asked for what you were called. Then you have heard that voice that says to you, "I am the lamb slain for your sake and I have come to enlighten your spirit so that you may love one another and come to Me."
27. I come in Spirit at this time. My light descends like tongues of fire to men so that they can speak of my Law in all languages.
28. One hundred and forty-four thousand incarnated and disembodied spirits will open the way at this time. They will be forerunners, prophets and messengers. They are the ones marked by Me to go before the armies.
29. To these appointed, the name of the tribe to which they belonged in the First Time has been revealed, so that they may know that then they made a covenant with their God and the time has come by the way of the Lord; but at this time every name of tribe has disappeared because it is not the Lord who draws borders to divide men.
30. When in 1950 for the last time my ray descends through the speaker, everything will be prepared for the times to come; but as long as this time has come, I will continue to give you my lesson, more before, deposit your sorrows in Me, rest, and when you have mitigated your pain, when your crying has dried up, raise your spirit so that in him it will be my teaching.
31. I do not want hunger or thirst in any of my disciples, I want to see you satisfied that you have eaten and drunk the bread and wine of my love. Only in this way will you be able to do works worthy of Me among mankind. Do not forget that with each passing day, the moment of my departure approaches and whoever does not take advantage of this teaching time, will later feel orphaned.
32. It was not He who brought you to this manifestation. My voice called you on the roads and led you here. Now you know that you have come to know the mission that you will have to fulfill on Earth. In my word you have known what is your beginning and what is your end. You have had the revelation that you are part of a people who in three times have received the manna of the spirit.

Love one another!

33. If you study everything that happened to the people of Israel in the first two times spiritually, you will see that the same thing has happened to you in the present time.
34. The life of that people, their history, is a lesson, a parable for all mankind; it is a book of teaching, the law of which I revealed to you on Mount Sinai.
35. Today this book is opened before your spirit and you see new teachings springing out of it; because what you did not understand at that time, today you are understanding.
36. Your spirit can knock on the doors of the afterlife in demand for wisdom, your spiritual capacity allows you to get closer to the Master so that He delivers the new teachings contained in his Arcanum.
37. People: seeing you walking the paths of the world, dragging chains of hardships and imperfections, I send you my love to help you on your path of evolution.
38. You are walking in a desert, and in the middle of it I have caused palm trees to be born so that you may shade yourselves and have rest.
39. I have caused to flow from the barren rock of your heart, an inexhaustible spring so that you may drink and never thirst again.
40. Today I will not give you lands in the world for you to cultivate; you will find your lands in the hearts. Some have come to start farming, others to finish their planting.
41. Parents should not pretend that because they fulfill family duties, they cannot think of doing good to others.
42. Let not men tell me that they feel incapable of teaching my Law. I tell you all that there are plenty of opportunities on your way for you to sow my seed without wasting your time and without neglecting your duties.
43. Serve me and I will serve you.
44. Do not suffer disappointment if by sowing love in your children or in your brothers you reap ingratitude. You know well what Jesus sowed in the world and what He gathered, but He told you that the harvest is not in the world, but in heaven, when the time has come. You also, disciples, imitate the Master in patience. Do not seek rewards or compensations on earth, but wait for the hour of your joy in the hereafter.
45. Think that I have come down to judge your works and to discover your merits and weaknesses. I pour out my grace in every spirit, I put you to the test and I ask you: If you have possessed my Law since the beginning of time and I have commanded you to watch over the peoples to convert you to my teaching, why have you not presented your harvest to me, today that you have returned to the earth at the consummation of time?

46. I have come into this age in the spirit, and I ask you to fulfill the precepts that I left you in the Second Time, when I dwelt among you. I seek in your spirit the echo of my words and in your path the imprint of my steps, and I do not find them. Have you practiced and taught love? In spite of everything, you can repair your faults and make up for lost time, because I give you a new opportunity. And you must work not only for yourselves, but also for your brothers who will come to communicate with me in a more perfect way in the days of peace that are approaching.

47. You have in Me a tireless Teacher and a perfect Father who loves you and corrects you. What would you do if I only granted you benefits in exchange for strict compliance with my Law?

48. In speaking thus to you, you weep inwardly for your faults and seek a pleasing offering: you introduce me to blessed childhood, and ask me to forgive your sins for her innocence, and I answer you: if you know how to cultivate her heart and keep it in virtue, I will receive your offering.

49. I do not want to judge you with rigor, but I am preparing you at a time propitious to the elevation of your spirit, so that you may work and be nourished by my word. In him you will witness great trials, the elements have been unleashed and many peoples will be hit by great whirlwinds and will only be forgiven through the intercession of divine maternal love represented by Mary.

50. You will see the multitudes coming to this nation in search of divine signs and proofs and I will receive them, erase from their minds every misinterpretation of my word and show them the truth. And they will bow to my love.

51. There you have Mary, your tender Mother, waiting for your obedience. She knows that my Spirit is saddened by human imperfections and comes to you to inspire you with good and strives to lead you to achieve perfect peace.

52. At this Time, while humanity is purifying and weeping, you will be prepared by my word to bring comfort and peace to hearts. The pain will be like a crucible in which the spirit will be perfected to become worthy of reaching Me Everyone has received my strength and in the greatest trials they will come out ahead.

53. I receive your fulfillment of one year, as I have received that of all my creatures. I bless your good intentions, and every seed that has not been well cultivated, I leave in you so that you can continue to fertilize it until it is perfected. You, know how to distinguish what is pleasing to me so that you may always live in compliance with my Law.

54. Do not prevaricate, do not pronounce my name if you are not prepared. Dignify yourselves so that you may be recognized and your example may invite your brothers to follow me, and I may say to them: Disciples, welcome are you, who humbly arrive at these enclosures, like sheep that arrive at the pasture led by the voice of their shepherd.

55. He who walks this path, clothed with good will, never feels tired.

56. If there are lurkers on the path, I have given you weapons to defend yourself, not the murder weapon to hurt your brother, but prayer, by which you are strong and invincible.

57. I am your destiny and therefore, if you comply with my Law you will all return to Me, but it is necessary that you put the means for you to advance on the path of your evolution.

58. Make my word yours, it is your inheritance, recognize the power that it contains. Whoever possesses it will be able to save a region in the midst of a trial.

59. "The earth will have to tremble from one end to the other," it is written, and it is necessary that there be in those days of darkness, men full of faith so that they may be like torches that illuminate the path of others.

60. I do not want this people, whom I have come to awaken at this time, to fall back into their slumber, because alas! the painful awakening of humanity will wake him up and when he gets up in a daze to bring comfort to his fellow men, he will find that they are no longer on Earth, but are in the hereafter.

61. Which one of you, when listening to the voices of confusion, anguish and pain of men, will pretend to turn his back on them and flee, distrusting the power that the practice of my teaching gives you to do something for them? Do you not believe in my word, when I have told you that in the hour of trial it will be I who will speak with your lips and manifest my power in your works?

62. The one who doubts, will be stripped of virtues and needy, like the one who has nothing to give to the one who asks.

63. This is the Third Time, in which your spirit has the thought that it will have to receive from the Father the gifts and powers indispensable to rise above the reigning materialism and perversity, more truly I tell you that the gifts are in your spirit from the beginning.

Love one another!

64. Some have come to Me, tired of illnesses, and others to ask Me for proof to believe in my presence. The first have recognized that in order to come to Me clean, purification was necessary. These are following me.

65. The seconds, when they have received what they were looking for, have moved away without giving importance to my word, without even sensing where and before Whom they were.

66. And others who came sure of finding only material goods on this path, finding themselves before this banquet with spiritual delicacies, felt disappointed and also went away in search of better paths. They will have to know that "the kingdom of the spirit is not of this world."

67. More to all I receive. There has not been one who knocks on my doors, which have not been opened to him. I tell you this, because there will also be someone knocking at your doors and that will be Me, who I will humbly knock as the needy one does.

68. You say to me: Master, how is it possible that you manifest yourselves as the one in need, before our door? and I tell you: Do not be surprised or think it impossible, I will come hidden in the hearts of the poor, the sick, the defeated and the sad, knocking at the door of your charity, and I will tell you: Quiet your mind and your spirit, so that you may take advantage of the teaching that I have brought you.

69. In this time when you will learn to practice, to explain and to live my doctrine that today you come to receive in these precincts and that tomorrow you will rise to spread among humanity.

70. In my word I speak to all my children, both present and absent from this manifestation, both to those who have already been on earth and to those who are to come. Everyone takes from it what corresponds to him.

71. At this time, this doctrine will be the light that leads humanity along the path of truth, because men have closed their eyes to this light and truly I tell you, the blind will not be able to guide the blind, without stumbling or falling into the abyss.

72. The Spirit of Truth is in each of my chairs. Take advantage of this time of my communication, keep my word zealously and never disinherit yourselves.

73. My love will overcome the hardness of your heart. As in that Second Time, the door of salvation is open; come and through it enter the path that will lead your spirit to the promised land.

Love one another!

74. The leaf of the tree does not move without my will. If I have come to communicate with you, it is because this has been my will, and at the bottom of it there are very high designs for each of you and for the Universe.

75. Men are washing themselves in this time with great pain and from that sinful humanity today, tomorrow the generations will arise that will communicate from spirit to Spirit with my Divinity.

76. Those who reach that time will marvel at the greatness of my Work and the fulfillment of my word. Then you will see the children teaching, doctrinating and bearing witness to Me with true spirituality, the young people and men leaving behind the joys and pleasures of the world to dedicate themselves to the practice of my teachings, declaring that the time in which they live is that announced by the prophets.

77. And those who today, listening to my word, have been lazy or unbelieving, before those examples will feel ashamed.

78. They will not listen to my word through the sinful and imperfect human mouthpiece, but they will listen in their conscience to the voice of their Lord.

79. To you who hear me, I have to listen to me through this communication that being very high, is not the most perfect, Ten years are still left and so that tomorrow you will not mourn the lost time, take advantage of it, because later a time of greater elevation will begin for this people.

80. If you do not keep my word now, then, when this manifestation does not exist, you will come to these houses of prayer with the pain in your heart to ask your Father to speak to you, to communicate again by human understanding, but you will not listen to him again. You will contemplate those who were my spokespersons who for that manifestation will have been silent and will only tell you to rise spiritually.

81. It is my will that you not profane my command. I do not want that when you come before Me, I have to say to you: "Depart from Me, for I do not know you" and then it will be in your spirit a harsh restitution.

82. I speak to you of spiritual lessons that are within your reach and there are still those who doubt my word, what would it be if I spoke to you of divine manifestations and described eternity to you? Then you would say to me: What are you talking to us about, Father, I don't understand you at all?

83. I entrust you to my new prophets, those who can look at something from beyond. They will give you events that are to come.

Love one another!

84. Here is my lesson, disciples, I do not prolong it so that you will not get tired and I will have to repeat it on a new occasion. But if you want to take advantage of my teachings, regenerate yourselves and put an end to all evil or vice.

85. You will then see how insensibly egoism, hypocrisy, vanity, materialism will fall from your heart and instead, you will begin to practice true charity, that which does not expect any reward.

86. You will be offended and will not be surprised that you did not slap back as you did in times past. Then you will rise up full of gratitude to your teacher, saying to me, "Lord, you alone teach us these lessons and strengthen us in these trials."

87. I am the Vine and you are the Branches, therefore bear the same fruit that I have given you.

MY PEACE BE WITH YOU!

1. Here is the bread of eternal life, you have not eaten it for a long time.
2. You waited a long time for me and when you least thought about it, a light shone in the firmament; when you asked where it came from and what it meant, they told you: it is Elijah, who comes to prepare humanity, to make it worthy of communication with the Master.
3. Like a shepherd who gathers and counts his sheep and hurriedly looks for the one who goes astray to present the complete number to his Lord, so Elijah has loved you, led you and made you feel the warmth of the fold.
4. When I have seen you thus prepared, I have offered you my bread with which you are feeding yourselves forever.
5. Whoever has truly eaten of this bread has enjoyed and tasted my peace.
6. And this nourishment, which is my divine word, springs from the lips of a human being, as one more manifestation that in truth God dwells in the conscience of man.
7. Why should I take away from you the joy that you felt me in yourselves?
8. He feels me in himself, the one who carries peace and purity in his heart, although I am in all spirits no matter how much they have sinned. He who has been, will never die and who exists, carries me in himself, because I am Life.
9. Between God and His creatures, there are bonds that can never be broken, but if men feel estranged from their heavenly Father, it is because of their lack of spirituality or lack of faith.
10. Neither death, nor lack of love will be able to destroy the bond that unites you to Me
11. No one can flee from my presence, there is no dwelling or any place where you can hide from Me, because wherever you go, I am with you and wherever you meet, you are in My presence.
12. Do not be content with knowing this, it is necessary that you feel me so that you may let me manifest in your works.
13. Meditate: if I am in you, where have you taken me when you sin?
14. I speak to you this way, because I have to remove the ash that is in your heart until I find a spark of light in it.

Love one another!

15. I give you strength to withstand trials.

16. I see how yours tear you apart and subject you to trials; for some they have been their parents and for others their children their greatest obstacles to follow me.

17. Many have come crying before this demonstration, knowing that in order to hear me, they have had to leave their home at war and yet they have insisted on listening to me.

18. How many tears, how many prayers, how much patience in waiting for those to recognize this Truth!

19. There are those who have had to leave their home in search of freedom to listen to my word; there are those who have had to leave their region so as not to be singled out by relatives and friends; those who have lost their job, and are mocked and called sorcerers and some who have been denied bread.

20. How can I not receive you with tenderness, how can I not pour out my balm on your wounds when you are suffering like this for following me! But do not complain about anyone, do not accuse any of your brothers; leave your cause to me, for truly I tell you, Those who have hurt you the most will be the most repentant and humble who come to Me asking for balm and forgiveness. They will then say to me: Lord, forgive me, how much I hurt my son's heart! Another will say: Master, I did not know my husband because he followed you and I punished him by turning away from his bed to live in his bedroom because I judged him full of darkness. They will ask me for forgiveness, confess their faults and recognize that they often received benefits through those whom they had unknown. Then I will tell them: While you were thinking about how to make life more painful for those my labourers, they, in silence and solitude, watched over you. But truly I tell you, disciples, you are forgiven of Me, and do you also forgive them from the heart?

21. Christ, from that time he taught you the perfect forgiveness that is born of love, today I come in spirit, but my teaching is the same.

22. Enjoy having the perfect model as a Teacher. Truly I tell you, neither before nor after Christ have you had an example like the one He gave you.

23. Would the Teacher be perfect if the disciple surpassed him in wisdom? No.

24. Your spirits will become very great, but never greater than that of your Lord; the higher your spirits, the higher and greater you will contemplate your God.

25. The proud man will always fall down in the end because of his deeds, because believing he fought for him, he actually fought against himself.

26. Pride is the origin of many evils and sufferings among God's creatures.

Love one another!

27. Since the first disobedient rose up before my Law, how much misery and how much darkness he left in his wake! since then, evil has existed as an invisible force. I allowed that force to exist only to test you and for yourselves I want to exterminate it.

28. But do not therefore blame your faults and falls on a certain being who personifies that force; think that for every temptation there is a virtue in your spirit to combat evil.

29. Understand and analyze the moment in which you live. I announced to you in the Second Time that I would return and I told you what the signs of my coming would be. I want humanity to recognize that these signs have already appeared.

30. If I told you that I would be back, it is because I had something else to tell you and that at that time I still could not reveal it to you because you had not understood it.

31. Now I come in spirit and in truth I tell you: There are those who think that in the early days I was closer to you than today: they judge wrongly because in each of my comings I have been getting closer to you. Remember that in the First Time I descended on a mountain and from there I sent my Law engraved on a stone to you; in the Second Time, I left the top of the mountain to go down to your valleys, becoming a man to dwell among you; and in this time to get closer, I have made your heart my abode to manifest myself there and speak from within to humanity.

32. There are those who doubt despite hearing these teachings and of these who doubt, some will come to believe and others will continue in their unbelief. But the year 1950 will come and how cold you will feel in your spirit, how you will be enveloped by hurricane winds because then there will be a beginning of great pains and trials among humanity!

33. After my departure in 1950, the earth will tremble and the cry of men will reach heaven and all this will be in the likeness of the darkness and the hurricane that overshadowed Jerusalem on the day the Son of God expired.

34. For many, this will be a time of resurrection. The spirits fallen into darkness will rise to a life of light.

35. Prophesied was this Era. It was written that I would return. But behold, when they heard my teaching through a man, many doubted and denied me, others did not attach the slightest importance to my manifestation.

36. Seeing the insensitivity and hardness of men before my word, I have had to do those works that you call miracles to awaken some to the faith and attract the attention of others.

Love one another!

37. Today one and tomorrow another, they have been staying around my word, I have symbolically pointed them in their forehead. It is the divine mark that they bring in their spirit, and then I have appointed them farmers of my lands.

38. They will not need books of science, philosophies or doctrines to teach; the light of my Holy Spirit will be in their understanding and their only book will be my word.

39. Blessed are those who felt faith and stayed with me, because they have had great pleasure with the divine concert of my teachings.

40. Being children of God is what makes you worthy of this grace, because your merits are still scarce. I have not contemplated your stains, because there has been a cloak that has hidden them, but to whom does this pious cloak belong? To Mary, your loving Mother, who watches tirelessly over each of her children.

41. It was granted to you to dwell in the world in this Third Age, which will be that of perfection, which Elijah opened by manifesting his spirit through human understanding, and announced my communication to you in the same way.

42. But the stage of preparation by means of human faculties comes to an end. Soon my word will cease to be heard in these enclosures and those who did not know how to keep it in their hearts, will feel like orphans, and there will be those who, believing far from their Lord, will later go after religions where to find me.

43. On the other hand, those who have learned my divine maxims will be the strong ones of the third Time, because the way will be made clear to them.

44. I have called this Era the time of light and see, my children, the nations engaged in bloody fratricidal wars.

45. You who have been called by Me the children of light, pray for your brothers, watch over the peoples so that this light reaches their spirits and tomorrow they will penetrate the way of my Law.

46. When will men be true disciples of Christ? I, through Jesus, have always taught you obedience, humility and charity: this is the way.

47. I have announced to you the arrival of great multitudes from other countries of the earth. Material motives in appearance will bring them to your nation, but in the background it will be so that they receive the "good news" of the word that I brought to you at this time.

48. But seriously meditate on this mission, what are you going to deliver, to teach or to testify, if you do not prepare yourselves, nor do you prepare your children?

Love one another!

49. Meditate on your responsibility, so that you may increase your efforts to penetrate my doctrine and when the hour comes when they knock on your doors, you will be prepared to offer the divine delicacy, through your thoughts, words and deeds.

50. Have faith by surrendering yourselves to Me and then I will speak through your mouth.

51. I also know how to tell you that from parents who know how to elevate themselves and spiritualize their life, I will make children sprout who bring health and strength in their body and a message of wisdom in their spirit.

52. In this house of prayer where you gather to listen to me, you will find the consolation to your sorrows and the courage to face the trials that will come; but also your spirit, when it rises, shows me the seed that it is gathering with its work.

53. Truly I tell you that the spirit will never feel fatigue working in my lands, therefore the rest of the tomb will not be for him, even after the death of his matter, he will continue working for his elevation and perfection.

54. If my word has come to illuminate the path of your spiritual struggle on Earth, you will find greater light in the hereafter as you continue your journey towards the Creator.

55. My divine light shines throughout the universe.

56. Obey my Law, but may your obedience be born of an understanding of the Father's infinite love for you. Listen to Me and pray, but do not get up on the roads before you feel strong, because you will not be able to resist the hurricanes or the whirlwinds.

57. I am showing you the way and preparing you so that you will never abandon it; truly I tell you: he who sows good in my name, which is charity, love and peace, he goes on my way and will find salvation.

58. The only penance I ask of you is that you master selfishness, so that you may serve your fellow men with purity and goodwill.

59. Study carefully this word that I give you through many spokespersons, because each of them has his own gift. Do not despise the one who seems clumsy to you, because when this demonstration is over at the end of 1950, how many will want to listen to me again even if it was through the one who did not satisfy them.

60. But I will grant you the grace that my word may be written by those whom I have appointed and prepared for this mission, so that tomorrow you will not feel like the orphan who lost his inheritance; and when the crowds and the last ones come before you, you will show them the book of my teachings as the most faithful and true of the testimonies of what I told you, because in order for you to be with your life and your word as a book of truth and examples, you still lack a lot.

61. That book will awaken many sleeping spirits and their hidden gifts will be developed, its reading will inspire and prepare the new generations taking them step by step to spiritual communication with my Divinity.

62. Farmers, take pleasure in thinking that I chose you sinners to become my instruments and save lost others. Can you ever get tired or tired of bringing peace, relief or joy to those who suffer for lack of these virtues? Never seek the desert or the solitude of the bedroom to prevent the lamentations from reaching you; recognize that this is a decisive time for every spirit and that you have to face the pain. Soon you will plant trees by my will in different regions, this is what I have called the precincts and houses of prayer in my word; prepare yourselves for this and let the spiritual world manifest itself in a wide way among you, so that you may have the right explanation of my teachings.

63. The time that remains for you to listen to these messengers of my Divinity is short. The year 1950 is near and what advance in my Work are you going to present me? See that I have awakened you from deep spiritual lethargy so that you will not imitate the virgins of the parable who let their lamp go out; if you sleep when you hear the last word of your Lord, you will wake up surprised.

64. Look among you at those who come tired of walking. Some come calm before their conscience; others, on the other hand, arrive with regrets.

65. You are all attracted by the rumor that I am speaking to humanity, and when you hear this word, you hear that the Father says to you: "I am here among men to make them hear my teaching and fulfill a promise to them"

66. Here you have a new opportunity to listen to the Teacher and receive his lessons. I am reminding each one of his gifts and pointing out his mission; whoever is constant and strong on the way, will soon know my Kingdom.

67. No one will be able to snatch the light from the one who zealously knows how to keep it and with his virtue knows how to make it shine.

68. You are passengers in this earthly life and as disciples of this spiritual teaching, you must understand this. I receive you all with perfect love and with that love I judge you. How different is the judgment of your Lord from the judgment of men!

69. Of the one hundred and forty-four thousand designated by Me, for the performance of a spiritual mission, one part will listen to my word through these spokespersons, another will spiritually receive my commands helped by the gift of intuition and another, dwelling in the hereafter, will fulfill his mission on humanity in a spiritual way.

70. My light is to shine in all the places of the earth.

71. Some ask the Master when these events will take place, and truly I tell you that much also depends on your will and perseverance.

72. Those who do not awaken while being in matter will be lifted up from the earth so that their spirit may be stripped of everything that binds them, or prevents them from recognizing my Work.

73. I have told you many times: do not wait for better times to work, because you do not know if those that come will be more difficult.

74. Fulfill so that I do not have to claim from you later many mistakes that humanity commits.

75. There are those who say to me, "Father, wait for me a while longer" and behold, I tell you: I can wait more and more for the return of the son, because I am eternity, but think that I have sent you to conquer it.

76. Others say to me, "Lord, raise me up better from this world, because I can no longer."

77. When will you live according to your destiny? When will you realize that many of your sorrows are the atonement through which you are unloading yourselves from a heavy burden of imperfections? Only understanding and conformity can give you peace.

78. How slowly you have walked the path of the knowledge of the spirit.

79. You have lived through many centuries of revelations and experiences and I still find you as fragile infants when I see that you do not know how to answer a question, or when you do not know how to get ahead in the trials that you encounter in your path.

80. I want you all to become my disciples, that you all manage to get rid of that which has prevented you from looking straight at the truth.

81. Always meditate spiritually so that you will not encounter difficulties in understanding my Word. Forget that you were the ones who could not imagine that God was invisible, that when you thought of Me, you instantly forged in your mind the figure of a human being of gigantic proportions, a being that although with form, did not let himself be seen and was always hidden behind a thick veil of mystery.

82. If I became a man in Jesus, it was not to make you understand that God has a human form, but to make me see and hear from those who were blind and deaf to everything that is divine. If the body of Christ had been the form of Jehovah, truly I tell you, it would not have bled or died, it was a perfect body but humanized and sensitive so that humanity could see it and through it hear the voice of his heavenly Father.

83. Whenever your concept of the divine has been far from reality, I have come to your aid to destroy fantasies and unrealities and make you penetrate the true path.

84. I am the Way, the Truth and the Life. My doctrine does not speak of death. If I speak to you frequently about the existence of the spiritual kingdom, it is that there is life and eternal happiness as a promise for your spirit, but I do not do it so that you desire death and hate this life.

85. My Word at this time speaks to you about the spiritual life, and it is because you have already reached in your evolution that chapter of the Book of Life, which shows to the spirit the unrevealed mysteries.

86. If man has a spirit, it is natural that the spirit reveals to him some signs of his nature; but I have already told you that as long as the influence of matter does not submit to the dominion and dictates of the spirit, man will be able to penetrate very little into himself to look at his inner light and hear his spiritual voice.

87. When you come to have a moment of recollection and meditation, without realizing it you penetrate into communion with the spiritual and you have the feeling of the eternal and that something of that eternity lives and pulsates in your being. This is how in the early times humanity discovered that in itself it carried a being, a nature that was not of this world, but belonged to another dwelling; and this did not frighten her, on the contrary, it filled her with hope, because she saw that her life was not limited to the brief existence on this Earth; he foresaw that his spirit, when detached from the body, would rise to a mansion in which he would find a joy that he had not found in this world, a just satisfaction for his high ideal.

88. I came into the world to strengthen with my doctrine all those inspirations and to these dreamers of worlds of wisdom, of love and of justice, where there are no tears, miseries or discords, I dedicated my Sermon on the Mount, so that they would persevere in their hope.

89. With what gentleness and love the first teachers of Christianity taught humanity. The strength of his word was in the truth of his works, with which they converted and invited to spirituality.

90. I call them teachers, because they taught according to my example. If someone later wanted to teach forcing to believe without understanding the meaning of my teachings, that has not been a teacher. If he has used force depriving his brothers of the freedom to think, to believe and to reason, he has not imitated me and has deprived the spirits of the desire to penetrate to the bottom of my revelations.

91. When my name and my doctrine have been taken to subjugate peoples or to instill fear and by that fear men have been forced to believe, I tell you that the end that has been pursued has not been spiritual, but has gone after earthly power. How different was the Master's purpose when he gave you his words and examples, which you could condense into that phrase "My kingdom is not of this world"!

92. Enter into my boat, for she will never capsize; but do not doubt, as Peter did, believing that the Master was asleep, because it would no longer be my voice, but pain that would say to you: "Ah men of little faith".

MY PEACE BE WITH YOU!

Love one another!

Teaching 4

1. Every time you come to listen to my word, you feel that you leave your pain in Me, but why, when I return to you, do you again present to me your heart full of bitterness?
2. It is time for you to learn to retain my peace.
3. This Era is one of preparation and trees are springing up everywhere in towns, cities and counties to provide their spiritual shade to the walkers.
4. Those walkers are the multitudes that are arriving before this manifestation, and when they hear my word that tells them that in other times they have already shaded themselves under the foliage of the Tree of Life, they intimately recognize that they have not been able to take advantage of the times to approach the promised land.
5. Who among you, feeling that he is facing a new opportunity to redeem himself, will deny me again as he did in the past times? Who will shun his mission and ignore the voice of his conscience? Who will remain sleeping the dream of his materialism, after having been awakened by this voice?
6. Your spirit has been shaken when, in spite of your restlessness, you have listened to the Father tell you that he loves you, that he forgives you and helps you to regenerate so that you may reach Him.
7. You have bowed down before my divine love and full of joy you get up looking for the sick so that they hurry to reach the presence of the Master and heal their ills in Him.
8. Behold the tree, offering to men its spiritual fruits.
9. I am the Tree of Eternal Life. Remember Christ on the cross, he was like a tree, whose arms like branches were lovingly extended to give shade to humanity; his words poured slowly into that crowd and his blood falling drop by drop, were like fruits detached from the divine Tree.
10. Next is the year 1950, in which you will stop listening to this word that is heavenly fruit for you, and then the tree, the fruit and the shadow, will be in your spirit.
11. Those who are materialized and fanatical about my word by that time will try to hold me back and ask me to speak to them for a while longer in this form; but that cannot be because I have made my will known to you and it is written.
12. The nightingales who have given my word will be silent for this manifestation and I will reward their obedience with the gift of the word and inspiration.

Love one another!

13. You do not yet know what in my high judgments I have prepared for those times. From today I tell you, that in that blessed hour I want you all to do my will and to be obedient and meek as sheep.

14. But it is not my will that you judge one another; it will be my perfect righteousness that judges each of my children.

15. Listen to me, people: do not leave me talking only in the desert; you still have time to meditate and learn.

16. Let no one pretend to do his will, although man will be able to do his own temporarily, because the justice of the Lord comes to him and then only what is decreed by him is fulfilled.

17. Prepare yourselves, prophets of the Third Time, so that you may alert the multitudes so that they will not be surprised by false Christs and false communications.

18. Do not doubt these words just because I am delivering them to you through a clumsy and humble spokesman.

19. Get up and announce these teachings to everyone, because the time is already very short.

20. A single word of light will suffice to keep your brothers awake.

21. To exchange defects for qualities, will be the noble aspiration of the coming spiritualists, those who on the ruins of human life, raise a higher kingdom.

22. It will be the generations of the future who will build that moral world, of high science and spirituality; but you present, you can do a lot. With a little good will you will remove the ruins, the debris of a past of errors and desecrations, leaving only the light of a long and painful experience. If you strive to lead yourself along the path of good feelings, so that your mind may be occupied with the virtues and your lips may be the faithful instrument of truth and inspiration that germinates in your spirit. I will bless you and make you glimpse the light of that kingdom of peace that you will build together.

23. Although your feet are touching the earth, do not let your desires stop there. Raise your aspirations higher and higher, without forgetting to give to God what is God's and to the world what corresponds to him.

24. My word is for everyone, but not everyone receives it in the same way. Many listen to her indifferently, but there are those who could no longer live without the delight of listening to me. Among these, I have contemplated the one who comes without having tasted material food and, upon hearing my word, has forgotten his needs and deprivations, and when he has left the enclosure, he has felt so full of strength and hope, of peace and consolation, that he has come to mutter: Certainly "man does not live by bread alone, but by every word that comes from God".

25. Only I contemplate what each heart holds, without anyone knowing it; I find sad, thirsty, sick or fatigued sheep; loveless and homeless creatures who, however, when listening to me, say: "I am happy listening to the divine Master, because all my sorrows dissipate and my heart is flooded with light and joy."

26. Others, on the other hand, become lethargic and do not allow their hearts to be softened as in the first days when they heard the voice of their Lord, but how to continue the lesson, while some listen and others do not, while some feel me and others remain insensitive?

27. Disciples: come back to yourselves, listen to me and feel me as before. Remember when you confessed that this word was your life and the light of your destiny. Do not forget that today I am telling you that what you need will be given to you at the right time.

28. Put oil back on your lamp so that the flame of faith and knowledge may shine again.

29. Do not sleep, watch and pray, for the Master may surprise you by penetrating your stay as before, as in those days of spiritual enthusiasm, when at every step you felt my presence. You will see how your life will be illuminated again with that light that without realizing it stopped illuminating you and it will restore your confidence in a future full of abundance and wisdom.

30. Give me one and the other your thoughts; offer me your heart, every bitterness and suffering will be like flowers that I receive; flowers of pain, of bitterness, of disappointment, but flowers at last, because they speak of purification, of aroma that rises towards Me.

31. Penetrate in silence, O spirits who receive my light while your heart expresses its sorrows to me, leave your tears in Me and instead take my balm.

32. The Father, the Supreme Being is contemplating you. Do not show yourselves defeated or powerless before Him, because in forming you He gave you His strength.

33. If your sorrow is intense, His mercy is greater. Do merits of faith, of love and do not doubt that He will take you forever to the Kingdom of his goodness and his wisdom.

34. Humanity: trust in Me and when you feel faint, give me the weight of your cross while you recover your strength.

Love one another!

35. Know that this world is a purifying source and that when you leave it to return to your true abode, your spirit will shine like light in the spaces. Remember that I told you: Whoever seeks me finds me, whoever seeks, finds. You have searched for Me and you find yourselves in front of Me.

36. But there are also those who, looking for me, cannot find me, because they do so where I cannot be. They come to doubt even my existence without knowing that they have me very close, that they carry me in themselves.

37. They do not find me in their own hearts, because they are like closed temples. The peace and light that exists in them was hidden. But there is the true sanctuary where I live waiting for you to penetrate to him to tell you about deep revelations and explain to you the why of many mysteries. When you have penetrated, you know where you have come from and where fate is leading you, and you are amazed that you have found me where you never contemplated anything before. But he who does not know that sanctuary, builds his temple materially, raises an altar in it and places on it a god made by his hands. Until the times pass and he is convinced of the imperfection of his worship, he wakes up and rises in search of the spiritual God, the God of truth, the only God, because the one who forged, had nothing to give him, because he lacked life.

38. It is God who has given life to man, the one who has created him and not man who can create gods and give them life.

39. As you listen to this word, you come closer to understanding. When this illumination is fully in your spirit, you will say to me, "Lord, the miracle is done."

40. In this way you will understand what are the works that I have been doing in spirit at this time.

41. Your spirituality will not require the wonders and trials of the First and Second Times to believe in Me.

42. Today you will see the heavenly manna descending spiritually; you will see the water of repentance flowing from the rocks that are the hearts of great sinners. You will see the dead to faith and virtue rise to life; sick with moral blemishes that are cleansed and blind to the truth that open their eyes to contemplate my splendor.

43. If in the Second Time, my birth as a man was a miracle and my spiritual ascension after my corporeal death was another miracle, verily I tell you that my communication at this time, through human understanding, is a spiritual miracle.

Love one another!

44. Even the last of my prophecies will be fulfilled at this time. I leave you my three testaments forming one.

45. Whoever has known the Father before as love, sacrifice and forgiveness, let him know Him fully at this time, so that instead of fearing his justice, he may love and venerate him.

46. If in the First Time you adhered to the Law, it was for fear that divine justice would punish you, but for that reason I sent my Word to you so that you would know that God is Love.

47. Today my light comes to you so that you will not get lost and you will be able to reach the end of the road being faithful to my Law.

48. You have served the world a lot and he has paid you badly, but when was it said to you that man would be a servant of the world? Do you not know or do you not remember that it was said to you that you will have dominion on earth? How many times have you had to come before me like the prodigal son!

49. It is my desire that you come to Me full of merits, virtue and humility.

50. I found you covered by spiritual leprosy and just by wanting it I healed you. In the same way I want you to heal your brothers, without feeling repulsion for their sins. Then it will be your works that testify that you love me and not your lips that proclaim it without the heart feeling it.

51. You will not imitate the Pharisees who in the synagogue boasted of being worthy of God and publicly in the streets flaunted charity.

52. Keep my lessons for you to study carefully, because the day is coming when you will stop listening to this word through the understanding of the speaker and then, those who learned and understood, will be strong as invincible soldiers.

53. Already prepared, you will speak inspired by Me, and in this simple way you will teach humanity. While some of my new disciples will have to go in search of men, others will have to wait for their brothers to arrive looking for my teaching in them.

54. People: explain my word and my lesson to childhood; see that my Doctrine does not stop at ages or sexes; it is for the spirit.

55. Give my teaching to children, simplifying it and making it available to their minds, but never forget that the best way to explain my lessons will be through the virtue of your life in which they will see your works of charity, patience, humility and spirituality. That will be the best way to teach.

Love one another!

56. Tell them about Jesus, tell them about Mary and all those men and women who have brought a message of light to the world: in this way you will chart the way for them to Me.

57. Tell them that on the day of rest your spirit enters my sanctuary to glorify me. Because you dedicate six days to your human duties and affections, and then rest one and from it you devote a few moments to meditation and worship of your Lord.

58. There you will find me waiting for you. Always waiting for your prayer, which is the language with which you tell me about your cares, your love or you thank me.

59. You have entered my sanctuary formed by multitudes eager to hear my divine word, and truly I tell you, I have overflowed a torrent of teachings in you. This word will be a fruitful seed in your spirit so that you may become my husbandmen.

60. You come with gratitude in your heart, because before I told you that you went to extend charity, I granted you a prodigal, already giving you health, peace or some other lost good.

61. Today in your gratitude you say to me: Master, what can I do to compensate for so much love? Then I show you the vast lands so that you can cleanse them of nettles, of stones and sow the seed of love, peace and charity.

62. Before I send you, I fill you with strength and faith, so that you will not falter or be cowed in the struggle. Many times you will see your wheat being born and growing among thistles and thorns and there you will take care of it until the time comes to reap, so that you will separate the wheat from the tares.

63. The more suffering it costs you to cultivate the lands, the greater will be your affection for them and your satisfaction at seeing them flourish.

64. Verily I say to you, this spiritual wheat that you cultivate under my teaching will be the bread of eternal life for your descendants, beyond the seventh generation.

65. Listen to me tirelessly, O disciples who are pleased with you! I speak to your spirit through these lips of men through whom I communicate. But truly I tell you, my word is not defiled by that uncleanness, it comes clean to your spirit.

66. Study my teaching, so that you may understand what is the earth, what is the seed, the water and the tool, and know what is the perfect way to prepare, sow, irrigate and cultivate the land.

67. The farmer who works in this way will know how to distinguish good fruit from bad.

Love one another!

68. Look how many have risen up believing that they already know how to sow and instead of this wheat they have sown strange seeds, which when they bore fruit, they have given them thorns.

69. I want the labor of the Third Time to arise, that is why I appeal to the great multitudes so that those who will follow me at this time may rise up from among them.

70. Thus, while I give you one lesson after another, the time is approaching when you fully take up your mission.

71. In your path you will find lands sown in other times and that only await irrigation and cultivation; they are the spirits in which the seed of faith received since the time of the prophets and my apostles is found.

72. Some bear the seed of the First Time, others the seed of the First and Second, and in them you will deposit the seed that I have given you in this Third, since you possess the seed of the Three Times, for which reason I call you Trinitarians.

73. This is the life and work that awaits you. Why are you afraid of the fight, if I am giving everything to you? Why do I see tears in the eyes of some farmers when the strongest of the struggle has not yet begun? I want you to believe that I am close to you; that your gifts are a reality, that whatever you ask of me for your spiritual perfection, in moments of trial, in difficult trances, I will grant it to you. I don't want to see any more weaknesses in you.

74. The more, forgetting the spirit, you come to ask for bread, balm, work for the body and in everyone I work a miracle, because those will also be testimonies that tomorrow ignite faith and hope in the hearts of your brothers. But do not ask me for so little, that which seems to you a lot, soon ends; rather ask me for eternal benefits, spiritual goods. I, in addition, will give you the world.

75. I have more to give to you than you have to ask of me, so do not settle for so little.

76. I can turn hearts into sources of inexhaustible charity; I can fill minds with inspiration and lips with words; I can give you the gift of healing and the power to dispel darkness and overcome evil.

77. He who has these aspirations will see emerge from himself the virtues that were ignored in the spirit. Who will close his doors to the one who knocks, possessing such gifts? What paths may seem rough and long to him who enjoys my strength? What times may seem inclement to you, if you can have power over the same elements?

Love one another!

78. O disciples, your highest mission will be that of charity! Many times you will give it secretly, without ostentation, not letting the left hand know what the right hand has given, but there will be times when your charity has to be seen by your brothers so that they learn to impart it.

79. Disregard the payment, I am the Father who justly rewards the works of his children, without forgetting a single one.

80. I have told you that if you give a glass of water with true charity, it will not go without reward.

81. Blessed are those who, when they come to Me, say to Me: "Lord, I expect nothing in payment for my works, it is enough for me to exist and to know that I am your son so that my spirit may be filled with happiness". And I tell you: you come crying, because you have lost your way, your health and the keys to work, and that's when you remember your heavenly Father.

82. For here I am before you; you are before the Master and it does not matter what reason he has brought you.

83. Come and listen to my lessons, some are for the disciples, but there are also others dedicated to the little ones.

84. Do not be ashamed to find yourselves among brothers who are ahead of my teaching, before whom you try to hide your ignorance. They also arrived like you.

85. Learn the divine lesson yourselves what you are coming so that you have to offer to those who will come after you.

86. No one should be surprised that I have come to look for my new disciples among the scum, regenerating them with my word to then send them to humanity with a message of regeneration, of life and of light for their brothers.

87. Among the sins, imperfections and desecrations of this people, the light of my Spirit has been manifested at this time. So I have been fighting to overcome those darkness, to make the light shine.

88. Blessed are all those who, closing their eyes to so much human imperfection and rising above so much misery, have known how to find my presence in my new manifestation.

89. This rude and sinful people will be polished and purified, because from generation to generation they will have to let my spiritual Work manifest with greater perfection.

Love one another!

90. Stop being what you were yesterday; leave the delayed cults, bad habits and seek your spiritual improvement.

91. I came to surprise you precisely at the time announced by Jesus and the prophets of my new coming; now when my promise is fulfilled, you will see sin at its greatest height of perversity, human ambitions and hatreds manifesting themselves in wars, as a result of the darkness that envelops the spirit of humanity at this time.

92. And when the darkness was thickest, behold, a divine ray came down to tear it, becoming a human word to say to men, "Love one another."

93. Watch and pray and do not judge yourselves, so that I may not have to repeat to you, "He who is found free from sin, let him cast the first stone."

MY PEACE BE WITH YOU!

Love one another!

1. This is a moment of joy for the Divine Spirit, because the People of Israel have gathered before the ark of the New Covenant.
2. I have come again to trace my path for you and you have followed it: I have supported you and I have adorned you with my grace.
3. This is a day that Elijah has prepared and waited for a lot, and the moment has come when his spirit will rejoice. Elijah presents his sheep clean, because before he made them wash at the source of grace that is repentance, regeneration and elevation. The number of those that the Pastor presents to me today is short, it is just the beginning of the formation of my people, but I want the first to be unified, so that they may set an example for the last.
4. I do not want you to come before Me with your heads down and ashamed like the prodigal son; I want you to look at your Father's house as your own home.
5. The bell is ringing, the hour has come, the crowds are approaching. The sleeping sheep will wake up, because Elijah is coming, preparing the spirit of children, young people and the elderly, so that they may receive the light of my word and prepare them for communication with my Spirit.
6. The multitudes have heeded my call and come in search of my word which is for them how to reach the Land of Promise. They come eager to hear my voice, which is peace and consolation, because the vicissitudes, anxieties and pains make them suffer on their way. They are the ones who instead of offering bring requests; some present me with illnesses, others lack of work and others poverty and tears. I will give you all in addition and make you understand that the spirit is before the body; today they are my little ones, but through these benefits, they will follow me until at last they become my disciples.
7. I give you my strength, so that you will not be overcome by the temptations that will lie in wait for you a lot on this journey. I want there to be love, charity, union between you. It is my will that at this time of the Sixth Seal, humanity will seek me through the spirit.
8. I want to raise you up to Me; if for this I came in the Second Time to become a man and to give you my life, now that I communicate through the human understanding I will give you my divine essence, and I will not let you sleep in your fulfillment, while I carry the cross on my back. I will teach you to carry on your shoulders, the part that corresponds to each one. The way will be recognized by you, it is traced with traces of blood and sacrifice. If you want a flowery path full of pleasures, that will not lead you to the top of the mountain where your journey should culminate.

9. I have named you the "Marian People", because you know how to love and recognize the Divine Mother and you come to her as the child who needs tenderness or as the sinner who seeks intercession.

10. Mary's presence in the world is a proof of my love for men; her purity is a heavenly miracle revealed to you. From Me she descended to earth to become a woman and in her womb the divine seed, the body of Jesus, would germinate, where the Word would speak. She comes to manifest again at this time.

11. The love of Mary will be like a heavenly ark for you; you will gather with her, as children gather around the mother. Hear her sweet word and may she not find your hearts hardened, be moved and repent, so that her light may penetrate into you and you may feel her tenderness. Once thus prepared, promise before your God, before Mary and before Elijah, that you will form one body and one will; promise before the Ark of the New Covenant, that you will fight tirelessly to uproot from your heart selfishness, hatred and fanaticism; and if you keep your promise, truly I tell you, the purification that you are feeling through pain will pass.

12. People, if even the rocks feel the justice of my word, how can you not feel it? If the earth trembles at my voice alone, if the waters stir, how can your spirit not be moved if it is the highest creature of Creation?

13. The Master will come tirelessly to teach and to give you his sweetness with the most beautiful lessons.

14. Try to know the meaning that the Ark of the New Covenant contains, because the time of struggle is approaching. If Jesus from the cross said, "Father, forgive them who do not know what they are doing," and you were forgiven for your ignorance, today I want you to contemplate my light, so that you will no longer break the Law.

15. The time is near when those you call foreigners will come in search of my word and when the new generations will emerge with greater spirituality. Soon you will see among you, men of different colors and languages, who will listen to me with love and become my disciples, because my word will reverberate to the ends of the earth. When they have been doctinated, they will return to their countries carrying this message.

16. Disciples, you who listen to my word in ecstasy, because your spirit has been able to rise; there where you have penetrated spiritually, there is the sanctuary, the temple of the

Love one another!

Holy Spirit. You have prepared yourselves with humility, you recognize yourselves as brothers, you love each other in my Divinity and you have achieved this grace.

17. Be apostles of this cause, that you may work for the reconstruction of all that I have instructed and that you have profaned. Do not be weak, for everyone who bears the divine sign will be invincible. If you want to keep this grace forever, do not get lost on the muddy roads; do not go deeper into the dark jungles, because the divine Shepherd will find you crying like lost sheep.

18. Work all of you in the construction of this sanctuary, that no merit will be ignored by Me. My word will teach you, your conscience will guide you and your intuition will tell you at what moment and in what place you should express my word and practice charity.

19. Look for the lands to sow and prepare them by removing the stones; make the barren lands fruitful, because I expect great fruits from your work; so there will be joy in both the giver and the receiver. I name you my soldiers and I bless you.

20. The trumpet that has the angel of the Sixth Seal, has been heard and your promise that you have spiritually made before Me, is written in the Book of Life.

21. Work, for the reward awaits you when you have completed your work.

22. You are the husbandmen who in the three times have received my seed; but you are also those who, when you have seen your fields turn golden with wheat, have become lethargic and let the worm eat the root of the plants, making their fruits vain.

23. Remember your division in the early days, your infidelities, your falls. That is why I find you scattered and weakened at this time. Remember that I announced to you that I would return to gather you again and here I am, as a Teacher, I have not come to contemplate your stains, nor your offenses; I have come to forgive you, to anoint you and to give you my wisdom again.

24. This is the new covenant that you make with my Divinity. This revelation is the Ark of the New Covenant. If you want to walk without ever straying, go and comfort the sad, anoint the sick, save the lost, guide the blind and feed those who hunger for justice, understanding and peace. Make way for those who are sick in body or spirit, let them come to Me, and I will give them the balm, but I will not tell them that their iniquity is the cause of their pain.

25. If I have reached the hut of the humble, I will also reach the mansion of the powerful. Verily I tell you that in some and in others I have found fratricidal war, and in those lands I will sow the seed of peace.

Love one another!

26. I leave you this lesson that contains law and justice, so that imitating your Teacher, you may bring peace where war is and charity where selfishness exists. Be in the lives of your brothers, like stars that illuminate their path.

27. Never adulterate my teachings, show my Work as a book that contains only purity and when you have finished walking the way, I will receive you. I will not contemplate stains in your spirit and I will give you my divine oscar, which will be the best reward when you arrive in the Promised Land. For I have given to you at this time a handful of seed so that you might learn to sow in fertile lands and there make it multiply.

28. I have taught you that you should not cut the fruit ahead of time, but leave it on the plant until it ripens.

29. You do not know how many centuries have passed before you were called by Me again and became farmers of my lands. Wanderers you traveled the roads of the world until my love pulled you out of the crowds.

30. Today I have adorned you and made you recognize your inheritance.

31. No one wants to become like the prodigal son again, because each return will be more painful.

32. Do not allow egoism to penetrate your heart again and keep this inheritance only for yourself.

33. Do not live divided spiritually and only united in appearance, because if you deceive man, you will not be able to lie to Me.

34. If you know how to pray, you will not get lost, because in addition to Elijah, the Spiritual Shepherd who takes care of you and leads you, there are your brothers, those whom I have placed before you on earth, to advise you and correct you.

35. Seek the unification of all the congregations and let it be the banner of peace, union and goodwill; let there never be fratricidal weapons in your hands, the weapons that I have given you are of love.

36. You are learning to anoint the sick and to raise the one who has died to the life of grace; you are learning to fight and to spread my Doctrine, but there are those who still within this path seek riches, finery and honors, and they do not know with how much pain those stains are purified.

37. How great is the gift that the spokesman has been entrusted to him! What a torrent of wisdom, of love and consolation passes through his understanding and through his lips! It is the means between God and men to listen to me. Vanity or pride should not nestle in them, because if they do this, they will fall into temptation. His example must be one of gentleness, simplicity and charity so that he may fully enjoy divine inspiration. But among them there will be those who, feeling themselves kings, seek their servants and surround themselves with sycophants. But will humanity be able to believe them? Will they be able to raise the dead to the life of grace and comfort grieving hearts? No, they will only provoke mockery, which will not be for them but for my Doctrine.

38. Your mission is to teach, but if you don't learn from Me, what can you teach?

39. I love you all equally, the same to the one who loves me and is jealous of my Law, as to the one who commits adultery or prevaricates, the latter I will prove, I will correct them and in the end they will be my good laborers.

40. I will help you to fulfill that promise that you made before the Ark of the New Covenant and it will be then that you will have finished the mission that you have brought to the world.

41. I am always making myself felt in you so that you may live alert and your mind and heart may always be sensitive to spiritual lessons.

42. The multitudes approach as the times pass and the gaze of the last ones will become more penetrating to judge the essence of my word and your preparation.

43. Purify yourselves. Without regeneration you will not be able to bear good fruits. The light of my Holy Spirit is on your conscience, so that your works may be the witness of my truth.

44. Take advantage of the years, the centuries, the eras, so that you may come closer to Me.

45. I tell you this, because I consider you indifferent to my teaching, on the other hand, when you feel that death is approaching, you cry because you want to fulfill and make up for lost time.

46. Do not be afraid to climb the mountain, you know that I am waiting for you at the top of it.

47. In Jesus I climbed Calvary, knowing that the cross was waiting for me at its top and I was strong; do not forget my lesson.

48. I am making use of you to manifest myself to humanity; I am speaking through your lips my heavenly word, but if men, when they hear it, doubt it, it will not be of its essence, but of your imperfections.

Love one another!

49. I am teaching you to transport yourselves in spirit through prayer and thought to any place where you want to send charity. You will also have to move materially to take my Doctrine to the regions.

50. I have to use your whole being.

51. To form this people, I had to bend the hearts of rock, behind which you hid your spirit and it was my word of love that convinced you. Then I gave you weapons, which are my teachings, so that in your struggle you would overcome obstacles and I made you understand that in order to call yourselves children of Israel, it is necessary to practice my Doctrine with purity and teach my law without altering it.

52. What you ask me and what you answer me, you do in silence, in the depths of your heart. The years are distant when I allowed each of my disciples to rise materially before his brothers to analyze my word and answer my questions.

53. How you let time erase memories and take away my word from your memory!

54. My teaching as a fine chisel polishes you, while life, with its vicissitudes and trials prepares you.

55. Take comfort in your bitter and difficult trances, thinking that my wise and perfect Law judges everything.

56. I have been in your pain so that through it you may seek me. I have touched you with poverty so that you may learn to ask, to be humble and to understand others.

57. I have come to withhold daily bread from you, to show you that whoever has faith, is like the birds who do not worry about tomorrow; they see the dawn appear as a symbol of my presence and when they wake up, the first thing they do is raise their trills as a thanksgiving and as a proof of faith.

58. I have made myself felt through your dearest ones, to prove to you that the spirit is strong and that with that strength it can sustain its matter in the great trials of this life.

59. Great is the reluctance of humanity and each man carries in his heart a rock, but I will reach everyone with the spiritual caress of my word.

60. Among the immense mobs abound those who would not shudder to see Jesus nailed to the tree again, bleeding to death; he will be less moved by the woes of pain and the rivers of blood that flow from his fellow men in these hours of trials for humanity.

61. Nothing moves men anymore; they look at everything superficially and meditate on nothing.

Love one another!

62. It is necessary that the light of my word reach the spirits, so that they awaken to truth, to love, to charity. Then you will understand why there are so many sorrows.

63. It is necessary for all of you to understand that I have prepared a place in eternity for each of you, and that this place is not in this world.

64. You have come to fulfill a command from the Father on the path of life, the one that says: "Grow and multiply", but it is time for your spirit to prepare his return to Me.

65. Many lessons will I give you and leave written in this time, because soon you will cease to hear me in this way. Then you will prepare yourselves and my light will come directly to your spirit; it will be the time when you must rise up as the true disciples of the Holy Spirit.

66. You believed that the gift of prophecy, of the word and of inspiration, had been the privilege of the righteous and of saints, and at this time I brought you out of that error by saying to the outcasts; you too can be my prophets, my emissaries and my disciples.

67. If humanity despises you for your material humility, I bring you closer to my table so that you may feel loved by Me. What are you going to do to make up for the love I have for you, people? With your faithfulness or perhaps with ingratitude?

68. Do not settle for the first, always aspire to more, because I am waiting for those prepared to send you to the regions with this good news.

69. Are you afraid of leaving a father, wife or children? Are you worried about leaving what belongs to you on Earth? Whoever wants to be my disciple will have to remember my apostles of the Second Time, and then imitate them.

70. Blessed is the one whom corporeal death surprises by teaching my Doctrine, for the light in his spirit will be very great.

71. Always be prepared, because even the angels do not know that hour.

72. This divine book, which is my word, comes to perfect the spirits. Before him, there will be no elder, no adult, no child, but disciples.

73. In this book, read and understand, because it will give you great teachings. You are the ones who have not grown weary of listening to my word that I have given you through these, whom I have called nightingales.

74. How many times have you felt weak on your way and just by remembering some of my words, you have regained strength!

Love one another!

75. Today, when you are facing a trial, you seek direct communication with my Divinity through spiritual prayer and you struggle within to divest your mind to receive the grace that you request from the Father.

76. What you confess to me, only I know. But this confidant that you have in Me will never publish your faults, much less betray you. I am teaching you to forgive again.

77. Take the tests as lessons and take advantage of my teachings. Time passes quickly; those who arrived as children are already young; those who started this journey in their youth have reached maturity and those who started in the middle ages have become elderly.

78. He who has known how to concentrate on himself to listen to my word, he has stored it, but he who has listened has let his thought escape to what is alien to my Work, he has left with a naked spirit of teachings and an empty heart.

79. Recognize that if I have called you, it was not only to please you, but so that in this way you would contract with your Teacher and with your brothers, the duty to give something of the much that you have received.

80. I will not let you manifest my Work by finding you stained. What could you give to your brothers?

81. Prepare yourselves, because together you will have to take care of what I have entrusted to you. Do you not feel grateful to your Father, who being the Supreme Judge, gives you the opportunity to wash away your stains through the practice of love, instead of doing it through pain?

82. If you call this penance, I tell you that it is the only penance I receive from you. The day will come for you when rejecting the superfluous and the bad in order to practice the good and the lawful, will be instead of a sacrifice a true joy, not only spiritual but also human.

83. I am preparing the roads for my emissaries to reach the regions and the nations through them.

84. My word of this time in recent years has borne fruit, because the precincts have multiplied and the crowds have grown.

85. You feel clumsy to get up to carry out such a delicate mission, but in truth I tell you that my innumerable lessons and inspirations will put the gift of the word on your lips, but in order for you to obtain the fulfillment of this promise, it is necessary that you have faith in Me and in yourselves. And whoever possesses this faith and complies with my Law, do not flaunt his gifts because then his word will lack essence.

Love one another!

86. Why has my word moved men of every condition? For his humility, purity and simplicity.

87. People: Teach children to pray for humanity, their innocent and pure prayer, like the perfume of flowers, will rise up to Me and will also reach the hearts that suffer.

88. Prepare the children, show them the way to overcome the stalking and tomorrow they will take a step further than you have taken. Because if you knew how to understand my word, if you already know the background of each of the thoughts that take shape through the different spokespersons by which I manifest myself, and if you knew what a single one of my teachings is worth, you would not be so shy to talk about this Work. You would feel able to go to a battlefield so that those men would hear the reading of a lesson from me, and truly I tell you, you would see them cry with repentance to some and hope to others.

89. Why do you sometimes fail to be moved? O hard hearts, accustomed to the caress of my word! You are drowsy, satisfied that you have reached peace and comfort, not remembering that there are many who do not have even a crumb of this bread that you waste.

90. You did not want to enjoy contemplating the effect that the Master's word of consolation would cause in many hearts.

91. Oh little babies! When are you going to grow in spirit? When will you manage to master the weaknesses of your body? I am the one who crosses the desert pouring out my divine word and looking for lost walkers; but I want men to learn to give what they receive from Me. That is why I tell you, people, to prepare yourselves to extend my charity, making these teachings reach to the ends of the earth. Cause them to be reproduced and multiplied so that they may reach all nations seeking men by the different ways.

92. This is the best water you can offer to those who thirst for love and truth.

93. You have not yet risen to work, because you are hiding the spiritual treasures that I have entrusted to you, while in other nations they perish, because they have not been able to receive this message. They are crowds that go without direction, walkers who lack water and light.

Love one another!

94. If you do not rise up, people, what good will your knowledge do you? What do you intend to do for the benefit and good of your future life, that which awaits you in the spiritual world?

95. Have mercy on yourselves. No one knows when the time will come when his spirit will separate from matter. No one knows if the next day their eyes will open to the light. You are all of the one owner of everything created and you do not know when you will be picked up.

96. Think that neither the hairs of your head are yours, nor the dust that you tread on; that you do not belong to yourselves, that you do not need to have properties of short duration, since "your kingdom is not of this world either".

97. Spiritualize yourselves and you will possess everything with justice and with measure as long as you need it, and when the time comes for renunciation of this life, you will rise full of light to take possession of what corresponds to you in the Hereafter.

98. All my spiritual work throughout the ages, has had the purpose of building in eternity a Kingdom of happiness and light for all my children.

MY PEACE BE WITH YOU!

Love one another!

Teaching 6

1. Blessed are you who come to listen to the Master's lesson, for my teaching is the seed that you will carry to the generations to come. You are the firstborn son who is going to prepare by example the way for his little brothers.
2. This is the Third Time in which my Divine Spirit is poured out on all flesh and on every spirit, in fulfillment of the prophecy that I made to you that every eye would behold me.
3. Truly I tell you that when you communicate from spirit to Spirit with my Divinity, you will be contemplating me, because it is in your spiritual gaze that I have come to prepare.
4. You are the heirs of my kingdom. The fruit of the tree of life has been given to you by the Father, so that you may be filled and then cultivate his seed.
5. The Lord owned the lands and has given them to his sons, who are you, naming you farmers of his countryside.
6. Those who have understood their mission and have known how to work the land, have recreated themselves and present their satisfaction to me; those who conceived the way adorning with fragrant flowers, and believing that the tree did not need care and vigilance to bear fruit, today appear tired. They found in their path so much misery, sin and pain that they felt powerless to lighten the cross to their brothers. As soon as the day had begun, they felt tired; they devoted themselves to healing the sick, and they too became ill.
7. But the Master is still among his disciples to give them new lessons and help them get up. I say to you, Ask of Me that I will give to you, for I am your Father.
8. My teaching, full of love and patience, will turn you into gentle sheep who know how to meekly follow the voice of their Shepherd.
9. Do not forget that before the Ark of the New Covenant you swore to fulfill the precepts of my Law.
10. Yes, disciples, your mission is one of peace and unification; you will have to rebuild my temple, because through you I will bequeath my word, my prophecies and commands to humanity.
11. I also say to you, Why, if you are the ones inherited from the Father, do you dare to transgress or commit adultery? Do you not think that by this you increase your restitution? Here is the reason for your illnesses and vicissitudes.

Love one another!

12. If I have made you first, do not become last, take your place and keep this grace until the end of the journey.

13. Do not divide yourselves, form a single family, only in this way can you be strong.

14. Do not be arrogant, behold that your lands are small and your sowing is still short. Always be humble and you will be great before the Father.

15. Those who were weak yesterday will be the strong of tomorrow, of that tomorrow that you should long for, which will be like the dawn of a new day, whose sun will illuminate your spirit; then some of you will be Cyrenians of the others to help you carry the weight of the cross.

16. Do not consider my Work as a burden, nor say that it is heavy for your spirit to fulfill the beautiful mission of loving the Father and your brothers. The one that is heavy is the cross of your own and others' worries for which you will have to cry, bleed and even die. Ingratitude, misunderstanding, selfishness, slander, will be like a beacon on you, if you give them shelter.

17. The fulfillment of my law may seem hard and burdensome to the reluctant man, because it is perfect and does not protect iniquity or falsehood; but for the obedient, the Law is his bulwark, his support, his salvation.

18. I warn you of everything and prepare you, so that you may be able to extend my teachings with true clarity.

19. I enlighten my spokespersons so that my ray, made human word, but full of heavenly essence, descends on them to feed, purify and heal the multitudes: soon the number of my spokespersons will increase; men and women will speak extensively and through them I will reveal great teachings to you.

20. I am speaking to you and I am watching over you. Do not sleep like the disciples of the Second Time while Jesus was praying in the Garden of Olives, because the enemies will surprise you.

21. Pray together with your Teacher so that your prayer will give you courage and you will not cringe at the alarm bells.

22. There are those who doubt my presence, even when they are receiving my communication through their understanding. And it is that when judging his life, his words and even his thoughts, he considers himself unworthy, impure, and thinks that my presence in him is impossible. Verily I tell you, Unclean and sinners are all these through whom I communicate, but I contemplate their constant effort to make themselves more and more worthy of transmitting my divine word, and my strength and my light are with them.

23. This people, who in the present time should resemble the man in full youth, has come like an old man to the presence of his Father, spiritually he comes tired by his long pilgrimage, bent by the weight of his burden, withered and disillusioned. But to help you on your way I have opened a book, the Book of Life, in which you will discover the secret of perpetual peace, eternal youth, health and joy.

24. In my countryside, you will regain the vigor that you had lost, O peasants!

25. My word always advises you good and virtue. That you do not speak ill of your brothers, causing their dishonor; that you do not look down on those who suffer from diseases that you call contagious; that you do not protect wars; nor do you have shameful occupation that destroys morality and protects vices; that you do not curse anything created; nor take what is foreign without permission from the owner; nor spread superstitions. That you visit the sick; forgive those who offend you; protect virtue; give good examples and you will be loving me and loving your brothers, that in those two precepts the whole Law is summarized.

26. Learn my lesson and teach it with your practice. If you do not learn, how do you want to preach my Doctrine? And if you do not feel what you have learned, how do you want to teach like the good apostle?

27. Tell me, people, what have you analyzed and practiced so far? My word is clear and simple and you have not been able to interpret it yet, but I come to enlighten you and to take you along the path of light. Do not go out of that way or turn back; do not go in a hurry either.

28. For your sake I have come to teach you, and I long for you to come to Me and lift up your song like the angels: "Glory to God in the highest and peace on earth to men of good will."

29. I also want to hear from you a phrase of repentance, your sincere confession, to console and advise you as a Father and to be your best friend.

30. Today you are still ignorant of all that I am going to reveal to you during this stage; step by step I will teach you. My teaching, known to a portion of humanity, will reach its splendor when the time comes.

Love one another!

31. I have not called wise men or philosophers to use their understanding; I have chosen the humble, to make them the spokesmen of my word, through whom my Spirit delivers this communication to you and recreates itself when it sees that you recognize me.

32. The fountain of my love is overflowing, will you receive me? I am in the essence of my word. Join your song to that of the angels and praise me. Whatever you ask for your spiritual progress, I will grant it to you.

33. You are listening to the Word of the Father, my gaze penetrates your hearts and in some I contemplate the hardness of the rock and the coldness of the marble, more I make water flow from the rocks and my love and my tenderness will give you the warmth that your spirit needs.

34. I formed your body of matter and gave you my divine breath; I endowed you with consciousness so that you could live recognizing me, and from time to time I have come to give you lessons full of wisdom that elevate your spirit. In the Second Time I sowed my seed of love in you and today I come to cultivate it; at the end of time you will all be with me, as I have been with you.

35. I have polished you along the way, because I long for you to be clean and virtuous so that you may become my good disciples.

36. Live watching and praying and all suffering will be bearable; you will not fall into temptation and you will feel that close to you my Father's Spirit protects you. Be strong in trials. Remember that Jesus in the Second Time, when the cup of bitterness was offered to him and he sensed the pain that awaited him, he said: "If it is possible, take this cup away from Me, but not my will, but yours be done". Do you, who also suffer and suffer on earth, not want to imitate Him? Don't you want to follow him?

37. Why are you less afraid now that I speak to you as a Consoling Spirit, than when I spoke to you as a Judge in the First Time and as a Teacher in the Second, if I am the same Spirit that I have spoken to you in all three times? Is it because I am speaking sweetly to you?

38. I taught you in the Second Time and today I come to offer you the same delicacy of my word, because you are my disciples and I want you to feed on Me. Rise to the life of grace and take advantage of this precise time in which I teach you. Later, when you have received all that I have prepared for you, I will ask you to account for your works in this and in all times: for when I came to earth to become a man, you conversed with me and received my lessons as now. But at that time, while some of you believed, others doubted, and that time of grace, that opportunity for the advancement of your spirit, passed. But the Father gives his children new lessons and tests for their spiritual elevation and at this time I give you one more teaching, so that you can contemplate the Promised Land closer.

39. I have spoken to you through different spokespersons and since they are imperfect because they are human, you have doubted, more truly I tell you that I have come to use them, because I know them and have prepared them through centuries to present them before you at this Time as the interpreters of my word.

40. I have come to seek you, because my love for you is very great, I have traced a destiny of restitution to each creature, in which the loving justice of the Father is reflected. Despite your mistakes, I am revealing to you your mission among humanity, but it is necessary that you meditate deeply and make yourselves worthy of it. Think that I am not only manifesting myself before you in word, but also in inspiration and revelation through dreams and clairvoyances.

41. People: You have not been perfected yet, but you will be with me when you have been purified by your merits. If you now consider yourselves ignorant, I will enlighten you and you will speak and surprise men. When you are ready, your desire will be to collaborate with me in the work of salvation of humanity.

42. I am teaching you the truth and showing you the way so that you may prepare yourselves and with your prayer and your works imitate me, remembering my examples of the Second Time. May all the acts of your life contain love and truth, so that with them you may bear witness to Me. Remember that: "Not everyone who utters my name loves me; nor does everyone who utters my name revere me; only those who fulfill my Law testify about Me"

43. Now I come to grant you some more time to rise up the ladder of your perfecting, and do you know what the secret to elevation is? Love, sincerity, purity of heart and good deeds. Therefore I have said to you: Cleanse the vessel inside and out; keep watch, like the wise virgins of my parable, have your lamp lit; speak firmly of my Doctrine and do not be afraid or ashamed of being my disciples, because if you deny me today, tomorrow, when you are convinced of my truth, you will feel pain.

44. If you do not recognize me by my word, recognize me by the wonders that I have done among you. What I have promised you through the mouthpiece, I have fulfilled in the way of your life. Why do many deny my manifestations as a Divine Spirit, if you are living the time of the Holy Spirit?

Love one another!

45. If you asked me for proof of these revelations, I would give them to you, but if I put you to the test, what would you do? You would feel weak and small.

46. I want to see in you the faith manifested by the sick who came before Me in the Second Time: that of the paralytic, that of the blind and that of the incurable woman. I want to feel loved as a Father, requested as a Doctor and listened to as a Teacher.

47. Now I have not come to be immolated as in the Second Time, my Spirit will only be poured out in light, in essence, in all my children, to put them to safety. When you have risen on the path of your evolution, you will form a single spirit of good, of peace, to intercede for all your brothers.

48. Unite yourselves with your love to the intercession of your spiritual Mother, because the scepter of justice is about to arrive among men.

49. Practice charity and give to your brothers, as I have given to you.

50. Meditate on my words and feel responsible for your positions. Why do you sometimes forget that I have come full of love to forgive your faults and to give you the opportunity to start a new life? Why do you fall into routine, if I am preparing you to travel along the path of evolution, where you are discovering new and vast horizons and endless incentives for the spirit?

51. Do not be moved only at the moment of listening to my word, do not mourn your faults without feeling it deeply or make false purposes of amendment that you will very soon break. Watch and be strong, so that you may be firm in your determinations, and when you promise to amend, do it firmly and come to Me full of joy to say: Father, I have fulfilled your commands, I have obeyed you, I have honored your name.

52. This is the time announced in which I was to speak to humanity and I want you with this word that I have given you, in fulfillment of my prophecies, to form volumes, then make extracts and analyzes of it and make it known to your brothers. Do you want to take care of this mission? I grant you the time to fulfill it with the positions that I have given you in my Work and outside of it. Work and there will be peace and joy in your spirit. Practice without getting puffed up, without closing yourself in a circle of egoism, be a staff and an example for your material and spiritual brothers. Your mission is not limited to working for incarnate beings, but you must also help the disembodied, those creatures in need of love and charity, which very few remember. It is not enough for you to believe and recognize my manifestation at this time, it is necessary that you practice the Doctrine that I teach you.

Love one another!

53. Do not let the children get lost on the way for lack of teaching, see that their evolved spirits can stumble on the stones of the wrong path, having been prepared to fulfill great missions.

P A R A B L E:

54. "In the midst of a blooming orchard, there stood a venerable old man joyfully contemplating his work. A fountain that overflowed its crystal clear waters watered the cultivated garden. The old man wanted to share his fruits and invited the walkers to enjoy his goods.

55. A sick man, a leper, came to him. The old man looked at him with love, received him and asked what he requested. The wayfarer said to him, "Do not come near me, for I am a leper." The old man, without feeling repugnance, made him pass, gave him shelter in his house and fed him without asking him the cause of his illness. The leper, being under the protection of the old man, cleansed his body and full of gratitude said to him: I will stay with you, because you have restored me to health, I will help you cultivate your lands.

56. Then a woman came to that place, with despair reflected on her face and the old man asked her: What do you need? And she, weeping, answered, I cannot hide my fault, I have committed adultery and I have been thrown out of my home, my little children have been abandoned. The old man said to her: Do not fall into adultery again, love and respect your husband, and while you return to your home, drink of this crystal clear water and purify yourselves. But the woman answered, I cannot return, but send your call to my home, and I will remain at your service.

57. The days passed, and the little ones who had been left alone, went in search of the good old man because they knew that he distributed charity and he said to them: What are you looking for? And they answered, We have been left alone at home, our parents have abandoned us and we come to you in search of bread and shelter, because we know that in you we will find them. The old man said to them, "Come in, your parents are with me, take a break and join them."

58. All gathered together, in that blessed company, they regained peace, there was forgiveness and reconciliation, and they returned to everyday life. The regenerated father, cleansed from his leprosy, returned to shelter the woman under his roof and gave warmth to the little ones. She, repentant and clean, was a lap for the man and a cradle for his children. The little ones, who believed they had lost their parents forever, thanked the old man for returning them to them and for allowing their home to be rebuilt."

Love one another!

59. Truly I tell you, if you seek Me in your greatest problems, you will always find a solution to them.

60. I am the old man of the parable. Come to Me, I reject no one, but I use your trials to purify you and bring you closer to Me. Come all, regain peace and health. Drink from the crystal fountain and be saved. Because I am the Book of life and I have presented one more page for you to study and be strong in my teaching. Do you want to continue on this path? Know my law and keep every one of my precepts. Do not give your Father bitterness, do not make me suffer. See that my sacrifice is constant; because of your doubt and misunderstanding, you lead me every moment to the cross.

61. To you, men, I have given an inheritance, an estate, a woman of whom you are stewards, so that you may love her and cultivate. And yet, your companion has come to me presenting complaints and crying for your misunderstanding. I have told you that you are strong, that you have been formed in my image and likeness, but I have not commanded you to humiliate the woman and make her your slave. I have made you strong so that you may represent me in your home, strong in virtue, in talent, and I have given you as a complement in your earthly life, as a companion to the woman, so that in the love of both, you will find strength to face trials and vicissitudes.

62. Now I am calling you to my Kingdom to save you, but you must work and do merit to climb the path of light that I have traced for you. I am anxiously waiting for you, come and you will be received as obedient children and there will be a feast in heaven.

63. Why do you feel weariness in your spirit, if I give you strength every moment? Do not turn away from Me, even if there is fatigue or coldness that humanity has left in you. I am the resurrection and the life, if you trust in Me, you will regain strength and joy. When you need a staff, lean on Elijah, your Shepherd and he will support you. When you are in need of consolation and tenderness, turn to Mary, your heavenly Mother, and feel her caress and her balm. Understand her love, she feels your pain and accompanies you in your sorrows. How great is their suffering when you twist the road and march like blind men, after having contemplated this light!

64. Pain has come to flood the heart of humanity. Today the prophecy is fulfilled that says: "Parents will not know their children and they will not know their parents. They will not know each other among brothers and they will hate each other." You also contemplate how homes are fields of discord and war. But I come to stop you on that road and to tell you to throw away those weapons of destruction and not to put one another to death, to flee from the chaos, come with me and follow me in the work of restoration.

Love one another!

65. I ask you, Have you not received comfort and strength in my word? Have you not been moved by my presence? Yes, disciples, if the flesh does not confess it, the spirit recognizes me, thanks me and discovers the essence of my love at the bottom of this word. Didn't I promise you in the Second Half, that I would return as a Real Spirit? See how I have fulfilled all that I have offered you.

66. Study, disciples, so that you may teach those who will come after you. Philosophers and scientists will look for you and I will speak to them through you, and thus I will show them once again that I have made use of the poor and the simple. Arise, ye husbandmen, and sow the lands that I have prepared for you, for very soon I will come as administrator and judge, to ask you for the harvest of the seed that I have given you.

67. I clothe you with my grace, so that you may be humble Teachers of your brothers and sisters and heal the sick. Welcome those who come in search of light and be clarity for all. Counsel and convert sinners, but do not boast that you are my disciples. When you feel the pain of your brothers and sisters and know how to comfort them, when you truly love and do charity without publishing it, then you will be able to call yourselves my disciples.

MY PEACE BE WITH YOU!

Teaching 7

1. To those who still do not understand my manifestation, I say: This man through whom I communicate is human like you and this seat that you contemplate in the corner of the enclosure, on which the spokesman of my word rests, is not the Lord's sole.
2. The throne that I seek among you is your heart, and I will rest on it when I know how to worship myself without idolatry or fanaticism.
3. You are so fragile and so inclined to idolatry, that without realizing it you are worshiping me in the matters for which I communicate and you look at these places as if they were sacred. But when you no longer have me in this form, you will understand that these spokespersons were not the highest means for my communication; when the Divine Ray, instead of descending on the human understanding, settles in your properly prepared spirit, then you will have reached perfect communication, because there there will be no mistakes, no troubles that mix with the light of your Master.
4. Man was destined from eternity to communicate with my Spirit under many forms and this one that you now have through the human understanding, is one of them.
5. If you find imperfection in this word, attribute it to the understanding by which I communicate, taking into account that I have selected these spokesmen from the humble, ignorant and rude, so that my communication through them would surprise you. But when you penetrate to the bottom of my teaching, do not go to become judges of my spokespersons, because to judge them only I, who speak to them every moment through consciousness. Then do not measure with your rod, for with it you will be measured.
6. He who has been called to be my labourer, feels that his heart induces him to come and listen to me and to continue penetrating these places of prayer and charity.
7. To these, who presume to be of the elect of this Third Time, and to those who are already among the ranks of my husbandmen, I say: Keep my commands, meditate on my recommendations and analyze my words, so that you may be the steadfast soldiers who do not allow yourselves to be overcome by trials.
8. You should all know that at the end of 1950 I will stop speaking to you in this way and that it is necessary that it be so so that you may feel me among you in fullness, when you raise the perfect worship of me from spirit to Spirit.
9. With these lessons that I am giving you, I am bringing you closer to the time that I am announcing to you, so that you may come to understand the change that will be in you after 1950.

Love one another!

10. By then you must be strong and prepared, if you want to submit to my will and continue your spiritual evolution.

11. You must be alert, because temptation will assail you at all times, some to induce you to continue indefinitely a stage whose end has been marked by Me; and others, due to lack of preparation and excessive vanity, to say that they are listening spiritually to my divine word. But from today I warn you and I want you to know that I do not speak with human words, but with inspirations, with ideas, with thoughts.

12. To give you my lessons with human words, I came to communicate through the understanding of man, but already communicated from spirit to Spirit, neither you will speak to me with material words, nor will your Father do it to you.

13. If you do not prepare yourselves, murmurs will come to your ears that will confuse you and later, with them you will confuse your brothers. I am putting you on alert so that, once these communications are finished, you do not try to practice them again, because it will not be spirits of light who manifest themselves, but troubled beings who come to want to destroy what you had built before.

14. On the other hand, the one who knows how to prepare, the one who instead of wanting to make himself remarkable tries to make himself useful, who instead of anticipating events, waits patiently, he will clearly hear my teaching that will reach his spirit through the gifts that exist in him, which are inspiration, intuition, foreboding through prayer, spiritual gaze and prophetic dreams.

15. I am preparing you, people, so that you will not profane my Law out of ignorance. I open your eyes to the light of truth, so that you may understand the immense responsibility that weighs on you and at the same time, so that you may understand how infinitely delicate is the mission that I have entrusted to you within this Work.

16. I want your obedience to make you worthy of my protection and not that with your mistakes, misunderstandings and disobediences, you expose yourselves to the justice of men being the one that stops your steps on Earth.

17. Verily I tell you, whoever does not fulfill my Law that exists in his conscience, will not come to Me; but I also tell you, it would be sad if you had been very anxious to sow and when the time comes to harvest you will be disappointed in your harvest, because you see that everything you did was for your body and nothing aimed at the perfecting of your spirit.

Love one another!

18. People: Do not weep when you hear me speak like this, do not think that I am unjust when I complain to you, nor do you attribute these words to the hardness of heart of the spokesman! I know I'm right to warn you and keep you on your toes.

19. I want to leave you among humanity so that you can save many who walk in darkness, because they do not know how to look at the light of truth; but if you do not reach the preparation that you must have to be worthily called my disciples, do you think that a blind man can lead others blind?

20. Truly I tell you that only those who have practiced it on their way and know how to feel it should speak of virtue.

21. Watch and pray, people, so that the sense of responsibility may awaken in you and you may be able to listen to the voice of conscience at every step, so that you may feel that you have penetrated into the time of light, in which your spirit must awaken and be attentive to my commands. Future generations will count you blessed to know that you were chosen to form the foundations of a new humanity, the forerunners of my teaching of the Third Time.

22. You have all felt the pain during this time, and your heart, moved in its most sensitive fibers, has returned to Me already calmed its sorrow and has prepared to follow me. One of my words has been enough for you to recognize that it is I who speak to you in this way; the hunger for tenderness and love that you made present to me has disappeared and you only long to preserve my grace, but many will not know how to interpret my manifestations that in different ways, I am giving to humanity, nor will they understand my word and that ignorance will be like a blindfold in their eyes, which prevents them from contemplating my truth.

23. If you want to find me, look for me in the silence, in the humility of your inner temple and there you will be in communication with my Spirit and I will feel loved and revered by you.

24. Do not imagine me or want to see me in any object: do not build ostentatiously the enclosure that you dedicate to my worship, wherever you are you can raise your spirit; if you want to meet, a humble stay will be enough for you to congregate and when you have built me the true sanctuary in your heart, so you will teach your brothers to form it too.

25. You present to me your poverty, you tell me that you have no goods on earth, but remember that I have given you peace, love, spiritual elevation, which form a greater treasure; be the strong, the prudent Israel, and when you feel inspired by my Spirit, talk about Me to your brothers, heal the sick, strengthen the weak, protect the defenseless, and in those practices you will know the wealth that exists in your spirit and you will feel happy.

26. The latter will take great steps forward in this path and you must prepare the way for them from today; when this time comes, thank me and testify before your brothers that my word has been fulfilled. Do not stop anyone in their spiritual progress, because it is my will that this humanity evolves in a short time.

27. I receive your fulfillment, great or small; I give you my strength and comfort you in your sorrows; your tears are the best watering you give to your sowing; just as a mother wakes up and silently pours out her cry for the misunderstanding of her children, so you, watch and suffer for those I have left in your care, so that I can say to you: Blessed are my servants. Blessed are the sowers of the perfect seed.

28. I welcome you, walkers. I receive you, sowers. You are moving away from superfluous practices to follow your lord, knowing that the payment for your struggle is not on Earth. You are content with the vicissitudes of life. Bless you. You have not asked me for rich delicacies, you have settled for a hard beggar. Blessed are you, for you have proved that you are not pursuing an earthly cause, but have shown that you are following in the footsteps of Jesus of Nazareth.

29. The trials have not frightened you, and truly I tell you: I have placed a cross in each one of you; all your sorrows, all that men have taken from you, your scarcity, the suffering that each and every one of you carries within your heart, that is your cross. You have borne it patiently, and your meekness is worthy of a reward.

30. He who seeks only what belongs to the world is not with me. The goods of the earth you obtain with your material work, but the goods of the spirit you achieve only with spiritual preparation and fulfillment.

31. I am your Teacher and I tell you: Since you bear the cross with patience, do not leave it in the middle of the road. Whoever wants to be saved will carry his cross until the end of the day. Whoever does not conform will make his cross heavier and it will seem unbearable to him.

32. If you want your fulfillment in my Doctrine to be meritorious, bear your sufferings with patience; and he who says to me, "Teacher, I do not carry the cross with me," I contemplate that he is only carrying a burden of nonconformity, but that is not my will.

33. That you make me present? What is the seed that you have cultivated? What are the lands that you have tilled and made fertile by your fulfillment? The time when you sow them is perfect has not yet arrived, but I do not come to discourage you, I come to teach you so that you may reach the greatest elevation, Do not forget that according to your sowing, so will the harvest be. If the wheat you sow is in vain, you will reap nothing. If you sow little, you will reap little. Therefore consecrate yourselves to your sowing and you will carve out a reward for the future. The ripe fruit will be in my barn. I leave the seven ears of corn for you to cultivate. I will order the fruit of the first, the fruit of the second and so on until the last, and if they are all of good taste, the harvest will be perfect. And what are those ears of which I am speaking to you, beloved disciples? These are the seven virtues.

34. Strengthen yourselves. The balm has been with you and to your spirit I have given my light. Men will come to search you, but I will give them proofs through you, woe to the one who is not prepared, for they will doubt him and the Master! I strengthen you for the time of trial, but why are you surprised when they come? Is it possible that my word was not prophetic? That is why I say to you: Get ready, people, because on your way you will meet the hungry wolf who, disguised as a sheep, will want to surprise you; but if you watch, you will discover him and with your weapons of love you will overcome him.

35. Men will look for your mistakes in order to lose you; just as they searched the Master in the Second Half, so they will do with you. But I awaken you, I prepare you and I give you intuition.

36. In regions near and far, you will deliver my word. I will prepare new crops so that the tree will not be left alone after 1950.

37. Do not be afraid of men, for truly I tell you, I will speak through your mouths, I will testify my word for you, and the echo of it will reach the ends of the earth; to the great, to the small, to the rulers, to scientists and theologians.

38. Humanity will see in you the messengers of the Holy Spirit. You will turn imperfection into perfection. Your word will be sweet, full of tenderness and through it the sick will receive health, and the one who strays from the way will repent of his faults and return to Me.

39. Today you are my disciples, tomorrow you will become teachers so that you can set a good example for humanity. I will see you arrive at the source of love and wisdom, with a heart full of joy, and I will tell you: Come and quench your thirst, and when you have drunk and have risen to Me, you will contemplate me pointing out to you the ways of the world, where the thirsty multitudes are waiting for your arrival.

40. The Father calls you children of light and peace, but you must justify that name by your works. Only then will you be able to talk about Me. Woe to the one who, feeling full of gifts, was filled with vanity or let selfishness take hold of his heart, because his fall would not take long and it would be very painful!

41. The fruit that I have given you to share with your brothers has a flavor that you will not be able to confuse, nor should you change it if you do not want your work to be sterile. I don't want you to proclaim that you love me, I want you to leave the imprint of love, charity and faith with your works.

42. Whenever you rise up proclaiming that you are my chosen ones, those who are closest to Me and those who serve Me best, I will put you to the test as I did with my apostles on the Sea of Galilee; then you will know if you really love me and if your faith is firm. Anyone who wants to follow me has to be humble.

43. Obedience to my Law is humility in your spirit; whoever is obedient, is invested with my grace, while he who walks under my will, believing to take his inheritance with him, has truly stripped himself of his gifts.

44. Day after day I have been training you, preparing you for the fight, because soon I will stop speaking to you in this way and it is necessary that you be strong to withstand the trials. Know how to be with me; learn to carry me in your heart and in the hours of trial you will see me working wonders through you.

45. Understand what I have wanted to tell you, so that you may not think that it is impossible to carry my teaching in you.

46. Interpret my words well, so that you can take one more step on the path of your spiritual perfection.

47. Will you be able to leave everything to come after Me, like those who closely followed me in the Second Half? Or will you try to imitate the prodigal son of my parable, who left his father's home to go to other lands to squander the inheritance that had been given to him?

48. You remain thoughtful without daring to answer me; but do not be afraid, because if I have called you, it is because I know that you love me and that you will follow me to the end of the road.

49. If what you fear is losing your life or suffering the blood sacrifices, from today I tell you that you will not find these tests in your spiritual struggle; already the earth was fertilized from the Second Time with the blood of the Master and that of his disciples.

50. Your merit will be that you give fulfillment to the spiritual law, without abandoning your duties to the material life.

51. I do not ask everyone for the same renunciation, nor are they all capable of the same sacrifice. At that time, my disciples had to dedicate themselves completely to the Work that I came to entrust to them, and for this it was necessary that they leave parents, children, wife and everything they possessed in the world; instead, when teaching the multitudes, I taught them that in order to fulfill the life that the Creator gives, it is essential to give to "God what is God's and to Caesar what is Caesar's."

52. That humanity was materialized and at the same time it was little evolved, that is why I said to the crowds: "Man does not live by bread alone, but by every word that comes from God".

53. You are also a materialized humanity, but at the same time evolved, more capable of giving your spirit what it needs and your human life what it demands.

54. You are not new to my teaching, if that were the case, I would have had to give you the Law carved in stone as I did in the First Time, but if I have come to talk to you about spirituality and to reveal the mysteries that in those times were not shown to men, it is a sign that you were already my disciples in times past. This is the reason why I sometimes tell you that: "Those and you are the same."

P A R A B L E:

55. "In a distant region there lived a father with one of his children, whom he loved dearly.

56. The son fell ill and the father saw that his life was in danger, he took him to an esplanade, where there was an old man who ruled the destinies of that region, and when he arrived before his feet he spoke to the old man like this: My son is sick and my greatest wish is that he finds relief, because if he dies, I would also die of pain.

57. "Your son will heal and will return to the region full of life and strength," he said to the old man, and while he was uttering these words, he touched the sick man and he was healthy.

58. Returning to the region, the Father contemplated his robust and full of health son. Time passed and that son felt strong, arrogant and directed his plant through crooked paths taking poisonous fruits that sickened his body and spirit. He did not know his father and his heart harbored only feelings of hatred and destruction.

Love one another!

59. His father, beholding him lost in that abyss of evil, went to the esplanade and said to the old man: Good old man, my son has taken the circuitous path that has plunged him into the abyss.

60. Why are you crying, the old man said to him?

61. I cry when I see the perversity of my son. I have waited for his spirit to be lifted from this world but that moment does not come and I can no longer bear his evil.

62. The old man replied, "You asked him to live, and he has lived." It was high time that his footsteps should have ceased on earth, but behold, you must learn to ask and be conformed to my will."

63. Beloved Israel: I am always just in my determinations. Why do you sometimes want to interpose yourselves in my high designs? Do you not know that those who go to the spiritual abode enter into the true life? Do not oppose, on the contrary, help them to leave with your conformity, so that their passage from this world to the next is full of firmness and spiritual understanding.

64. Seek Me as Father, know my love, my wisdom and my justice; come to Me by the ladder of prayer, faith and good works.

MY PEACE BE WITH YOU!

1. The light of my Holy Spirit descends on you, but why do you represent me in the form of a dove? Those figures and symbols are no longer to be adored by my new disciples.
2. Understand my teaching, people: In that Second Time, my Holy Spirit manifested himself at the baptism of Jesus in the form of a dove because that bird in its flight resembled the flight of the spirit, its whiteness speaks of purity and in its sweet and peaceful gaze there is a reflection of innocence. How to make those rude men understand the divine, if it were not by taking the figures of the beings known to them in the world?
3. Christ, who is speaking to you at this moment, was represented by a lamb, and John himself in his prophetic vision, thus contemplated me. All this is because, if you look for me in each of my works, in all Creation you will always find an image of the author of life.
4. . In my manifestation through Jesus, I announced to you the coming of the Holy Spirit and men thought that it was a divinity that, being in God, was not known to them, without being able to understand that, by speaking to you of the Holy Spirit, I was speaking to you of the one God, who was preparing the time in which he was to communicate spiritually with men through human understanding.
5. In these teachings I am entrusting to you the sword of light and truth so that you may fight with it in the battle that I have announced to you so much, and once again I tell you that these weapons that I entrust to you are of love and justice, of forgiveness and charity for your brothers.
6. Only a few years remain for me to continue giving you my Doctrine in this form; keep my teachings because at the end of 1950, these manifestations will end, and it is necessary that you strengthen yourselves in humility and obedience, so that you may come out ahead in all trials.
7. Do not think that you are going to fight only in the spiritual order, no, people; the battle that is coming will be in all orders, so that what has left its channel, returns to it, what has stagnated, arises again to evolution and what has been stained, manages to obtain its purification.
8. Then you will see human institutions shudder, at their very foundations, you will see the elements of Nature agitate causing great havoc and testing the faith of humanity.
9. All this will take place after the year 1950 and if you remain faithful to this Law, you will safely cross all the vicissitudes; but, if you have fallen into disobedience, departing from what I have commanded you, from today I tell you: you will be at the mercy of trials and the unleashed elements and they will no longer obey your commands.

Love one another!

10. I do not want this pain for my people whom I have taught for so long; I want peace for them, so that in the hours of trial they may be able to bring a word of light and balm to the afflicted.

11. Who is he who at this time does not long to be enlightened by the Holy Spirit?

12. Truly, truly, I tell you that if you know how to prepare yourselves, great will be the manifestations that you will come to contemplate after 1950.

13. In the Second time, when I became visible to my disciples for the last time among clouds, when I disappeared from their sight, there was sadness in them because at that moment they felt left alone, but then they heard the voice of the angel emissary of the Lord who said to them: "Men of Galilee, What is it that you see? This same Jesus whom you have seen ascend to heaven today, you will see him descend in the same way."

14. Then they understood that when the Master returned to men, He would do it spiritually.

15. Days after my crucifixion, when my disciples were gathered around Mary, I made them feel my presence, represented in the spiritual vision of a dove. In that blessed hour, no one dared to move or utter a word. There was real ecstasy, at the contemplation of that sight and the hearts beat full of strength and confidence, knowing that the presence of the Master, who had apparently left, would be eternally with them in spirit.

16. Disciples: Think carefully about these teachings and make my grace manifest in you, as in those times.

17. Today I descend among you radiant with light, this is how I appeared to my disciples of the Second Time when I went to them in spirit before my ascension, to strengthen them and make them come out of their confusion, because of the events they had witnessed. This is how I present myself to you, full of splendor to tell you: My sacrifice is eternally repeated, I am always rising from the dead and shedding my light among you so that you can start the day and practice everything that I have taught you.

18. Prepare yourselves so that you may see the spiritual goods that I have come to grant you descend from my Kingdom.

19. The feast is prepared, the Lamb has been slaughtered and rich delicacies are prepared. Surround Me, disciples, and feed yourselves. I open the book of wisdom for you to read the lesson that corresponds to this day. Come to Me and take the delicacy that I offer you, because the time of grace that I grant you is short.

Love one another!

20. Why are you surprised by my word that I give you through a human spokesman, if in all times I have used men to speak to you and lead you? When I came to you in the Second Time, I became a man so that, contemplating my works, you might follow in my footsteps. You saw me being born, growing up, fighting and suffering. It was necessary for humanity to know my love and my power, so that my example would be indelible in all my children. That is why you cry when you remember these events and feel remorse, because I have not been fully recognized and loved by humanity. Even now, in the Third Time, I come to give you one more lesson that will explain my previous works and prepare you for the new time that you are going to live.

21. I want that tomorrow, when you no longer listen to me in this way, you will imitate me and remain as teachers of humanity. Who will be those who will rise up to save men when they find themselves in the midst of chaos? Who is going to represent me in the Third Half and testify for Me? Who will be the ones who will stop the advance of the elements of destruction, when they are unleashed on the world? Who is going to imitate my apostles by extending my Doctrine? You, whom I am preparing with my Word, with gifts of healing and strength, to be doctors, emissaries and comforters, because humanity will cry a lot before and after my departure. The coming times will offer the most bitter dregs of the chalice and in those days my Spirit will vibrate in the understandings illuminating all creatures to remove the reigning confusion. It will be at that time when pain unifies all the spirits and they will seek the light and the path that leads to Me.

22. Will you obey my will to guide those who come in search of me? You tell me that this is your purpose and you ask me for help to overcome all the obstacles that stand in your way. Yes, my children, I have told you that I am ready to help you, because without that strength, you could do nothing. You are weak, poor and ignorant, but I am making you heirs of a kingdom of true greatness and I will retain nothing in my arcanum, everything that belongs to you as my children, I will give it to you and I charge you to distribute this wealth among your brothers.

23. I am speaking to you of unification, of harmony and understanding; because I want the house of Israel to be an ark of salvation, a source of peace and comfort for all tired walkers. I have appointed you strong and you will be strong because of the power of the virtues that I have left in you. Think that in all your struggles, I am ahead of you leaving my mark on you. Understand that as long as you are not united, there will be no peace or joy in your spirit. I want to see you free from all suffering, because you are already close to the end of your restitution, you are at the gates of the Promised Land where you will arrive victorious and saved, because this is my will.

24. I do not want you to become fanatical with my word, nor to form a new idolatry. I do not desire the sacrifice of your lives, nor that you offer the flowers or the fruits of your gardens, because they are my work and you do no merit by giving them to me. It is not My will that you make images with your own hands and then worship them, nor that you build another tower of Babel, full of vanity and pride. What I long for you to offer me is a sanctuary that reaches Me, formed with your works of love, prayers and words born from your heart and delivered in my name to the hungry spirits of truth: This is the worship that I ask of you.

25. You are subject to the Law of evolution, this is the reason for your reincarnations. Only my Spirit does not need to evolve: I am immutable.

26. From the beginning I have shown you the ladder through which spirits have to ascend to reach Me. Today you do not know on which plane you are, but when you leave your envelope you will know your degree of evolution. Do not stop, for you would be a hindrance to those who come after you.

27. Even though you inhabit different planes, be united in spirit and one day you will find yourselves reunited in the seventh stage, in the highest, enjoying my love.

28. Men formed in my image and likeness, listen to me: Do not get up tomorrow talking about this Doctrine if you do not carry a good seed, if you do not know what submission is and do the opposite of what my Law dictates. Now I advise you, so that tomorrow you will not stumble on the road.

29. The woman whom I will give you for a wife, you shall take care of her, honor her, and in her I will make your seed fruitful. I do not want you to speak truthfully and uprightly and go plucking the roses, abandoning them later, because you will be profaning my Law. Respect both what is yours and what belongs to others; be just and promote peace on earth. The time will come when you will be ready to talk about submission, love and forgiveness.

30. Blessed is the one who humbles himself on earth, for I will exalt him. Blessed is the one who is slandered, for I will testify to his innocence. Blessed is he that testifieth of Me, for I will bless him. And whoever is unknown for practicing my Doctrine, I will recognize him.

31. Who among you has not felt my presence and has not been fed by my word? Ask that it will be given to you. If before you sought me in the stars and in material objects, today seek me in infinity with your spirit. Come to Me for love, for obedience and you will have peace.

32. Love Me and do not worship those spokespeople through whom I communicate. Love my word and my works, they are beyond human. These spokespersons are only my instruments and they are not superior but similar to you.

33. Quench your thirst in my inexhaustible source so that you will no longer be thirsty; I do not want my children to suffer more hunger or thirst; that is why I come to you bringing you the bread of eternal life, so that you will not feel a single moment in need of spiritual goods. I, on the other hand, do thirst for your love, for your peace, and you have denied me the water of your understanding. Until today you have not quenched the burning thirst for recognition of my Law that as children you owe me. I will keep waiting for you more, because my patience is inexhaustible. Come to Me and I promise you that you will not lack my protection, because if you do not know how to love me today, someday you will reach Me and understand me at last.

34. Live by taking from all that I have created for your well-being on earth and so that peace does not depart from you. Keep fighting so that you can achieve your spiritual salvation.

35. For the spirit, when he is ready, there is no night, fatigue or sleep; in work he finds his strength and every trial is for him a precious opportunity to demonstrate his strength and patience. Other spirits, although they are weak, know how to look for me in the hour of trial, their faith and their confidence make them come out ahead. I want you to be humble and obedient so that you may be guided by your conscience, which is the divine spark that governs your spirit.

36. What are you asking of me and for whom are you crying? You tell me that this is how you seek me and know how to ask me with humility for your loved ones and for those who, without belonging to you by blood, love them tenderly and care for their spiritual advancement. You ask Me for those who live in captivity serving a sentence and for those who, being innocent, are also imprisoned. You pray for the sick who are suffering far from home; that desire is born in you because you begin to love and you are finding in that feeling the supreme joy. Be inspired by love to do all your works and they will have a spiritual essence.

37. When you pray, seek me in the infinite, beyond everything material, get in communication with me and when you return to your world, the doubt will have dissipated, there will be no obstacles on the way and you will feel full of my wisdom.

Love one another!

38. I have entrusted this time to you so that you may take advantage of it by studying my lesson, so that by turning away from the pleasures of the world, you may deepen yourselves in my word; today you have me very close to you, my light has bathed your spirit, my essence is nourishing you, and my example is eternally present to you. Do not think that only in the Second Time I gave you proofs of love; my presence is eternal with you. I only ask you to prepare yourselves so that you will feel me in all my works; in the trials that are bending humanity today, you can see the righteousness of my justice.

39. You will all reach the goal through the fulfillment of your mission, for this I have come to give you my teachings that are inexhaustible, so that you ascend the ladder of your evolution. It is not my blood that saves you, but my light in your spirit that will rescue you.

40. In the second time after my departure, I gave you my teaching through my apostles; now I give it to you through my spokespersons and in it I offer you the divine wisdom that nourishes and comforts your spirit.

41. I ask you to turn your heart into a spiritual flower to offer it to Mary, whom you seek as Mother and whom you love, because from her womb the blessed fruit that brought you the bread of eternal life sprouted: Jesus.

42. Mary, is the heavenly garden flower, whose essence has always been in my Spirit.

43. Do you see those flowers that humbly hide their beauty? This is how Mary was and is: an inexhaustible wealth of beauty for those who know how to look at her with clarity and respect, and a treasure of kindness and tenderness for all beings.

44. I gave her as a Mother to Jesus; it was divine tenderness incarnated in a woman. She is the one you seek as an intercessor, the one you invoke as a consolation in your sorrows, and that divine love extends like a mantle over humanity.

45. She is the one whom the angel of the Lord called "Blessed among all women." She is the same one whom Christ, from the cross, left as the spiritual Mother of all men.

46. Mary went through the world hiding her divine essence; she knew who she was and who her Son was, and instead of flaunting that grace, she declared herself only a servant of the Most High, an instrument of the Lord's plans.

47. Mary passed through the world in silence, but filling hearts with peace, interceding for those in need, praying for everyone and finally shedding her tears of forgiveness and mercy on the ignorance and wickedness of men. Why not seek Mary if you want to reach the Lord, if through her you received Jesus? Were not Mother and Son together at the supreme hour of the Savior's death? Were not the blood of the Son mixed with the tears of the Mother at that moment?

48. So there is nothing strange that at this Time you are looking for her to guide you and bring you closer to the master.

49. Blessed are those who know how to discover in the heavenly garden, that flower of humility and purity. But I tell you again, that only a clean look will be able to discover it.

50. Today you expose your sufferings to me so that I may alleviate them and in truth I tell you that this is my mission, that is why I have come, because I am the Divine Doctor. But before my balm is on your wound, before my caress reaches you, concentrate on yourselves and examine your pain, analyze it, meditate deeply for as long as necessary, so that from that meditation you may take the teaching that this test contains, as well as the knowledge that is hidden in it and that you should know. That knowledge will be experience, it will be faith, it will be looking the truth in the face, it will be the explanation of many trials and lessons not understood by you.

51. As if pain were something tangible, examining it and in it you will discover the beautiful seed of experience, the great lesson of your existence, because pain has become a teacher in your life.

52. Whoever regards pain as a teacher and meekly heeds the calls that are made to him for regeneration, repentance and amendment, he will later know sweetness, peace and health.

53. Examine yourselves carefully and you will see how much benefit you get out of it. You will know your flaws and imperfections, you will correct them and therefore you will cease to be judges of others.

54. You ask me to heal you and truly I tell you that no one better than yourselves can be your doctor.

55. What is the use of My healing you and removing your pain, if you do not remove from yourselves your mistakes, sins, vices and imperfections? It is not pain that is the origin of your ills, but of your sins. This is the origin of the pain! fight sin, put it away from you and you will be healthy, but it is up to you to do that, I only teach you and help you.

56. When through your consciousness you discover the origin of your afflictions and put all the means to combat it, you will feel in fullness the divine force, helping you to win the battle and to conquer your spiritual freedom.

57. How great will be your satisfaction when you feel that by your own merits you have achieved freedom from pain and will conquer peace. Then you will say: My Father, your word has been my balm, your Doctrine has been my salvation!

58. Stop living in a world of assumptions. You must not, as men and even less as spirits, ignore the truth. How do you want to succeed in the material struggle, without knowing the spiritual life? How do you want to be great, healthy, wise and strong if you persist in closing your eyes to the eternal light?

59. Don't live in the middle of the light anymore! Wake up and come into the full light! Stop being small and grow spiritually!

60. You can still say that you live in peace if you compare yourself with other nations; but take from my Work the strength for when you feel faint; take from my word the light, for when the doctrines of materialism want to dominate you. If you do not prepare yourselves as I teach you, truly I tell you that many of you will be confused, many of you will turn your backs on me and many believers today will be my enemies tomorrow and will rise up denying this truth. I forgive you in advance, but I also warn you and alert you.

61. I tell you again to examine yourselves carefully, so you will begin to feel a little more brothers of others, more compassionate and understanding with your fellow men. Today you are still repulsed by many acts of others because you forget your own faults, but when you know your blemishes and mistakes, you will understand the love with which I forgive you and I wait for you, then you will only have to say: "If my Father has forgiven me, after offending him so much, I am obliged to forgive my brothers".

62. Man lacks the ability to look inside himself, to examine his actions and thoughts.

63. Spiritual preparation is what you need, but when you are practicing my Word, you will cause a commotion in the lives of your brothers, because the spirit will manifest in you with all his gifts and powers.

64. Verily I tell you that in the history of mankind, there will be the History of Spiritualism, written in luminous letters.

65. Did not Israel immortalize itself by freeing itself from the yoke of Egypt? Were not the Christians immortalized in their conquest by love? Is this how Spiritualists will immortalize themselves in their struggle for the freedom of the spirit?

MY PEACE BE WITH YOU!

Love one another!

1. On this day you commemorate my entry into Jerusalem; you evoke the times when, through Jesus, I lived among you. Today you feel strong again before my new wonders and you make public your testimony that this Master is the same one who spoke to you in the Second Time and I tell you, do not forget what you did with Jesus, so that you do not repeat it in this time. I knew that after your rejoicing, you were going to weaken before the word of the priests and that your songs of hosanna! you were going to exchange them for those of Crucify Him!
2. O my children, who have not recognized my manifestations throughout the ages and have not kept watch waiting for the fulfillment of my prophecies!
3. I was the Lamb slain at that Passover which my people celebrated. Only later, when time passed, did you know the essence of my Doctrine and the reason for my sacrifice and then you cried and regretted not having recognized me.
4. Now you are facing a new Era of teachings and great spiritual manifestations and the Master is coming to seek in your spirit the seed that he once sowed in him. You say to me, "Why don't we feel your presence, if you are so close to us?" And I answer you that you have materialized, you are busy in the sciences and in everything that belongs to the world, forgetting your spirit. You tell me with anguish that you have lost your way, I tell you that that is why I have come to show you, with the light of my teachings, the way that leads you to dwell in the world of peace. Listen to me, and my word will awaken you to a new life, your doubts and fears will be dispelled. Your spirit, which carries a heavy burden, will rest by feeling my forgiveness.
5. Why don't you leave your cause with Me? Why are you doing yourselves justice by taking my place as judge? Do you not know that you are in a time of trials and restitution? Behold, you are all in violation of my Law, and I have not judged you or betrayed you in public.
6. If I have granted you free will, it is not so that you judge one another, but so that you may perfect your spirit in the practice of good, helped by the light of conscience.
7. I turn you into husbandmen and I give you my seed of love so that you may sow it in the sick, in the sad, in the delinquent, and if anyone feels unworthy to receive it, let him reach out to Me that I will know how to dignify him, so that he may not feel despised. Evoke your heavenly Mother and her divine love will help you in this struggle and will lead you all to Me.

Love one another!

8. I want you, the people whom I have doctinated, to take it upon yourselves to guide the new multitudes, who will arrive after 1950 to increase my people, and to see to it that they are fed with the bread of eternal life, just as I did with you.

9. Do not allow my word to be adulterated; take care that its essence is always preserved and make your analysis fair. Expose my truth and it will bring to your brothers life, health and faith. If my word is light that flows from Me, it will have to manifest as a torch in everyone who knows it. I offer you this light, because I do not want you to live in darkness.

10. Perfect your spirit with my wisdom; strengthen yourselves, so that you may strive for your spiritual elevation. You who are naked of affections, feel my caress, so that the egoism of the beings around you does not make a dent in your heart. You ask me: Why is there no true love between men? Why is true charity not practiced? And I answer you, It is because you have left the spring of clear waters that I have put in your heart to dry up, because you have turned away from the fulfillment of my Law.

11. You have divided yourselves and do not want to know about the needs of your brothers; you look at each other as strangers even living under the same roof; therefore, when you heard my word, you were surprised, because in it I manifest my love, my patience and my forgiveness for all my children.

12. I distinguish no one and I come to ask you to be unified, to love and forgive each other; I have already given you enough time to reflect and start a new life. I have forgiven your past faults and I am giving you the opportunity to become my good disciples.

13. The Book of Life opens before you to enlighten all understanding. Study each of its lessons, no longer see mysteries, today everything is clarity for the spirit. Look into the arcanum and know all that I grant you. I want to stop being a misunderstood Father to you. There is no reason for you to look at me like this, because all my manifestations have been within the reach of your understanding and I have revealed everything to you at the right time.

14. Do not grieve uselessly; whatever you think you need, you have with you. I have given you my light in the spirit and in addition I have entrusted to you what is necessary to preserve your body. All the elements serve you, I have created everything for your pleasure and everything is profitable if you take it with measure. Another is the cause of your sufferings and anxieties. The spirit does not find peace in that vain existence that you have forged on Earth and communicates its restlessness to you. If you formed true amendment purposes, how much good would you do yourselves and how would you recover the lost peace!

Love one another!

15. Disciples: Prepare yourselves so that you may speak of love, forgiveness and justice to humanity. Forget everything that belongs to the world, to rise to the regions of peace and perfect love.

16. You have heeded my call and you seek me to learn my lesson; some of you ask for daily bread, others seek me as a doctor and counselor, but there are those who only come to search my word wanting to find some fault in it, but I tell them: You will not find that stain that you are looking for in my teaching, but if you penetrate inside, there you will find the imperfection. Those who have done this have not recognized my presence, because they can only interpret human works, but they have not come to understand the messages of God. I enlighten everyone and forgive their unbelief.

17. I will not allow you to get confused or miss a single one of my children. I make the parasitic plants fruitful, because all creatures have been formed to reach a perfect end.

18. I want you to rejoice with me in my Work; I have already shared in my attributes with you before, because you are part of Me; if everything belongs to me, I also make you owners of my Work.

19. All spirits have a divine Father in Me and if I have given you human parents in material life, it is so that they may give life to your body and represent your heavenly Father close to you. I have said to you, "You shall love God above all creation," and I have added, "You shall honor your father and your mother." Then do not neglect your duties; if you have not recognized the love of your parents and still have them in the world, bless them and recognize their merits.

20. I want you to be men of faith, to believe in the spiritual life; if you have seen your brothers leave for the Hereafter, do not feel distant from them or think that you have lost them forever. If you want to meet with them, work, do merit and when you reach the Afterlife, there you will find them waiting for you, to teach you to live in the Spiritual Valley.

21. People: Do you believe that it is your God who inspires this word? Then why did you doubt Me, when you called me on the bed of pain and the balm did not cure your illness instantly? Think that I test you in many ways, because I want you to be strong; for if you are my disciples, you must withstand many trials in order that you may be believed.

22. You are the seed of Abraham, Isaac and Jacob, who gave you great examples of faith and obedience: you, having the same spirit, are not able to match their works. I have tested my disciples at all times. How many times did I put Peter to the test and only once did he falter, but do not judge him badly for this fact, because when he lit his faith, it was like a torch among humanity preaching and bearing witness to the truth.

23. Do not judge Thomas; consider how many times you have felt my works and yet you have doubted. Do not look with contempt at Judas Iscariot, that beloved disciple who sold his Master for thirty pieces, because there has never been greater repentance than his. I used each of them to leave you lessons that would serve as an example and that would exist eternally in the memory of humanity. After their weakness they had repentance, conversion and absolute dedication to the fulfillment of their mission. They were true apostles and left an example for all generations.

24. Come to the spiritual valley, so that you may understand my word. When you listen to my teaching, turn away from the worries of the world and let my light illuminate your spirit. I encourage your faith and I always guide you to prepare yourselves to enjoy eternal life.

25. Watch and pray, I repeat to you often, but I do not want you to become familiar with this sweet advice, but to study it and put it into practice.

26. I tell you to pray, because the one who does not pray, indulges in superfluous, material and sometimes insane thoughts, with which, without realizing it, he fosters and feeds murderous wars; but when you pray, your thought as if it were a sword of light, tears the veils of darkness and the bonds of temptation that today are imprisoning many beings, saturates the environment with spirituality and counteracts the forces of evil.

27. Do not faint before the struggle, nor despair if you have not yet seen any results. Understand that your mission is to fight to the end; but you must take into account that you will only have to do a minimum part of this Work of regeneration and spirituality among humanity.

28. Tomorrow you will leave your post and others will come to continue your work. They will take the Work one step further and thus from generation to generation my word will be fulfilled.

29. In the end, all branches will be united to the tree, all nations will be united into one people, and peace will reign on Earth.

30. Pray, disciples, and perfect yourselves in your elevation so that your words of teaching and love may find an echo in the hearts of your brothers and sisters.

31. Truly I tell you that if this people, in addition to understanding their destiny, were already fulfilling their mission, humanity would achieve grace through their prayers. But you still lack charity, that you feel your fellow men as true brothers, that in truth you come to forget the differences of races, languages, creeds and that in addition, you erase from your heart every trace of rancor with those who would have offended you.

32. When you manage to raise your feelings above so much human misery, the most heartfelt and sincere request will spring from you in favor of your brothers and that vibration of love, that purity of your feelings, will be the most powerful swords that destroy the darkness, that wars and the passions of men have been forming.

33. Pain has prepared you, O Israel, in slavery you have become acrisolate; that is why you are the ones indicated to watch over those who suffer.

34. Watch, people, be like those birds that announce the new day, awakening those who sleep; so that they may be the first to receive the light and then I will tell them: He who truly loves you, greets you this instant.

35. All those who come to listen to me will feel the caress of my word, they will feel anointed by my love and filled with spiritual goods.

36. I am pleased with you because I have seen that you have given up everything to be at my table, and you know that my word is your bread and your glory on earth.

37. This teaching reaches to your heart, where purposes of amendment and noble feelings have been born.

38. If you have suffered and cried a lot to get to open the doors of your heart to me, in truth I tell you that even the one who has suffered a lot has atoned for his faults and has to be forgiven.

39. Sad hearts: Calm your sorrow and come to Me, enlighten yourselves with the light of your conscience and serenely penetrate the path of my teachings.

40. Heal yourselves in Me, forget sorrows and love; whoever has love has everything, whoever says love says everything.

41. But when you understand that everything that has sprung from Me is perfect, harmonious and beautiful, you ask yourself: Why then do the children of God live in the world destroying and annihilating? What force moves them to be unknown and destroyed, since they emanated from the clean source of the Father? What are these forces and why has God, with his infinite power, not stopped the advance of men who destroy peace? Why does he allow evil among mankind?

42. Hear, disciples: Man has as spiritual gifts free will and conscience; everyone at birth is endowed with virtues and can make use of them. In his spirit there is the light of conscience; but at the same time that matter develops, with it the passions, the bad inclinations develop, these being the ones that fight against the virtues; God allows it, because without struggle there are no merits, and this is how you need it to ascend on the spiritual path. What would be the merit of the children of God, if they did not fight? What would you do if you lived full of happiness, as you wish in the world? Surrounded by comforts and riches, could you hope for spiritual progress? You would be stuck because there is no merit where there is no struggle.

43. But do not be confused, because when I talk about struggle, I mean the one you develop to overcome your weaknesses and passions. These struggles are the only ones that I allow men to master their egoism and their materiality, in order for the spirit to take its true place enlightened by consciousness.

44. I do authorize that inner battle, but not the one that men do with the desire to aggrandize themselves, blinded by ambition and evil.

45. The noise and horrors of fratricidal wars have dulled the sensitivity of the human heart, have prevented the manifestation of every high feeling, such as charity and understanding.

46. I don't want to tell you that everyone is like this, no, because there are still men in whom there is sensitivity, compassion and love for their fellow men, going so far as to sacrifice to avoid evils, or to free them from some trial. If some men come to give you this help, what won't your heavenly Father do for you who are my children? So how did you come to think that He sends you pain and desolation?

47. I am the same Teacher who in the Second Time spoke to you of the way of the Kingdom of Heaven; I am the same Christ manifesting the truth through the centuries, the eternal lessons that are immutable, because they are revelations that flow from my Spirit.

48. Look in Me to the Father, for verily I say to you, Christ and the Father have been One from eternity, from before the worlds were. In the Second Time that Christ who is One with God, incarnated on Earth in the blessed body of Jesus and thus became the Son of God, but only as a man, because I tell you again that there is only one God.

49. Sometimes you think that I talk to you too much about the spirit and that I forget about your human needs and concerns, to which I say to you: "Seek the Kingdom of God and His righteousness, and the rest will be added to you". Then peace, serenity, understanding, forgiveness, love will come to you, and in the material part you will have everything in abundance.

Love one another!

50. I know and am aware of all your needs and I am in charge of alleviating all your worries according to my will and if at times you have felt disappointed because I have not immediately granted you what you asked for, that is not why you are less loved by the Father, it is because it suits you that way.

51. There are many of my children who attribute their suffering to the injustices of fate and think they have forgotten their Father; so I ask you: What good has my word done you? peradventure do you think that the Lord, the author of life, is powerless to remedy your ills or that he cannot please you with something material that does nothing to help you in your spiritual elevation?

52. I will only grant you that which is for your good. How many requests do you make that, if granted, would only cause you harm or misfortune!

53. The man who trusts in God and blesses his destiny before Him, never denies or demands what is not granted to him.

54. When he is poor, sick and his heart is suffering, he waits trusting in the will of his Lord.

55. Sometimes you say to me, "Lord, if I had everything, if I needed nothing, I would work in your spiritual Work and do charity." But know that as men you are variable and that all the purposes of today that you possess nothing, would change if I granted you everything you desire.

56. Only God's love is immutable for His children.

57. If I gave you in abundance, I know in advance that you would be lost, because I know your resolutions and weaknesses.

58. I know that with an abundance of material goods man turns away from God, because he is not yet qualified or prepared to understand his Lord.

59. Look how much I love you and I don't forget about you, I just don't want you to get lost.

60. Turn away from the vanities of the world, come to Me out of conviction, out of love, not out of pain.

61. Do not deny if you are in need, because if it were convenient for your spiritual evolution to move away from poverty, I would give you everything in abundance.

62. Think that the Father governs the destiny of his children with the utmost justice and perfection.

Love one another!

63. These are times of trials, of pains and bitterness, times in which humanity suffers the consequences of so much hatred and ill will of one another.

64. Look at the battlefields where only the roar of weapons and the anguished cries of the wounded can be heard. Mountains of mutilated corpses, which yesterday were strong bodies of young men. Can you imagine these, when for the last time they clasped the mother, the wife or the son in their arms? Who who has not drunk that chalice can imagine the pain of those goodbyes?

65. Thousands and thousands of parents, wives and children in anguish have seen loved ones leave for the fields of war, hatred, revenge, forced by the greed and pride of a few men without light and without love for their fellow men.

66. These legions of young and strong men have not been able to return home because they were destroyed in the fields; but there the earth, the mother earth more merciful than the men who govern the peoples and who believe they are masters of the lives of their fellow men, has opened its bosom to receive them and cover them lovingly.

67. Look at the caravans of men of all ages, women and children, fleeing destruction, wearily seeking a place of protection and peace. Their feet are already shattered and bleeding; their heart can no longer withstand any more pain; but there is still a glimmer of hope in the innermost depths of their being.

68. Pray, people, pray for them and my tenderness united to your thought, will descend on them to protect them and cover them with my mantle of love.

69. Meditate on the cause of the fratricidal wars as well as on the destruction they cause and you will see that you are not as unhappy as you think, then your complaints will cease and you will no longer say to me: "Lord, I am the most unfortunate on Earth; is it because you have forgotten me"?

70. See how war destroys everything.

71. Look at those elderly parents who are waiting for the return of loved ones, hunger has arrived at their doors and loneliness is their companion.

72. Those who had the strength to walk fled, the invalids had to stay to receive whatever came to them. Their gloomy thoughts were illuminated only when they begged me in their prayer: "Lord, do not abandon me."

73. Only I know the pain that mothers who are abandoned by the evil of men silence.

74. I am the only one who, in the silence and solitude of your life, tells you that in my Kingdom you are not abandoned.

Love one another!

75. Pray, people, and think of the pride and ambition that germinates in the brains of men who have led to ruin, desolation and death other men who have no guilt.

76. After reflecting on my words, people, do you still think that you are the most miserable on Earth? You answer me: "No, Master, we were in a mistake because we had forgotten the others to think only of ourselves, believing that the struggle to knead the daily bread, was the most bitter cup that can be drunk".

77. So, I tell you that you should feel rich, because you are listening to the divine word that encourages and strengthens you and you still enjoy a little peace.

78. You can still count on a few days of tranquility, because this corner of the Earth will also be shaken by pain; so there will be no place left in this world that has not been purified.

79. All that my apostle John told you is being fulfilled, word for word and event for event.

80. All these signs, tests and disturbances that humanity suffers, are the most palpable demonstration that an Era is ending to give way to a new time. It is not the first time that these events have happened between you, but if you knew how to understand me and were prepared, you would take this transition step calmly without being disturbed.

81. You are reaching the middle of a century and you have lived a lot, what surprises, events and tests await you in the half century that lies ahead?

82. I only say to you, as I said many times to my apostles of the Second Time: watch and pray so that you do not fall into temptation.

MY PEACE BE WITH YOU!

Teaching 10

1. In this blessed hour answer the questions of your conscience, for it is the time of judgment.
2. You are before your Judge, for it is necessary that for an instant I should touch you with my righteousness; but verily I say to you, my judgment is loving and just.
3. I find myself giving great proofs that I am among you. Why don't you all believe me? Do you want me to leave you at the mercy of human evil? Do not get lost on the paths of the world. Come to Me, I am the way that leads you to true happiness.
4. I have entrusted to your nation a mission of peace and not of war; understand that my divine word is resonating in it, in which I have revealed to you that the New Jerusalem is located in the Spiritual Valley; and in it all the spirits have to penetrate by means of elevation becoming its inhabitants.
5. Even today you show me your barns that are scarce with seed, and that is because you do not take advantage of the lands that I am providing for you. Your brothers are dying before you and you are not moved.
6. Do you not think that in this way you are hiding my Law? You do not know that you were the ones who made a covenant with me a long time ago, a covenant that was written in the Book of Life.
7. Your heart confesses that you are still like the weak soldier.
8. Listen to Me, people, because the trials will come and they will awaken you and give you the courage that you lack.
9. It is necessary that your faith and knowledge be great, so that you understand that in this life you have to be the guardians of peace, through your thoughts and prayers.
10. A new year is born among you of which you will answer me. I give you this time for your preparation and your struggle.
11. If you prepare yourselves, you will not cry or feel the pain in your heart. But do not defy my justice with disobedience, for then you will indeed hasten the cup of bitterness.
12. Become my farmers, the lands are waiting for your seed of love. Elijah, the tireless shepherd, has already prepared the roads and the fields for you to take up your tools and start tilling the land.

Love one another!

13. Your task is very delicate, but it will not be difficult or tiring; before the hot sun of my justice, the maternal mantle of Mary will always interpose like a beneficent cloud that gives you its heavenly protection while my voice, like the trill or the cooing of birds, will delight you by making your work pleasant.

14. Beloved Disciples: My voice has spoken to you tirelessly in the Third Time, my word appeared like a luminous beacon showing the route to the lost castaways.

15. I have given you the spiritual strength with my teaching, not only to resist the vicissitudes of this world, but also to fulfill the spiritual mission that you have brought in this Time.

16. Not everyone will welcome you with open arms when you go to spread my Doctrine, there will be those who will tie ties to make you fall.

17. The struggle will arise, because if there are those who have the power to do good, there are also those who have the power to do evil.

18. I come to purify you and to prepare you in spirit and matter so that you may understand the Father's inspirations and then take them to your brothers with the same purity with which I gave them to you.

19. You will show that this doctrine is not a theory; that it has not been extracted from books, that it contains in its truth the message of the Holy Spirit.

20. I come to prepare you because life on Earth will change every day and what today is peace, tomorrow will be war; what today seems light to men, tomorrow will make them confused. Humanity prepares its many weapons for battle, you prepare yours.

21. In prayer and in the practice of my Doctrine, men will find the light. In the practice of my Law, my new soldiers will find strength, and when the days of pain come, you will unite to give each other courage and pray for everyone.

22. My Law will be the ark of salvation at this time; when the waters of the flood of evils, of sorrows and miseries have been unleashed, truly I tell you that men from other nations, in caravans will arrive in this country attracted by its spirituality, its hospitality and peace, and when they have known this revelation and have faith in what I said in my new coming as the Holy Spirit, I will also name them Israelites by the spirit. Among these multitudes will be my emissaries, whom I will send back to their peoples to bring to their brothers the divine message of my word; but not all will come to this nation to know the teaching that I have brought to you, for many will receive it spiritually.

Love one another!

23. Then you will see how many who have never listened to me will rise up like the great apostles, full of faith, love and zeal, forgetting fears and prejudices that you have not been able to overcome, and will penetrate wherever a door opens to testify to my word; they will not fear sects and religions, because rather than considering them enemies, they will see them as sisters.

24. Do not look at anyone as foreigners on this path, know how to receive your brothers with the doors of your heart open and give them the lesson that I gave to you.

25. Later, when my emissaries have spread throughout the world, they will all feel united in their mission.

26. The farmer will cultivate the land and open the furrow, there he will deposit the seed, with faith and the desire to raise an abundant harvest. And the Master says to you: always remember to choose the land that is favorable, so that the seed is not spoiled. You will always reap fruits according to the love with which you have cultivated them.

27. You may all be farmers in my lands, but first you must feel and understand this mission.

28. This work consists in removing the blindfold of darkness from the ignorant and the fanatic, teaching him that I am the only God whom everyone must serve. That is why I am preparing you, to show others as an example, since you knew how to open your eyes to the light and humbly confess that you were ignorant.

29. Through you I will sow my seed and later I will reap the fruits of the fulfillment of my Law. Your brothers will ask you how you have received this teaching, what my manifestations have been and why you are following this path, and you will answer every question with absolute truth. For if you do not know how to defend yourselves with the truth, you will not be strong and you will be defeated; then the seed will not be able to germinate.

30. I do not want you to be left at the end of the struggle without raising your harvest, after you have turned away from the temptations of the world to listen to me and have been called my disciples. It would not be fair for you to pick up disappointments and bitterness just because you have not learned in time to defend my Work, studying and analyzing it, to face the tests.

31. My teaching is a single lesson, wisely said in many ways so that you can understand it and to which you have nothing to add. And although it is a law, I do not come to impose it on you, because you would fall into hypocrisy; you would appear compliance, while with your acts you would be violating my Law.

Love one another!

32. I have placed consciousness in your being so that it is involved in all your steps, since consciousness knows how to distinguish good from evil, and what is right from what is not. In that light you cannot be deceived, nor called ignorant. How could the spiritualist deceive his fellow man or try to deceive himself, if he knows the truth?

33. In the Second time a rich young man came to Jesus and said, "Teacher, I think I deserve the kingdom you promise because I practice your teaching." Jesus asked him, Do you keep the Law? And the young man answered, "Yes, Lord, I fast, I treat my brothers well, I do no harm to anyone and I give a part of my wealth to help the temple." Then Jesus said to him, "If you want to follow me, give to the poor what you have and come after Me." But the young man possessed so much that he would not forsake his riches, but preferred to depart from the Lord. He believed to comply and deceived himself.

34. How many times have I said to you: practice charity, manifest this virtue, but do not flaunt it because it will cease to be charity and you will be deceived.

35. Disciples: If you do not want to suffer errors in the practice of my Doctrine, analyze your actions through the conscience, if it claims you, examine yourselves thoroughly, find where you can see if you are clean or not.

36. The spiritualist must be recognized by his acts, which, in order to be clean, must have been dictated by conscience. Whoever practices in this way will feel in his spirit the right to call himself my disciple.

37. Who can fool me? No one. But I am not here to judge you by what you do, but by the intention with which you do it. I am in your consciousness and beyond it. Do you think that I can ignore your actions and their intention?

38. Prepare yourselves for the struggle, so that my Work will not be misunderstood because of your evil deeds, because many times the recognition or ignorance of my Teaching will depend on you. But I ask you, What can overshadow my Work if it is truth itself, if it is purity and perfection? Nothing. But because of your lack of fulfillment, you will lose opportunities to do merit and raise your spirit.

39. If someone ignores my truth, it is because he has not known how to approach to drink from the fountain of wisdom that is my word and that overflows its crystalline waters for everyone who is thirsty.

40. The truth that I revealed to the first, to the patriarchs, to the prophets and to the righteous, is the same that I am now showing you, because my Doctrine that you are receiving, is the Law of all times. I only come to show you the way so that you can continue your journey to the end.

Love one another!

41. Disciples: Here is my word in which you will always find my truth, but if you give erroneous explanations or in a complicated way, if you modify my Doctrine or give a confused analysis to those in need, you will reap a bad harvest.

42. See how you deliver my Teaching and how you speak about it, because you are responsible for a very great inheritance.

43. I am the owner of the seed, you husbandmen, make it germinate, flourish and bear fruit as I have taught you.

44. But do not feel like servants or slaves. Feel free to love and work within my Work. I am the light that illuminates the paths and you are the walkers who choose the path.

45. If someone walks like a blind man and contemplates that light; if someone is lazy and therefore does not find it, if there are those who get lost on the way, do not blame Me, because wherever you are I find myself talking to you in different ways; recognize that some effort has to be made by the one who wants to find me.

46. My word penetrates into your heart like wheat in a fertile land, and when you receive it, you must make it flourish and multiply.

47. Analyze this word so that you can know its content and practice it so that you know its value. And the knowledge that you achieve through analysis, do not keep it only for yourselves, make it known to humanity, you will see with joy that it is well received by your brothers and you will see them awaken to love and faith.

48. After this time, men will come to you in search of my teaching and without having heard my word transmitted through the spokespersons, they will know that I have come once again and they will be certain that I have spoken to humanity in this way.

49. The time will come when my word will spread in all nations and my commands given in this Age, will obtain life and strength throughout the times. Everyone who prepares will feel my presence in his spirit, and at last, man will obey my Law, free will will be well understood by him and he will do righteous deeds within my divine Law.

50. I am once again tracing the footprint for you to follow me. When you rise up in search of humanity to bring the good news, do not beg to be heard. Carry out your mission with dignity, and those who believe you will be the ones I have chosen to make my disciples of them. There will be rumors that the Master has returned to form his new apostolate and you will testify to these manifestations and even more, you will reveal to them that you have also returned to Earth, that in the Second Time you were with me and heard my word in Galilee and in Judea; and if they doubt you, tell them to meditate on my words and the prophecies given to my apostles and they will know that this is the truth.

51. To you who hear me, I give my word through the spokespersons, after that other generations will come who will study everything that I have said, which will be printed filling large volumes.

52. I am Life and I vivify you every moment, but I have to fight with your ideas and thoughts. Your works lead you to pain and death and you do not know how to seek me to strengthen you in the good. Why don't you come to me? Who has called me, who has not felt my presence? How much I love you and have always loved you! Before I created you, I loved you in Me and from the moment you sprang from my Spirit, you have received my gifts and commands for all time.

53. The Earth that you are treading on today is not your eternal abode, it is not the Land of Promise, that is why you always long for another higher life, you aspire to perfection, because it corresponds to you by eternal inheritance; it is the state of elevation that your spirit will reach after great struggles. Do not be satisfied with earthly goods because you know that you are destined to know the perfect spiritual life, with all its graces and beauties.

54. Do not expect your brothers to be regenerated only by my divine Work, without you having fought for it. Your mission is to work to form the foundations of a new humanity that loves and obeys my Law. For this, prayer is your best weapon.

55. I am speaking to the spirit and the heart of all men, I am cultivating them and there will come a time when they will know how to communicate with me from spirit to Spirit and then, there will be no secrets between the Father and the Son. Prepare yourselves for that time when I will no longer communicate by human understanding.

56. Write down my word for the generations to come and take care not to err in my commands. I do not want my new disciples, those who will only know my word through the writings, to find imperfection in my teaching due to your lack of preparation. It is my will that in these pages the whole essence and truth of my Work be contained. In this book that I have entrusted to you, I have gathered my revealed word in three times, and everything that has remained hidden or shrouded in mystery, you will understand when you communicate from spirit to Spirit with my Divinity.

57. If you believe that my manifestation at this time is not an event and that when you disappear my Work will be over, in truth I tell you that you have not sensed its transcendence, nor have you contemplated the light of the Sixth Seal, illuminating and vivifying everything created and marking a new stage for the perfection of the spirit.

58. If you contemplate the humility of your spirit when you hear my word, your matter will join with it to form a single will, but the envelopment is an obstacle to your spiritual progress. This is the struggle and in it the merits necessary for your elevation.

59. If you are depressed by the trials of life, accept Me and you will be strong and there will be no one to destroy your peace or deprive you of your inheritance.

60. I love you always ardent in your love so that you will not be like the tombs, ardent only when the sun sends its rays and at sunset when it goes down, they cool down again.

61. Do not be moved only when you hear my word, but love me and love one another eternally as I love you.

62. In grateful hearts I have heard this prayer: "Lord, you are tireless in granting us so many benefits." And I tell you, I am your Father and I see your need. How can my spirit not be moved by your prayer? I have comforted you in the solitude of your bedchamber and have enlightened you so that your meditation may be profitable.

63. I am leaving an album in the hearts of my disciples, so that after 1950, when my word has ceased to be heard through human understanding, they will be the ones to carry my message to humanity.

64. In these humble houses of prayer where my word is manifested, how many teachings you have heard and learned, despite the fact that there are no rites, altars, or images in them, here you have stopped feeling empty your heart.

65. Blessed are you who have listened to me with meekness and humility, because tomorrow you will surprise the multitudes with the essence of your word.

66. Disciples: Now is the time for you to recognize the greatness and purity of my Work, so that in the future when you preach it, your actions will be in accordance with my Doctrine.

67. The multitudes are approaching this people, be prepared, I do not want you to be caught doing illegal works, because they could say: Are these the new disciples of the Lord?

68. After I've talked to you so much, I don't want you to find your barn empty of good deeds.

Love one another!

69. Tomorrow you will be scrutinized and put to the test by men who wish to see you falter to betray you and deny my truth.

70. Do not expect that my single word written in books, will do the miracle of converting humanity, it is necessary that great soldiers of my cause arise so that with their faith, their courage and their love as weapons, they seal and confirm my truth.

71. It will not be necessary for you to inquire whether the road is clean or not, nor will you have to go in search of crowds, because I will take care of putting those in need in your path.

72. It is necessary that men rise up among humanity recognizing and making recognize the greatness of my Law.

73. You who have listened to me at this time, be great for humanity, for my word, for your virtue and good fulfillment of my Law, but do not believe that because you have listened to me you will be the greatest among humanity; how many who are strangers to my teaching, on the day they listen to you, your testimony will suffice for them to do greater works than yours. At this you will rejoice greatly, for these works will be the fruit of your fulfillment.

74. Now I strengthen you and close the wounds that humanity opened to you before, so that you may have the necessary courage when the struggle comes.

75. Understand that the light of the Sixth Seal illuminates you, the Sixth Candlestick illuminates humanity, but despite the fact that everyone is illuminated by this light, while some realize that they live in a time of transcendence, others let all the teachings go unnoticed.

76. Why, if you were all created equal, don't you all have faith? By virtue of your free will and the different evolution of each spirit. Thus, while some hope that a light and a higher force will guide them, others rely on what they consider their own forces, and when they lack these, they feel lost.

77. It has been a long time since your spirit has sprung from Me, however, not everyone has progressed equally on the spiritual path.

78. All destinations are different, although they lead you to the same end. Some are reserved for some tests, others for others. One creature walks one path, another follows a different journey. You have not all arisen into existence at the same instant, nor will you all return at the same moment. Some walk in front, others behind, but the goal is waiting for you all. No one knows who is near, nor who comes distant, because you are still small to have this knowledge; you are human and your vanity would lose you.

79. The Father tells all of you to persevere and tells those who have faith to light the way of those who advance in darkness.

80. Analyze your trajectory and you will see that sometimes you have walked briskly, sometimes slowly, others you have fallen to get up later, until you reach the end to take a safer and firmer step.

81. Your evolution is known only to Me, although I must tell you that the truly high spirit has knowledge of its advancement, without being puffed up by it.

82. By the gift of intuition you can know if your pace is too slow or if you are going in a dizzying race, if you have stopped or if you think you have achieved a firm step.

83. By your conscience you can know if the path on which you are traveling is lawful or you have mistaken it.

84. In order for you to leave a beneficial imprint of your passage through the world to those who come after you, it is necessary that you comply with my Law, through it you will leave great works and your memory and example will be indelible.

85. Disciples: I am the lark under whose wings you live like chicks. I also tell you that the Sixth Seal is the only one that is open and illuminates you at this time.

86. See that many of my laborers, who were among the first disciples of Spiritualism, have fallen into the grave error of believing that the seals are enclosures, that the seals were untied in this nation and that they are their possessors.

87. I touch them incessantly with my justice, because they are like first-born children at this time, whom I called and invited to my table, to whom I had my word of love reserved. They go along the roads of the Earth carrying their gifts and their charges without wanting to know what they are carrying. They think they are complying with my Law and they judge their brothers.

88. They do not know where they are going, nor do they sense the greatness of my Work and when I have called them to listen to me through the human understanding and I have asked them: Do you believe in my presence in this form? Many of them have denied me.

89. I have said to them, Show me your multitudes, list to me the wonders that you have done, and very few seed have you shown me. I have pointed out to him the great multitudes that gather where my word is heard, the countless testimonies of my power and I have reminded them: The tree will be recognized by its fruit. This is the Sixth Seal, under the light of which all of you must follow me. Today the Sixth Candlestick illuminates you, which is the Divine Word.

Love one another!

90. Here among my people are the children of doubt together with the children of faith, those who do not know me and those who follow me: Some attached to materialism and others striving to achieve spirituality. This is the first cause of your division at this time.

91. But my teaching is clear as the light of day.

92. The Lamb of God untied the seals and only He will be able to bind Him again.

93. The new Jerusalem is not in this or in any nation, that city is spiritual, although you will be able to inhabit it from this moment.

94. Elijah is not the one who untied the seals, he was the precursor for the Sixth Seal to be untied and revealed in due time. Elijah represents the Sixth Seal and his mission is very high, he came to reveal to you that a new time of revelations was beginning for you.

95. The seven churches of Asia, which were sanctuaries where the voice of my apostles resounded and was a message for all generations of peoples, are a beautiful figure of the Book of the Seven Seals.

96. Roque Rojas brought to the world the mission of being the first understanding by which Elias called the first farmers of the Third Time, and among those first to receive positions, a maiden rose with the spirituality and the necessary dedication so that in her the prodigy of my communication by human understanding was consummated. Since then and through that channel my word initiated with the manifestation of Elias marked the time of this communication that will be from 1866 to 1950.

97. I have been preparing many understandings so that you may have my inexhaustible word, which is a source of wisdom and revelations, until the final moment of my communication.

98. Then the time of spirituality will come and although you no longer hear my word, you will feel me closer to you.

99. About the good preparation of some and the bad preparation of others, I will continue to descend to manifest myself. By the good intention of some and the unpreparedness of others, my Spirit will be present, in this form until 1950, because nothing can prevent my will from being fulfilled.

100. But those who mix something strange to this delicacy and give the multitudes to drink water that is not crystal clear and pure, they will answer me about it.

Love one another!

101. It is my will that you return to the places where you stopped fulfilling some mission.
102. The paths are prepared, the lands are waiting for the seed. Prepare yourselves and let the hour of your struggle come, then you will give yourselves the fraternal embrace, you will depart and you will let my will be fulfilled in you.
103. Do not forget that my Work is pure and that you must love it to the end.
104. You will do charity throughout your day, that is your mission. You have many spiritual gifts to do charity in various forms. If you know how to prepare, you will do what you call impossible.
105. The charity that you do by means of a coin, with being charity, will be the least elevated that you do.
106. Love, forgiveness and peace, you must bring to the hearts of your brothers.
107. I don't want any more Pharisees or hypocrites protected by my Law! I want disciples who feel the pain of their fellow men. To all who rise up with repentance I will forgive them, no matter what sect or religion they profess and I will make them contemplate clearly the true path.
108. Blessed are those who take my teaching to foreign lands, for my Law and my guardian angels will protect them. I have told you that for one of my children who is not there, a region can be saved; make yourselves worthy of this grace and I will grant you a lot.
109. I speak to you in many ways so that my word will strengthen you and you will not falter when you need faith the most.
110. Love each other when you are gathered together, love each other when you are distant, and to that fraternity your Father's blessing will descend.

MY PEACE BE WITH YOU!

Teaching 11

1. Humanity: Seek your glory in the love of your Heavenly Father, for verily I say to you, union with God will make you feel the glory in your spirit.
2. When man enters the spiritual path, he will have finally found the path of glory. Marvel, disciples, to know that in your spirit you will be able to carry and feel the glory!
3. I come once again to give you the lesson through the Doctrine of love, because despite finding you learning the teachings of life, which is a school for you, you have not analyzed everything that it reveals to you in your path.
4. O my dearly beloved children, who weep like lost sheep, calling with a distressed voice to your Shepherd! When you close your eyes to the reality that surrounds you, you come to think that I am the cause of all your misfortunes on Earth; others believe that your vicissitudes are indifferent to me.
5. How ungrateful you are to think thus of your Father, and how unjust to value my perfect righteousness!
6. Do you think that I don't listen to you when you say that you feed only on bitterness, that the world you inhabit is a world without happiness and that the existence you lead has no reason to be?
7. You only feel me when you think that I punish you, that I deny you all mercy and you forget the tenderness and goodness of your Father; you complain about your life instead of blessing its benefits.
8. It is that you close your eyes to the truth and only contemplate bitterness and tears around you, reaching despair because you think that all this will be unrewarded.
9. How different your life would be if instead of disagreement, of that misunderstanding, your first thought in every day was to bless your Father and your first words, to thank for so many benefits that his love brings you! But you no longer know how to feel these virtues, because the flesh has disturbed your spirit and you have forgotten my teaching; therefore I come to tell you about those feelings that you have removed from your heart.
10. Destiny has the mercy that God has placed in it, the destiny of men is filled with divine goodness.
11. You do not often find that goodness because you do not know how to look for it.
12. If within the destiny marked by Me to each spirit, you draw a hard and bitter path, I try to sweeten it, more never to increase its bitterness.

Love one another!

13. In the world men need each other, none is too much and none is too little. All lives are necessary to each other for the complement and harmony of their existence.

14. The poor need the rich and the rich need those. The bad ones need the good ones and these ones need the first ones. The ignorant need the wise and those who know, those who ignore. The little ones need the older ones and these in turn need the children.

15. In this world, each one of you is placed by the wisdom of God in his place and close to who he should be. Each man is assigned the circle where he must dwell, in which there are incarnated and disembodied spirits with whom he must coexist.

16. Thus, each one on his way, all of you will meet those who will teach you the love that elevates you, others, you will receive the pain that purifies you. Some will make you suffer because you need it, while others will give you their love to compensate for your bitterness, but they all have a message for you, a teaching that you must understand and take advantage of.

17. I tell you again that despite meeting you before my Teaching, you have not recognized the message that each being offers you.

18. Look for in each of your brothers the good part that he presents to you, so that you may learn from him, as well as the bad part so that you may help him to rise and in that way you will go along the way, helping each other.

19. Stop your step and meditate, for you have let many pass by who could do you good. Do not let these opportunities pass you by, because they are lessons that you are wasting.

20. Every human being is a lesson, a hope of love or heartbreak that finally gives you its sweet or bitter truth; and so you will go from lesson to lesson, sometimes learning and sometimes teaching, because you must also deliver to your brothers the message that you have brought to Earth.

21. Truly I tell you, if this humanity understood these teachings, it would not cry so much on Earth.

22. Do not forget that every incarnate or disembodied spirit that crosses your life in some way, comes to help you in your destiny.

23. How many spirits of light have I sent you into the world and you have not stopped to bless my love for you!

24. Many spirits that I have sent to you, you have wasted them without realizing that they were part of your destiny, but that not knowing how to receive them, you were left empty-handed and then had to cry!

Love one another!

25. Your destiny, humanity, is to harmonize with everything created. That harmony of which I speak to you is the greatest of all laws, because in it you find perfect communication with God and with His works.
26. Study the spirits around you and those who cross your lives, so that you may appreciate their virtues, receive the message they bring you or give them what they should receive from you.
27. Why have you despised your fellow men whom fate has placed in your way? You have closed the door of your heart to them without knowing the teaching they were bringing you.
28. How many times have you taken away from you precisely the one who brought a message of peace and consolation to your spirit, and then you complain when you are the ones who have filled your cup with bitterness.
29. Life has unexpected changes and surprises, and what will you do if tomorrow you have to anxiously look for the one you proudly rejected today?
30. Think that it is possible that whom you reject and despise today, tomorrow you will look for him with eagerness, but that many times it will already be too late.
31. If you are children, understand and appreciate the kindness of your parents. If you are a parent, know how to understand your children. If you are married, get to know and love each other, but if you are not yet and you are waiting for the one who joins your destiny, prepare to receive him, to understand him.
32. Stop creating greater bitterness with mistakes and frivolities and since you have not learned to read in the Book of Life, at least read in the spiritual nobility of those who closely surround you.
33. Humanity: Understand my word, learn from Me and see how I do not reject any of those who come to Me, knowing that you are all my children, that you all need Me
34. Learn this teaching so that you may know how to be teachers, but first know how to be brothers.
35. It is necessary for all of you to know that your destiny is to learn the great lessons of life, because only in this way will you reach the summit of your perfection, only in this way will you become great, otherwise you will always carry nonconformity, complaints, misunderstanding, blasphemy and reproach for your Lord.

Love one another!

36. Let my teachings be your counselor on the way and you will feel in you a strength that will never let you faint and that will take you step by step to the peak of understanding.

37. Comfort those you see crying, God has taken you to them because there is your mission.

38. Understand my lesson so that you do not commit more faults in your life, because every offense that you do to your brothers, whether with words or deeds, will be an indelible memory in your conscience, which will relentlessly claim you.

39. I tell you again that you are all necessary for the divine plan to be fulfilled and for so much spiritual misery among humanity to end.

40. As long as selfishness exists, pain will also exist. Change your indifference, your selfishness and your contempt, for love, for charity and you will see how soon peace will come to you.

41. Think carefully about all my teaching.

42. Know yourselves. I have contemplated the existence of humanity of all times and I know what has been the cause of all its pains and misfortunes.

43. From the earliest times, I have seen men take their own lives because of envy, because of materialism, because of the ambition of power; they have always neglected their spirit, believing themselves to be matter only, and when the time has come to leave the human form on Earth, only what they did in their material life has remained, without collecting any glory for the spirit because they did not seek it, did not think about it or were concerned about the virtues of the spirit, or knowledge. They were content to live without seeking the way that leads them to God.

44. You who do not love life because you call it cruel, as long as you do not recognize the importance of conscience in man and do not allow yourself to be led by it, you will find nothing of true value.

45. It is consciousness that elevates the spirit to a higher life above matter and its passions. Spirituality will make you feel the great love of God, when you manage to practice it; then you will understand the importance of life, you will contemplate its beauty and you will find its wisdom. Then you will know why I have called it life.

46. After knowing and understanding this teaching, who will dare to reject it, saying that it is not true?

Love one another!

47. When you understand that your true value is in consciousness, you will live in harmony with everything created by your Father.

48. Then, conscience will beautify poor human life, but first it will be necessary for man to turn away from all the passions that separate him from God, in order to follow the path of justice and wisdom. It will be when the true life begins for you, this life that you contemplate today with indifference, because you do not know what you despise or imagine its perfection.

49. Humanity: You have remained lethargic through the ages, because you believed that true happiness and peace belonged to human existence, without knowing that they are part of the spiritual life, which is the true life.

50. Seek those who love you and those who hate you, love the life that you have called cruel, not knowing that it is like an open book full of wisdom for you. Know how to be moved by the joys as well as by the sorrows of others; see in each human being a teacher and feel yourselves a living symbol of good, not evil, because according to your works in life this will be the symbol that you represent.

51. Men have imagined hell as a place of eternal torture, where they have believed that all those who have disobeyed my commands are going. And just as they have created that hell for great faults, for minor faults they have imagined another place, as well as one more for those who have done neither good nor evil.

52. Those who say that there is neither joy nor suffering in the Hereafter are not telling the truth; no one is without suffering, nor without joy. Sorrows and joys will always be mixed, as long as the spirit does not reach the supreme peace.

53. Listen, my children: Hell is in incarnated and disembodied, in inhabitants of this world and of the spiritual valley, hell is the symbol of the great sorrows, of the terrible regrets, of despair, of the pain and bitterness of those who have sinned greatly and from whose consequences they will be freed through the evolution of their spirit towards love.

54. The glory, on the other hand, which symbolizes happiness and true peace, is for those who have turned away from the passions of the world to live in communion with God.

55. Interrogate your conscience and you will know if you live in hell, if you are expiating your faults, or if you vibrate with the peace of glory.

56. What men call glory or hell are not specific places, it is the essence of your works that your spirit collects when it reaches the spiritual valley. Each one lives his hell, inhabits his world of atonement, or enjoys the bliss that gives elevation and harmony with the Divine Spirit.

Love one another!

57. I am your Father and you are my beloved children. Come, rise above all that is created and come to Me

58. Beloved disciples, These are times of justice to pay your debts. You are reaping the harvest of past sowings, the result or consequence of your deeds.

59. Man has a time to do his work and another to answer for what he did, this last time is the one you live. That's why you all suffer and cry. Just as you have one time to sow and another to reap, God also has one that He granted you to fulfill His Law and another to manifest His justice.

60. You are living in the stage of divine justice. Pain makes you cry, humanity purifies itself in its own cry, because no one is left without restitution.

61. These are times of justice in which you must meditate on your destiny, so that through meditation and spirituality you may listen to the voice of conscience, which does not confuse or deceive and if it leads you on the path of peace.

62. The most difficult thing for the spirit is to reach spirituality through matter; the most difficult thing for man is to know himself essentially. Do not waste your life, learn all its lessons; your mission is to acquire wisdom, teach those around you and perfect yourself in spirit.

63. People: If you know that your spiritual destiny is great, take the path of love and light your lamp of faith in the divine flame of my wisdom.

64. Come to Me, humanity, for I am the hope. I am the promised Comforter that I have brought to you in this time of chaos, my message of peace. Because of how much you have wept and suffered, my comfort and my love are poured out on you as a source of mercy.

65. Truly I tell you, you have greatly transgressed my Law, but it is also true that in my love you will purify yourselves. What would you do if at this time instead of comforting you, I came to you only as a Judge?

66. I am the Master of love who comes to help you with your cross. I am your traveling companion who guides your steps and accompanies you in your loneliness and bitterness. I'm the sweet friend you've been waiting for. I am the sustenance that your spirit demands, because my love is the food that gives you life.

Love one another!

67. In all times you have needed me, but more in these in which humanity is hurrying the chalice of pain. That is why I am with you, because I am your Savior. You weep and I bless your weeping, because the tears of sinners are the blessed dew with which hearts are fertilized.

68. Your spirit has been absent from matter to listen to my word in the Hereafter and has spoken to me without words.

69. The high spirit knows that the human word impoverishes, dwarfs the expression of spiritual thought, that is why he silences the lips of matter in order to rise up and say with the language that only God knows, the secret that he carries hidden in the most intimate of his being.

70. Overcome the pain, rise above your crying and keep listening to me. Recognize that the Third Time has come for humanity and feel the responsibility to prepare yourselves. You confess to Me and lift up your spirit, I hear your prayer and I make you reach my grace and my forgiveness.

71. You glorify Me with spiritual songs when you see me coming from the top of the mountain to your dwelling place, and when you hear my word your spirit trembles and you say to me, "Lord, we know that you are with us". But not everyone has felt my arrival and it is necessary that my words and my trials be repeated every moment, to let you know that once again I have come to men. I have sought in human beings a home, a temple to dwell in and I still can't find it; but I will continue polishing the rocks until I transform them into hearts that feel my presence, and with it my justice and my love.

72. If you feel that you are walking in a desert of misunderstandings, be strong and keep going; but if by my will I make you cross deserts and mountains to take the good news to other lands, get up to fulfill, that if the water runs out, I will make it flow from the rocks to quench your thirst, and if you lack the strength for the great journey, I will quicken you.

73. The work I entrust to you is delicate. Do not let profane hands steal this treasure to later say that this is the fruit of their inspiration and thereby magnify and humiliate the innocent.

74. When you come to Me, I will ask you and I will claim all that I have given you, and many of you will say to me, "Lord, I have lost my inheritance." Then I will send you to find her, and you will not return to Me until you have recovered her and fulfilled all my commands. If I did not speak to you in this way, you would sleep and you would not be able to save yourselves.

Love one another!

75. The essence of my word that you keep today will flow from your lips tomorrow in words of wisdom for humanity. If you persevere on this path, you will find in it healthy and wholesome joys that will nourish your spirit.

76. Have faith in the size of the mustard seed and you will see great wonders performed. Today I say to you as in the Second Time: Command a mountain to change its place and you will be obeyed; command the fury of the elements to cease, and you will see it realized, tell in my name a sick person to heal and he will be free of the disease. But when a miracle is granted, do not be indifferent, perceive in your spirit the divine works and know how to value them.

77. Many calamities will come upon mankind; in Nature there will be upheavals, the elements will be unleashed. The fire will devastate regions, the waters of the rivers will come out of their channel, the seas will have changes; there will be regions that will be buried under the waters and new lands will appear. Many creatures will lose their lives and even beings inferior to man will perish. Everything will be disorder and confusion and if you do not prepare from now on, you will be weak in trials and you will not know how to give strength to others and thus you will not be able to leave a good example to the coming generations, who will have to communicate from spirit to Spirit. If you do not prepare their way, they will seek me by the path of science and not by the path of spirituality and this is not my will.

78. After the year of 1950, you will see the beginning of those great trials. Watch and pray; recognize me, people; practice my word that contains all virtue and be safe. Verily I say to you, whoever hears my word and practices it will be saved and will enter into eternal life. That temple that I announced to my disciples, that I would build in three days, is this one that I am now building in your spirit. This temple is indestructible; the foundations I entrusted to your fathers and the completion of it will be seen by your children.

79. No one should desecrate this temple, nor allow idolatry, greed, selfishness or hypocrisy to penetrate into it, because darkness and remorse will be the only reward that they will achieve for this; but if you are jealous of this inner sanctuary that you carry in your spirit and that is the house where your Father wants to dwell, then you will see caravans of men, women and children coming from far and near regions, who will come to knock on the doors of that dwelling in demand of spiritual charity.

80. Many will come like wolves trying to surprise you; but before the purity and the truth of your worship and also of your works, they will become meek sheep.

Love one another!

81. Enter into meditation and let me interrogate you in the silence of your bedroom; those questions will be the same that men will come to ask you and I want you to prepare yourselves from now on so that you give them the proper answer.

82. At the same time that I have come to give you my teaching and my commands, I have come to fill you with strength so that you may fight without ever falling. It is not possible, beloved children, for you to reach the top of the mountain carrying your cross, without first crossing the street of bitterness.

83. When will the man arise on earth who will come to fulfill all my teachings, as my Law commands; the man of a great and luminous spirit, of high feelings, of clear intelligence?

84. If you think that the word man means a weak creature, small and subject to being eternally dragged by evil, you are in a big mistake. Humanity has had its material and spiritual crucible so that the fruit of its struggle, of its experience and evolution, is to become the true man. Do you think that your seed is incapable of producing such fruit? Israel: Do not doubt my word. Remember that I promised Abraham and Jacob that their seed would be the blessing and comfort for all the peoples of the earth.

MY PEACE BE WITH YOU!

Love one another!

Teaching 12

1. Blessed are you in this dawn of holy remembrance, in which men honor the memory of the Messiah.
2. I come not only to bring you hopes but also beautiful realities.
3. The storm of regrets that you carry in your life will be short-lived, all that will pass and you will stop crying and suffering.
4. . The existence of a man on Earth is only an instant in eternity, a breath of life that encourages the human being for a while and then departs to then return to encourage a new body.
5. Rejoice that no pain is eternal; your sufferings are temporary and disappear very soon.
6. The time of atonement, of purification is fleeting for those who see the trials with spirituality; on the other hand, for those who are clothed with materialism, it will take a long time what actually happens very soon.
7. As the beating of your heart passes, so passes the life of men in infinity.
8. There is no need to be afraid, because just as a sigh escapes, as a tear is shed or as a word is said, so also sufferings disappear in man.
9. In the infinite tenderness of God, all your pains and sorrows will have to vanish.
10. If the pain hurts you, it is not because it comes from Me to you, it is because you have sought it beforehand and the law of justice has to be fulfilled.
11. However, no one is helpless, you all have someone to encourage and take care of you, you have many loves behind the veil of matter; but you do not know them or know how they love you from Beyond. They are the spirits who dwell in the kingdom of light, who help and comfort the little brothers, the weak, the fallen, the sick.
12. The enlightened ones are the high envoys of the Lord, who, bringing important and delicate missions to fulfill, come to order and take care of everything that has been entrusted to them.
13. I call you enlightened because you are the ones who have let my seed of love blossom in your spirit. These are the enlightened ones that you do not yet know because you lack spiritual sensitivity.

Love one another!

14. In order for my presence to be felt by you, it was necessary that my thoughts become sonorous through a matter; but in truth I tell you that the Universe is full of spiritual vibrations that you could also hear if your preparation and spiritual capacity allowed it.

15. I had to speak to you in this way to make myself heard, because I come to free you from your chains of ignorance, to break those bonds that hinder you and help you to truly understand my Doctrine.

16. He who is bound by the weaknesses of the world will not be able to feel me fully. No man who has a hardened heart can achieve perfection.

17. I have to make myself felt in your heart so that you will understand me and many times I must repeat my teachings, looking for the moment when you are ready to receive me.

18. It is necessary for you to understand that I have come to break the chains that have made you slaves of pain, to free you from sufferings that you have forged for yourselves and that you have made more lasting because you repeat your mistakes and imperfections. But if you are fools in evil, I am constant in my love to save you; and if you went to the dens of the mud or the deepest abyss of your passions, there I will come to look for the lost to take them to the Kingdom of Light. But you need to be humble and righteous so that my seed may flourish in you.

19. Truly I tell you that even contemplating that you have detached yourselves from the transient or the superfluous, that you have made an effort to turn away from the evil paths, I still cannot tell you that you are already capable of leading a people, because you still lack a lot to achieve spirituality.

20. I also come to awaken ideals in you, so that you may get rid of ignorance, because with that chain that binds materialism, you will not be able to emerge as my apostles, nor give examples of true love.

21. I am the sun of truth that dispels the fog of ignorance; come out of your darkness and come to receive the luminous and warm rays of God's inspiration.

22. If you already understood me, you would fully feel how I come to your spirit as wisdom, as life and if your understanding and heart preserved my words of light, you would soon be of the number of the enlightened.

23. O blessed dawn, fill with prayers, songs and blessings; if men would at least for an instant penetrate into the greatness of its meaning, how much peace and how much light they would gather for their spirit!

Love one another!

24. Look, people, contemplate the sky, look at it well and you will see that in each star there is a promise, a world that awaits you, they are promised dwellings to the children of God in which you will all come to dwell, because you will all know my kingdom, which was not made only for certain beings, it was created as the universal home where all the children of the Lord will gather.
25. But you need to always have your mind clear, without clouds; to be always on vigil to feel that my inspiration comes to you.
26. When one enlightened by my wisdom comes to rule the Earth, everything will be harmony, but until today you have not accepted my teaching, you have not desired to be rulers of the Earth, or of a single nation and that is why there are wars.
27. Now listen to something important for you that will comfort you in your pain.
28. In the future I will send you enlightened spirits, who will come as rulers of the Earth, and they will not allow more wars, because they know that this planet is for all men and that the division of nations that has come since the beginning of humanity, is undeniable proof of envy, grudges, mistrust, estrangement and hatred among men.
29. This dawn illuminated by the memory of my arrival in this world through Jesus, has become more illuminated with your elevation.
30. Do not stop practicing prayer even if it is so brief that it lasts only five minutes, but in it you know how to make a good examination with the light of your conscience, so that you observe your works and know what you have to correct yourself for.
31. If you lose track of time when you rise in prayer, it will be a sign of spirituality, since you managed even for a few moments to get out of the time that the slaves of materialism only want for their pleasures or to increase their flow.
32. The one who examines himself daily will have to improve his way of thinking, living, speaking and feeling.
33. The spiritual evolution of man, his transformation, his regeneration and elevation, are the cause of the manifestation of my word in this world.
34. I want you to achieve perfection, so that you may work out your happiness and your peace.
35. If, even doing this daily examination of conscience, you are not on the right path, you will be responsible for your stumbles, your falls and mistakes.

Love one another!

36. If some of my lessons are not properly interpreted because they have been said by a poor speaker of language, go to the spiritual part of the word without stopping at that poverty of expression and you will find in the truth of my Doctrine, the divine essence of my teachings.

37. To many who listen to my word, it seems the greatest lesson that can be received on earth today; to others it seems devoid of truth; but it is not the first time that my revelations have been denied by men.

38. Many teachers and emissaries have come to this world, and when they have begun to sow my seed of truth and love, you have put them to death because the darkness of humanity has not endured so much light.

39. The prophets, the patriarchs, the seers, have been martyrs, victims of human evil, because men have not been able to understand the truth that flows from their lips, nor the goodness of those hearts.

40. All the enlightened have known the cross of suffering, with all the sorrows and bitterness that men know how to give to their brothers.

41. These sorrows are necessary for every teacher, they are thorns over which he has to pass and bitterness that he has to know, in order to manifest the greatness of his spirit in the midst of them.

42. You do not know that path yet, but you will have to know it and walk it, when full of the strength that love gives, you rise inspired by Me.

43. For you love is a beautiful word, but until today you have not penetrated to its true meaning.

44. The one who is a teacher knows what his destiny is and blesses him and knows what the destiny of his brothers is.

45. And what is your destiny? The same one that the Master of Masters once lived and the one that all the messengers have brought: that of saving, loving and redeeming sinners.

46. Your destiny is to be enlightened and a prophet; one day you will be and then you will know the bitterness of those who came to trace the way for you; at the same time, you will know the love and strength that accompanied them on their journey.

47. All of them had to overcome in an inner struggle in the supreme hour of suffering and trial; and so when their conscience asked them if they wanted to depart from their mission or continue among the people who gave them death, they answered resolutely that they would continue with their people, because that was their mission, even if their brothers did not understand it that way. They remained steadfast among those they loved, while a breath of life remained to them. They knew that the darkness of humanity must be dispelled, but truly I tell you, they were not encouraged by any selfish interest, although their reward was reserved for them in my Kingdom.

48. I am the book for everyone, and in proof of that here you have me. I am still with you because I love you and I need you. To conquer glory you have two paths to follow of your own free will: that of love and that of pain, more truly I tell you, that on any path you choose I will be like a Cyrenian in your company. When you also know the high feelings of the purified spirit, you will say, "I will continue with sinners."

49. I ask those who have worked with love in my Work: What have you felt when you have been busy doing good, for the benefit of others?

50. You say to me: "Master, an effluvium has enveloped us and a force has impelled us to continue without boredom or fatigue."

51. Are you tired of listening to me? "No, Master," you tell me. Nor have I tired of being with you, from the beginning of your creation.

52. I give you my teachings, divine counsels, laws and norms for eternity and sometimes you too, by putting my words into practice, have given a lecture with your charity, working for the good of others.

53. If any of you is not moved by my teaching, he will be like a rock, but all of you are attentive to my word, because in this light no one can remain insensitive.

54. Someone asks me, Master: Why are there those who bring great missions to Earth and others do not? And I tell you, the men who have a small mission today will be the great enlightened ones tomorrow.

55. Live always alert because on your way there will be those who tell you that they are with me, but do not believe them at the first moment, believe for what they manifest in humility, in wisdom, in love.

56. Others will tell you that they have communications with me, they being the first deceived, therefore you will have to always be vigilant in the mission you have and in the position you occupy; you need to see, hear and forgive a lot too.

57. You need to know a lot so that you can tell them what the true path is and how to free themselves from slavery, from ignorance. Understand that you are also obliged to demonstrate by works the truth that you preach.

Love one another!

58. This planet will be transformed, because men will be spiritualized and then they will raise a perfect worship to God.

59. The moment of silence has come, the moment of your communication with me, so that just as the waves are confused in the sea, you join my divine Spirit; silence not only on the lips, but also in the inner temple of man, because it is your spirit that speaks to me, and the moment is solemn.

60. Enter in silence and listen to me, walkers of many paths who carry the dust of various paths; let Me be the light in your destiny.

61. From different religions you have come to hear this word with which you have known that the only spiritual Law, the only true Doctrine, the one that must reign over men, will be that of "Love one another"; but this Doctrine will be extended by those enlightened with these teachings, not the prevaricators, nor the evil preachers of eternal hell.

62. On the lips of my new emissaries, lies and blasphemy will not nestle, they will not teach the doctrine of an unjust, cruel, merciless God, powerless to save all his children, but of the God of true love and perfect justice.

63. I am not even telling you that this Spiritualist Doctrine will be the world religion, because I have never given religion, but law; I am only concrete to tell you that the law that will triumph on Earth, establishing itself on it to illuminate the existence of men; it will be the Law of love that in my Doctrine I have explained to you so that you may know it fully.

64. Humanity will still do many false works of love and charity, while learning to love and do true charity, and many will still have to walk from religion to religion, until their spirit rises in knowledge and they come to understand that the one Law, the Universal and eternal Doctrine of the spirit, is that of love, to which all will arrive.

65. All religions will disappear and only the light of the Temple of God will remain shining inside and outside man, in which you will all render a single cult of obedience, love, faith and goodwill.

66. Your conscience is ready to call your attention to each of your steps and makes you feel uneasy when you are in breach of my Law, so you have made a resolution not to fall into evil again.

67. I have also seen those who silently comfort and heal the sick, those who without boasting know how to give the precise word that saves, that guides and strengthens.

Love one another!

68. By listening to me, your heart is ennobled and the spirit rises above the egoism of matter to think of others and make their own their pains and trials. You would like there to be no more war, because you are beginning to love peace; however, war will continue its path of destruction and death, because not all men think or feel as you do at this moment; but the term given to the powerful is no longer long, soon you will see their empire and their power reduced to ashes.

69. What will be the debt of these men before God and how will they have to pay it? That only I know, but truly I tell you that no one will escape the law of restitution; that is why I tell you: while they continue to destroy the world that God gave them to live in, watch and pray for your brothers, because they do not know what they are doing; because if they knew, the time has come that with their tears, with their blood and even with their lives, they would be rebuilding everything they have destroyed.

70. Keep praying for the peace of the world, it is your duty, pray for men to understand and love each other.

71. If men understood that the Earth was created for everyone and knew how to share fairly with their brothers the material and spiritual treasures of which their existence is sown, truly I tell you that here in this world, you will begin to feel the peace of the spiritual Kingdom.

72. I have been among you, although I tell you once again that I have not descended into matter, and that I have only sent my divine thoughts to a human brain, through which they have become words.

73. If someone were to say that it is impossible for Me to communicate with humanity by this means, because I am infinite and you are not worthy to receive me, I tell you: Rather than fixating on your littleness, I manifest myself to you because you need me.

74. My divine Spirit, does not recognize distances or barriers, in any way I am with you because my presence is universal.

75. I will soon stop using these spokespeople, because this form of communication will come to an end in 1950. I am your Father and you are my children; learn to speak to me directly. Do you not remember how the divine Master taught you at that time? Remember that Jesus did not look for intermediaries to speak to the Father.

76. My word, my chair, in appearance is only for you today, but in truth it is for everyone, because its wisdom and love encompasses the entire Universe, unifies all the worlds, all incarnated or disembodied spirits. Come near if you feel in need of Me; seek Me if you feel lost.

Love one another!

77. I am your Father who knows your sorrows and comes to comfort you. I come to infuse you with the love that you need so much for yourselves and to pour it out around you.

78. If you truly recognize my presence through the wisdom that I manifest through these understandings, also recognize that it is time to start constructive work on the spiritual path.

79. Ah, if all those who have been called would come, verily I say to you, the Lord's table would be full of disciples and they would all eat the same delicacy! But not all the guests have arrived, they have pretended different occupations, relegating the divine call to the background.

80. Blessed are those who have come in haste, for they have had their prize.

81. Man in all times, but now more than in the past, feels himself master of his actions, independent of all spiritual law; he has become an egoistic being who thinks only of himself; his heart is empty of love for others and that is why humanity has come to resemble an immense desert, dry and arid. Will men in this way be able to unite, understand and help each other in a sincere and noble way? No, if he does not remove the bad seed from his heart, humanity will continue to destroy itself, they will distrust each other and continue to quarrel as long as they find themselves devoid of love.

82. This is the land on which I come to sow my seed in the Third Time, for which I am preparing a people of farmers, a people whose heart turns away from selfishness, reflects on my truth and converts to goodness.

83. But before you came to me, you sought happiness and peace for yourselves, without thinking of giving up your happiness to achieve someone else's, or putting the needs of your fellow men before your desires.

84. When you fulfill the law of love, you will have achieved your unification and harmony, you will stop suffering and the peace of nations, not achieved by men until now, will be made in humanity.

85. With a little spirituality, how easy it would be for men to understand each other!

86. I ask those who recognize this Doctrine as a truth capable of saving and uniting humanity: Why don't you decide to practice it? Are you happy to take it as a simple philosophy or as just another theory?

87. Man wants to save himself, without recognizing his nature; and that is his greatest mistake. While he lives and feels strong on Earth, he tries to forget every idea that tells him about eternity and spiritual life; he does not lose that intuition, but he ignores it and only when death approaches him and he feels the agony in himself, is when he would like in an instant to repair faults and make up for lost time; but then it will be too late because not everything is achieved by repentance. It is the law of justice to reap what has been sown, although repentance will help you to carry with love and patience your restitution, which in reality will be your work of restoration and regeneration.

88. You are listening and at the same time accepting that I speak to you with truth; you let your conscience speak and it tells you that many times your faith was only apparent, because you did not have the certainty of the existence of an eternal life for the spirit. You certainly intended to fully enjoy your existence in the world, and to prepare yourselves for the passage into the spiritual life until the last moment had come. The idea of a life after this one was like a deposit of faith, to turn to him when the moment came and then be able to go through the distressing moments of the departure.

89. Is this how man should live? I ask you. Is this how you show your faith in the Father and achieve true spiritual elevation?

90. Meditate on all that I have told you in this teaching and you will eventually understand that man has always been wrong with his selfish and material feelings.

91. Analyze my doctrine that comes to reveal to man the communication of spirit to Spirit through love and how many virtues derive from it, as well as from all the senses and gifts of the spirit, and decide if it is not the key that can open to humanity the doors of peace and eternal wisdom.

92. In the three times in which I have divided the evolution of humanity, I have come to trace to you with my light the same straight and narrow path for the elevation of the spirit, the unique path of love, truth and justice.

93. I have taken you from teaching to teaching, from revelation to revelation, until I reach this time when I am telling you that you can already communicate with me from spirit to Spirit. Could humanity have communicated in this way in the First Time? No; it was necessary that they help each other with the material worship, with the rite and ceremonies, with the traditional feast and with the symbols in order to be able to feel the divine and spiritual close to them. From that inability to approach the spiritual, to rise to the divine, to know the deep and to clarify the mysteries, the various religions arose, each according to the degree of spiritual backwardness or advancement of men, some sticking more than others to the truth, some more spiritualized than others, but all tending towards the same end. It is the path that the spirits have been traveling through the centuries and the ages, a path that the various religions point out. Some have advanced very slowly, others have parked and others have mystified and contaminated.

94. A new era has opened for humanity, it is the era of light, whose presence will mark a stop on the spiritual path of all men, so that they wake up, meditate, shed the heavy burden of their traditions, their fanaticism and their mistakes, and then rise to a new life.

95. Some before and some after, all religions and sects will come before the Temple of the Holy Spirit who is present in my Work, firm as a column that rises to infinity, waiting for men of all peoples and lineages.

96. When everyone has penetrated into my sanctuary to pray and meditate, they will reach one and the other the same knowledge of my truth; so that once that STOP on the way is over, everyone will rise united in the same Law and will have the same way of worshiping their Father.

97. Why should anyone be surprised by my new revelations? Truly I tell you, the patriarchs of ancient times already had knowledge of the coming of this Age and the seers of other times contemplated it and the prophets announced it. It was a divine promise made to men, long before I, through Jesus, came into the world.

98. When I announced to my disciples my new coming and gave a glimpse of the way in which I would manifest myself to men, the promise had already been made to you a long time ago.

99. Here you have that time unfolding before you, here those prophecies are being fulfilled. Who can be surprised? Only those who have slept in darkness or those who have erased my promises from themselves.

100. Here is my light waiting for everyone to stop them on their way, because I am going to show them the spiritual treasure that they have not been able to discover by taking it with them, I am going to convince them that they have already searched the material for a long time, they have already given themselves to the transient, to the fleeting. I am going to teach you to search in your own spirit for consciousness, which is the divine essence that I have left in every man.

101. Truly I tell you, that everything great and good that exists in the spirit, you have never given because you do not even know it, how are you going to love each other with the perfection that I taught you, if you do not recognize each other as brothers? You need to take the essence that the spirit carries, so that your love may be love and your charity may be true charity; something more than vain words, something more than mere coins, something more than the scrap of bread that is left over on your table and that are the only means you use to make you believe that you practice charity and that you love each other.

102. How beautiful will your world be, when men have discovered in their spirit the blessed treasure with which their Creator endowed them from the very moment of their formation!

103. I leave this lesson to you, so that through it you may look to the past looking for your beginning, examine your present and then look to the future that awaits you, full of wisdom, work, struggle and divine compensations.

104. You are sinners, but you love Me and when you remember Me, you try to please Me by practicing charity with your brothers and sisters. You are sinners, I know, but you know how to pray when you have a sorrow. You are sinners, but you know how to share your bread with those who come to your door to ask for charity.

105. Because you are doing good, wanting to please me, take my caress, feel my comfort, receive my blessing.

MY PEACE BE WITH YOU!

1. The Father's house is celebrating. The banquet is prepared. It is that this people, like a prodigal son, has returned home. Sit down at the table and eat of the delicacy, the hour is propitious and kind.

2. Also in the Second Time I used to sit at the table surrounded by my disciples. They knew that Jesus was the Messiah, who had been promised to come to save his people. You have not seen me in matter as those who saw me, but by the essence of this word, you feel the presence of the Master, who had promised to return and send you the spirit of Truth, so that he would explain to you all the past teachings and you would understand what you had not understood.

3. But who is the Spirit of Truth, but the very wisdom of God? Where can you find it, but in this spiritual Doctrine that explains and clarifies everything to you?

4. I prophesied to you that I would return, when humanity was at its greatest height of evil and confusion; that is why when men contemplate that their science and their perversity have yielded a fruit that is in full maturity, they sense that something divine is about to manifest. That feeling is because my spiritual presence speaks to every spirit, my Father's righteousness is manifesting among humanity.

5. You will not see me again as a man, today you have to prepare to contemplate me in spirit; this was given to you to understand from the Second Time. The Master ascended on a cloud, the last time he was still visible to his disciples, and in the same way it had been announced to you that he would return.

6. Now I speak to you through these understandings prepared by Me; tomorrow my voice will resound in your heart and in all the spirits, because my word is like the tinting of the sonorous bell that awakens and resurrects both the incarnate and the disembodied. It is a universal call. From the past times I told you that none of my children would be lost and that if a sheep was in danger, I would leave the ninety-nine in the pasture to go after the lost one.

7. Verily I say to you, O my new disciples, that you will come to understand what none of my disciples of the Second Time understood.

8. How many times while speaking to them, they looked at each other to find out which of them had understood what Jesus had said; and they could not explain the Master's words to each other, at last they begged him to be clearer in his lesson. Truly I tell you, my word could not have been clearer, but at this time the spirit had not evolved enough to understand all the teaching I had received; it was necessary for time to pass, for humanity to advance spiritually so that, illuminated with the light of spirituality, it understood the meaning of the divine revelations.

9. However, when the hour came when those disciples knew when it was necessary to teach their brothers and sisters and what they did not yet know, the Holy Spirit revealed through their mouths, because they were already prepared for that mission.

10. If at the time when they lived with the Master, some interpreted his teaching in one way and others in a different way, when the time came for their struggles and their preaching, they were all united in a single ideal, they were animated by the same wisdom, the same love. Each one undertook the walk through different regions; but their spirits, their thoughts, were united in the mission they should fulfill and they were encouraged by the memory of Jesus.

11. They always tried to get together, to exchange impressions about their struggles, their tribulations and also to rejoice with the triumphs achieved. To each other they imparted encouragement, courage and faith.

12. They knew how to sow the seed that I entrusted to them, because one did not go to sow the wheat and another the tares, no, they all sowed one seed, and that was the one of love that I taught them, that is why the fruit that sprouted from the hearts of men was of love. Do you understand what I want to tell you, when I tell you about the deeds that your brothers carried out at that time?

13. Do not think about whether you are greater or lesser than them; I only tell you that you must love them, as they loved you, clearing the way for you, teaching you to follow your Lord, giving you their life. Imitate them in their faith, in their zeal, in their charity.

14. Truly feel like my disciples. I have brought to you in my Doctrine the divine Law that is present in your conscience. What do you fear from other doctrines, theories, sciences or philosophies? Or do you fear those who study the ancient scriptures, the religions that are called Christian? Truly I tell you, the Doctrine that I am giving you is nothing more than the clarification, the confirmation of the revelations that were made to you in the past times.

15. I have not come to bring you confusion to add to those that already reign in the world, but rather to rescue you from them, as Moses did before with his people, whom he rescued from Egypt where he was a slave.

Love one another!

16. I want to take you as at that time to a safe land and for this I have opened my book before you in a new chapter so that by it you may recognize the narrow and straight path, which throughout the ages I have been tracing for you with my Law.

17. Fulfill, so that you do not have to return to Earth in times of pain, to reap the fruit of your faults or that of your egoism. Fulfill your mission and then you will return, but it will be in time of peace to recreate cultivating the seed that you left started. Now Moses will not be in front of you to rescue you as he was in the First Time, it will be your conscience that guides you.

18. Apparently men will rise up on their own seeking peace and truth, but truly I tell you, the spirit of Elijah will show himself before the peoples and nations, and will call them to freedom.

19. The Word speaks to you who has always been in God, the same one who was in Christ and whom you know today through the Holy Spirit; because the Word is word, it is Law, it is message, it is revelation, it is wisdom. If you heard the Word through the word of Christ and now you receive it through the inspiration of the Holy Spirit, truly I tell you, it is the voice of God that you have heard, because there is one God, one Word and one Holy Spirit.

20. Analyze, understand and prepare yourselves so that you will not be surprised by the times of trials, so that my word of which I want you to bear witness to humanity tomorrow will not be sterile. You have to be firm so that your faith does not falter, because a single moment of weakness can be the cause of your confusion.

21. By 1950, you should be ready. This date will be unforgettable for this people.

22. Who will make it to that date? Who will be witnesses of the commands and instructions that I will give you on that day, as well as of my new prophecies? You do not know this, but I also tell you: Who will be those who are truly prepared for this test and to continue on the true path of struggle?

23. You don't know, I'm just telling you that if it's years away for you, it's only a few brief moments for Me, because I don't live under time and you do. But if you think that the years that you still lack are many and that even wasting them you will have enough time to prepare, you are in grave error; do not be confident, because time passes quickly and nothing will change my will. Will you be able to stop time? No, you answer me. Then you will not be able to prevent my orders from being carried out either.

Love one another!

24. Meditate, prepare yourselves to enjoy this communication and take advantage of the time in the practice of everything that gives you spirituality. So you will not fear the hour when you will stop listening to my word.

25. I have told you of many trials and warned you. My word full of teachings and love is the strength and caress that your Lord imparts to you.

26. I am waiting for you on the top of the mountain where I will give you peace. I have come to you in three ages to teach you and this is the third in which I am gathering you, to communicate my latest teachings to you. My mission as a Teacher was not completed on the cross. Today you will come to understand in the light of my lessons much more than you have ever known before.

27. But how few are those who have prepared to receive me. Among you I behold many who have put out their lamp and have remained in darkness and others who have already forgotten Me. Despite your spiritual advancement, you have not reached perfection, and while some have evolved, others have remained stationary.

28. From the beginning of time I have taught you to pray, so that you may always be in contact with my Divinity. I told you that you must comply with the divine law and also with the human law. The one that I gave to the first men is the same one that I am giving to you today for its fulfillment.

29. Beloved Israel, are you not tired of walking so much? Has not the weight of your restitution weighed you down? Have you not been so tired of pain that you have rushed? Is your familiarity with pain so great that you have already become numb? Do you no longer feel love for your father, or for your brothers? You have fallen into a deep lethargy and are indifferent to every high feeling, you live a dizzying and inhuman life and have forgotten your spiritual duties; but I want you to prepare your mind to receive my word and let me dwell in your heart so that you may live in grace again.

30. I want to take you to live on other planes where you will vibrate in harmony with the high spirits, so that you can continue climbing without stopping. When you get up to follow me, you will no longer be indolent, you will no longer rush the cup of bitterness, you will love life and you will be united to all your brothers.

31. Prepare yourselves, go to your brothers in my name, wipe away the tears of those who suffer, give courage to the weak, lift up the fallen and rescue the lost. Bring the light everywhere. Many will recognize me in their human life and others when they find themselves in the spiritual valley. It is my will that all awaken to deposit in their spirit my seed of love.

Love one another!

32. You will see that some will believe in my manifestation of this Third Time, when they hear my teaching through the mouthpiece, others because of your testimony, and many more because of the writings that remain of my word.

33. I want you all to remain strong, so that you will not retreat at the first stumble, nor that you will fear any enemy. I am preparing you to do wonders and transform your brothers with the trials that I will grant you.

34. Understand me, cement your faith on the firmness of the rock so that nothing can destroy it. Do not shut up your lips for fear of censure, nor hide from your brothers that I have come at this time. Develop the gift of the word and let the love and wisdom that I have entrusted to you overflow from your heart.

35. Watch over your nation, do not let war penetrate into it. Open the doors of your heart and let the one you call a foreigner enter, the man of good will and also the one who encloses evil in his heart, because on this earth his spirit will be enlightened and she will be for everyone like a caring mother. I am preparing the granaries so that you can give food to the hungry and there will be prosperity and peace among all my children.

36. Prepare yourselves spiritually, so that you may foresee your future and contemplate that after 1950 you will remain as my apostles, in imitation of those who once followed me. They knew that even if they saw me disappear as a man, they would have my spiritual presence and that they would continue to be accompanied and enlightened by Me. I took pleasure in contemplating his faith, his unification, his inspiration and very soon his word moved the men of that time, because they knew how to put into practice everything that their Teacher had taught them.

37. Prepare yourselves, humanity and receive the light of my spirit that is poured out on everything created. I am teaching a people who will bring you a message of peace. I will speak through their mouths, if you reject them, you will have rejected Me.

38. Remember humanity, that every time I have reached it, I have surprised it distracted in the mundane and that is why it has not felt my presence. But how could I know how to wait so long, if when you left Egypt you showed your impatience, since you could not wait only a few days for the return of Moses? When he came down from Sinai, carrying the Tablets of the Law, he found the people given over to idolatrous worship. With only a few moments of weakness, they had erased the name of the true God from their hearts, to replace it with a golden calf.

39. It was then that the Lord called that people hard of understanding. That is why I am not surprised that after an era I find that men, despite having my promise, have failed in their faith, have let their lamp go out and in my place they have put as many idols as they worship today. Would it be possible for them to recognize me today that I have arrived among them? It is natural that everything of mine seems strange to them.

40. I revealed to you that my return would be in a cloud. Today that I am already among you and that therefore, I have fulfilled that word, truly I tell you, the cloud is the representation of my presence in spirit, In the same way that my disciples saw me ascend, once I left my work completed in the Second Time, so I have descended in this time among humanity.

41. You must remember that when Moses was called to Sinai by the LORD, a cloud covered that mountain and on the third day, from the midst of the cloud, the voice of the Lord sounded. That manifestation was contemplated by all, that cloud was seen by the crowd gathered at the foot of that Mountain. It was the Lord who from then on gave you to understand that his kingdom and his dwelling place are beyond everything material.

42. Despite the fact that the Lord had materialized his presence in that cloud and had made the people tremble with his manifestations of power and justice, those hard men of understanding and heart, became unfaithful to the covenant that only in moments of fear they had made before God.

43. Now that I come in the cloud, I am alighting in your spirit, therefore my manifestations in this Third Time are invisible to mortal eyes. Only the spirit with its elevated senses, is the one who can look, feel and understand my revelations.

44. That spiritual sense that I am developing for you, so that through it you can analyze and contemplate everything that has been revealed to you so far from the beginning of your life, will be the one that will come to destroy all the false interpretations that men have made of the divine. Little by little the light is penetrating into the hearts of my children, for which I tell you that the hour is not very far away when they themselves understand the meaning of what can happen in the life of humanity.

45. There are those who wonder when they hear this word: Has the Lord descended at this time to make himself felt only in those of us who have listened to His teaching through the human channel, or has he done so among all humanity? Truly I tell you, the spiritual cloud gives its protective shade to the whole world, just as in the First Time when it covered all his people who were in front of Mount Sinai.

46. Disciples of the new time, study my word, because you need my wisdom in your struggle.

Love one another!

47. Behold the pages of the book whose seals were loosed by the Lamb. The voice of the Divine Word springs from the Book of Life and reaches those who are dead to the life of grace to raise them up.

48. I don't need a human body to make me hear from men. Here you have me in spirit, speaking to you through the human understanding without Me having to materially step on the dust of the Earth. This manifestation has been the preparation for the direct spirit-to-Spirit communication between you and your Creator.

49. Blessed are those who are waiting for my spiritual arrival at this time, because they will see me arrive in the cloud.

50. Men have been engaged in searching the old testaments, torturing their minds in the investigation and interpretation of prophecies and promises. Those among them who have come closest to the truth are those who have found the spiritual meaning of my teachings, because those who continue clinging to the material interpretation, and do not know or do not want to find the spiritual meaning of my manifestations, will have to suffer confusion and disappointments, like those suffered by the Jewish people when the Messiah arrived, whom they had imagined and expected in a different way than reality showed him.

51. I give you this explanation by unleashing the Sixth Seal of the Book of Life.

52. In order for me to give you these new revelations, it was necessary that in the time that elapsed between my manifestation to humanity as a man and my arrival in spirit at this time, you had gone through many reincarnations on Earth, so that when I came to ask you for the last lesson, your spirit would know how to answer and when I made new revelations, he would know how to understand them.

53. The book of the Seven Seals is the story of your life, of your evolution on Earth, with all its struggles, passions, contentions and finally with the triumph of good and justice, of love and spirituality over the passions of materialism.

54. Truly believe that everything tends towards a spiritual and eternal end, so that you may give each lesson its rightful place.

55. As long as the light of the Sixth Seal shines on you, it will be a time of strife, of vigil and purification, but after that time you will have reached a new stage in which the Seventh Seal will show you new revelations. How satisfied and joyful will the spirit of the one who has been found clean and prepared receive at the new time. As long as the Sixth Seal enlightens you, matter and spirit will be purified.

Love one another!

56. The time is approaching when your spirit must manifest fully on Earth. So far, it has not been possible for him because of the hardness and materialism that he retains; but after purification, men will let their spirit manifest and develop into virtue. The glass will be clean and transparent and will let its contents contemplate and also let it overflow.

57. Before leaving for the hereafter, the men of this earth will make a world of peace, a dwelling place where the light of the spirit shines eternally.

58. You, do not lie down to sleep, thinking that others will be the ones who will see the fulfillment of this prophecy and those who will enjoy that peace. By chance do you know if you will come for those times? Verily I say unto you, there is no sowing without fruit, and no works without reward.

59. There will be many sorrows that men will have to suffer to see that time arrive, but you who are waiting for it should not be afraid, because in your struggles or in your loneliness, there is always a luminous star that illuminates your path and that star is Elijah.

60. Multitudes who hear this voice, I ask you: Are you willing to follow me on this path by obeying my commands? Will you have the courage to speak about this doctrine to your brothers and sisters? Do you think you are already qualified to worship me without the need for rites or symbols? Will you not be ashamed before the different religions to call yourselves spiritualists? Will you not falter or regret having started this journey? Will you not hesitate before the criticisms and attacks that your fellow men make to you, nor will you deny if they do not know you by throwing you out of their homes?

61. Do not think that I will question you because I do not know how you feel tomorrow and your behavior in the face of the tests. You well know that I do not know anything, but if I ask you these questions, it is so that you repeat them to yourselves by meditating on them, because from meditation you can reach the light, the decision, the strength and the confidence in Me.

62. If I did not warn you to prepare yourselves, how could you cope with adversities and trials?

63. Be patient, people, and prudent before humanity; do not despair, think that it is in trials that you will leave your most beautiful examples of forgiveness, charity and firmness.

64. But do not be afraid, because I have told you that I have come to make you spiritually rich, the elements that are indispensable for your human life will not be lacking, know that the one who has become spiritualized has come to possess everything, and although he does not have earthly goods, if he will be able to identify himself with the Owner of everything created, he as a son, will have to feel heir and even owner of what his Heavenly Father possesses.

MY PEACE BE WITH YOU!

1. You come seeking the light and I give it to you, because you have faith and you expect it from Me. Everyone who seeks Me finds me; everyone who expects from Me receives.
2. It would be easier for Him to stop illuminating the king star, for Me to reject a single one of my children who seeks me.
3. I come to help you correct your mistakes, because I don't want your confusion to continue.
4. The time allotted by Me to deliver this teaching to you is ending and it is necessary that you prepare yourselves, because in the spirit-to-Spirit communication that you must achieve after 1950, you will find greater wisdom in my teachings.
5. The profane will become little children, the little children will become disciples and the disciples will become teachers, living examples of good works among humanity.
6. Do not feel small when I name you little ones, because before the wisdom of the Lord it is already a lot to be a little one.
7. I have many disciples and kindergartners, not only here among you, but scattered among humanity, in sects and religions, since all of them, according to their evolution, are occupying the different rungs that form the infinite scale of spirituality.
8. But you should also know that not only in this world do I have disciples, remember that I have told you: "In the Father's house there are an infinite number of dwellings"; there my children exist in immense multitudes who live to learn from Me.
9. Know that it is in that Kingdom that my lessons are best understood, therefore, where it is most advanced.
10. That is where those who left this world suffering from bitterness and disappointment arrive; those thirsty for truth, for knowledge, those hungry for love, the humiliated.
11. There their Teacher is waiting for them, to give them greater teachings than those that humanity denied them.
12. Then, those who were ignored and poor on Earth, will shine with true light and amazed will see how those who in this world shone with false light, in the hereafter, mourn their spiritual misery.

Love one another!

13. In these worlds of peace that you will inhabit, it is where those who wept and blessed me on Earth, have received the most pleasant surprises, a reward that they did not expect when they were hurrying their cup of bitterness.

14. No matter that they had moments of despair and doubt, those moments of weakness I forgive them, because they also had great days of pain in which they showed resignation and blessed me.

15. These my children also traveled through their calvary and suffered greatly on their way of restitution; and those who comply with my Law, even if they only live for a few moments on the good path, achieve joy and spiritual satisfaction in eternal life.

16. This is how my eternal love responds to the momentary love of men.

17. Blessed are those who, falling and rising, weeping and blessing me, wounded by the wickedness of their brothers, trust in Me and offer me the sanctuary of their heart.

18. These sad little ones, scorned but meek, are weak in appearance, but in reality they are strong in spirit and greater revelations are in store for them as soon as they are beyond this world.

19. In the Second time, in order to be my disciple, it was essential to possess not only great spiritual strength, but also physical strength, because it was necessary to endure the cruelty of men, the torments and trials to which they subjected in their rudeness and ignorance those who preached something that was beyond their knowledge in the world.

20. Now, you do not need great physical strength; it is another divine plan, but you will continue to be my collaborators, to spread my Doctrine among humanity.

21. At this time you are going to fight against the ignorance of a humanity, which although materialized in all its phases, is less cruel and is more evolved by the experience it has achieved in its past incarnations.

22. Today, if you know of someone who does not think or practice his worship as the majority do, although you are surprised and scandalized, you no longer cry out to be burned alive.

23. Now, when you stumble upon a possessed sick person, you no longer run away from him shouting that he is full of demons.

24. Many already understand that such beings do not exist and that they are only troubled spirits who lack an instant of lucidity to become tame sheep.

Love one another!

25. You are already beginning to recognize that this being whom you call a Demon or Satan is nothing more than the weakness of your flesh, the inclination to low passions, the thirst for delights and desires of matter, pride, self-love, vanity and everything with which the flesh tempts the spirit.

26. You still do and think many wrong things; but rejoice because you have been advancing in your evolution, although some suppose the opposite, letting yourselves be guided by your imperfect judgments.

27. It is that you still fail to understand the visible and invisible creation that surrounds you and that is why you are mistaken in your interpretations.

28. But according to your spiritual evolution and therefore your need to analyze my revelations better, so I send you my messengers to guide you, and as I find your mind prepared, so I speak to you of my wisdom to lead you to perfection.

29. Also in perfect correspondence with what you are, my justice proves you by always respecting the free will granted to you by the love of your Father.

30. You all have the feeling or intuition of the existence of the Supreme Being, and this intuition is the light that your spirit has been conquering on the long path of spiritual evolution.

31. A new sun is coming to your spirit to enlighten you, a new book that teaches you what you have been longing for and waiting for so much.

32. Do you not feel, beloved people, that humanity can no longer bear lies, myths and so much false light? It is no longer the time to feed the spirit with the erroneous interpretations that have been given to my Law.

33. You are preparing yourselves to receive greater knowledge, and although for centuries you have been divided into sects, philosophies and religions, very soon you will have to gather around my new revelation, whose wealth of wisdom will make you understand that at last you have found the book of the true life, that of the spirit.

34. You are in urgent need of my word; you are dying of spiritual thirst for lack of that dew that comes from my perfect love. You lack freshness in your spirit, that is why I come to you to offer you the fruit of the tree of life.

35. I come to point out to you with gentleness your defects and you should also point out the mistakes of others, with the same love and charity, so that one and the other, knowing their imperfections, correct them; but I will never utter a word that leads you to judge the works of your fellow men or to mock their beliefs or practices.

Love one another!

36. Do you know what mistakes you have gone through trying to worship me? Who remembers the past of his spirit?

37. If I were to tell you that you have worshipped the beasts, the stars, and that you have created gods with human attributes with your imagination; that you have prostrated yourselves to worship beasts, birds, and reptiles, it would seem strange to many of you. But I know your spiritual evolution and therefore I tell you to be understanding, respectful and charitable with your fellow men, with those who are on a lower scale than you; in this way you will truly demonstrate your spirituality.

38. Only I have the power to point out the faults of humanity, errors that with my wisdom I correct and with my love I forgive.

39. Humanity is a slave to absurd sects and cults, to vices and profanations; that is why you look at each other as enemies, because you are intolerant of your fellow men.

40. But I tell you again that no man has the power to belittle or mock the spiritual beliefs of his brothers.

41. You are my temporarily lost sheep and I do not come to put you to death, but to save you; to teach you and to unite you. I come as of old to tell you to love one another; that beyond this existence you have another higher life, because in the Father's house there are an infinite number of dwellings.

42. If men felt true love for their brothers, they should not suffer the chaos in which they find themselves, everything in them would be harmony and peace; but they do not understand that divine love and they only want the truth that reaches the brain not the one that reaches the heart, and there they have the result of their materialism: a selfish, false and full of bitterness humanity.

43. At this time religions and sects are confused, warning you that they have had a high origin and that there are still traces of purity and light left on their errors by my enlightened ones.

44. If you have used some of your sciences to analyze and judge me, does it not seem more reasonable to you that you should use them to analyze yourself, until you know your essence and destroy your materialism? peradventure do you think that your Father cannot help you along the path of your good sciences? Truly I tell you, if you knew how to feel the essence of divine love, knowledge would easily come to your understanding without you having to tire your brain, or exhaust yourself with the study of the knowledge that you think deep and that is truly within your reach.

Love one another!

45. But if your sciences, observations and studies, would lead you to love; if the purpose of that longing for knowledge, was to pay tribute to your Father, serving with increasing perfection to your fellow men, the smallest, weak and needy, I would say nothing to you; but when I contemplate that through your sciences you dwarf and lower your own God, setting limits, attributing errors to Him and giving Him forms that He does not have; when I see that at the same time you make gods of matter and deify and sanctify imperfect men, I tell you that you have neither known the truth that you should possess, nor are you authorized to grant sacred or divine hierarchies to anyone; this corresponds only to your God and Lord.

46. You cannot represent or define the infinite, because you cannot encompass it with your limited mind, nor can your language express the divine or define the indefinable in human terms.

47. Do not try to enclose God in words or in allegories that will never be able to give you an idea of the truth.

48. Humbly say "God", but say it in a heartfelt way and if you want to have an idea of the immense love of the Lord for you, think of Jesus.

49. With allegories, images, symbols or poor definitions of God, you will only succeed in making your brothers deny me or be small in spirit.

50. To manifest the divine, your languages are limited, that is why at all times I have had to speak to you with parables, with metaphors, but you see, even speaking to you like this, you have understood me little, because you have lacked the necessary will to analyze my manifestations.

51. You are always quarreling over the meaning of your words, and the more you create words, the more you confuse your spirit. Ah men of many words, of many languages and of many beliefs, but of very few works of love!

52. Look at the birds that in all the ends of the earth sing with uniformity and simplicity.

53. I can tell you that all creatures know and understand each other better than men, why? Because they all live within the path that I have traced for them, while you, when you do not invade the fields that do not belong to you, move away from your true paths, which are those of the spirit; and once lost in materialism, you do not understand the spiritual, the divine and eternal.

54. But here you have me, humanity, I come to teach you how even within your material condition, you can harmonize with the spiritual life, transforming your bad steps on Earth into a journey of true progress, which will give you high and noble satisfactions in this world, and beyond, when you leave human life, you will find an endless harvest of beautiful surprises for your spirit.

55. Imitate Jesus, how? Loving your fellow men as your own son, as your mother, as your brother, as yourselves.

56. In all times you have had guides who have taught you the strength of love. Your brothers have been more advanced, with greater knowledge of my Law and greater purity in their works. They have come to give you an example of strength, love and humility by changing their life of errors and sins for an existence consecrated to goodness, sacrifice and charity.

57. From childhood to old age, you have clear examples of everything that is achieved with love and of the sorrows that originate the lack of charity; but you, more insensitive than the rocks, you have not been able to learn the teachings and examples that daily life gives you.

58. Have you ever observed how the same beasts, meekly respond to a call of love? For in the same way the elements, the forces of Nature, everything that exists in the material and spiritual world can respond.

59. That is why I tell you to bless everything with love in the name of the Father and Creator of the Universe.

60. To bless means to saturate. To bless is to feel the good, to say it and to give it. To bless is to impregnate everything that surrounds you with thoughts of love.

61. To do so and I will glorify you when you have reached the end, after having found in yourselves the divine essence, the reason for your life and the gifts with which I have clothed you; the struggle, the merits and your unification to my Law will make you form a single will, a single spirit with my Divinity.

62. My light comes to meet you to help you climb, because I am the Master of all times. I have come not only in one era, I have eternally shown you the Book and I have asked you to get to know each other spiritually, so that you know what your gifts are and make an exemplary life in which health, strength and confidence shine, so you can exalt your spirit and prepare for eternal life.

63. When a man has spiritual strength, it is because his spirit has been able to be quickened in virtue.

Love one another!

64. Some of you come to Me in search of consolation, looking for a solution to a problem or the answer to a question, after having consulted the sages or having asked the stars; it is that you have lacked faith and have not had the strength or the security of the one who truly believes; and truly I tell you that beyond all knowledge of the future, there is my divine will. The one who loves, the one who believes is united to Me because I am Love, Reason and Justice.

65. Do not forget that you are my children and if you know how to live in harmony with me, you will not need to ask your brothers or consult the books or the stars, because I speak to your spirit through consciousness and if you listen to it you will be governed with wisdom and you will know how to live fulfilling my will.

66. Awaken to that voice, know your faculties and put them at the service of good; receive this message that I am sending you, so that it may be the guide of your steps, because I hope that you will conclude your work on Earth, to give you higher missions, among them that of becoming protectors of humanity.

67. Feel that you are spirits and do not be tied to matter, do not complicate your life. Have no worship or adoration for anything other than love for your Father and also for your fellow human beings. True life lies in the spirit, not in the body, for the body lives for a while and disappears, while the body lives eternally.

68. What use will your treasures be to you on earth, if you do not know how to conquer those of the spirit? What will you be in the spiritual abode, but poor spirits who did not know how to carve out their peace and happiness, to enjoy them in eternal life?

69. You all have a heritage when you were sent to Earth, but you ignore its value, you do not know how to discover it in your spirit and you seek it outside of yourselves and I come to tell you to meditate on these teachings. If you seek wisdom, you have it in you. If you aspire to power, it is in you: in health, in spiritual strength, in talent. If you pursue beauty, I have given it to you too. You only need to know yourself and you will find what you long for. If you want to know other regions, be spiritually transported and you will find other scales where the spirit lives with greater perfection.

70. Your destiny is to climb and possess what is mine, because you are my dearly beloved children.

71. Return to being pure spirits, to them my teaching leads you, to bring you to the perfect state: verily I say to you that when you return to him, you will no longer encounter pain, because you will have penetrated into the Father's home.

Love one another!

72. I come to help you in your liberation. My light will make you come out ahead in your stumbles. And from today on, do no harm to anyone, so that you will not harm yourselves.

73. Take my strength, all my elements are at your service, everything is at your fingertips. Live to love and forgive as I love and forgive you.

74. Love everything, bless everything, this is how I teach you how you can be my disciple on Earth and how you will be a spirit of light in the hereafter, where you will arrive with true peace to occupy the place that your Father has destined for you. If you do so, you will not incarnate again in this world in which you suffer, because you will understand that this suffering cannot be eternal to your spirit; then you will ascend to other abodes and you will fulfill with joy the missions that correspond to you in eternity.

MY PEACE BE WITH YOU!

Love one another!

Teaching 15

1. At this dawn of commemoration, I ask you, what have you made of the Law that I sent to humanity through Moses? Were those commandments given only for the men of that time?
2. Truly, I tell you, that blessed seed is not in the hearts of men, because they do not love me, nor do they love one another; they do not honor their parents or respect what is foreign, but instead they take their own lives, commit adultery and cause dishonor to themselves.
3. Do you not hear lies on all lips? Have you not noticed how one people steals the peace of other peoples?... and yet humanity claims to know my Law. What would become of men if they completely forgot my commands?
4. Understand that the Law is the path traced by the love of the Supreme Maker, to guide each of His creatures. Meditate on the life that surrounds you, composed of elements and organisms in infinite number, and you will come to discover that each body and each being, march along a path or trajectory guided by an apparently strange and mysterious force. That strength is the Law that God has dictated for each of His creatures. Analyzing these teachings you will conclude by recognizing that truly everything lives, walks and grows under a supreme mandate; you will also come to discover that in the midst of this creation man arises, different from all other creatures, because in him there is reason and free will. In the spirit of man there is a divine light that is consciousness, which illuminates his intelligence and inspires him to the fulfillment of duty. Because if an irresistible force forced him only to follow the right path, its fulfillment would have no merit and he would feel humiliated to understand that he was incapable of acting of his own free will and that, despite this, he was subject to a Law; but in the conditions in which your existence develops, who could guide your thoughts towards the good? Only the divine light of consciousness that inspires man to fulfill the Law, light that dwells in the spirit and through it manifests itself to matter.
5. Why did the spirit not follow the dictates of conscience from the beginning? Because he had not evolved enough to understand and fulfill the commands that inspired him and at the same time, know how to master the impulses of the flesh. Free will and the influence of matter are the tests to which your spirit is subject.
6. If humanity from the beginning had listened to the dictation of its conscience as Abel did, do you think it would have been necessary for your Father to have to materialize from time to time to explain the Law and teach you the path of the evolution of the spirit?

Love one another!

Verily I say unto you, no. If you had been submissive and obedient to my Law, all my revelations and teachings would have come to you through your consciousness; but when I saw this humanity captive of the passions that the world offered it, deaf to my voice and blind to look at the spiritual light that illuminated its path, I had to materialize my Law in the First Time, carving it into the stone and manifesting myself in their bodily senses, to overcome their materialism.

7. Again humanity turned away from my commands and I had to reach out to men to teach them. It was not enough that I had given you my Law in that material form, nor did it contain everything that the Father had to tell you; and so, I sent you Jesus through whom you would listen to the Word of God. He spoke to your heart; that Master knew the paths that lead to the innermost depths of the human being and with his words, with his works and his sacrifice on the cross, he touched the sleeping fibers, awakened your lethargic feelings, knowing that without this preparation, the time would not come when man would listen in his own spirit to the voice of his Lord, whom you now have among you as it was announced to you.

8. It is your God who speaks to you, my voice is the Law; today you listen to it again without it being necessary to carve it in stone, or having to send you my Incarnate Word among you. It is my divine voice that reaches your spirit and reveals to it the beginning of an era in which man will be justified, reconciled to his Creator and purified as it is written.

9. Do not misunderstand my words, saying that the Law of the First Time was the Law of the flesh and that of the Second, spoke only to your heart; because I have touched in each time the most sensitive and developed part of your being, to manifest myself there and make me feel; my Law has always spoken to your spirit, because it is he who leads to matter in human life.

10. When some of my disciples in the Second Time saw the transfiguration of their Master on Mount Tabor, contemplating that Moses appeared at their right hand and Elijah at his left, their spirits fell to the ground in awe of the incomparable greatness of what their eyes were contemplating. I then warned them to keep this secret to make it known when their time came, because it was necessary that I should leave this world first, so that when these teachings were made known to you, you would understand that they spoke to you announcing the future.

11. Ah, if the humanity of this time understood the meaning of that transfiguration and understood that the testimony of my disciples was for the men of this time, how great would be their advancement! The chisel that carved my commandments into the stone on

Love one another!

Mount Sinai, is the same one that now comes to write divine thoughts in your heart; the blood of your Savior that was the lesson that spoke to you of love, of resurrection, of eternal life and of supreme bliss, is the same one that I pour now into the essence of this word; and the prophecy and the power with which Elijah amazed men are the same that you have had present in the manifestations that I am granting you at this time.

12. The struggle of my disciples of this Age, to get my Law established on Earth, will be greater than ever; and in order for spirituality to reign in the world, from which all justice, all love and reason come, the peoples and nations of the world will first have to drink a very bitter cup.

13. It will be then that the golden calf will be destroyed forever, useless sacrifices will be abolished, when spiritual goods will no longer be the object of profit, which you will not exchange for earthly goods. It will be until man has reached the full evolution of his spirit and knows how to respect in himself the precious gifts with which his Father has graced him from the beginning of his formation.

14. To help you to encourage that degree of spirituality, that is why now I come to give you the sap of my word, the fruit of good taste. I am the loving Father who comes to give you bread and shelter for your body and for the spirit the light that guides you, so that from it you may give your brothers and sisters. My healing balm is also with you; some will receive it fully and in others, their pains will be alleviated. Some will wash away their own sins, but others will help their fellow men with their examples to purify them.

15. Do you want my strength? Fulfill my commands, love my Law because you are responsible for humanity. You are the doctrinaires and the way that Elijah has come to prepare is presented to you. Walk with a slow step, with a meek step.

16. You are the children of the light; do not let temptation make you fall into its nets.

17. Imitate the apostles of the Second Time who spoke of the Father to the multitudes and they recognized their God and Lord in the works of his messengers. This is how I want to contemplate you, it is time for you to give yourselves fully to preaching my truth.

18. Turn away from the superfluous works of men and rule the earth. Do not let her rule over you. So, after this struggle, I will see you full of joy and peace.

19. Fight and work, Israel, analyze and understand that with these teachings I am giving you the white garments, so that you may go through the ways of the world fulfilling your mission.

Love one another!

20. Great is the day that I have appointed to the spirit for its preparation, restitution and fulfillment. When you reach to communicate spiritually with me, you will feel strong for the struggle and you will learn to make your way on the path overcoming the obstacles that present themselves to you.

21. Do you want to be part of my apostolate? Do you want to be counted among my disciples? Persevere then in your study, make your preparation increase, so that you may soon take my word to your brothers.

22. The spirit of men has evolved, that is why his science has progressed; I have allowed him to know and discover what he did not know yesterday, but he should not devote himself only to material work, I have granted him the light so that he can work his peace and happiness in the spiritual life that awaits him.

23. In the midst of this world formed by various creatures, man is the favorite being, to whom I have given a part of my spirit and the right to communicate with me, to take me in his being, so that feeling so intimately linked to him, the trust and faith of my Divinity is born in his spirit.

24. The purpose of the creation of this world is man, for his pleasure I have put the other beings and elements, so that he can use them for his conservation and recreation, but if he had loved and recognized me from the earliest times, from his spiritual childhood, today I would be part of a world of great spirits, where there would be no ignorance or differences, where you would all be equal in knowledge and in the elevation of your feelings; but how slowly man evolves! How many centuries have passed since he lives on Earth and he has not yet come to understand his spiritual mission and his true destiny! He has not been able to discover in himself his spirit that does not die because he has eternal life; he has not known how to live in harmony with him, nor has he recognized his rights, and he deprived of his freedom, has not developed his gifts and is stationed.

25. Today, faced with the events that man himself has provoked, faced with the war and the overflow of all the passions of materialism, he is confused because he does not know and cannot stop the evil and he wonders in amazement why this result; because man has deviated from the path of his spiritual evolution and plunges into his abyss, without there being human power that can contain that force.

26. This world, formed with so much love to be the temporary home of my children, has become a valley of anxiety, anguish and death; only the practice of love and virtue will be able to save it; that is why I am gathering all the scattered tribes of Israel to prepare their spirit and send it to fight, until the salvation and spirituality of the human lineage is achieved.

27. Everyone who has come to Me and has heard my word belongs to that very ancient and numerous people, and since I make these lessons known to you, you will understand that your gifts have remained latent and that at this time is when they resurface full of the strength that love gives you. Your destiny has been indicated since the beginning of time, so that you are the ones who watch over humanity and communicate the messages that I have been making known to you from time to time.

28. The time will come when all of humanity will be composed of my disciples, when you will understand me and analyze my word easily; the proud will descend from their pedestal to be with me and the wise will recognize me as their Teacher.

29. I want to contemplate you all on the path of spirituality, acquiring strength and mettle in trials so that as you climb, I reveal to you the wealth of wisdom contained in the book that I have come to show you.

30. If you are going to become a teacher, you must prepare yourself. Erase from yourselves every trace of idolatry and teach a spiritual, respectful and sincere worship, based solely on love.

31. My word, even if your memory was not faithful to you, is in your conscience, from where it will never be erased. Your spirit will speak and will be a source of wisdom that, when overflowing, will bring light among your brothers, on your path of evolution.

32. Rejoice in my presence that I also enjoy giving you my teaching. Study in the book and know the explanation of everything that you have not understood. Perceive the essence of the lesson that I have come to reveal to you. If you prepare yourselves, you will be the light in the darkness that surrounds humanity today.

33. You always have me waiting for your spiritual communion. Everyone who purifies himself and rises to Me will feel that he has betrothed himself to me and I will guide his steps along the best path.

34. Many wonder why I have returned to earth, if I had already taught you with my word in the Second Time; but you had forgotten my Law and I found you shipwrecked in a sea of ignorance. I have fought to lead you to the path of peace and truth, I offer you a staff to support you because you are tired of wandering without a guide and that is why I have come to help you.

35. I am gathering my new apostles, who will not be twelve but one hundred and forty-four thousand, and each of them will have to manifest my Doctrine; they will all speak and be like heralds who give the good news that the Master has returned to men as the Holy Spirit.

Love one another!

36. Since 1866 I have been searching among humanity for new disciples and preparing them to carry out my commands with submission and to be precursors of new apostles who are to come to Me.

37. The day will come when humanity will have news of the people of God and they will look for you to ask for light and others to combat with their concepts your knowledge. I do not want you, feeling poor and humble, to be surprised by those who speak with flowery language and who present theories that will only reveal confusion or little light. You who know the truth of this word, because you know that it is my revelation as the Holy Spirit, do not let yourselves be confused.

38. Nor do I want you to hide out of fear, but to confront those who ask for your help; for everyone you will have words of love that awaken and move them and that make them feel my presence. So you will be recognized.

39. Elijah is close to you, fulfilling the great mission that I have entrusted to him, which is to inspire regeneration in you, so that you may rise up in search of peace, amendment and spiritual perfection.

40. You will soon rest from your work, this great Work is being carried out with the help of many spirits, to each of whom I have pointed out a certain mission.

41. You who follow me are my army and I am your Father who has been determined to give salvation to his children, I am going before you to guide you, do you want to follow me? Your heart tells me yes and I receive your longing. See that I do not demand more than you can fight with your gifts if you know how to use them and if you really love me.

42. The spiritual law is before the human law, therefore, you must give me your tribute before the world. Look at Nature with its fields and mountains, its seas, jungles and deserts, all of it is paying at all times its offering to the Creator who has given it life and sustains it. They all show their tribute to Me by testifying about Me. Why don't you offer me a worthy service? Why do you ask for my presence, and then doubt Me?

43. Prepare yourselves to analyze your spiritual nature and understand my word. Penetrate into my teaching, search, I allow you, interrogate me, but come to Me; give yourselves to Me with that confidence that you have when you are children and follow your parents everywhere, so love and trust in your Heavenly Father.

44. I do not want you to shed tears, nor to make me suffer. You have wept a lot and traveled through the desert. Do not pass on to your children the seed of suffering that you have borne. Let those beings come to contemplate a life of righteousness, of work and of fulfillment of my law, so that they may see peace and well-being flourish.

Love one another!

45. Why are you surprised, people, at the wonder that I have come to show you at this time, communicating to you through the understanding of man? I have done great works in times past, and you believed them.

46. I know that the cause of your strangeness is due to your distance from spiritual teachings, because for a long time you have believed only in what you look at, in what you touch and in what you prove through your science.

47. In the First Era, when Israel read the scriptures, meditated on the Law and prayed in anticipation of the promised Messiah, her life was full of signs and spiritual manifestations, her heart was sensitive to the messages that the Lord sent her and she believed in all this because she had faith.

48. But do not think that all the children of that people knew how to receive the divine messages, no; the greedy rich felt nothing, did not see, did not hear, as well as the priests, who, having the book of prophecies open before their eyes, also did not perceive the spiritual life on men, because blinded and arrogant in the place they occupied, they could not hear the calls of the Lord who was already approaching.

49. Who, then, were those who in Judea at night prayed, kept watch and received in their hearts the light that ignites hope? Who were those who had prophetic dreams and knew how to sense with their hearts and gave the scriptures the spiritual interpretation? They were the humble, the poor, the slaves, the sick, the hungry for light, the thirsty for justice, those in need of love.

50. It was the townspeople, the simple-hearted men and women, who for centuries had waited for their Savior.

51. The night Jesus was born into this life, it was the hearts of the poor shepherds of Bethlehem that trembled before the spiritual emissary of the Lord, who let them know that their long-awaited Savior had already arrived.

52. In this solemn hour the rich, the lords and the powerful slept.

53. Also at this time, while my Ray descended to men to give them for the first time my message, the great, the lords, the rich, the wise and the theologians, were sleeping soundly.

54. How few expected me and how few believed in my presence!

55. But those who came to Me were men and women of simple hearts, of humble understanding, whom unbelievers mock because they believe in supernatural manifestations and speak of strange teachings.

Love one another!

56. Do not misjudge those whose lack of preparation makes them fall into error, since at least they retain the intuition of the spiritual, which is the proof of a hidden longing to communicate with their Father, to approach the world of light, to receive from Him a word of love.

57. These poor people who have not been dazzled by the false brightness of the world, are those who have intuition, those who sense, those who dream, those who bear witness to the spiritual and I have sought them to open before their eyes the book of wisdom, thus fulfilling their yearnings for knowledge and truth.

58. I have made them feel my presence and also the proximity of the spiritual world as a reward for their hope and their faith.

59. I have also spoken to you of your gifts, of your mission, of the value of my Doctrine, so that you may remove from your hearts everything that does not belong to this Work, and so that your testimony may reach the hearts of your brothers clean and full of light.

60. Arise, O Israel, and climb the spiritual mountain, for I am now your Cyrene. At this time you will all help me with the cross that I carry on my back for the love of humanity.

MY PEACE BE WITH YOU!

Love one another!

Teaching 16

1. Peace of mind and heart, be in all who love me. On this day of grace you come to receive the inspiration of the Master which is captured by the brain of these creatures prepared and destined by Me, so that they transmit to humanity my Divine Message.
2. Receive on this day my spiritual caress, O multitudes; I welcome you and fill you with grace.
3. Hear, disciples: Realize that an atom of my presence is manifesting itself among you. A vibration of divine power is teaching you. An effluvium of his universal essence is illuminating you. There has never been a time when the manifestation of God has not been. In all times, in all ages there was, is and will be that divine vibration. In the course of time, the Father has not stopped giving you the charity of his love, because in his Spirit, as in creation, everything vibrates, everything is activity and life. And the events of this world are an echo and reflection of the spiritual life.
4. In the course of the centuries God has not abandoned humanity, because one and the other are inseparable. Today the Father's will has been to communicate spiritually with man in the way that you are contemplating and hearing, because the time has come when you must prepare to receive me from spirit to Spirit.
5. However, you do not yet have spiritual sensitivity and that is why you do not clearly perceive divine inspiration.
6. Before the Father manifested himself in Jesus to humanity, he sent his revelations to you, using material forms and events. By the name of Christ you knew the one who manifested the love of God among men, but when He came to earth, He had already manifested himself as a Father, therefore you should not say that Christ was born into the world, who was born was Jesus, the body where Christ was housed.
7. Meditate and you will conclude by understanding me, accepting that before Jesus, he was already Christ, because Christ is the love of God.
8. If so, you would not be confused, stop diving into the murky waters of ancient and erroneous interpretations that you carry by tradition. You are covered with veils of ignorance that I come to tear with the light of my word, so that wisdom may penetrate into you.
9. Do not forget, therefore, that Christ is the love of God, that is why when He manifested Himself through Jesus, you were troubled and confused; and even looking at his wonders you did not believe him, because his power is infinite for your limited reason to understand. That is why some deny me, others are confused and others still study and analyze me according to their way of thinking and understanding. Few, very few are those who can understand Christ at all, I tell you this because I find little love in hearts, since you do not love each other or among brothers.

10. Love your neighbor as your own child and then it will be when you begin to understand Jesus, you will love him, you will feel him and you will have to reflect Christ in your works. However, your spirit knows me something more, that is why some of you are looking for the Messiah, others are looking for Almighty God, so that He may give you a ray of light and hope that may come to calm your sorrows and encourage you in the longing to get closer and closer to Him. It is that your spirit, through consciousness, has the memory of its Creator, of Christ who has never ceased to seek you and to love you, O humanity, because I tell you again that the spiritual manifestation has not ceased to exist, nor will it ever cease to be.

11. The enlightened ones of the past times have always seen flashes of light, they have always heard my word. The prophets, the inspired, the forerunners, the founders of doctrines of high spirituality, have testified that they heard voices that seemed to come from the clouds, from the mountains, from the wind or from some place they could not specify; that they heard the voice of God as if it came from tongues of fire and in mysterious echoes. Many heard, saw and felt through their senses, others through their spiritual attributes, the same happens at this time.

12. Verily I tell you, Those who received my messages with their bodily senses interpreted the divine inspiration spiritually, and they did so according to their material and spiritual preparation, according to the time in which they were in the world, just as it happens now in the human instruments that you call spokespersons or faculties. But I must tell you, that both in the past and in the present times, they have mixed their own ideas or those that predominated around them to the purity of divine revelations, and knowingly or unknowingly, they have altered the purity and unlimited essence of truth, which is, verily I tell you, love in its highest manifestations.

13. The spiritual vibrations and inspirations were in them and both the first and the last have given and will bear witness to that inspiration, which came to their spirit almost always without knowing how, in the same way that it happens to many today and as it will happen tomorrow to others more.

14. The words, the interpretations and the way of acting are due to the people and the times in which they live, but above all there is the supreme truth.

Love one another!

15. You, for lack of spiritual preparation, need divine inspiration to materialize and awaken you from your lethargy. The advanced spirits have not needed this form of manifestation.

16. Everything spiritual in the Universe is a source of light, visible or invisible to you; and that light is strength, it is power, it is inspiration. From ideas, words and deeds, light also flows, according to the purity and elevation that they have. The higher the idea or work is, the more delicate and subtle its vibration and the inspiration it gives off, although it is also more difficult for slaves of materialism to perceive it; however, the effect that high thoughts and works exert spiritually is great.

17. Materiality is contrary to spirituality, but understand that I mean the materiality that induces you to errors, vices, degeneration, low passions.

18. Although the majority of humanity will question the truth of my communication with man, truly I tell you once again that this manifestation is continuous in incarnated and disembodied spirits, from the first instant of their formation.

19. If you, making use of your ingenuity and your science, which is one of so many spiritual attributes that you have, have managed to transmit your messages bridging distances. How could you think that God could not transmit a message to man through a human, sensitive and intelligent device?

20. Because that is what the human body is: An apparatus, endowed with such perfection that man will not be able to give to his most complicated and great scientific works. Look closely at my word, I speak to you of the matter of man, not of his spirit, because the spirit, although he will not be able to reach the power of his Father, he will be able to do greater works than his limited human body can produce.

21. If your limited intelligence has managed to attain knowledge and has created inventions that, according to you, are wonderful, what will you not be able to achieve with your spirit and of what works will your Lord not be able?

22. He has a poor idea of his God, who thinks him smaller than human beings.

23. Why is it strange to you that God sends you his light, which is wisdom and that it is vibrating over all of you and has created a form of communication with His children? Why do you imagine that something is impossible for your God, if you yourself say that He knows everything and that he can do everything? Are you going to demand that every time I want to speak to you I send Jesus to be nailed to a tree?

Love one another!

24. Verily I say to you, even you yourselves do not realize how you want me to make myself feel in you.

25. To please you, I tell you, if you do not want me to use sinful materials to give you my love, show me a righteous one, a clean one, present me one who knows how to love among you and I assure you that I will use him. Understand that I use sinners to attract sinners, because I do not come to save the righteous, they are already in the kingdom of light.

26. It is true that you are sinners, but God does not despise or forget anyone, despite the fact that you believe otherwise. Why have you become so blind, that you want to judge everything for an instant of your material life? It is you who despise yourselves and forget yourselves, that is why you feel weak and fatigued.

27. Do you think that I forget my beloved creatures, even if they are disobedient, if they always need me and call me?

28. You sin a lot and commit crimes and have forgotten me a lot, but infinitely greater than all the faults of your existence is the love of the Heavenly Father for all His children.

29. But I must continue to tell you about my manifestation, so that you may get rid of all your doubts. Many of you accept what my enlightened ones have told you, namely: That God spoke to them through the clouds, fire, water, wind and I ask you: What seems fairer to you to speak to man through these elements or through himself?

30. Where is your analysis that does not help you to understand the simplest lessons?

31. O men and women of the world who have forgotten in your sciences the only thing that can make you wise and happy; you have forgotten the love that inspires everything, the love that can and transforms everything! You live in pain and darkness, because by not practicing the love I teach you, you cause your material or spiritual suffering.

32. To discover and understand my messages, you first need to be kind and meek in heart, virtues that exist in every spirit from the moment of its formation, but to get to feel the true elevated feeling of love, you need to spiritualize yourself, cultivating your good feelings; but you have wanted to have everything in life, except spiritual love.

33. At all times you vibrate mentally and spiritually, but more often than not you inspire selfishness, hatred, violence, vanity, low passions, you hurt and feel when you are hurt, but you do not love and therefore you do not feel when they love you, and with your insane thoughts you saturate the environment in which you live with pain, filling your existence with discomfort. And I tell you: Saturate everything with peace, harmony, love and then you will be happy.

34. Love has always existed in the Spirit of the Creator, therefore you must understand that all spirits have also been endowed with it.

35. Now, despite the advancement of your civilization, you have moved further and further away from material Nature, as well as from the spiritual, from the pure, from what is of God, therefore at each stage of your life you are falling into greater weakness, into greater bitterness despite your desires to become stronger and happier every day you spend on Earth; but you will take a step in the fulfillment of my Law, O inhabitants of the world!

36. The Master who has spoken to you in all times, now comes to explain his teaching to you through these lessons, manifesting himself in word, in intuition and inspiration; thus awakening your spirit to the light of the times to come. By then you will have divine inspiration in various ways that are more and more surprising, more elevated and perfect for you.

37. Today I have come to remind you that you must love each other as Jesus taught you. I remind you of Jesus because in Him was the incarnation of Universal Love.

38. In the days of Moses, the law of righteousness was given to the people, which said, "An eye for an eye and a tooth for a tooth." This law, which would seem monstrous and vindictive to you today, was nevertheless just for the men of those times.

39. Some time later, when I became human in Jesus, you heard me say and it was written, "With the rod that you measured, you would be measured." Faced with that word, some have asked if there is the love, charity and forgiveness that Jesus preached in that phrase.

40. It is time that I myself explain to you the why of the law of the First Time and the why of that phrase of Jesus, because many of my lessons I have had to give them in parts through the ages.

41. In the beginning, when the fibers of man's heart were insensitive to the feeling of forgiveness, and that of charity and tolerance still slept in his spirit, it was necessary for man to protect himself as well as his possessions, protected by a law that gave him the right to use his strength in self-defense. As you can see, they were primitive precepts and customs in a people destined, like all peoples, to evolve.

42. The Law emanating from the word of Jesus, later came to illuminate the lives of men and told you: "Love one another", he also revealed to you that, "with the rod that you measure you would be measured in your turn", with which the Master gave you to understand that that justice that man had made himself by his own hand, became the exclusive right of Divine Justice. Then man knew that as he judged, so he would be judged by God, and that as he sowed on earth, so would be the harvest he gathered in the hereafter.

43. The man then stopped his murderous hand, the evil one many times desisted from his perverse intentions and the one who tried to steal, knew and felt that a look from the infinite contemplated him and a judgment from that moment awaited him.

44. The centuries have passed and men, knowing something more about divine justice, have not yet come to understand the truth and have often been confused, coming to believe that if they have sinned seriously on earth, they will inexorably have to appear before the tribunal of God, to receive eternal punishment; to which I ask you: What purpose of repentance and fulfillment of my Law can arise in one who considers himself lost beforehand? What hope can he have who departs from this world, knowing that the faults of his spirit will be eternal?

45. It was necessary that I myself should come to remove the darkness of your erroneous interpretations from you, and here I am.

46. In Jehovah you believed you saw a cruel, terrible and vengeful God, so the Lord to get you out of your error sent you Christ, his Divine Love, so that "knowing the Son, you would know the Father" and yet, ignorant humanity and wrapped up again in their sin, believes they see an angry and offended Jesus who only awaits the arrival in spirit of those who have wronged him to tell him: "Depart from Me who do not know you", and then send them to suffer the bloodiest sufferings in eternity.

47. It is time for you to understand the meaning of my teachings so that you do not get confused: Divine Love will not prevent you from reaching Me if you do not restore your faults, it will be the inexorable judge of your conscience who will tell you that you are not worthy to penetrate the kingdom of light.

48. But here I am again, humanity, in Spirit, as I promised you.

49. Behold the light of the Spirit of Truth how it enlightens and awakens those who dwell in darkness.

50. But to those who witness this manifestation I say: Listen carefully to my word because it comes to open paths of light for you and to clarify for you the truth that you should know.

Love one another!

51. It is true that in life it is necessary to settle every debt before God, but the payment, the tribute or the offering that you give to Him, in reality is not for Him, but for whoever offers it to Him.

52. If you offer him purity, it will be for your benefit, if you present meritorious works to him, they will be the finery that will exalt your spirit in the presence of God. If you sin and then repent and repair your faults, the peace of the spirit and the happiness that exists in the one who practices good, will be your reward.

53. If I often allow you to rush the same chalice that you gave to your brothers, it is because there are those who only understand the evil that they caused and going through the same test that they put others through, they will know the pain they made them feel, it will make light in their spirit and will make understanding, repentance and therefore compliance with my Law spring up.

54. But if you want to avoid going through pain or to hurry the cup of bitterness, you can achieve it by paying off your debt with repentance, with good deeds, with everything that your conscience tells you that you should do. In this way you will pay off some debt of love, you will return an honor, a life or peace, health, joy or bread, that you had once stolen from your brothers.

55. See how different the reality of my righteousness is from the idea that you had formed of your Father.

56. Do not forget that if I have come to tell you that none of you will be lost, it is also true that I have told you that every debt must be paid off, and every fault erased from the Book of Life. It is up to you to choose the path to reach Me.

57. Free will is still yours.

58. If you prefer the Talion law of old, as men are still practicing it from their proud nations, see its results.

59. If you want the rod with which you measure your brothers to measure you too, do not even wait for your entry into the afterlife to receive my justice, because here when you least expect it, you will find yourself in the same trance in which you put your brothers; but if you want a higher law to come to your aid, not only to free you from pain, which is what you fear the most, but also to inspire you with noble thoughts and good feelings, pray, call me, and then go on your way to fight to be better and better, to be strong in trials, in a word, to come to pay with love the debt you have to your Father and to your fellow men.

Love one another!

60. The call of love that you are now hearing from the lips of the spokespersons is a precursor of great events for humanity. These messages are glimpses of the wisdom that will be manifested to men in the future. It is the beginning of the awakening of all spirits. It is the preparation for the Age of Spirituality, the time when you will redeem yourselves in the love of your Heavenly Father.

MY PEACE BE WITH YOU!

Love one another!

Teaching 17

1. Beloved people: Here is one more message from the Divine Master, which will make you take a step forward in understanding my teachings; because you should not stop on the path of spiritual progress.
2. I do not come to form habits of parking or backing out in you. I always lead you to the path of evolution.
3. My word brings you varied messages, all of exquisite spiritual flavor.
4. You have uttered with your lips, "Glory to God in the highest," but when have you glorified Him with your deeds? You have worshiped yourselves and glorified your idols, but God, your Creator, when? It was Jesus who with his life glorified his Father and it is He whom you should imitate.
5. You have also said, "Peace on earth to men of good will," and verily I say to you, even to those of ill will I have given peace; but you, tell me, When have you given peace? For many centuries you have to repeat the words of that psalm, with which the people received their Lord in Jerusalem, and it is the only thing that humanity has done since then: to repeat those words, because with his works he does the opposite.
6. Say those phrases if you want, but understand that neither those nor other words have any virtue until you feel them in your heart; when you feel them, manifest them in good works to your brothers, with gentleness and humility, and then I will answer you with my infinite love, making your spirit vibrate with the immaculate grace of my peace.
7. So I come to speak to you now as the Holy Spirit. The times are different and therefore, the preparation of men must be another.
8. Leave verbal prayers and superstitions and give yourselves to Me, to the Master, to the Father, who will always receive you and understand you.
9. Pray, yes, but with a prepared heart, speak to me with the spirit, as you feel it at this moment; come to Me with a thought full of love, but come closer, speak to me as disciples or as infants and I will make you feel my wisdom and my love.
10. Ask Me with humility, but never ask for miracles or expect to receive them.
11. The miracle, as you understand it, does not exist; there is nothing contradictory between the divine and the material.

Love one another!

12. You attribute many miracles to Jesus and I tell you the truth, that his works were the natural effect of love, of that divine force that, being latent in every spirit, you still do not know how to use, because you have not wanted to know the virtue of love.

13. What existed in all the wonders that Jesus performed, but love?

14. Listen disciples: For the love of God to be manifested to humanity, the humility of the instrument was necessary, and Jesus was always humble, and as he came to set an example to men, he told you on one occasion that without the will of his Heavenly Father, he could do nothing. Whoever does not penetrate into the humility of those words, will think that Jesus was a man like anyone, but the truth is that He wanted to give you a lesson in humility.

15. He knew that this humility, this unity with the Father, made him all-powerful before humanity.

16. O immense and beautiful transfiguration that gives love, humility and wisdom!

17. Now you know why Jesus, even saying that he could do nothing if it were not for the will of his Father, in reality he could do everything, because he was obedient, because he was humble, because he became a servant of the Law and of men, and because he knew how to love.

18. Recognize then that, knowing yourself some of the virtues of spiritual love, you do not feel it and therefore you cannot understand the reason for everything that you call a miracle, or mystery, and that are the works that divine love does.

19. What teachings did Jesus give you that were not about love? What mysterious science, practices or knowledge did he use to leave you his examples of power and wisdom? Only the sweetness of love with which everything can be done.

20. There is nothing contradictory in the laws of the Father, simple because they are wise and wise because they are saturated with love.

21. Understand the Master, He is your Book.

22. Jesus the child amazed the so-called doctors of the Law; Jesus the preacher, he made great revelations to you for all time. Jesus the Redeemer sealed his words with his life, with his supreme sacrifice on the cross.

23. Now, beloved disciples, if you really want to be great and strong in spirit, why don't you imitate me in the works that I did through Jesus? He said to you, "I am the Way, the Truth and the Life," showing you with meekness and humility obedience to the divine. What will the humility that you must show me have to be like?

Love one another!

24. Listen: God, the Supreme Being, created you "in His image and likeness," not because of the material form you have, but because of the virtues with which your spirit is endowed, similar to those of the Father.

25. How pleasing to your vanity it has been to believe in the image of the Creator. You think you are the most evolved creatures made by God and you are seriously mistaken in assuming that the Universe was made just for you. How ignorantly do you call yourselves the kings of creation!

26. Understand that even the earth is not made just for men. In the endless scale of the divine creation, there is an infinite number of spirits that evolve in compliance with the Law of God.

27. The ends that all this contains and that as men, even if you wanted to, you could not understand, are great and perfect like all the purposes of your Father, but truly I tell you, you are neither the greatest nor the smallest creatures of the Lord.

28. You were created, and at that moment your spirit took on life from the Almighty, carrying in itself as many attributes as were necessary for you to fulfill a delicate mission within Eternity.

29. Even now you do not know all the faculties that the Father gave you, but do not be afraid because you will know them later.

30. Do you know of the existence of the great spirits, who have been destined to watch over the harmony of all creation, always busy in sublime missions ignored by you? No, that is why I tell you again that your spirits are not the most evolved, they have only developed in a limited way the attributes that God has granted you.

31. However, these attributes will be enough to take you happily to the summit that corresponds to you if you guide your steps along the straight and luminous path that my Law points out to you.

32. I've come to help you. The time is now for restitution, wake up, get up.

33. You have sinned, committed adultery, committed a crime, and now that you are facing the truth of my word, which points out to you your mistakes, you forget your faults and believe that your lord is unjust when he speaks to you about trials and restitution.

34. You have shrouded yourselves in darkness of evil and ignorance, preventing your spirit from contemplating the dawn of the Third Time and when I come to raise you up with the light of my word, so that you may contemplate the splendors of the new dawn, you do not want to wake up from your lethargy and sometimes you get up in disgust.

Love one another!

Many are those who prefer to sleep in their ignorance without wanting to wake up to the supreme truth. They prefer the valley of tears, the plague, hunger; they want the long period of centuries to be prolonged in which vice and bitterness have been their only breath, they prefer all this to the sweet call that my love makes to them through their conscience.

35. You listen to Me as if I were very far away from you, you open your eyes lazily; but not being able to understand the meaning of the divine message, because your mind is saturated with materialism, you prefer to live in evil. At that moment you forget me, you turn your back on me, you just want to continue in lethargy suffering. But I tell you that if you want to dwell in that abyss of materiality and ignorance, if you only want to get the taste of frivolous pleasures and low passions, at least do not blame God for your pains.

36. If you do not have the greatness of knowing how to love your fellow man as your Father loves you, even have the courage and resignation to bear the consequences of your faults. If you prefer your false peace as well as your fratricidal wars, do not say that God wants it this way, nor cry out to the Father asking for his charity when you feel dominated by your enemies so that He will come to give you the triumph, with which I would only flatter your vanity and encourage your perversity, which it is not in my Law to grant you.

37. If, amid laughter, pleasures and vanities, men forget about Me and even deny Me, why do they cower and tremble when they are reaping the harvest of tears that torments their spirit and their body? Then they blaspheme by saying that God does not exist.

38. A man is courageous to sin, determined to go out of the way of my Law; but I assure you that he is too cowardly when it comes to making restitution and settling his debts. However, I strengthen you in your cowardice, I protect you in your weaknesses, I awaken you from your lethargy, I rinse your tears and I give you new opportunities for you to recover the lost light and find again the forgotten path of my Law.

39. I come to bring you, as in the Second Time, the bread and wine of life, both for the spirit and for the body, so that you may live in harmony with everything created by your Father.

40. Virtues flourish in my ways, but yours are covered with thorns, abysses and bitterness.

41. Whoever says that the ways of the Lord are full of thorns, does not know what he is saying, because I have not created pain for any of my children; but those who have strayed from the path of light and peace, when returning to it, will have to suffer the consequences of their lack.

Love one another!

42. Why did you drink the cup of bitterness? Why did you forget the Lord's command, as well as the mission I entrusted to you? Because you replaced my Law with yours and there you have the results of your vain wisdom: Bitterness, war, fanaticism, disappointments and lies that suffocate you and fill you with despair. And the most painful thing for the materialized man, for the one who subjects everything to his calculations and subjects him to the material laws of this world, is that after this life he will find himself still carrying the burden of his errors and his tendencies. Then the suffering of your spirit will be very great.

43. Shake off your burden of sins here, fulfill my Law and come quickly. Ask forgiveness of all those you have offended and leave the rest to Me, because your time to love will be short if you really decide to do so.

44. I tell you again that I have not left you any stubble or pain on the way. Through Jesus I taught you to put away from you all the weaknesses to show you my love and the power that he has, to teach you the true joy that is found in the spirit with true humility. And with my farewell and my promise for these times, I left you peace, the light of hope and the longing for my return. But you did not want to understand it that way and you continued to crucify me so that I would continue to forgive you indefinitely. But you must understand that my forgiveness does not spare you the consequences of your faults, because the mistakes are yours, not mine. My forgiveness stimulates you, comforts you because at last you will come to Me and I will receive you with the love of always; but as long as you do not seek me in the ways of good, love and peace, you already know it and you should not forget it; the evil that you do or that you think of doing, you will receive it returned in spades.

45. You are reaping the seed of your materialism and although you would like Me to approve your works, you are mistaken, because I am immutable in my Law, I do not proceed as you would like because I would cease to be "the Way, the Truth and the Life".

46. I come to nullify your erroneous laws so that only those that are formed by my precepts and are in accordance with my wisdom will govern you. My laws are of love, and proceeding from my Divinity, they are unalterable and eternal, while yours are fleeting and sometimes cruel and selfish.

47. The Father's Law is of love, of goodness, it is like a balm that gives comfort and strength to the sinner, so that he can bear the restitution of his faults. The Father's Law of love always offers a generous opportunity for those who commit crimes to regenerate, while your laws, on the contrary, humiliate and punish those who have made mistakes and often the innocent, the weak. In your justice there is hardness, revenge and lack of mercy. The Law of Christ is of sweet persuasion, of infinite justice, and of supreme, righteousness. You yourselves are your judges, but I am your tireless defender; but it is necessary that you know that there are two ways to pay your grievances: one with love and the other with pain.

48. Choose you, you still enjoy the gift of free will.

49. Do you want to stop suffering, humanity? Love, do good in your path, rebuild your life. Do you want to be great, to be happy? Love very much, love always. Do you want to cry, do you want bitterness to invade you, do you want wars and desolation? Continue as you are living, let selfishness, hypocrisy, vanity, idolatry, materialism continue to dominate your life.

50. Very clearly you contemplate chaos among men, so that you do not continue to do the Law to your liking.

51. I want disciples and children of my Doctrine to carry nobility in their hearts and purity in their understanding, because only in this way will they be able to learn from Me and then teach humanity.

52. Now I do not come to raise the dead as for the body, as I did with Lazarus in the Second Time, today my light comes raising the spirits that are those that belong to me. And these will rise up with the truth of my word to eternal life, because your spirit is the Lazarus that you now carry in your being and whom I will raise up and heal.

53. You see that divine justice is of love, it is not of punishment like yours. What would become of you if I used your very laws to judge you, before me for whom appearances and false arguments are worthless? If I judged you according to your wickedness, and used your laws of terrible harshness, what would become of you? Then you would ask me with justice to have mercy. But you should not be afraid because my love never withers, nor changes, nor passes; on the other hand, you do pass, you die and you are reborn, you leave and then you return and so you go on pilgrimage, until the day comes when you recognize your Father and submit to his divine Law.

54. You are passengers here, but I am eternal, you pass by groaning because you are moving away from the path that my Law points out to you, while I am immutable.

55. Dry your tears, hasten your awakening and get up. Feel my presence in you, it is necessary that you come to Me, because you have not yet known Me, O people.

Love one another!

56. You ignore the reward that corresponds to the one who truly repents and returns to Me, and you ignore that it is not necessary to wait for your entrance into the spiritual abode to arrive, so that you receive the reward that the love of God gives you.

57. It was necessary that I came to speak to you like this, because men have been confused with the knowledge acquired in the books they have studied; instead, they have not wanted to hear the voice of their conscience, the voice of their spiritual knowledge that invites them to follow towards the divine light from which all wisdoms arise.

58. I tell you, Useful study is well and science is well; but above all this is love. Love will give you the inspiration to dignify and increase your science, because you must understand that all your knowledge is just a message that my love gives you.

59. Ask your wise men and if they are sincere they will tell you that they have asked God for inspiration. And I would give them more inspiration, if they would ask me with more love for their brothers and with less vanity for themselves.

60. Verily I tell you that everything that you have accumulated of true knowledge, comes from Me, everything that is pure and high I am going to use it at this time for your benefit, because for that I have granted it to you. But you must be careful, O peoples of the Earth, because if you continue to make use of my divine lessons to provoke the elements, if you continue to apply the little knowledge you have to evil, you will receive when you least expect it, the painful and just response. You provoke the air, the fire, the earth, the water and all the forces and you already know what your harvest will be if you do not rectify your activities in time, in order to stop the elements unleashed by your folly. I warn you that you are reaching the limit that my justice allows your free will, you are provoking Nature too much. And since you are the little ones who feel great, this word comes to warn you of the danger you are in.

61. And the word says to you: My children, sweeten your hearts, loving your brothers, love all your brothers, love everything created. Seek reconciliation and peace among all. If you do not want to be exterminated by the cataclysms that you yourselves are fertilizing, rectify in time, O dearly beloved children, calm them with your love, convert them into peace. O humanity, if you would listen to me how many hardships you would have been spared and I would have already transformed your world without there being any need for you to suffer! I would give you the beginning of the reward in this life, I would give you peace and tranquility. Try it, my children, that is why I have sent my word to you at this time, to deliver you from the abyss.

Love one another!

62. I say to you who are listening to me that you keep in your spirit what corresponds to you, and that you teach the rest to your brothers. What is for one is for all, therefore not a single one of my sheep should lack spiritual sustenance.

63. I want you to be united, so that I may reward your harmony by pouring out in all my benefits and my grace. So far I have only seen that you unite for brief moments, while you try to raise your worship to my Divinity. Convince yourselves that united by love, you will be able to do wonderful works, but in truth I tell you that it is still time for you to work to rebuild what you have destroyed.

64. It is much that you have lacked and offended me, the more I love you, and greater than your faults is my love.

65. If you seek me as a Judge, my judgment is inexorable; if you seek me as a Teacher, my wisdom is infinite; if you call me as a Father, I am a loving sweetness; but truly I tell you, I am still much more than all that, because I have no beginning and no end.

MY PEACE BE WITH YOU!

Love one another!

Teaching 18

1. Just as my new manifestation was announced, today you have seen it realized: I have come in spirit and surrounded by angels or spirits of light.
2. Those who do not know those prophecies doubt my presence, but I also contemplate among those who have searched the scriptures, those who do not believe in my manifestation, because their interpretations are almost always erroneous.
3. To all who give prophecy a material meaning, what will happen to the Jewish people will have to happen, who hoped in the Messiah promised to a powerful king of the earth, and when he saw me humble and meek, he did not believe in Me despite the works I did in his eyes.
4. Those who felt me, loved me and followed me were the simple in heart, the meek in spirit, the pure in understanding, those who suffered hunger and thirst for love, justice and truth.
5. To those who study the scriptures of the past times, I say that only with spirituality in your life, you will be able to find the truth that exists in that language.
6. I will help those who analyze and teach the truth, but everyone from whose lips confusion sprouts, I will stop on his way until he corrects his mistakes.
7. On the contrary, to all those who with a clean heart sow my seed of light, explaining the divine word and clarifying the teaching that was hidden, I will send them to the regions and to the nations to propagate my Doctrine of love.
8. The true propagators will be healthy in heart, humble in spirit, and therefore, they will know how to receive my new message with joy and with faith.
9. Blessed are those who thus receive me into their hearts and believe in my word, because they will see me in the heavenly cloud surrounded by my spiritual hosts, and although I do not touch the dust of the Earth as in the Second Time, they will know how to feel my spiritual presence; then they will join this new message to which it was not complete because it was missing to add my revelations as the Holy Spirit.
10. Disciples: Spiritualize yourselves so that you may penetrate the true meaning of my word, so that when you meet your brothers who only know my revelations of the Second Time, you will coincide in your interpretations and the spiritual unification of humanity will begin.

Love one another!

11. Many times you teach erroneous concepts due to lack of study and penetration into the spiritual, that is why I charge you to dedicate yourselves to the meditation of my teaching, so that you no longer do works that, believing them good, before the Father are imperfect.
12. Recognize that those responsible for humanity to clearly understand the spiritual meaning of my present and past teachings are all of you who feel in the spirit the hunger to know, those who have penetrated the paths of study, meditation and analysis. Of those who only live by material rites, ceremonies and cults I cannot say the same, they are satisfied with the superficial, because they have not yet known the taste of the fruit.
13. When my disciples cross the paths of the world, the spiritual awakening of the religions and sects stationed long ago will begin.
14. I often repeat to you that you watch and pray, but I do not want you to become familiar with this sweet advice, but to study it and put it into practice.
15. I tell you to pray, because those who do not pray give themselves up to superfluous, material and sometimes insane thoughts, with which, without realizing it, they foment homicidal wars; on the other hand, when you pray, your thought, as if it were a sword of light, tears the veils of darkness and the bonds of temptation that are imprisoning many spirits, saturates the environment with spirituality and counteracts the forces of evil.
16. Do not faint before the struggle, nor despair if you still do not contemplate any result of your work. Recognize that your mission is to fight to the end; and only in this way will you fulfill with a minimum part in this work of regeneration and spirituality among your brothers.
17. Tomorrow you will leave your post and others will come to replace you, interpreting my Work better, and thus from generation to generation my Law will be fulfilled.
18. In the end, all branches will be united to the tree, all nations will be united into one people, and peace will reign on Earth.
19. Pray, O disciples, and perfect yourselves with your prayer so that your voice may not be heard only by Me, but may find an echo in the hearts of your brothers.
20. Truly I tell you, if this people, in addition to understanding their destiny, were fulfilling their mission, through their prayers they would achieve grace for all humanity. But you still lack charity, that you feel your fellow human beings as true brothers; you still need to truly forget the differences of races, languages, creeds and, moreover, erase from your heart every trace of rancor or resentment, with all those who have offended you.

21. When you succeed in raising your feelings above all human miseries, the most heartfelt and sincere request on behalf of your brothers will escape from your heart; and that vibration of love, those pure feelings, will be the most powerful swords that destroy in their struggle the darkness that wars and the passions of men have been forming.

22. Pain has prepared you, in trials you have achredolated and that is why you are appointed to be those who watch over all those who suffer some slavery or for those who go through life hurrying the cup of bitterness.

23. Watch, people, be like those birds that, announcing the new day, awaken those who are still asleep and are the first to receive the light. Blessed are you always as you seek in Me the promised Comforter.

24. In man there are two forces that are always in struggle: his human nature, which is temporary, and his spiritual nature, which is eternal; that eternal being knows very well that very long times will have to pass for him to achieve his spiritual perfection; he senses that he must have many existences and that in them he will go through many trials, before achieving true happiness. The spirit senses that after the tears, the pain and having gone through corporeal death many times, he will reach the summit that his longing for perfection has always sought. On the other hand, matter, the fragile and small being, cries, rebels and sometimes refuses to follow the calls of the spirit, and only when it has evolved, is strong and experienced in the struggle with the flesh and with everything that surrounds it, is when it manages to dominate matter and manifests itself through it.

25. The spirit makes itself felt through human manifestations, but it never uses violence to subdue matter. The spirit wants matter to unite itself to his will with full knowledge, he wants an obedience that manifests meekness.

26. Despite the error of some to remain stationed in their rebellion, feeling that it is still the sensitive and capricious flesh, they would like a throne for it, and if I do not please them in everything they desire, it is because there is in my children another being that vibrates with greater purity and love, that aspires to a higher life; in him there is the spiritual thought that reflects the divine. On the other hand, your brain only reflects human thoughts.

27. The pilgrimage of the spirit is long, its path is extensive, its existences are many and very varied, and its trials are diverse at every moment, but while it fulfills them, it rises, purifies itself, perfects itself. As he passes through life, he leaves a trace of light, that is why many times the high spirit does not care about the groans of his matter, because he knows that they are fleeting and that he cannot stop in his journey for events that seem small to him.

28. Momentarily he fixes his attention on the weaknesses of his flesh, but he knows that he cannot love too much something that lives little and that soon disappears into the bowels of the Earth.

29. What is the use of your desires and ambitions, to worship matter and put it on a throne of vanities? However long it lasts, it is very little compared to the eternal life of the spirit.

30. You need to obey the highest part of your being that is the spirit that dwells in each of you, to let it manifest itself clearly and direct its steps towards the end for which it was created.

31. Tell me: Who are you? What are you? Who do you think you are? What are you feeling like being? Is it the matter that descends to the grave or the spirit that rises to eternity, to infinity?

32. Truly I tell you that all the time of your existence you are confusing your sensations, needs, concerns and desires, without knowing which are of the spirit and which are of matter.

33. The spirit that truly knows its destiny, transmits its vibration to the body that it encourages to help it and participate in its mission; but when the moment comes to leave the envelope on Earth, it does not feel sadness, because it knows that this is the law, nor does it care how the one who was its body dies, whether from illness, old age or destroyed. He knows that his mission comes before everything else.

34. Do you know how my apostles of the Second Time died? How did Peter and all those who took me into their hearts end up? Peter died on a cross and said he was not worthy to die like Me, he asked to die with his head down. And who prompted Peter and gave him the strength, firmness and serenity to suffer his martyrdom? His true being, the spirit who is the son of God and knows how to master the weakness of matter. In the supreme hour he manifested himself serene, calm, like his Master when he exclaimed on the cross: "Everything is finished."

35. If you analyze these examples, you will have the conviction that man is more spirit than flesh and that when he has become spiritualized, he is submissive to the supreme commands of my Law.

Love one another!

36. For those who reach this spiritual evolution, the doors of the Kingdom are open and they arrive at it without a Woe!, without a complaint.

37. With that obedience, with that resignation and love, those disciples came to the presence of the Father. And when are you going to obey the call of your spirit? You are afraid of pain, of everything that reaches matter, because you are not fully possessed of the truth, because if that were the case, who could prevent you from speaking and manifesting the truth even if you are threatened with death?

38. Do you know why John the Baptist's head was taken away? For speaking the truth, for sticking to justice and pointing out the scourges of those who call themselves kings in the world and are sitting on a throne of rot. But if the great spirits have great sorrows and rise above misfortune, misery, pain and death and fulfill their mission so worthily, who are you who rise up groaning and go down crying with discontent or rebellion? You are flesh and only flesh, because you do not yet know how to rise above pain and above everything that you call misfortune.

39. It is good that you analyze everything that I have told you today, understand that the higher the incarnate spirit dwells, the less his sorrows and the effects of pain on his matter will be.

40. John the apostle was dipped in boiling oil and did not die. The power of the spirit that had risen to the Father was manifested by subtracting from the fire its power.

41. They took him away from there and when they saw that he did not receive any harm, they banished him and even so, he continued to fulfill the high designs of the Lord, without that test stopping him in his spiritual fulfillment.

42. You who are listening to me today and from whom my new disciples will come out are cowering before trials and trying to get away from my path.

43. How long will you be able to carry my Doctrine in your heart and be able to give your life to testify the truth?

44. Are not the examples of so many martyrs who have given their lives for the love of humanity, to uphold the truth or defend justice enough for you? Are not these examples enough for you to understand what my disciples are capable of?

45. You get upset if the air blows harder than you want; if the sun gets too hot you protest and if the clouds hide it you are not satisfied; if there is a storm you take refuge denying and if the earth shakes you leave fleeing from fear.

Love one another!

46. Are you the people born to reign on a throne and for the elements of Nature to obey your command, only for your benefit?
47. The elements will obey you when you fulfill my Law and ask me for the benefit of your brothers.
48. I want each one of you to be an apostle of the truth, to be useful in life because you have come to fulfill a mission that is within the Creator's plan.
49. At this time I tell you that the wheat of my teaching is abundant and is still unsown. Weep if you have love for this work, because the divine Sower who gave you his seed and showed you the lands, is still alone. Weep, and may your tears serve to water the roads where you will later go to work.
50. Do not be afraid if you were hurt by your brothers, what you call an offense, is a good that they do to you, it is a help in the fulfillment of your mission. Don't you know that those who are on the path of evolution have to suffer? Do you not know that all these weaknesses, the spirit should not take them into account, because they are trifles that only concern matter?
51. I want you to be strong in the face of life, in the face of vicissitudes and sufferings.
52. Strengthen yourselves in the practice of charity and don't mind being judged in this or that way. You do not need to say what you are, you just have to be prepared to give caress, charity and lips ready to manifest sweetness, sound advice, forgiveness.
53. Your destiny is to walk the earth doing good.
54. Understand that the material creation, which you call the Universe, is the abode of evolving spirits, it is the abode of perfection. When the spirits have reached the elevation that leads them to inhabit higher mansions, the worlds they inhabited before will disappear, since they will have completed their mission.
55. All the strength that animated beings and gave life to organisms will return to Me; all the light that illuminated the worlds, will return to Me, and all the beauty that was poured out in the kingdoms of Creation, will be in the Spirit of the Father and once again in Me, that life will be transformed into spiritual essence, which will be poured out on all spiritual beings, in the children of the Lord, because of the gifts that I gave you you will never be disinherited.
56. Wisdom, eternal life, harmony, infinite beauty, goodness, all this and more will be in the Lord's children when they dwell with Him in the perfect abode.

Love one another!

57. Today you are far from that goal, proof of this is that on Earth I come to claim what you have done of your spirit and when you reach the spiritual valley, I claim to the spirit what he did of his body in his passage through the world. As long as you are infants in the midst of this lesson, these worlds, this nature, this material life will have to exist.

58. When God enlightened you and I preserve you; as a Father I love you and I wait for you; as a Teacher I teach you and I lead you, more as a Judge, I judge you inexorably.

59. There are those who say that I resemble a rich miser who wants everything for himself, because he takes care of everything, keeps it and claims it; but truly I tell you, just as in the world everything that I put into it was for you and not for Me, so in eternal life, I keep everything for when you enter it and become its possessors.

60. Have I not told you that you are the heirs of my glory? It is only necessary that you make merits so that it is yours and you enjoy it.

61. Everything I have created has not been for Me, but for my children. I only want your joy, your eternal happiness.

62. Do not be afraid to get lost because you want to find me, because I am not only the end, but also the path. Whoever wants to reach Me, come along the path of humility, charity, submission and increase your desire for perfection in love.

63. For your step to be firm, achieve inner unification in your being. May the spirit always lead matter on the right path and it in turn knows how to obey him. When you achieve this triumph over yourselves, it will be easy for you to obey the will of your Father.

64. Turn away from the superfluous; remove the unnecessary from your life and do not occupy yourself with the useless.

65. Flee from all vice, in this way you will keep your spirit clean and your body healthy to fight with weapons of love for the conquest of the Promised Land, the one that awaits you as the supreme reward in the spiritual life.

MY PEACE BE WITH YOU!

1. Humanity: calm your mind agitated by the vicissitudes and chances of life.
2. How much you struggle trying to get rid of the darkness in which you live, despite being in the midst of the light! Your struggle is great and that is why you have come tired: I have called you precisely to rest for a few moments, because you will have to continue in the fulfillment of your mission that you have just begun.
3. From time to time I have been uncorking the veils of my arcana in accordance with your evolution, because only those who travel this path will be able to reach Me.
4. I am the Teacher who seeks humanity by all paths to teach them the true way.
5. My word comes as a sword of light to fight against the ignorance and unbelief of men. I come to manifest myself before those who have denied my existence, to ask them: Who formed the Universe with its diversity of worlds, barely visible to you? Ah humanity, that in your estrangement from the truth you have had the audacity to think that the idea of a creator has been a simple invention of the human mind! How can you imagine that from your limited and small mind the notion of the eternal and infinite could arise?
6. But those also come to Me who say that they love me, and to these I say, How can you say that you love me, if you do the opposite of what my Law dictates, if you betray yourselves by showing feelings opposite to your words in your deeds?
7. Right here, among these multitudes who listen to me, how many there are who claim to be spiritualists and still do not know the power and wisdom of Spiritualism, nor the powers and attributes of the spirit, and with their works they are denying my Doctrine that as a radiant light spiritually illuminates humanity. But my patience is infinite to wait for you to become my disciples; I will make of you torches that with their light will carry to other peoples the original message that you received as a revelation, through the human understanding.
8. If men deny your testimony and deny you, remind them that I had an appointment with the humanity of this time, which I have come to fulfill; tell them that if I promised to return, it is because my task had not yet ended and will not end until there is not a single sin. It is written that if ninety-nine sheep are in the pasture and one is missing from me, I will look for that one.
9. I want to show you again the power of my love by turning the hard hearts of humanity into apostles of my Doctrine, starting with this people, no less hard-hearted than the others. I come to tell you to expand your knowledge with this new message that I have brought to you so that you can join it to my past revelations until you manage to form the book of wisdom in your understanding, so that you may be worthy to bear witness to my truth and to teach it to your brothers.

10. They will call you agitators, but do not be afraid, because your Master was also judged at that time for disturbing, according to the words of men, the peace. Verily I tell you, I came not only to stir the hearts of a few men with my revelations, but to shake the spirit of all mankind with my word.

11. Thus I come to you in this time in which my light will manifest itself in various forms on men and will shake them again, some with joy, others with fear, others with anger, but there will not be one who, when the time comes for my message to be known, will not be moved.

12. How weak have you been to call Christ, you who knew that He was coming! But now that you have my revelation and my message, do not be weak, timid or cold.

13. Have I hurt you by calling you hard of heart? I have only told you the truth, because in all the worlds, all creatures comply with my Law, and you do not respond to my divine call.

14. But do not be afraid, because no one has yet reached the goal, but you will all reach it, I promise you, who am the promise of all time; I, the tireless one, who will never stop teaching you.

15. You begin to dream of being bearers and apostles of the truth, but do not be hasty, always take the light of your conscience as a guide, because how will you manifest the truth if you have not yet found it in yourself? How are you going to show that you love me and love your brothers, if you leave thorns and thistles in the path of your fellow men?

16. The water of the river of life, which is my truth, is meek, crystal clear and pleasant, but do not confuse it with the water that you give to the needy, because it is sometimes impure.

17. Take my blessing, may it be in you like a spring of inexhaustible water that quenches the immense thirst that overwhelms you.

18. My blessing be like balm on your diseases, ailments and bitterness; she will lift up to life those who are losing strength in their path of evolution.

Love one another!

19. To help you in your elevation, I make my peace be in the heart of the apostle of the Third Time, whom I receive on behalf of humanity and through him I give him my charity.

20. Today you hear my voice through the human understanding that tells you again: "Love one another", just as you heard the voice of the Lord on the lips of Jesus, when he taught you to love your neighbor as yourself, in confirmation of the Law that the people of Israel received through Moses in the First Time.

21. Moses was my spokesman at that time, he led you to the gates of the Promised Land, but I did not allow him to enter it, because there you would have crowned him king; and truly I tell you, his kingdom was not of this world either. The Promised Land was given to the people, so that they could dwell in it in peace and raise their worship to the Father. In Jerusalem, that people built the first temple to Jehovah and in it the Divine Spirit was manifested: there he received the complaint or the praise of the children of those tribes. You placed the Ark of the Covenant, the symbol of your covenant with the Father, on its altar, and kings and wise men bowed their necks before the Tabernacle.

22. The priests in charge of worship were filled with love at first, but then they let the gnawing worm of vanity and greed penetrate into their hearts and becoming hypocrites, false and profane. It was then that the prophets appeared one after another, announcing the coming of the Messiah, who were denied, mocked and sacrificed by the people.

23. This is how they prepared my arrival, with their blood.

24. As every word that comes from God must be fulfilled, the Messiah was born among humanity and came to teach you how to fulfill the Father's Law and worship God by loving and forgiving, filling the lives of men with comfort and light.

25. I arrived as a Shepherd to gather the sheep that the wolves had already begun to steal and I showed them the sheepfold. Throughout my time on Earth, I taught men love and the fruits that spring from it, which they called miracles. These works ignited faith in the hearts and through it I made them contemplate the true path. Thousands and thousands of men witnessed my word and my deeds, but only twelve followed me closely.

26. When the time of my departure approached, I said to them, The Passover feast is going to be celebrated in Jerusalem, it is necessary that we go there so that the prophecies may be fulfilled. Then I made my last recommendations to my disciples, recording them in their spirit with the divine fire of my love. I left for Jerusalem with my disciples. When I crossed the city gate, on the humble and meek colt, the crowd, among which were the sick whom I healed, the blind who looked again, the paralyzed who walked and the sad who were comforted and full of hope, raised hymns and songs of praise and glory, because the promised Savior had finally arrived. No one knew that on that Passover I would be the Slain Lamb.

27. As I passed by and under the light of my gaze, hearts trembled, the sick healed and words of praise and gratitude to the Rabbi came out of his chest. Then the Pharisees came to Me and said to me, "Lord, make your disciples and these people cease from their hubbub, because they upset the order of the city during the feast," to which I replied, "Truly, if these were silent, the stones would cry out for joy." Those Pharisees went away, but already their hearts were afraid and worried about the works that Jesus was doing, they were plotting betrayal.

28. So I came to the porch of the temple, which had once been the sanctuary of the Lord's people and which they had later turned into their marketplace, and I threw out their profaners from it.

29. The hearts and deeds of those who claimed to be ministers of the Lord and Doctors of the Law, were being exposed before the deeds of Jesus; it was then that they asked to kill him so as not to lose his power that was threatened.

30. One of my disciples who had heard my word of love a lot, who spoke of the Kingdom of the spirit and who had felt in his heart the caress and love of his Master, was with his weakness and lack of faith in my promises, the door that opened to let penetrate the human evil that fell on Me. With what hatred those men shouted and asked Caesar's subject to crucify me! But it was necessary that the Son of God should be in great trials in order that men might behold his humility, his love, and his power.

31. The blood of that body was poured out on the earth and the human lips that manifested the Divine Word in the world did not cease to speak of love and forgiveness until the last moment on the cross. And Christ was one with the Father, because the Word who became man to be heard in the world has always been in God.

32. Years later, the city and that desecrated temple were destroyed so that my word would be fulfilled; not a stone on a stone remained of that. I had said that Solomon's temple, with being in human eyes so regal, great and magnificent, could destroy it and rebuild it in three days.

33. Truly I tell you, men have not understood the spiritual meaning of those words, because time does not pass over Me, since I am eternity. Here I am in the Third Age, on the third day, laying the foundation of the true temple and building it in the spirit of men.

Love one another!

34. Elijah was chosen to announce to you that the Book of the Seven Seals had been untied and was open on the Sixth Seal. My word has come full of light to ignite your faith, so that you no longer fall into idolatry and let Me build my temple in your heart, see that the works done by the hands of men are destroyed, while the works of the spirit are immortal.

35. The lost will be found and the confused enlightened and all will find the way that will lead them to the Promised Land.

36. If here on Earth you did not want to recognize me or let me gather you as the bird gathers its chicks under its wings, beyond this world I will gather you under my mantle of peace eternally.

37. People: I have reminded you of my life among you, because the days of commemoration of that last week that I spent among humanity are approaching. In those days you feel as if a message descended from infinity for you.

38. Everything you look at seems to you that the sun, the fields, the cities, the men speak to you about Me, you feel everything as if it spoke to you about the Master. It is that the memory makes you feel my presence again and I send you my message of love again.

39. If in these days your eyes want to cry, let them, if your heart trembles with love, let him also.

40. Christ, whom a multitude rejected, is the same one who is now coming to manifest himself to you, because it was the body that men destroyed, but not the Word that spoke through Him.

41. What death could stop my steps or what tomb could hold me back? However, without wanting to, without realizing it, you have buried in your heart the truth whose essence is that of the Master. That matter that you carry, you have made it the tomb of your spirit.

42. Let the spirit lift the slab of your heart so that it rises full of light to true life.

43. This is how I easily explain to you what you think is difficult to understand: Christ and Divine Love are the same Father. Jesus was the perfect man who manifested God's message. He was the highest expression of spirituality, that's why he is called the Divine Teacher.

44. O beloved disciples! When you think of the works I did in the world, you feel too clumsy and small to imitate me. When you meditate on the times that have passed since then, you realize that very little has evolved spiritually. There are times when you feel the longing and the need to develop your spiritual gifts, to receive my messages directly, as well as to penetrate into the future and resolve through the attributes of the spirit the conflicts, trials and chaos that surrounds you among humanity.

45. How much you desire to see with the gaze of the spirit! And you will see, but it will be when you discover that letting yourself be guided by the light of conscience that illuminates your spirit, you will better understand the revelations of the Lord.

46. For now study this message and write it down because there will come times when you will no longer hear this word and then only the writings will remain for you.

47. I want my word, when the books that are to be spread throughout the earth are formed, to be printed without blemish, pure, just as it came from Me.

48. If you make it reach your books in this way, a light will spring from it that will illuminate humanity and its essence will be felt and understood by all men.

49. My message of this time will also be denied and combated, some will say that my manifestation had no object; but do not be afraid because my Work of the Second Time has also been discussed, denied, mocked and, nevertheless, heart by heart and spirit by spirit have recognized and valued that passion that I lived among you.

50. Yes, people, know that there have been and there are those who say: What relationship does the pain of Jesus have with your salvation? His pain cannot give us the glory. And the Spirit of Truth says to you: I was among men through Jesus, like those fragrant plants that perfume the hands of the one who took their lives from them.

51. That tree that you gave me and that I accepted was proof of my love for you and also proof that you would be saved by my example. Why do you think that if I had known that my sacrifice was going to be useless, I would have offered it to you? Do you not remember that I have told you that not a single seed is lost in the Father's Work? When the side of the Master was opened, I wanted you to see in him the door that opened for you all to dwell in eternity, and the first to contemplate that door was the soldier who plunged his spear into the body of Jesus.

52. My love is like the tree that perfumes the woodcutter's axe that rips his existence; every drop of blood from that body was spilled on this humanity, forgiving everyone and perfuming his existence with the divine essence of my teachings.

53. But if it seemed to this humanity, in its blindness, that that sacrifice was not enough for its salvation, here is my word again, not the word of the man who has not been able to explain that message, but my word that comes to teach you the immortal essence of my

Love one another!

Doctrine and my works, divine explanation with which men will know the spiritual value of that blood shed on Calvary for the love of humanity.

54. I come to tell you what the essence of that sacrifice is, because you are mine as I am yours.

55. I have never seen enemies in any creature because you are all my children. The word enemy defiles the lips of the one who utters it, referring to a brother.

56. Longinos pierced my side and I poured into him the blood that was light in his blind eyes.

57. I want you to be like your Teacher, to rightly call you my disciples. My heritage is one of love and wisdom. It was Christ who came to you and it is Christ who is speaking to you in these moments, but do not try to separate me from God, or look at me outside of Him, because I am and have always been One with the Father. I have told you that Christ is Divine Love, therefore do not try to separate me from the Father. Do you think He is a Father without love for his children? How do you conceive it? It's time for you to recognize it.

58. Let no one be ashamed to call God, the Creator, Father, because that is his true name.

59. I have brought you the light again so that you can analyze what you had not been able to understand before.

60. If I told your spirit before I sent him to Earth that I was going to give him a world of teachings, today I tell him that I offer him a heaven of wisdom.

61. Walk on this path of spirituality and you will receive that heaven that I am talking about.

62. The wisdom of the spirit is a light that never goes out.

63. I am the Master, I am Christ who speaks to you through consciousness, in the way that only I have to reach each of you, the one who caresses you by speaking to you.

64. Here you have me looking for beings that are apparently useless for a work of love, the ones that I know will serve me because I have created them.

65. I come to use your spirit, your will, your heart, your mind, and while you reach the moment of your preparation and enlightenment, in which I can use you by becoming my instruments, I leave you my teachings so that you may learn the wise lesson.

Love one another!

66. So, preparing yourselves with my word, enter into these days of remembrance. Meditate, meditate on that hour when the earth protested against human ingratitude and the sky was darkened, but in which the Lamb did not protest.

67. The Master's gaze on Golgotha was sad, but with it he blessed you. For those mobs He was going to die, but He knew that He would soon rise again in every heart, when they were being born to the faith.

68. Those who go to Jerusalem say that in those lands there is an atmosphere that overwhelms the spirit and that even the light seems strange.

69. Verily I tell you, it is the voice of conscience, it is the memories that make the heart tremble, and although Jesus died there and humanity stopped seeing him, Christ appears everywhere in essence, presence and power.

70. Caravans of men and women make their way to Jerusalem and when they set foot in those places, they bring to mind sweet memories sometimes, bitter others. They find everything saturated with the presence of Jesus. But why make such a pilgrimage in search of material footprints, each one having my divine presence in his spirit wherever he is?

71. I would like you all to rise up with this teaching to bring a message of fraternity, of good news, of love; a greeting, a drop of balm, an embrace of friendship to all your brothers and sisters.

72. I come at this time so that you may contemplate from Earth, with the light of my lessons, the New Jerusalem, the White City promised to the spirit, the one that John my Apostle contemplated in his revelation; but if in the first Jerusalem the wickedness of man raised me on the cross of martyrdom, in the new City, which will be spiritual, the spirits will raise me on the altar of their love.

MY PEACE BE WITH YOU!

Love one another!

Teaching 20

1. The book of my word is the book of divine and true love, in which you will find the immutable truth. Come to him and you will find the wisdom that will help you evolve and achieve peace in eternity. Anyone who alters or modifies its essence will be lacking, and anyone who removes or adds a single word that is inconsistent with my perfect Doctrine will seriously infringe my Law.
2. Keep this word in its original purity, for it is the most beautiful inheritance that I will leave to man. Write down my teaching and make it known to your brothers, keep it faithfully because you are responsible for this inheritance.
3. Tomorrow man will find in it the essence of my revelation, which will lead him, with the light of his teachings, along the path of truth.
4. From parents and children these scriptures will be bequeathed, like a spring of living water, the stream of which will flow inexhaustibly and go from heart to heart. Study in the great Book of Life, the book of spirituality, which will explain to you the divine revelations that you have received throughout the ages.
5. Did I not promise you that all knowledge would be restored to its primitive truth? For this is the time that was announced to you.
6. Truly I tell you, whoever meditates and analyzes the teachings of my Book, with the true desire to raise his knowledge, will acquire the light for his spirit and I will feel closer to him.
7. The myths of yesterday and those of today will fall, everything mediocre and false will collapse, because the moment will come when you can no longer feed on imperfections and then the spirit will rise in search of the truth, so that it serves as its only sustenance.
8. In these teachings humanity will find the essence of my revelations, which until today it has not understood due to its lack of spirituality. Since ancient times I have entrusted it to you through my envoys, my emissaries, my interpreters, and it has only served you to form myths and traditions with it. Meditate and study this lesson with respect and love if you want to avoid centuries of confusion and bitterness; but remember that you will not fulfill your mission if you are satisfied only with owning the book; no, he must awaken you and teach you if you truly long to be my disciples. Teach by the example, with the love and with the charity that I have taught you.

Love one another!

9. Prepare yourselves with the reading of this book dictated by Me and decide to teach with your actions, with sweet words, with good deeds, with looks of true charity and love.
10. This time of my communication with you will be unforgettable for your spirit, the indelible imprint of my words will remain in it, as well as the memory of my past lessons has remained in it.
11. Beloved disciples: Learn to grasp with your spiritual sensitivity, the divine essence contained in my word and following it you will never get lost from the true path.
12. Blessed is he who interprets my word according to his will, for he will answer me to it.
13. On Earth many men have devoted themselves to altering the truth, without realizing the responsibility they have as collaborators in the Father's Work of Love. In this time of judgment that many ignore, because they have not been able to interpret the events they are experiencing, justice is found in each spirit taking into account his works within or outside the Law of love in the course of his pilgrimage in this world.
14. Whoever changes in these writings the essence of my revelations delivered by inspiration, will answer for his works before Me. Therefore, you must proceed with righteousness, because these lessons are my legacy of love for my children who, incarnate or in spirit, are waiting for greater teachings.
15. The spiritual message that you hear is the heavenly light that manifests itself through human instruments that in a state of ecstasy perceive it. If you do not believe that it is Christ who is spiritually vibrating under this form, give me whatever name you want; but feel the essence of the word that flows from these lips. Only in this way will you come to know that the One who so sweetly calls you to the path of peace and goodness can be none other than Christ, whom you justly call: The Divine Teacher.
16. Then you will know that just as I send thoughts that are flashes of light to the entire Universe, you can also send your love to the mind and spirit of your brothers and sisters from the spiritual scale of perfection in which you are, as a spiritual message.
17. Saturate yourselves with love, feel it spiritually so that you can manifest it to your fellow men. Do not remain indifferent to my teachings, so that you will not be confused again among men who lack faith and spirituality.
18. I am giving you a lesson similar to the one I brought you in the past times, so that through it you will come to know yourself, knowing who you are and for what purpose you have been created, that will be the most firm step you take, to get to know me. That is why I ask you: How do you want to know the father, if you have not even come to know yourselves?

Love one another!

19. I am what you cannot yet understand in all its fullness, because you still dwell in the flesh and do not fulfill my commands; you are subject to matter and possessing a limited mind in it, you analyze me according to your materialism. Stop studying me outside the path that my Law points out to you, because this will only serve to lead you astray from the path; instead, know yourselves by loving one another and study the divine manifestations that form my perfect lesson throughout the ages. Do not try to look for me with the poor and limited knowledge that you currently possess, because that will confuse you.

20. Know that the natural state of the human being is that of goodness, that of peace of the spirit and harmony with everything that surrounds him. Whoever preserves himself in the practice of these virtues throughout life, that one is on the true path that will lead him to the knowledge of God; but if you depart from that path forgetting the Law that should guide your actions, you will have to restore with tears the moments that you lived apart from the path of spiritual elevation, which is the natural state in which man must always be preserved.

21. You do not feel love for your fellow human beings and that is why pain constantly afflicts you. You have forgotten my commandment that says to you: "Love one another" which teaches you the greatest of all wisdoms. Where has your analysis of God led you, O humanity? To the fratricidal war, to the chaos, there you have the consequences of your error, today you purify your faults with your blood, with tears and despair. This is how my Spirit contemplates you. Therefore, get away from the superfluous, fulfill my Law, get to know each other among brothers and in the harmony of your understanding and love, you will know your Lord.

22. Analyze my teachings that are clear and simple, but do not try to analyze the infinite first because you will be wrong.

23. How can you say that you love your God, if you have not loved Him before in your brothers? Feel in your heart the sweetness of this word, disciples, remember that its essence is mine, truth and love too. The word and the scripture are yours, they are human work, translate and interpret one and the other and your analyzes will be deep, firm and just.

24. Heal from your materiality by taking the balm from my word, look at how the effluvium and my caress of love remain between the pages of your book.

Love one another!

25. Share with those in need of this bread of eternal life that you receive today in my word, and tomorrow do not stop offering it, through the reading of these teachings, to the spirits who, due to their low elevation, are without hope of redemption. Have mercy on those who suffer.

26. Sow my word of love in your brothers; with love in your heart, it is impossible for you to be mistaken. If you know how to preserve this divine treasure, you will avoid many sufferings and you will progress in your evolution, O beloved disciples, helping your brothers in their approach to Me.

27. Among humanity there are those who have purified themselves with pain and eagerly await from you my message of peace. I have told you that the number of the spirits appointed for this delicate mission is infinite, you cannot calculate it, nor imagine it. In everyone leave this seed of love.

28. You are all walking on the scale of spiritual perfection; some have reached the evolution that you cannot conceive for now, others are coming after you.

29. The great spirits, great for their struggle, for their love, for their effort, seek harmony with their little brothers, with the distant, with the negligent; their missions are noble and high, their love for my Divinity and for you is also very great.

30. These spirits know that they were created for activity, for elevation; they know that inactivity is not for the children of God. In Creation everything is life, movement, balance, harmony; and thus, those innumerable beings work, strive and enjoy in their struggle, with the knowledge that in this way they glorify their Lord and help the progress and perfection of their fellow beings.

31. Today, when you are outside the path that my Law points out to you, you are unaware of the influence that these your brothers exert on you, but when you have sensitivity to perceive the effluvia, inspirations and messages that they send you, you will have the feeling of the countless occupations and noble works to which they dedicate their existence.

32. It is necessary for you to know that those spirits, in their love and respect for the laws of the Creator, never take what does not correspond to them, nor touch what is forbidden or penetrate where they know they should not, so as not to disharmonize the elements of Creation.

33. How differently do men on Earth, who in their eagerness to be great and powerful in the world, without the slightest respect for my teachings seek with the key of science the destructive elements, open the doors of unknown forces and thus break the harmony in the Nature that surrounds them!

34. When will man know how to prepare himself to listen to the wise counsel of the Spiritual World, and in that way be guided by its inspirations?

35. Verily I tell you that this would be enough to take you by the safe way to the summit of the mountain that belongs to you, there you will contemplate before you a straight and luminous path through which the spirits who now exist only to procure you good and help you in your toils have passed, approaching you step by step to the end of the path, where your Father awaits you all.

36. Since I have spoken to you about the goodness and elevation of those beings, I must tell you that they, like you, also had from the beginning the gift of free will, that is, true and holy freedom of action that is proof of the Creator's love for his children.

37. What would become of the spirit deprived of its free will? In the first place it would not be spirit and therefore it would not be a creation worthy of the Supreme Being; it would be something like those machines that you make; something without its own life, without intelligence, without will, without aspirations.

38. Your science, as I announced to you, is gradually discovering to you that in everything there is energy, movement, transformation.

39. Could you have discovered everything that humanity has found through science, if you had lacked the freedom to investigate, study and experiment? Could you also receive this spiritual communication in the form in which you have it, if your spirit had been forbidden for these manifestations?

40. You tell me that because of free will you have fallen into faults and errors. I also tell you that by that gift you can rise infinitely beyond the point from which you started at the beginning of your evolution.

41. In addition to free will, I gave each spirit my light in their consciousness so that no one would get lost, but those who did not want to listen to my voice or did not want to penetrate inside in search of spiritual light, soon allowed themselves to be seduced by the innumerable beauties of human life, lost the support of my Law for their spirit and had to stumble and fall.

42. A single fault brought many painful consequences and that is that imperfection disharmonizes with divine love.

Love one another!

43. Those who surrendered and repented immediately returned to the Father and meekly asked him to unmask them and free them from the faults they had just committed, the Lord received them with infinite love and charity, comforted their spirit, sent them to repair their faults and affirmed them in their mission.

44. Do not think that everyone returned meek and repentant after the first disobedience. No, many arrived full of pride or resentment. Others, ashamed, recognized their guilt, wanted to justify their faults before me, and far from purifying themselves with repentance and amendment, which are proof of humility, chose to create for themselves a life in their own way; outside the laws that my love dictates.

45. Then my justice appeared, but not to punish them, but to correct them, not to destroy them, but to preserve them eternally, providing them with ample opportunity to perfect themselves.

46. How many of those first sinners still fail to remove their stains from themselves, because from fall to fall, they were descending more and more to the bottom of the abyss, from which only the practice of my Law will be able to save them.

47. I also tell you that among those spirits of whom I have spoken to you at the beginning of this lesson and who are for you guardians, teachers, counselors, guides and doctors, there are also those who knew about the falls and the bitter cup that disobediences give; but they knew in time to reconsider their works, purifying themselves in the waters of goodness, love, charity and restitution.

48. Imitate them, my children, rise above sin like them, so that the divine joy of working together with the Father, for the happiness of all beings, may also be yours.

49. Understand that you are being tested on the path of your evolution, receiving lessons from life and these lessons are the events that you encounter on your way.

50. You are in the likeness of birds, who have built this nest where you gather to await the arrival of the lark. Sometimes the gale hits the tree and you run away in fear, looking for a place to take refuge and confused you ask: Why has the Master allowed it? And the Master says to you: I allow these tests, so that you may know for yourselves whether what you have built is firm or is still fragile.

51. This house of prayer, like all the places where you gather to hear my word, are subject to the vicissitudes of the times, which I have told you are lessons and trials for you.

52. Live united spiritually so that whenever you are hit by the hurricane, each one will take his place and remain firm until the storm passes and peace returns to you again; but if you consider yourselves powerless to unite and face adversity, then you will imitate the paralytic, who no longer makes an effort to move knowing that his limbs are disabled. What is the use of the faculties that exist in your spirit, if when the time comes to recognize the value of them, you doubt, falter and abandon your spiritual mission?

Love one another!

53. Do you doubt my presence because trials plague the place where you gather? I tell you, I am the one who presents himself and speaks even if these places ceased to exist.

54. Do not be fanatical about material enclosures. Do you not understand that the indestructible and eternal temple is the one you are raising up in your heart?

55. In the hours of peace examine yourselves in order that your conscience may tell you whether the value of your works is true or apparent, whether your merits are only before you or whether they have come to Me.

56. You, who have my communication and who delight in listening to my phrases of wisdom and love, do not prepare for the times to come. Instead, see your brothers who do not receive this message, how they build, work and build, even though most of their work is material! Imitate their effort and their union.

57. They too are being combated, persecuted and judged, yet they do not doubt Me; and you who have been appointed my new disciples and who are hearing my manifestation as the Holy Spirit, doubt because this meeting house for a moment has been subjected to the rigors and trials of your life.

58. Children grow up and become men in order to become fathers in their turn, but you in your spirit remain infantile and do not want to grow or multiply in knowledge and love.

59. Everything created has a just explanation and a reason for being, according to the perfection of the Father, but you do not see perfection, nor justice, nor reason. If the works are not as you conceive them, you doubt; if your hopes are not realized, you doubt; in each of your sufferings you doubt Me, and if you look untied at the elements of Nature, your doubt grows.

60. In what place do you place me if you do not love me as your God and Lord? You think in a limited and small way, without analyzing the message that I give you in each test. Truly I tell you that when you interpret the meaning of the teachings that I send you through life, you will know who I am, and you will know the why of each lesson.

61. Just as you learn to read in the world, learn to analyze the teaching of the spirit and his language of love.

Love one another!

62. There are those who think that this world is only matter, so that the passions of the flesh may triumph in it, but with this they are stopping the elevation of the spirit. O humanity, little and vain, who want to make life at your will! Know that this world is the same for matter as for spirit; that is why I have always come to teach you to comply with the material law, at the same time helping the spirit in its evolution. To the materialized of the Second Time I had to say to make them understand: "Give to God what is God's and to Caesar what is Caesar's."

63. In order to overcome weakness, smallness, misery, passions and destroy doubt, faith and good works are indispensable, which are virtues that overcome the impossible, before them the difficult and unattainable vanishes like shadows.

64. I said to the men who believed in Me in the Second Half, "Your faith has saved you." I declared this because faith is a healing power, it is a force that transforms and its light destroys darkness.

65. Truly, truly, I tell you, the impossible does not exist. In cases as small as your health problems, speak to God who dwells in each one of you, who knows what you need and what you feel, He will give you according to His will.

66. In the Doctrine that I preached when I was on Earth and in which I now teach you through the human mouthpiece, my Spirit is manifested, that is why my teaching recreates you and at the same time strengthens you, because it is not a word that flatters only the material senses, but sustains the spirit.

67. That is why among the multitudes who listen to me, some come to be healed with the word of wisdom, with the consolation it pours out; others come to lighten their burden of sins by hearing my teaching of justice, forgiveness and love.

68. Hearing me speak like that, your sensitive fibers for the pain tremble and if you call me as a Doctor, I come to you to heal you.

69. Feel that my love is upon you as a mantle of comfort.

70. Blessed are those who put their hope and their faith in me. Feel me close to you and tell me with your heart your sorrows, do not be afraid, beloved sheep, no one like Me knows how to understand your babbling prayer. Show me your wound, point out to me your ailment and there I will deposit my balm of love and charity.

71. I receive your sorrows that you silently entrust to me. Enter into spiritual communion with me, so that you may deeply feel my presence in you.

Love one another!

72. You will see how the serenity of the spirit calms the stormy sea of your passions. You have only heard me in these moments through the pedestal and yet, how much your hearts have spoken to me. How many sorrows and bitterness have come to Me! How many hearts that suffer from ingratitude, withered like cut flowers and forgotten afterwards! How much crying that does not appear to the eyes, that is hidden in the heart and waits for the moment of peace! The pain of men, wives and mothers. I collect everything with the power of my love.

73. I have come to strengthen and protect the weak from pain, but once healthy, enlightened and strong, I want to see them comforting those who suffer. When there is love for one another, your world will shine with the light of harmony and truth that will flow from your incarnated and disembodied children, to whom this world was entrusted as a temporary mansion.

74. I have spoken to you once through lips that are not pure, but at the moment of my communication, they have known how to interpret my word of love. Do not think that it is an imperfect form that I am using to speak to you, I come to the understanding but not to sinful matter. My light approaches when the speaker, in ecstasy, offers me his heart, gives me his being, then I use it as a vehicle to reach in a limited, humanized way, the multitudes.

75. This was my promise through Jesus and I have come to fulfill it for you. I said in the Second Time to my apostles, "If I had not gone, the Spirit of Consolation would not have come to you." I meant to say: if I Jesus, in body, did not go away, I could not come to manifest myself to you in spirit. For the Consoling Spirit, the Holy Spirit that I promised you, is Me, it is my word, it is my message of love.

MY PEACE BE WITH YOU!

Love one another!

Love one another!

Teaching 21

1. Disciples: You have forgotten the way of praying that I taught you in the Second Time and I have come to remind you of it.
2. Prayer should be for you something greater and more powerful than repeating the words learned by heart with which you achieve nothing if you do not have spiritual elevation.
3. Do not get used to praying only with words, pray with the spirit. I also say to you: Bless with prayer, send thoughts of light to your brothers, do not ask for anything for yourselves, remember that whoever takes care of mine, will always have me watching over him.
4. The seed that you sow with love, you will receive multiplied.
5. Visit and anoint the sick, comfort the prisoner, give peace to the needy and bring comfort to the distressed heart.
6. Men have confused true charity, forgetting one of the highest feelings of the spirit, with the materialism that manifests itself in all their acts. I have seen you give with contempt and even with disgust, some coins to your brothers the poor, and you give coins, because in your heart you have nothing to give; if at least you gave them with love or with a desire to help, but you give them with pride, with ostentation humiliating the needy. If you gave them without vanity or repulsion, your poor coin would in part mitigate the thirst for love of those spirits in full restitution.
7. To those who thus understand charity and with these imperfect works try to silence the voice of their conscience and pretend to make me believe that they fulfill one of my highest teachings, I come to say: Gather yourselves in your bedroom and in your prayer communicate with me, so that in that communion to which you are not accustomed for now, you feel inside a flash of kindness and gratitude to the Father, and feeling the pain of your fellow men, you ask for them even if you only do it for yours, which would already be a step towards spirituality.
8. I cannot yet ask of all men self-denial and charity for others or true love for neighbor; but from you, disciples and children, who day after day listen to this voice that sweetens your feelings, if I expect worthy works from Me and from you.
9. If you love, the other benefits will be added to you.

Love one another!

10. Love will give you the wisdom to understand the truth that others uselessly seek through the rugged paths of science.
11. Let the Master guide you in all actions, words and thoughts. Prepare yourselves under his sweet and loving example and you will manifest divine love, so you will feel close to God, because you will be in harmony with Him.
12. If you love, you will succeed in being meek, as Jesus was.
13. If you love, you will not need material cults or rites, because you will carry the light that illuminates your inner temple, before which the waves of all the storms that could hit you will break and the darkness of humanity will be destroyed.
14. Do not profane the divine any more, for truly I tell you, the ingratitude with which you show yourselves before God is great, when you do those external practices that you have inherited from your first brothers, and in which you have become fanatical.
15. Humanity saw Jesus suffer and his teaching and testimony is believed by you, why follow him crucifying in your sculptures? Are not the centuries that you have been exhibiting him as the victim of your wickedness enough for you?
16. Instead of remembering me in the torments and agony of Jesus, why don't you remember my resurrection, full of light and glory?
17. Sometimes, when looking at your images representing me in the form of Jesus on the cross, there are those who have thought that it was a weak, cowardly or timid man, without thinking that I am Spirit and I came to suffer what you call sacrifice and what I call duty of love, for an example of all humanity.
18. If you think that I was One with the Father, think that there were no weapons, no strength, no torments that could have subdued me; but if as a man I suffered, I bled and died, it was to give you my sublime example of humility.
19. Men have not understood the greatness of that lesson, and everywhere they raise the image of the crucified one, which represents a shame for this humanity, which without love or respect for the One whom it claims to love, continues to crucify and wound Him daily by hurting the hearts of his brothers, for whom the Master gave his life.
20. Ah, my children of all faiths, do not put to death the noblest feelings of the spirit, nor try to conform it with external practices and cults! Look: If a mother has nothing material to offer her beloved and little son, she presses him to her heart, blesses him with all her love, covers him with oscar (holy spear), looks at him sweetly, bathes him with her tears, but never tries to deceive him with empty acts of love.

Love one another!

21. How do you conceive that I, the Divine Master, approve that you conform to the empty practices of all essence, truth and love, with which you try to deceive your spirit, making it believe that it has sustained itself, when in reality it finds itself increasingly ignorant of the truth?

22. Learn to love one another, to be blessed, to forgive one another; to be meek and sweet, good and noble, and understand that, if you do not do so, you will not have in your life even the slightest reflection of the works of Christ, your Master.

23. I speak to all of you and I invite you to destroy the errors that for so many centuries have stopped you in your evolution.

24. Take love as a shield and wield truth as a sword and you will soon find the way. Do not be afraid to be sowers of love, because Pilate and Caiaphas are no longer in the world to judge my disciples. You will find small calvaries in your path, but go through them leaving a trace of strength, serenity and faith.

25. Christ gave you His example, but he is and will remain the eternal Teacher, in spirit and in truth.

26. The Spirit of Truth and Consolation is the same Spirit of God that throbbed in the loving Jesus who dwelt among men and that will throb in you when you know how to love as He taught you.

27. You who are my new disciples, listen: From the Second Time I spoke to you very clearly about Me, in order to avoid you falling into temptation, into errors. When I said to you: The Father and I are One, by this I meant to tell you that my love for you, in my word and in each of my works, you had the presence of the Father; however, the religions that were later founded based on that teaching, have fallen into materialism, making figures in which they represent the form of Jesus, and worship him through them, forgetting that Christ is essence and spirit.

28. If I had wanted you to worship me in the figure of Jesus, I would have left his body to you, so that you could worship him, but if, after completing his mission, I made that matter disappear, why do men worship him? I have revealed to you that my Kingdom is not material, but despite this, men still want to keep me on Earth, and they present to me the riches and the power of a kingdom that is transient and limited.

29. There were two natures in Jesus, one material, human, created by my will in the virginal womb of Mary, whom I called the Son of Man, and the other divine, the Spirit, who was named the Son of God. In this one was the Divine Word of the Father, who spoke in Jesus; the other was only material and visible.

Love one another!

30. When I was questioned by the pontiff Caiaphas saying to me: I conjure you to tell me if you are the Christ, the Messiah, the Son of God. I replied, "You said so."

31. I had announced to my apostles that I would return to the Father, from whence I had come, then I was referring to the divine Spirit who confined himself in the blessed body of Jesus; but when I prophesied to my disciples that the Son of Man would be betrayed and crucified, I was referring only to the material part; it would not be possible to crucify the spirit or put him to death, because he is immortal and is above all created things.

32. If I told you that I would imprint my Law on your heart, engrave it in your spirit and reign in you, I meant my wisdom, my eternal essence. You must understand that it is not Jesus who penetrates your heart, but Christ, the eternal Word, the one who through the mouth of the prophet Isaiah was announced as the slain Lamb.

33. Materially, Jesus was your ideal and the realization of perfection, so that in Him you would have an example worthy of imitation, I wanted to teach you what man must be to resemble his God.

34. God is one and Christ is one with Him, since He is the Word of Divinity, the only way by which you can reach the Father of all creation.

35. My seed is sown in every spirit of humanity and the day will come when you will be able to rise up to be similar to your Master.

36. The Spirit of Truth is the divine wisdom that comes to clarify the mysteries and has reached men, in fulfillment of my promise made to humanity. You are living in the Era in which these manifestations were to be realized, because you are spiritually prepared to receive them.

37. See that the evils that afflict humanity today come from their lack of compliance with my Law, and for having given a material interpretation to the divine teachings and revelations. With these errors, how were they to realize their spiritual nature and the divine ties that bind all humanity to its Creator? This is where your selfishness, your wars and your attachment to material pleasures come from.

38. The Spirit of God is like an infinite tree in which the branches are the worlds and the leaves the beings. If one and the same is the sap that passes through the trunk to all the branches and from these to the leaves, don't you think that there is something eternal and holy that unites you all to each other, and that merges you with the Creator?

Love one another!

39. Your passage through the world is brief, but it is necessary that you fulfill your mission before leaving this life, so that you may come to inhabit higher abodes for the spirit, in the hereafter.

40. Spirit and matter are two different natures, from them your being is formed and on both is consciousness. The first is the daughter of light, the second comes from the earth, it is matter, both are united in one being and fight each other guided by consciousness, in which you have the presence of God. That struggle so far has been constant but in the end, spirit and matter will fulfill in harmony the mission that my Law indicates to each one.

41. You can also imagine the spirit as if it were a plant and the body as the earth. The spirit that has been planted in matter grows, rises, sustaining itself with the trials and teachings that it receives throughout its human life.

42. I have come to teach you to know your spirit deeply, because that immense wave of materialism that has been advancing on humanity, will have to create immense spiritual needs and it is necessary that in the world there is a source of light, where those thirsty for it can quench their thirst.

43. How many terrible wars await humanity, much more terrifying than those that have happened: in which the fury of the unleashed elements will be confused with the roar of your weapons; the world will be small to contain in its bosom so much destruction. All this will lead as a consequence that men, having reached the maximum of their pain and despair, turn supplicantly to the true God, whom they did not want to reach by the way of love, to ask for his divine peace. Then I, Christ, the Word, will rise in hearts, because that time will be the third day, in which I will fulfill the promise of salvation by building the temple as I promised you.

44. Like the angel who perched on the tomb of Jesus, my Divine Spirit will descend to lift the sepulchral earthenware that closes your heart so that my light may illuminate the most intimate of the human being.

45. This will be the spiritual dawn of which you will be witnesses; but my seed and the good news will spread, because the time of the struggle is approaching and it is necessary that my children be prepared, but know from now on that in this struggle there will be no hesitation, it will be carried to the end in which the light will triumph over the darkness of humanity.

Love one another!

46. Listen carefully, disciples, so that you to whom I have explained so many mysteries, will not lose the keys that I have entrusted to you, to open the book of my wisdom, feel peace so that you can make it felt around you.

47. Only with the serene and clean elevation of your spirit will you become the sowers of spirituality.

48. In the midst of all the vicissitudes of your earthly life, you will be able to accomplish many wonders, if you truly treasure in your spirit the gift of peace that my love gives you; on the other hand, if you do not carry it, you will be able to do very few works worthy of Me.

49. Receive my Teaching without worries, peacefully, contemplate me with the sensitivity of your feelings and feel me with tenderness, as little ones feel their loving mother. Only in this way will you be able to receive and take advantage of the torrent of light that overflows from my teachings.

50. Learn to penetrate the atmosphere of intimate peace that these moments in which you remain with me offer you, and forget your sorrows and problems, so that you may be strengthened in my love.

51. Be strong so that you can withstand trials and pray for humanity that is shaken and suffering like you, and truly I tell you that when you feel the arrival of my peace, you will perceive that that peace has descended on everyone.

52. You ask me why on many occasions, in order to receive some grace from Me, you first have to cry through some trial, and I tell you, that being each of you like a tree, sometimes you have branches so sick or dry that pruning is necessary so that there are good fruits, and those cuts have to cause you pain.

53. Sometimes that pruning reaches to the very roots to destroy the evils that have polluted your spirit.

54. At the moment you cry, but do not despair, because after pain comes true health.

55. When I turn you from the evil way, I do it with great charity and love, even if for the moment you do not understand my perfect designs. I dominate illness in you and transform it into health and joy, this is how I am bringing the materialized, the confused, the lost on the path of good closer to the path.

56. When they crucified Jesus, He gently forgave his executioners and gave them life, begging his Father for their salvation; with his words and his silence He also gave them forgiveness and those proofs of infinite love for humanity, were and will be eternally as inexhaustible honor, in which men will be inspired for their noblest actions of forgiveness and love.

57. Today as yesterday, I come to give you to drink from that fountain of truth and life, to rise from your falls, and to illuminate your path so that you may endure the trials in your march through this world and this may serve as a stepping stone to ascend to the mansion where you will know the supreme peace.

58. Do not be afraid of your Creator, but of yourselves, when your spirit is not on the path traced by my Law.

59. Seek the path that Jesus traced for you so that you may set aside your cup of bitterness. If you miss or voluntarily delay your arrival in the Kingdom of peace, it will be because you want it that way, not because it is my will.

60. Let me guide you, so that, supported by Me, you may interpret the teachings that the Book of Life offers you and understand something of the future that awaits humanity.

61. Do not be afraid of kings or lords or anyone who holds any title or power for you, because nothing will be able to oppose what is commanded by the Father.

62. I have manifested my light translated into word, which some of you have heard and which everyone will know by writings and testimonies.

63. I have told you that I am the Great Warrior whose sword comes in the form of a fight, but understand that I do not come to provoke wars between men, as you always have; my war is of ideas, of conviction, in which truth, love, reason, justice and true wisdom shine.

64. But when the struggle is more intense and man begins to understand that these messages are divine inspirations, flashes of the love of God, who only seeks peace among humanity, he will feel impulses to put them into practice, to teach them to all who do not know them, and then he will take my Doctrine to exterminate the evil that your disobediences have caused you.

65. On what you learn and analyze from the written word, I will pour out my inspiration, so that you may apply the teaching that you give to your brothers.

66. When among men those begin to arise who, impassive before the insult, love and forgive the one who has hurt them and with love bless God, because with his perfect lessons he made them living examples of Jesus, then you will be at the beginning of the reign of Christ in the heart of humanity.

MY PEACE BE WITH YOU!

Teaching 22

1. This is a time of great light for the people of Israel, in which I am awakening the spirits of various dwellings, in the different paths of the Earth; so that all my children come to Me full of understanding and love to receive their inheritance.
2. I am choosing among humanity men, women, the elderly and children, in whom the spirits of Israel are housed, who are the firstborn of my Divinity, responsible for my revelations.
3. In the three times I have gathered and gathered my people, and in this Third Age your spirit has been surprised by my presence and my word through the human understanding, because you did not believe that Christ, the Divine Word, came to communicate with you in this form. Having announced my return to you as the Holy Spirit through the prophets, you did not keep watch waiting for my arrival, and now that you have my manifestation among you, you have not recognized me, due to your lack of spirituality, of study in the divine teachings. But you must understand that in whatever way I manifest myself to you, I will always be essence, presence and potency, truth and love.
4. Then why did you doubt me the three times I appeared to you? Have I hidden from you the signs and the time of my coming, so that mankind would be confused? No, really. Those who doubt my presence, be silent, seal your lips, continue to listen to me tirelessly, until you confess that it is I, your Lord, who has come to communicate through human understanding. If I am manifesting myself through men and women, whose imperfections and weaknesses are similar to yours, it is because I have looked for someone to communicate with and I have not found a chaste and pure heart to manifest myself in all my splendor.
5. I have searched through childhood and I contemplate that while his flesh is innocent, his spirit carries with it a chain of vices that he has collected in the past times and has forgotten that he has reincarnated on this planet only to purify himself by means of a new envelope. I have looked among the youth for a pure heart and I have seen that the young man has become defiled and bears blemishes in his spirit; and in the maiden is the germ of temptation. Among the elderly, I look only at people who are tired and confused by the vicissitudes of life. In scientists there is materialism and arrogance, because having shown them the secrets of Nature, they felt great and wanted to become gods in this world. And among those who call themselves ministers of my Divinity, I discover only the hypocrite and the Pharisee of the Third Time. Therefore I tell you, I have chosen among the sinners whom I have appointed spokesmen, who are equal to you, and who by this gift that I have given them, are making restitution and are being saved. At the instant when my ray descends to illuminate them and thus I can communicate through their channel, I remove the stain, I receive their elevation, and my spiritual world, to whom they have been entrusted to watch over their steps, prepares and dignifies them.

6. I could manifest myself visibly or make my voice resound, as you heard it in the First Time on Mount Sinai, but in that way what merits of faith would you do before Me? None, because the virtue of faith is a step on the ladder of your elevation. But that is not why I hide myself, and if I communicate through man it is because I love you and I am giving you a higher lesson and I want you to recognize me in its perfection.

7. In the spirit of the man who is my masterpiece, I have placed my divine light, I have cultivated it with infinite love, as the gardener cultivates the pampered plant of his garden. I have placed you in this dwelling place where you need nothing to live, so that you may know me and know yourselves. I have given you power in the spirit to feel the life of the Hereafter and in your matter senses so that you may be recreated and perfected. I have given you this world so that in it you will begin to take your first steps, and on this path of progress and perfection you will experience the perfection of my Law, so that through your life you will recognize and love me, and by your merits you will reach Me.

8. I have given you the gift of free will and endowed you with conscience. The first so that you may develop freely within my laws and the second, so that you may know how to distinguish good from evil, so that she, as a perfect judge, may tell you when you fulfill or lack my Law.

9. Consciousness is the light of my Divine Spirit that does not depart from you at any time.

10. I am the Way, the Truth and the Life, I am peace and blessing, the eternal promise that you will be with me and also the fulfillment of all my words.

11. If you feel distrust of life, if you consider yourself powerless for the struggle, pray, communicate with me and remain on the path of peace that my love traces for you. Mend your wrongs, be regenerated and forgive the one who offends you. Resign yourselves to trials, and you will feel my strength and peace, despite the vicissitudes of life.

12. The Master hastens to teach you and to pour out his wisdom in your spirit and heart, because only a short time I will speak to you in this form. I want to leave my word to you as an inheritance, so that you may keep it zealously. It is the truth, and if you make it known to your brothers, with its original purity and with your good works, you will have fulfilled your spiritual mission.

Love one another!

13. Those who, at the moment of my departure, say to me, "Lord, you turn away from us and leave us orphaned," those will be those who have been deaf and blind to my manifestations and have not wanted to understand my lesson.

14. It has been a long time that I have contemplated fanaticism and idolatry in your worship; you bring to these houses of prayer, material offerings that do not reach Me, therefore I have invited you to analyze my word, so that your spirit evolves, because the stage of preparation is ending and it is necessary that you take a step forward in understanding my teachings.

15. The profane will become children, the children will become disciples and the disciples will become living examples of humility, charity and wisdom. Many of them are found among these crowds, but there are also scattered among scientists and among religions and sects.

16. Do not be arrogant with the fruits of your science, because now that you have made so many advances in it, it is when humanity suffers the most, when there is more misery, unrest, diseases and fratricidal wars.

17. Man has not yet discovered the true science, that which is achieved by the way of love.

18. Look how vanity has blinded you; every nation would like to have the greatest sages on earth. Truly I tell you, scientists have not penetrated deeply into the arcana of the Lord. I can tell you that man's knowledge of life is still superficial.

19. The time is approaching when spiritual revelations will reveal to humanity the luminous path to come to know the mysteries that are hidden in the bosom of Creation. The light of my spirit will reveal to you the way to acquire the true science that will allow man to be recognized and obeyed by the creatures that surround you and by the elements of Creation, thus fulfilling my will that man would come to lord it over the Earth, but that will be when the spirit of man illuminated by consciousness, has imposed its power and its light on the weaknesses of matter.

20. How can the forces and elements of Creation submit to the will of man, when they are moved by selfish feelings, while Nature is governed by my Law of love?

21. It is necessary that the ideals of humanity be guided by paths of justice, guided by the truth of a perfect teaching, which reveals to it the meaning of eternal life and that teaching is this spiritual Doctrine, which in the course of time will transform your spiritual and human life.

Love one another!

22. Man alone is incapable of receiving my word and modifying his customs, tendencies, ambitions and ideals, that is why I have allowed the pain to shake them for a while, more when the chalice is more bitter and they recognize before the judge of their conscience their mistakes, they will invoke my name, they will look for me, the lost sheep will return to my fold of love, and all my children will be filled with the light of my Spirit to start a new way of life.

23. I have not come to put defects to your works on earth, no, I have come to point out to you your mistakes, because I want you to achieve the perfection that corresponds to you by eternal inheritance. Your spirit will not be lost because it is a flash of the divine light and image of your Father and Creator.

24. What would become of your spirit if I devoted myself to extolling your human works and left him indefinitely abandoned to earthly passions?

25. If I have come to you it is because I love you, if I speak to you in appearance with severity, in my word is my justice and my love. If I make you know my truth, even if it sometimes causes you pain, it is because I want your salvation.

26. Do not reject my word, analyze it so that in its essence you will find the doctrine capable of working the miracle of transforming this valley of tears, today turned into a field of bloody battles between brothers, into a valley of peace where only one family lives, humanity, practicing the just, perfect and loving laws that your Father has inspired you, because in the fulfillment of them you will find happiness.

27. I have had few disciples in this world and in fewer numbers those who have been like the image of the Divine Master. In the spiritual valley, it is where I have many disciples, because it is where the study of my teachings is most advanced. There they receive from their Master what humanity denied them. That is where those who for their humility were ignored on Earth shine by virtue and where those who shone with false light in this world cry sad and repentant.

28. In the hereafter, it is where I receive you as you did not expect on Earth, when you return crying, but blessing me. It does not matter that throughout your journey, you have had a moment of despair, I will take into account that you had days of great pain and that in them you showed resignation and blessed my name. You too, within your smallness, have gone through some trials, although these have been caused by your disobedience.

29. Behold, for a few moments of fidelity and love for God, you will achieve times of life and grace in the hereafter. This is how my eternal love responds, to the momentary love of man.

Love one another!

30. Blessed are those who, falling and rising, go weeping and blessing me, those wounded by their own brothers, trust in Me deep in their hearts. Those sad little ones, mocked, but meek and therefore strong in spirit, are truly my disciples.

31. Rejoice because with these lessons you will progress in your evolution, even if there are those who, being guided by light judgments, think otherwise. For centuries you have been thirsty to know something more than you knew and you still have a heart withered with love despite as many beliefs as you have had. The sooner you will be grouped around the perfect love that emanates from the Book of True Life, which is this word.

32. You are dying of spiritual thirst, you wither for lack of the dew of love and pure affections; you feel alone and that is why I have come to pour out among you the unmistakable fragrance of my love that will make your spirit reborn and flourish in virtue.

33. Listen to Me, disciples, so that you may pluck old beliefs from your understanding. Christianity was divided into sects that do not love each other, that humiliate, despise and threaten their brothers with false judgments. I tell you that they are Christians without love, therefore they are not Christians because Christ is love.

34. There are those who represent Jehovah as an old man full of human defects, vindictive, cruel and more terrible than the worst of your judges on earth.

35. I am not telling you this to make fun of anyone, but so that your concept of divine love may be purified. You do not know now how you have adored me in your past.

36. Practice the silence that favors the spirit so that it can find its God, that silence is like a source of knowledge and all those who penetrate it are filled with the clarity of my wisdom. Silence is like a closed place with indestructible walls, to which only the spirit has access. Man constantly carries within himself the knowledge of the secret place in which he will be able to communicate with God.

37. No matter where you are, wherever you will be able to communicate with your Lord, whether you are on the top of the mountain or you are in the depth of a valley, in the restlessness of a city, in the peace of the home or in the midst of a struggle; if you seek me inside your sanctuary in the midst of the deep silence of your elevation, instantly the doors of the universal and invisible enclosure will open so that you truly feel in the house of your Father, which exists in every spirit.

38. When the pain of trials overwhelms you and the sorrows of life annihilate your senses, if you experience an intense desire to achieve a little peace, retire to your bedroom or seek silence, the solitude of the fields, there raise your spirit guided by consciousness and enter into meditation. Silence is the kingdom of the spirit, a kingdom that is invisible to material eyes.

39. At the moment of penetrating to spiritual ecstasy, it is when the higher senses are awakened, intuition arises, inspiration shines, the future is sensed and the spiritual life feels the distant and makes possible what seemed unattainable before.

40. If you want to penetrate the silence of this sanctuary, of this ark, you yourselves must be the ones who prepare the way, because only with true purity will you be able to penetrate it.

41. There are gifts and missions that have only been waiting for the time of your preparation to arrive, to settle in your spirit and become prophets and teachers.

42. In that Ark is all the past, the present and the future of beings, there is the manna of the spirit, the bread of eternal life, of which I told you through Jesus that "whoever eats of it will never die".

43. Your spirit has delighted in hearing my word and has found an opportunity to fulfill its mission, among this people of farmers that I am forming.

44. How many afflictions do you forget while you are engaged in this blessed work of counseling, anointing and consoling your brothers and sisters!

45. Your spirit has been strengthened and matter has healed, for I have told you that whoever gives peace, balm or does charity in any of its innumerable forms, will see in himself multiplied what he gave.

46. In this way I am separating you from the false pleasures of the world, from the superfluous, so that your heart may be clean and always be worthy that my charity towards those in need may pass through it; so that you may not be contaminated again by the evil that reigns everywhere.

47. This inner and outer purity is essential in my disciples, because only in this way can you be believed by your brothers when you rise up to spread this Good News. Only by keeping your heart healthy and clean will good works be able to flow from it, and words of light from your lips.

48. In your path you will find darkness and confusion, and the only strength and power that you will have to overcome imposture with the truth, will be precisely the purity of your feelings, the purity of your deeds; do not forget that although before your fellow men you seem to manifest the truth without possessing it, you will not be able to deceive Me.

Love one another!

49. Your transformation must be profound and true, to such an extent that you will notice it in the spirituality with which your children, those new generations, who are a promise to humanity, come into the world, healthy men of matter and spirit, not slaves of temptations, nor victims of the lies of their brothers, but beings capable of loving me in a dignified way and loving their fellow men with truth. The time is coming when the enemies of my Doctrine will rise up stalking your path, wanting to destroy your seed, but I tell you that if you take care of it as your sacred inheritance, if you watch over what I have entrusted to you, no force will be able to destroy what with love and in my name you sow in the hearts of your brothers.

50. Practice my word, preach with deeds, testify with good deeds, words and thoughts and your testimony will be worthy of my teaching.

51. By watching and praying you must wait for those who sooner or later will come to look for you. The soldiers will return from the war with a depressed heart and a sobbing spirit; the leaders will recognize their mistakes and publicly mourn their faults and the crowds thirsty and hungry for justice will look for these sources of spiritual light where they can drink until their need for faith, peace and love is satisfied.

52. My Spirit watches over every being and I am attentive to the last of your thoughts.

53. Truly I tell you, there in the midst of the armies fighting for earthly ideals and ambitions, I have discovered in the moments of rest the men of peace and goodwill, turned into soldiers by force. The sighs escape from his heart when my name gushes from his lips and the tears run down his cheeks with the memory of his: parents, wives, children or brothers. Then your spirit, with no other temple than the sanctuary of your faith, no more altar than your love, no more light than that of your spirit, rises up to Me in demand of forgiveness for the deaths that you have involuntarily caused with your weapons. They seek Me to ask me with all the strength of their being to allow them to return to their home or, if they are to fall under the blow of the enemy, to cover with my mantle of mercy those they leave on Earth.

54. To all those who seek my forgiveness in this way, I bless them because they are not to blame for killing, others are the murderers, those who will have to answer me, at the time of their judgment, of what they have done with human lives.

55. Many of them, loving peace, wonder why I have allowed them to be taken to the very fields of battle and death, to which I tell you that if their human understanding does not reach to understand the reason that exists at the bottom of all this, their spirit instead knows that it is fulfilling a restitution.

Love one another!

56. I also know of those who, forgetting their own, think of all peoples, to weep with pain at the reality of humanity's false Christianity. They, in their prayers they call me, in their meditations they remember that there is the promise of my return and that even the signs of my new coming were foretold and remained written. Carry these words in your heart and that is why, every day you ask me when my arrival will be in the East and the West, and at all points you look for the signs without your eyes discovering them, and you feel confused.

57. They do not know that all the signs have already been verified and that is why my Spirit begins to manifest its new phase at this time.

58. How many times, when listening to my spiritual voice, have you woken up asking: Who has called me? Without understanding the meaning of my message. Other times the light of intuition has been so clear in their understanding, that they have achieved amazing facts that have filled them with amazement.

59. The balm for the wounded or the dying, as well as bread or water, have miraculously arrived and they experience how peace and trust strengthens them spiritually and materially in the moments of greatest danger.

60. These events have caused those who live watching and praying to exclaim inwardly: "Lord, are not these manifestations that you give us daily proof of your presence? Does not all this prove that your Spirit seeks in this time ours to communicate from Teacher to disciples, or from Father to son?"

61. Yes, beloved disciples, they are proofs that my Spirit is vibrating over yours, fulfilling in a new way my promise to return among men.

62. The signs that announced my new manifestation to you have already been fulfilled, you have not seen them, nor have you had news of them, but I tell you, Do you feel my presence, do you foresee the arrival of the new time? Is your heart sustained by praying spiritually and does your spirit feel strengthened if it allows itself to be guided by the light of conscience? If so, then why do you need material signs that announce my presence to you and bear witness to the fulfillment of prophecy? Let the Pharisees and the scribes of this time be the ones who search. Let it be the chief priests, meditators of my presence, who auscultate space and earth in search of the promised signs. For them were granted, for men of little faith, for those who boast of spirituality and have a heart and spirit harder than a rock; for them the signs that like clarion voices Nature gave when my spiritual manifestation was about to give its light on humanity.

Love one another!

63. In this moment of prayer consecrated to communion with the Father, forget all your worries, discard the temptations that may divert your spirit from the fulfillment of my Law, free it from all restlessness. In these sublime moments, let your will be the divine will; abandon yourselves in the love of your Heavenly Father. It will be then that you will contemplate the works that you call miracles being performed as in the Second Time.

64. When in your prayers you feel invaded by my peace, it will be a sign that you have penetrated into communion with my Divinity. The conscience will shine like a refulgent sun in your spirit and you will contemplate the light of the Holy Spirit, on the altar of your sanctuary. You will see everything illuminating in these moments for the love of God.

65. The veils that, due to your unpreparedness, had prevented you from understanding the meaning of my teachings, will be lifted and you will contemplate inside the Eternal Tabernacle, the arcanum of the Lord, which is the origin of life, from where true wisdom springs.

MY PEACE BE WITH YOU!

Love one another!

Teaching 23

1. Blessed are those who seek to be at peace with their conscience. Blessed is he who sows the seed of my peace in the way of his fellow men.
2. Come to Me, whenever you find yourself depressed by sorrows or lack of faith, because I am the light and the force that will restore you to spiritual tranquility.
3. When I no longer manifest myself in this form, where will you listen to me? In your conscience, because through it I am showing you the way of love.
4. When the world is going through an era of spiritual disorientation, when man does not understand the mysteries that the spiritual life entails, nor does he know how to analyze and meditate on his mission, despite being qualified for it, the clarity of my word comes to enlighten him. Humanity is witnessing that at these moments scientists devote all their time and mental strength to discover in Nature the answer to many questions and doubts that life presents to them. And Nature responds to the call of men, bearing witness to its Creator, who is an inexhaustible source of wisdom and love, but also of justice. However, the free will that man has been endowed with has not led him to awaken to the light of my love, and the spirit continues to drag the chains of materialism from which he has not managed to free himself. It is as if they are afraid to take a step forward in evolution, accustomed to continue stationed in the traditions bequeathed to them by their ancestors. Man is afraid to think and believe for himself, prefers to submit to the tradition of others, depriving himself of his freedom to know me. For that reason he has lived in the backwardness; but the time of light has come for humanity and with it man acquires his own knowledge, awakens, advances and is surprised by the truth of my teaching.
5. Why, if humanity has witnessed the development of science and has seen discoveries that it would not have believed before, does it resist believing in the evolution of the spirit? Why does he persist in what he parks and lethargies?
6. My doctrine and my revelations of this time are in accordance with your evolution. The scientist should not be puffed up by his material work and his science, because my revelation and the help of the spiritual beings who inspire you from beyond have always been present in it. Man is part of Creation, he has a mission to fulfill, as do all the creatures of the Creator, but he has been given a spiritual nature, an intelligence and a will of his own so that he can achieve by his effort, the development and perfection of the spirit, which is the highest thing he possesses. Through the spirit man can conceive his Creator, understand his benefits, as well as admire his wisdom.

Love one another!

7. If, instead of puffing yourselves up with your earthly knowledge, you identified yourselves with all my Work, there would be no mysteries for you, you would recognize yourselves as brothers and you would love one another as I love you: there would be goodness, charity, love in you, and therefore union with the Father.

8. How small you are when, believing yourselves to be all powerful and great, you resist confessing that over the limit of your power and your knowledge is that of the one who truly knows everything and can do everything! Then, you concretize to be matter and only matter and you seem insignificant, because you are subject only to the natural law that governs mortal and fleeting beings, who are born, grow and die, leaving no trace of their passage. How long will you get up from that state you are in? You have to make an effort to look beyond the heaven that you have forged, so that you will come to the understanding that only by spiritual merits will you reach the Father.

9. Do not wait for others to start the march towards Me, come, raise your prayer and in this way, you will understand what you must do and you will know the mission that you have to fulfill. I come to invite you to come closer to Me, but for this, it is not necessary that you abandon the missions, duties and recreations of human life.

10. You have come to dwell on Earth at a time when men live under the rule of human science, and yet at this time you will develop your spiritual gifts: you will heal the sick, you will prophesy and you will reach greater heights in your spiritual evolution.

11. The light that illuminates your interior helps you to predict what is to come, but you must prepare for that gift to flourish. Nothing should stand still, everything should walk in harmony with Creation.

12. I do not give you my teaching only as a moral brake for your matter, it is with it that you will be able to climb the greatest heights of your spiritual perfection.

13. I have not been creating a new religion among you, this Doctrine does not come to ignore existing religions, when they are based on my truth. This is a message of divine love for all, an appeal to all institutions. Whoever understands the divine purpose and fulfills my precepts, will feel guided towards the progress and elevation of his spirit. As long as man does not understand the spirituality that he must have in his life, peace will be very far from being a reality in the world, but whoever complies with my Law of love will not fear death or the judgment that awaits his spirit. You must know that it will not be until death comes to you that your Father judges you, but that this judgment begins as soon as you begin to realize your deeds and feel the call of your conscience. My judgment is always upon you. At every step, whether in human life or in your spiritual life, you are subject to my judgment, but here in the world, on earth, the spirit becomes insensitive and deaf to the calls of conscience.

Love one another!

14. I judge you to help you open your eyes to the light, to free you from sin and save you from pain.

15. In my judgment, I never take into account the offenses that you may have done to me, because resentment, revenge, or even punishment never makes an appearance before my tribunal.

16. When the pain reaches your heart and touches you in the most sensitive, it is to point out to you some mistake that you are making, to make you understand my teaching, and to give you a new and wise lesson. At the bottom of each of these trials, my love is always present.

17. On some occasions I have allowed you to understand the reason for a trial, on others you cannot find the meaning of that touch of my justice and it is that in the Work of the Father and in the life of your spirit, there are deep mysteries that the human mind cannot decipher.

18. I give you these teachings, so that you are not waiting for death to arrive to start paying off your debts, but that you should take advantage of the trials that your life presents to you, knowing that it will depend on love, patience and the elevation with which you receive and fulfill them, that your spirit arrives at the thresholds of eternal life, stripped of the burden of sins and imperfections that he carried in his stay in the world.

19. The time is far away when it was said to you, "With the rod that you measure, you will be measured." How many times that law was used to take revenge here on earth, putting aside all feelings of charity!

20. Now I tell you, that I have taken that rod of righteousness, and with it I will measure you according to what you have measured, although I must make it clear to you that in each of my judgments the Father who loves you very much will be present, the Redeemer who has come to save you.

21. It is man who dictates by his deeds his sentence, terrible sentences sometimes, and it is your Lord who seeks help from you, so that you will find a way in which you can bear your atonement.

22. Truly I tell you, if you want to avoid a too painful restitution, repent in due time and with sincere regeneration orient your life in works of love and charity towards your brothers.

Love one another!

23. Understand that I am the saving door, the door that will never be closed for all who seek me with true faith.

24. If you want proof of the truth of my teachings, I tell you that before your eyes you have the proofs that you ask of me to follow me. What are these tests? The regeneration of these men and women who today serve me as farmers on my land.

25. This journey is sometimes late and painful, but it is never impossible to travel. The mission of the spiritualist disciple is delicate and difficult, but it is not impossible to fulfill it, so I tell all of you who are undecided that if you doubt that you can fulfill me, it is because you are men of little faith.

26. I offer my field of love to all those who want to do merit by serving their brothers. Those who have understood it this way, have hurriedly approached Me to ask for an opportunity to work in my blessed lands where the seed is charity.

27. Here the merits have to be true so that they can be written down by Me in favor of the one who performs them. Appearances before others have no value before Me, that is why my laborers are learning to work in silence, to be humble and sincere, to abhor vanity and never to publish charity.

28. The people do not know the history of each of these labourers who serve them day after day; they ignore the efforts, sacrifices and renunciations that my servants have had to make in order to become worthy of being called my disciples.

29. Many of these men and women who, through their spiritual gifts, bring so much joy to your heart, who make you feel my balm and with their word restore peace to you, carry in their hearts a hidden sorrow that only my gaze contemplates.

30. How many of them have been unknown and even disowned by their loved ones, because they have taken this path! And they hurt them, they slander them and threaten them, and they continue to fulfill their mission with love, feeling the scourges and the stones of the mobs, while they walk under the weight of their cross, like their Master.

31. I see that you want to know why some of them renounce to continue in this fulfillment, to which I tell you that it is not because they have not borne the weight of their cross, but that the world tempted them and they yielded to temptation, because whoever takes the cross of love on his shoulders, in reality it is not he who carries it, rather it is the cross that sustains him, because each of the farmer's steps are always accompanied by an inner feeling of infinite peace. But not because you know that my peace is in those who follow me, do you behave ungratefully towards them, because they are as human as you are. Not because you look at them smiling and calm do you insist on ignoring what they suffer to become useful and to serve you.

32. Who has known how to respond with love and charity to those who often suspend their work for coming to receive those in need of peace and health? When have you come to the crib of the little one who had to stay only because his mother is a peasant who had to go to fulfill her mission among those who suffer? Truly I tell you, just as I have called you to learn to receive, I also ask you to learn to respond with love to the charity of your brothers and sisters.

33. How many times do you show yourselves displeased and judge them of bad farmers because they are slow to arrive! You are demanding if you notice a mistake in them, because you know that they have a duty to fulfill.

34. O multitudes, instead of humbly taking the bread that is given to you, you devour it together with the hand that has been stretched out to offer you sustenance!

35. What do you know about the struggles my chosen ones have to keep themselves clean to serve you? What do you know about the trials with which they are touched, in order to keep them alert? And yet you judge them weak and propagate that temptation has dominated them, without understanding that it is the burden that you have left on them, since you are refusing to take the share of responsibility that corresponds to each one in my Work.

36. How soon you forget how much you received through them! But in your hearts you reassure yourselves, arguing that they gave you nothing, but truly I tell you, as long as you do not love one another, it is a lie that you are loving Me.

37. The legions of spiritual beings who, invisible to your material eyes, attend the manifestation of my word, are the ones who give the true interpretation to my teachings, so that you may know what are the commands that I gave to the spirit and in what way they fulfill it, that is why I sometimes address them through the spokesman through which I give you my teaching. Do you think it is necessary for them to speak to them by human means? No, people, I have just told you that I am only doing this so that you may feel their presence and listen to the orders I give them.

38. The legion of beings that I have destined to accompany you and help you on your journey is very great, so much so that you could not imagine it. There is an absolute harmony within her. The light that shines in them is that of wisdom and love, because the ideal to which they are consecrated is that of giving charity to humanity, their greatest desire being to lead their brothers to the summit of spirituality.

Love one another!

39. How beautiful is the mission they carry out, and how you make their work difficult for them! You should not say that your lack of collaboration with your spiritual brothers is due to ignorance, since you have listened to the orders that I give them through my spokespersons so that you may know their mission of love and charity, and prepare to help them in their fulfillment.

40. You have not yet managed to identify with that world of brothers of light; nor do you know how to harmonize with them, why? Because of your lack of spirituality that does not allow your senses to perceive all the calls, the touches and inspirations with which they would like to guide your steps on Earth.

41. Many times you confuse spirituality with material practices that, instead of bringing you closer to them, rather take you away. You think that when invoking them it is more effective to call them by some name than to attract them with a prayer. You think that there is a better preparation in you if you invoke them by lighting a candle or praying loudly, and you are in error.

42. They certainly come to your call, they interpret your desires and impart their help to you, because their mission is inspired by charity; but you did not achieve that help with your spirituality, because then you would have harmonized with your guardian angels, forming with them the people of God who know how to fulfill my commandment that tells you to "Love one another".

43. Verily I tell you, the purer your thoughts and the simpler and purer your practices, the more clearly you will perceive the presence and influence of the spiritual world in your life and the greater the wonders that you will receive from them.

44. Do not think that those brothers of yours can be mixed up in your impure works or associated with your evil purposes, or manifest themselves through you if you are not properly prepared to receive them.

45. To achieve spirituality, beloved people, you must pray and have faith.

46. Prayer and faith will make the miracle that bread will come to your table day by day, as Israel in the First Time was rewarded for their faith with manna.

47. If other peoples steal your bread, you will forgive them so that I will forgive you all.

48. If you find yourself thrown out of your home, you will go to the mountain, which will offer you its bosom so that you can protect yourself while the test passes.

Love one another!

49. Just as in the First Time the faith of the people was strengthened through the great trials that he passed in the desert, so in this time he will be tested many times so that his spirit acquires the necessary strength, to be a soldier of this cause.

50. What disciple of this Work could need a material enclosure where to take refuge for a time from trials? To none, because you all know that your Father does not come looking for quarry temples to dwell in, but shrines and altars in the spirit of humanity, and those temples go with you wherever you meet.

51. Your ancestors have lived a long time in ignorance, feeding religious fanaticism and therefore achieved little advancement for their spirit. It was not given to them to contemplate here on Earth, the light of this Age that is illuminating you, but they will also receive, when the hour comes, the spiritual light in fullness.

52. My Doctrine comes to teach you to harmonize with your brothers, whether they dwell on Earth or in the infinite spiritual valley.

53. These will be the aspects of your future life if you persevere in the Law, because your journey will be very different if you walk outside the path that I have traced with my word, because then hunger, epidemics and wars that arise on earth, will not respect you, because those destructive forces, will not find in you anything that stops them.

54. Beloved disciples: Take advantage of all the small or great trials that arise daily in your life, so that when greater trials come, they will be like gusts of the hurricane that vanish when they hit the immovable walls of the fortress that gives you the practice of my Law.

55. Forge a people with your spiritual union, whose defense against your enemies is prayer. Already then the elements will be able to be unleashed, that this people with its spirituality will know how to overcome all vicissitudes.

56. Rise up, men and women, the elderly, the young and the children; rise up firmly to walk along the path that my word has come to trace for you in this time that is but the resumption of the path that in times past I came to trace for you with the imprint of my sacrifice on the cross.

57. Fulfill my Law so that your children, when forming the new generation, achieve greater evolution than the one you achieved and that your disobediences will not separate them from this Work, making them live further away from spirituality.

58. In this Third Time, I have come to give you the warmth that you need, to take away from you the cold that you have sown in the paths of your life. You have heard the bell that Elijah has rung so that you may come to receive with my teaching, the light of the Holy Spirit.

59. Prepare yourselves, so that you may feel my presence and be like the apostles of the Second Time who, by listening to me, increased their faith every day and prepared to fulfill their delicate mission.

60. Israel: Do not fulfill only your duties contracted in the world. Also fulfill the Law because before the Father you have contracted a mission and its fulfillment must be strict, high and spiritual.

61. I am instructing you to turn away from materialism and stop being fanatics and idolaters, so that you do not worship or worship material objects made by human hands. I do not want there to be in your heart roots of idolatry, fanaticism, false cults; do not present Me with offerings that do not reach Me, I only ask for your regeneration and your fulfillment in spirituality.

62. Regenerate from your past customs, do not look back or contemplate what you have left and that you should no longer continue practicing, understand that you have penetrated the path of your evolution and you should not stop. The road is narrow and you must know it well, because tomorrow you will have to guide your brothers along it and I don't want you to get lost.

63. I am the patient Father who awaits your repentance and goodwill to fill you with my grace and my charity.

64. Do not judge the sometimes clumsy word of my spokespersons; if they lacked preparation, that cause belongs to Me; understand that although I communicate through the most clumsy understanding, you will always find at the bottom of that word essence, light, truth and teaching.

65. This Age will reveal to men the lessons of the book of true life, which had not yet been known to mankind.

66. Truly I tell you that just as Elijah, who opened the doors of the Third Time, did not need to incarnate his spirit to speak to men, so I am communicating with you and so have many beings who now inhabit the spiritual region.

67. They will communicate with you through your faculties until the year 1950, when the materialized communication of the spiritual world will cease; and after that time, many times, without men realizing it, the spirits of light of past times, the liberators, the prophets, the patriarchs, the benefactors, the apostles of good, the sowers of justice, and of the divine teaching of your Father, will speak through their lips, in the culmination of their love for their children, communicating from spirit to spirit.

68. The presence of spiritual beings of light among humanity will be noticed by those who are watching and praying, those who have been spiritualized and prepared, in order to be able to perceive the instant when those sent approach, speak or perform some superhuman work.

69. It will not be necessary for them to communicate through men who have knowledge of this Doctrine, in order to speak through it. His presence, his influence and his inspiration will be so subtle that only the one who is prepared will be able to perceive his presence among humanity.

70. The people of the earth will feel the presence of Moses when each one of them is being liberated. The various religions will experience the presence of Elijah, when the light of the ray that arises from the truth, rends the darkness of the spiritual ignorance of humanity, making clear before their eyes all the falsehood that they have worshiped.

71. The lords of the world who continue to be kings over humiliated peoples, will feel the spiritual presence of Daniel, when the prophet approaches their beds to awaken them to pray, because destruction is approaching.

72. The day will come when every eye will contemplate the light of these works as it is written, so that man may know that for the spirit there are no borders or material limits, and that little by little you are all approaching the goal where harmony and light reign.

MY PEACE BE WITH YOU!

Love one another!

Teaching 24

1. Disciples: You must learn to give without expecting any reward.
2. Practice true humility, which, because it is proper to the high spirit, is reflected in the feelings of the heart. Sincerely feel the last among all, never want to be the first.
3. Learn to forgive those who hurt you. I said to Peter that if seventy times seven he was offended by his brother, the same number of times he should forgive him; giving him to understand by this, that he should always do it, the same with small as with great grievances. How many beings have passed through this world calling themselves Christians and were not able to grant a single forgiveness during their entire lives?
4. Now, I ask all of you whom I have called children of the light: Would you not like, at least once in your existence, to put this sublime commandment into practice, so that you may realize the miracles that he works, both in the one who gives forgiveness and the one who receives it?
5. Light is nobility, it is love and it is understanding between the spirits, you already know then how you must behave in life if you want to truly be the children of light.
6. Now, when you strike back when being offended and both repent, do not hold back your hand out of pride, be the first to hold it out as a proof of humility, and do not be afraid to humble yourselves, because I tell you that whoever humbles himself in the world will be exalted in the hereafter.
7. How do you think that I long for you to be my disciples among this humanity? I would like them to be pure and meek in heart, that with their examples they might shine in the path of their fellow men; that each one might be like those stars that twinkle at night as guardians or guides of their brothers.
8. I would like your heart to be full of joy so that you can overflow it in the sad; that the balm that will bring health to all the sick would flow from your hands; that your lips would know how to transmit my word with its purity and original essence, because then you would be able to redeem the lost by your example.
9. In the Second Time I said to you, as I contemplated the city where my people dwelt, to whom I was promised as their Savior, and who, due to their materialism, did not notice my presence: "Jerusalem, Jerusalem, you who have killed the prophets and have unknown the messengers, how many times I wanted to gather your children, as a bird shelters its chicks and you would not obey me!"

Love one another!

10. I had sought them to offer them true happiness and yet I knew that they would take me to Calvary, but my love was not overcome by the impiety of men and as proof of this, here I am back, saying blessed are those who believe in Me today, because I will take from their hearts all their sorrows, but I also bless those who at this time will be my new judges, because I assure you that they will be believers tomorrow, like Saul of Tarsus who persecuted those who believed in Me, and who will come to Me repentant, to then rise up full of love and faith to spread the seed of truth among his brothers.

11. My light illuminates the human understanding. I come to this people as I did at that time to another people who preceded you, to which I have told you that you belong spiritually. How many of those men did not know me! How hardened was his heart to cry out, crucify him! O blessed crucifixion, for it was the testimony of what divine love can do for its children and of what human ingratitude is capable!

12. Many of them were sick, blind and obsessed; they did not know what they did and for that they judged me, neither do they know what they are doing even now all those who do not go on my path of love. Human evil has wanted to put an end to the love that I sowed through Jesus, but throughout the centuries, millions of men have wept for that nameless ingratitude. But those who have thus wept for Me have hated and cursed those who crucified me, when I have not taught you to hate or curse. I do not hate, nor curse, nor punish, those feelings are not found in my divine Spirit, but I do contemplate them in your worldly justice.

13. I teach you to love, to forgive, to pray for those who hurt you and to bless them.

14. If you always had these works in your life and when carrying them out you really felt them without telling anyone, you would achieve a lot in reparation for your faults and with them, through your clean thoughts, you would receive the light. This is how my word teaches you, this is how the spirit must work silently and without boasting.

15. When an idea or a thought of light springs from your mind, it thus arrives at its destination to fulfill its beneficent mission. If, instead of thoughts of goodness, impure emanations spring from your mind, they will only cause harm wherever you send them. I tell you that thoughts are also works and as such, they are written in the book that exists in your consciousness.

16. Whether your deeds are good or bad, you will receive multiplied what you desired for your brothers. It will be better for you to do evil to yourselves, than to wish it on one of your fellow men.

Love one another!

17. That is why I told you in the Second Time: "What is sown is reaped," because it is necessary that you recognize your experiences in this life and that you remember that your harvests return to you the same seed that you sowed, although in multiplication.

18. Ah humanity that you have not wanted to meditate, feel, or live the teachings of your Master!

19. If the writings of my disciples, who in the Second Time bequeathed my word to you, were altered into your hands, I will make you recognize which are the true words of Jesus, your conscience will discover as false those that are not in harmony with the divine concert of my love.

20. You have read my teachings in a hurry and have interpreted them to your liking, so you are looking for new books, where men take me again from Herod to Pilate, but of that sweet word, of that simple Doctrine that the Divine teacher taught, you will find very little there.

21. You all continue to judge me, some of you make me God, others man, some of you call me divine and others, a human prophet; some of you believe me to be the son of God and the others of David. Some call me a prophet and others an agitator. Some say that I am enlightened by the Most High, others say that I have a pact with the devil, and so this humanity goes after my name, to place on Me the new I.N.R.I. in imitation of the timid Pilate.

22. Through my words and my deeds you judge me, but you do not take care to put into practice the "Love one another". You are afraid to practice this sublime teaching, because you think of the mockery of your brothers.

23. Truly I tell you, if I had been afraid of the hill of Calvary and the cross, you would still be waiting for the Messiah.

24. Do not fall into theologies complicating the simple, do not imitate those who seek to imprison God, the truth, in a material book, because as humans, you will never be able to search God.

25. Do not hinder the easy, do not belittle the great, do not exalt the small. Do not become doctors without doctrine, nor religious without love.

26. Seek your Father who today comes to you as a divine thought, radiating love. Behold my light made word for all men.

27. It is the light of the Holy Spirit, who as a message of love comes to tear the veils that obscure the human understanding.

Love one another!

28. If with good will you seek in this word the knowledge that it contains and find its essence, you will have found the truth.

29. The light of this teaching will be the star that points out to you the path along which you will have to continue: you should not remain stationary because you would stop the progress of your brothers on the spiritual path.

30. I am not here to encourage habits that delay you spiritually, and although you often cover them up with the false brightness of flowery words, at their bottom they contain ignorance and confusion.

31. The book that I open before you is like an exquisite delicacy for the spirit; its essence, once it reaches your heart, will make transformations in it, which will help you imitate the Messiah, the Master, who as a man, paid a perfect tribute of love to the Father. When will you give glory to your Lord in such a way?

32. You have developed your passions in the world, you have worshiped your idols, but to God in infinity and in your brothers When?

33. About two thousand years ago you have been repeating that phrase that the shepherds of Bethlehem heard: "Peace on earth to men of good will", but when did you put goodwill into practice to make yourself worthy of peace? Verily I say unto you, ye have rather done the contrary.

34. You have lost the right to repeat that phrase, so now I come with new words and lessons, so that it is not phrases or sentences that are engraved in your understanding, but the essence of my teaching that penetrates into your heart and spirit. If you want to repeat my words as I have come to deliver them to you, do so, but know that as long as you do not feel them, they will have no virtue. Pronounce them with sweetness and humility, feel them vibrate in your heart and I will answer you in such a way that I will make your whole being tremble.

35. I am poorly interpreted by those for whom I manifest myself, so my lesson is also for them, so that they get rid of all superfluous ideas, fanaticism, old prejudices and everything that could be mixed to the inspiration they receive. With each passing time, new, better-prepared men will come to listen to me.

36. Lift up your thoughts to Me, beloved spokesmen, beg the Master that in your ecstasy his teaching may manifest itself limpid and pure, let my will be done in you and you will see that from your mouths come lessons that will lead these multitudes along the path of love and truth.

Love one another!

37. People: Leave the superstitions that once taught you and pray before Me with true faith; I will deliver you from all lurking and I will send you to the guardian angels.

38. God's law is infinite, it is all-encompassing, it is the harmony between everything created. This law does not concern only the spiritual.

39. You like to learn by heart the precepts of the Law, the names of the spiritual virtues, the maxims and phrases of Jesus, but I tell you, it is necessary that you feel all this. To know is to feel. Whoever wants to possess my Truth must feel it in the depths of his heart.

40. You think of high ideas, of good actions, but you do not do them as is my will, because you do not feel them and therefore you ignore the divine flavor that they leave when they have been practiced. You don't practice them cleanly because you think you can't, and you can't because you don't want to. And it is that to do good it is necessary to love.

41. Whoever loves understands, whoever studies has the will; whoever has the will can do a lot. I tell you, he will have neither elevation nor wisdom, nor will he do great works, who does not love with all the power of his spirit.

42. Whoever departs from the spiritual Law, which is a higher Law, falls under the dominion of the lower or material laws, of which humans also know little. But he who obeys and remains in harmony with the supreme Law is above all the rules that you call natural and feels and understands more than he who only possesses knowledge that he has found in science or in religions.

43. That is why Jesus amazed you with the works that you call miracles, but recognize the lessons he gave you of love. Understand that there is nothing supernatural or contradictory in the divine that vibrates in all Creation.

44. You find it contradictory with the love of the Creator to make your pilgrimage through this life full of bitterness and vicissitudes, in which you imitate your children when they are unhappy or sick. You live in a continuous mourning for your sufferings, but these are the natural result of your disobediences and failures to the Law and the misuse that you have made of the freedom that my love has given you and that you call free will.

45. This lesson that is so simple to understand, because it is within the reach of your understanding, you refuse to consider it as a truth.

46. Only regeneration and the ideal of perfection can bring you back to the path of truth. Those who, feeling themselves interpreters of the Law of God, tell you that infernal sufferings await your perversity and rebellion and that only by demonstrating your repentance, mortifying and injuring your flesh and presenting material offerings to God, He will forgive you and take you to His Kingdom, truly I tell you that they are in confusion.

Love one another!

47. Where will humanity go, led by those whom you admire as great teachers of sacred revelations and whom I contemplate confused? That is why I come to save you with the light of this Doctrine, which will make you evolve on the path of my love.

48. At this time, I come to give you new teachings that you should meditate on, lessons of love that redeem and uplift you, truths that although bitter, are light on your path.

49. Spiritualism in this time, like Christianity in the past time will be fought and persecuted with anger, with cruelty and viciousness and in the midst of the struggle, the spiritual will emerge working wonders and conquering hearts.

50. Materialism, selfishness, pride and love for the world will be the forces that will rise up against this revelation, which is not new or different from the one I have brought to you in times past. The Doctrine which I have now come to reveal to you, and to which you give the name of Spiritualism, is the essence of the Law and Doctrine which in the First and Second Times were revealed to you.

51. When humanity understands the truth of this teaching, its justice and the infinite knowledge it reveals, it will discard from its heart all fear, all prejudice and will take it as the norm of its life.

52. My law does not enslave, my word liberates. He who believes in Me and follows Me is no longer a slave, he ceases to be the subject of earthly passions, he ceases to be of the world and becomes master of himself, he overcomes temptations and the world remains at his feet.

53. Only spirituality will save this humanity from its chaos, do not wait for another solution, O peoples and nations of the Earth! You can make peace treaties, but as long as that peace is not based on the light of conscience, you will be fools, because you will be building on sand!

54. In the Second Time I said to you, "It is easier for a camel to enter through the eye of a needle than for a rich man to enter the Kingdom of heaven," and now you are looking at it. The powerful would like to be able to buy peace with their wealth, but they do not succeed.

Love one another!

55. Thus humanity will understand that spiritual goods are indispensable in human life, goods that cannot be acquired with coins, but with spirituality.

56. Spirituality does not mean mysticism, but elevation of feelings, goodness of heart, righteousness in deeds, love for fellow men.

57. To give you this lesson of charity and love, I have not come to humanize myself, nor to manifest myself in palaces, among vanities and surrounded by luxuries. In the humble neighborhood of your city, among the poor, among the humble, this is how I have come to you, as befits the one who once told you: "My Kingdom is not of this world"

58. This humanity, which in some phases has developed, spiritually lives in a deep lethargy; because it has not managed to search its interior where the true temple exists. That sanctuary is deserted, its lamp does not burn, its altar is without an offering, but I ask you: What is the reason for all this? Because for a long time man feeds on external cults, thereby replacing what should be completely spiritual.

59. He has tried to satisfy the needs of his spirit with ceremonies, traditions, feasts and material offerings. To which I tell you that only works that contain elevation and spirituality will truly strengthen and nourish the spirit.

60. Surely I receive all the offerings and in all of them I place my love; do you not think that it would be more just and pleasing both to the Father and to you, if you offered me something that is worthy of Me and of yourselves?

61. Many men and peoples still think they please me by presenting material offerings to me, they think that the greater the splendor and luxury of their liturgies, the greater the joy in the Lord and the greater the benefits they obtain from Him; and they have forgotten that, if as a man I fled from everything that was vain and superficial, now that I have manifested myself to you in spirit, the less I will receive material objects and ceremonies from men.

62. How long will you be able to interpret my law with truth? How long will this humanity stop violating and adulterating my commandments?

63. I offer you this time to meditate on the spiritual teachings, which had already been revealed to you from the earliest times.

64. Get rid of habits, vices, superstitions, traditions, fanaticism and idolatry, I want you clean, so that you can be spiritualized and I want you humble so that my light can shine in you.

Love one another!

65. Just as in times past, the places of Jerusalem and Rome were for humanity lands of promise and sources of grace where the Lord manifested himself, I have indicated to this dwarfed and humiliated nation a high mission for this time; it must be prepared, because both the echo of my manifestation, the rumor of my wonders and the fervor of the witnesses, will attract the attention of humanity.

66. It will be first the poor, the ignorant, the needy, the innocent, the slaves, the hungry and thirsty for justice, who will come, and then the skeptics, the gentlemen, the scientists will arrive.

67. Watch and pray, be prepared for the arrival of the great mobs. Watch over your works, pray in the corner of your bedroom or wherever the moment of communicating with me surprises you, and there I will be with you.

68. I have not told you to turn away from your duties in the world, but to turn away from what is not in the Law, that is, to turn away from your life the unnecessary, the superfluous and to take in moderation what is lawful.

69. What has your free will given you, when you have used it to pursue and seek material pleasures? Only pain and disappointment.

70. Study my word well when it recommends that you turn away from what belongs to the world. "Give to God what is God's and to Caesar what is Caesar's."

71. From the new Jerusalem I am contemplating this humanity without being felt by it. A few who have waited for me and others who follow me, know that I have returned as the Holy Spirit and that I find myself speaking to them through the understanding of man. Do you know how I meet the peoples of the world? Disappointed, disillusioned men of men. No one asks another anymore, because he knows that he will not get anything from his charity and because he knows that his hand is empty. Now materialism reigns, and of all that is good and high, only a very faint reflection of light has remained.

72. You are amazed that I speak to you like this and you think that I am strict and demanding of you, to which I tell you, that your evolved spirit must offer me a better harvest than the one you make present to me today.

73. Don't you think that the division of humanity into peoples and races is something primitive? Do you not think that if your progress in your civilization, of which you are so proud, were true, the law of force and evil would not still be ruling, but all the acts of your life would be governed by the law of conscience? And you, people, do not stand aside from this judgment, for I also discover wars and divisions among you.

Love one another!

74. Since ancient times I have spoken to you about a judgment and this is the time announced that the prophets represented as a day.

75. The word of your God is of a King and does not recede. What does it matter that thousands of years have passed over it? The will of the Father is immutable and must be fulfilled.

76. If men, in addition to believing in my word, knew how to watch and pray, they would never be surprised, but they are infidels, forgetful, unbelievers and when the proof is presented they attribute it to punishment, to revenge or to the wrath of God. To which I say to you, that every trial is announced in advance, so that you may be prepared, therefore you must always remain vigilant.

77. The Flood, the destruction of the cities by fire, invasions, plagues, diseases, shortages and other more trials, were prophesied to all the peoples of humanity, so that you would prepare and not be surprised. The same as now, always from the love of God a message of alert, of preparation has descended, so that men wake up, prepare and strengthen themselves.

78. Through the gifts of the spirit and the faculties that man possesses, my messages reach his heart. These gifts are: clairvoyance, foreboding, intuition and prophetic dream.

79. So why do you most often receive the tests unprepared? It is not that I have stopped sending the message to you, it is that you have lacked prayer and spirituality.

80. I have told you that a very great trial is approaching all of humanity, so much so that in the entire history of its centuries and ages, it has had no resemblance and now you must understand that I am speaking to the heart of all of you, I am sending you messages and warnings in many forms, so that men may meditate and be awake to my Law, like the wise virgins of my parable.

81. Will the peoples and the different nations of the world listen to Me? Will this people listen to me to whom I am manifesting in this way? Only I know this, but my duty as a Father is to put in the way of my children all the means for their salvation.

82. People: Do not forget this word, do not go to sleep or close the doors of your heart to my call of love, be the messengers of this light, sending your thoughts, like spiritual missives to the minds of your brothers.

83. Now you will understand better why I constantly repeat to you: "Watch and pray".

MY PEACE BE WITH YOU!

Love one another!

Teaching 25

1. The spirit of Elijah, like a heavenly bell, has awakened you to come and hear my word.
2. Your heart is anxiously wondering. What will be the delicacy that the Father gives us to taste on this day? What will today's lesson be?
3. Verily I say to you, a woman left a seriously ill man in her home to come and listen to me, to her I say, When you return to your house, the sick man will leave the bed and he himself will open the door for you to give you the good news that he has been healed, because everyone who leaves the goods of the earth to be with me will have someone to watch over what he has left, and that is Me.
4. I contemplate those who, suffering a great sorrow, have shed tears in the corner of their bedchamber, without despairing or reneging against Me, accepting their trial humbly, knowing that to reach my Kingdom it is necessary to make merits.
5. I see you all going through the different paths of the human struggle and then I have become the pilgrim who crosses your path to ask you: Where are you going? And while some answer me: In search of tranquility, others tell me: Let's go in search of bread. Then the Master comes forward to knock on the doors that you are going to knock so that your brothers receive you with charity and goodwill. That is why when you have called, you find the hearts that were of rock moved, you recognize my presence and you say to me: "Lord, is the charity that you have with us so great?"
6. The proofs that you find in your passage, were not put by chance, I have sent them to you so that you can make merits. The leaf of the tree does not move without my will and I am the same in the great as in the small works of creation, watch and pray so that you come to understand what is the fruit that you must gather from each trial so that your atonement may be shorter. Take up your cross with love and I will have you bear your restitution with patience.
7. This is the Third Time in which I come again to say to you: "Love one another", but not only among humans, but from one world to another; you must love and have charity for those who are in the spirit because they are also your brothers.
8. How far is the time when it was said to you, "He who kills with iron dies with iron." "With the rod that you measure, you will be measured." Today I say to you: Repent, truly, wash away your stains with works of charity, forgiveness and love.
9. Of all the ways I have called you to give you only one teaching. There have never been delicacies at my table that were better than others, I have offered everyone a single bread and the same wine. The great as well as the outcasts have sat at my table, the wealthy as the poor, the sinners as the meek. I have received the same to those who have lived with limpidity as to those who arrive with their spirit stained. This I teach you so that on the path of your life you will never distinguish any of your brothers.

10. Be humble before those who feel superior and he who humbles himself before you considering himself smaller, make him understand that he is no less than you.

11. It is necessary to practice my Doctrine in order to understand the infinite power of love. Love is the virtue that makes sinful man my disciple. Love is the essence of eternal life.

12. There are those who ask me why do you need to speak to us in this way to lead us to the path of the evolution of the spirit? Verily I say to you, this word which you hear is the book which contains my wisdom.

13. Why have I opened this book to you? To reveal many mysteries to man; to make light in his darkness of ignorance.

14. Truly I tell you, men of power cannot do everything, nor do wise men know everything, nor do theologians really know me.

15. That is why I have come again as a teacher among humanity to enlighten your understanding so that you understand the great revelations, provided that you do not intend to reach the height of my wisdom, but penetrating my sanctuary with respect and humility. Whoever penetrates in this way will be led by Me to where my will is and will never find pain.

16. Analyze the science of these times, its fruits are bitter because men have wanted to penetrate without respect into my arcana, and how many, discovering in the least part the wonders of the Universe, have doubted that there is an Omnipotence that created everything. They are those who believe only in what they see and in what they feel, but everything that is beyond their understanding is denied by them.

17. The knowledge that is beyond your comprehension and materialism is what I have come to teach you, so that you may achieve your spiritual perfection.

18. Prepare yourselves, humanity, so that you may get rid of eating the bitter fruits that science prepares for you. I have always come to reveal to you the secret of true life.

19. In the Second Time great multitudes listened to me, thousands of sick people healed just by being touched by Me or by listening to my word of tenderness, or by being contemplated by my loving gaze. Many of them loved and recognized me, although not all of them followed me, because only twelve were those who accompanied me to the end. Their names are immortal because of the example of perfection, virtue and sacrifice that they bequeathed to you, but they were not perfect when I called them, if they had been, I would not have called them to teach them.

Love one another!

20. I do not find righteous or perfect among you either, but you will be transformed through my teaching and you will be able to do great works. The heart of humanity is hard, but I will enlighten you on the way so that you can get ahead.

21. In the Second Time, when my apostles spread throughout the world. Peter had moments of weakness before the persecutions, the cruelty and the hardness of men, and wanting to flee Rome to save his life, he contemplated the silhouette of Jesus who, carrying the cross on his back, was advancing towards the pagan city, Peter asked his Master: "Where are you going, Lord"? To which Jesus replied, "To die again for you." Peter sobbing offered his Lord to return to the bosom of sinners to save them, even at the cost of his blood and his life, to die imitating his Master.

22. That is why I say to you: Do not expect that 1950, the year of my departure, will surprise you unprepared and weak, because if you want to get up and spread my teaching in this way, you will have to falter.

23. Then you will seek my word to strengthen you and you will not find it. Today that I am still doctrinating you, get up to practice my lessons, regenerate, take a step towards spirituality, I will encourage you with works and wonders and you will marvel at the great revelations that I will give you from Spirit to spirit. I will surprise the materialized scientists, manifesting to them the existence of the spiritual. Everything that they have denied and that exists, will be contemplated by them. Then curiosity will awaken, the ambition to probe the afterlife and that will be the moment when my emissaries and disciples will present themselves to explain everything I have revealed to you and prevent humanity from forging sects and theories around my new revelations.

24. Today is the time to listen, to meditate and if the time has come to go after the peoples and nations some of you could not do it, do not be afraid, that where you live you will be able to do a lot, let it be your children who take the good news to distant places. Remember that I have told you that the first will be the last and the last first.

25. Today the crowds arrive before my teaching; those who suffer the most, those who have been hungry and thirsty for justice, those who dream of a life of peace stay to continue listening to my word.

Love one another!

26. Among these poor, rude and simple, I am picking out those for whom I give you my word.

27. The Divine Master of all times, returns among you to communicate with humanity, in this way leading the spirit towards the new day.

28. Prepare your understanding so that you analyze my word with righteousness, I have already told you that the spiritualists will be the ones who will give a just interpretation to the lessons that in this age and in the past times your Lord has revealed to you. The one who reads in my book and analyzes what he does in the spiritual sense, that will be the one who approaches the truth.

29. In order for you to truly define this Doctrine, the sooner you will have to fight among yourselves and you will sometimes even reach confusion, but he who watches and prays in the midst of his tempest trusting in Me, he will feel that calm and peace penetrates into his spirit.

30. The unleashed winds will cause the trees to shed their vain fruits and their dry leaves, until they are free of impurities. Do you not realize that tomorrow, when you no longer hear this word, you will be left alone on the road, teaching your brothers what you learned from Me? I will always be in each one of you, the Master will prepare the way and the disciple will fulfill his mission.

31. I promised to make light in men so that everyone would know and understand the revelations of my Doctrine and this is the time when that promise has been fulfilled, this era that man did not know how to wait, because he has lost himself in a life of science from which he has made a new world and in which the spirits were anxious for my return, because they knew that for them my teaching is their freedom, their elevation and for which they will achieve peace.

32. Some have waited for this era, dwelling in the spiritual valley, others have waited for the miracle being inhabitants of this Earth. Blessed are those who knew how to wait with their lamp lit like the wise virgins of the parable.

33. Also in the Second Time the spirits anxiously awaited the arrival of the Messiah; some in the material world, others from the spiritual abodes; it is that Christ is the door, he is the key, he is the way and the spirits know it.

34. In Me, there is the power to awaken the spirit of humanity and truly I tell you, that hour is approaching and there will not be one who does not tremble at my call. Some will wake up from the materialism that had them lethargic; others from their drunkenness of blood and pleasures, others will do so from the sleep of their ignorance, whose night of darkness and fanaticism has been very great.

35. The instant the spiritual light is made in humanity, prayers will flow from the spirits and they will ask their Lord what they should do to please Him and thus be able to approach His presence.

36. Analyze my word, disciples, and you will find wisdom in its essence, so that your spirit may be instructed in the Doctrine of the Father's love, because it is to your spirit that I have come to speak, to instruct, preparing him for a higher life.

37. You already know that the body is only an instrument for the spirit, proof of this is that it is mortal and transient, but the spirit is destined for eternity.

38. How ignorant of spiritual teachings do I find this humanity, and it is because they have been taught my Law and my Doctrine only as a moral that will help them and not as the path that leads their spirit to the perfect mansion.

39. The different religions have been sowing in the heart of man a false fear of spiritual knowledge, which has caused them to flee from my revelations and to sink into the darkness of ignorance, arguing that the spiritual life is an impenetrable mystery.

40. While those who claim this. All the revelations that God made to man since the beginning of humanity have been speaking to him about the spiritual life. It is true that I had not given you all my teaching, because you were not qualified to know everything until the time came, but what has been revealed by the Father until today is enough for you to have a complete knowledge of the spiritual life.

41. Beloved people: Call this time fortunate, because in it you have had the visit of your Lord and if you want to mark this great event with a date, mark it with the year 1866, which was when Elijah told you that the hour of my presence among this people was approaching. Since then, I have been preparing my disciples to follow me faithfully on this path.

42. Do you want to follow me, do you want to be one of my disciples? Come after Me with the meekness and trust with which Peter, Andrew, James and John followed me, leaving behind their loved ones, their boats and their nets to become, as I told them, fishers of men.

43. Today I come to prepare a people, who will bear witness to my truth. By whom am I going to manifest myself in the world, if not through my disciples?

Love one another!

44. I want you to meditate deeply on my word before launching yourselves on the path of fulfillment, prepare yourselves because men are strong in their convictions. Develop the same in thought, as in words and deeds, so you will have nothing to fear.

45. Yes, people, I see that you are trying to practice my teachings, to live in compliance with my Law to please me with your actions. The Master blesses you and encourages you to persevere in regeneration so that you may achieve spirituality.

46. After the departure of my word, you will do what my apostles of the Second Time did: They gathered to pray and in this way they will receive the divine light that guided them in each of their steps. By means of the spiritual prayer that is the one that I have come to teach you, they communicated with their Lord, they were encouraged by his presence and they came to understand what the will of their Master was. Now you will understand why I took them as the basis or foundation of my Church. Do you know that I want to form a new temple? Who will form the foundations of this sanctuary? I will choose the strong, the faithful in virtue, the understanding and the charitable because their examples will be worthy of imitation.

47. The arcanum of your Father is ready to overflow its inheritance into the spirit of humanity.

48. In your Nation I have fulfilled my promise to return among men, but for this reason you will not feel privileged among the rest of humanity, those who have had the grace to listen to my teachings, because the essence of my word will reach every heart in due time, saying to them: Welcome, my children, who without fatigue come to my presence to hear my word. You are the disciples drawn from the great crowds that have come to Me and your heart full of faith, firmly believing in this manifestation, receives my word and my maxims as the seed of truth.

49. You arrived with a burden of suffering and imperfections, hungry and thirsty for peace and tenderness, and the Master did not stop to contemplate your stains to sit at his table and serve you the best delicacy. You made to the Father an account of all your life and the vicissitudes of the way, you showed the nakedness of your spirit, whose garment was torn to shreds by the hurricane winds. Moved, the Father took you to the fountain where you washed your stains, gave you new and clean clothes and sitting around Him, He gave you the first lesson that was for you like an oscar, like a caress and like a drop of balm.

50. Thus I began to form in the heart of every disciple my book of wisdom and love that you should never close, because its contents do not belong only to you. In its pages there is strength for your trials and light to dispel ignorance.

Love one another!

51. I come to you, because your brothers who have the knowledge, have hidden the truth from humanity and have filled their hearts with selfishness. I do not come to sell you my love, nor my word, nor my blessings. I only hope that you will be ready to send yourselves to the regions and villages to bring the good news of my Doctrine to your brothers, because there are men all over the world who are waiting for my arrival. I want that by 1950, which is the time when I will stop communicating in this form, you will find yourselves strong to start the fight.

52. I have separated you from fanaticism and idolatry to fill your heart with the essence of my teaching so that you may rise to your Lord, giving Him a clean, spiritual and simple worship. As I have taught you, I want you to teach your brothers.

53. When the elements are unleashed, be united, disciples, and by your good works, elevation, faith and unification, I will pour out among you my wonders that will be a testimony to unbelievers that I am with you.

54. The revelations that my arcanum contains and that are reserved for you, are still a mystery because you have not made yourselves worthy of them.

55. The day is not far off when I will stop speaking to you in this way, I want you to be prepared by then, that there is not a single disciple who does not know how to pray before the Lord.

56. The trials of life are giving courage to your spirit, do not rebel or deny them because later, when the whirlwind has passed, you will cry with regret for having offended me with your distrust. Remember that I have left you weapons so that you can defend yourselves, they are: prayer and faith.

57. Pray and if the gale whipping your home should come to knock down its door, truly I tell you that the flame of your lamp, apparently weak, will not be extinguished.

58. When you see that those you have converted are turning away from the way and with contempt they throw away the bread that you had offered them, your heart is filled with pain and you come sad to the Master to deposit your cares in Him, but the Master tells you: If it is ingratitude that guides the steps of those, do not be afraid, let them go, watch and pray for them, but if they have left you because they lacked your care and examples, you will have to answer me about it.

59. If some throw away the bread and leave, others will come, pick up the crumbs and with them they will achieve peace and prosperity. Those who have gone far away will return in search of my fields, because hunger and thirst will surprise them in the desert. You who have not been sent to judge the faults of your brothers, you will receive them with good will. Whoever comes in sick, you will heal him, and whoever comes in hungry, you will feed him.

60. If, despite having given them your help, they do not know you, forgive them. I will be the one to judge your cause.

61. Your spiritual past is a mystery to you, that is why I tell you to take your trials with meekness, because you are in a time of judgment and spiritual restitution.

62. The times when you came to the world to receive honors, joys, pleasures, or accumulate wealth, have passed; today you come to live in humility, to purify yourselves, to elevate yourselves with trials and to serve your Lord by being useful to your fellow men.

63. Write in your heart a book with your good deeds and he will give you peace in this life and infinite bliss in eternity.

64. If someone accumulates wealth in exchange for my word and my gifts, I say to you again as in the Second Time: "Sooner would a camel pass through the eye of a needle, than he would penetrate into the Kingdom of heaven." How meritorious it is to contemplate before Me those who yesterday enjoyed satisfactions, glories and comforts and today follow in my footsteps full of meekness and humility.

65. There are some among you whom I have tested like Job, because it is not my will that the spirits become sluggish, I want them to be diligent on the way.

66. There will come a moment for everyone when the voice of the judge will ask you not only about the word that he bequeathed to you as a Teacher, but also about what you did in the fulfillment of your mission.

67. Prepare your spiritual gifts of clairvoyance, intuition and foreboding, so that the test that corresponds to you will be made known to you figuratively and you, with your prayer, will be able to overcome it.

68. Let my word guide you, since you are convinced that I am giving it to you for your good.

69. These teachings seem new to you because you have forgotten them; but now in the Third Time I am giving them to you again. I have prepared for you, a great countryside to which I invite you so that in it you may learn to sow the seed of eternity that I am entrusting to you.

70. I come to prepare my new disciples, so that they may attain, through their faith and charity, power over diseases of the body and spirit and over the elements of creation.

Love one another!

71. Understand that it is no longer time for you to live in ignorance, today you live in the age of light, of the great revelations that my teaching offers you. Can you imagine the wisdom that you would have achieved, if from the earliest times you had practiced my lessons complying with my Law? More you have given yourself to the pleasures of the world by parking yourself on the path of your spiritual evolution. That is why today I have arrived with my new lesson, this one seems strange, incomprehensible and out of your way of living. But it will be enough for you to meditate on just one of my lectures so that you recognize the truth of my word, then you will see that the strange thing is not my Doctrine, but your way of being outside my Law.

72. Come to my countryside, remember my teaching that you have forgotten, erase all evil seed and I will show you the teaching that until today you had not contemplated. In this way I will bring you out of stagnation, out of your fanaticism, in order to make you penetrate to a true life, the one that you should have lived from the beginning of your formation.

73. Do you see how humble this word is that blooms on the lips of the spokesmen? Verily I tell you that she, in her simplicity, will bring light to men, so that they may understand my revelations that through science and theology they had not come to understand.

74. The good disciples, the persevering, the faithful, will be the ones who analyze this Doctrine. They too will be humble, but despite their simplicity they will amaze their brothers with the wisdom of their interpretations.

75. My people will not only speak of my teachings, but with their works they must teach humanity how my law is fulfilled and respected. He will know how to give without selfishness as much as he has received from his Lord and will show his zeal for the truth and purity of the treasure entrusted to him.

76. Teach your brothers with good and high deeds. Think that from here you must purify your spirit so that it is worthy of moving to another abode on its path of spiritual evolution.

77. Take from my teaching the necessary strength to move away from the obstacles that you encounter in your path; you already know that the weapon that conquers everything is love, very great will be the joy of the one who emerges triumphant in that fight and presents himself before Me as the victorious soldier after having won that battle.

78. Remember that it is I who have given you the weapon of love and that I have also taught you to fight to win the great battles. What then do you have to look for in other ways, when I am giving everything to you along the path of truth?

Love one another!

79. I have come to manifest myself through the understanding of the clumsy, I have come to open the eyes of the blind to the light of truth, so that they may purify themselves of their sins by feeling loved by their Lord. Was it not prophesied to you from the Second Time, that the day would come when every eye would behold me? He who is clean will see me and that will be his reward; he who has stains on his heart will also see me and that will be his salvation. He who opens his eyes before my light, penetrates the mystery and knows the reason for my revelations. That one, knowing my truth will walk firmly in the future.

80. Interpret my teaching justly, do not think that my Spirit enjoys seeing your sufferings on earth, or that I come to deprive you of everything that is pleasing to you in order to enjoy myself with it. I come to make you recognize and respect my laws, because they are worthy of your respect and compliance, and because obeying them will bring you happiness and eternal peace.

81. Through Jesus I taught you to give to God what is God's and to Caesar what is Caesar's, but for today's men, there is only Caesar and his Lord have nothing to offer. If you at least gave the world what was right, your sorrows in it would be less, but Caesar has dictated absurd laws to you, has made you his slaves and takes your life without giving you anything in compensation.

82. See how different my Law is, which does not enslave the body or the spirit, it only convinces you with love and guides you with gentleness; it gives you everything in exchange for nothing, it rewards you and compensates you for everything along the way.

83. Disciples: Understand and study my lessons, I want to form with you a people that will be the depository of my wisdom, because everything will be prepared for you to fulfill great missions. Do not be cowed at the first sound of alarm, know how to go to meet the one who says he is your enemy and forgive him, love him and instruct him with my teachings.

84. So I want you to be prepared for the day of my departure. You all know that 1950 is the date appointed by my will, to stop communicating by the understanding of the spokesman and as my word is always fulfilled, that day will end this communication that marked for you the beginning of the Third Time.

85. Do not try to change that date, nor do you try by any means to withhold the manifestation of my word in this form or that of the spiritual world. From now on I tell you, those who did so will no longer be illuminated by the light of the Master.

Love one another!

86. Why should you fall into such profanation, when I have announced to you and promised that after this time you will communicate with me from spirit to Spirit even though you have not been pedestals?

87. I also tell you at this moment that the prophets of this time have the duty to prepare, because they have the mission of preventing the new multitudes from the trials that await them. I will reveal great prophecies to them so that they will help you not to fall into temptation.

MY PEACE BE WITH YOU!

1. Disciples: After listening to my teaching and judging your past in the light of my word, spiritually you have said: "The leaf of the tree does not move without the will of God"
2. This is how you think because you are beginning to understand that the trials that you are rushing through like a bitter chalice have been like steps that have been bringing you closer to the Tree of Life, where the Master is waiting for you to give you your inheritance.
3. When you have arrived before the manifestation of my word, you have all wondered what the cause of my return would be and when you hear my greeting that says to you: "My peace be with you", those of you who know how to recognize the value of peace, are filled with joy, while those of you who only think of acquiring material goods, with disappointment ask me inside if I have only come to offer you peace.
4. Those who think this way do not offend me, because their misunderstanding comes from their ignorance and this is precisely the darkness that I have come to fight by illuminating the spirits with the light of my Doctrine.
5. Hearts today hardened by the passions and vicissitudes that have embittered your life: Understand that you will achieve peace when you have achieved spiritual elevation.
6. Peace in the spirit speaks to you of light, of morality, of virtues. He who does not long to reach that state of elevation, does not dream of enjoying my peace, because he is still captive to the passions of matter and the false visions of happiness presented to him by the material world.
7. The one who encourages within himself a fervent desire for peace, tired of material pleasures, is the one who seeks the liberation of his spirit, eager to achieve the end for which he was created.
8. Since the beginning of humanity, there have been few who have sought peace or those who have remained in it once they have reached it, because, man only seeks it when pain has overcome him. That is why you see how after each of your inhuman, fratricidal and unjust wars, thousands of beings thirsty for peace arise, who before could not estimate, because they had not realized the value that this divine gift has.
9. You must understand that it is not in the knowledge of men where you will find tranquility, since the source from which it comes is spiritual. Gold, human wisdom, science, the power of men, have not been enough to achieve that grace that you will only achieve by practicing good works, leading you in your life along the path of love that my Law points out to you.

10. It will be no wonder that men, whom humanity calls wise, when they come after my revelations and in search of my peace, take the place of infants to study the first lessons of the book of life.

11. No one knows better than Me the infinite thirst that exists among humanity. My mercy, like a ray of hope, penetrates every heart, to make it feel the proximity of the struggle through which it will achieve true peace and liberation of the spirit.

12. My teaching is the voice of the heavenly trumpet, which has been heard by the spirits to whom it has announced that the time of judgment, of the atonement and also of salvation has come.

13. Everything had been prophesied, but you preferred to wait for the events without preparing. You lacked faith, obedience to my Law of love and today you are crying your guilt.

14. The multitudes that gather to listen to my divine lessons seem to you great in their number, but how small they are if you compare them with your brothers who are lacking in my peace.

15. In these multitudes I have placed my peace; some have been able to preserve it, others, as soon as they cease to hear my word and penetrate into the routine of life, divest themselves of it. They are the ones who, when returning to the humble place where I manifest myself, ask me: Lord, why is it only when I am listening to you that I find peace, or is it that only in these places does it exist? And I answer you that if you have only found peace when listening to my Doctrine, it is because only at that moment is when you cleanse your spirit from the influence of matter and when you cross the threshold of these enclosures, you return to your life of imperfections, egoisms, passions, grudges and vices, without putting into practice the precepts of the Doctrine that you were listening to, because listening does not mean learning, and only the one who analyzes and puts into practice my Doctrine, will be the one who can truly be called my disciple, because he will always be spiritually prepared to take to his brothers the example of channeling his life in the fulfillment of my teachings.

16. In this chair you will find the knowledge of the moral responsibility that you have contracted, because you are receiving in your heart the gift of my peace, which you will have to share with your brothers.

Love one another!

17. Understand and analyze how many times I have said to you: Welcome to the humble enclosure turned into a house of peace and prayer where I manifest myself as a Teacher.

18. Through my word you have understood your mission and the restitution that weighs on your spirit. Today you recognize that in order to reach Me, it is necessary to reach the purity that makes you worthy to enter the mansion of the righteous, which is the land promised to your spirit.

19. Not everyone who listens to me is with me, because the thought of some is distant. On the other hand, there are those who are distant in matter and are present in spirit.

20. If you knock at my doors, I have also come to yours, not to ask you but to give you what you need.

21. I come to give light to your spirit because I see that he does not want to continue in darkness, he wants to rise above ignorance and the passions of matter, he wants to contemplate and understand the Father knowing the purpose of his own existence.

22. Wake up, realize the time in which you live, so that when the time comes when men rise up desecrating and erasing all worship from the human heart, they will have nothing to take away from you, because your sanctuary and your worship will be spiritual. Then your spirit will know how to communicate directly with my Divinity; that will be your liberation.

23. You live in a world transformed by human science, this is his era, this is the time of his reign.

24. A new Babel has been erected by men, a new tower of pride and vanity. From their height they defy my power and humiliate the weak. Truly I tell you, man will not come to Me by that way, not because I do not know science, since it is the light that I, the Creator, have placed in the human mind, but because of the misuse that men have made of it. I entrusted science to you as a tree that you should cultivate with love, respect and zeal so that the fruits of the best flavor, the ones that give life, would sprout from it. Do you think you have cultivated that tree well? See that their fruits have been destruction and pain, that instead of giving life they have sown death. How wrong human science is! But in spite of this, I bless it because it is the work of my children.

25. Materialism has engulfed humanity. My name has been erased from many hearts, men forget to pray, which is the spiritual way to converse with God. My Doctrine and my examples through Jesus have been forgotten and those who try to persevere in my lessons and comply with my Law, do so through idolatrous cults, looking for me through forms and images made by the hand of man. Is this how my law should be enforced?

Love one another!

26. Many have made Nature their God, deifying it as the creative source of everything that exists. But in truth I tell you that this Nature, from whose womb all the beings, the forces and the material elements that surround you have sprung, is not creative, it was conceived and formed before by the Divine Maker. It is not the cause or the why of life. Only I, your Lord, am the Beginning and the End, the Alpha and the Omega.

27. The shadow of the tree of human science has enveloped humanity, most of its fruits have poisoned it, and the time is approaching when the righteous sickle will come to cut off every unclean branch and every bad fruit.

28. When man was innocent, his state of purity made him worthy of the grace of the Lord. Science was not necessary for him to find the means of life, it was not necessary for his eyes or his intelligence to strive to penetrate the secrets of Creation, to find the light that will illuminate the path of his earthly life.

29. Nature, like a sweet mother, brought her bosom to the lips of the child to feed him, but the child grew up and seduced by the external beauty of the fruits of the tree of life, stretched out his hand, cut them and tasted them, awakening the need and the desire to know in his heart and in his whole being, the age of innocence fled and a new stage began for man, that of science, in which the spirit desired to know human life and its mysteries. There began the struggle, the experience, the development, the evolution, the restitution.

30. The child who counted his happiness in feeling the maternal caress, became the teenager who, full of curiosity and restlessness, marveled at the greatness of life that was a mystery to him, rose up on the roads eager to know. Who but Me made man feel that ideal of knowing and knowing? Everything was planned and prepared by Me to guide the steps of man on Earth, therefore at each step I found a surprise and a new wonder. There was no stumbling block, no need, no sorrow to which he could not find a solution. If man had his awakening for the world, also in his spirit, from his restlessness and foreboding arose the deep longing to know and contemplate life that is beyond material creation, beyond matter and science.

31. Thus the spiritual worship towards God was born, so that through him the spirit would be sustained and achieve high knowledge, living according to the science inspired by my Law of love.

32. Not all men have conceived me in the infinite, in the spiritual and invisible, that is why since the beginning of humanity, while some have sought me beyond everything material, others have done so through external cults. These are the ones who looked for me in the stars, in the elements and in other creatures until they came to understand that whoever had formed everything they worshiped, was in infinity and It was He who they should worship.

33. From time to time humanity was evolving in its beliefs and in the knowledge of the spiritual, perfecting its worship illuminated by divine inspirations. However, still at this time many of my children only feel me through forms, rites, images and symbols. The fact is that the spirit, still distracted by traditions, is content with what little it reaches with its low elevation, but the time has come for it to restlessness before the mysteries, experiencing needs and going through trials as it had never encountered on its way; then he will wake up and get up to ask, to scrutinize as he already did when he wanted to know the why of life on Earth.

34. What are you most longing for on Earth right now? Peace, health, truth. Truly I tell you, these gifts will not be given to you by your science as you have taken it.

35. The wise question Nature and she answers every question, but behind those questions there are not always good ends, good feelings or charity. It is men who are the little and foolish ones who steal from the mother her secrets and profane her intimacy, not in order to honor her by taking from her sources the elements to do good to one another, as true brothers, but for selfish and sometimes perverse purposes.

36. All Creation speaks to you about me and its voice is of love, but how few have known how to listen and understand that language!

37. If you consider that Creation is a temple where I dwell, are you not afraid that Jesus will appear there wielding the whip and throw out the merchants and those who profane it?

38. O beloved people, analyze and understand my teaching, open your understanding and let my light penetrate into it, that light will speak in your works, although your word is humble. I am pleased that your word is clumsy, because it will be your spirit who bears witness to Me.

39. The destiny of each one of you is different, but the end of all is the same: to reach God.

40. Some of you suffer and thereby restore your faults to my Law in the past times, others you hurry the cup of bitterness, because of the wickedness of your brothers; the former are purifying themselves in the trials of life, the latter will have to hurry the same cup that they gave to drink to their fellow men, but truly I tell you that in one and the other the loving and perfect justice of your Lord is manifested.

Love one another!

41. "Love one another", fulfill my Law of love, so that the light of peace and harmony may shine in the East, which is now in the darkness and bitterness of war. Feel the pain of humanity and see how they are looking for a savior, like the lost sheep when they cry calling for their shepherd.

42. How much pain overwhelms humanity in this Age! No sooner is a child born when he begins to pour out the cup of bitterness because of his brothers. Some lose the mother before they feel the first caress, others deafen with the din of war, instead of hearing the sweet maternal cooing.

43. The paradise of the first was turned into a valley of tears and now it is only a valley of blood. That is why today that I have come to fulfill the promise that I made to my disciples, I awaken humanity from its lethargy, giving it my teachings of love to save it and I am looking for the spirits that have the destiny of rising up at this time to testify my manifestation and my word with their works. When those appointed by Me are gathered around my Law, the Earth and the stars will be moved and there will be signs in heaven, because at that moment the voice of the Lord will be heard from one end of the Earth to the other and his divine spirit, surrounded by the spirits of the righteous, the prophets and the martyrs, will judge the spiritual and material world.

44. Then they will reach their fullness the time of the Holy Spirit. So that you may make this prophecy known to your brothers, I ask you: When are you going to rise up to fulfill your mission like the disciples of this time? When are you going to make your brothers listen to you and shudder at the voice of their own conscience? When are you going to bring this word of light and love to humanity?

45. It is my will that you be unified so that in each enclosure and in each congregation the taste of your fruit may be one. Why should they taste different if they are all branches of the same vine?

46. Study, practice and stand up united so that your strength is respected. Do not allow false manifestations of my Divinity to arise within sects or religions, do not be the cause of false prophets rising up surprising the multitudes with their word.

47. Alert, seers. If you have been tested by your Father, if your own people have not known you, do not be afraid to remember that Jesus was unknown in his homeland and had to go to other lands to be believed. "No one is a prophet in his own land," he told you.

Love one another!

48. If they have doubted your gifts, hearts will come that truly believe you, some of you will penetrate into strange lands where you will find more confidence in your testimony, than in the bosom of this people.

49. To help you in your mission, the Master has given you his teaching and he never tires of doing it because he is the Word of the Father.

50. Beloved disciples: Give the healing balm to a sick person, do it with love, with true spiritual preparation, so that you can make the needy experience divine comfort.

51. On some occasions I have granted that true wonders are performed, without your preparation having made you worthy of it; but now I tell you that you should not neglect your preparation, because I will surprise you, I will touch you by not granting you what you expect, to make you understand that you do not know how to prepare to give a true work of charity.

52. Do not let it be only the sick person who, due to his pain, deserves my benefits, you must unite to his merits those of your charity and in both my grace will be manifested. Wherever you are, you must make merits so that every time you intercede for your brothers, you will be worthy to ask me for what you need, on behalf of your fellow men.

53. Preserve your spiritual and material preparation, because you do not know the moment when you need to do a work of charity and it will be very gratifying for Me to make you depositors of the balm of peace or of what your brothers need most. Understand the beauty of the mission that you have come to fulfill in your restitution, so that you may embrace your cross, with all the love of which you are capable.

54. Here in the world, you do not perceive the voice of your conscience as clear as you will hear it when you are in spirit, that is why you will often neglect the fulfillment of your mission; but think that no matter how distant the date of your departure to the afterlife is, it will always be waiting for you, and that when you open your eyes in a new world, only the light that you have achieved in your struggle will come to you and you will possess the peace to which you have been made worthy by the merits that you have achieved.

55. Do you know how I want you to get to the next abode where I am waiting for you? Full of peace, illuminated by the light of wisdom, which must shine in every clean spirit; without hesitation, without tears.

56. No one should think that when he came to this world, he was surprised by my Work giving him a mission, no, that would be to sin of ignorance, living among the light. I have only come to make you recognize what you received in spirit before you were sent to earth.

57. Now, beloved disciples, if your spirit came to this because I commanded him to do so and each one of you desired and accepted it, think that you should not return to Me without having fulfilled the mission that you promised to fulfill, because otherwise, it would be very painful for your spirit.

58. Analyze my word, do not let anything or anyone prevent you from fulfilling your mission, let nothing make you renounce everything that corresponds as a reward to those who knew how to be soldiers of God in the world, apostles of his truth.

59. To help you in your restitution I am giving you my word, and his light guides you to perfection.

60. Listen to me tirelessly, learn from me. Listen to Elijah and take an example of his virtue so that you may be in imitation of him, shepherds of the portion of spirits that my will has destined for you.

61. I contemplate all of you with love and I tell you that in this age I have not come only to caress you and to give you my peace, but I come to teach you, to make you understand that you have spiritual gifts with which you must help humanity in its tribulation, to lead it to its final restitution.

62. The time of great trials has come and the spirit is still weak. Great pains and upheavals await you and that is why I approach you as a saving boat, to welcome my children helping them to evolve on the spiritual path.

63. All the spirits have become creditors to my justice; even the children in the arms of their mother have felt pain.

64. I am preparing you, disciples, to carry my Doctrine of love and peace to all nations, so that by your fulfillment you may save your brothers and sisters. Approach the humble and the great, many times you will find yourself in front of scientific men, and before them you must give proofs of spirituality. How many will be ashamed to recognize the futility of their material knowledge and will confess that what science did not do in healing and solving the problems that afflict humanity, was achieved by the love and charity of my disciples.

65. This little-known nation in the world will be lavish in blessings. Its soil will be prosperous and its coffers will be opened to send food to the nations devastated by war; the spirit of the inhabitants, inspired by my love, will send thoughts of light to those in need, and when the time for preaching has come, it will take my word to quicken and heal with it those who suffer.

66. Many foreigners will come to join you in your ideas of peace and concord. Spirituality, as a beneficial seed, will spread and the truth that it preaches will be known. Then the son will know how to love me with purity and the source of grace from which all good springs will be poured out on humanity.

67. I want you to fulfill your mission at this stage, and that when you pass to the afterlife you will continue your spiritual work. Teach your brothers and sisters that a single Law full of justice governs all spirits, that all have a place in my Creation and each one is stimulated by Me in its fulfillment. Everything obeys immutable divine laws.

68. If humanity during this time of trials misjudges you and makes you responsible for the war of ideas, the destruction of nations and the lack of peace, do not be cowed or confused, remain praying and watching. Do not be afraid, if you find yourself fulfilling my Law.

69. Understand that I have allowed wars to be unleashed so that the spirit of humanity may be purified. Every nation, institution and household, are touched by my justice to expose the degree of advancement in which they are.

70. Work as I have taught you; regenerate sinners; rebuild lives, bring those who have strayed closer to Me. And when this stage has passed, the light of knowledge and experience will be in all spirits, my Doctrine will inspire men and will not make adulterations, nor misinterpretations in my Law.

71. If I sometimes call you children, it is because before my Divinity, you are still small, and before eternity your existence is very short. Don't you sometimes pin your happiness on a small thing? Don't you sometimes cry for something that shouldn't be the cause of your pain?

72. Verily I tell you, I come not only to seek the poor and the humble, but also the one who has distinguished himself in the world either by his power or his knowledge. I am calling you all to reach the purification of your spirit.

73. If in the poor I made myself felt in the little they possessed, in order to prepare and awaken them, I will touch those who have accumulated material goods so that they attend to my call. To him who is deaf to my voice I will raise him up from this world and in the spiritual valley I will show him the work, which on earth he did not know how to fulfill.

Love one another!

74. May this teaching serve as a lesson to you, accumulate merits before you leave this world, leave comfort, health and peace as a mark of your step if you do not do it, you will cry tomorrow.

75. Your heart must be strengthened to withstand the trials that await it. I have told you that you will suffer persecution and slander, that you will be blamed for the religious confusion that is about to arise; but I will watch over you and I will bring you forward.

76. Put away from your heart the horror that you might feel for those who suffer from diseases that you call disgusting and reject the repulsion that you might experience when you find yourself in front of the murderer or the one who has gone mad in vices. Hold out your hand to them, dedicate the most heartfelt phrases to them. Pray for them. Only I know what is hidden in each of these existences, only I know the causes of their fall.

77. Only I can forgive and absolve those who are persecuted and condemned by human justice.

78. I am strengthening your spirit with my word, because there is much that you have yet to experience and feel in your heart.

79. I am sensitizing your feelings lethargic by your materialism. Yesterday you did not feel the pain of others, but soon your eyes will shed tears for the suffering of your fellow men.

80. The lands abound and the farmers are scarce, be you of the farmers who learn to sow this blessed seed, do it now that you live on Earth, so that you may arrive with merit to the hereafter.

MY PEACE BE WITH YOU!

Love one another!

Teaching 27

1. Dear disciples, I am opening your eyes to the light of my teaching, so that you can distinguish the truth from the imposture; the light of the conscience, the sensitivity and the intuition that you possess will be the ones that will point you the good way and discover the good fruits for you.
2. From the true knowledge of my Doctrine humility will be born in you, because you will feel so small before your Creator, and yet so graced and given by Him, that you will not dare to lift your gaze to the Father, if you consider that it is impure.
3. Vanity has nested in those who, believing that they have attained complete knowledge of the truth, have come to consider themselves wise, strong, infallible, great and absolute, without realizing that they have often been confused.
4. I do not want that among this people that is just beginning to form in the light of these lessons, men will arise tomorrow who will find themselves confused by their vanity, proclaiming that they are the reincarnation of Christ, or that they are the new Messiah.
5. Those who commit such acts will be those who, believing that they have reached the understanding of all my truth, in reality go far from the path marked by Christ, which is that of humility.
6. Study the life of Jesus on earth and you will find a profound and unforgettable lesson of humility.
7. Jesus knew who he was, where He came from and to whom He had come, however He never walked in the squares or in the streets, proudly proclaiming that he was the Son of God, the Messiah, or the Savior, but with his works he gave perfect testimony of his Doctrine of love and charity. With his deeds he made it known who he was and when someone came to ask him: Are you the Christ? Jesus was concretizing to answer: You have said it.
8. That is, while men said it with their lips, He proved it with His deeds, before which all words were worthless.
9. All this you must keep in mind, O beloved people, so that once you are committed to the struggle, do not let yourselves be surprised by temptations or allow your heart to receive the reward that only corresponds to the spirit.
10. To avoid falling into this weakness, I will make this way of communicating with you have its limit, although there have been those who know how to fulfill this mission with true humility, there are also those who have come to believe themselves gods in front of the crowds; but when they see that what they had yesterday they no longer possess, they will come to understand that to achieve perpetual communication with the Father, it is necessary to have humility.

11. You all know that I have indicated a day for this communication to come to an end, that date is 1950, but you will see how those who puffed up and magnified themselves with this manifestation, will not submit to the will of the Father because they will think that by losing that gift, they will return to their lives ignored by the multitudes and will cease to be exalted by the people.

12. The spokesmen will say when the hour approaches: Who will come to listen to us when the people know that the Master no longer speaks through our mouth? And the guides will say: Who will come to our precincts, on the day when they will know that the word of the Lord no longer resounds through the mouth of His elect? To some and to others from now on I tell you, that if it were the only way in which I could manifest myself to his spirit, I would never deprive you of it, but if I am going to make it cease, it is a sign that something higher and more perfect awaits you, something that you also know is the spirit-to-Spirit communication with your Father.

13. People: Form an album with my words and keep its contents in your spirit illuminated with the light of your conscience, so that you will never desecrate my Work.

14. If you have believed in my manifestation in this form, you must also believe that I am going to stop speaking to you as I have been doing so far; and if you have believed in my presence when I have taught you through the human understanding, using me as rude and imperfect beings. How can you not believe that you will be able to receive my divine inspiration from Spirit to spirit?

15. Much I have already taught you, O disciples. Do not concretely just listen to me, analyze my word with love, study it deeply now that you are in the time to do so and not after having fallen into temptation, because it will be more difficult your struggle.

16. Study my teaching so that you may interpret it justly and with its light be able to understand the meaning of life and the purpose of trials.

17. Many of those who contemplate the elements unleashed, the overflowing waters dragging regions in their furious current and men given to destroying themselves in cruel fratricidal wars, say that it is the wrath of God that is also unleashed.

Love one another!

18. I forgive those who interpret my justice in this way, the more they will understand that all the sufferings and vicissitudes that humanity suffers, comes from their disobedience to my Law.

19. There are those who say: "Lord, if we offend you so much with our imperfections, in addition to being the cause of all our hardships, why better not destroy us, why do you keep us in pain?"

20. To those who question me in this way, I say: If I did not love you, just by saying "Let it be done", I would make you disappear; but if, despite your faults, I continue to keep you, this is proof that a high destiny awaits you.

21. My designs are perfect and my love for you is infinite, therefore your imperfections will never have enough courage to vary the will of the Almighty. For a moment you turn away from the path marked by my Law, but in the end in the perfection of my justice you will find my love.

22. Humanity has always been subject to trials, in which in addition to purifying its spirit it has reached the light of experience, which at this time will help you to understand the just and perfect wise lessons that life gives you. That is why I have told you that you must fight against the darkness with your sword of light, in addition to remaining vigilant and praying so as not to fall into temptation.

23. If you want to delve deeper into the why of your trials, remember that you are in the time of the restitution of all your past faults. When you already have faith in what I am explaining to you, a sweet conformity, an infinite peace will invade your being, thinking that the only one who knows your past and who can judge it with love, is Me.

24. Behold at this time the kings in exile, the princes without hope of reigning, the rich in ruin and the powerful in the bed of sorrow. Who will know the restitution that exists in the tests to which they are subjected? But I want you all to know that with sincere repentance, with good works, with regeneration and spirituality, you will be able to shorten your restitution until you reach your liberation from pain and with it peace.

25. With these lessons I am making clear to you the teachings that you have received from the most remote times, but that men had hidden from you, preventing humanity from finding the way of salvation.

26. Do you not believe, beloved people, that if in this time you have been among the first to understand this truth, that knowledge obliges you to be the ones who bring the light to the fields of war and to the peoples without peace?

Love one another!

27. To do this, search my word, but always do it in order to reach the truth.

28. Strengthen your faith in my word, so that in the future, when you hear arguments against this Work, you will not falter.

29. You say to me: Master, what is it that we can hear against your perfect Doctrine, that is capable of endangering our faith?

30. This is what you are thinking now, beloved disciples, because you do not yet know about the storms and the coming struggle; now you are coming in peace to listen to my word, to be recreated with my lesson, but I am preparing you and making you alert, so that no one will surprise you. There are many innocents among you, many of good faith, of noble feelings, men and women without evil, who do not know the perversity and betrayals of which men are capable, and if they do not prepare, they will be easy prey for those who rise up against this Doctrine, they will be like defenseless sheep before hungry wolves.

31. It is better for you that from now on you know from Me, what you will hear tomorrow, prepare yourselves with the light of my teaching to fight, that nothing hurts you when you are attacked and they want to make you falter.

32. Do not be troubled when they tell you that the one who has spoken to you at this time has been the tempter and that it was prophesied that he would also do wonders with which he would disturb and confuse the chosen ones themselves. Verily I tell you, many of those who will thus think of my manifestation will be of those who really find themselves at the service of evil and darkness, although their lips try to assure that they are always spreading the truth.

33. Do not forget that the tree is recognized by its fruit, and I tell you: The fruit is this word that I have come to vibrate through the understandings of these spokesmen, men and women with a simple heart. By the fruit and by the spiritual advancement of those who have tasted it, humanity will recognize the tree that is Me.

34. The Trinitarian Marian Spiritualist Work will begin to spread, causing a real alarm among many who, believing that they have studied and understood the lessons they previously received from the Father, have puffed up with the knowledge of his philosophies and his sciences, without realizing the spiritual evolution that humanity has reached. They, waking up from their lethargy, will realize the way the spirit of men now thinks and feels, they will throw anathemas against what they will call "new ideas" and propagate that this movement has been provoked by the Anti-Christ. Then they will turn to the scriptures, to the prophecies and to my word that I gave you in the Second Time, to try to combat my new manifestation, my new lessons and everything that I promised you and that today I am fulfilling.

35. My word will come, on the lips of my disciples and through writings, even to those who do not admit anything that is beyond the material, or that is outside their knowledge and concepts that they already have accepted, and they will call me false God for having brought you this word. But when you hear this, even if your heart feels wounded, your faith will not suffer a break, remembering with emotion that your master had already announced it to you and had strengthened you with his word to resist those trials. Instead, I tell you, although you will encounter imposture, hypocrisy, superstition, religious fanaticism and idolatry on your way, judge no one for their mistakes, teach them with my word and leave the cause to Me, who am the only one who must judge you and who knows who the false God, the false Christ, the evil apostle, the hypocritical Pharisee is.

36. It is up to you only to interpret my teaching, in the purest way, so that in your works the divine seed may bear fruit and by its essence the One who inspired it may be recognized by your brothers and sisters.

37. The heart of this people will not be barren, I know why I have called and gathered it. There will be times when many within my Work will even become confused, but at last they will be saved from the whirlwind and full of light they will rise up in search of the roads that lead to other lands, taking my Doctrine to the men of other peoples, with a divine message of spiritual fraternity and peace. They will teach that everything material has a limit, that they misused free will and that today I come to put an end to your fast career, doing my will in you; but I am not coming against you, but for the good of all mankind.

38. My approach to you at this time is not to exercise revenge, for what humanity did of Me on Calvary, proof of this is that many times after having offended me, I give you my peace in proof of love and forgiveness.

39. If my presence among you at this time coincides with the great calamities and the terrible wars that now afflict you, do not attribute to Me that cup that men drink. The sufferings are the fruit of your sins and they have not sprung from Me. If I announced to you that at the time when I would speak to you as the Holy Spirit, the pain would be unleashed among humanity, with that I did not dictate your sentence, it is that I knew that when those trials arrived, you would need me; I only announced it to you so that you would be watching and praying, waiting for my arrival.

40. It has been a long time since you signed the sentence, but I, whom you consider to be your Judge, am in reality your defender, who comes to free you from your burden, gently convincing you to take the good path, so that you may obtain true freedom, which is that of the spirit.

41. You weep, people, because you feel in your repentant heart the love of the Master. They had told you that anyone who came before the Father bearing a grave sin in his spirit would not be forgiven and would have to suffer eternal condemnation; but how could you conceive my divine justice to be so monstrous? Did you not realize that through Jesus I showed that my tenderest words and my sweetest looks were for those who had sinned the most? How could I preach one teaching in the world and do the opposite in eternity?

42. There cannot be the slightest difference between Christ and the Father, since both are the same Spirit, the same love, the same wisdom that has manifested itself in three phases to humanity; I told you in the Second Time: "Whoever knows the Son knows the Father".

43. Clean you sprouted from Me and clean you will have to return, but the time of atonement will be temporary, never eternal, short or long, depending on the will that the spirit puts to achieve his salvation.

44. I find you confused, because you have taken the books in which your brothers have imprinted their errors, which for a long time you have held for the pure truth; but the days are approaching in which man will have to rectify his own dogmas, because the light of the new time will make him see the way of truth; because on this night when his spiritual life is found, the light will be made.

45. I am sending you this Doctrine to teach you to penetrate from your human existence, to the spiritual life.

46. You are still more matter than spirit and that is why for a moment you doubt the truth of this word and ask yourself: Is it really the Master who speaks to us? Then a "yes" of the spirit springs up, which fights against a "no" of matter.

47. In a limited way I manifest myself to you, so that you may listen to my word, in which I send you my divine thoughts, which come again to trace the path of your spiritual elevation.

48. I bless the one I created in my communication the same as the one who doubts. I have no preference, I love everyone equally. I manifest myself to the world not only for a few hearts, but to illuminate with light all the paths, so that men may pursue the goal of spirituality and fulfill the divine command that tells you: "Love one another".

Love one another!

49. I am the Divine Sower of love and I know the time to sow and reap the fruit. It was written that when men were at the highest height of perversity, God would again give light to the world.

50. Disciples: It is time to sow; men seek and call for war; you seek the human heart to sow peace and love in it.

51. If you are attacked, hide yourselves in the whiteness of my Doctrine. While men triumph by taking away your human existence, I will triumph by giving you eternal life.

52. The legions of good are active, they have entered into combat, but they come to save the one who is perishing. That is my divine task. Have you forgotten that I have been called the Savior of mankind? How strange is it that the Shepherd is looking for his sheep? Before you existed, I already loved you and your disobedience and also your salvation was foreseen.

53. When I manifested myself in Jesus, He said He was your King and you gave him the cross for a throne; then I taught you all the strength that love, forgiveness and meekness have. Just as I let his blood flow, so I give you my love without limitations.

54. Do you think that in this time of sorrows, I am not among you? Here I am, I have come as a spring of crystal clear water to quench the spiritual thirst that devours you. I have come to tell you: It is time for you to let your spirit evolve so that all its dormant potencies awaken, for this I have come to inspire you and explain spirituality to you.

55. Faith, thought and will are powers of the spirit. Be great and strong through these gifts and manifest them in all your works that must always be based on love.

56. You know the mission I have set for myself.

57. In eternity I am waiting for you, but you have to fight to reach Me, that is why I come to illuminate your path, so that you can follow it and always march forward.

58. Be pure in your thoughts, words and deeds, and you will be on my way; then you will come to occupy in the Kingdom of the Father, the dwelling place that I have destined for you.

59. Master your passions, leave material pleasures and think about your brothers. Look at how the blood of my children is spilled in this world, hear the sobs that escape from all the hearts that suffer. There are many nests with their dead birds, many suffering children, many crying mothers and many children without a crib.

60. Pray for them, that the fraternal feeling of some and maternal of others, may be like balm of consolation that penetrates their hearts.

Love one another!

61. Leave flashes of light to the walker who comes after you, then you will feel God in your heart and in the depths of your being, there the Father will find his best temple. Consciousness will be like the summit of the mountain from where I manifest Myself. Then man will be more spirit than matter and more clarity than shadow.

62. Just as the breeze and the sun caress you, people, caress your fellow human beings. This is the time when the needy and the needy abound. Understand that the one who asks for the favor is granting you the grace to be useful to others and to work for your salvation. He gives you the opportunity to be merciful and thereby become like your Father, because man was born to water the seed of good in the world. Understand then that whoever asks you, favors you.

63. Whoever says that he has done a favor by doing charity is lying, because he has barely fulfilled an obligation.

64. I will come to recreate with my disciples, when the sweet and vibrant notes of spiritualism escape from their harmonious concert, because all those prepared will speak with the language of the heart. Those who have not prepared will not be lost, because I am the one who knows how to wait for the fruits to ripen, but these will mourn their disobedience when they hurry the cup of bitterness.

65. I am in everyone, but some will say, "I don't feel you," others will say, "I don't see you," but everyone understands that I am in everyone and in everything created. Why do you try to see everything with your eyes and feel it with your senses? Try to see with the spirit, with the understanding and with the heart.

66. Then you will see the unknown and feel it vibrate in your whole being. When you understand when I love you, you will no longer say that your God punishes you.

67. Truly I tell you, anger does not exist in Me, because it is human weakness. You are the ones who kindle the fire of pain and then cry out to me to put it out, but it is my justice that manifests itself in you, that is why you have to put out the fire of hatred and passions, which you have ignited, with the water of virtue, with tears and even with blood.

68. In the Second Time I said to you, Birds have a nest, wild beasts have a cave, but the son of God has nowhere to lay his temple.

69. Peace I leave with you, peace I give to you, in it you will find comfort and joy. Be you in my love, as I am in your pain.

Love one another!

70. Understand that I have penetrated into your heart, without you feeling my arrival, to feel my presence you needed to be watching and when I found you, you were sleeping; that is why when you woke up, you asked strangely who it was who had arrived, who was talking to you in this way.

71. I must warn you that I have not come to surprise you with an unexpected visit, it is time that I made known to you the signs that would precede my manifestation as the Holy Spirit; but seeing, you did not look and hearing you did not listen.

72. If you search the events that have moved your world in the last century, the dates of which were written in your annals, you will understand that in truth, everything that was predicted by the Lord had faithful fulfillment.

73. Truly I tell you, during the time that my communication lasts, I will not be believed, because it will be necessary for men to cleanse their hearts and their understanding first, so that they can analyze my word.

74. To those who listen to my lessons day after day and, even though they are continually receiving proofs of my truth, doubt and deny me, I say that it is necessary for them to study the spiritual meaning of my teaching, so that they may understand its truth. In the same way I spoke to you in the Second Time when I said: It is necessary that I die so that I may be believed and that I rise on the third day, so that humanity may be convinced that I am the Son of God.

75. Those who are still far from spirituality, would like to contemplate me in the form of Jesus to say to me: Lord, I believe in You, because I have seen you; to them I say: Blessed are those who have believed without seeing, because they have given proof that thanks to their spirituality they have felt me in their heart.

76. Do you understand now why man has needed to make images that represent me? Because of his lack of preparation, because he is not sensitive to spiritual manifestations.

77. If man understood my Doctrine, he would not experience the need to sculpt or paint images and then prostrate himself before them, he will discover that there is no more perfect image of the Lord in the world than the spiritually elevated man himself, then he would try to imitate my works to get closer to his Creator.

78. John, the apostle, penetrated into the spiritual; through his ecstasies he felt the presence of the Father, before his spiritual voice he felt himself faint; but despite having contemplated figures and forms in those mirages, he did not understand that each image was only the symbol of a great book of wisdom and prophecy, but not the figure or the form of God.

Love one another!

79. The man who contemplated, the Lamb, the lion, the book, the stars, the elders, the candlesticks and when his absorbed eyes looked, they were only figures and forms existing on Earth known to man, which were taken as symbols, to represent with them profound and divine teachings, but my Divinity in all its splendor no one can contemplate, because I am infinite, I have no beginning and no end.

80. If the book of the prophecies of John has been seen by some as an impenetrable mystery and by others considered under an erroneous interpretation, it is because humanity has not yet reached the spirituality necessary to understand what is represented there and I can also tell you that it was not even understood by the prophet to whom it was inspired.

81. John heard and saw, and when he heard that he was commanded to write, he at once obeyed, but he understood that this message was for the men who would come a long time after him.

82. Today you are in this time that was prophesied to you, and this doctrine as the light of a new era, has the virtue of teaching you to read in that book that for so long was closed to your understanding. The hour is approaching in which you will come to decipher everything that for so long you looked hidden behind the veil of mystery.

83. Do you not really believe that if John had understood the meaning of the revelation he had received, instead of bequeathing you a book of figures and symbols, he would have clearly explained its contents to you? Recognize that if he had explained this revelation with complete clarity, what man of that time could have understood it and therefore believed in the truth of the prophecy?

84. It was my will that that book should remain sealed and only its existence and part of its contents should be revealed to you, so that at this time I would come to explain that revelation to you.

85. Wake up, people, take this message to humanity, so that it may receive in its spirit the light of my word in the Third Time. Forget your human miseries and exclaim: Hosanna, hosanna! because at last your spiritual evolution will allow you to understand the true meaning of the teachings that I have made known to you, and whose light will lead you to a perfect abode in eternity.

MY PEACE BE WITH YOU!

Love one another!

Teaching 28

1. Disciples: The time is approaching when your brothers will come before you eager to question you, asking you for the testimony of the revelation that I am giving you in the Third Time to enlighten their understanding. When this is the case, do not deny me by hiding from you, if at this stage of my manifestation I am teaching you with so much love, it is precisely to teach you to transmit my teachings, every time you are questioned.
2. I have allowed you to begin to practice my Doctrine, in order that you may develop your spiritual gifts and faculties, so that when the time comes for the preaching of my word among humanity, your lips will not be babbling and your understanding will not be clumsy, to manifest my truth.
3. Your mission is to imitate your Divine Master in his passage through the Earth, remember that when I appeared in homes, I always left a message of peace in everyone, healed the sick, comforted the sad with the divine power that love possesses.
4. I never stopped entering a home because I was not going to be believed in it; I knew that when I left that place the hearts of its inhabitants would be overflowing with joy, because without knowing it, their spirit had appeared through my teaching, to the Kingdom of Heaven.
5. Sometimes I went to the hearts, at others, they sought me; but in all cases my love was the bread of eternal life, which I gave them in the essence of my word.
6. On some occasions when I retired to the solitude of some valley, I remained alone only for a few moments, because the crowds, eager to listen to me, approached their Master in search of the infinite sweetness of his gaze. I received them, pouring into those men, women and children the tenderness of my infinite charity, knowing that in every creature there was a spirit whom I had come to seek in the world. Then I spoke to them of the Kingdom of Heaven, which is the true homeland of the spirit, so that with my word they might calm their anxieties and be strengthened with the hope of attaining eternal life. There were times when hidden among the crowd, there was someone who had the intention of shouting denying my truth, assuring that I was a false prophet; but my word surprised him before he had had time to open his lips. Other times I allowed some blasphemer to insult me, to prove to the crowd that the Master was not upset by offenses, thus giving them an example of humility and love.
7. There were some who, ashamed of my meekness, left at once, repenting of having offended with their doubts those who were preaching the truth with their works, and as soon as the opportunity presented itself, they came to Me, followed me along the roads, weeping, moved by my word, without even daring to speak to ask forgiveness for the offenses that they had previously inferred from me. I would call them, caress them with my word and grant them some grace.

Love one another!

8. These same paths are the ones that you are now traveling, O beloved people, they are paths that have been prepared with my examples of love and that are now waiting for you, disciples of the Holy Spirit, so that with my word and your example you may bring redemption to humanity.

9. Do not forget that weeds and weeds will only be destroyed with the works of love and charity that I taught you through Jesus.

10. You will find the roads full of stones, the fields covered with nettles, but your spirit, guided by Elijah and strengthened in faith, with the desire to bring the balm of love to those who suffer, will bathe the path of those who live in darkness with the light of truth, will not feel the thorns of the road or the pain that doubt and misunderstanding could cause.

11. Walk on this path and the greater the number of hearts in whom you pour out charity, the greater will be your intuition and the deeper and more constant your faith in the works that I will manifest through you.

12. If before starting your mission it seemed impossible or difficult to fulfill, later it will seem easier and easier, with which you will verify your spiritual advancement.

13. This is the time in which I will make incarnate on Earth all the spirits with whom I will form my beloved people, so that with their works of love and charity, they may give humanity the testimony of true wisdom about the spiritual life.

14. You who were appointed to fulfill this mission and who have the knowledge and certainty of belonging to my people, rejoice in this revelation, but do not be cowed by the coming struggle, because in truth I tell you, soldiers who must fight for the truth, should not be afraid of the adversaries that humanity presents to them.

15. To all of you who feel in your spirit the longing for spirituality, for freedom, to rise up to Me, along the path of love, charity and justice, I declare you belong to my people and you will be soldiers of the truth; but to achieve this you need to watch and pray fighting against your weaknesses, so that the testimony you give of my Doctrine may be true.

16. I also tell you that everyone who wishes to belong to my people will be received and loved by them, when he testifies with his thoughts and deeds that the ideal of love is the light that illuminates the path of his life.

Love one another!

17. In order that you may better understand my lesson, listen to my parable.

18. "Two walkers were passing slowly through a vast desert, their feet were sore from the burning sands. They were heading towards a distant city, only the hope of reaching their destination encouraged them in their hard day, bread and water were running out. The younger of the two began to faint and begged his companion to continue the journey alone, because the forces were abandoning him.

19. The elderly walker tried to revive the young man, telling him that perhaps they would soon find an oasis where to repair the lost strength, but he would not revive. He thought not to abandon him in that solitude and despite also being fatigued, he threw the surrendered companion on his back and laboriously continued the walk.

20. When the young man had already rested, considering the fatigue it caused to the one who carried him on his shoulders, he let go of his neck, took him by the hand and so they continued on their way.

21. Immense faith encouraged the heart of the elderly traveler, which gave him strength to overcome his fatigue. As he had sensed, the oasis appeared on the horizon under whose shadow the freshness of a spring awaited them. At last they came to him and drank of that fortifying water until they were full. They slept with restful sleep and when they woke up they felt that tiredness had disappeared, they also did not experience hunger or thirst, they felt peace in their heart and strength to reach the city they were looking for. They would not have wanted to leave that place, but it was necessary to continue the journey. They filled their amphorae with that crystal clear and pure water and resumed their journey.

22. The elderly traveler who had been the support of the young man, said: Let's take the water we carry with measure, it is possible that we will find on the way some pilgrims overcome by fatigue dying of thirst or sick and it will be necessary to offer them the one we carry. The young man protested that it would not be wise to give what might not even be enough for them; that in such a case, since it had cost them so much effort to get that precious element, they could sell it at any price they wanted.

23. Not being satisfied with this answer, the old man replied, saying that if they wanted to have peace in their spirit, they should share the water with those in need.

24. Upset, the young man said that he preferred to consume the water from his amphora alone rather than share it with someone he met on his way.

25. Again the old man's foreboding was fulfilled again, because they saw ahead of them a caravan made up of men, women and children, who lost in the desert was about to succumb. The good old man hurried over to those people to whom he gave them to drink.

Love one another!

The walkers immediately felt strengthened, the sick opened their eyes to thank that traveler and the children stopped crying with thirst. The caravan got up and continued its journey.

26. There was peace in the heart of the generous wayfarer, while the other, looking at his empty amphora, in alarm told his companion to return in search of the spring to recover the water they had consumed.

27. We must not return, said the good wayfarer, if we have faith, we will find new oases ahead. But the young man hesitated, was afraid and preferred to say goodbye to his companion right there, to return in search of the spring with the obsession of death in his heart. At last he arrived panting and fatigued, but satisfied he drank his fill, forgetting the companion he let go alone, as well as the city he had renounced, deciding to stay to live in the desert.

28. It did not take long for a caravan composed of surrendered and thirsty men and women to pass near there; they approached anxiously to drink from the waters of that spring, but suddenly they saw a man appear who forbade them to drink and rest if they did not repay those benefits. He was the young wayfarer who had taken over the oasis, becoming lord of the desert.

29. Those men listened to him with sadness, because they were poor and could not buy that precious treasure that would quench their thirst. At last, divesting themselves of the little they had with them, they bought some water to quench their desperate thirst and continued on their way.

30. Soon that man became from lord to king, because those who passed by were not always poor, there were also powerful people who could give their fortune for a glass of water.

31. This man did not return to remember the city that was beyond the desert and even less the brotherly companion who had carried him on his shoulders, saving him from perishing in that solitude.

32. One day he saw a caravan coming that was surely heading to the big city, but with surprise he observed that those men, women and children, came walking full of strength and joy, singing a hymn. This man did not understand what he was looking at and his surprise was greater when he saw that the one who had been his traveling companion was marching at the front of the caravan.

33. The caravan stopped in front of the oasis, while the two men in front of each other looked at each other in amazement; at last the one who lived in the oasis asked the one who had been his companion: Tell me, How is it possible that there are those who pass through this desert without feeling thirsty or experiencing fatigue? It is that inside he thought what would become of him the day when no one came to ask for water or shelter.

34. The good wayfarer said to his companion: I came to the great city, but not only on the way I found sick, but thirsty, lost, tired and I revived them all with the faith that animates me, and so from oasis to oasis we arrived one day at the gates of the great city, there I was called by the Lord of that Kingdom, who seeing that he knew the desert and that he had mercy on travelers, gave me the mission to return to be a guide and counselor in the painful journey of the walkers, and here you have me driving one more of the caravans that i have to take to the big city. And you, what are you doing here? He asked the one who had stayed at the oasis. He was embarrassed, he fell silent. Then the good traveler said to him: I know that you have made this oasis yours, that you sell its waters and that you charge for the shade, these goods are not yours, they were put in the desert by a divine power so that whoever needed them could take them. Do you see these crowds? They do not need the oasis because they do not feel thirsty, nor are they fatigued, it is enough for me to transmit to them the message that the Lord of the great city sends them through me, so that they rise up, finding in each step strength for the ideal they have to reach that Kingdom.

35. Leave the spring to the thirsty, so that in it those who suffer the rigors of the desert may find rest and quench their thirst, your pride and egoism have blinded you, but what good has it done you to be the owner of this small oasis, if you live in this solitude and have deprived yourself of knowing the great city that together we were looking for? Have you forgotten that ideal that was both of you?

36. That man, listening in silence to the one who was a faithful and self-sacrificing companion, burst into tears because he felt regret for his mistakes, and tearing off his false finery, he went in search of the starting point that was where the desert began, to follow the path that would lead him to the great city; but now he was marching illuminated his path by a new light, that of faith and love for his fellow men."

37. I am the Lord of the great city and Elijah, the elder of my parable, is the "voice of one crying in the wilderness", he is the one who manifests himself among you again, in fulfillment of the revelation that I gave you, in the transfiguration of Mount Tabor.

38. It is He who guides you in the Third Time to the great city, where I am waiting for you to give you the eternal reward of my love.

39. Follow Elijah, O beloved people! and everything will change in your life; in your worship and ideals, everything will be transformed.

Love one another!

40. Did you think that your imperfect worship would be eternal? No, disciples; tomorrow, when your spirit contemplates the great city on the horizon, he will say as his Lord: "My Kingdom is not of this world."

Teaching 29

1. Disciples, I am among you again, but since the way of communicating is new, you doubt without understanding that you should not stop at the forms, because then you will not find where the truth is.
2. The means by which I manifest myself at this time is man; this is the reason why you doubt my communication. My message is in the essence of the word poured from the lips of the spokesman.
3. Today you doubt again, do you want me to come as in the past times? Remember that you also doubted then.
4. I am not speaking to you through the sage or the philosopher, because then you would not have attributed the word to Me, but to him. Instead, I have come to manifest myself through the humble, the ignorant and clumsy, so that comparing the insignificance and littleness of his matter with the greatness and wisdom of the word that flows out of his mouth, you will come to understand that only the Lord can speak to you like this.
5. There are also those who, in their doubt, wonder if he is really the Master? Will I be on the right track? Is this not the work of temptation? And when you ask yourselves this, you hear my sweet word that says to you: Have you felt peace on this path? Have you been comforted and healed of your illnesses? Have you regenerated? Then you confess to your conscience and say, "Yes, all this I have contemplated and received."
6. It is not yet the time for all of you to believe. Times, trials and events will awaken men and tomorrow they will say: Truly, the one who was and spoke to us was the Divine Teacher.
7. I come to reveal to you many mysteries of the spirit so that you may know each other and in this way know your Father better.
8. Men who study God, disagree. Who are in the truth? Scientists contradict each other. Who is right? Religion and science have always been in conflict, without men understanding that the spiritual and the material live in perfect harmony and that with it they form the true Work of the Creator. One and the other have a different mission among humanity, but they should imitate the Divine Work, harmonizing with each other, like all beings of Creation.
9. How many anathemas religion has hurled at science and how many times science has denied religion the existence of spiritual life! Religion, based on the evils that science has brought to humanity and science taking as a weapon the fanaticism and superstitions that the ministers of religions have instilled in humanity.

10. Verily I tell you, some lack to know the truth that nature contains and others lack to properly interpret my Law.

11. I am the King of peace; I have drawn my sword and I come in time of war to destroy all sin and darkness. Those who follow me, do not be afraid if they are unknown by their parents or by their children, that my love will compensate them in their struggle.

12. Already in the Second Time they did not know each other because while some went to listen to Jesus, others denied him.

13. My new soldiers will have to rise up to preach this good news with their works and examples among humanity that has forgotten my truth. Today I only find my word in dusty books. Mankind has strayed from the true path and has become familiar with sin, vice and debauchery. Sin no longer repulses him, crime no longer horrifies him, adultery no longer surprises him.

14. Here is my word, humanity, limited so that you can understand it, but if you want proofs of my presence, I have already given you proofs, and I will give you even more, but do not cry or rock your hair when they appear.

15. In the Second Time, one day Jesus was walking followed by some of his disciples. They had ascended a mountain and while the Master was marveling at those men with his words, suddenly they beheld transfigured the body of their Lord, who was floating in space, having on his right hand the spirit of Moses and on his left that of Elijah.

16. Before that supernatural sight, the disciples fell to the ground, blinded by the divine light; but then, calming down, they proposed to their Teacher to place on their shoulders the purple robe of kings, as well as on Moses and Elijah. Then they heard a voice coming down from the infinite, which said, "This is my beloved Son in whom I have placed my pleasures, listen to Him."

17. Great fear seized the disciples when they heard that voice, and when they looked up, they saw only the Master, who said to them, "Do not be afraid or tell anyone this vision until I have risen from the dead." Then they asked their Lord, "Why do the scribes say that Elijah must come first?" And Jesus answered them, "Truly, Elijah will come first and restore all things, but I tell you, Elijah has already come and they did not know him, but they did in him as they pleased. Then the disciples understood that he spoke to them about John the Baptist."

Love one another!

18. In this age, how many times before your eyes have I made the matter through which I communicate disappear, in order to allow you to contemplate me in the human form with which humanity knew Jesus, and yet you have not fallen prostrate before the new transfiguration.

19. My work is the spiritual Mountain to which I invite you to ascend by paths of love, charity and humility. It is the new Mount Tabor, where the past, the present and the future merge into one and where law, love and wisdom unite in a single essence.

20. Moses, Jesus and Elijah, this is the path that the Lord has traced to man to help him rise to the Kingdom of peace, light and perfection.

21. Feel in your life the presence of the messengers of the Lord. None of them have died, they all live to light the way of men who have been lost, helping them to rise from their falls, strengthening them, so that with love they surrender to fulfillment in the trials of their restitution.

22. Know the work that Moses, by the inspiration of the Lord, accomplished on earth. Analyze the teaching of Jesus, through whom the Divine Word spoke, and seek the spiritual meaning of my new revelation, of which this was represented by Elijah.

23. When you come to a complete knowledge of these divine revelations, make a book that is divided into three parts and you will find that the first speaks of the Law, the second of love and the third of wisdom. Then you will understand, that it is the law that leads, love elevates and wisdom perfects. You will finally understand that these revelations have been delivered to you in perfect order illuminating human life. That the lesson of love was given to you when you already had a broad knowledge of justice and that wisdom will also come to you when you live in harmony with the teachings that love contains.

24. It is through man that the Lord has always spoken to humanity, because between the Divine Being and the human being, there is your spirit who interprets the heavenly message, who perceives and senses the eternal.

25. Moses, Jesus and Elijah represent the three phases in which I have manifested myself to you. The arm of Moses who held the tablet of the law and pointed out the way to the promised land; the lips of Jesus who pronounced the divine word and Elijah who, with his spiritual manifestations, opened the doors that lead you to infinity and to the knowledge of what you call mystery.

26. I am conversing with you, speaking to your heart, while you have to listen to me through the human mouthpiece, I listen to you when you speak to me in the most intimate of your being.

Love one another!

27. I am Christ, who has been persecuted, blasphemed and made a prisoner in this world. I come to you after what you did to me in the Second Time in Jesus, to give you once again, proof that I have forgiven you and that I love you.

28. Naked you took me to the cross and so I return among you, because my Spirit my truth I do not hide from your eyes behind the garment of hypocrisy or of lies; but in order that you may look at me, first you have to cleanse your heart.

29. You would like to contemplate me in all my greatness and the Master would like to show himself to his disciples in this way, but I always find you taking the first steps and I have to limit myself until I can be understood by you.

30. What would happen if you suddenly beheld my light in all its splendor? You'd be blinded. What if you listened to my voice in all its power? You would lose your reason. If in the speaker through whom I communicate, I discharged all my power, what would become of him? Their matter would disappear.

31. Therefore, accept that the Father limits himself to be understood, felt and contemplated by men, because even within this limitation, He is perfect, wise and infinite. Many of you would like me to perform material miracles, to believe that it is I who manifests myself, so you did in the First Time, when Moses called the people to take them through the desert to the promised land. Many of you demanded that he do powerful works in order to believe that he was the messenger of God and therefore follow him.

32. Moses had given sufficient proofs that the true God was with him, but the people wanted more testimonies and the messenger, taking the crowds to the slopes of Mount Sinai, invoked the power of the Lord and the Lord listening to him, granted him great trials and wonders.

33. If the people were thirsty, I manifested my power in it by the faith of Moses, causing water to flow from the rock. In the famine of the people, I showed my presence before the prayer of the one who was leading Israel, sending the manna to him.

34. The people wanted to hear and see the One whom Moses heard and contemplated through his faith and I manifested myself to the people in the cloud and made them listen for hours and hours to my voice, but it was so powerful that men felt dying of fear; their body trembled and their spirit trembled before that voice of justice. Then the people begged Moses to pray to the Lord that he would no longer speak to his people, because they could not hear him. He recognized that he was still too small to be able to communicate directly with the Eternal.

35. At the time when Christ dwelt in Jesus among mankind, men, contemplating him, were saying: How should the son of the carpenter and Mary be the promised Messiah, the one whom the prophets announced and the patriarchs hoped for? How can this humble man be the Son of God, the liberator? But the Master spoke and his word made those who came to Him in good faith tremble, and even the unbelievers. At every step the mobs demanded a miracle from Jesus and He did it. The blind man arrived and, to the amazement of the Pharisees, the Master gave him his sight just by touching him. In the same way he gave movement to the paralytic, the leper was cleansed of his evil, the possessed freed, the adulteress converted with a word and the dead rose at his voice.

36. Whatever men asked in order to believe and recognize me, I granted them, because it was in Me to give them whatever they asked, since the Divine Spirit was hidden in Jesus to manifest himself and enforce the Law.

37. When Jesus was on the cross, there was no spirit that did not feel shaken by the voice of love and justice of the one who died naked as the very truth that he gave in his word. Those who have analyzed the life of Jesus, have recognized that neither before nor after Him, there has been anyone who carries out a work like his, because it was a divine work that with his example will save humanity.

38. I came meekly to the sacrifice, because I knew that my blood would convert and save you. I spoke with love and I forgave you until the last moment because I came to bring you a sublime teaching and to trace the way for you with perfect examples towards eternity.

39. Humanity wanted to make me desist from my purpose looking for the fragility of the flesh and I did not desist. Men wanted to blaspheme me and I did not blaspheme. The more the mobs offended me, the more pity and love I had from them and the more they wounded my body, the more blood flowed from it to give life to the dead to faith.

40. That blood is the symbol of the love with which I traced the path to the human spirit. I left my word of faith and hope to those hungry for justice and the treasure of my revelations to the poor in spirit.

41. Until time passed, humanity realized who had been in the world; then, the Work of Jesus was considered perfect and divine, recognized as superhuman. How many tears of repentance! How much remorse in the spirits!

42. At this time I appear before you spiritually on the mountain of perfection, having as in the gaze of those disciples, Moses and Elijah by my side, the three messengers who have traced to men the way of the spirit through the fulfillment of the law.

43. Moses presented to humanity the Law engraved in stone, Jesus on the cross culminated his law of love and Elijah at this time, like a divine ray, came to enlighten every spirit with wisdom. Each messenger has had his time to make humanity understand the divine message, revelations and prophecies.

Love one another!

44. Moses was saved from the waters so that by becoming a man, he would set his people free and deliver the Law of God to them.

45. The Word became man, to say to humanity by his example: "I am the Way, the Truth and the Life". Mary, the virgin mother was the blessed ladder by which Christ descended among men. Mary, the holy and sweet mother of Jesus, sustained with her womb the one who was later to sustain every spirit with the divine bread of her word.

46. Everything that Christ said and I taught with his works was a law that came to confirm that, through Moses, had received; but not all was said, not everything was revealed, it was Elijah, and in compliance with the prophecies, and to my word, come to prepare my arrival, to do this is expressed through the human understanding, by means of its beam of light, to enlighten the spirits, hearts and minds; to make you understand what has already been revealed, and prepare men for the new revelations and explanations, in this word, I would rely on.

47. Who in 1866 had heard the first manifestations, heard those words, saying: "I am Elijah the prophet from the First Time, the transfiguration on mount Tabor, prepare yourselves, because the Seven Seals are given to know and the doors of the mystery you are open to that you can contemplate the way of your salvation."

48. At this moment I have also been contemplated together with Moses and Elijah, by the spiritual gaze of those who have developed that precious gift. Some of you are amazed and others repentant at this transfiguration, but this light and this grace will be poured out throughout the world.

49. Moses: Look at your people, they are the same ones you drove through the desert in pursuit of the promised land. Scattered and wandering he goes through the world; while some have understood that the land of promise is in my bosom and it is reached by the love that my word teaches, others have taken over the world as if it were their last abode and their only possession. They did not believe in the Messiah, nor have they felt the presence of the Holy Spirit. Return to them in spirit and again point out to them the way to the promised land, to the heavenly homeland, but if they did not believe you, let the sun go down, the moon lose its light and the earth tremble, because this people will wake up and will never be lost again!

50. My charity is with humanity. In every dawn I propose peace to men, but they have not wanted my love. They have created war and they themselves do justice, so the weeds will be cut down and everything unclean will be washed away in the waters of love and regeneration.

51. After death, the resurrection to true life will come; after war, peace will be made, and after chaos, light will shine in consciences, because I am the light of the world.

52. The year 1950 will come and by then many spokesmen will transmit my word. In other nations they will listen to me, but on the last day of my manifestation, the spiritual valley will have its gaze on you: the spirits of the inhabitants of the earth, those of your fathers, and they will be present, the patriarchs and the righteous. Blessed are those who are obedient to my Law, for they will be judged like the sheep of the Divine Shepherd, but woe to the disobedient, for they will be judged like goats!

53. Elias, you are the light. In this time, which is yours, it has been revealed to humanity that it is not three laws that have been handed over to it, but only one explained in three times, which is condensed into two precepts: To love God above all creation and to love one another! Today I manifest myself to remind my people of past teachings and also to announce to them my new revelations.

54. On this day when you have remembered the moment when Elijah opened the Third Time for humanity by communicating through the understanding of man, feel the love of your Master, put aside your bitterness and affirm your steps on the path of salvation.

55. Live in harmony with my revelations of the Three Times, and eternally turn your existence into an inexhaustible flow of justice, love and wisdom.

MY PEACE BE WITH YOU!

1. In the teachings that I am giving you, I have called you the people of Israel or the Seed of Jacob, and as you understand my lessons, you have realized that spiritually you belong to the lineage of that ancient people, chosen among the nations of the Earth, to fulfill the mission of transmitting my revelations to humanity.
2. The seed that I entrusted to Jacob, is in the spirit and not in the matter as men have falsely supposed, because I tell you that if the inheritance that the first patriarchs bequeathed to Israel, had been material, it would still be giving prophets, emissaries and enlightened; instead, see that that people carries with them chains of spiritual and material misery, knowing that they can no longer wait for the arrival of a Messiah, because they have understood that the One who was promised to them was in the bosom of his people and was not recognized.
3. The spirit of Israel for the race is asleep, lethargic in a dream that has lasted for centuries and cannot look at the truth, because he has lived only for the joys of the world, hoping to reach here his Promised Land his judgment and his glory. But you do not think that his dream will be eternal, no, now that misery, pain and humiliation like a new cup of bitterness has been drunk by that people, his spirit begins to awaken, orienting himself with meditation, and in it he finds that all the prophecies and signs that announced the arrival of the Messiah, were faithfully fulfilled in Christ.
4. His awakening in the most complete form is not far off, his spiritual dawn is already approaching; but first he will contemplate the destruction of the materialism of humanity because of his ambitions, his egoism and his low passions.
5. When that people are convinced that the kingdom of true peace and grace is not found on earth, then they will look to Christ, to the repudiated, to the unknown, to tell him: “Master, you were right, freedom is only found in those who love spirituality, because those of us who have aspired to material goods, have only achieved with it, to be slaves.”
6. When this confession rises to Me from those hearts, I will cause my new prophets to arise among them, who will help them prepare on the path of spirituality, which will be that of their liberation. Do not be surprised that those stationed in their evolution for centuries, in a short time manage to travel the path that others who have preceded them have taken so long to reach and still manage to surpass them. Do not forget that many of them have spirits that were sent to the earth from the earliest times, and that once their restitution is complete, they will take their place among those chosen by the Lord, to bring light to their brothers of all nations.

Love one another!

7. When they are in the same way those that bear the name of Israel because of their race, that they are by the spirit, one and the other will join, recognizing that both are part of that blessed seed that was born with the prophets, the patriarchs of the First Time and that was watered with the blood of the Redeemer, to get to flourish in this era of light in me you are listening to. Now you have me in Spirit, although sometimes you doubt it, saying: How can I believe that the Master communicates with us using such an imperfect and so humble means? But this is not the first time that you have doubted my presence among you, even in the Second Time the men said, How can the expected Messiah be the carpenter's son?

8. My children, in my high designs you cannot penetrate, but now that I come to clarify the mysteries that you have not understood, open your mind and your heart, so that you may know the reason for many divine manifestations, to the point that it is good for your Lord to reveal to you.

9. In the Second Time, when among my disciples or among the mobs that followed me, someone asked if perhaps I would return among you, I had no reason to hide it and I declared to them that my return would be in a time of great trials for humanity, which would be preceded by great events and upheavals in the different orders of your life.

10. That promise I made to you, I have fulfilled, because none of the precursor signs has been missing, as well as none of the announced events; however, humanity, given over to its spiritual lethargy, has let the signs of my presence among men go unnoticed.

11. No one expected me, I found your heart cold, the lamp of love turned off, you were sleeping the dream of several centuries. Only a few woke up to the call of the emissary of the Lord, who came to you to announce that I was knocking at the doors of your heart.

12. My first communication took place one night while humanity was sleeping, just like the one in which I became a man to live among you. If few were those who received me on that occasion, even fewer were those who accompanied me in my new manifestation. But do not take my words as a reproach, because it is not: I am the perfect love that eternally quickens you.

13. I have come to trace you the path that will lead you to your salvation, in the midst of this wide sea of evil; but the months and even the years have passed since the instant of my first communication and since then, one by one the walkers have approached in search of the presence of the Master, and today there are not a few who are present in my manifestations, now they form multitudes.

14. Do not believe that all who come to listen to me, are convinced of this truth, do not, while to some this work is the greatest thing that encourages your heart, for others it is something that they can't conceive and then judge, analyze, investigate, and not finding the truth in the way that they want it, ask me for evidence to believe, as did Thomas. Then I said to them: do not test me, I am giving you enough proofs of my presence, of my truth and of my love; but they insist on their request saying: "If the Master in the Second Time, already being in Spirit, materialized before Thomas, to prove his faith, why now do we not please the unbelievers by materializing before us, even if only for an instant?"

15. Yes, my children, you would be right to ask me for proof, if your smallness were real and your ignorance certain; but you carry an evolved spirit that does not need material proof to believe: what you must do is dematerialize and thus you will realize that you are qualified to understand my new lessons and that it is not necessary for Me to materialize my presence.

16. By the essence of my word, believe in Me, it is clear and will not lead you into confusion. Remember what I told you from that time on: the tree is recognized by its fruit. Now I tell you, my word will be recognized by its essence.

17. Many times men have asked why Jesus even after he was crucified was left to see of Magdalena the sinner, and after he visited his disciples, and instead ignores the fact that He had visited his Mother, to which I say, that it was not necessary for me to come to Mary, in the same way that you would use with those, because the communication between Christ and Mary was constant from before the world was.

18. Through Jesus I manifested myself to humanity, to save sinners and let myself be contemplated by them after the crucifixion, to revive the faith of those who needed me; but truly I tell you that Mary, my sweet Mother as a man, had no stain to wash away, nor could she lack faith, because She knew who Christ was even before she offered him her maternal womb.

19. It was not necessary for me to humanize my Spirit in order to visit Her who, with the same purity and meekness with which she received me into her bosom, with that same she returned me to the Kingdom from whence I arrived. But who could have known the way in which I spoke to her in her solitude and the divine caress with which my Spirit enveloped her?

20. This is how I give an answer to those who have asked me this question, thinking many times that Jesus' first visit must have been for his Mother.

21. How different the way I manifested myself to Mary must have been from the one I used to make myself feel for Magdalene and my disciples.

Love one another!

22. Mary felt me in her spirit. Mary did not mourn for Me, she did not mourn the death of Jesus, her pain was for all humanity, whom she received at the foot of her Son's cross, as a divine present from the Eternal, and for whom she offered the purity of her body and blood, so that the Word might become man.

23. In contrast, when I was on the road to Emmaus to some of my disciples, seeing me not discovered in the wayfarer to his Master, until I hear my divine word; and when Thomas saw me, did you show him the wound in my side, to be convinced that the One to whom he believed dead, in reality he lived. For that is why I have come, to cause some to be born and others to be raised to the faith.

24. Today I have not only wanted to reveal my message to you, but I have also come to show you the best way to make it known.

25. While the time of my preaching has lasted, I have helped your spirit in its evolution, removing roughnesses, sweetening characters, awakening the disciples to give their hearts to charity, to the fulfillment of my commandment that I repeated so much to you when I told you: "Love one another". And although the time that you wake up to spread my word, has not yet come, because you have not reached the proper preparation, I have granted you all those who are drinking from this fountain of health, morals, and life, they start to practice my divine teachings, to prepare, to grow stronger for the future fight, for their good works to convince new hearts, that later will be also labriegos and new sowers in the land of the Lord.

26. Today I contemplate that while some sin as fearful and discreet, others instead show ostentatious and I do not want you to touch any of those extremes. I do not want the fear of the judgments of your fellow men to cause you to hide, because by doing so you would demonstrate that you lack confidence in my teaching, and if you do not have faith in the power that contains the seed that you are going to deliver, what will be the harvest of your sowing?

27. Be afraid, yes, that your bad behavior will affect you before your brothers, but while you are carrying limpidity in your life, rise up with dignity and preach my word, making my teaching known to your fellow men.

28. Do not flaunt your gifts and knowledge of the truth that you carry. I tell you, if you did that, you would expose yourselves to great trials by your brothers.

29. I have not given my word to you to proclaim in the streets and squares; it is true that Jesus did so, but He knew how to answer any question and put to the test those who tried to prove it.

Love one another!

30. You are small and weak, therefore you should not defy the wrath of your brothers. Do not try to attract attention, think that you have nothing in particular; do not try to prove to humanity that everyone is wrong and that only you know the truth, because that way you will achieve nothing good in your life.

31. If you want to evolve spiritually and morally, do not judge the defects of your brothers, so as not to fall into the same error, correct your imperfections; humbly pray to your Master so that you may be inspired by his meekness and remember his advice that you should never publish your good works, that your left hand should never find out what the right had done.

32. I also tell you that it is not necessary to go out to find multitudes to tell them about my doctrine, because my charity will put those in need of your help in your path; but if there are moments when, complying with my law, you feel the need to do a work of charity and you do not have anyone in need near you, do not despair or doubt my word, that will be the precise hour in which you should pray for your absent brothers, those who will receive my charity if you truly have faith.

33. Do not aspire to know more than your brothers, know that you all acquire knowledge according to your evolution, if I granted you my light without you having merits, you would magnify yourselves and you would be lost in your vanity, and your wisdom would be false.

34. I want you to be humble, but in order to be humble before Me, you must also manifest it before your fellow men.

35. Disciples: Love and wisdom are never separate, the one is part of the other. How is it that there are those who try to separate these two virtues? Both are the key that opens the doors of the sanctuary that will allow you to reach the complete knowledge of my doctrine.

36. I said, do you want to have a lot of friends? So use kindness, tenderness, tolerance and mercy, because only with the help of these virtues, your spirit will be able to shine on the path of your fellow human beings, since they are all direct expressions of love. Because, the spirit carries in its innermost essence love, since it is a divine spark and God is love.

37. With my teaching I come to model you spiritually, so that you may attend the spiritual banquet where you will be able to savor the delicacies of wisdom and perfect love.

38. Know that your destiny is to live as I taught you, that is, in humility, in love, in spirituality, letting an inexhaustible torrent of charity pass through your being.

Love one another!

39. In my teaching I show you a broad horizon and if you make your life a likeness of what mine was, rest assured that you will arrive at my Kingdom, at true rest.

40. My work assures you of eternal bliss in your spirit. Have you not heard in your heart a sweet and harmonious voice that speaks to you every time you do a good, that you provide a comfort or that you generously grant forgiveness? Who is the One who speaks to you in this way, rewarding your goodness? He is your Teacher who does not turn away from his disciples.

41. With these lessons I make you understand that the virtues are the only ones that can adorn your spirit; I also tell you that mistakes, faults and bad feelings, you can compare them to the tatters with which you sometimes cover your spirit. I want you clean and decked out, because in rags of misery you will not be able to shine in the universal palace of your Father.

42. Good works are the crystal clear water with which the spirits are cleansed, use it.

43. I speak to you in this way so that you understand that you are out of your kingdom, and that you need to return to it, because God is waiting for you.

44. I want to make every man an apostle and every apostle a teacher, because I love you with infinite love and before one of you is lost, I would prefer to feel on my Spirit all the pain that exists and has existed among humanity.

45. In your heart you are saying to me: Master, do you love us so much? And I tell you that you still cannot understand my love, but that it should be enough for you to know that every child who returns to God is a treasure that returns to the Father. I must warn you that everything will return to the bosom of God. All the fruits that have sprouted from the creative seed will return to their granary.

46. O beloved disciples!, Prepare yourselves so that with intense faith you long to reach the true temple built by my charity within you, because there you will find me to accompany you on your path of evolution towards Me.

47. I am the one who guides you because I am perfect, I always know where I am going and where I am taking you. I am the good Shepherd who cares for you, caresses you and loves you in such a way that I did not hesitate for a single moment to give you with my sacrifice on the cross the teaching that will lead you to True Life.

48. Men believed that by taking the life of Jesus they would destroy my doctrine, not knowing that by doing so, they would cooperate to my glorification.

Love one another!

49. I have returned to humanity and I will manifest in these precincts until 1950, through humble understandings, destined by Me for this mission; and in this way I will await the arrival of the sages who will come to interrogate me and deny me.

50. This simple and humble word in its form, but profound in its meaning, will confuse the wise again in their pride and vanity, and will show them that the doctrine of Christ, and of the Savior, no one will be able to extinguish it, because He is the Life.

51. No one will be able to put an end to Me, I am reborn as I arose, at that time, after a people threw me out of their bosom, condemning me to an ignominious death. But if now I appear again in this world, it is because I love you all.

52. O wise men, philosophers and doctors! You will know that I am your Lord when you come to search me, because you will see me answering your evil and ill-intentioned questions and you will be silent before my interrogations; and when you find yourselves repentant and downcast, without asking me for proofs, I will give them to you, and those proofs will be of love and forgiveness.

53. I am the only one who can solve your conflicts, the one who truly heals your ills, caresses children and blesses the elderly; the one who, when speaking to man, caresses and enlightens his spirit. Men and centuries will pass, but not my Trinitarian Spiritualist work. Truly I tell you, this work, which is my Law and my doctrine, will enlighten mankind. Do not doubt my wisdom, nor challenge my justice any more; if I accepted your challenge, a weak breath of my elements would be enough for me to turn your science and your theories to dust or to nothing. Do not look for me as a Judge, look for me as a Father, because I am love.

54. O beloved people! That you have the mission of spreading my word among humanity today petrified by its materialism. Learn to love her and always have mercy on those who do not understand my lessons of infinite love.

55. Close your lips to gossip, mockery, judgment or criticism. Sheathe that two-edged sword that wounds right and left when you wield it; if you want to fight in my name, wield the sword of love.

56. Close your lips, so that they will no longer utter blasphemies or cause dishonor; instead, open your eyes, so that you may discover evil and turn away from it; but do not judge your sister humanity, because you are part of it and suffer from its same defects. When your lips and your heart are washed in the waters of repentance and good works, you will begin to speak with the truth of my word, which I will inspire in you.

57. If you speak of my doctrine without first having regenerated and prepared yourselves, instead of awakening faith in hearts, you would only receive the ridicule of those who are aware of your faults. On the other hand, if ridicule, criticism reaches your heart, after you have watched and prayed, they will not succeed in hurting you, because you have already protected yourselves with the weapons that I gave you, which are: patience, charity, gentleness and love.

58. Be humble and those who love you will truly do so. If you have not achieved this preparation of spirit and matter, it would be better for you not to get up to preach my word, because you will not be able to sow my seed with the purity with which I have given it to you and it will always be mixed with your imperfections. Before sowing, you must analyze and study my doctrine so that you will come to understand and obey my teaching.

59. When you know how to receive the blow on the right cheek and as a sign of forgiveness, love and humility, present the left to your offender, you can already trust that you are beginning to be my disciples. Until forgiveness arises among men, their fratricidal wars will cease and the union of all nations will arise.

60. With these teachings I want to avoid that one day you become prevaricators, that speaking of love, charity and spirituality, with your works you sow the opposite. I tell you this, because among you there are those who proclaim that they love me and in their hearts there is no love for their brothers.

61. I want you to be sincere spiritually and materially to call you worthy my children, because otherwise, my voice will reach your spirit implacably calling you hypocrites, as I called in the Second Time the sect of the Pharisees who were the living image of a tomb bleached on the outside, polished and covered with flowers, but keeping inside only rottenness and death.

62. I am listening to those who say to me: "Master, we consider the test of having to show the left cheek to the one who wounded our right to be very hard, but nevertheless, we would like to be of your disciples."

63. O people! That when you hear my word, you always take it in its material sense, without stopping to understand it in its spiritual meaning. I tell you that just as you can be touched on the cheek, you can be touched in the heart, in your moral part or you can also be touched in your spirit. But you must not believe that this test that I ask of you is the greatest that you can bear; in this Third Time I have come to ask you for a little more, when I ask you in my lectures, if the murderer of your father was persecuted by human justice and knocked at your doors asking for protection, would you grant him shelter, without betraying him, as a sign of forgiveness?

Love one another!

64. That is the proof that I now ask of all those who want to be the disciples of the Holy Spirit in this Third Time.

65. If you put these teachings into practice, verily I say to you, you will be earning a reward for yourselves, but you should not expect the reward while you are in this world; and I again recommend that you do not judge the acts of your brothers, because according to your judgment, so will be your sentence. Leave the cause to Me, just or unjust, known or unknown, that I will give to your brothers what belongs to them and to you what corresponds to you.

66. Be humble in all the acts of your life, feel ignorant before the wisdom of your fellow men.

67. Blessed is the one who prepares, for he will truly listen to me. Blessed is the one who purifies himself and obeys the commandments of his Lord, for he will see me. Blessed are the poor in spirit, for theirs is the kingdom of heaven.

MY PEACE BE WITH YOU!

Love one another!

Love one another!

Teaching 31

1. Close your material eyes to this manifestation and raise your spirit to your Creator, because it is with whom I wish to converse.
2. I promised to return among you and I could not help but attend this appointment with your spirit.
3. Have peace, listen to me carefully and let the chisel of my word, go shaping your spirit.
4. You walked a lot in search of a place that would bring you peace and you did not find it, when you first came to these humble places to hear my word; you did not imagine that in them, so poor and humble, you were to find the peace that you longed for so much.
5. I will conquer you through love, for this, I am giving you my teaching that is a source of inexhaustible blessings. I will leave you this fountain so that in it you may receive your brothers, the travelers, the wayfarers, with the same solicitude and charity with which I have received you.
6. Man lives not only by bread, but also by my word. There is hunger and thirst in you that are not material, and to comfort you you seek the water and the bread of the spirit. It was necessary that the pain touched you, so that you would understand the teachings that I gave you in the Second Time.
7. Some ask me in confusion: Lord, is it possible that human love is illicit and abominable before You and that you only approve of spiritual love? I answer you: Do not be confused. It is well that the highest and purest of love corresponds to the spirit: but also in matter I put a heart so that he loved on Earth and I gave man senses so that through them he could enjoy everything that surrounds him.
8. I entrusted human life to the spirits, so that they would come to inhabit the earth, and already in it to test their love for God. For this I divided human nature into two parts, giving the strongest to some and the most fragile to others: those parts were man and woman. Only together can they be strong and happy, for this I instituted marriage. Human love is blessed by Me, when it is exalted by the love of the spirit.
9. The love felt only by matter is typical of irrational beings, because they lack the consciousness that illuminates the life of rational beings. From the unions full of spiritual understanding, good fruits have to sprout and incarnate in them spirits of light.
10. Now is the time for you to purify your seed, so that you may form a family that is strong in spirit and in matter.

11. Understand me, my children, interpret my will well, the year 1950 is already approaching; remember that it is the year that I have indicated for this communication to end. I want to find you prepared on that day, because only those who have achieved it will remain firm in the degree of elevation they have reached. Those will be the ones who give true testimony of Me.

12. Only those who have become spiritualized will know how to manifest my work in their new form of communication. But how will they become inspired to receive my thoughts and interpret my spiritual messages? Watching and praying.

13. I want everyone to achieve progress, that it does not reach only a few, so that your testimony may be for the good of humanity. See that if some of you think in one way and others in a different way, you will only bring confusion to your brothers.

14. The essence of this word has never changed since the beginning of its manifestation through Damiana Oviedo; but where is the result of those words? What was done with them? Hidden are the writings of those divine chairs that were the first of this time in which my Word has poured out so much among you. It is necessary that these lessons come to light, so that tomorrow you will bear witness to what the beginning of this manifestation was like. Thus you will come to possess the complete book of my word in this Third Time. This way you will know the date of my first lesson, its content and that of the last one that I will give you in the year 1950, when this stage ends.

15. Today you do not foresee the chaos that will be in humanity after my word has ceased. Can you imagine the whirlwind that such an event will unleash among the nations? There will be a lack of control in the spirits and you must be prepared to counteract it. Think that in each Era your responsibility is greater, because in each new time, O people! You will have a greater knowledge of my Law. Your inheritance is very great and it is essential that you leave it to your brothers, those in need, before you leave this Earth.

16. Sensitize your hearts so that you understand my word, because you have not yet understood it. If you do not prepare yourselves, how will you be able to receive and understand my teaching, when tomorrow I entrust it to you for inspiration?

17. Unite in truth and in spirit and so you will no longer be divided, even in the greatest trials. One God, one will and one word have been with you, therefore no different law can arise in the future than the one I have now given you.

18. Do not weaken, people; remember at all times that I have called you strong. If I have not disappointed your faith and I have proved to you that the essence of my word is not variable, why should you disappoint your brothers by giving them a bad example? It is time for you to prepare what you will leave to the generations to come as an inheritance.

19. Many in their hearts say to me: Master, are you looking that we are going to be unfaithful? Would that be possible? And I answer you the same thing that I said to my apostles in the Second Time: Watch and pray, lest you fall into temptation. For if you are now only the little children who long to become my disciples, your perseverance will make you achieve a noble atonement. I will not be absent until I have given you my last lesson at the end of 1950.

20. Feel my love close to you, entrust your cares to me, converse in peace with Me and truly I tell you, that later you will feel comforted. Why do you come to Me in fear, do you think that I have come to betray you to your brothers?

21. I hear that in the depths of your heart you say to me: Master, how are we to be received by You, if we are so stained by our sins and You are the same perfection?

22. I answer you, humanity: Do you think that when I came to look for you, I was unaware that you were stained? I knew everything, I do not know anything, that is why I have come to you, to give you my lesson of love which saves you from all lurking and helps to cleanse you from all sin.

23. Why do the poor, the outcasts of the world, feel the most unworthy of my love? Is it because they have heard that I am a king? How slow you are to understand the divine lessons. Have you not understood that if I became a man in the Second Half, it was to teach you the greatest lesson of humility? Remember that I came in Jesus to be born and to live among the poor, that I walked with them on the roads, that I visited their houses and sat at their table, that I healed their sick bodies, I caressed their children, I suffered and wept with everyone.

24. Behold the same Lord, but today He is coming in the Spirit. This King has no crown, mantle or scepter, I simply dwell in perfection and rule with love.

25. Why should I manifest myself in regal palaces, among pomps and ceremonies, if that is not for Me? Verily I tell you, those who conceive of me among superfluous luxuries and splendors, have their wrong concept of what my Divinity is.

26. There will be those who wonder that I, like Christ, have now attributed to myself the Divinity and say How is it that You, who said at that time that he came only to execute the will of his Father, now speak to us as if you were the Father himself? And I answer you, understand that Christ spoke as Divinity, since he is the Word of God and today the Word speaks to you again in Spirit. Therefore I tell you that the Father, the Word and the Holy Spirit are one God.

Love one another!

27. You are made of matter, into which I have placed a spirit and endowed it with a consciousness. And is that why you are going to say that there are three people who inhabit every man?

28. These three powers form a single being, although each of its parts manifests itself in a different way.

29. When in the human being there is perfect harmony between the three natures of which he is formed, there will be similarity with the harmony that exists in God, because in him there will be only one will, that of reaching the summit of his spiritual perfection.

30. People, I have been teaching you for a long time for your struggle, but only those who, stripped of material ambitions, have based their ideal on knowing the spiritual teachings, are staying with Me. Also among those who have already left for the afterlife, there are many who listen to me from their scale of evolution. How many of the first have not known how to persevere and be faithful to me! They did not want to wait for the fruiting of the first seeds. They wavered in their faith, they doubted, they did not foresee the greatness that was about to overflow in the last, but when they return, attracted by the clamor and the rejoicing of this people, they will have to come to take the last place.

31. May this lesson serve those who today, seeing the multiplication of the seed, still doubt the flowering of this Doctrine.

32. Dematerialize yourselves, from today take your worship to the utmost simplicity, preparing and disposing for the spirit-to-Spirit communication that you will have with your Lord. Today it is still necessary that I speak to you through these matters, so that you may be affirmed in your faith, and feel that I am close to you, in the innermost depths of your heart.

33. Fulfill Me, people, and I will fulfill you. Bear witness of Me and I will bear it of you. Get rid of all selfishness, if you really want to be part of my labors that will make my word known among humanity. Stop worrying only about yourself and start worrying about your fellow human beings. I want you to discover the supreme delight that is achieved by relieving the pain of others.

34. Take to your brothers, in my word of consolation of light and love, the balm that I have entrusted to you.

35. One day you will come to understand that the wisdom of the spirit is superior to the science of the mind, because human intelligence only discovers what its spirit reveals to it. I give you this warning, because many of you will say: "How can I cure the sick, if I ignore the science of healing?"

Love one another!

36. Have charity for your brothers, have faith, know how to pray and with these merits make yourselves worthy of my grace and truly I tell you, then you will see how it is possible to do wonders.

37. If, in spite of my teaching, there are those who doubt that this word comes from the Father, let them ask my farmers, this people who have been following me, and you will obtain thousands of testimonies that tell of true wonders, which would amaze men of science who knew them.

38. Listen: when I have ceased to give you my word, this people will be sowers of my spiritual seed, but I ask you, What will be your determination before the commands that you have received from Me? Will you be willing to faithfully interpret my inspirations? Do not promise me anything of what you are going to do in those days, rather keep listening to this Doctrine and meditate on it. Today you are united around the Master, tomorrow, you do not know how many of you will turn your back on me, by disobeying my commands.

39. Do not let the years pass uselessly over you, try every day to take one more step forward, on the spiritual path. Walk with a firm step, let no one go in a hurry just to feel ahead of others, because their stumbling would be very painful.

40. I want you to become strong by thought, by intuition, by the spirituality of your works, so that in your life you will not cause the slightest pain and you will prepare to alleviate all the sufferings that arise in your path.

41. I have given you many lessons, O people! some deeper than others. I speak to all my children, to those who go before and to those who are behind. It is that new children are always coming in search of this word and as I did with you, I will start by giving them the simplest teachings.

42. I ask the last ones: Do you think that you do not have any spiritual mission? Do you feel irresponsible to humanity? If you think so, you are in error, because so great are your gifts and your positions, as those you see possessed by those of whom I am making use, to give you my teaching. They also thought the same as you, when they heard me for the first time and now look at them: How wrong they were!

43. Persevere on the way, because soon you will come to know everything that you possess and what is the mission that you must fulfill on Earth.

44. Understand that I, your God, have had no beginning and will have no end. I am eternal and I come to reveal to you in this time many of the mysteries of the spiritual life. That knowledge will make you comply with the law, loving and being faithful to your destiny.

Love one another!

45. The time has come when He will reveal new teachings to you and it seems to you as if the Father, after a long absence, returns to his children.

46. I gave you the gift of free will, because your spirit was placed at the beginning of a long journey, at the end of which is the goal of its purification and perfection; to achieve that bliss, you will have to arrive by the merits of love, faith and perseverance.

47. How beautiful is the gift of free will, and how ill has man used it; but after that long experience, the spirit will arise imposing himself on the passions of the world and will take that blessed freedom solely to glorify his Father.

48. The flowers sprout from the plants and offer me their aroma, that is their destiny from which they could not turn away, because they lack the spirit and therefore the gift of freedom. The birds offer me their songs, but they couldn't do anything different, because that's what they were created for and they don't have free will.

49. How great will be your merit, the day when you will be like flowers or like birds, even though the heart, because of free will, would like to divert you with its passions from the path of your fulfillment. That will be the time of the spirit, because it will occupy the place that corresponds to it and it will also be the time of matter when she confesses her inferiority and both let themselves be led by consciousness, the harmony that then exists in man, will be the same as there is in everything created. My presence will not only be recognized, but even felt by humanity.

50. The time is approaching when men will offer me the true tribute, when they will stop burning the incense that from the first days they have been offering me, incense that does not always speak to me of pure works but has often been saturated with human evil. The tribute that will replace the incense, will be your love, the one that will reach Me.

51. You know that you were created in my image and likeness, and when you say it, you think of your human form, I tell you, that there is not my image, but in your spirit, which in order to resemble Me, has to be perfected by practicing the virtues.

52. I am the Way, the Truth and the Life, I am justice and goodness and all of this comes from divine love. Do you now understand how you should be in order for you to be in my image and likeness?

53. The reason for having created you, was love, the divine longing to share my power with someone, and the reason for having endowed you with free will, was also love, I wanted to feel loved by my children, not by law but by a spontaneous feeling that flowed freely from their spirit.

Love one another!

54. Men, carried away by the force of their passions, have descended so much in their sins that they had lost all hope of salvation, but there is not one who cannot be saved; because the spirit, when he has convinced himself that the human storms will not cease until he hears the voice of conscience, will rise up fulfilling my law until he reaches the end of his destiny that is not on earth, but in eternity.

55. Those who believe that existence is absurd and think about the futility of struggle and pain, are those who ignore that life is the teacher who models and pain the chisel that perfects. Do not think that I made the pain to offer it to you in a chalice, do not think that I have made you fall. Man fell into disobedience by himself, and that is why he must also rise up by his own effort. Also do not think that only pain will perfect you, no, by practicing love you will also reach Me, because I am love.

56. If I set you on a long and difficult path, look that I am accompanying you on it; I continue to teach you and help you with the cross, and to give you proof that I am accompanying you, I came to become a man, to be visible and tangible; But you are fools in your judgments, you doubt if you contemplate me humanized, saying that it is not possible that your eyes can look at God; and if I tell you that I am a Spirit, then you say: How is it possible to know what is not seen and believe in it?

57. You have reached a degree of evolution, in which you will know how to understand me in my divine essence and feel me as a spirit. The evolution and reincarnation of the spirit have been preparing you to receive my new lessons.

58. When the darkness that has enveloped humanity dissipates and light is made in the spirits, you will feel the presence of a new era. For Elijah has returned among men, but since they did not know how to look at him, it was necessary for him to manifest his spirit through human understanding and to show himself to the seers in that vision of the prophet Elisha: On the clouds, in his chariot of fire.

59. Elijah has come as a forerunner at this time to prepare for my arrival; he has come as a prophet to announce to you the new Age with its struggles and its trials, but also with the wisdom of its revelations. He comes with his chariot of light to invite you to penetrate it to rise above the clouds and take you to the spiritual mansion where peace reigns. Trust in him as in the good shepherd, follow him spiritually as the people followed Moses in the First Time; pray that he will help you in your fulfillment and if you want to imitate him, do it.

60. Elisha, before Elijah was caught up by the chariot of fire and taken to the heights, asked him that his gift of prophecy and his spirit, transmit it to him to be as he had been on earth; and Elijah, in proof that he granted his disciple his desires, left him his mantle and Elijah's spirit and his gift of prophecy were in Elisha as a revealing sign of spiritual communication with men and the reincarnation of the spirit.

Love one another!

61. In every age and in every divine revelation Elijah appears before men.

62. The Messiah had not yet arrived on Earth, it was a short time before he was born as a man and the spirit of the prophet had already incarnated in John, who was later called the Baptist, to announce the approach of the Kingdom of Heaven, which would be the presence of the Word among men.

63. When later I was transfigured on Mount Tabor, to show myself in Spirit before some of my disciples, Elijah came with Moses to take his place next to his Lord, implying in this way that he would have entrusted in the future a time in which he would make his presence felt among humanity, awakening the dormant spirit of men to the luminous and perfect life.

64. This is the time entrusted to Elijah to awaken humanity, he is the forerunner who will come from people to people, from nation to nation, from man to man, to tell them as John did at that time on the banks of the Jordan, when he spoke to the multitudes telling them to prepare because the kingdom of God was already near. Now he will tell them with his spiritual voice to enter into recollection, because the presence of the Lord as the Holy Spirit is with men.

65. When Elijah has prepared mankind, preparing the ways of the Lord, he will return to the Father.

66. When that is the case, do not ask him to leave you his mantle as he left it to Elisha, because he has manifested himself spiritually, times have changed and you must forget the symbols, but he will leave you as a gift of love and a testimony that he was among you, the gift of prophecy.

67. Prepare yourselves disciples, learn from Me, so that I may send you among humanity, to preach my manifestation as the Holy Spirit, telling them like John: "Repent, for the Kingdom of Heaven has drawn near to men".

MY PEACE BE WITH YOU!

Love one another!

Teaching 32

1. Prepare yourselves, because I want you to analyze the essence of my Word that I have come to pour out among you in this Third Time.
2. You are still the little children, you must already be the great disciples, because you have lived in several incarnations. You should have been children only in the First Half, to become young men in the Second and reach maturity in the Third Half.
3. I have always contemplated you as little children, in your spiritual childhood you walked innocent, lacking development in your faculties and senses, ignoring your principle, then you received my first lessons and revelations. In the Second Time you should have already been the young men, who in full spiritual youth lived in a high way, but I found you burdened, enslaved, tied to rites and traditions, and contemplating that you had not taken advantage of my lessons, I came to trace you with my examples of charity and love the path that will take you to the promised land, preparing you for this stage of new teachings that I promised to come to give you. I told you to be strong, to fight not to fall into a new slavery. And what have you done with my doctrine? Why have you forgotten the promise I made to you to return to each other spiritually? I am in Spirit as I had offered it to you and you do not recognize me, you ask why I call you Israel, and you ask me for proof to believe. Why have you fallen into idolatry and mysticism, confusing material practices with spiritual worship? I find you confused by the false doctrines with which your brothers have separated you from the path of your evolution, you complain because you lack freedom; I contemplate what you have suffered for the cup so bitter that you have rushed but do not think that I have punished you, no. I have always wanted to guide your steps so that you may love me as a Father and feel my divine protection.
4. Many centuries have passed since the day I gave you my word and my last recommendations through Jesus, and today I appear before you as the Holy Spirit fulfilling my promise to you. I have not come to humanize myself, I come in Spirit and only those who are prepared will contemplate me. While you believe in my word and follow me, others do not accept my manifestation and deny it. I have had to give them great tests and thanks to them I have been overcoming their disbelief. The love and patience that I have always shown you, make you understand that only your Father can love you and teach you in this way. I watch over you and make your cross light, so that you will not stumble. I make you feel my peace so that you may walk full of confidence in Me.

Love one another!

5. You have always suffered because you have not taken into account my examples of humility, you have not looked at how much I have come down to make myself heard and understood about you; but I forgive you, because you belong to the first people, to the firstborn. Live my examples and make humanity love me, come closer to Me, because men no longer know how to look for me, they do not feel my presence, they do not recognize my benefits and attribute my wonders to chance, they do not trust Me and live quietly in the midst of their confusion. I have told you that the leaf of the tree does not move without my will; you know that I govern the universe with my laws of love and that all beings are obedient to me. Only man tries to circumvent these laws without wanting to make good use of his free will.

6. Rest from your vicissitudes. Today you are burdened under the weight of your sufferings, there is pain in your spirit and tears are welling up in your eyes because of the repentance of your faults. You have been unknown for following my cause, but I have told you that if you prepare yourselves, you will be able to overcome and endure the judgments of your brothers with the strength that the practice of charity will give you.

7. It is not in vain that I have chosen you as instruments to spread my word, I place my trust in you, I entrust you with a delicate mission that is to bring redemption to your brothers and sisters with your examples. The seed is in you, it is the same with which I have made you live from the beginning. I hope for good fruits from your sowing as a result of your work and your efforts. Make light of the cross you carry, fulfilling with love the mission I have entrusted to you. Finish your work, do not fear the death of the body, think that your spirit will never die, it will only divest itself of the matter that was granted to it as an instrument to live on Earth and which, once its mission is finished, will pay its tribute to the earth and your spirit will be freed to go in search of horizons without limits starting for you a new life in which you will find the compensation of your work in this world.

8. Discard erroneous customs and traditions. Take the light in my teaching so that your doubts will be dispelled and the mysteries will be clarified according to my will.

9. I am showing you the true life of the spirit, so that you will not live under unjust threats, that you will not comply with my Law only because of the fear of the punishment of which they have spoken to you, those who have not known how to interpret my word. Take my law; it is neither complicated nor difficult to understand. Everyone who knows it and is governed by it, is not confused or gives room to false words or forecasts, misconceptions or misinterpretations. My law is simple, it always points out the way you should follow trust in Me, I am the way that will lead you to the white city, the promised land, which has its doors open, waiting for your arrival.

Love one another!

10. I have been pleased to give you an inheritance that belongs not only to you, but to all mankind. You have received so much, that you are in the duty to give to everyone who requests, part of that flow. Bring the light to your brothers who pay for their sins in captivity, console the sick, anoint them with your love as I did in the Second Time and you will see the balm of my charity poured out on them. Encourage the sad, give them conformity and strength. In this way you will practice your gifts and feel comforted.

11. You are close to the world of the virtuous spirits who come to your aid. Ask with faith and respect, and you will receive its benefits. Call them without any distinction, because they have all been prepared by Me in the same way, they have all become worthy to come at this time to the aid of humanity. Imitate their example and be united with them in the ideal of progress. I have allowed that spiritual world to teach you and in the coming struggle, they will be invincible soldiers and your bulwark.

12. My Law is not reduced, it is infinite and you can fulfill it in many ways. I do not require you to do perfect works, but you must study and deepen in it so that you will come to practice it.

13. I do not want you, after listening to my word for so long, to consider these moments lost or misused. If you persevere, you will become spiritualized and then you will be like an open book before your brothers. After 1950 you will reach a higher degree of elevation. I will continue to communicate with you by inspiration and the people will receive your words as messages that I send them. At this time you will recognize how wise and profound my teaching was.

14. After 1950, the year in which my communication in this form will end, humanity will have great trials. Nature will suffer upheavals, everything will be shaken, there will be disorganization in all orders. Prepare yourselves and in that time help the weak, because many will succumb in those trials.

15. 1950, feared by some and longed for by others, is about to arrive; many sects and religions think about that date and wait for the events that will appear around it, to judge my work. Others will ask themselves the reason for the world chaos and you will speak on my behalf, announcing that after that chaos humanity will achieve the desired peace.

16. For I am not insensitive to your sorrows, they come to Me, and make me suffer.

17. Why do you look at each other as strangers, living in the same home, which is this world and distinguishing yourselves by races, classes and beliefs? I promise you that I will erase the borders and bring each other closer. Crowns and scepters will fall, power will disappear and wealth too, because it is time for those differences to cease to exist. The day will come when all of you will possess the earth equally. You will go from one pole to the other, without anyone stopping you. Hypocrisy, ill will, vanity will disappear, to give place to love and harmony. And that lament that rises up to Me, for widowhood, orphanhood, the shortage of bread, the absence of peace and joy, will be changed by a hymn of love and recognition that will flow from all my children.

18. You feel at ease in your nation, because you enjoy peace and well-being; but I tell you not to trust too much, not to sleep, but to watch and do merits, if you want to preserve that peace.

19. Farmers, I am touching you in trials as I once did with the patient Job, but do not think that I am doing it with the desire to make you suffer, no, it is in order that your spirit may be strengthened in that crucible.

20. Do not try to show yourselves clean before Me, if your conscience claims your faults and sins, it is better that you confess to your Father and let his word, like a cleansing river, cleanse you from every stain. Then you will feel worthy to come before your brothers to teach them the truth contained in my teaching.

21. My peace is in your nation, watch and pray, so that you will not lose this grace because of your evil deeds. Retain my peace, treasure my wisdom. Have you not noticed how war is stalking you, knocking on your doors and laying ties to make you fall? But if you know how to watch, do not be afraid, for I will help you to achieve victory in your struggle.

22. I am the Lord, who has delivered you from death at all times; I am the one God who has spoken to you throughout all time. Christ was my Word who spoke to you through Jesus, He told you: "Whoever knows the Son knows the Father". And the Holy Spirit who speaks to you today is also Me, because there is only one Holy Spirit, one Word, and that is Mine.

23. Listen, disciples: in the First Time I gave you the Law, in the Second Time I taught you the love with which you should interpret those commandments, and now in this Third Age I am sending you the light, so that you may penetrate the meaning of what was revealed to you.

24. So why do you insist on finding three gods where there is only one Divine Spirit, which is Mine?

25. I gave the law to the first men and yet I announced to Moses that I would send the Messiah. Christ in whom I gave you my word, told you when his mission was already concluding: "I turn to the Father from whence I came"; he also told you: "The Father and I are one". And then he promised to send you the Spirit of Truth, who would come to clarify, according to my will and your evolution, the mystery of my revelations.

Love one another!

26. More Who will be able to make light in my arcana and explain these mysteries? Who will be able to untie the book of my wisdom, if it is not Me?

27. Truly I tell you, the Holy Spirit, whom you now find different from Jehovah and Christ, is nothing but the wisdom that I manifest to your spirit to make you understand, contemplate and feel the truth.

28. Today I am preparing you to receive my word and may it descend like dew on thirsty plants, like crystal clear water that quenches the thirst of your spirit. I receive you as tender children in my Father's love.

29. You are beginning to take the first steps on solid ground, but if you stop and later ignore my commands, do not block the way to your brothers, to those who will come after you full of longing to serve me, to those who have prepared and are waiting for me. If you don't learn my lesson, what can you teach? Penetrate into my work and enlighten yourselves so that you can understand me, I am the alpha and the omega, the beginning and the end of all teaching.

30. At this time I announce to you the trials that will be; three quarters of the earth will disappear, pain will call all men and the world will suffer great rigors. But if you prepare yourselves, a region will be saved by one of you. The science that man has attained will not be enough to cure the strange diseases that are to appear; you will then understand that you have to rise beyond the earthly to heal and remedy the evils. Israel will save humanity from great calamities, the more so that you have to prepare to fulfill your destiny. The apostles of this time will go from region to region carrying the "good news" and their gifts will be like an inexhaustible source that overflows its benefits in all men.

31. With each miracle that I grant you, you will raise the faith of new apostles and your mission will be great. But woe to them if they were puffed up!, Because they will lose the gifts.

32. Respect the gifts granted to your brothers. Cultivate the tree that I have entrusted to you, for you are all husbandmen of one field. My charity follows you everywhere, I know your works and thoughts. Watch and pray, because humanity needs your prayer for its spiritual evolution.

33. Many of you believe that your sufferings are contradictory with the Father's law of love because you think: If I am the son of God, if the universal and almighty Father created me, why did he let me fall, why did he not make me obedient, good and perfect?

34. Verily I say to you, you have not thought about what you are thinking. What you believe contrary to my laws, is precisely the confirmation of the law of love, and so that you may better understand it, listen. On the divine scale there are an infinite number of beings, whose spiritual perfection allows them to occupy different rungs according to the degree of evolution they have reached. Your spirit was created with adequate attributes to evolve through that scale of perfection and reach a certain end of the Creator's high designs.

35. The fate of these spirits you do not know, but I tell you that it is perfect like everything created by Me.

36. You do not yet understand the gifts that the Father gave you, but do not be afraid, because later you will realize them, and you will see them manifest in fullness.

37. The infinite number of spirits that, like yours, inhabit different abodes, are united among themselves by a superior force that is that of love. They were created for the struggle, for their elevation, not for immobility. Those who have fulfilled my commands have become great in divine love. However, I remind you that even if your spirit has achieved greatness, power and wisdom, it will not become omnipotent, since its attributes are not infinite as they are in God. However, they will be enough for you to take you to the summit of your perfection along the straight path that was traced to you from the first moment, the love of your Creator.

38. When I created you, I gave you the gift of free will, so that by your own free will you may glorify me, with the love and charity that you pour out on your brothers and sisters.

39. A spirit without free will would not be worthy creation of the Supreme Being. It would be an inert being, with no aspirations to its perfection.

40. Today you are still living within a material life due to the lack of fraternity, because in the domains of the spiritual everything lives in perfect harmony.

41. The lack of understanding with divine love causes backwardness for the spirit, which can only be avoided by returning to the path, to definitive repentance and obedience.

42. In your current world, your brothers who cultivate science have not led you to the summit of your evolution, they have led you to pain, to the abyss, to pride; but at no time have I abandoned you, it is you who have been slow to respond to my call of love.

43. For having abused the loving and just freedom that your Father gave you, you have to purify yourselves with pain and tears, from the stains that you imprinted on your spirit. However, he who resignedly restores his mistakes, will reach his evolution and his rise will be faster than his fall.

44. For centuries and centuries I have been giving you examples and proofs of tenderness, of divine love that have sometimes managed to move your heart by making you exclaim: "I love you, Lord, I admire you". But I ask you, If you love me, why don't you imitate me, putting my teachings into practice? Why have you turned away from the spiritual life, thereby delaying your evolution? How dare you blame God for your own falls, for your pain and for your recklessness?

45. Today that I am calling you, not all of you are listening to me, however, I promise you that everyone will listen to me and that none of my children will be lost in the eternity of the spirit.

46. Some will seek me in response to my love, others, overwhelmed by pain, will implore my mercy to stop their cup of bitterness.

47. I am extending to you the message that I gave you through Jesus and you still do not want to abandon the uncertain paths in which you have strayed.

48. Do you want to blame Me for everything that does not come from Me and that has been yours? I have told you to sow love, and instead you have sown hatred. Do you want to collect love?

49. I have taught you to live a simple, pure and high life in peace and you insist on living a constant war of hatred, materialism and insane ambitions.

50. You ask God almost always without knowing what you are asking, but you never give to God what He asks of you for yourself.

51. If you have become so puffed up and lost so much in the divine teachings, how do you want God to give you what you do not know how to ask for or to govern the universe according to your idea or will? Truly I tell you, the universe would not exist for a second if I let you rule it under your human whims.

52. I have given you one more drop of the divine essence, more I will give you in future lessons. But do not take my teaching without analyzing it, it will fill you with light so that you can better interpret my revelations.

53. Take the essence of the teaching, and interpret it as your conscience and your heart dictate.

54. Spirituality is not found in texts of religions or sciences; it is found in your spirit that would be worthily occupied if it always fulfilled the precept that tells you: "Love one another".

55. Do not form new philosophies, nor theories derived from this Doctrine, do not erect material temples, nor make allegories or symbols, I will give you all the revelations that correspond to you in these times.

Love one another!

56. Truly I tell you that you are not the only ones who will possess the truth, the ministers of the different religions, the scientists, believers and unbelievers are all in their origin spiritual creatures of God, whom I will fill with grace during their journey.

57. Humbly invite your brothers and sisters to study my doctrine of love, charity and spiritual elevation. Do not forget that none of your works will be perfect if it does not rest on love for everything you see and even for what you only present in the moments of your meditation.

58. There are many lives in the invisible, feel them, bless them and love them.

59. Do not form idolatries, fanaticism, or material hierarchies. There is no greater greatness than the light that adorns the spirit that by its virtue has reached perfection.

60. He who loves more is greater than he who is serious about his position or his vanity.

61. Remember Jesus.

62. Your understanding is clearer in these times and my word is also becoming more understandable.

63. My temple is your heart, its light is my love. The greatest offering that you can place in him is the peace of your spirit, if you live doing good, blessing and loving your brothers.

64. What good would chants, prayers, and rites do you, if you hid only low passions within yourselves? I thirst for your love, not for incense. Less tears and more light, is what I wish there was in your existence.

65. You will have to answer for everything and the more your evil deeds are, the more energetic judgments you will receive from yourselves; because I do not judge you, that is false, it is your own spirit in its lucid state that is your tremendous accuser and terrible judge. I am the one who defends you against confusion, the one who absolves and saves you because I am the love that purifies and forgives.

66. I will give you new teachings so that you may understand this lesson, which is one more page that I am giving you so that you may form the "Book of True Life".

67. Fulfill my law and by your examples of humility, charity and love, these little multitudes will multiply and become as numerous, as the stars of the firmament and as the sands of the sea.

MY PEACE BE WITH YOU!

Love one another!

Teaching 33

1. Once again the Master opens the book of his teaching to explain to you syllable by syllable his doctrine of love. If, as a Father, you want to listen to me, I tell you: Here is the table prepared for you to sit down and savor the delicacies that I have reserved for you with so much love.
2. I come in the spirit to manifest myself among my disciples. You call this time the time of light and it is that all spirit and all matter have felt my spiritual presence.
3. I am the light and the way and not all of you realize the purpose of my manifestation among you; instead of rejoicing with my divine teaching and my revelations, believing that I have only come to remedy your material needs and afflictions, you remain deaf to my inspirations and concretely ask for bread, work, money or health, without understanding that I grant you every material benefit in addition.
4. Some of you come with a heart full of gratitude and rejoicing because you have received some charity that you requested for your earthly life and I bless you: but in truth I tell you that the spiritual gifts that exist in your being are greater, which, before the stimulus of my teaching, begin to give you their first fruits, and of this you have not yet thanked me.
5. Open your heart so that you may feel within it all that I am granting you. This is why I have often told you that when I was among you, you did not feel me.
6. Do I have to do the works that you call miracles again, as in the Second Time, in order to be believed? Will I have to give sight to the blind, movement to the paralytic, and life to Lazarus, in order to awaken your faith? Truly I tell you, in this time many blind people have seen the light, many crippled people have walked, and many dead people have risen to the life of grace.
7. Two paths appear before your eyes again, the same ones that you have known since the beginning of your pilgrimage. The one is wide and flowery, the other is narrow and strewn with thorns; you want to travel along the narrow path, which is that of virtue without abandoning the other, and this is not possible.
8. Verily I tell you that you do not know my path and that despite its innumerable trials, peace is in it, unlike the wide path that brings pleasures leaving only pain and boredom in your heart.
9. I want your spirit to live eternally in my peace, that is why I manifest myself before him to teach him in this way. Do not forget that at this time you have made a new covenant with your Father before the ark of the new covenant.

Love one another!

10. It is my will that in the times of approaching pain, you stand firm and rise up to give my teaching to your fellow men. When you spread my word and your testimony among mankind, do not be discouraged by the doubt of your brothers. By chance did you all believe when you first heard me? Now that you have that body or sheath, take advantage of it to fulfill your mission before humanity. How many of those who dwell in the spiritual space would like to possess a matter that they consider as a jewel!

11. To your spirit I say: Let yourselves be guided by consciousness and your matter. Let yourselves be led by the spirit and then my peace will be with you. If you do so, your spirit will be watching like the virgins of the parable, with their lamp lit waiting for the arrival of the bridegroom. Blessed are those who live watching, because they will be attentive to receive me and when the last hour comes for them, knock on the door of the spiritual valley, I will open it for them.

12. If you work zealously, you will be with Me tomorrow. Prepare yourselves with these teachings so that you may rise up imitating my disciples of the Second Time and bring the light to your brothers imparting comfort to the troubled. Wake up from your lethargy, for if you who have the law do not understand my word, nor testify about Me, the tests will come, you will be questioned, and if you have not assimilated my teaching, what will you answer? Then you will be judged and you will feel fear and regret remembering that the Master spoke to you lovingly and tirelessly. But if you study and meditate on my word, you will be prepared for when you have to speak about this revelation, and those who understand you will say: Truly the Divine Master was with us. If in spite of your fulfillment you were unknown to your brothers, do not be afraid, for I will recognize your work, and after you overcome the great trials, I will give you the supreme enjoyment of peace.

13. In the future, many of you will devote yourselves to imparting this teaching among humanity and you will see your work bear fruit and the divine seed multiply.

14. I am calling all walkers to hear my voice that invites them to elevation and to possess eternal life. On this day when the Divine Word makes himself heard, take advantage of his word and be enlightened with it because in knowledge is the light and your salvation.

15. If my law teaches you morality, righteousness and order in all the acts of your life, why do you seek adverse paths carving out pain with it, and when you leave for the afterlife leaving your body on Earth, you cry, because you have loved that envelope very much? When I felt that the matter no longer belongs to you and that you have to follow the path until you reach Me, I said to you: My son, what do you make present to me? Have you lived on earth fulfilling my commands? And you ashamed and downcast, because you do not carry a present of love for the one who loves you so much and has granted you so much, you have formed chains that overwhelm your spirit, and this, having lost grace, appears without light, cries and laments, he only hears the voice of the Father who calls him, but since he has not evolved or feels worthy to reach Him, he stops and waits, the times pass and the spirit listens to the voice again, and in the midst of his grief he asks who is speaking to him and that voice tells him: Wake up, don't you know where you have come from or where are you going? Then he raises his eyes, sees an immense light, before whose splendor is contemplated petty, recognizes that before he was sent to Earth he already existed, he was already loved by the Father who is the one from whom the voice came and that now seeing him in a painful trance, he suffers for him, he knows that he has been sent to different dwellings to travel the path of struggle and achieve by his merits his reward, and the son asks: if before being sent to Earth I was your beloved creature, why have I not remained in virtue and had to descend, to suffer and working to get back to you? The voice answered him: All spirits have been subjected to the law of evolution and on that path my Father's Spirit always protects them, and takes pleasure in the good works of the son. I have certainly sent you to the earth so that you may make it a mansion of struggle, of spiritual perfection, not a valley of war and pain. I have told you to multiply, not to be sterile, and when you return to the spiritual valley you do not bring any harvest, you only cry and come without the grace with which I have clothed you; that is why I am sending you once again and I say to you: cleanse yourselves, look for what you have lost and work out your elevation. The spirit returns to Earth, seeks a small and tender human body to rest in it and start the new day; He finds the little child that is pointed out to him and takes it to restore his faults to my law. With knowledge of cause the spirit comes to Earth, he knows that he is the breath of the Father and he knows the commission that He brings from Him.

16. In the first years he is innocent and retains his purity, he remains in contact with the spiritual life, then he begins to know sin, he looks closely at the pride, arrogance and rebellion of men before the just laws of the Father, and the flesh, reluctant by nature, begins to be contaminated with evil. Fallen into temptation, he forgets the mission he brought to earth and rises up doing works contrary to the law. Spirit and matter take the forbidden fruits, and when they have fallen into the abyss the last hour surprises them. The spirit returns to find itself in space, tired and bent by the weight of its faults. Then he remembers the voice that once spoke to him, that still calls him, and after crying a lot, feeling lost without knowing who he is, he remembers that he has already been in that place, and the Father who created him with so much love, appears on his way telling him Who are you, where do you come from and where are you going? The son recognizes in that voice the word of the one who has given him being, intelligence and gifts, the Father who always forgives him, purifies him, separates him from darkness and leads him to the light, he shudders because he knows that he is before the Judge and speaks saying: "Father, my disobedience and my debts to you are very great and I cannot aspire to live in your dwelling because I have no merits, today that I have returned to the spiritual valley I see that I have only accumulated faults, which I must restore". But the loving Father once again points out the way and returns to incarnate, to become part of humanity and then the already experienced spirit, with greater force, bends the envelope to overcome and obey the divine dictates, the struggle is started, fights with the sins that make man fall and wants to take advantage of the opportunity that has been granted for his salvation; he fights from beginning to end and when the gray hairs shine on his temple and his body, once robust and strong, is bending under the weight of the years and losing energy, the spirit feels stronger, more developed and experienced; how great and disgusting the sin seems to him! He turns away from him and comes to the end; he is just waiting for the moment when the Father calls him, because he has come to the conclusion that the divine law is just and the will of God is perfect. That this Father lives to give life and salvation to his children, and when the last day came, he felt death in his flesh and felt no pain, he quietly and respectfully turned away, contemplated himself in spirit, and as if he had a mirror in front of him, he looked beautiful and radiant with light. Then the voice spoke to him and said, "Son, where are you going?" And he who knew who he was, approaching the Father, let his light invade his being and spoke like this: O Creator, O Universal Love, I come to you to rest and give you fulfillment! The account was settled and the spirit was healthy, clean and without chains of sins, and he saw before him the reward that awaited him. He felt afterwards that he was merging in the light of that Father, that his joy was greater and he contemplated a mansion of peace, a holy land and a deep silence and he rested in the bosom of Abraham.

17. I tell you about the wonders that the spiritual life contains and I present to you my teaching. Do you want to fulfill on Earth to reach Me, O people of Israel, O humanity, my daughter? By merit you will enter the Heavenly Kingdom, and by the practice of the virtues you will achieve peace on Earth.

18. You have incarnated time after time and in each reincarnation you have made your debt and restitution greater. Do not blame me for your sufferings because I do not punish you, you are the ones who pronounce your sentence.

19. Here you have the last time to repair your faults.

20. I have returned among you by virtue of the promise I made to you, I have made a covenant with you from the earliest times and I will guide you to the end. Because you are the people who have prepared to sit at my table. I am the food and the fruit, the bread and the wine.

Love one another!

21. You tirelessly come to listen to me to calm your hunger and thirst for justice, as in the Second Time when men hungry for love also followed me. I gave my word in the valleys, in the mountains, in the seas, and in the desert the multitudes followed me; their faith knew no fatigue, their firmness was unshakable, then my piety spread over those men and enveloped them in the essence of my word. The mothers carried their children in their arms; the men abandoned their tasks to listen to me; the elders leaning on their staff followed the crowd.

22. It was on one of those occasions, when the Master performed the miracle of the loaves and fishes, as a demonstration that any bread will reach when it is distributed with love and without distinctions, because conformity and fraternity will also be a sustenance.

23. The disciples themselves had doubted that so few provisions could feed such a large crowd, but when they saw the miracle performed, they were ashamed and said to themselves, "Truly, this is the Messiah."

24. Here you have me again in the Third Time, I come to give you the bread of eternal life from which humanity will eat.

25. I come to give you this word through the human understanding; to communicate in this way, I had to wait for the spiritual and mental evolution of man to use him at this time. My will has been fulfilled and this mystery will become clarity, for all those who do not succeed for now to understand it.

26. Do not be afraid of the judgments and ridicule of the sects and religions; they are the ones who, having the books of prophecies in their hands, have not interpreted them and therefore have not been able to wait for me. On the other hand, you who did not know the prophecies that spoke of my return as the Holy Spirit, were waiting for me. The Third Time has already arrived and humanity has not been able to interpret the gospel.

27. How many peoples go like sheep without a shepherd, but I am with you and to make myself known, I have manifested myself in poverty and humility as in the Second Time. If humanity wants to identify me through those who follow me, it will be able to achieve it; the sick, the sad, the humiliated, the tired, the hungry and thirsty for justice, the dead to faith, are those who come after Me.

28. Let no one be surprised that I did not appear at this time in the bosom of some church, nor in the Second Time did I emerge from any religion.

29. I will not find myself where vanity, materialism and idolatry exist; I want to manifest myself in the bosom of the greatest simplicity and humility, where there are no rites that make you forget the essence of my Law; that is why it does not surprise you to see me surrounded by needy, rude and sinners, because I have put my charity in them transforming them into useful beings, calling them to convert many, and for them who are you, I have given manifest proofs of my power. But if in spite of this you still doubt, do not be afraid, "for no one is a prophet in his own land." Tomorrow the foreigners will come and believe you, or you will go to unknown lands and they will receive you, because not everyone doubts you; there are also those who follow you and rely on your love and charity, serving as an incentive and encouragement on the difficult slope of the road. What will happen to those who follow you and find strength in you, if you become weak? When you feel weak, seek me and I will strengthen you. If you come to find the pain, do not think that I have punished you, get out of that test the benefit that it contains for your evolution.

Love one another!

30. Just by wanting it, you will already be clean. What merit would it have if I were the one to purify you? May everyone restore his faults to my Law, that does have merit, because then you will know how to avoid falls and mistakes in the future, because pain will remind you of it.

31. If sincere repentance is interposed between the fault committed and its natural consequences, the pain will not come to you, because then you will already be strong to bear the test with resignation. The world hurries a very bitter cup and I have never punished him, but after his pain he will come to Me, who am calling him; by then, those who were ungrateful will know how to give thanks to the one who has only poured goods into their existence.

32. Until now, it has not been human love that has prevailed in the world; it has been, as it has been since the beginning of humanity, force that prevails and conquers. The one who has loved has succumbed victim of evil.

33. Evil has extended its kingdom and has become strong on earth, and it is precisely at this time that I come to oppose these forces with my weapons, so that the kingdom of love and justice may be established among men; but I will fight, because in order to give you the peace of my Spirit, it is necessary that I wage war and destroy all evil.

34. The day of justice is already among you, the living and the dead are listening at this time to the voice of conscience.

35. This world is not the eternal mansion for your spirit, if it were so, you would not see your body die that you love so much, you would not see the life of your parents extinguish, of those who gave you being. Everything is perishable, nothing is stable in this world, if everything here were bliss and pleasures, you would never remember your spirit, you would not think of others, nor would you remember me.

Love one another!

36. Very long has been the path of pain that your spirit has traveled and I do not want you to encounter greater pains than you have already known; return to Me in search of peace, seek your perfection and I will make you teachers who teach and rescue those lost in the darkness of ignorance.

37. Men who have wept at my words of forgiveness, why, showing me your right hand stained with the blood of your brother, has justice not yet come to you? Do not be afraid, that your true repentance will be like a mantle that defends you and my forgiveness like crystal clear water that strengthens you in your restitution. But woe to him who has killed and has not settled his account! Woe to him who has stolen, caused dishonor, or has not fulfilled his parents! Because then life and pain, as a wise judge will judge them, and as a teacher will teach them.

38. Today you have come to Me overcoming all obstacles and eager to hear my word again, because you have the desire to become my disciples, and that is why you come to listen and study my divine lesson.

39. You know that to regenerate and find strength to overcome your passions, there is nothing better than my word that enlightens your spirit and awakens in you the true love for your spiritual purity.

40. This is the time when my word is poured out to a greater extent so that you will not ignore what I reveal to you, but if I sometimes speak to you figuratively, it is so that you may better record my lessons.

41. I am the saving boat that has presented itself to the reach of the shipwrecked person who is about to perish; those who have been brought to safety on the shore where peace is, later feel inside, the duty to do the same with their fellow human beings when they are in danger of being lost.

42. The ships have been exhausted and there are many shipwrecked people asking for help. See humanity losing itself in vices, in perversity and in crime; see men consecrated to a life of materialism and selfishness; women have become familiar with the sin that reigns everywhere, they lose their virtue and their delicacy, the home that is the temple of man, is desecrated because light, warmth and peace disappear from it.

43. I come to this planet and in it I seek the spirit of man who is the temple of God, and I ignite faith in him by speaking to him of a new world, a world of peace, to which he can reach with regeneration and fraternity. Some feel their heart beating strongly and make the divine ideal their own; others complain of obstacles and difficulties as pretexts for not following me. They lack faith and have not understood that whoever departs from his destiny, again and again he will have to reach the same point until he has traveled all the way.

44. I do not tell you to turn away from your material duties or from the healthy joys of the heart and the senses; I only ask you to renounce what poisons your spirit and makes your body sick.

45. Whoever lives within the law, is complying with what his conscience dictates. He who runs away from licit satisfactions to immerse himself in forbidden pleasures, even in the moments of greatest pleasure wonders why he is not happy or finds peace. Because from joy to joy he descends until he loses himself in the abyss, without finding the true satisfaction for his heart and his spirit.

46. There are those who need to succumb hurrying to the last drop of the chalice where they sought pleasure without finding it, so that they can hear the voice of the One Who is eternally inviting them to the feast of eternal life.

47. I receive the offering of my disciples. Elijah has prepared you and has interceded with Me, so that you may be worthy to listen to my word and know how to take advantage of its essence. My promise is that everyone who seeks me in his tribulation will be comforted.

48. It is the age of the Holy Spirit in which I am communicating with man. Of those who have heard me, some are beginning to recognize me and others already love me. When this time of my communication has passed, humanity will know who has come, it will recognize Elijah as a forerunner full of grace and power, and the Teacher who has descended out of love for the human race.

49. Beloved disciples, imitate me so that you will soon reach the end of your restitution, where Elijah, the shepherd who has guided you through the ages, will present you before Me.

50. I do not want the spirits, when they leave this earth, to feel lonely or lost in the immensity of the spiritual valley that awaits everyone; for this reason Elijah speaks to you and prepares you for that transitory step, and you must make known to your brothers that Spirit who is shepherd and intermediary between man and his Creator.

51. You are contemplating a stage of rigor and justice, you are all now reaping the fruit of your labors; this time had to come, it was written, I warned you to pray and do penance, and I found you asleep, without remembering my words. But I am watching over you and I have come once again to bring you my teaching that shows you very wide horizons; if you know how to understand it, you will be strong and strong-willed. And when this light has penetrated your spirit, go to others and help them out of their lethargy, have charity for those who sin out of ignorance and point out to them the path that leads to their salvation.

52. I am turning those who were children yesterday into disciples, and I am bringing the disciples closer to Me. I have placed you all on a single scale and have shared in your tribulations. The pain of humanity comes to Me, Elijah struggles for the unification of spirit in men. The new tower of Babel has grown in pride and division, but in front of it I raise the tower of Israel with bases of humility and love. The struggle will be great, but in the end, virtue will defeat sin and peace will be restored. Then those who had been weak will be strong; the blind will open their eyes and it will be the true awakening of the spirit to penetrate into a life of evolution.

53. The gold and the power that man so longs for, will not give peace to his spirit, nor comfort on his sickbed, they will only harden his heart. How many times have I presented before the eyes of the wealthy, pictures of pain to prove their feelings and they have been indifferent to the orphanhood, the misery and the pain of their fellow human beings, without understanding that I have only made them depositories of material goods so that they may distribute them with justice and charity.

54. There are many beings who are waiting for a pious hand that heals them, a word of comfort or an example that redeems them. The spirit is hungry for love, sincerity and justice, and you, Israel, can give, because I have given you a wealth of spiritual goods that you must spread.

55. Not all times will be peace for you, that's why, today, that you still have freedom, you must work hard and prepare with prayer to your brothers and sisters of other nations, as you know, for the spirit there are no distances, and thus, the day in which my doctrine is carried by my messengers, they will not stumble, if you do not find friends, brothers who understand your mission and give support and heat.

56. He to whom this message is entrusted, and who lives in communion with Me, I will inspire him with perfect works and manifest my Spirit in his words.

57. Many of you have felt the contempt of humanity for following the Master, others have been rejected in the home of your parents and others have been disowned by your wife or husband, but think that I contemplate everything and that I will more than compensate for your sacrifice.

58. Look not at enemies but at brothers in all those around you. Do not ask for punishment so that you will give an example of forgiveness and there will be no remorse in your spirit. Close your lips and let Me judge your cause.

Love one another!

59. Heal the sick, restore reason to those who are astray; remove the spirits that cloud the intelligence and make both recover the light they have lost.

60. Pray for the nations, for I will watch over you. Take my word to all hearts, then thank me for the benefits you have received, because you will have recognized that the leaf of the tree does not move without my will.

61. Verily I tell you, those who have strayed the farthest from Me realize that it is time for justice, because they have forebodings and anxieties.

62. My voice, like a trumpet, is calling and awakening the spirits, but if humanity had cared to study and analyze the prophecies of the First and Second Times, nothing of what is happening now would surprise you, or confuse you, because everything was already foretold.

63. My word of yesterday is fulfilled today, because sooner the king star would cease to shine, than she would cease to be fulfilled.

64. Bear the bitterness that the war of the peoples causes you, do not cry out for justice against them, for their cup is already quite bitter. Be merciful in your judgments, thoughts and prayers.

65. Those who still enjoy some peace, have the duty to pray to help spiritually those who suffer the rigors and calamities of war.

66. If, instead of pity, you feel anger or contempt towards those who cause so much suffering to humanity, truly I tell you that you deprive yourself of all spiritual elevation and all understanding.

67. Let my voice find an echo in your heart; put my word into practice, that will be the way for my doctrine to gain strength on Earth. She is the light that will confront the ideas that have arisen from a sick and decadent humanity.

68. All the justice, the greatness and the light that humanity can aspire for the evolution of its spirit, can be found in my doctrine; but in order for man to stop to analyze my teaching and be interested in its content, he will first have to contemplate the principle of its fruition, in the regeneration and virtues of my disciples.

69. Great mysteries I promise to reveal to you when you live in peace, because then my light can shine in your being.

70. All of you would like to be one of those who testify to my truth and to be on the path of humanity as a beacon for the navigator or a star for the pilgrim.

Love one another!

71. Today you have me among you by means of this communication, take advantage of my stay, and from infants become disciples, so that you can worthily preach with my word when I have ceased to speak.

72. Study, watch and pray, sow love and charity among your brothers, so that I may say to humanity through your works, "Love one another".

MY PEACE BE WITH YOU!

Love one another!

Love one another!

Teaching 34

1. Beloved people, do not wait for better times to reveal this message to humanity, because no other time will come more appropriate than this.
2. Open your eyes to reality and dream no more of the vanities of the world; understand that your mission is to make my doctrine known by all the ways of the earth.
3. Here, among the multitudes, I discover the future emissaries, the new apostles, the peasants who will have to be tireless in the fulfillment of their mission.
4. Some will go to the East, others I will send to the west and the difference of languages will not be an obstacle to the spread of my word.
5. The sword of light, love and justice that exists in my doctrine will open roads, destroy walls of ignorance and erase borders. Everything will be prepared for the unification of peoples.
6. At the beginning of the struggle, some will gladly accept the Trinitarian Marian Spiritualist doctrine, while others, seeing in it a threat to earthly power and to their erroneous interpretations, will reject it and persecute you, but verily I tell you, it will be as if they, with the palm of their hand, wanted to prevent the sun from giving its light.
7. I must warn you, that whoever rejects this word will have rejected Me, and whoever accepts it will have accepted Me, because in its essence I have manifested myself at this time to men, my Spirit is present in it, therefore I tell you that whoever receives my word, he will recognize my voice, he will open the doors of his heart to me and he will have me inside him.
8. A beautiful opportunity to repay and settle your debts has been offered to you by my justice; do not waste a single one of the days of life that I have entrusted to you.
9. You are the prodigal son who returned to his father's house in repentance, and I have received you with love to make you recover your inheritance.
10. I know who they are among those who come crying in my presence, the truly repentant, those who mourn their guilt with tears of sincere remorse and ask me for an opportunity to make restitution, they cry for having offended their Father, they do not cry for them. On the other hand, there are others who apparently regret having offended me and cry, promise and even swear not to sin again, but at the same time that they promise, they are asking me for new earthly goods. Those are the ones who will soon have to move away from the paternal home.

Love one another!

11. If they manage to receive from Me what they were looking for, they will go to waste it, if they did not get it, they will blaspheme against me. They believe that in the humility of this path there are only thorns, and they do not know that the one they have chosen is the most uncertain, the most bumpy and random. They think that given over completely to the pleasures of the world, they will be able to increase their flow and thereby decrease their needs, without realizing that by rejecting the sweet weight of a spiritual cross, they have thrown on their shoulders a huge material burden, under whose weight they will end up burdened.

12. How few there are who aspire to live in the paradise of peace, light and harmony, fulfilling the divine laws with love.

13. The path along which humanity has traveled is very long and it still prefers to eat the forbidden fruits that only accumulate sorrows and disappointments in its life. Forbidden fruits are those that, being good because God has created them, can become harmful to man if he has not prepared properly or takes them in excess.

14. Man and woman take the fruit of life unprepared and do not know their responsibility to the Creator, by bringing new beings to incarnate on Earth.

15. The scientific man with a profane hand cuts a fruit from the tree of science without first listening to the voice of his conscience, in which my law speaks to him to tell him that all the fruits of the tree of wisdom are good, and that therefore, whoever takes them must do so inspiring only his fellow men in good.

16. These two examples that I have explained to you teach you why humanity does not know the love, nor the peace of that inner Paradise that man through his obedience to the law should carry forever in his heart.

17. To help you find it, I have come to teach sinners, the disobedient, the ungrateful and the proud, to make you understand that you are gifted with the spirit, that you have a conscience, that you can reason and value perfectly what is good and what is bad, and to show you the path that will lead you to the paradise of peace, wisdom, infinite love, immortality, glory and eternity.

18. I speak to you who have sinned, because the righteous already live in the spiritual paradise and the other beings who lack spirit and therefore conscience, are recreated in their paradise, which is nature, where they live in perfect obedience and harmony with all creation.

19. Today I have come to illuminate the path where you will have to evolve and at the end of which you will find me. I do not come to oblige you, but I do warn you that if you ignore this call, you will soon come of your own free will seeking the way of salvation, but then you will come fleeing from the horrors of your inhumanity, your audacity and your pride.

Love one another!

20. I do not come to you with rigor, it is you who give the deserved punishment to your faults.

21. People: in your heart I leave the essence of my word, so that you may feed spiritually, because your heart is like a flower and its perfume is the essence of love that I have deposited in it. Do not let this flower wither, because it would soon lose its aroma. Delicate are the flowers of your gardens, but more delicate is your heart and even more, its divine essence.

22. After 1950 you will no longer receive my word through these understandings whom you have called spokespersons or interpreters. Some will leave this Earth for the spiritual valley, others will stay to receive the first inspirations, the precursor signs of spirit-to-Spirit communication.

23. When that communication begins to develop between you, you will truly begin to analyze and understand the doctrine that you are now receiving and you will at the same time know how to separate my essence from all the imperfections that the spokesman would have mixed with my word.

24. Now I ask you: Are you content to be the poor of the earth, but rich in spirit? Or do you prefer the pleasures of the world to the knowledge of eternal life? I bless you, because in your heart you are saying to me, "Lord, nothing is comparable to the glory of hearing your word."

25. In this Age I am giving you a new message: The Third Testament. Many have been the witnesses of this manifestation, but truly I tell you, it will not be you who will come to understand the full meaning of what I have revealed to you, nor will you appreciate the importance that this message contains.

26. Many times I have given a teaching and you have interpreted it wrongly because you are materialized, and while I have spoken to you about spiritual knowledge, you have given it a material meaning. Other more spiritually evolved generations will come and when studying the teachings that contain these revelations, they will shudder with spiritual emotion; other times they will delight in the haven of peace of my word, and at other times they will be amazed at what they will find in my chairs of love. Then they will say: How is it possible that the eyewitnesses of this word have not realized its meaning, its greatness and its light? It will not be the first time that this has happened: even in the Second Time, when I spoke to the hearts of men, they did not understand me, because they only lived and thought for the world and for matter.

27. When the body that enveloped me in the Second Half fell into agony and from the cross I uttered the last words, there was among my last sentences one that neither at that moment, nor for a long time afterwards was understood: "My God, my God, why have you abandoned me?"

28. Because of those words many doubted; others were confused thinking that it was a weakness, a hesitation, an instant of weakness. But they have not taken into account that this was not the last sentence, but after it I still uttered others that revealed full strength and lucidity: "Father, into your hands I commend my Spirit" and "Everything is finished".

29. Now that I have returned to shed light on your confusions and clarify what you have called mysteries, I tell you: When I was on the cross, the agony was long, bloody and the body of Jesus, infinitely more sensitive than that of all men, suffered a prolonged agony and death did not come. Jesus had fulfilled his mission in the world, he had already said the last word and taught the last lesson; then that tortured body, that shattered flesh, feeling the absence of the spirit, painfully asked the Lord: "Father, Father! Why have you abandoned me?" It was the sweet, aching complaint of the wounded lamb to his Shepherd. It was the proof that Christ, the Word, truly became man in Jesus and his suffering was real.

30. Can you attribute these words to Christ, being eternally united to the Father? Now you know that it was a groan from the body of Jesus, lacerated by the blindness of men. But when the Lord's caress rested on that martyred flesh, Jesus continued speaking and his words were: "Father, into your hands I commend my Spirit." "Everything is consummated."

31. When will you speak to me like this, humanity? When will you breathe out that sweet complaint that is not reproach, nor doubt, nor lack of faith, but the proof of love to the Father by manifesting to him that in the supreme hour, you want to feel him close? Meditate on each of my phrases, because I am the truth that was promised to you.

32. Now that I am teaching you, I have made use of the rude and the ignorant, because the scientists and the wise have denied me; I have also sought sinners to convert them and send them to testify to my truth. These, my children, for whom I am manifesting, must be worthy of this grace, awakening to the light of the doctrine that they are going to preach, so that they have full knowledge of their mission and know that only by giving examples and showing good works will be deemed by their peers.

33. This teaching time will be conducive to the preparation of the multitudes.

34. My doctrine is the pure and crystalline water of the river of life, with which you will purify yourselves and achieve the transformation that will make you worthy of being called disciples of the Holy Spirit. Prepare your heart in my word and truly I tell you, the good seed will sprout from it; educate your spirit and understanding by listening to me, and your works, words and thoughts will radiate my truth.

Love one another!

35. It is true that not only you will bear witness to Me because all Creation is a living proof of my truth, but in this work you have a mission to fulfill and a debt to settle with yourselves, because in truth I tell you that you owe nothing to Me, but to you.

36. If you do not bear witness to your Lord, I will give it, but you will weep bitterly because you were not near the Master in the hour of struggle.

37. Do you want to know how you will get your testimony to be taken as true? Be sincere with yourselves, never say that you possess what you do not have, nor try to reveal what you have not received. Teach only what you know, testify only what you have seen, but if they ask you something that you cannot answer, be silent, but never lie; again I tell you, that your "yes" is always "yes" and your "no" is always "no" and thus you will be faithful to the truth. Do not swear either, because whoever tells the truth does not need oaths to make himself believe, since he carries the light in his deeds. Let him swear that he has been false and that when the time comes to need to be believed, he has to resort to the name of God to support his words. Do not swear by God, nor by Mary, nor by your parents, nor by your life. I tell you again that your works will be the ones that bear witness to your words, and both will bear witness to Me.

38. If by telling the truth they believe you, blessed are those who believe you. If by speaking the truth you are denied, injured or mocked, leave the cause to Me, because the cause of the truth is mine, then I will defend you. Neither try to disguise the truth with the veil of falsehood, for your judgment will be great. Do you not know of that great temple in Jerusalem where, centuries after centuries, men entered in search of strength and wisdom? For he was great while his bosom was like a fold of peace for the spirits, but when hypocrisy, lies and greed penetrated, his veil was torn and later not a stone on stone remained of him.

39. I tell you again to start being honest with yourselves, not to try to deceive yourselves, that is, to start loving the truth. The moment is approaching, when the great heads of the world will fall, when the nations will feel my divine justice. How much clamor there will be then among men! A world of falsehoods, errors and injustices will disappear, so that in its place the Kingdom of God, which is justice and light, will be established. For many human works it will be the end, but for the time of spirituality it will be the beginning.

40. The world that will disappear will be the world of evil that you have created, in which the strong oppress the weak; from which the innocence of even the children has fled, in which the parents do not know the children and the children the parents. This world in which the most sacred principles and institutions have been desecrated by men, and in which one another, instead of loving each other as brothers, kill each other.

41. In order for this new Babel to disappear, its wickedness must be nipped in the bud like a weed. The pain will be great, but in that chalice the impure will be purified and the blind will open their eyes, death will stop the career of many, but it will not be to exterminate them, but to lead them to true life.

42. Nothing will remain of the evil deeds of humanity, but on the rubble of your past, I will make a new world emerge as a great kingdom where humanity will be like an extended family that lives in peace, that loves, that feels and thinks in my law of love.

43. New generations will populate the Earth and will gather the fruits of the experience and of the evolution, both spiritual and material, that their ancestors have left, because from all the past they will select the good fruits.

44. On the imperfect cults towards my Divinity, a truly spiritual cult will arise, just as, on the materialistic science of the men of the present, a new science will arise at the service of fraternity, well-being and peace.

45. The division of men will disappear, and just as in their discords they distanced themselves from each other, creating languages and tongues for each people, when harmony begins to shine in the world, everyone will feel the need to understand each other with a single language, Truly I tell you, the charity of one another will facilitate this work, because it will be based on the command that says to you: "Love one another".

46. How can it be right that the human species does not understand each other, if even the animals of the same species understand each other, even if they are from one region and others from another?

47. Unite yourselves with love inspired by your Father, and He who is the alpha and omega of all Creation, will inspire you with the universal language.

48. Rest, relax with my word, she is beyond the division of your languages, beyond your beginning and your end; but if ye are in awe of the way so extensive and inexhaustible, with which I have spoken by the lips of my spokespersons, know that it has only been a glimpse of my divine light which I have sent on these understandings.

49. You ask me: "Lord, why, if you have chosen us to be witnesses of this manifestation, have you not excluded us from the sufferings and vicissitudes of the Earth?" To which I answer you that it is necessary that you hurry the cup that your brothers drink even a little, so that you may understand their afflictions.

Love one another!

50. If I have told you that at this time all that the pride and wickedness of men have done will be destroyed, do you not believe that there is also something in you to destroy, to cut off, or to atone for?

51. You are graceful, but at the same time very touched by the evidence, but if the pain keeps you alert, think that it is only a drop vera drink other peoples; to feel the pain your heart feels moved to pray, and it recognizes intuitively one of the missions that you have brought this people to the Land.

52. Pray, my children, with thoughts of light, peace and fraternity and those prayers will not be lost in space, but their essence will keep them vibrating spiritually and will lead them to the hearts of those for whom you have prayed. But so that your prayer may be felt by your brothers, do not become familiar with my word, come with the same humility and fervor of the first days, because a day will come when you will feel your being shaken, and that day will be the one in which I speak to you for the last time in this way.

53. What do you think I called you for at this time, multitudes? Perhaps it was only to cure your ailments or to make you regain the lost peace? No, people, if I came to raise you up to true life, to ignite faith in your heart, to restore the smile to your face and strength to your body, it was because I wanted to prepare you so that you could rise to the struggle; But I see that many, thinking of themselves, attend my chair only to seek the peace of their spirit, without wanting to know anything about the mission that awaits them; others, once they have received what they wanted, walk away without being interested in studying and understanding the meaning of my doctrine.

54. You have all been called to take part in this work and that is why I have poured out my word on this people, so that they may keep even one of my phrases in their hearts.

55. My teaching tells you that if you do not make my word known among humanity, the stones will speak to testify to my truth and to the time that you live, but do not wait for the stones to speak, because they will do it shaking the Earth, shaking the seas or coming out in torrents through the craters of volcanoes.

56. It is better that you prepare yourselves in time, so that when this world is ravaged by plagues, strange evils and afflictions of all kinds, you scattered along all the roads of the Earth, take to the hearts my sweet, comforting word, that you reach like a gentle breeze to those who have been hit by hurricanes.

57. Put aside your laziness and take advantage of the precious time that you enjoy today, because you do not know if in the times to come you will have calm to be able to study and meditate on my word.

Love one another!

58. Pray like good disciples and fill your hearts with noble purposes. Do not forget that I have not come to distinguish you by races, classes or religions, so that wherever you go, you will feel at home and whoever you meet, whatever race it may be, you will consider him for what he really is: your brother.

59. I brought this word to you and made it heard in your language, but I give you the mission that later you translate it into other languages, so that it will be known to everyone.

60. In this way you will begin to build the true tower of Israel, the one that spiritually unifies all peoples into one, the one that unites all men in that divine, immutable and eternal Law that you knew in the world on the lips of Jesus, when he told you to "Love one another".

61. Search my word until you are certain of its purity and its truth, only in this way will you be able to walk strong and remain firm in the face of the invasion of materialistic ideas that threaten the spirit. Because materialism is death, it is darkness, it is a yoke and poison for the spirit. Never exchange the light or the freedom of your spirit for earthly bread or for petty material goods.

62. Truly I tell you, whoever trusts in my Law and perseveres in the faith to the end, will never lack material sustenance, and in the moments of his communication with my Spirit, he will always receive by my infinite charity the bread of eternal life.

MY PEACE BE WITH YOU!

Love one another!

Teaching 35

1. Blessed are those who ask me with humility and faith for the progress of their spirit, because they will receive what they request from their Father.
2. Blessed are those who know how to wait, because my charity will reach their hands at the right moment.
3. Learn to ask and also to hope, knowing that nothing escapes my charity; trust that my will will manifest itself in each of your needs and trials.
4. The son has the right to ask his Father for what is within his law of justice and love, and the Father, in turn, has the duty to take care of the son.
5. I tell you that those who here on earth obey my will, when they are in spirit, will enjoy my love.
6. When the weight of your cross weighs you down, call on your Cyreneus and I will instantly come to your aid.
7. Pray in times of trial, with a short but clean and sincere prayer, and you will feel comforted, and when you manage to be in harmony with your Lord, I will be able to tell you that my will is yours and your will is mine.
8. Do not only pray when you are going through some painful trial, pray also when you are at peace, because that is when your heart and thought can take care of others. Nor do you pray only for those who have done you good or for those who have not caused you any harm, because this, being meritorious, is not so much as if you watch over those who in some way had caused you prejudice.
9. Do you think that I, your Teacher, have been a Cyrenian and Savior of those who cried out before Pilate? Crucify him! Crucify him! You too can help your brothers and sisters to bear their cross with resignation, with prayers, thoughts, words and even in material form; in this way you will be able to make more bearable the restitution of those who are burdened under the weight of their pain or their struggle.
10. This is an auspicious time for you to be charitable, therefore, pray, ask and work, the fields are fertile and they are waiting for you.
11. Ask for peace for the nations, attract it with your prayers; send balm through your thoughts and transmit light to the understanding of your brothers. Truly I tell you, your requests will never cease to be heard and attended to by your Father.

Love one another!

12. Be prepared, because many are going to deny that I have communicated by the understanding of man, but ye will say, that is not the first time that this happens, which God has spoken by the man in the Three Eras that since the beginning of time, all the prophecies, inspirations and revelations given to mankind, have been voices divine received by human mediation, which have guided men of all time.

13. Those who deny, contradict or scandalize by your testimony, it will be because they ignore what spiritual communication is, so let them be named wise on Earth.

14. It is my will that through this people who have witnessed my communication in this form, humanity may know that man, from his origin, was destined to communicate with his Heavenly Father, to serve as his spokesman on this planet, and that if in the past the cases of the men through whose lips the Lord spoke were isolated, now you live a time in which humanity, from generation to generation, will achieve greater perfection and clarity by communicating spirit to Spirit with the Father.

15. You will announce that by that time men will consult everything with their Lord, to carry out their works in the world, within the precepts of the divine law. The father of a family will speak to his children with words that the Lord puts on his lips; teachers will teach under a superior inspiration; rulers will know how to transmit to their peoples the will of God; judges will submit to the dictates of their conscience, which is the light of the One who knows everything, and therefore, is the only one capable of judging with perfection. The doctors will first trust in the divine power and their word and their balm will come from the Lord. Men of science will understand the delicate mission they have brought to Earth, and by their spiritual preparation they will receive divine inspirations. Finally, all those who have brought into the world the mission of leading spirits along the path of evolution, will know how to rise up to receive my revelations and bring them to the hearts of the multitudes with the light and purity with which they received them.

16. I speak of an era that is coming and that you need to announce and profetizarla with the certainty that it will come; but if your brothers are burlasen of your prophecy, fear not, that is also John the apostle, when he revealed that in his communication with the Father had received, it was derided and even judged as insane; however, the time came for the fulfillment of all that which seemed impossible to some, strange and incomprehensible to others.

17. The time that you are living today is precisely in which what I said through the mouth of that seer, prophet and spokesman of the Master is being fulfilled.

18. Because of his clairvoyance, that apostle of love and truth was persecuted, tormented and banished. But he did not lack my protection against his persecutors and executioners, so I tell you not to be afraid, that if for this reason they take you to prison, I will set you free; if they deny you work or bread, I will support you. If they humiliate you or slander you, I will exalt you and do you justice, and if they put you to death, I will raise you up to true life.

Love one another!

19. That is why I always tell you that you must prepare yourselves through prayer, so that you can extend this prophecy and give this testimony with a heart full of gentleness, courage and faith in love for your brothers and sisters.

20. Everything that you do in my name under this preparation will have to bear good fruits and you will see everything you have longed for come true.

21. As I have fulfilled all my promises to the men of old, so I will also fulfill them to you.

22. You are living in times of anguish in which men purify themselves by pouring out their cup of bitterness; but those who have searched the prophecies, already knew that the moment was about to arrive, the one in which wars would be unleashed everywhere as the nations were unknown.

23. Strange diseases and epidemics are yet to appear among humanity, confusing scientists; and when the pain reaches its maximum to men, they will still have the strength to shout: God's punishment! But I do not punish, it is you who punish yourselves by departing from the laws that govern your spirit and matter.

24. Who has unleashed and provoked the forces of nature but the folly of men? Who has defied my laws? The arrogance of men of science. But truly I tell you, this pain will serve to uproot the weed that has grown in the heart of humanity.

25. The fields will be covered with corpses, the innocent will also perish, some will die by fire, others by hunger and others by war. The Earth will tremble, the elements will be shaken, the mountains will throw their lava and the seas will curl.

26. I will let men take their perversity to a limit, as far as their free will allows them, so that horrified at their own work, they feel true repentance in their spirit.

27. You, humble disciples, men who, although you are full of imperfections, feel love for your brothers; counteract the influence of the passions unleashed by the war, with thoughts of peace, with prayers saturated with spiritual light, with words of fraternity and with works that contain truth and charity; you must be prepared, because at the end of the war, when this strife ends, multitudes will come from afar in search of balm for the body and for the spirit.

28. "Do not leave us when that hour comes, O Master," this people tells me. To which I answer that I cannot leave you, because in everything created I am present.

Love one another!

29. I will speak to men through the elements, my voice will arise from the seas and from one end of this planet to the other, the spirits will feel touched by the light of the One who is the only one who with true tenderness can say to you: "Love one another".

30. This precept will become for many their judge, others will feel it in their heart as an open wound and for others it will be like a guardian who will not let them sleep for its fulfillment.

31. You see that I will not be able to depart from you, as one of my prophets said a long time ago, that at this time my Spirit would be poured out on all flesh and on every spirit.

32. Wherever you go, I will be before you. Wherever you look for me, you will find me. Wherever you set your eyes, you will contemplate me, but I do not want to announce to you only bitterness and omens of great tribulations with my word of this day. If I speak to you of all this, it is to leave you watching and praying, so that you will not be surprised by trials the instant they come to you.

33. Just as I have announced to you the war and the disasters that await humanity, I also tell you that a day will come in which all the nations of the Earth will enjoy peace, in which men will love each other in Me, and their life, their work, their works in the world, will be the pleasant worship that rises from this planet to Me like fragrant incense.

34. You ask me, "Lord, how long will that time be?" And I answer you: When humanity is besmirched by pain, repentance, regeneration and the practice of goodness.

35. By fulfilling the spirit of humanity with the pact that it has concluded with its Father, I will fulfill in my turn until the last of my promises, I will open my arcanum and I will overflow it on my children in wisdom, in peace and in revelations.

36. As you travel through this world, watch and pray, peoples; prepare yourselves in spirit and in matter, because I will soon send you on the roads to speak of my truth.

37. Prepare your spirit with the practice of prayer, charity and humility that my doctrine teaches you, and also prepare your body, removing from it vices, bad habits and bending it to make it a perfect collaborator of the spirit. Once you are ready, you will see how clearly the path appears before you. That is why I tell you that the life of the spirit, from its departure from the divine womb to its return, is a scale of evolution.

38. The Father, in forming you, put you on the first rung of that ladder, so that by following that path, you would have the opportunity to truly know and understand your Creator. But how few started the upward journey starting from the first step! The most united in their disobedience, in their rebellion, misusing the gift of freedom and ignoring the dictates of conscience, allowing themselves to be dominated by matter, to create with their vibrations a force, that of evil, and dig an abyss to where their influence had to drag their brothers, who engaged in a bloody struggle between their weaknesses and perversions, and their longing for elevation and purity.

39. How different would have been the life that you would have led on earth, if you had persevered in goodness and justice, because in it you would have reaped the fruits of my love. However, you are not lost nor have I banned you from my Kingdom, proof of this is that when I came to you, humanizing my presence, I descended to the world that you have created with so many errors and imperfections.

40. Here in this world, to show you that I love you despite your deviations and your ingratitude, I gave you my blood and my body.

41. My immutable law that I gave you in the first times, the exhortations to the good of the prophets, my doctrine and each of my messages, are the spiritual light that man has received through consciousness and his spirit would be fused with mine, if it had been preserved in the law and in purity from the beginning of his evolution.

42. The lust of men, their ignorance, their lack of spiritual elevation, their sufferings caused by their mistakes, caused the Father to descend to come and rescue them, showing them the book of wisdom that they had despised for the pleasures of the world and to point them again to the true path.

43. Many centuries have passed and many times beings have had to return to the world, and they still do not understand the essence of my law or the nature of their own spirit.

44. I am still manifesting myself to men in a humanized way, although I also tell you that what I have been revealing at this time is the lesson that will raise the spirits to that scale of which I am talking to you, from which they will know and be able to recover every error, rebuild what was destroyed and recover what they had lost.

45. In my divine sowing, not a seed is lost, despite the fact that the falls of men have delayed its flowering and spiritual fruition.

46. At this time the Earth is removed with great pain from humanity, but it is necessary that I find my seed to separate it from the tares.

47. What was the cause of your sin and your disobedience to my law?

48. Listen disciples: Before you came to life, I already existed and yours was latent in my Spirit. But I did not want you to inherit my Kingdom without having made merits; I did not want you to possess what exists without knowing who created you, nor did I want you to leave without direction, without destination and without ideal.

Love one another!

49. That is why I gave you conscience, so that it would serve as a guide for you; I granted you free will so that your works would have true value before Me. I gave you spirit, so that he would always long to rise to the luminous and pure. I gave you the body so that through the heart you would have sensitivity for the good and for the beautiful, and so that it would serve as a crucible, a constant test and also as an instrument for dwelling in the material world. The Earth has been a school for your spirit, in it the presence of the Divine Teacher has never been lacking; human life has been a book of profound wisdom for the incarnate spirit.

50. When the space was illuminated for the first time with the presence of the spirits, these hesitant and babbling like children, not having the elevation or the strength to support themselves in the abodes of high spirituality, felt the need for a staff, a support point to feel strong and they were given matter and a material world. But in their new state, they were acquiring experience and knowledge.

51. You have not yet realized the mission that you must fulfill in this time among humanity, but with my word I will make known to you your struggle and the way in which you will be able to reach the goal.

52. Your brain is small and it is not enough on its own to understand the value of the gifts you possess, nor the transcendence of the work that the Father, through this people, will have to carry out among humanity.

53. My wise and powerful will prepares the roads by which my emissaries, my disciples, my prophets will have to rise up with the good news of the manifestation of my Word, so that at the same time they prepare the roads by which the great caravans of your brothers who you call foreigners will have to reach the bosom of your nation.

54. These caravans will apparently come looking for the bread of the body and peace for the heart, but I know that it will be their spirit that will come after the fulfillment of my promise, which is kept at the bottom of every spirit.

55. From distant lands and nations you will see your brothers coming in search of liberation for their spirit. From that ancient Palestine, they will also arrive in multitudes, as when the tribes of Israel crossed the desert.

56. His pilgrimage has been long and painful since he rejected from his bosom the One who came to offer him his kingdom as a new inheritance, but he is already approaching the oasis where he will rest and meditate on my word, so that later, strengthened in the recognition of my law, he will continue the route that indicates his evolution for so long forgotten. Then you will hear that many will say that your nation is the new Land of Promise, the New Jerusalem; but you will tell them that that promised land is located beyond this world and that to reach it it will have to be done in spirit, after having crossed the great desert of the trials of this time. You will also tell them that this nation is only an oasis in the middle of the desert; but you must understand, people, that the oasis must give shade to weary travelers, in addition to offering its crystal clear and fresh waters to the lips parched by thirst to those who take refuge in it.

57. What will be that shadow and those waters of which I am speaking to you? My doctrine, people, my divine Teaching of charity. And in whom have I deposited this flow of grace and blessings? In you, people, so that you may strip your heart of all selfishness and be able to show it as a clean mirror and in each of your works.

58. Would not your spirit and heart be filled with joy if, through your love, it were possible to convert that people so attached to their traditions and spiritually stationed to the Trinitarian Marian Spiritualist Doctrine? Would there not be joy among you, if the old Israel were converted through the new Israel, that is, if the former obtained grace through the latter? So far, nothing has convinced the Jewish people that they must break ancient traditions in order to achieve their moral and spiritual evolution. They are the people who believe that they are complying with the laws of Jehovah and Moses, but in reality they are still worshiping their golden calf. The time is near when that wandering people scattered throughout the world, stop looking towards the earth and raise their eyes to heaven, in search of the One, who from the beginning was promised to them as their Savior and whom they did not know and put to death because they believed him poor and without any good.

59. The hour is coming when that cross that was given to me by sentence, becomes a rod of justice over each of those spirits until finally their lips exclaim, "Jesus was the Messiah."

60. They, in their spiritual poverty, in their misery and in their pain, will look for me, and they will be surprised when they see that He who seemed to them to possess nothing in the world, possesses everything and that those treasures and that Kingdom of which I told them so much, were a truth, and they will understand that nothing in the world, no treasure, no flow, can be comparable with the peace of the spirit.

61. If that people turned their backs on me, I wait for them instead, because men may break their word and even their covenants, but I am immutable and I will never miss my promises.

62. If he was told that I would be his Savior, I will save him, if he was told that I would take him to my kingdom, I will take him to my kingdom.

Love one another!

MY PEACE BE WITH YOU!

Teaching 36

1. Before the tenderness of my word contrition comes to the spirit that has departed from the path of evolution. The sweetness of my phrases makes a man cry, because he supposes that his sins do not deserve to be forgiven.
2. I comfort the one who sincerely repents, forgive his faults and help him to make up for the evil caused. Know that he who does not repent does not come to Me, because only from repentance can regeneration, amendment and purification arise. Know also that only purified spirits can come into my presence. But how could you truly repent, if you did not know the magnitude of your faults? I have had to come to men, to make them understand what it means before Divine Justice, to take the life of a fellow man, to destroy faith, to deceive a spirit, to betray a heart, to profane innocence, to cause dishonor, to strip a brother of what is his, to lie, to humiliate and so many imperfections that went unnoticed to you, because you had become familiar with all this. But my word of love arrived and in its essence you found the presence of a perfect justice, which through your conscience made you recognize each of your evil deeds, analyze your thought and reminded you of your spiritual fulfillment that you had already forgotten.
3. It was then that you understood the magnitude of your faults, the transcendence of your mistakes that previously seemed unimportant to you, and it was when you valued the intensity of many sufferings and pains that you had caused. Then you felt ashamed of yourselves, you felt looked at by Me in all your nakedness and with all your stains. That is why when you heard my word full of tenderness, peace and purity, you felt for a moment unworthy of my love. But then you heard that it was precisely you whom I came to seek, and your heart, washing itself in its weeping as a demonstration that you were repentant, that you wanted to purify yourselves and serve me, set out on the journey of its spiritual evolution.
4. It is impossible for one of my children to forget me, carrying in his spirit the consciousness that is the light of my Spirit, for which sooner or later he has to recognize me.
5. For some it is easy to penetrate the meaning of my word and find the light there, but for others my word is an enigma.
6. I tell you, not everyone will be able to understand the spirituality of my message at this time, those who do not will have to wait for new times for their spirit to open their eyes, in the light of my revelations.

Love one another!

7. I have never been shrouded in mystery before men. If I have spoken to you figuratively in order to reveal the divine to you or to represent the eternal in some material way, it has been so that you may understand me, but if men stop to worship forms, objects or symbols, instead of seeking the meaning of those teachings, it is natural that they stop for centuries and contemplate mysteries in everything.

8. Since the time of Israel's sojourn in Egypt, when my blood was represented by that of a lamb, there have been men who only live by traditions and rites, without understanding that that sacrifice was an image of the blood that Christ would come to shed to give you spiritual life. Others, believing that they are nourished by my body, eat material loaves, without wanting to understand that when I gave my disciples the bread in the Upper Room, it was to make them understand that whoever took the essence of my word as sustenance, would have fed on me.

9. How few there are who really know how to understand my divine lessons, and these few are those who analyze them with the spirit. But bear in mind, that the divine revelation I have not brought to you at one time, but I have been clarifying it to you in each of my lessons.

10. If at times you have been confused and on one erroneous interpretation you have accumulated others, it is natural that now you do not understand clearly or give the right analysis to the spiritual teaching of the Third Time.

11. It is necessary that you begin to tear down your idols, to destroy your past confusions and to order your thoughts, so that you realize that the Father, from the earliest times has always come to speak to you of the spirit, and although He has often taken material images to teach you, He has always referred to the spiritual life.

12. Awaken from your sleep humanity, let your spirit search my word, for truly I tell you, if you study one of my lessons well and understand it, you will have penetrated into the essence of my revelations.

13. Remember the lesson in which I told you, "Ask, ask that it will be given to you." Now I come to tell you: "Learn to ask"

14. If I tell you now that you must learn to ask, it is because previously your request was incomplete and selfish, you only remembered to ask for yourself or for yours. My lesson for now comes to tell you that you must learn to feel the sorrows of others; know how to live and feel the pains and sufferings of your fellow men, the misfortunes that afflict your brothers; that you must learn to understand those who have a wound hidden and to feel the sufferings of those who, because they are distant, cannot contemplate. Among the latter you must consider those who inhabit other peoples and nations, those who dwell in other worlds or in the hereafter. Do not be afraid if one day you forget about yourselves and only remember others, because you will have lost nothing. Know that whoever prays for others is doing it for himself.

15. How much joy you give to my Spirit, when I see that you raise your thoughts looking for your Father, I make you feel my presence and I flood you with peace. Look for Me, talk to me, don't mind that your thoughts are clumsy to express your request, I will know how to understand them. Speak to me with the confidence with which one speaks to a Father; entrust your complaints to me, as you would to the last of your friends. Ask me what you don't know, everything you don't know and I will speak to you with the word of a Teacher; but pray, that in that blessed moment when your spirit rises to Me, you will receive the light, the strength, the blessing and the peace that your Father grants you.

16. Through prayer I have many revelations to the spirit in store for the future. Perfect yourselves in this communication and you will achieve perfection in your requests, that is, you will learn to ask.

17. When your spirit appears in the spiritual valley to give an account of his stay and his works on Earth, what I will ask you the most will be for everything that you have asked and for what you have done in favor of your brothers. Then you will remember my words of this day.

18. The end of one era and the beginning of another has caused this crisis and this chaos that you suffer; it is the same thing that happens to a seriously ill person, when relief is approaching; but it seems that it is death that has arrived.

19. The greater this crisis among mankind, the greater will be its health afterwards; truly I tell you, it will be so and that thousands of years ago I had announced it to you. Now you must prepare yourselves, strengthen yourselves in the faith and get ready for battle.

20. To you who are often listening to this word, I say: Watch and pray, because a time of great tribulation is approaching for all, a time in which men will not be worth all their power, their gold, nor their wisdom to contain the weight of divine justice. In those days you will witness events that will seem absurd and illogical to the proud and exalted, because it will be the case that the wise will turn to those they have considered ignorant, in which the rich and powerful seek the needy, because in them there will be more understanding and serenity in the face of trials, more charity and spiritual riches.

21. Some say to me in their hearts: "Master, I have not had to wait for those times of pain that you announce, because my whole life has been one of painful trials". To which I say to you: Blessed are you who have been tempered in suffering, because when those days come you will no longer weep and, instead, you will know how to give courage and comfort to those who did not know that tribulation.

22. Verily I tell you, if most men drink the cup of bitterness today, it is because the soldier is only forged in combat, and I am telling you that the final contest, the great battle, is approaching. Do not go to close your eyes or your ears in those moments, to the pain of your brothers, or try to hide from death, because in truth I tell you, that where men of little or no faith see the end, there will be the beginning, where they think they see death there will be life, because I will be present to cover you with my love and help you enter that world that you are going to restore.

23. I have come to warn you of everything so that nothing surprises you; you look for the means of preventing and exhorting others to preparation, prayer, amendment and vigil.

24. Remember that I am the Word of the Father, that the divine essence that you receive in this word is the light of that Creative Spirit, that in each one of you I have left a part of my Spirit. But when contemplating the poverty that surrounds the group that now listens to me and the humility of the room in which you gather, you silently ask me: "Master, why did you not choose for your manifestation at this time one of those great temples or churches, where rich altars and solemn ceremonies worthy of You could have been offered to You?"

25. I answer those hearts that think this way about their Master: It was not men who brought me to this poverty, it was Me, who chose for my manifestation the humble stay in the poor suburb of your city, to make you understand with it, that it is not the material tribute, nor the external offering, that I come to look for among you, that on the contrary, if I have returned, it has been to preach humility once again, so that you may find spirituality in it.

26. I shun all that is vanity and human pomp, because only that which is spiritual, that which is noble and lofty, that which is clean and eternal, comes to my Spirit. Remember that I said to the woman of Samaria, "God is Spirit, and you must worship him in spirit and in truth." Seek Me in the infinite, in the pure and there you will find me.

27. Of the material offerings that humanity offers me, I only receive the good intention, when it is really good, because an offering does not always represent a high and noble intention. How many times do men present their offering to me to cover their iniquities or to demand something from me in return. That is why I tell you that the peace of the spirit is not bought, that its stains are not washed away with material wealth, so that you could offer me the greatest of treasures.

Love one another!

28. Repentance, regret for having offended me, regeneration, amendment, reparation for the faults committed, all with the humility that I have taught you, and then men will be presenting to me the true offerings of the heart, of the spirit and of the thought, which are infinitely more pleasing to your Father, than incense, flowers and lamps.

29. Why offer me what I have made for you, why do you give me flowers, if you do not make them? On the other hand, if you present to me works of love, charity, forgiveness, justice, help towards your fellow human beings, that tribute will indeed be spiritual and will rise to the Father as a caress, as an oscar (holy spear) that the children will send to their Lord from earth.

30. My manifestation through the human understanding is humble and simple, as is the way in which I express myself; however, it makes you shudder and you understand a past that your spirit already knows, and it makes you look clearly at the events that belong to the future. That is why you remain enthralled listening to me, because no one like this Teacher knows how to read in hearts.

31. You come from different regions to welcome yourselves to the beneficent shade of the stout tree that is inviting all walkers to refresh themselves under its foliage; but I tell you, the time is already near when men from distant lands will arrive in this nation.

32. Intuition and foreboding will be the ones that will guide those to you, they will come in search of your testimony and your peace, many of them will need a word of what I teach you, to rise to fulfillment as true apostles of spiritualism.

33. Woe to this people if they were not prepared to receive the stranger with their loving heart, for not one stone will remain of their cities upon stone, as happened to Jerusalem!

34. Have you not realized that your purification is to make you worthy to receive my lessons that you must participate in those who come to knock on your door? Have you not recorded in your mind that I want you, in this time of storms, of wars, of passions, to be the saving boat that crosses serenely between the waves of evil, rescuing your brothers?

35. Blessed is the one who prepares because he will listen to me from spirit to Spirit.

36. Pray for your brothers and sisters of this nation in which you live, that they may be patient with trials and reach their purification. A great spiritual destiny has brought this people on Earth and to fulfill it it is essential that they be clean, prepared and alert.

37. Understand that you must not mix the superfluous with the teachings of my doctrine, you must make it known with the same purity with which you have received it from Me. Spread my teaching by means of examples and testimonies, by counties, villages and provinces and make your brothers and sisters also be strengthened in it; this people must multiply, prepare and live with spirituality, because with their works, they will become the defender of this truth.

38. Make merits, O people, and achieve that by those merits this grace will reach, those who tomorrow receive you in their home or those whom you have to receive in yours.

39. Teach them to analyze and understand that today I have come in spirit to communicate through clumsy and sinful matters; no one wants to see God in this human body. Let them listen to the word, because in it is the divine essence, the one that comes from my Spirit. The word is the Word and the Word is I, the one who speaks to you from infinity.

40. The Word is love and it is wisdom that manifests itself in word. Hear this voice, multitudes, and do not be alarmed, for you are in the sanctuary of my Divinity. You will have to regenerate, if you do not cleanse your understanding, you will not be able to analyze my teaching.

41. Blessed are those who are striving to fulfill my Law, because in them the light of wisdom will soon shine.

42. Blessed is the one who strives for the perfection of his spirit, because he has been inspired by the highest ideal that a child of God can achieve.

43. I am polishing your hearts, for I will make the water of life flow out of them for the thirsty.

44. When the hour of your fulfillment has come, do not do works according to your will, nor do you want to add your imperfect ideas to my word or to my work, because you would fall into desecration and adultery by erasing your good works from the "Book of True Life".

45. You will put on my truth and enter the homes; you will make my word heard and peace will be made.

46. A few times you will be recognized as emissaries or peasants of the Marion Trinitarian Spiritualist doctrine; instead, there will be occasions in which you'll be thrown into the street, slandered and accused of deceivers; but fear not, if you are judged, also they will reach the moment of his trial, and if when you spoke, not able to open their eyes to the truth, when they are under my judgment, they will remember your words, and they will see the light.

47. When the spirit of some great sinner departs from this material life to penetrate into the spiritual valley, he is surprised to find that hell, as he imagined, does not exist, and that the fire of which he was told in the past times, is nothing but the essence of his works when he finds himself before the inexorable judge that is his conscience.

48. That eternal judgment, that clarity that is made in the midst of the darkness that surrounds that sinner, burns more than the most ardent fire that you could conceive, but it is not a torture prepared in advance as a punishment for the one who offended me, no, that torture comes from the knowledge of the faults committed, from the regret of having offended the one who gave him existence, of having misused the time and of how many goods he received from his Lord.

49. Do you think that I should punish those who offended me with their sins, when I know that sin offends those who commit it more? Do you not see that the sinner is the one who does evil to himself and that I will not increase the misfortune that he has wrought with his punishment? I only let him look at himself, to hear the inexorable voice of his conscience, to question and answer himself, to regain the spiritual memory that through matter he had lost and remember his beginning, his destiny and his promises; and there in that judgment, he has to experience the effect of the fire that exterminates his evil, that melts him again like gold in the crucible, to remove from him the harmful, the superfluous and everything that is not spiritual.

50. When a spirit stops to listen to the voice and the judgment of his conscience, verily I say to you, that in that hour he is in my presence.

51. That moment of stillness, of serenity and clarity, does not reach all spirits at the same time; some soon penetrate that examination of themselves, and with it many bitterness is avoided, because as soon as they awaken to reality and recognize their mistakes, they prepare and prepare to repair to the last of their bad deeds; others obfuscated, either by vice, by some grudge or by having led an existence of sins, it takes time to get out of their obfuscation; others more dissatisfied, believing that they had been snatched from the Earth before their time, when everything smiled at them, imprecate and blaspheme, thus delaying him to be able to get rid of his confusion, and like these, there are a large number of cases that only my wisdom knows.

52. Nor are there places created by Me expressly for the expiation of the faults committed by my children. I tell you that there is no world where I have not deposited my wonders and blessings.

53. Do you not say that this world in which you live is a valley of tears or is it a valley of atonement? And who made it valley of tears, God, or men? I formed the image of the heavenly paradise, sown of wonders and kindnesses, thought out to the smallest and insignificant to make us happy, and yet, within a world formed as well, for the welfare and advancement, to the delight and the spiritual elevation of humanity, men suffer, cry, despair, and is lost.

54. But I tell you again that I did not make this world for the pain of men; the worlds are what their inhabitants want them to be. See how much man has distorted the truth with his misinterpretations, how differently he has interpreted the figurative sense with which the spiritual life has been revealed to him.

55. Neither darkness, nor fire, nor chains exist in the immense spiritual valley.

56. Regrets and tortures that come from the lack of knowledge, suffering for lacking spirituality to enjoy that life, this and more exists in the atonement of spirits who arrive stained or unprepared at the thresholds of spiritual life. See how sin, the imperfections or the perversity of men, I cannot take them as an offense done to the Father, knowing that evil is done by men to themselves.

57. Neither has the earth been stained; she is as good and as clean as when she sprouted from the Father, that is why I will not ask you to return her purity, since she has not departed from her destiny, to be a mother, shelter and home for men; instead, I will ask humanity to repent, to regenerate, to purify her spirit and her body, in a word, to return to her original purity, also boasting in her spirit, the light conquered through evolution, struggle and the practice of the virtue.

58. Stop at this page, disciples, do not return to the lesson of this book without first having engraved it in your mind and having meditated on it for a long time. Verily I say to you, he will serve you in this life and will make the way easier for you in that which awaits you.

59. I have given you the lesson in parts, through times and eras. Today it seems that the things I am teaching will be the last, because in your mind, not image greater perfection in a spiritual doctrine, however, my last word is not this, nor that this demonstration given through human understanding, is the last lesson; and not to have to think more on this, now I say my last word, my last lesson, that will never come to you, I being the Eternal Word, it is natural that I speak unto you and enlighten you forever because I don't have a beginning or an end.

MY PEACE BE WITH YOU!

Love one another!

Teaching 37

1. At all times there have existed among humanity, men of great spiritual light, men who have come to illuminate the path of evolution of their fellow men.
2. Where did these beings come to Earth from? Of the immediate world in which those who are to return to this planet inhabit? No, people, I tell you that by the knowledge and goodness of beings you will be able to deduce the world from which they have come.
3. The degrees of spiritual elevation are an infinite scale in eternity, but that journey towards perfection is formed by seven stages, of which you have a reflection in human life, which is also divided into seven degrees of evolution.
4. All parts of man must develop and evolve to reach the light they must have and achieve true spirituality.
5. Your matter, your mind, your morals, your spirit and your whole being, must go through those seven great lessons, through those seven tests, from which you will leave purified, full of light, serenity, strength, knowledge and experience. Then he will be able to understand that the kingdom of God exists in his spirit.
6. Obedience to the divine will, the sensitivity to know how to interpret spiritual inspiration, communication with the Father and with the spiritual world through thought, are the advances in your evolution that the new time has in store for you.
7. Humanity has already had epochs in which he lived for material pleasure, others in which he went after power, dominion and temporal riches; others in which he developed some senses looking for the beauty of everything that surrounded him; others in which seeking the peace of the spirit, he penetrated the path of religion, and others in which he wanted to make this Earth his reign, this life his eternity and matter his god.
8. This is a decisive time for the life of man, and if you observe carefully, you will discover in all orders, in all elements and forces, a gigantic struggle, a great battle.
9. It is the end of a stage, humanity; but you do not know at what moment the new time begins, that only I will tell you, I, the Lamb who unties the Seals. You are still living the time of the sixth revelation, in which the events take place in fulfillment of the prophecies.
10. How many religions, how many sects and doctrines are going to fall under the sword of light of my truth and how many sciences and theories are going to be buried in oblivion, when the new day appears and silence and peace are made in hearts and there is true prayer and spirituality in men.

Love one another!

11. It will not be the religions that unite, because their differences do not allow it; it will be the shoulders that unite in the law of love, justice and truth that only comes from God.

12. This humanity, indifferent to all divine inspiration, does not realize that it is on the threshold of the most transcendental time for its spirit, but it will already awaken from its lethargy when it contemplates the announcements that are still missing of my presence among men, because you will all have to be watching when the Seventh Seal opens to give you its light.

13. For now, with my word, I am preparing this people to rise up inspired by the truth, teaching their brothers the lessons of love of my doctrine.

14. Feed only on truth and reject everything that does not contain purity and the children of light will spring from you.

15. Let childhood see in you spiritual upliftment so that it may have in this life a sure path to follow.

16. Watch over all the children to whom your heart can give a heartbeat of love, a thought of tenderness and you will have done with them charity with your works teach love to all humanity.

17. I will watch over all those for whom you cannot watch and I will not allow the evil seed that men cultivate at this time to contaminate and confuse those spirits.

18. I am the one who sends the spirits to incarnate according to the law of evolution and in truth I tell you that it will not be the influences of this world that will make my divine plans vary, because above all ambitions of power my will will be done.

19. Each human being brings a mission to Earth, his destiny is traced by the Father and his spirit anointed by my charity. In vain do men perform ceremonies and anoint the little ones; truly I tell you, in no material age, it will be the waters that purify the spirit from its faults to my law. And if I send a spirit cleansed from all sin, from what stain do the ministers of religions purify him with baptism?

20. It is time for you to understand that the origin of man is not a sin, but that his birth is the result of the fulfillment of a natural law, a law that not only man fulfills, but all the creatures that make up nature. Understand that I have told you man and not his spirit; man has my power to create beings similar to him, but spirits only spring from Me.

21. Growing and multiplying is a universal law; the stars sprouted from other major stars the same, that the seed multiplied and I have never said that in that fact they have sinned or offended the Creator. Why should you, in fulfilling that divine command, then be judged as sinners? Understand that the fulfillment of the law can never stain a man.

Love one another!

22. What taints man and diverts the spirit from the path of evolution are the low passions, debauchery, vice, lust, because all of them are against the law.

23. Study and search until you find the truth, and then you will stop calling the commands of the Creator of life sin and you will be able to sanctify the existence of your children by the example of your good works.

24. When you remember that I have told you that I come from the infinite, your chest sighs sadly thinking about the distance that separates you from your Father, then you strive your mind to raise it to Me, and through it, to your spirit, to where you imagine that the divine abode exists. Sometimes you are satisfied with your prayer, but there are times when you are not satisfied because you have been left with the impression that you did not manage to reach the place where the Divine Spirit dwells.

25. Listen, disciples: That infinity of which I am speaking to you, you will never be able to measure with your mind. That infinity speaks to you of tenderness, of light, of purity, of wisdom, of love, of perfection, because all this has no beginning or end, since they are attributes of God.

26. That said, understand when in my word I speak to you of my love made man and my tenderness made woman.

27. I do not have a certain or limited place to dwell in the infinite, because my presence is in everything that exists, the same in the divine, in the spiritual or in the material. From Me you will not be able to tell in which direction my kingdom is, and when you raise your gaze to the heights, pointing to the heavens, do it only as a symbolic thing, because your planet rotates without ceasing and in every movement it presents you with new heavens and new heights.

28. With all this I want to tell you that between you and Me, there is no distance and that the only thing that separates you from Me are your illicit works that you put between my perfect Law and your spirit.

29. The greater your purity, the higher your works and the more constant your faith, the closer you will feel to me, the more intimate, the more accessible to your prayer.

30. Just as the more you turn away from what is good, what is just, what is lawful and give yourselves over to the materialism of a dark and selfish life, you will have to feel more and more distant from you; the more your heart turns away from the fulfillment of my Law, the more insensitive it will be to My divine presence.

31. Understand why I have come at this time to manifest my word in this way and to prepare you for spirit-to-Spirit communication.

Love one another!

32. You, believing me infinitely distant, did not know how to come to Me, I have sought you to make you feel my divine presence and show you that between the Father and his children there are no spaces, no distances that separate them.

33. Understand also that if I have communicated through your understanding, shortening that spiritual distance that separates you from Me, it has been a grace granted to you by your Father, one more proof of his mercy, in attention to your smallness and your lack of spirituality.

34. For that reason, this time of grace of my communication by the understanding of these spokespersons, will be brief, because it is not a gift that you have achieved by your spirituality and merits so that it can be part of your spiritual conquests. I tell you again that it has been a grace that I have granted you, and that once 1950 is over, I will make this form of communication cease, in the hope that with your merits you will feel closer to you again in spirit-to-Spirit communication.

35. This new communication will be deeply spiritual, simple, natural, pure and perfect. She will point out the beginning of the end of all imperfect, idolatrous, fanatical, obscure worship and will open the sanctuary of your being, so that my Spirit may dwell in it for eternity.

36. There will be no external ecstasy, no mysticism, no ostentation of any kind, there will only be cleanliness, respect and truth, in a word: Spirituality.

37. Think of all the wonders that the fulfillment of this promise can contain for you and get ready to start making merits so that with them you can conquer that grace that I reserve for you and that will become part of your very life, so that there will no longer be, as now, a date set for its end, because being something essentially divine, it will have to be yours eternally. Then you will understand what is the approach of the kingdom of heaven among mankind.

38. Now I tell you: Work on the earth, but do it with faith with true love for your brothers and you will not lack sustenance.

39. If the birds that do not spin or sow, never lack shelter or food, why are you going to lack my charity being the well-loved ones? It would be necessary for your wickedness and ingratitude to lead you to reject my benefits so that you perish of hunger or cold.

40. I am life, heat and light. I am the bread and the crystal clear water and I have come, again to raise the dead and awaken those who live in darkness to a life of light.

41. It has long been prophesied that every eye will see me, and I am present, ready to let my truth be seen by humanity.

Love one another!

42. What do men lack in order to be able to see, feel and understand me? Spirituality. Spirituality sensitizes man, both in his spirit and in his matter. When he has purified himself and the true prayer to Me rises from his heart, for the first time he will feel me in front of him, he will perceive my tenderness, he will feel bathed in my infinite love and he will exclaim: "I have seen the Lord, I have felt him inside my heart".

43. If I found a righteous man on Earth, I would take him as an instrument to give you teachings and examples through him, but truly I tell you, in all the roundness of the Earth I have not found a righteous man.

44. Where are the righteous of the First and Second Times, so that you could analyze their virtue, their faithfulness and zeal in fulfilling my Law, their faith and their strength? They live in the spiritual realm, and although they work for you, you do not see or feel them, because your materiality is still the thick veil that does not allow you to contemplate the spiritual.

45. You go as shipwrecked, whipped, by the furious waves of passions, wrapped in the shadows of a very long night; in the midst of that tempest I have presented myself and my charity has been like a beacon that illuminates the route that leads you to the savior port

46. But do you think that I have come to give your spirit the gift of being able to look beyond this material life? No, people, I do not come to grant you a new gift, or a new attribute, everything you bring you from your first, but you should understand that only has shone in your being that you have developed and used, instead, what you have forgotten, neglected or ignored, has remained hidden, though latent, because what I give I never take it off.

47. Many hidden powers have remained asleep in your being, waiting for my voice to come to awaken them. But the time of the resurrection has already come, when you will all hear the same voice that Lazarus heard beyond this life, when I said to him, "Get up and walk."

48. Blessed is the one who has known how to wait for my arrival, because his awakening will be complete and his spirituality will allow him to see everything contained in the new message.

49. Work with love, both materially and spiritually, and you will have my peace. Learn to be persevering until you manage to reap the fruit of your sacrifices and your struggles.

50. Love so that you can achieve your spiritual evolution, because I ask you, humanity: What have you done with your spirit? Spirits: What have you made of the matter I have entrusted to you? Neither one nor the other of you will be able to answer me, because you are very far from realizing the gravity of your faults and your weaknesses. Only I can judge your works and that is why I am sending you this ray of light so that you may look at yourselves in the mirror of my truth, illuminated by your conscience.

51. Have you forgotten that your spirit is subject to the law of evolution from which you must not run away? What became of the first essence that I deposited in your heart, which is the seed of love, of life and elevation? You no longer understand these words, it seems that I speak to you in a language unknown to you.

52. To love was the end for which you were created. To love your Father and in Him all your brothers and sisters; that is the law, and that is precisely what you have forgotten and erased from your spirit.

53. At every step life makes you feel and pay with intense pain for your mistakes, but instead of stopping to meditate and reconsider your facts, you let your heart harden and poison itself more.

54. You did not want to listen to the voices that have approached you to stop you in your senseless career and you have reached the edge of the abyss where you are about to fall dragging your brothers with you.

55. Who among you can imagine what the bottom of that abyss is like that you have opened with so much hatred and perversity? No one, no one can imagine the darkness or the pain accumulated over centuries, millennia and eras in that immense cup of bitterness.

56. I ask the men of this time, who consider themselves the most advanced in the entire history of this world. Have you not found, with all your talent, a way to make peace, to achieve power and to achieve wealth, other than by killing your fellow men, destroying or enslaving them? Do you think that your advancement is true and real, when morally you crawl through the mire and spiritually you wander among shadows? I do not fight science, since I myself have inspired it to man; what I censure is the end for which you sometimes apply it.

57. I want you to be great in understanding, wise in the teachings with which I have surrounded you; but always having your conscience as a beacon in all your steps in life. Then you will see not only the virtues develop in your spirit, but you will also contemplate how health and strength come to your matter.

58. Remember that I said to you: "Not by bread alone man live, but by every word of God", meaning to show you that your being there is a nature to which you cannot settle with just that in this world possess, but you'll have to search to satisfy you, that which exists beyond the material, that is to say, what only is in the perfect region where it comes from the spirit: God.

Love one another!

59. My light has not missed you for an instant, but you are like the cold slabs that cover the tombs, which at times warm up and then cool down again.

60. My power and my patience are inexhaustible and if you want me to give you one more proof of love on the edge of the abyss, I will grant it, but I must tell you that in that infinite love that I am going to demonstrate to you once again, my wise and inexorable justice will be present.

61. To help you, you must have confidence in Me, but be alert and prepared for the fight. Be the warriors, but not of those who destroy the lives of your fellow men, but of those who build with love, with morality, with peace, with good deeds.

62. Do not allow needs or oppression to push you back towards materiality; on the contrary, rise up full of spirituality in the face of stalking and trials. Verily I tell you, if you know how to take advantage of these trials and vicissitudes, through them you will be able to rise to a higher life, becoming strong, noble, fervent disciples of your Father's love.

63. To the men and women who, as parents, present themselves in front of my chair, I say that they clothe themselves with strength, light and peace, because great events are approaching the Earth and they must remain serene in their position.

64. Always look for what gives honor and strength to your children and put out of their way the mistakes that could constitute a stumbling block for them.

65. I have not forgotten the promises you made to me to turn away from materiality to reintegrate you into the spiritual path that is the law of love and charity that is always illuminated by the light of your conscience.

66. It is necessary that once you have affirmed your steps on this path, you forget about yourselves, to fix your attention on the needs of your brothers.

67. Then you will see that in all those whom you let pass with indifference, there was a bitter chalice, a wound or a heavy cross.

68. How many hearts there are that quietly go crying their sorrows without anyone noticing! How many sorrows are hidden behind a smile that you do not know how to understand! But I, who feel every anguish and every pain, who read hearts, tell you: Prepare yourselves so that you can develop intuition and be able to read inside your brothers, because hearts will not always open up to you to show you their pain.

69. For those hidden complaints, for that inner weeping, for that sadness that is not shown on the face of those who suffer, it is necessary to penetrate into the hearts, which is achieved only with the spirituality that makes charity flourish in you.

Love one another!

70. Oh, if you knew that there is much that you can give and do in the midst of your poverty! But you are still so materialized, that many of you believe that only with money you can do good deeds; that is why I had to come to you to tell you that it is not fair that you go crying with pain, hunger and misery, without realizing that you are being bent by the weight of the treasure that you carry, without realizing it.

71. No, it is not only the burden of your sins that weighs you down, humanity; it is that your matter, weakened more and more in the passions and struggles of this life, is unable to resist the strength, the potency of its own spirit, which struggles to free its matter from its weaknesses.

72. Remember the night I was born as a man; it was cold and dark, but not as dark as the heart of humanity is at this time. That night, while my Spirit was filled with joy at having come to dwell among men, they slept in a deep sleep, insensitive to my presence, unaware that the Promised One had arrived. That's where my ordeal began.

73. It was the straw that served as a cradle for the newborn and the warmth of the humble beasts, the only one that that family had at the moment of my advent.

74. You believe that Nature is insensitive to divine manifestations, but this is a human error, because outside of you, everything created, from the greatest to the smallest, is subject to my law from which you will not be able to depart. Only the man who has been formed different from all creatures, because he has spirit, conscience and free will, is the one who remains insensitive to my Divinity.

75. Why have you hardened your heart to such a degree that you do not feel the presence, nor do you listen to the voice of your Father? By reason of your free will. Now I did not come as a man and yet I have felt the cold of the heart lacking in love with which humanity has received me.

76. Do not think that only at this point of the Earth, where this word is heard, is the only place where I make myself present to my children, because in truth I tell you that my manifestation is universal in various forms.

77. Elijah, having manifested himself among you as a Forerunner of my communication by human understanding, not only came to this country where you live; he passed from one place on earth to another announcing the new time, announcing the approach of the Kingdom of Heaven.

78. Voices arose from everywhere announcing my arrival to you: nature, shaken, moved the Earth; science was overwhelmed by new revelations; the spiritual valley rushed upon men; and despite this, humanity remained deaf to those voices, heralds of a new era.

Love one another!

79. A torrent of divine light descended to bring men out of their darkness, but these, selfish and materialized, far from aspiring to the perfection of the spirit, to the moral improvement of their life on Earth, took that light to carve out thrones and glories, comforts and pleasures of matter and when they thought it necessary, weapons to destroy the life of their fellow men. Their eyes have been blinded by the intensity of my light, and their vanity has lost them, but I tell you that by the same light, they will find the truth, discover the way and be saved.

80. Those who have known how to receive this light in their understanding, and have taken it as a divine message, have made their conscience guide their steps and regulate their works, because they have had the feeling that "The Lord has returned and that he is with men".

81. The representatives of the various sects and religions have not wanted to meet me, your heart, your dignity, and his false grandeur prevent them from accepting me in the Spirit; and therefore, at this time have been formed in all the Land groups, sororities, and congregations of those who feel the presence of the new time, of those who seek solitude to pray and receive the promptings of the Lord.

82. You, my children, are one of those multitudes that have been forming under the light of a divine inspiration, although I must tell you that by grace, you have that inspiration converted into a human word; therefore you must watch, pray and meditate a lot so that you do not fall into confusion or deviate the purpose of this spiritual doctrine.

83. What could I lose along the way? Vanity, people.

84. Truly, I tell you, this inspiration will triumph among the humble, among the charitable, and among those who long for truth, justice, and peace.

85. The peace and strength that you achieve in prayer will make you diligent and indefatigable, sowing good, raising up the fallen, igniting faith and being the blessing and consolation among all the peoples of the Earth.

MY PEACE BE WITH YOU!

1. I receive the last and I pour into them the same light that I gave to the first so that they may arise and make known my doctrine.
2. The time is short when you will still hear my word, for I have announced to you that in 1950 I will stop speaking to you, and after this time my voice will not resound through human understanding. He who heard her and believed will be satisfied and strong, but he who, having heard her, doubted her, will be confused. On the other hand, many who have never listened to me will seek out my disciples to ask them what they learned from the Master.
3. Seek the light and whoever possesses it, help all those who walk in darkness to find it, because whoever carries confusion during this life, when entering the spiritual valley, his confusion is greater. That is why in all three times I have been helping all my children by showing them the path where they should rise through the evolution of their spirit.
4. Of the life of the spirit I have revealed to you everything that you are going to be able to understand, today I come to show you a deeper page of that knowledge.
5. This is the time when I prophesied to you that every eye would see me. Every spirit will listen to me and when this doctrine has been understood by humanity, men will not fall back into idolatry, or fanaticism, because they will have learned to raise their spirit to Me, with the simplicity and purity that spirituality gives.
6. Slowly awakening the spirit of humanity by listening to the voice of his conscience, the echo of the bell of heaven; it is the spirit of Elijah, is the voice of one crying in the wilderness, sent invisible this time, who as a pastor, called to love his sheep, so that with meekness penetrate into the fold of peace that awaits them.
7. Whoever thinks it strange that I should leave my kingdom to come in search of sinners certainly does not know Me. I leave the righteous, because they are safe and have everything, I come to the disinherited, the lost and the defiled because they are also my children, whom I love as the righteous and because I want to take them to my abode so that they may enjoy their Father.
8. If He loved only the righteous and despised sinners, would your conscience consider that the Father was acting justly?
9. I am teaching you the way in which you should wash your stains and justify yourselves before Me, doing good to your brothers and practicing charity in its various forms. Today you can participate in what you have learned; you can also visit the sick and anoint them with your love in my name, that in your faith you will find the power to heal and your charity will be the best balm. No one doubts whether they will have the gift to do it or not.

Love one another!

10. Do not be afraid to do charity because you consider yourself poor. In the Second time, when Jesus was with his disciples, he showed them this example. "A publican entered the temple and left a coin as an alms, then a well-dressed Pharisee deposited seven coins, dropping them one by one so that his work could be contemplated and everyone could see that his gift was great. Later, a sick and poor woman fell down to pray and then deposited two coins of little value that were all she owned. Jesus said to his disciples, "Look, the one who thought he was giving more gave less, and the one who gave less has given more, because she gave everything she had and with it the bread she was to eat that day."

11. I will make you who listen to me understand how much you carry with you, so that you will never feel needy before the truly needy.

12. You are of those who in other times it was said that you would live in the time of the Holy Spirit. This is the age of light in which every spirit will open its eyes to the truth. Already my sickle began to cut the weeds by the roots. Do not be surprised that I have come, when the world is busy with wars; it was foretold so.

13. Man has contemplated so much light through science that he has become blinded, but after that confusion, with my charity they will distinguish the true way and in it they will find me rescuing and saving the Lost as the shepherd does with the strayed sheep.

14. I have not humanized myself among you at this time, I have only come as a light that I send to your spirit from my kingdom. From infinity I am inspiring you, so that tomorrow your spirit may rise up to Me in his prayer.

15. Today you must make that with your preparation your spirit is purified and feel my presence among you Spiritually so that you know how to receive what you ask, which will never be too much for Me. Do not forget the needs of your spirit overwhelmed by the demands of your matter. See that what you lack most is the divine teaching and now that it is overflowing in this way, seek it, analyze it and put it into practice with works of love for your brothers.

16. I want to contemplate in you understanding for my doctrine and amendment in your life, that you keep this work that I have come to reveal to you as a jewel of infinite value, that you are not proud of possessing this grace, nor deny it to anyone in need, much less that you profit from it.

Love one another!

17. Truly I tell you, the temple of the Sixth Seal will never be a marketplace or a den of thieves. This sanctuary that is spiritually, has its doors open so that all my children can enter it. There, the sinner will find salvation, hatreds, thirst for revenge and evil inclinations will disappear.

18. You are being prepared to preach this good news with true faith and courage. I also want the interpretation you give of my word to be just, so that your practice may be clean. I do not want there to be fanatics, Puritans or mystics among my disciples, but that the elevation of your spirit should be interior and all your exterior acts should be simple and natural. That when this people multiply like the stars of heaven and like the sands of the sea, they may be true disciples of my spiritual teaching, so that they may be the explicators of the word that they have heard, and those who with their works testify the truth of my doctrine.

19. Do not be afraid of the time in which you will have to speak; do not distrust Me or even you, I have told you: That in the hour of trial you will not think what you are going to say, that your faith and elevation will suffice for you, so that my divine light may speak through your lips. If men ask you for an explanation or analysis of the inspiration you have had, I will also make you understand the truth of my revelations, so that you can explain it to your brothers. My prophets will go among the emissaries with the mission of awakening the peoples, but they will not do what the prophet Jonah, who having gone to warn a pagan and sinful people, announcing calamities, sufferings, plagues and diseases if they did not regenerate. When the time came for the fulfillment of his prophecy, he saw with great surprise that his words had not been fulfilled, because instead of calamities as he had announced, that people enjoyed peace, health and prosperity. Then the prophet, ashamed, withdrew to solitude and there, speaking to his Lord, he said to him: Why has the word that you put in my mouth not been fulfilled? Behold, before those men instead of passing by your prophet, he passed by an impostor. But then he heard the voice of the Father answering him thus: I sent you to announce the trials that would take place if those multitudes were deaf to my word, but they listened to you and repented; they overthrew their false gods and fell down to worship me, they wept recognizing their faults and with fear waited for my justice.

20. I beheld them prepared and instead of afflictions I sent them joy and peace. Do you think that just to keep your word, as you understand it, I would hurt thousands? If you don't feel one, I feel all. The word that you gave was so that they would regenerate and thus avoid vicissitudes, they repented and that's why they were there full of joy and faith in the true God.

Love one another!

21. Keep these lessons in mind, disciples, they are examples that will be useful to you on your way. The gifts of clairvoyance, prophetic dreams and intuition exist in you so that you may always keep your path illuminated and alert your brothers and sisters.

22. Your mission is to prevent, to awaken, to announce, but keep in mind that if your brothers pray, then events may change, but you will not feel disappointed, nor will you lose faith. Your destiny is reduced to avoiding sorrows and providing peace, if with your gifts you achieve this result, you should be satisfied. Watch over the peace of humanity, form among all a sanctuary in which your brothers and sisters can find salvation, peace and inspiration.

23. Come and eat of this bread that is my word, so that while you feed your spirit with my grace, I may quench my thirst for love between you. When you have loved your brothers, you have loved Me. When you have forgiven your enemies, you have reconciled with me and you come to deposit on the altar of your faith, the offering of your merits, an offering always pleasing to my Divinity.'

24. Hear: It is I who formed you in my image and likeness. I am the only God, no one has existed before Me, my Spirit was not created, I am eternal, I always have been and always will be.

25. I have revealed to you my existence and the Trinity that exists in Me. That Trinity that you recognize in the Father who is Jehovah, who gave you the law in the First Time; in the Word who, through Jesus, taught you love in the Second Time and in the Holy Spirit who fills you with light and wisdom, and explains all the revelations to you in this Third Time, in which he vibrates in every spirit and communicates among you through the human understanding.

26. The Father announced by the mouth of his prophets the arrival of Christ, and Jesus announced the manifestation of the Holy Spirit, the Spirit of Truth. These are the three phases with which I have shown myself to humanity, the law, love and wisdom. Three powers and one God, three powers and one will, one love.

27. If the Father is eternal, the Son is also eternal because the Divine Word who spoke in Jesus has always been in the Father, the Holy Spirit is eternal because it is the wisdom of God who has always been in Him. Well, if I formed man in my image and likeness, it means that in him there is the image of that Trinity, in him I put the three potencies, that is: flesh, spirit and conscience. A single being formed of three natures: the material, the body; the spiritual, the spirit and the divine, the consciousness.

28. In the highest of your spirit shines a spark of my divine intelligence that is your consciousness, so you are, in truth, children of my Spirit.

Love one another!

29. From the joy of being a father, I wanted you to participate and I made you fathers of men so that you could forge beings similar to yourselves in whom the spirits that I would send you would incarnate. If maternal love exists in the divine and eternal, I wanted there to be a being in human life to represent it and that being is the woman.

30. In the beginning the human being was divided into two parts, thus creating the two sexes, the one, the man, the other, the woman; in him strength, intelligence, majesty; in the other tenderness, grace, beauty. The one, the seed, the other, the fertile land. Here are two beings who only together can feel complete, perfect and happy, because with their harmony they will form one flesh, one will and one ideal.

31. This union, when it is inspired by conscience and love, is called marriage.

32. The law of marriage descended as a light that spoke through the consciousness of the first, so that they recognized that the union of one with the other, meant a pact with the Creator. The fruit of that union was the son, in whom the blood of his parents was melted as a proof that what you will bind before God, on earth will not be able to be loosed.

33. The joy that a father and mother feel when they have given a child to the world is similar to that which the Creator experienced when he became a Father by giving life to his beloved children. If later, through Moses, I gave you laws so that you would know how to choose a partner and not covet your neighbor's wife, it was because humanity, by virtue of its free will, had lost itself in the paths of adultery and passions.

34. After the times had passed, I came into the world in Christ and with my sweet teaching, which is always the law of love, I raised marriage and with it morality and human virtue. I spoke in parables to make my word unforgettable, and I made marriage a sacred institution.

35. Now that I am among you again, I ask you, men and women, what have you made of marriage? How few will be able to answer satisfactorily! My sacred institution has been desecrated, from that source of life, death and pain flow. On the whiteness of the leaf of that law, there are the spots and the footprints of man and woman. The fruit that should be sweet is bitter, and the cup that men drink is of gall.

36. You turn away from my laws and when you stumble, you wonder in anguish. Why will it be so much pain? Because the instincts of the flesh have always ignored the voice of conscience. Now I ask you: Why do you not have peace, if I have given you everything necessary for you to be happy?

37. I have placed a blue mantle in the firmament so that under it you can build your love nests, so that there, away from the temptations and complications of the world, you may live with the simplicity of birds, because in simplicity and in pure prayer, the peace of my kingdom and the revelation of many mysteries can be felt.

38. Men, when the companion you have chosen is like a barren land that has not borne you fruit, you have gone in search of a new land, forgetting that you must be conformed to your destiny and your restitution. Why do you blame fate for your trials and sufferings that you encounter in your marriage, if you chose that path yourself?

39. Everyone who joins in marriage before my Divinity, even if their union is not sanctioned by any minister, makes a pact with me, a pact that is written down in the book of God, where all destinies are written down.

40. Who will be able to erase from there those two intertwined names? Who in the world will be able to untie what has been united in my law?

41. If I disunited you, I would be destroying my own work. When you asked me to be united on earth and I granted it to you, why do you then fail in your promises and deny your oaths? Is it not a mockery of my law and my name?

42. To you, barren women, the Master says: you have longed and asked that your womb become a source of life and you have hoped that at dusk or dawn, the beating of a tender heart would be heard in your bowels; but the days and nights have passed and only sobs have welled up from your chest because the son has not come to knock on your doors.

43. How many of you who are listening to me and who have been evicted by science, will have to bear fruit so that you believe in my power! And by this wonder many will recognize me; watch and wait. Don't forget my words.

44. Parents, avoid mistakes and bad examples; I do not demand perfection from you, only love and charity for your children. Prepare yourselves in spirit and matter, because in the afterlife, the great legions of spirits are waiting for the moment to incarnate among you.

45. I want a new humanity that will grow and multiply not only in number but in virtue, so that they may contemplate the promised city and their children may come to dwell in the new Jerusalem.

46. I want the earth to be filled with men of good will, who are fruits of love.

47. Destroy the Sodom and Gomorrah of this time, do not let your heart become familiar with their sins, nor imitate their inhabitants.

48. In this way I am preparing you in the Third Season, because the crowds that I have announced to you will arrive.

49. Take your part, each one, and listen to my teaching in a parable.

Love one another!

50. "There stood before God a spirit full of light, purity and innocence who said to his Lord: Father, tell me what my mission is, because I want to serve you. And the Lord answered him with gentleness: Wait, I am going to unite a man and a woman in the world and from their union a son will be born in whom you will incarnate, so that being the son of man you may gather experience in the trials of the world and feel closely the tenderness of a mother and the caress of a father.

51. The spirit rejoiced and waited. Meanwhile, the Lord united a man to a woman with bonds of love and thus sent them on the path of life.

52. A new being germinated in the woman's womb and then God sent that spirit to incarnate in that body and in the ninth month he contemplated the light of the world. The mother smiled with happiness and the father looked at him with pride. That son was the work of both, he was the fruit of their love. The woman felt strong and the man felt similar in something to his Creator. The two devoted themselves to cultivating that tender heart.

53. The spirit that animated the son smiled as he contemplated the sweet gaze of his mother and the stern and at the same time affectionate face of the father.

54. Time passed and the father, in his struggle, moving away from the love nest and taking crooked paths, went inside until he got lost, leaving shreds of his clothes in the brambles, eating poisonous fruits and defoliating the flowers that he found in his path. When he felt sick and dejected, he remembered the beings he had abandoned, he tried to return in search of them, but his strength was lacking. Then, drawing strength from weakness, crawling and stumbling along the long road, he came to the doors of the hearth, the wife received him in her arms with tears in her eyes, the son was sick and dying.

55. When the father beheld his dying son, he implored divine charity for his relief, he combed his hair in despair and blasphemed. But that spirit left his body and went to the afterlife. The parents were devastated, making each other responsible for the misfortune that afflicted them, he for having moved away, she for not having known how to retain it.

56. When that spirit came to the presence of the Creator, he said to him: "Father, why have you taken me away from the arms of that sweet mother whom my absence has left sobbing and desperate?" To which the Lord answered him: Wait, wait, that you will return to the same bosom again when those have recognized their faults and understood my Law.

57. The man and the woman were still united, lonely, inwardly sorry for their faults, when they were again surprised by the announcement of a new son. God caused the spirit to return to that womb again, saying to him: be in that body that is preparing for life and be recreated again in that lap.

58. The parents who gave up the firstborn for lost, did not know that he had returned to their bosom; but the emptiness that the first left, the second filled, joy and peace returned to the bosom of that home, the mother smiled again and the father recreated.

59. Now the man was afraid to leave his family and tried to surround them with love, staying close to them. But time made him forget his past experience and induced by bad friends, he fell into vice and temptation. The woman claimed him and began to disown him; the home was turned into a battlefield. Soon the man fell defeated, sick and weakened, while the woman, leaving her son in the crib, got up in search of bread for the innocent and sustenance for that companion who did not know how to love her or take care of her. She suffered humiliations and blasphemies, went through dangers and defied the instincts of men of bad faith. And in that form he brought the daily bread to the lips of his own.

60. God had charity of the innocent spirit and before he opened his eyes to reason, he called him again. And when the spirit came to his Lord, he said to him full of sorrow. Father, again you have torn me from the arms of those I love, look how hard my fate is, today I ask you to leave me either in their bosom or in yours forever, but do not make me walk anymore, I am tired.

61. When the man returned from his lethargy, he contemplated a new picture of pain, the wife was crying inconsolably at the head of the bed where the second son lay dead. The man wanted to take his life, but the wife stopped him, saying to him: do not attempt against your life, stop your hand, see that we ourselves are the cause that God takes our children. The man calmed down, recognizing that there was light in those words. Day after day they were bringing calm to those hearts, who remembered with pain the children who left, who had been the joy of that home that later sank into desolation.

62. The spirit then asked his Lord, "Father, are you going to send me to earth again?" "Again," the Lord said, "and as many times as necessary, until those hearts are polished." When he incarnated again, his body was sick because his mother was sick and his father was also sick. From his bed of pain, that spirit rose to the Father in demand of relief. This time he had not contemplated the light of the world, there were no smiles on the lips of his parents, only tears. The mother cried from dawn to dusk next to the infant's crib while the repentant father felt that his heart was pierced by the pain of seeing that the son had inherited his own scourges.

Love one another!

63. The spirit's stay in that sick flesh was brief, returning again to the presence of the Lord.

64. Loneliness returned between the spouses, but the pain had united them as never before, their hearts loved each other and they promised to walk together until the end of the day. The man fulfilled his duties, she took care of her husband, and both were healed of their ills.

65. They thought it difficult for God to grant them one more child again, and behold, when the Lord contemplated that bodily and spiritual health flourished in those beings, he sent them that spirit, as a reward for the self-denial of the one and the amendment of the other, and from the woman's breast a fragrant little body like a bud sprouted, which flooded that home with happiness and peace.

66. The man and the woman, prostrate crying with joy, thanked their Lord, while that suffering and obedient spirit smiled through the son saying to God: Lord, do not separate me from my parents anymore, there is peace in my home, there is love in their hearts, there is warmth in my crib, there is milk and honey in my mother's bosom, there is bread on the table, and in my father there are caresses and in his hands working tools. Bless us. And the Lord, with joy in His Spirit, blessed them and left them united in one body, in one heart and in one will.

67. Today I say to you: drink of this wine, of my teaching and make a toast, because when you gather with your Father there is a feast in the house of the Lord.

68. How many of you are resurrected by listening to my word at this time. You were dead to the faith, because while some had been evicted by the doctors of the world, others had been denied communion by the priests.

69. You opened your hearts to the feeling that my word healed the sick, gently forgave the sinner, and the Master offered everyone the bread of eternal life.

70. You have seen rivers of evil in your path; swamps of mud and barren lands that no one has been able to fertilize.

71. You have seen how the fields that were fruitful yesterday and offered the world their abundant fruits of peace and happiness, today are turned into fields of blood, destruction and death.

72. It is necessary that the Father approaches his children, I am the dew that in the silence of the night descends on the fields and falls on the corollas of the flowers, but the flowers that have dried up, the hearts that have died to hope, do not know how to feel my love.

Love one another!

73. Disciples: See that with my teaching I have awakened in your heart the feeling of charity so that you may make the afflictions of humanity your own and not be indifferent to their conflicts, their trials and tragedies.

74. Unite in thought and pray for your brothers, I will understand your pleas and reward your desires. You are still weak to forget your sorrows or worries to think about others. I say to you: Accept these trials with courage and trust in your Lord, they will not turn away from your path nor will they be resolved with your rebellion or disagreement. Instead, with spiritual elevation, with faith, with serenity, you will overcome the most terrible trials. Every lock, every abyss that you save, will leave a flash of light in your spirit. Those who know how to receive their trials with preparation, feel that their moments of pain, which for others would seem eternal, are shortened.

75. This life is your street of bitterness, where sometimes you fall and where you also feel that you are not going alone with your cross, because an invisible and sweet Cyrene is lifting you up every time you bend, overcome by the weight of your destiny. If the wolf has approached you. I pushed him away. If the Gentiles and the searchers have penetrated into the bosom of your meetings to find faults and accuse you of them, I have covered you with my mantle of tenderness and have closed the lips of those. When men have tested you with their questions, I have prematurely put the voice of the Holy Spirit on your lips, since you have not yet prepared to convince them with words of light.

76. I do not come to rebuke you, but seek in the sweetness of my word hope, correction and even judgment. What would become of you if I came to flatter you in your imperfection and to exalt you in your sins? Isn't that peradventure what they do with the princes of the world? I have always encouraged you when I see you earnestly seeking your spiritual advancement, when you go after the sick, without consulting the time, or noticing if the weather is inclement, and when you have met before judges, you remain serene and bear witness to Me with words of truth.

77. Thus you have learned that hearts are the lands that you will have to cultivate and that the more extensive the fields, the greater your care will have to be; and that what you have sown, you will no longer be able to abandon.

78. Among you are those who will go to other nations in search of new lands to sow. I have given you the universal language with which you will know how to understand each other, not the flowery language that human lips pronounce, but the one that expresses the spirit through love.

79. For others it will not be necessary to undertake these long days, it will be enough for them to prepare to give charity to those closest to them, as well as to make light in the disembodied spirits who are troubled. Woe to the one who closes his doors at the call of those legions of needy because they in their confusion will not know how to forgive!

80. The diligent disciple blesses me at every step because he feels the weight of his cross light and delights in serving me, the lazy one feels deprived of his freedom and burdened by a very heavy burden. On the contrary, I have come to give you true freedom so that neither prison nor death can shackle you, but where many have considered themselves lost, raise your spirit on the infinite scale of evolution.

81. Disciples: Are you willing to forgive those who offend you? Who are your enemies? Truly I tell you, you should not call your brothers enemies, I am not sending you against humanity, but against their sin and ignorance.

MY PEACE BE WITH YOU!

Teaching 39

1. I am the peace that descends to you, because in the world I only contemplate chaos.
2. Watch and pray, do good and with the practice of charity you will destroy war.
3. The tree of science, as cultivated by men, is giving a bitter fruit to humanity, but I am going to give you the crystalline water of love, so that you can drink it and see how different the fruits that the same tree will produce will be.
4. Before you discover in my teaching the secret to cultivating the tree of science, it will be hit by strong hurricanes that will cause every last one of its bad fruits to fall and leave it clean.
5. After that gale, you will begin to see a new light shining in your spirit, which will be reflected in all the paths of your life.
6. You are living in the time of judgment, remember how many times I have told you that the sickle of my divine justice tirelessly cuts the weeds.
7. My justice touches science the same as it does religions or men of power; nothing will remain without being scrutinized by my gaze or weighed in my scales. Since the beginning of humanity sin has been sentenced to die and my word will have to be fulfilled.
8. You people, when you see signs of these events on Earth, rise up in prayer to Me, gather with your family forming a single thought and send your spirit as a messenger of my love to your brothers in need of peace.
9. Do not doubt the power of prayer, because if you do not have faith in the practice of charity, you will be able to give nothing to your brothers.
10. Have I not taught you that even the untied elements can hear your prayer and be appeased? If they obey my voice, why should they not obey the voice of the Lord's children when they have prepared themselves?
11. From the time I was with you in the world, I taught you to pray so that in moments of trial, you would know how to communicate with your Father, and taking strength from Him, you would fulfill your mission of love and charity among humanity.
12. Prayer is a grace that God has given to man to serve as a ladder to rise, a weapon to defend oneself, a book to be instructed and a balm to anoint oneself and heal from all evil.

Love one another!

13. True prayer has disappeared from the Earth, men no longer pray, and when they try to do so, instead of speaking to me with the spirit, they do it with their lips, using vain words, rites and artifices. How are men going to contemplate wonders, using forms and doing practices that Jesus did not teach?

14. True prayer must return among men, and it is I who am coming to teach it to you again.

15. Blessed is he who, inspired by his love for others, serves as a stepping stone in their elevation to Me, because when he opens his eyes to contemplate himself, he will see himself close to his Father.

16. Do not ask what it is that you must do so that you may know that you have fulfilled your mission, because my law boils down to that you love one another. Understand that every day of your life gives you an opportunity to practice this divine commandment.

17. Everyone on his way can fulfill the mission of loving; the one who guides spirits, the one who instructs, the man of science, the one who governs, the father of a family, you can all serve your fellow men inspired by my maxim that tells you: "Love one another".

18. Everything will be clean, everything will be renewed, so that the new generations will find the Earth prepared for the fulfillment of their great spiritual mission.

19. Do not choose whom you should love, love everyone without distinction. Spiritual love cannot have preferences.

20. The love that I teach you is beyond love for yours, love for the homeland and for yourselves.

21. Do not be afraid that you will not be able to be useful in this work of love thinking about your material poverty. Be spiritualized and you will not need the goods of the earth to be able to do good to your fellow men. See how from among this people of needy and humble, I have drawn out my laborers, turning them into counselors, doctors and confidants of those who suffer, and who approach them in demand of comfort and peace.

22. The healing balm has flowed inexhaustibly from her love, from her previously clumsy lips, the word of light that orients, regenerates, moves and convinces has emerged. And what did these peasants think they had in their hearts before I discovered their inheritance to them? Nothing, they felt like outcasts, incapable of practicing charity and of conducting themselves.

23. Look at how before the humility of these peasants, the rich come to ask for charity, the doctors to consult them with their unsolvable problems and those who have cultivated themselves on the path of theological or philosophical knowledge arrive to learn the first lesson. Do you not marvel at this miracle performed among you? Then you already know it people and you will know it humanity, the power and the flows of the Earth will not be enough to make peace for you, to make you useful to each other by doing charity materially if you do not learn to love.

24. When there is love in your spirit and you make it felt to your fellow men, then you will see the wonders performed. Begin to practice virtue those of you who have remained insensitive or far from charity, love, goodness, which are the essence of a spiritual life, and when someone arrives at your doors overwhelmed with thirst, fatigue and hunger, sit him at your table without consulting if there is enough bread in the basket ask your heart if by inviting the walker to your table, you do it with sincere love, with true charity, if so, you will see the bread multiplied, you will all be satisfied and in the heart of the walker a flame of faith will be lit , to give me thanks and bless me. That one, in his life, will have to do the same as you did with him, because you taught him a lesson of love within the reach of the most lacking of understanding.

25. Be humble, remember that I, your God, was born in humility and later covered my body with a humble robe. Why do you always dream of good clothes and even go so far as to desire regal vestments?

26. Your kingdom is not of this world either, this life is like a battlefield where you come to make merits in order to penetrate triumphantly into the conquered land and receive your reward there.

27. Never leave the cross in the middle of the road, do not abandon your mission, because it would be as much as if in a battle you threw down your weapons, cowardly fleeing from the struggle and renouncing the triumph that awaited your spirit.

28. I am the perfect way, in my passage through the Earth I bequeathed to you with my example the "Book of True Life", with whose teachings you will learn to fight to win in all battles; my sword of love fought relentlessly against evil and the ignorance of humanity. My weapons were not murderous, I did not bring you death, but eternal life. My meekness exasperated and confused those who offended me, my loving forgiveness overcame the hardness of their hearts, my death as a man raised them to the life of grace. Do you not remember that the promised Messiah had been announced as an invincible warrior?

29. It is time for love, forgiveness and humility to emerge from the heart of humanity as true weapons that oppose hatred and pride. As long as hatred meets hatred and pride stumbles into pride, peoples will die out and in hearts there will be no peace.

Love one another!

30. Humanity has not wanted to understand that its happiness and progress can only be found in peace, and it is going after its ideals of power and false greatness, shedding human blood, taking lives and destroying the faith of men.

31. Man with his proud science is defying my law; and I tell you that once again I will fight against his sin, but man will not find in Me a proud and arrogant Judge, Because those are human defects, nor will he feel the weight of a revenge on himself, because the low passions are proper to your imperfection; he will find an inexorable Judge and a Teacher teaching him a great lesson of love.

32. You do not all want wars, nor do you feed hatred or pride for the innocent, for those of good will and faith. I will give signs when wars are about to break out, so that they will watch and pray, because with their prayer and with their vigil they will be invulnerable to murderous weapons.

33. From the east to the west the nations will rise up, unknown to each other, and from the north to the south they will also rise up to find themselves all at the crossroads, with whose clash an immense bonfire will occur in which hatred will burn, pride will be extinguished and the weeds will be consumed.

34. It is necessary that the new generations find a clean land, so that peace and love may flourish; but before that, even the last trace of Cain's crime, whose legacy humanity still carries with it, will disappear.

35. You who are under the effluvium of my lessons, do you find that in all that pain that is coming, there is divine punishment or revenge? No, you tell me, it is the fruit that we have cultivated and that we are going to collect.

36. I always have charity for my children, because you are too young to understand all the evil that you do to yourselves; that is why I approach you, and materializing my word I send you my messengers to warn you, to warn you of your evil way, but when have you heeded my calls? Never, hence the reason why humanity is suffering.

37. Beloved people, do not be a simple spectator before the chaos that you will contemplate, because you will have to answer me of the peace and strength that you have received.

38. That peace and that strength are for you to pray, so that your brain will not be clouded and you will show yourselves diligent and indefatigable doing good, igniting faith and spreading comfort among humanity.

39. Beloved disciples, spread my doctrine among your brethren. I charge you to speak clearly, just as I have taught you. Study carefully all the parts of this Work, for verily I say to you, tomorrow you will be questioned by your brothers. I know that they will come to ask you what concept you have of the Trinity of God, of the Divinity of Christ and of the purity of Mary, and it is necessary that you find yourselves strong so that you can come out ahead in these trials.

40. About the Trinity you will say: that there are not three different people who exist in God, but one Divine Spirit, which has manifested itself in three different phases to humanity, and this in its smallness to penetrate deep, believed to look at three gods where there is only one Spirit. Therefore, when you hear the name of Jehovah, think of God as Father and Judge. When you think of Christ, look at God in Him as a Teacher, as Love, and when you try to understand where the Holy Spirit comes from, know that it is none other than God manifesting his wisdom to the disciples, who have advanced the most.

41. If I had found the humanity of the first times as spiritually evolved as this one of today, I would have manifested myself before it as a Father, as a Teacher and as a Holy Spirit, and then men would not have seen three gods where there is only one. But they were not qualified to interpret my lessons and would have been confused and turned away from my path, to continue creating accessible and small gods, according to their imagination.

42. You already know the reason why the Father has manifested himself in stages, and you also know the error of men about the concept of the Trinity.

43. In my divine Spirit there is an infinite number of phases and attributes. But because you have shown me in three ways through three eras, I have named you Trinitarians and now you already recognize me in those three revelations and you know how to unite them into one, looking in it at a single God who can manifest himself today as a Judge, tomorrow as a Teacher and later as a Father of infinite wisdom and goodness.

44. No longer try to give me material form in your mind, because there is no form in my Spirit, just as intelligence, love, and wisdom have no form.

45. I tell you this, because many have represented me in the form of an old man when they think of the Father, and I am not an old man because I am out of time, my Spirit has no age.

46. When you think of Christ, you instantly form in your mind the corporeal image of Jesus and I tell you that Christ, the incarnate Divine Love, my Word made man, as soon as he left the corporeal envelope, he melted into my Spirit, from which he had sprung.

47. But when you speak of the Holy Spirit, you use the symbol of the dove to try to imagine it in some way, and I tell you that the time of symbols has passed, and that for this reason when you feel under the influence of the Holy Spirit, you receive it as inspiration, as light in your spirit, as clarity that comes to dispel uncertainties, mysteries and darkness.

48. If I tell you that Christ is the Father's love, understand that Christ is divine. How strange is it that God has made his love incarnate, to manifest it to a world devoid of spirituality? Is not this a proof of perfect charity given to those who, not being able to go to the Father, are sought by Him?

49. Now, I want to teach you that Christ is not less than Me nor that He is after Me, because if He is Love, that love is neither after nor before any other power, it is united and fused in all, forming the Absolute, the Divine, the Perfect.

50. And what do you want me to tell you about Mary, who was sent by the Lord to earth to serve as the Mother of Jesus, in whose body the Word was to be manifested?

51. Truly I tell you, She was the divine tenderness incarnate, therefore when in her stay she heard the words of the Messenger of the Lord, announcing to her that in her womb she would conceive the Messiah, in her heart there was no doubt or rebellion before what She knew to be divine will. Her example was one of humility and faith, her work was quiet and sublime, that is why she was the only one capable of fulfilling that heavenly message and accepting that sublime destiny without vanity.

52. Jesus lived his childhood and youth next to Mary, and in her lap and by her side he enjoyed her maternal love. Divine tenderness made woman sweetened the Savior the first years of his life in the world, since when the time came, he had to drink so much bitterness.

53. How is it possible that there are those who can think that Mary, in whose womb the body of Jesus was formed and at whose side the Master lived, could lack spiritual elevation, purity and holiness?

54. Whoever loves me will first have to love everything that is mine, everything that I love.

55. These teachings of love and charity, you must make known to your brothers. It is necessary for you to know that it is not indispensable for all humanity to listen to me in the way in which I manifest myself to you. It is enough for me for this people to witness and listen to these teachings so that they may later be my witness and emissary to their brothers.

56. If this form of communication were the highest that men could attain, then I would make it known throughout the Earth, and once established, it would have no end; but since this communication through the human mouthpiece is only the preparation for perfect spirit-to-Spirit communication, I have granted it a lapse of time, marking the instant of its end which will be 1950.

57. These multitudes who year after year have attended the Chair of their Master, are the ones destined to spread this message among humanity, after they have stopped listening to my word.

58. You should not get up to teach before my departure because it is necessary that you listen to my last teachings, which will be the most profound and therefore the ones that leave you strong and prepared for the fight.

59. Everyone, from the oldest congregations to those who are beginning to meet in the most recent precincts, has heard from Me that this communication will cease at the end of the year 1950, that it is my divine will that it should be so, and that the people should in no way oppose what the Father has ordered.

60. To pretend to make me wait a while longer among you would be foolish, it would be to deny the Father his perfection and his justice and it would be to deny that it was I, the unchangeable one, who spoke to you.

61. I tell you this because although at this moment no one feels capable of consummating that desecration, I know that in the decisive moments, in the bitter and sad hour of my farewell, there will be no shortage of a traitor at my table, a weak person who throws away from himself the bread that fed him for a long time and with a false kiss of love I gave myself up to the derision and mockery of humanity.

62. Who do you think will communicate by these understandings, when the time of my communication has ceased? Do you want to make me a partaker of your disobedience?

63. Think that your disobedience would later cause confusion among humanity; that a desecration of such magnitude would foment chaos among the multitudes, no one would believe in my manifestation as the Holy Spirit, everyone would lose faith.

64. From now on I tell you, those who would have it believed that I am still communicating through them, after the time fixed by Me, will be denied and called impostors and whoever communicates by their understanding will be called false Christ; but the seers who made common cause with that deception, will be called false prophets.

65. People: Strengthen yourselves in all that I tell you today, so that when the hour of trial comes, you will know how to stand firm, united to my law, respecting my will, because by your behavior you will give the greatest testimony that you have believed that this word is the supreme truth. Whoever did the opposite will have denied me.

Love one another!

66. Blessed are those who remain faithful to my word, because when the time comes I will take them as emissaries and witnesses of this divine message, which through my communication by the human understanding I leave to humanity, as a precursor lesson for true spirit-to-Spirit communication with your Father.

67. Today I seek your spirit because the spiritual abode claims his presence.

68. You have not been able to rise because every imperfection of yours is a link in that chain that binds you to earthly possessions, preventing you from vibrating in the regions that correspond to the spirit.

69. What will you make for yourselves after this life? Do you think that your spirit can penetrate with a firm plant into an abode where only spirituality is its light and its support?

70. Listen to this word, analyze it and you will understand that it comes to help you strip yourself of everything superfluous, because those influences do not leave your spirit free.

71. Here before my presence, strip your spirit of all impurities and set it free. Do not be afraid, because you are not going to reveal any secret to me, I know you better than yourselves. Confess yourselves intimately with Me, I will know how to understand you better than anyone else and I will be able to absolve you of causes and debts because I am the only one who can judge you. But when you have been reconciled to your Father and in your being you hear the hymn of triumph that your spirit sings, sit in peace at my table, eat and drink the delicacies of the Spirit, which in the essence of my word is found.

72. When you get up from the table to return to your daily tasks, do not forget that my law is present in each of your steps and that my gaze contemplates you. With this I want to tell you, that you not only prepare yourselves with spirit and understanding when you enter these precincts to listen to my Word, but that that fear of offending me that you show in these places, accompanies you everywhere and at all times.

73. You have my word in your conscience, so that you may consult it if you are walking within the path of fulfillment.

74. I give the same word to all who listen to me, I do not give more to the poor because I am needy, nor do I give less to the rich; truly I tell you that in spirit you are all in need.

75. I love you all equally, I do not contemplate differences of classes, races, languages or creeds, not even differences of sexes, I speak for the spirit, he is who I seek and whom I have come to teach to guide him with the light of my teaching to the “promised land”.

MY PEACE BE WITH YOU!

Love one another!

Teaching 40

1. That the Word of God might dwell among mankind, and show him the way of his restitution with the sublime examples of his love, everything was prepared by your Father.
2. First he inspired the prophets who were to announce the way in which the Messiah would come into the world, what his work, his sufferings and his death would be as a man, so that when Christ appeared on earth, whoever knew the prophecies, would recognize him instantly.
3. Centuries before my presence through Jesus, the prophet Isaiah said: Therefore the Lord will give you this sign "Behold, the virgin will conceive and bear a son who will be called Emmanuel" (which means "God with us"). With this prophecy among others he announced my arrival.
4. David, many centuries before my advent, sang with psalms full of pain and prophetic meaning, the sufferings of the Messiah during the crucifixion. In those psalms he speaks of one of my seven words on the cross, he announces the contempt with which the multitudes were to lead me to sacrifice, the mocking phrases of men when they heard me say that the Father was in Me, the loneliness that my body was to experience before human ingratitude, all the torments to which I was to be subjected and even the way in which they would cast lots on my garment.
5. Each of my prophets came to announce my arrival, to prepare the roads and to give precise signs so that when the day came no one would be confused.
6. In Nazareth there lived a flower of purity and tenderness, a virgin betrothed, called Mary, who was precisely the one announced by the prophet Isaiah, so that the fruit of True Life might arise from her womb. The spiritual messenger of the Lord came to her to communicate the mission she was bringing to Earth, saying to her: "Hail, beloved, the Lord is with you, blessed are You among women."
7. The hour for the divine mystery to be revealed had arrived, and everything that had been said about the presence of the Messiah, the Savior, the Redeemer, was about to be fulfilled. But how few hearts were sensitive to my presence. How few spirits were prepared to recognize the kingdom of heaven in the light of my truth.
8. Men, for the most part, materialized by their ambitions, subjecting everything to their knowledge and human experiences, trying to verify the spiritual through their material science, had to be confused by the incomprehensible and ended up denying me.
9. There were few who loved and followed me and many who did not know me.

Love one another!

10. Those who loved me, were the ones who recognized my presence through spiritual sensitivity and faith. Gifts superior to human reason, science and intelligence.

11. They scrutinized me at every step. All my actions and words were judged with bad intention, most of the times they were confused before my works or trials, because their understandings were not capable of understanding what only the spirit can conceive.

12. If he prayed, they said, Why does he pray if he claims to be full of power and wisdom? What can you need or ask for? And if he did not pray, they said that he did not fulfill his worship.

13. If they saw that I did not bring some sustenance to my lips, while my disciples were eating, they judged that I was outside the laws instituted by God, and if they saw me taking food they wondered, what did I need to eat to live, who claimed to be life? They did not understand that I had come into the world to reveal to men how humanity should live after a prolonged purification, so that a spiritualized generation would sprout from it, which would be above human miseries, the imperious needs of the flesh and the passions of the bodily senses.

14. Many centuries have passed after I enlightened humanity with my presence and when they try to understand the truth about the conception of Mary, about my human nature and my spiritual essence, their troubled mind has not been able to understand, nor has their poisoned heart conceived that truth.

15. That mind and that heart, freed for a moment from their darkness, will let their spirit escape to the regions of light, where they will feel illuminated by a superior clarity, which will not be that of their reason or that of their science.

16. Then you will know by the already evolved spirit, the truth that your small and limited understanding could not reveal to you.

17. Because if men, if they knew how to feel and understand all the love that my Spirit pours out on them through nature, they would all be good. But some are ignorant and some are ungrateful.

18. It is only when the elements manifest my righteousness that they tremble, but not because they understand that it is the voice of my righteousness that speaks to them, but because they fear for their life or for their earthly goods.

19. From the beginning of humanity to the present, my justice has made itself felt in men by means of the elements, since in their rudeness of the first times and in their materialism of the present time, they are sensitive only to material tests.

Love one another!

20. How long will humanity evolve, so that it understands my love and feels my presence through consciousness? When humanity listens to my voice that advises it and complies with my law, it will be an indication that the ages of materialism have passed for it.
21. For now they will still have to be touched by the elements in many ways, until they are convinced that there are higher forces before which the materialism of man is very small.
22. The earth will shake. Water will wash and fire will purify mankind.
23. All the elements and forces of nature will make themselves felt on Earth, where human beings have not known how to live in harmony with the life around them.
24. With this, nature does not seek the destruction of those who desecrate it, it only seeks harmony between man and all creatures.
25. If his justice is becoming more and more manifest, it is because the faults of men and their lack of harmony with the laws is also greater.
26. I told you that the leaf of the tree did not move without my will, and now I tell you that no element obeys any other will than mine.
27. I also tell you that nature can be for men whatever they want. A mother prodigal in blessings, in caresses and sustenance, or an arid desert where hunger and thirst reign. A teacher of wise and infinite revelations about life, goodness, love and eternity, or an inexorable judge before the desecrations, disobediences and errors of men.
28. My Father's voice said to the first men, blessing them: "Be fruitful and multiply, and fill the earth, subdue it, and have dominion over the fish of the sea, over the birds of the air, and over all creatures that move on the earth."
29. Yes, humanity, I formed man to be lord and to have power in space, in the waters, in all the earth and in the elements of creation. But I have said, "Lord," because men, believing themselves to rule the Earth with their science, are slaves; believing themselves to dominate the forces of nature, they become victims of their unpreparedness, of their recklessness and ignorance.
30. Human power and science have invaded the Earth, the seas and space, but their power and strength do not harmonize with the power and strength of nature, which as an expression of divine love, is life, is wisdom, is harmony and is perfection. In human works, in their science and in their power, only pride, selfishness, vanity, evil are manifested.

Love one another!

31. Soon the force of the elements will awaken humanity. Men, through the chalice of pain, will come out of materialism, to contemplate the light of truth, which will show them the way where they should have reached wisdom and true power.

32. It will never be too late for repentance, for the reparation of an error or the regeneration of a sinner. The doors of my Kingdom will always be open, waiting for the son who at last, after much walking according to his free will, will open his eyes to the light and will understand that there is no more perfect and wonderful freedom than that of the spirit who knows how to fulfill the will of his Father.

33. Infinite freedom within love, goodness, justice and the perfect.

34. To fulfill my law, you must pray, always lifting your spirit to your Father.

35. I have seen that for prayer you prefer solitude and silence, and you do well in this when you try to seek inspiration through prayer, or when you want to thank me, but I also tell you that you must practice prayer in whatever condition you find yourself, in order that you may be able to invoke my help in the most difficult trances of your life, without losing serenity, mastery over yourselves, faith in my presence and trust in you.

36. The sentence can be long or short, as needed. You may, if you so desire, spend whole hours within that spiritual delight, if your matter does not fatigue or if some other duty does not claim your attention. And it can be so brief that it becomes concrete in a second, if you find yourself subject to some test that has suddenly surprised you.

37. It is not the words with which your mind tries to form the prayer that comes to Me, but the love, faith, or the need with which you present yourself to Me, that is why I tell you that there will be cases in which your prayer is for a second, because there will not be time to formulate thoughts, phrases and ideas, as you are used to.

38. Wherever you can invoke me, because for Me, the place is indifferent, since what I am looking for is your spirit.

39. If it pleases you to pray in the countryside, or you feel more collected in these enclosures, or you prefer your bedroom, do it where you feel closer to your Father, but do not forget that for Me, who am everywhere, the place to communicate with your spirit is indifferent.

40. You do not always pray with the same preparation, hence you do not always experience the same peace or the same inspiration either.

41. There are times when you manage to inspire yourself and raise the thought, and there are others when you are completely indifferent. How do you always want to receive my messages in the same way? You must educate your mind and even your body to collaborate with the spirit in the moments of prayer.

Love one another!

42. The spirit is always ready to communicate with me, but it requires the good disposition of matter to be able to rise and free himself in those moments, from everything that surrounds him in his earthly life.

43. Strive to achieve true prayer, because whoever knows how to pray carries in himself the key to peace, health, hope, spiritual strength and eternal life.

44. The invisible shield of my law will protect him, against the lurks and dangers, he will carry in his lips an invisible sword to strike down all adversaries who oppose his path; a beacon of light will illuminate his route in the midst of storms; a constant prodigy will be at his fingertips whenever he needs it, either for himself or for the benefit of his brothers.

45. Pray, practice that sublime gift of the spirit, because that force will be the one that moves the lives of the men of the future, those who will achieve spirit-to-Spirit communication in matter.

46. Parents will be inspired through prayer to lead their children.

47. The sick will receive health through prayer. The rulers will solve their great problems, seeking the light with prayer, and the man of science will receive the revelations also through the gift of prayer.

48. Seek that world of spiritual light, exercise yourselves in the prayer of the spirit, perfect that way as far as you can and transmit that knowledge to your children, trusting that they will take a step beyond where you have arrived. To help you in your prayer, I simply come to explain my doctrine to you, clarifying the revelations that I gave you in the past times. Do you know why you can understand my word better? Because your spirit has evolved.

49. You will soon speak of my doctrine to mankind, giving proofs that you have understood the lesson, that you preach, supporting your words with your good deeds. Truly I tell you, even the most reluctant will be convinced of the truth of this doctrine by your example.

50. A single one of my disciples who has developed his spiritual gifts and who has strengthened his heart in the practice of charity, will withstand all the tests to which humanity would like to submit him, because if he has managed to express my word with essence and truth and has turned his heart into an inexhaustible veneration of love and charity towards his brothers, it means that he has prayed and by virtue of his virtue is on the path of spirituality. That disciple is prepared to bear witness of Me.

Love one another!

51. Now that my manifestation in this form is still a few years away, keep my word in your heart and learn from Me. If you do this on the path of your struggle, you will know when you must speak to your brothers and when you will have to teach with your silence.

52. You will carry the absolute confidence in my divine help and the unshakable faith that what you are going to do or deliver will have a good result, because you will be complying with my law.

53. On that trust and that faith, the effectiveness of your words and deeds will depend.

54. You will not always be able to speak, but on all occasions you will test the development of the gifts of your spirit.

55. Prepare yourselves and your presence will be enough in a moment of trial, so that the light may shine in the understandings, the storm may turn into peace and your spiritual prayer will do the miracle that a mantle of charity and tenderness will be manifested on those for whom you pray.

56. Your good influence will be on the spiritual and on the material. You will not concretize to fight only against visible elements, but also against the invisible.

57. If the light of my Spirit has illuminated the man of science to discover the origin of the evils of the body, which you call illness, it also illuminates you to discover with your spiritual sensitivity the origin of all the evils that afflict human life, whether they are those that disturb the spirit, as those that obscure the mind or torment the heart.

58. There are forces invisible to the human gaze and imperceptible to the science of man, which constantly influence your life.

59. There are good ones and there are bad ones, some give you health and the others cause you diseases; there are bright ones and also dark ones.

60. Where do these forces come from? Of the spirit, disciples, of the mind and feelings.

61. Every embodied or disembodied spirit, when thinking, emanates vibrations; every feeling exerts an influence. You can be sure that the world is populated with such vibrations.

62. Now you will be able to easily understand that where one thinks and lives in the good, there must be healthy forces and influences and that where one lives outside the laws and norms that good, justice and love indicate, there must be evil forces.

63. One and the other invade space and fight with each other, influence the sensibilities of men, and if they know how to distinguish, they take the good inspirations, and reject the bad influences; but if they are weak and unprepared in the practice of good, they will not be able to cope with these vibrations and will be in danger of becoming slaves of evil and succumbing under its domination.

64. These vibrations spring from incarnated spirits as well as from disembodied beings, because both on Earth and in the hereafter there are good spirits and troubled spirits.

65. At this time the influence of evil is greater than that of good; therefore, the force that dominates in humanity is that of evil, from which selfishness, lies, lust, pride, the pleasure of doing harm, destruction and all the low passions derive. From this moral imbalance come the diseases that torment man.

66. Men have no weapons to fight against these forces. They have been defeated and taken prisoners to the abyss of a life without spiritual light, without healthy joy, without aspirations for the good.

67. Now that man thinks he is at the summit of knowledge, it is when he ignores that he is in the abyss.

68. I, who know your beginning and your future in eternity, gave men from the earliest times weapons with which they could fight the forces of evil; but they despised them, they preferred the struggle of evil against evil in which no one triumphs, because everyone will be defeated.

69. It is written that evil will not prevail, which means that at the end of time it will be good that triumphs.

70. If you ask me what were the weapons with which I endowed humanity to fight against the forces or influences of evil, I will tell you that they were prayer, perseverance in the law, faith in my word, love for one another.

71. Now I have had to manifest myself to this humanity spiritually, to explain word for word the origin of good and evil and the way to fight to triumph in the great battle of the Third Time.

72. I come to alert you by making your spirit sensitive, so that you may learn to receive all the good that comes to you and to reject and combat the bad.

73. No one will make fun of what I say, because with his mockery he will make known his enormous ignorance.

74. You know that all the messengers you had, forerunners of a spiritual or scientific revelation, were mocked, and yet, some time later, humanity had to accept their revelations, convinced of the truth they preached.

Love one another!

75. Did the man of antiquity know in what form the contagion of some disease was verified, or what was the cause of the spread of an epidemic? No, they ignored it, from that ignorance arose superstitions and mysterious cults. But a day came when the intelligence of man, illuminated by the light of the Creator, discovered the cause of his physical ills and began to struggle to find a way to regain health. Then, what had been hidden and invisible to the man of science, became understandable to him, with which humanity acquired a knowledge that the men of the past times did not have.

76. In the same way they will come to know the origin and the influence of the forces of good and evil on humanity; and when that knowledge is in the public domain, there will be no one who, when listening to this teaching, doubts the truth of my doctrine.

77. I come to enlighten you with the light of this teaching, so that you may find in your spirit the gifts that humanity had despised from the earliest times, so that your spirit, awakening from its lethargy, illuminated by the light of conscience, may know how to reject the forces of evil and reach the full development of its spiritual evolution. Just as the germ of a disease comes to you in polluted air, invisibly and silently bad spiritual influences come disturbing your mind and making your spirit falter.

78. Only prayer can give you intuition and sensitivity, strength and inspiration to sustain you in the daily and constant struggle against evil.

79. I have told you about the forces and influences of evil and have I mentioned to you any spirit? Did I name him by chance? No, you tell me. But I must make it clear to you at this time, that there is no spirit that represents or is the origin of evil.

80. The ancient beliefs, figures, forms and symbolic names with which the men of the past times represented evil, giving it human form and granting it spiritual existence, beliefs that have reached the present generations must disappear, because without realizing it you have created with them myths and superstitious cults, unworthy of the spiritual evolution that man has reached in this time.

81. Know that evil arose from man, from his weaknesses, and that as humanity grew in number, as well as its imperfections and sins, the force or influence of evil was increasing. This force, formed by thoughts, ideas, feelings and passions, began to make its influence felt in men and they came to believe that it was a spirit that was surely the representation of evil, without realizing that this force is formed by its imperfections.

82. Watch and pray that you will not fall into temptation.

MY PEACE BE WITH YOU!

Teaching 41

1. In all times I have told you about the eternal life that exists beyond the material. I have promised you that you will all enjoy it, but I have also revealed to you that you must make restitution for the evils that you have caused so that your spirit evolves.
2. To help you, I have said to you, Do good works on earth, so that the seed you sow may bear good fruit and the harvest may be received by Me, Who am the Way and the Life.
3. I have seen that humanity is reluctant, that it has materialized and I have had to give it my teaching to make it understand which is the path it must follow, to reach true life and ignite in it the hope of reaching Me.
4. The way to reach perfection is long and without my divine help you could not reach it. The spiritual life in the hereafter is a mystery to man, but study my teaching, practice what its essence teaches you and when you cross the thresholds of true life, you will not be surprised or troubled.
5. In the early times of humanity, its spiritual evolution was so scarce that its intuition about the existence of the spirit after material death and the knowledge of its final destiny, caused the spirit to disembodied penetrate into a deep lethargy from which it was slowly awakening, but when Christ became a man in Jesus to give his teaching to all spirits, once he had accomplished his mission among humanity, he sent his light to multitudes of beings who from the beginning of the world were waiting for his advent to be freed from their turmoil and to be able to rise up to the Creator.
6. Only Christ could illuminate those darkness, only His voice could resurrect those sleeping spirits for their evolution. When Christ expired as a man, the Divine Spirit made light in the spiritual dwellings and in the tombs themselves, from where the spirits who slept the sleep of death next to their bodies came out. Those beings wandered that night through the world making themselves visible to human eyes as a testimony that the Redeemer was life for all beings and that the spirit is immortal.
7. Only Jesus could show them the way to reach the summit of the mount of true life; whoever believes in Him, attests to his work and practices his doctrine, will not remain stationary.
8. Disciples: Not because you hear these revelations, which come to illuminate your path, do you want to feel superior to your brothers. The path that you have to travel is so extensive that you must understand that you are just taking the first steps on it. If I reveal to you some mysteries of the afterlife, it is so that from now on you will know the way and prepare yourself so as not to get lost or stumble on it. See that just as there are many paths in this world where man can go astray, there are also paths in the vast spiritual valley that can lead to confusion for the spirit, if he has not watched and prayed.

Love one another!

9. Let the sap of my love give you life, remember that I have told you: I am the vine and you are the branches, you must bear fruit that glorifies the tree from which you come.

10. It is necessary that you analyze my word with patience so that tomorrow you will be able to explain it to your brothers and that you will be able to practice it according to the truth that it contains. When will man reach the perfection that my law teaches him? When he has fulfilled the first commandment. Because until now, humanity has loved all the goods of the world before its Creator, however, when men raise their prayer to Me, they all say they love Me, and when they encounter pain because of their sin, they ask me: "Lord, why do you punish me if I love you so much?" But then, when I have removed from their way the hedge that hurt them, they forget who loves them so much.

11. Listen: "There were two men in a synagogue praying, one of them was dressed in luxurious finery, the other was almost naked. The first gave thanks to the Creator, because everything he possessed, he believed he had for his own merits and judged that the one who was next to him, poor, naked and hungry, was because that was how he gathered the harvest of what he had sown with his sin.

12. The poor man felt unworthy to be in the presence of his Lord and asked for forgiveness and strength to fulfill his atonement.

13. The mighty one gave thanks, because he judged that if his body was adorned, his spirit should be more so.

14. Time passed, and death surprised both of them. The rich man was mourned by his family, his burial was solemn and he had a rich burial; his spirit broke away from matter and when he entered the spiritual valley he was troubled, because his materialism prevented him from rising, wherever he took a step he stumbled and everything seemed to be in darkness around him. While the poor man, who was a walker, feeling tired, sat down under a tree and with a sigh left this life. No one mourned him, no one accompanied him at that hour, he had no burial because his body was the pasture of birds of prey. His spirit also went to the hereafter with the faith with which he lived in the world, faith set on the future. He entered the valley of the spirits without anyone preventing him from entering. He walked in pursuit of a light and when he reached it, he felt dressed and adorned and those clothes had luminous reflections. That spirit wanted to rest from his long journey, when he contemplated in front of him his Father, who lovingly gave him the reward he had conquered with his works of faith and resignation.

15. The one who had been powerful, was still debating in his confusion, at times he forgot who he was, for moments he cried asking where he was, where his body was and where he had left his treasures. Then he remembered his Lord to say to him: I am the one who presented me in the temple to show my finery and my power, and to tell you that I was satisfied that you had given me so much. Why don't you know me now and don't call me? Then he heard a voice that said to him: On earth you only forged a glory for your human vanities, you were haughty, you humiliated the poor and you had horror of the leper; nothing that you accumulated in the world could serve to help you in this life, that is why now you are the most needy among the needy.

16. That spirit, far from accepting and recognizing divine justice by humbly initiating his atonement, blasphemed against his Lord, calling him unjust and moving away from Him; Increasingly disturbed by anger, he found in his path a legion of beings who were heading to Earth to cause damage to humanity; he allied himself with them, sowing vanity, materialism, selfishness and arrogance in his path; but he came to feel bored and tired of causing so much evil, and for a moment he stopped to meditate. Centuries had passed, he had caused, many victims, because everyone he inspired, he led to the abyss. He felt lonely, but in his loneliness he heard a voice that spoke to him from the inside of his being, it was his conscience, which finally managed to be heard, he judged himself and saw that he was very small before creation, then with humility, his pride already bowed, he sought his Lord and in his prayer he spoke to him asking forgiveness for his faults, and the voice of the Father told him: I forgive you, but go in search of that hungry one whom you judged in the synagogue. When he was ready to fulfill that command, he raised his gaze and saw that the one whom he had contemplated miserable in the world, was covered with a very white garment, dedicated to serving his Lord, making light on the path of lost spirits. Then he, who was proud, but had already repented, said to his brother: Help me to fulfill my spiritual restitution. The other, full of compassion and love, without feeling repulsion for the impurities that he carried in his spirit, helped him in his purification."

17. By means of this parable, I simplify what you will be able to find beyond your human life, so that you may present the tests that may be presented, to all those who do not prepare with their works of love their entrance into the spiritual valley.

18. I want to make you understand that from all those who, without fanaticism, lead a spiritual, healthy and upright life, good examples will spring from their spirit, like flashes of light that will illuminate the path of an incarnate spirit, as well as of the one who dwells in the invisible.

Love one another!

19. Before Christ there was no one able to make light on the spirits who lived in the darkness of sin.

20. I was the first to penetrate the worlds of confusion to bring the light there and thus teach my disciples to do the same with their brothers, because the Lamb was the only one who untied the seals that kept the "Great Book of life and true wisdom".

21. The voice that you hear is that of the Sixth Seal and if it was not heard in all the nations, it was because men were not prepared, because they were proud at the voice of my call, leaving only the poor, the hungry and the naked to hear me.

22. Today I say to you: know how to forgive and know how to reach out your hand when you are asked.

23. Follow in the footsteps of Elijah's humility and patience, he has the mandate to purify the spirits and to present them to Me, he has worked tirelessly and offers me a clean, sensitive and prepared people to hear my word. He has brought you to the mount of New Zion, so that you may listen to my voice, and when you heard me you trembled. Do not hesitate because now I am giving you my teaching through the human channel, I have always come to surprise you and to test your faith. You have passed to a new stage and you must climb one more step on the path of evolution of the spirit.

24. Blessed are those who sacrifice their life to perfect their spirit. Blessed are those who bear their cross with humility and patience. When I see you prepared, I will put you in front of a crowd so that you can guide it, and if you persevere in virtue, pride will not penetrate into your heart, you will not feel masters but servants, and those portions will multiply, more, woe to those who err my commands and lead their brothers to the abyss instead of making them climb the mountain of their evolution! How much they will have to fight to defend themselves from their enemies and how many times their heart will break in that fight!, But you in your obedience think that you are conquering the summit where all suffering is rewarded with my blessing.

25. In a short time, the promised generations will come to Earth, those who will achieve great advances on the path of spiritual progress. They will interpret my word better than you and spread it among all peoples; these new beings that I am preparing today will communicate spirit to Spirit with me and will give proofs of their power among their fellow beings.

26. Beloved people: if you prepare yourselves, I will inspire you with laws and works that will surprise humanity, your enlightened mind will discover in nature and in your spirit, everything that is great and perfect; then you will be in full knowledge of your gifts and your works will be great in love and charity towards your brothers.

Love one another!

27. Be good husbandmen in your Lord's garden, cut the weeds, take care of the plants and when you see them blooming, enjoy and offer me your work. Think that if I give you the mission of giving life to plants, you should not cause pain or hurt those creatures. I speak to you of your brothers, of their sensitive heart so that you may always watch over them with love as I have taught you.

28. Understand that it is not impossible to comply with my laws, you should only pray and fill yourself with a firm will, with love for your Father, in charity and love for your brothers, and I will pour out my power on you. I do not want you to come to sacrifice; love, be virtuous and you will have my pleasures in you.

29. Do not blame me for your deviations; I have given you the conscience so that you may be guided by her light, she is an inflexible judge who has always shown you the way of good and has warned you so that you do not fall into temptation. I have also surrounded you with beings who help you to understand your mission and to acquire the virtues of humility and meekness.

30. Those of you who lovingly prepare to hear my teaching, would not want to stop listening to a single one of my lessons and in your heart you ask me to allow you to listen to every last one of my words at this time. You will remain as heirs of this grace, but you must understand that when I say to you: ask that it will be given to you, you must rise up in prayer so that you may ask for what suits your spirit, because some only ask for their earthly life: but I grant you according to my will and not yours. What would become of you if He always granted you according to your desires? How many times have you persistently asked for something believing it for your good and having waited for it at dusk and dawn, you have not seen it realized!, But when the time has passed, you have realized that you were wrong and that the Father was right. However, to the fool, to the nonconformist, to the demanding, what he claims has been given, so that the painful and adverse consequences may bend him to the truth, but to some and others I have granted trials for their own good, while some learn by love, others by pain.

31. I take pleasure in seeing you arrive before my teaching and in your elevation, I feel the caress of the son of my Spirit. The Father, longing to be loved by those who are far from His kingdom, has come to you to receive your oscar (holy spear). And as long as humanity is not saved, some will see me waiting for them day after day, and century after century, and others will present me hanging from the cross for their lack of love.

32. You are one of those, but when you heard my word, you saw that before I condemned you, I forgave you. I have contemplated your bitter lips and have sweetened them with my word; I have seen you tired by the trials of life and I have given you my strength.

Love one another!

33. The one who feels his body undermined by pain wonders if he has not misused it, contrite interrogates me to know how to recover his vigor that allows him to continue fighting, then I tell him: Penetrate into the depths of my word that is the law, and in its precepts and maxims each one will find the teaching he needs.

34. Do not go away until you have eaten of all the fruits of this table and if after that you do not feel satisfied, you can leave in search of other delicacies, but if you want to understand my truth, prepare and do not doubt my presence just because you have not received what you have requested from Me. Truly I tell you that in my arcanum are your goods, waiting for the moment of your preparation to be in your spirit.

35. Some remain strong on this path, others falter at every moment because they hear the words of their brothers who tempt them to abandon this teaching.

36. The Master tells you: Stay a few more albas receiving my teaching and pay attention to what you hear from Me so that at least you carry light in your spirit because you are still blind. I know that you will have to come back to Me, and that you will be apostles of this work.

37. Who has listened to me once, carries a wound of love in his heart that will never close.

38. How many of those who found peace here without realizing it, will have to lose it to return to Me!, Because they will be convinced that peace is not bought with material goods, because it is a treasure that descends from God.

39. peace has fled from men and to find it, they will have to rise up to Me. Today the powerful have lost their strength; kings tremble before their rebellious vassals, lords have become slaves, those who thought they were free are bound to my justice, and men of science are confused.

40. Realize that all the treasures and powers of men will not be able to buy an atom of peace and that the gift of healing has also departed from doctors, who will not be able to buy a single drop of my balm with their science, as long as their heart is not cleared of selfishness.

41. Beloved disciples, do not doubt the grace that I have entrusted to you, nor be afraid because of the poverty of your clothes or because of the humble place that you occupy among your brothers. Do not be afraid because you see that you are one of the last in your work, do not feel humiliated, be conformed and worthy, think that if materially you are under the command of your brothers, your spirit is on them. You could even become a slave in the world, but your spirit has been freed with my light so that it dwells in the infinite and in the eternal. The spirit who is truly my servant knows peace and true freedom.

42. You will have to fulfill your mission among humanity, I will guide you to bring the light to your brothers, and you should not feel unable to fulfill your destiny, because I have assigned no one an impossible position to carry out. It is enough for me that you pray with clarity and that you are always prepared.

43. With prayer, wisdom is acquired, it is the key that opens the divine arcanum and it is the language with which the spirit of the son converses with his Lord.

44. How many wonders and how much charity you will be able to sow on your way when you prepare as I have taught you! You will not need books of science or philosophies to know or to teach, it will be enough for you to study and analyze the teachings that I have given you in the three times.

45. If you are poor, you will never be outcasts. Fight like everyone else for the bread of the earth, but do not work harder than you should, do not sacrifice your body trying to reach and treasure material goods. Distribute your time so that you can give a few moments to the evolution of your spirit.

46. If I reject the absolute materialization in man, that is not why I advise you to pursue only the spiritual, while you are in this world and have matter, you will have to harmonize, as far as your evolution allows you in your life, the needs of the body with those of the spirit. Give to God what is God's and to the world what is the world's.

47. Clothe your body and protect it from the elements, but clothe your spirit with light. Seek bread for your matter, and just as you seek that it be tasteful and that it contain the substances that sustain you, seek from your spirit a food of true life for him.

48. If the flesh imposes itself, the spirit suffers, if the spirit imposes itself, matter suffers, and truly I tell you, it is because there is no harmony in both elements. It exists when both form a single body and a single will. Do not be satisfied believing that by praying you have fulfilled your mission; I only ask you for five minutes of prayer, so that the rest of the time you devote to fighting for material life and fulfilling within it the duties of your spirit, sowing among your brothers the seed of love and charity with your good works. My word prepares you; I could not send you weak to raise up the fallen, nor would I send you sick to comfort the sad.

49. Disciples, what do you ask of me for those who put stones in your path to make you fall? You ask for forgiveness, may He be with them. I bless the very ones who make you suffer for my sake.

Love one another!

50. Live in peace in your homes, make a sanctuary in them, so that when the invisible beings penetrate, who wander in confusion in the spiritual valley, they may find in your being the light and peace they seek and rise to the beyond.

51. What would become of these beings if they contemplated only war within your home? What would become of those needy?

52. Take a torch, light it and do not let its light go out, which is love for your brothers and faith in the charity of your Father. Then it will be in your homes my peace. To do this, prepare your heart, cleanse your spirit with repentance and regeneration, so that you may take the essence of my word and be comforted by it. I put myself among you, manifesting my teaching in my word, so that you may feel my presence and bear witness to Me. I am giving you one more opportunity to hear my lesson, because I want you to fulfill my commands, to go on the right path, until you find the promised land, a firm land, where you can rest from your pilgrimage, conquering the reward offered by your Father.

53. It is necessary that you understand my word, so that you do not throw it away, as the proud child does when he despises the bread offered to him. This word comes to save you, to separate us from your erroneous customs, from the fanaticism and confusion into which religions have caused you to fall. If you do not understand my word, or do not want to listen to it and study it, you will be rejecting me and you will not come to know the purpose of my manifestation in the Third Time; the appointed date will come for it to end and then you will feel an emptiness in your heart and recognizing that there was a grace that you did not know how to appreciate, you will call me and my word will no longer be heard through the human understanding. Then the weight of your misunderstanding will fall on you and you will not have peace. Do you want to hurry this bitter cup? I will contemplate you with sorrow and wait for the day of your return. Let your spirit be liberated and come to Me; spiritualized so that you can penetrate the path of elevation and progress in true life.

54. Be just in all your acts and when you correct your brothers, do not be judges or executioners. Do not take the whip to punish a fellow.

55. In the Second Time, when Jesus had entered Jerusalem, he found that the temple, the place consecrated for prayer and worship, had been turned into a market, and the Master, full of zeal, threw out those who profaned it in this way, saying to them-"My Father's house is not a place of commerce." These were less guilty than those charged with leading the spirit of men in the fulfillment of God's law. The priests had turned the temple into a place where ambitions and greatness reigned, and this reign was destroyed.

Love one another!

56. Today I have not taken a whip to punish those who profane, my law, I have let the consequences of their own faults be felt in humanity so that they know how to interpret its meaning and understand that my law is inflexible and immutable. I have pointed out the way to man, a straight path and if he departs from it, he exposes himself to the rigors of a just law because in it my love is manifested.

57. Guide your children with zeal, teach them to comply with the laws of spirit and matter; and if they violate them, correct them, because you as parents represent me on earth. Remember then Jesus who, full of holy anger, gave a lesson for all time to the merchants of Jerusalem, defending the divine cause, the immutable laws.

58. Humanity asks me for tranquility, having in her the gift of peace that is achieved by the fulfillment of her duties; but I ask you: Is it necessary that in order to have peace you must first go through war? Look how the good seed has been destroyed by evil. Some nations destroy others, those that are strong today, tomorrow they will be annihilated, and the people of Israel intercedes at this moment for humanity and says to me: Master, I have prayed and what I ask of you has not been granted to me. Do you know, people, how many sorrows you have alleviated and how much hope your prayer has inspired in those creatures? It is not I who should say that peace be in the world, but man, when he has converted his heart to love and humility.

59. How great is the ignorance that humanity presents to me! Neither the wise nor the ignorant have complied with my laws, and having me as a Teacher, they have not heeded my lessons. If your faults cause you to die, take my word as the bread of eternal life, live watching, working in my doctrine and loving your brothers.

60. This teaching is like a new day that illuminates the path of humanity. You have seen an era hide in the sunset and a new dawn appear, in which you will have to look at great lights that illuminate men before a great awakening. You have seen passions unleashed, sin bearing bitter and painful fruits, evil invading homes and nations, injustice ruling over men; but I come to stop that overflow, not to judge but to channel the world. And that pain that you present to me and that you have carved out for yourselves, do not attribute it to Me; I have created you so that you may live, experience and rise by your merits. However, I love you and that is why your pain has come to Me and I have come as a Comforter and Teacher to give you back what you have lost and to announce to you that the kingdom of peace is approaching you and that you must prepare to reach it. Humanity will be transformed and good will be in the hearts of men.

61. Since the beginning of time I have spoken to you in many ways so that you may understand me and in particular to you, who have been my confidants, my spokespersons and heralds who have carried my messages to other peoples. Today I tell you to continue your mission patiently, not to stop before the unbelief and misunderstanding of your brothers. While you have believed and verified my manifestation at this time as a divine Spirit, others are not yet ready to receive this news, but do not for this reason ignore them or despair, what you cannot do, I will do it and I will present my work to the world and I will fulfill my promise.

62. I have chosen this nation and I am pleased that my farmers will come out of it to scatter the seed. I am preparing you to be teachers, but not judges of your brothers. Do not forget that I left you among your brothers as servants and not as lords. When this word is known and sought by your fellow men I will tell them:

63. Come to Me, walkers, I have that water that quenches the thirst that burns your spirit. I contemplate you poor in spirit and in matter, but I come to give you more than you ask of me, I offer you a kingdom of peace, the same one that I offered to the first creatures that I sent into this world. It is not the water of the springs, nor the perishable peace that lasts for an instant, but grace and eternal peace, truth and light.

64. I bring forgiveness and relief for everyone, both for those who love me, and for those who are indifferent. I do not curse the one who has wronged me, but rather I bless him, because I know that one day he will love me.

65. You should not covet earthly pleasures what today is tomorrow does not exist. Seek and cultivate the everlasting life, that life from which no one returns because it is the supreme truth. Come to her by the way of my teaching. Come, fulfilling my command that I have given you in all times: "Love one another".

66. How much your Father enjoys communicating with his children! After this time in which I gave you my word through man, you will learn to seek me in infinity and your communion will be purer and more constant, it will be the communication of spirit to Spirit.

67. What joy I contemplate in my children for having listened to me again! And how they recognize me and follow me! I repeat to you once again, my children, "Love one another," as I have always taught you.

68. I have called you to become great in spirit, not lords of the world.

69. If you are humbled for my sake, I will exalt you; if you suffer afflictions, I will comfort you.

MY PEACE BE WITH YOU!

Love one another!

Teaching 42

1. I come to remove from your path, the obstacles that may hinder your work in my countryside, because you are the ones, chosen to fulfill that mission; you must make known to humanity the truth of my teaching. Be strong, for I have seen that you lack faith, that you allow yourselves to be overcome by discouragement and do not rise up with fortitude from your falls. You are doubting again as you did in the Second Half and to believe you ask me for material evidence that I will not grant you. Do not imitate the scribes and priests, who, having the scriptures in their hands, thought that my arrival among humanity at that time would be verified in a certain way, and when they saw that the development of my mission was under a different form of manifestation from the one they expected, they doubted, because the wonders they asked for were not granted, because the path was already traced by Me and everything was consummated as it was written from eternity.
2. You doubt because your heart is not prepared, you were ignorant of my prophecies and very few have analyzed and understood my revelations in all their truth, but if your heart was ignorant, the spirit sensed that it was going to come among you once again, and today my word, like a fine chisel, is modeling and proving the truth of my manifestations to you. Truly I tell you that you should not put your Father to the test, pray and enter into deep meditation, it is time for you to return to Me and for you to approach and reunite with your Creator.
3. Think that if you have wept on Earth, it is not I who have caused you that sorrow, I have not enjoyed your atonement, nor have I been indifferent to your pain; I have only wanted to model and elevate your spirit. I have always loved and forgiven you.
4. Penetrate the meaning of my word and discover all that I want to express to you through the clumsy lips of the spokesman, but do not want to hear me only through them, I have taught you the perfect prayer, so that you may achieve spirit-to-Spirit communication with your Father, with which you will be able to speak to me in the language that corresponds to the spirit and receive my wise and loving answers.
5. Why do you ignore my work of spirituality and ignore the voice of conscience that is speaking to you inside? Why do you give credit only to human words and judgments and let the spirit that lives in its time wither like flowers under a burning sun when they lack watering?
6. The children will communicate with me, they will receive my messages and they will surprise you with their advance. They will teach you my doctrine of love and their convictions will be firm, but do not be humiliated by it. If in the bosom of your home you see that they show signs of spirituality, lead their steps, let them enjoy and be ecstatic contemplating the high regions where the righteous live, and they will feel while they are transported that they are close to Me and will forget their pains.

Love one another!

7. Do you not see the patience and also the anguish in your Father before the slow awakening of his children? My charity leads you to peace, trials are pointing out to humanity the narrow path that leads to Me. By that path you must all come to be reunited with your Creator.

8. Among you are the farmers who love humanity and strive to bring the light to it. Today they come full of faith to deposit in Me the fruit of their work. There is the child who has listened to my lecture, who has taken the part of work that corresponds to him, and who today presents to me the first fruits of his spiritual sowing. His prayer is an invocation of peace for his brothers, it is not enough for him to be happy, that his nation is at peace; the complaints of humanity that he does not know reach him, but he knows that he is suffering. With his moved spirit he intercedes for his brothers and I tell him: That peace will come when the trial has left its seed in the hearts of those who suffer today and the pain has purified their spirit.

9. You think, as you hear my word, that in the moments of joy in which you are transported to be closer to Me, many of your brothers and sisters fall on the battlefields, that many mothers have seen their son depart and their hearts have been torn with pain, that many little ones cry the abandonment of their parents and everyone is torn in pain. I tell you, you do not know the time in which you have penetrated, for this is a time of atonement and hard trials. You, as my disciples, feel the duty to pray to bring down peace and consolation on your brothers, and I ask you if you have been able to take advantage of the peace that I have granted you.

10. Why do parents cry feeling that the family is a heavy tree that they carry on their shoulder, and others why are they sick of the spirit, having me so close? It is because they have lacked faith and trust in Me, and they have not been able to regenerate.

11. You, people of Israel, do not sin, but rather rescue sinners, enlighten those who have been confused, and if you want to keep your peace, work for them, honor your parents, all look at each other as brothers. Love one another.

12. Whenever you approach Me, you feel that my love strengthens your spirit and matter, you also know that when you move away, peace flees from you and your spirit is afflicted. Your conscience always tells you in all truth whether you are on the path of the law or if you have gone out of it. I am the law and I always inspire you to fulfill it.

Love one another!

13. When you persist in enjoying the forbidden pleasures, I allow you to know and know from your own experience that this chalice always offers you pain. After a fall you become disillusioned and come back to Me, asking that this pain be for your atonement.

14. Learn, so that you may prepare hearts eager to know my word and be able to speak without fear. If selfishness is nested in your heart, you will be able to give nothing; keep in mind the love and charity with which I speak to all my children, and with the same love give to your brothers and sisters.

15. The time is approaching when I will send you to regions and nations to bring my light, but you must prepare yourselves by studying and analyzing my teaching, giving with your works of love and charity towards your brothers, testimony of the truths that it contains. I don't want you to cry later for the time you lost because you didn't know how to take advantage of my teaching, because there will be great trials. Many will regret not having heard and believed me and some by 1950 will already be in spirit.

16. Some of my children cry when they hear my word, may those tears serve to wash those who have been stained.

17. You who listen to me do my will as you did in the First and Second Times, because you are the same spirits that have been evolving time after time, and when you have reached the end of your restitution, you will come to Me, so as not to incarnate again in this world. Many times I have told you, that if in this era I had incarnated to give you my word as I did in the Second Time, I would once again have been led to martyrdom; this lesson has already passed and today I come to give you the one that corresponds to this time. Understand that the way in which I manifest myself, is one more proof of my love for you by communicating through the understanding of man; these who serve me, carry a heavy cross and for this reason, for following me, they will suffer, they will be unknown and mocked, but I will welcome their spirit and then, when they have finished their mission, I will give them rest and peace.

18. Today you ask me for your life and I say to you: Ask more for your spirit than the rest I give you in addition.

19. Consider that you are only passengers on Earth, that in your long journey you have picked up pain and have stumbled over sin, and that after having fallen, without finding a charitable hand to lift you up, you remembered that in the hereafter there is a kind Father who is willing to give you what you need, and that in Him you could find relief from your ills not only those that make your body sick, but those that affect your spirit that are like a painful burden that weighs you down.

Love one another!

20. Oh, beloved children! If you have not wanted to raise your spirit, if you have not given it the necessary time to meditate and fulfill its duties, consider how many gifts are in you, you lack nothing so that you can reach the summit of the mountain where your Father awaits you, to give you your reward. You are all enlightened and prepared to know the revelations of this time; if you become spiritualized, you will be able to work not only in this world, but I will allow you to be transported to other regions where your brothers live and there you will also sow, as good farmers, the seed of love and charity that your Father has entrusted to you.

21. Do not be satisfied with the first lesson you have received, go ahead, seek my word, know its essence so that you can speak firmly to your brothers; do not fear the judgment or the mockery of humanity. What fault can they pursue in you, if you carry cleanliness in your heart and righteousness in all your acts?

22. I am pleased to receive the innocent and good hearts who come to ask for my help, those who seek me as a doctor of doctors, but I also contemplate with pleasure that you forget your sorrows to present me to your needy brothers, whom you have converted with my teaching; I bless those who have relieved sorrows and shared pains and I give them strength, so that they fulfill my precept, which tells you; Love one another.

23. I have contemplated how some of my children distrust Me, without letting their spirit develop their gifts, and when it has been necessary for them to speak to humanity about my doctrine, they have been silent without remembering that I have said that I will speak for all who are prepared and that if there are none, I will speak through the elements of my Creation.

24. To my children, who travel the earth without knowing their high destiny, I say: When do you plan to fulfill your mission? If you sleep today, you will wake up tomorrow in the afterlife and mourn the lost time, you will ask me to return to Earth and then your restitution will be very painful.

25. When you hear that the Master warns you and you judge your works in the light of your conscience, you find that the seed that I have given you has not multiplied, and I ask you: How are you going to prepare the new disciples who, coming in search of this inheritance, cannot testify with your works the teaching that I have given you?

26. On the first day of the year 1939, I announced to you the approaching war, you felt the destruction and chaos in which many nations sank; you have seen war after war pass by and you still do not realize the time in which you are living. In the years to come you will see great division among the nations.

Love one another!

27. The strong will be in front of the strong and in that battle they will lose their power and will bend, meanwhile many spirits will lose their body and will go to the spiritual valley with the confusion and pain of not having prepared their return to Me, but on their way they will find Elijah pointing them the way of their restitution.

28. Today I announce to you that the time is approaching when great spirits will come to Earth to work for peace and for the elevation of humanity, Prepare the way for those generations.

29. Blessed are those who, hearing my word, have believed, but I also say to you: Blessed are those who, without having listened to me, believe and have a temple in their hearts, love and intercede for their brothers and their faith is like a burning flame that illuminates the path of their restitution, because they will be looking at me with their faith.

30. Today you come to the fountain of grace to quench your thirst and you remember my words in which I told you: “Whoever drinks of this water will never thirst again” Your thirst at this time is for light, truth and peace. You know only pain and falsehood and you are looking for a balm that will heal your wounds and make your hope reborn. Here you have me receiving, your heart and comforting it. You wait impatiently for the days when I give you my word and you tell me: Father, only at this moment does my spirit find rest and elevated to You I forget what belongs to the world and I feel that the peace of your Spirit floods my being.

31. Blessed are you who have recognized that this is the time of grace in which my teachings guide you and help you in your restitution. If you know how to listen to me and keep yourself within my laws, there will be no human power that hurts you, and you will feel caressed and guided by the Father.

32. If you had not sought me before, today you know that the hour of your awakening to my truth was marked and that I was waiting for you to make you an inheritance. Now that you have received my benefits, full of gratitude you ask me to grant you to be my farmers and I allow it, because that is why I have sent you to Earth, to know the good news and spread it among humanity; but to achieve the knowledge and development of the gifts that grace you, you will first have to fight against your materiality, against your sin and weakness, and when you feel that you have prepared yourself and that you have purified yourself with your restitution, take your love to your brothers like a jewel of inestimable value.

33. You have not come to Earth to pay tribute to the world, your fulfillment is higher, the mission as disciples of your Father awaits you, and when you have fought for the establishment of my doctrine and you have your plant wounded by the thistles and your clothes torn by the long road, come to Me; Do not be afraid to arrive naked, without shoes and without a saddlebag, because if you have poured everything out among your brothers, I will return what you have left them and I will fill you with thanks for the love and charity that you have imparted to them.

34. A great struggle awaits you, in which your fulfillment will make your spirit not feel tired; because you will be helped by the good Shepherd and by the spiritual world. If you love me, if you have faith, the work will be easy for you; I will overcome the unbelief of the reluctant spirits and they will listen to you; others will not come to know this light in the present incarnation because I have already announced to you that not everyone who is in the matter today will know the light of this teaching of the Third Time. Many will have to go to the spiritual valley and from there they will contemplate this work of love and believe. Those who heard me and did not understand my word, nor did they know my will, will work in the spirit and thus fulfill their mission.

35. Although my lesson is clear, not all of you have analyzed or understood it. You have not been fed with this fruit that I have offered you at this time. I have told you that every tree is recognized by its fruit, and the taste of my word is sweet, and its essence quickens the spirit, but you have not wanted to know its truth.

36. You have been fragile boats in the middle of a rough sea and you have often let your faith die out. You do not feel me, knowing that I am with you, that I have often told you that your eyelashes are farther from your eyes than my Spirit is from yours.

37. Keep watch, because the wolf in sheep's clothing is always stalking you to surprise you. When you are ready to share this love and this divine charity with your brothers and sisters, temptation approaches and makes you change your intention.

38. If you find that your brothers who belong to another doctrine point out your mistakes and teach you, be humble, listen to their words, because my inspiration descends to everyone who prepares, and you do not know if it is my will to use them to correct you. Of all classes I have chosen my disciples, there are those who begged to bring bread to their lips, but there are also others who, having led a life of idleness, I have called them and without understanding the treasure they have received, they are ashamed to be part of this people.

39. I forgive your sins, even when you have failed with the knowledge that you made a mistake and I always present to you the way by which you should reach Me. Can the son present himself to the Father with his spirit defiled and without good works? Your conscience will tell you that only after fulfillment will you be able to reach Me.

Love one another!

40. Understand that each passing moment shortens the time in which I will give you my word. Take advantage of Him so that tomorrow you will not cry for the teaching that you have wasted.

41. Meditate that you will have to fulfill the mission of giving the good news to your brothers, just as there was one on your way who called you. Who can forget the one who told you about my word and led you to my presence? Don't you want someone to remember you with affection and gratitude?

42. Persevere in the good, let your heart sink into virtue and you will see the development of your faculties. Do not turn back, because you will feel as if those gifts are fleeing from you.

43. It is time that you not only ask, but that you know how to ask, so that you do not say: Father, I have prayed a lot and I have received nothing.

44. Do not forget that I have more to give to you than you have to ask of me, and that while you are asking the Father to give to you, I am asking you to know how to receive.

45. Be of my good disciples, of those who embrace their mission with true love and faith. If yesterday you walked along uncertain and forbidden paths, today you must walk along the path of my law. If yesterday in your obfuscation you raised your hand to hurt your fellow man, now make that same hand learn to caress with tenderness. If yesterday you sowed the seed of hatred or ill will in your path, now become sowers of the seed of peace and fraternity.

46. Truly I tell you, whoever remembers your works of yesterday, and looks at you now transformed into my disciples, will have to recognize that at the bottom of your faith there is a truth and you will not have to talk much to convince those you try to teach, because your works will be the best testimony that you give to your brothers.

47. To mothers I say: Teach children to take their first steps both materially and spiritually, facilitate the way for them to find me, love me and rise. Keep in mind that in each new generation that arises from among you, the spiritual advancement that it reaches will be greater. Make use of intuition to guide them and do not give them bad examples or vain fruits to eat.

48. I do not want these new generations to stumble or go astray because of you, I do not want to contemplate them crying for lack of love among their own.

49. Today, as I humbly contemplate your spirit, I come to give you my new commands; in the past, you all dreamed of power, wealth, the glory of the world and pleasures, that's when you shouted against Jesus: Crucify Him! Because Christ came to preach humility and to teach you the renunciation of everything superfluous. Today you settle for a little peace, a loaf of bread and a safe roof. Life with its lessons has made you humble and with it your spirit has managed to free itself.

Love one another!

50. While man possesses the apparent peace that the world gives him and thinks he possesses everything, he will not approach Me. But when humanity reaches true spirituality, it will possess everything and its pleasure and delight will be deep and true, as the Father delights and enjoys in everything he has created.

51. My charity contemplates you, O people of Israel! And judge your works. The divine judgment is already with all beings and no one escapes it.

52. I have wanted for my children only peace and well-being, and they have sought pain, purification, and it is that my law does not admit imperfections and therefore everyone who has been stained will have to wash, everyone who has gone off the path will have to return to it. You look from this nation at the whirlwind that shortens and destroys peoples in its path and you are not moved or appreciate the peace that you enjoy, nor do you recognize the privileges that I have granted you. And not conforming to my will, you consider your trials unjust and turn against Me. I am waiting for you to have passed through this world, so that you yourselves may judge your life. Then you will be implacable judges of your spirit and you will look in Me only to the Father who forgives, blesses and loves.

53. You have become tired because of your constant disobedience and the result of it makes you cry. You have slept for a long time and your awakening is going to be bitter. I have promised humanity to send an army consisting of 144,000 beings that will be scattered throughout the world, and he is waiting, because he knows that each of those soldiers is a spokesman, an interpreter of my commands.

54. After the Earth has been touched from one pole to another and every nation, institution and household has been judged to its root, and mankind has washed away every stain, you will go prepared in my name to carry my doctrine among your brothers.

55. I, the Father, have wept over this humanity to see her climb the greatest heights of iniquity, my words unheard, my laws sullied, but the hour of her reflection is already approaching and on that day I will pour into her everything that I have in store for her, because she is my dearly beloved daughter.

56. Those who believe in Me will see Me sooner than those who doubt. How many times have I called to your heart and you have not heard, nor have you felt my presence. I only come to tell you to reform and to enter clean in this time of light and grace. And when you possess my seed, sow and make the arid lands fertile, making your prayer fruitful irrigation.

Love one another!

57. Love each other and live in peace in your home, because I have contemplated that of five who form a family, two are against three and three against two.

58. When you are separated from the beings who were flesh of your flesh and then meet in spirit, do not forget them, communicate with them through your prayer and help them to work and raise their spirit. Think how short your life on Earth is, therefore, take advantage of your faculties and powers by doing great works that redeem and save you.

59. I give you the bread of the spirit, you seek the material bread, but just as you diligently seek your tranquility and bodily well-being, seek spiritual progress. Your cross is not heavy, if I taught you to climb the slope of Calvary carrying the cross of labors, sufferings and sins of all humanity, why can't you climb, to whom I have entrusted a small portion? But if ye falter under his weight, ye have me as a Cyrineus, and I will not let you fall.

60. That pain from which you flee so much is an inexhaustible source of purification and renewal for the spirit; you yourself have experienced many times that after a trial you feel relieved, clean and at peace with your conscience.

61. This word will lift up the spirit of the inhabitants of those nations who are tired of suffering today, but I tell you that soon, very soon, they will find me with open arms as I was on the cross, waiting for them to lovingly shake them and take them to my mansion of peace.

MY PEACE BE WITH YOU!

Love one another!

Teaching 43

1. Why, when I appear before you as Jehovah, do you feel fear in your heart? If I am your Father, I am love, I am the one who gives you daily bread, I am the one who guides your spirit and helps it to rise from its falls.
2. I come to give you strength in these moments of trial, when the elements of Creation tremble with the din of war. Do not be afraid, make sure that your elevation and fervor are enlivened and bring you closer and closer to the pain of your brothers, those who are burdened by fratricidal wars so that you share their cup of bitterness, that the prayer that you silently raise is like a call to peace, union and goodwill of humanity.
3. Your children will be called to take up arms, let them depart, they will not perish; from today I make them bearers of my grace and they will sow the light of my doctrine among their brothers.
4. I want you, despite all the evils that the war has caused, not to see the inhabitants of these villages as enemies, so that tomorrow you can see them as brothers.
5. Today humanity has united to unleash war, peoples have been launched against peoples erasing borders and mixing languages. It has not been the love of one another that has achieved unification, it has been the hatred that provokes the fratricidal war. But I who am power will show you that by using your mistakes I can unite you, because at the end of this contest, hearts will be cleansed by pain; in minds light will be made and men will be one step away from reaching peace.
6. Blessed are those who have fought and worked for peace. Blessed are those who, believing in my voice, have risen up on the roads sowing my light and my truth.
7. My Spirit is moved by the pain of humanity, its cry is heard in heaven and truly I tell you, My pain of a Father become a dew of grace and descend on my children.
8. Hurry with patience and meekness that cup of bitterness, because your weeping will turn into rejoicing.
9. If at this moment the Father were to ask you if you have fulfilled your mission on Earth, if you carry in your hand the golden spike of your work, if you have loved one another and if you have known how to forgive, you would have to tell me that none of that; you have fulfilled. Do you think, then, that by your own merits you have made yourselves worthy to hear my word? No, your spirit tells me.
10. People, the ages have passed and you are still lethargic; wake up and see that you have not properly taken advantage of the life that you have enjoyed on this Earth.

Love one another!

11. My voice has come to awaken you with love, with sweetness, but do not take this word as a lullaby to give yourself more to sleep, because in the sense of it the Judge who judges each of your acts is present.

12. Do not be of those who wait for my justice to touch them in order to believe and awaken.

13. Do not yet say that you truly love me; wait, for when this happens it will not be your lips that proclaim it, it will be your deeds. Do not show off your cleanliness and at the same time try to hide your stains, because by doing so you will imitate the hypocritical Pharisees.

14. See that I still come as a Teacher and as a Father, because if I came only as a Judge, there would be no place where you could hide because wherever you went my justice will be present.

15. When you come before my presence, you will have to answer for the word that you heard, which you will see written on your conscience.

16. Do you not feel how the tireless spirit of Elijah illuminates your path, removing stumbles from it and helps you with the staff of his charity when you feel tired? Seek him, call him in your prayer and you will feel his presence very close, because he is the shepherd of the spirits in this Third Time, who will guide you to the very gates of the promised land that is the heavenly pasture.

17. May your spirit be filled with joy knowing that in three times you have heard the voice of my Divinity, because once again you will be my witnesses. Therefore I prepare you and bless your lips, so that tomorrow words of life may flow from them for the multitudes that are about to arrive.

18. Your faith has been ignited and encouraged with the wonders that I have granted you and that you judged as impossible. Because I am the way, the good path that I have always come to point out to you. When you go for it, you suffer dangers, temptations lurking; to help you, I have given you the light of conscience as a beacon that guides and orients you, in addition to having granted you a spiritual being as a guardian and protector for all your life. Do you think that if you take advantage of this grace properly, you could get lost on the way? Will there be any of my children who, when they hear this word, do not feel joy in their spirit? Verily I tell you, I do rejoice when I hear your spiritual voice, when you rise up in prayer.

19. Awaken your spiritual sensitivity, so that you may enjoy the splendor of my manifestation, which goes unnoticed by your spirit, for lack of elevation. Rejoice before the vision of the afterlife, as sometimes you marvel at the contemplation of Nature, admiring its harmony, its beauty and perfection; discovering that one being could not live without the other, but that all live because they are united by the law of harmony. So is the afterlife too. I have told you that as long as there are spirits that are outside the path of evolution: there will be no peace or perfect harmony, because it is as if in the cosmos some stars go out of their orbits. What would happen to the others? Wouldn't the whole lose its balance?

Love one another!

20. If humanity complied with the precepts of my law and harmonized its material nature with the spiritual, its existence would be more placid, the path would be smooth and the work would be light. She would not be struck by diseases and would not grow old prematurely.

21. Before the creation of matter, it was already the spirits. Innocents sprang from Me, but so that they would know from whom they were born, what their destiny was and who they themselves were, I made them hear my voice saying to them: behold your God; I am your Father, I am the Spirit of love, but if you have sprung from Me, you will have to develop and understand this essence. Live, walk, know and persevere in the good, may this voice that you have heard be eternally light on your spirit, it is your conscience, which will make you return to Me, no longer as newborn children, but as beings developed in virtue, in experience and in all the powers that I have given you. Then you will love me, you will truly know me and you will be in harmony with everything that exists.

22. There are beings who have never dwelt on Earth, but if those who have erred and carried much pain in this world judge that it is unfair, that some come to inhabit, the valley of tears while others, close to the Father have never known pain, I tell you, that even though some have not come to Earth, in the hereafter they have helped with their love to the restitution of their brothers.

23. Today the beings who inhabit the different valleys live spiritually distanced, but I have not put distances between the love of the brothers. If only you knew how close you were to each other! It was man who, with his materialism, broke the ties that united all his brothers and the more humanity has descended, the greater has been its division and disharmony. Not only has he distanced himself from the spiritual, even in his own world he has divided himself into kingdoms, into peoples and nations, closing himself more and more in egoism.

24. Thus, the light of your faith has been extinguished and the intuition of eternal life has been disturbed.

Love one another!

25. Today, when a loved one bids you farewell to go to a distant region, you bid him farewell with tears, because you know that if he leaves as a child, perhaps he will become a teenager, and if he is young, he will become an old man; but you always cherish the hope of seeing him return to hug him again, because you know that although distant, they are in the world. But when these beings depart to the afterlife and you see that their inert and cold body remains under the earth, then your heart feels torn because you have lost the hope of seeing it again, forgetting that the spirit survives matter and which you will again embrace when both in their elevation meet again on the path of their evolution.

26. It was necessary for God to humanize himself in Jesus and dwell among humanity, so that you would remember forgotten teachings, he taught you new lessons and announced that He would make new revelations to you in due time.

27. It was necessary that Christ, the Divine Teacher, came to teach you the truth, because humanity was already losing its seed of spirituality, seeking in this life its glory, its eternity, its happiness, forgotten of that existence that inexorably awaited it.

28. Those who did not enjoy satisfactions and riches in this life, those who only shed tears, cursed her and called her unjust; these in their confused meditations have called her fate ungrateful and wrong. But Christ came again to bring you the light. He restored the spirit to the dead, when he was already living in another world; he freed the possessed, and with all these manifestations he gave proof to the world that spiritual life exists and that it is the true life. Even the Lord, after his crucifixion, showed himself in Spirit before believers and unbelievers as a proof of the truth that His word preached.

29. Why do you forget and leave for dead those who left your world, if they feel, fight and live? That is why I tell you that they are the living and you are the dead. Soon you will mourn your lack of faith as in the Second Time, when after Jesus died you said: it was Christ whom we put to death, it was the messenger of Jehovah who came to redeem us from our sins, it was the true life that raised the dead and rose to Heaven on the third day.

30. Now that I have returned to you in Spirit, you contemplate me shrouded in mystery when I come to show myself in all simplicity, and in order to be believed I had to materialize my manifestation and grant you what you ask; then the people have believed, because they have contemplated me, some with a spiritual gaze, others through faith, others in the light of their conscience.

31. My light illuminates you at this time so that you may listen to the voice that calls you from eternity.

Love one another!

32. The ties that bind you to your Father and the spiritual world and that you had broken, I come to tie them again so that you feel that you all live in harmony, that distances do not exist. But when will men bind their lives with bonds of love? When you have returned to the path of my law where justice exists. When they fulfill my precept that says to you, "Love one another."

33. See, disciples, how those who have left this world are not dead. Blessed are those who say goodbye to the body that they deposit on earth and do not visit him again to tell him about their troubles, because that one has already ceased to be and does not listen.

34. His body when he dies is like the flower when it is cut that then withers, but his perfume is like the spirit that comes off and floods the environment with essence.

35. At that time I said to you, "Let the dead bury their dead." Today I say to you, raise up one another.

36. Tell them that while the body rots on earth, in the hereafter the spirit is purified. Death is rest for the flesh and deliverance for the spirit, but no one tries to get rid of his own free will, that is, outside the hour marked by Me. Not because at the last moment you have a confessor by your bedside to help you spiritually, do you believe that you are safe, nor because of your repentance at that hour do you believe that you have reached Me, believing that you have reached the end of your evolution. Learn to love, forgive and bless in your life and work with your works of love and charity towards your brothers, the purification of your spirit.

37. Fulfill my law on earth as men of good will and peace will come to your heart. When your spirit detaches itself from this world and penetrates the spiritual one, it will open its eyes to be ecstatic in the contemplation of that life that is the return of all spirits to redeem them and to draw them closer in its love and in its light.

38. But to achieve redemption you must rise up with the purpose of fulfilling your mission. I bring you spiritual riches of incalculable value, because you are the heirs of my grace. If you take up your cross with love and walk patiently, on the last day you will be with me and you will penetrate into true life, where you will find the comfort and peace that you have sought so much.

39. I have taken the humble as servants at this time, to prove to you that this word that you hear, does not come from a theosophist or a scientist, because you are unbelievers by nature; therefore before you I have chosen your brothers, fathers or sons, to make them my spokespersons possessing my inspiration; but I tell you, it is necessary that you study my word in its essence, because the day will come when men and women will arise who, taking my name, speak words of apparent light to you and then you should not be surprised by them.

Love one another!

40. Watch and pray, I am the gaze that searches and knows the sufferings that are in every heart.

41. You are oppressed and afraid, because religions point out to you and censor your actions. Do not be afraid, wipe away your tears, take comfort.

42. Blessed are those who in sorrow seek in silence communication with me, for I comfort them. They are not abandoned by Me, rather, I have sought them, to give them a divine grace. Elijah leads you in the Third Time, and as you penetrate the path you will feel closer to Me.

43. Listen to my parable of this day.

PARABLE

44. "There was an old man on a road, of humble and venerable appearance, who did not carry a staff or a saddlebag. On his way he found three young walkers, who carried joy in their hearts and their throats sang sweet songs. The old man went up to the first of them and said to him: Hiker, I am hungry, I am thirsty and I am naked, give me of what you have in your saddlebag and give me a tatter of your clothes. The young man looked in his saddlebag and found no bread or water, and he did not want to put off his clothes. Go to my brother he said, he will be able to give you what you need I have nothing to offer you.

45. He approached, the old man to the second and in the same way asks him, he looks in his saddlebag and in it there is no food, no water to quench his thirst. Go to the third one he says, he will give you what I have not been able to give you. The third before the same plea, search and his answer is the same, I have nothing to give you. Then the old man feels distressed, thirst and hunger have overwhelmed him, but when he sees that the saddlebags of the young people are empty, he tells them: How are you going to continue along that path that I have passed without knowing what awaits you? The road is long and strewn with thorns and thistles; the lands are arid, there are no trees to shade, there are no fruits, the sun is hot and there are no rivers, no springs that give freshness to the pilgrim.

46. The walkers listened to the old man and said: It doesn't matter, we will move on, we are young, and strong, we feel full of energy and able to receive the vicissitudes of life. With an ironic smile they were going to abandon the old man, but he says to them: Wait, I advise you to look for something to eat first, gather in your saddlebag what you need for the trip, so that you can go that way without perishing. After listening to the old man, they replied: If you are tired, naked or hungry, it is because you are old, work has tired you, you have seen many auroras appear and the snows have whitened your head, that is why you are despondent. We are young and we are not afraid of life.

Love one another!

47. Then the old man answered them: I too was young and strong, I also sang on the roads, I had energies in my body and time taught me and gave experience. I am going to show you what you have to travel; and taking them to the top of a mountain, he showed them the world. From there they saw how gales were unleashed to the right and left whipping the nations causing destruction in them, the waters of the sea invaded the lands and men perished under the force of the unleashed elements. The young men said to the old man: What have we to do with these events? And the old man answered them, What you see now and it surprises you, you will have to live it when you cross those roads, but those doubted. Again he said to them, "Look! And he showed them to the east; there they beheld the nations bickering in the midst of a cruel war. They saw mothers and children crying, these leaving their lives on the battlefield, crying out to their own in the last hour. They saw the women in mourning, mourning the loss of the husband or the child. They contemplated the hungry and naked children, then before their eyes, a white spirit spread his mantle like snow on the devastated land and a heartbreaking lament came out of it and where that spirit appeared, the lives of men were mowed like grass in the fields when it is time to gather the harvest. And the young men said, What does all this mean? "I show you the times to come," the old man replied, "times that you will live."

48. Finally the old man stopped them to look, and they saw the elements unleashed, the fire consuming forests and cities, the plague like a cloud covering men, the volcanoes throwing fire and burying regions under their ashes. He showed them the sea in which great catastrophes were unfolding; while some seas dried up, others changed places. Finally they saw four angels appear in the firmament with trumpets, announcing the consummation of the times.

49. The young men were overcome with terror; then the old man said to him, Behold, I have shown you the events that are to take place and through which you will have to go.

50. Those young people with their faces changed, cried out to nature and she did not hear them, and at the moment when their heart full of anguish cried without consolation, the voice of the old man full of paternal sweetness said to them: Do not despair, prostrate your knee and pray to the Almighty. In the silence he stretched out his hand and all was silence, calm and peace. The vision disappeared. They saw the light of a new day and realizing that the old man had prophesied these events, they fell prostrate saying: Let us pray, so that the Father who is Almighty, will prepare our way and we will go with his light to the end of our life."

51. People, analyze and open your eyes to the light. You are the three walkers that through the ages I have called and doctinated so that you may be filled with my wisdom and ignite your faith, prepare for the path of life and reach the end, penetrating into the spiritual life, where you will find my peace.

52. In the past times you were not convinced by my word and when the Master was absent, your spirit did not find peace. I have said to you, Blessed are those who believe. Blessed are the people of faith, for they will have eternal life.

53. To you who are prepared for this time, I say: I am hungry and thirsty for your love. My children, you have not been able to communicate with your God for lack of spirituality. You have rejected the virtues that I have poured out on you and you have lost your treasure.

54. Now I say to you, Take the teaching that I have come to give you in the sixth stage. Do not look in the books of the world for light for your spirit, because you will not find it, do not look in them for answers to your questions or solutions to your problems. Pray, communicate with me, that I will attend to your requests.

55. Before you present your tribulation to me, the Divine Mother intercedes for you and blesses you and in turn asks for your intercession and your prayer for those who suffer. She begs humanity to cease in its ambition and in its wars, to shed no more innocent blood. His loving Spirit protects you and humbly waits for my will to be done.

56. You also bless and venerate her, knowing that she is inseparably your companion in the days of peace and in those of trial.

57. My blood was shed so that peace and justice might reign among men, but I have not been well understood; if you had taken advantage of that lesson you would have reached a greater degree of evolution and the light that I have shed in the course of time, would fully illuminate your spirit.

58. You have not imitated me, I have taught you humility and you are proud. I gave you the secret of peace and health and you live in war and you get sick. I taught you to comfort those who suffer and you do not feel the pain of your brothers, you are hard of heart.

59. Humanity, how much you have denied my existence and your gifts. Truly I tell you, you are not treading on solid rock but on quicksand, and that path will not lead you to the end for which you were created.

Love one another!

60. Read and learn in the great Book of True Life that I have granted you and if you fulfill its teaching, count on that you will come to Me by that way, but think that if you do not do so, you will move away from Me and your restitution will be very great.

61. Men and women who wander without comfort, why don't you strengthen yourselves in Me? Do not call me an unjust Father if you weep and suffer in your exile, I announced to you before coming to Earth, that this dwelling is a valley of tears, that it is not a valley of peace and reward. The earth is not your eternal abode. "Blessed are those who mourn, for they will be comforted."

MY PEACE BE WITH YOU!

Teaching 44

1. With love I receive the prodigal son who was absent for a long time and who today comes in search of peace and comfort for his heart. Some of my children come to Me in search of their inheritance, others are still very distant, but in all, the spirit is attentive waiting for my voice to say: Here I am.
2. They have not forgotten my words of the Second Time and although their matter is fragile, the spirit is strong, believe and trust in my promise to return as a Consoling Spirit.
3. You who listen to me today, remember the darkness that you have crossed, the path of vicissitudes that you have crossed to reach Me. You are on the bank of a river, under the shade of a tree, hearing this voice that you have been waiting for for a long time, but with all the light that you possess, you have not yet reached the summit of the mountain nor are you at the peak of perfection; you have arrived only before your Teacher who comes in Spirit and by listening to me you became infants and then disciples of my new teaching. By learning from Me, you will become strong and even if you are poor on earth, you will possess the wealth of the spirit.
4. The fame of my word will soon cross the borders of your nation, men of science and those who study the sacred scriptures will rise up denying my manifestation, but I will give signs and do wonders through my chosen ones and with it I will move humanity. There are scattered in all nations men of high spirit, prophets of my Trinitarian Marian Spiritualist doctrine, to whom I have given a sword of light to combat all false theory and doctrine, so that only those based on love and truth will last.
5. At all times I have sent virtuous spirits to the Earth to teach you and with their works to give you an example of how you should Live to reach Me: Counselors, ministers of my law, legislators, guides; they have pointed out to you your duties, they have told you that your mission is not reduced only to the love of your family, but beyond those limits you must love and help your brothers. You have also been taught that after these trials in life, the spiritual life awaits you, where you will reap the fruits of your sowing on earth.
6. I have prepared spirits and made them incarnate, having endowed them with wisdom and power, and when their body has developed and they have found themselves in full use of their faculties, the spirit has manifested itself strong and great; these are the men of science, the pastors, the rulers, but there are few who have fulfilled their mission, those who have developed their gifts and have worked with firm faith. The most have become puffed up or have misused their gifts, and have not fed the spirit of men, and have not been able to guide, or soothe the pain of their brothers.

Love one another!

7. That is why at this time, as I contemplate my flock lost without a guide on Earth, I have come as the good Shepherd to give you my clean and pure doctrine, and I have given you the precepts of my teaching so that you may live in peace and comply with my law, climbing the path of your spiritual evolution following the example I gave you with my works of love.

8. Where are the successors of my humble apostles sacrificed for the wickedness of men? What are the benefits that science has done to humanity? There are many who claim to be wise and do not love or teach love. Wisdom means light, and light is love and understanding of divine and human laws.

9. In the Second Time I became a man for the love of humanity, that flesh was the work of my Spirit, and how much men of science have commented on this mystery that belongs to my intimate judgments. Truly I tell you, divine works cannot be judged through human science.

10. The Spirit that animated Jesus was my own, your God who became man to dwell among you and let himself be looked at, because it was necessary. As a man, I felt all human sufferings; the men of science who had studied nature came to Me and found that they knew nothing about my teaching. Great and small, virtuous and sinners, innocent and guilty, they received the essence of my word and I made them all worthy of my presence, and since many were called, few were the chosen and even fewer were those who were close to Me.

11. I defended sinners. Don't you remember the adulterous woman? When she was brought to Me, persecuted and condemned by the mobs, the Pharisees came and asked me what should we do with her? The priests expected Me to say: do justice. To reply later: How is it that you preach love and allow this sinner to be punished? And if I had said, Let her go free, they would have answered, In the laws of Moses, which you say you are confirming, there is a precept that says, "Every woman who is found in adultery shall be stoned to death." I, contemplating the intention of those, did not answer their words and, bowing down, wrote in the dust of the earth the sins of those who judged. Again they asked me what they should do with that woman and I answered them, "He who is free from sin, let him throw the first stone." Then they, recognizing their mistakes, walked away covering their faces. No one was clean, and feeling looked upon by Me to the bottom of their heart, they no longer accused that woman, because they had all sinned, but the woman in the company of others who had also committed adultery, repented and did not sin again. I tell you, it is easier to convert a sinner by love than by rigor.

12. My teaching was written on the conscience and it cannot be erased, because its essence is immortal like the spirit you possess.

Love one another!

13. You who hear me now, learn and teach those who live in other nations; remind them of my words of the Second Time, while my message of this Third Time reaches them.

14. I want you to make my word reach other lands before their inhabitants rise up talking about my new manifestation and that when you meet, you will not be unaware of each other, but that you bear witness and they confirm my words and deeds fulfilling my precept that says "Love one another".

15. I have drawn you before my lessons, to teach you and set you free from sin. If your faults are great, greater is my forgiveness. On this path of trials and vicissitudes, live, experience, know my law, and when you let yourselves be guided by conscience, you will not infringe my law or the laws of the world, and when you lack, you will know how to repent purifying your lack, and when you reach the end of the day, there will be no pain or remorse, you will be at peace.

16. In this Third Time the Master's book is opened again before the disciples, to teach them the lessons of True Life. While your matter submits to silence and recollection, your spirit rises to delight in my word, reaches my table to be fed with the only bread that gives it life.

17. For everyone who knows how to rise in these moments, the matter by which my word is transmitted disappears and he receives it directly in his spirit from the divine spring. You recognize that from the moment you first listened to me, a light shines in your understanding, it is the light of my wisdom that begins to illuminate your path, although I tell you that those who hear me and do not analyze my teaching, are still walking in darkness, the light of their spirit is still extinguished.

18. My will is to mark twelve thousand sons of each tribe, but truly I tell you, not only those marked will possess my light, anyone who follows my teaching will be called a son of light.

19. Do not proclaim that you are my disciples, prove it with works of charity. There are those who claim to be one of my chosen ones and I prove him by hiding in the heart of his own enemy, whom instead of forgiving, he has hit back, a blow that more than to the cheek of his brother, has reached my face. At that moment I spoke to him through his conscience and he who was proud of being my disciple, with a weak repentance said to me: forgive me, Master. Once believing himself clean and deserving of my forgiveness, he has resumed his path. Then I saw coming to him a maiden whose heart and youth are like fragrant rose. She says to him: I come to you full of confidence in your virtue, to ask you for advice that will be in my life as a shield against stalking; but he, forgetting his mission and my teachings, allows himself to be dominated by low instincts and with impure intention contemplates the maiden, at that moment he presented me to the evil disciple saying to him: peradventure is this what I have taught you? He, surprised, answered me, Lord, there is nothing hidden from you. Ashamed he has continued his journey, while my voice relentlessly asks him every time he boasts of following my example: Are you my apostle? Then I have allowed hunger to surprise him and then I have hidden myself in the heart of a rich sick man, who despite having his coffers full of gold, has no health to enjoy it. This one, knowing that a disciple of mine is in his region, goes in search of him and says: "I know that you can restore me to health and that is why I have looked for you. I am rich, but all my wealth has not helped me to find a remedy for my evil." The apostle's heart is confused when he hears that confession and he says to the sick man: "I am going to lay my hand on your head and by pronouncing the name of my Lord I will restore you to health, but you will have to reward this grace amply". The rich man who is sick replies to him: "Take my clothes, my coffers, my house, take everything, but heal me." And the sick man was healed, because his faith and his pain were so great that the Master had mercy on him. The sick man, filled with joy, gave into the hands of the one whom he believed to have healed him, all that he possessed, while the evil apostle said to himself: now I am no longer poor, because if I have struggled and worked, it is right that I receive my reward. But behold, at that instant my implacable voice vibrated in his conscience, telling him again: By chance is this my teaching? Do you remember that Jesus, when He was in the world, received payment in exchange for his love, He, who was able to put on crowns and possess all the treasures, when just by touching he healed and by calling He raised the dead?

Love one another!

20. A struggle broke out in the heart of that disciple, saying to his Master, Why are you so inflexible with your disciples? Why don't you let us own something in this world? And the Master answered him in a sweet voice: because at the time of choosing you promised to renounce human vanities in exchange for a true treasure.

21. Still the disciple replies: the road is hard, the journey is very long, we work a lot and we gather no harvest on Earth; do you want us to love humanity very much, when she does not love us? And the Master, hearing him blaspheme like that, said to him: It's okay, little one, walk under your will, achieve what you aspire to. And that man claiming to be my servant, proclaiming to be my apostle and ignoring the voice of conscience, has risen up on the roads finding in them a multitude of sick people whom he has called to tell them that he is the possessor of the balm that heals all ills, but he also says to them: I am in need, what can you offer me in exchange for what I grant you? Those who are poor tell him that they have nothing but that they are willing to work overcoming their ailments, to get what is necessary to pay him. This treatment seems good to that man, who begins to anoint the sick, at the same time that he collects from his hands the payment, each time in greater quantity. He anointed the sick, but they did not heal, on the contrary they became worse, he tried to lift their spirits, but they declined more and more. Then the apostle, seeing that the crowds had lost their trust in him, stealthily disappeared from among them, taking with him a stream of metals and leaving them in agony.

22. Far from those, he went to the mansion of a rich man, to whom he said: Lord, I can serve you, I know how to work, I want you to occupy me in your royal mansion, I can console you when you are sad, I can manage your interests when you feel tired. Who are you? The rich man asked him, to which the apostle replied: I am the possessor of a law, of a doctrine, to such a powerful and persuasive degree, that if your subjects ever rebel before you, it will be enough for me to speak to them to reduce them to obedience.

23. That rich man was impressed by those words, believed in that man and said to him: your words reveal greatness and if you fulfill them as you say, I will always have them as a truth. Then the rich man gave the man a place and the keys to his palace. This with flattery, conquered the heart of his master, but since he had rejected his Master from his heart and did not listen to the voice of his conscience, he soon made the life of that mansion change, humiliated the little ones, exalted those who flattered him, made the best servants of the house move away, behind the owner's back, squandered his wealth on feasts, but the day came when the Lord of that mansion opened his eyes to reality, and convinced of the falsehood of the one in whom he had placed all his trust. to hear him utter words of great power and wisdom, he called to him and said indignantly, "Is this the teaching you are sowing?" Is this how you demonstrate that power that you claim to have? And instantly made him drive to a dungeon to later sentence him to the gallows. There, in prison, he did not conceive that a disciple of the Divine Master could reach captivity and even less that he was sentenced to die; he could not believe that these tests were the warning voice that called him to repentance to get back on the road, so he raised a plea to the rich master whom he had betrayed by promising not to talk or surprise anyone again, and the convinced rich man let him leave.

24. Already free that man, he felt the desire to know new paths and finding them penetrated into them, again ignored the call of his conscience, and as never, he gave himself up to pleasures where his lips were poisoned, his body became ill and his heart fell into the deepest boredom. From step to step he had been descending until he fell lethargically at the bottom of an abyss. He did not know how long he stayed there, but when he woke up he asked: Where am I? Where is my inheritance? I speak to my Father and He does not answer me, I am sick and despondent and He does not come to me, I ask Him for a word of comfort, of encouragement and He does not come to my heart. Where will be that teaching and that balm that He gave me and with which I could get rid of so much bitterness? I want to close my sores and they bleed more. I want to give my heart peace and he gets restless the most. Who am I? Is what the Father gave me a lie? And she cried heartbreakingly.

25. Men of all conditions passed by his side and saw him with indifference, no one listened to him, no one contemplated him or stopped, no one felt his pain. Then it seemed to him that deep darkness enveloped him, and when he thought he could not bear so much pain and felt that his spirit was about to part with his unclean body, he heard a sweet voice, known to him, saying: Here I am, I have descended to where you have fallen, to give you my help. That man, hearing the sweet voice of his Father full of forgiveness and tenderness, could not resist the weight of his regrets and said to his Lord: Do not approach me, do not go down into this abyss, do not penetrate into this den, because darkness and mud are here; do not leave your clothes on the thistles, leave me here, since I myself have condemned myself to this.

26. The son was crying and through his tears he contemplated how righteous his Father was. The Father did not contemplate the impurities of the son, nor the darkness that surrounded him or the mud in which he found himself, he only saw that it was his beloved son to whom he asked: Why have you come here? And the son answered him, Because I thought that you would not be so close to me, nor did I want to believe that the voice of my conscience was yours. Do not heal me, today I understand that I do not deserve health. Do not forgive me, I do not deserve your forgiveness. Let me suffer in this abyss, let me wash away my faults. Contemplating the Father that the son had finally understood the ingratitude of his mistakes, he did not let him suffer anymore and allowed the light to be made in that being, that that cry washed away the stains and then, on that burdened forehead, the Father posed an oscar (holy spear) of peace, lifted that weak and defeated body and hugged him with infinite love.

27. That heart, feeling the tenderness of his Father, prepared to follow him and love him forever; then he saw that the light that the Lord had put on his forehead shone again, because the gifts that God grants, he never takes away from his children, what his grace does withhold from them, are their faults to my law. Thus that spirit rose to begin the path again, but carrying greater light, that of his painful experience. The voice of conscience was clearly heard by him.

28. Who of those who, having been receiving my lessons day by day, will want to walk the paths of suffering? Recognize that you have already walked those paths, your spirit has already passed through great trials, thanks to which today you can follow me firmly.

29. I have sent you to multiply your seed and for this I have pointed out to you with my light on your forehead, so that when you are ready, you will spread out on the roads where the crowds are waiting for you, the doors of homes will open to welcome you and hearts will receive you with joy.

Love one another!

30. The sick will be there waiting for their health.

31. I, the Divine Savior, will reach everyone through my faithful disciples, but not as in the Second Time, today I will arrive among humanity, hidden in the hearts of my messengers, speaking through their mouth and pouring out my inspiration in their understandings. In this way I will reach the sick, the needy and those who thirst for peace of spirit and body through the works of love and charity of my disciples.

32. Blessed are the nations that do not close their ways and open their doors to my messengers, for verily I say to you, that nation will be saved.

33. During this struggle, some will be called and chosen before others, but that time will come for all and they will have their fulfillment among humanity, some will start and finish their task sooner, others will take longer to arrive, but at last when you touch the boundaries of perfection, there will be no big or small, you will all be equal in the love of the Father and you will be part of his perfect family.

34. I have given everyone the same gifts in the beginning, but while some have been able to rise and become great through the development of their virtue, others have stagnated and others have gone astray.

35. I have distributed equally great gifts among all my children, so you should not judge that some have been given more than others, nor that one position is greater than another. In my wisdom and perfect justice, knowing the debt of each of my children, I have given them according to their needs.

36. I give you these explanations so that you may be satisfied, because of your destiny, of your past and of your restitution, you know nothing.

37. If you consider my children for whom I am communicating very gracious and you have even come to desire their gift, I tell you, that in truth it is a very great grace, just as it is also the spiritual debt, which they have with the Father and their responsibility has no limits.

38. Let everyone take up his cross with love, but do not seek pleasures, honors or rewards, for you will only reap pain.

39. Remember that I healed you with my love, that I cleaned your stains and closed your wounds. Remember that I removed the bitterness from your lips, I took off the dirty and torn garment that you brought, to change it for another white as snowflakes; you were the outcast and you have ceased to be serious; you arrived without inheritance and today you know that you possess a gift. Do not provoke pain anymore, do not become outcasts again, do not return among sinners or consider yourselves untouchable because of the fact of bearing my divine mark, but prepare yourselves, so that when you are touched you will know how to forgive.

Love one another!

40. How many times have you promised me to forgive your brothers, whatever the offense they did to you, you have asked me for strength to be able to fulfill and I have given them to you; but how few times have you fulfilled your promises.

41. I divide those who have tried to practice forgiveness into three groups: the first is formed by those who, having received an offense not knowing how to contain themselves and forgetting my teaching, have obfuscated and have taken revenge by returning blow for blow. This group is the one overcome by temptation, the slave of their passions.

42. The second group is made up of those who, once they have been offended, remembering my example, silence their lips and contain their impulses to then tell me: Lord, they have offended me, but before taking revenge I have forgiven. But I who penetrate into the hearts have discovered in him the desire that I avenge him by discharging my justice on his brother; this group is in full struggle.

43. The third group, the smallest, is those who, imitating Jesus when they have been offended, rise up to the Father full of pity for their brothers, to say to me: Lord, forgive them, because they do not know what they are doing: they have hurt me, but it is not me, but they have hurt themselves, that is why I ask for your charity and that you grant me to return only the good to them. This is the one who has won.

44. Your conscience, which asks and expects perfect works from you, will be the one that will not leave you alone until you know how to practice true forgiveness with your brothers.

45. Why should you hate those who offend you, if they are only stepping stones for you to reach Me? If you forgive, you will make merits and when you are in the kingdom of heaven, you will see on earth those who helped you in your elevation; then you will ask the Father that they also find the means to save themselves and reach their Lord, and your intercession will make them achieve that grace.

46. Neither do you try to discover the hidden feelings of your fellow beings, because in every being there is an arcanum that only I must know; but if you discover what, because it belongs only to your brother, must be sacred to you, do not publish it, do not tear that veil, but make it more dense.

47. How many times have I seen men penetrate into the heart of their brother until they discover his moral or spiritual nakedness, in order to recreate themselves with it and then publish it; none of those who have thus desecrated the intimacy of a fellow man will be surprised that someone on his way undresses him and makes fun of him; do not then say that it is the rod of justice that measures him, because it will be the rod of injustice with which he measured his brothers.

Love one another!

48. Respect others, cover the naked with your mantle of charity and defend the weak from the murmurings of humanity.

49. Disciples, I do not forbid you to study in the books that teach you good, but if you do not find them, here is my teaching that in the midst of its simplicity and humility, contains more wisdom than all books, therefore, engrave it in the depths of your heart, analyze it and may it be the one that guides you in all your works.

50. Those who have come under the shade of this tree crying for the vicissitudes of life, have found the comfort and strength of my love.

51. Blessed is the one who listens with love to my word in the Third Time, because he will not be confused, at the moment of his death his spirit will rise to eternal life and will penetrate firmly on the path that awaits him beyond this life.

52. Blessed is the one who bears his sorrows with patience, because in his very meekness he will find strength to continue carrying his cross on the path of his evolution.

53. Blessed is he who humbly endures humiliation and knows how to forgive those who have offended him, for I will justify him; but woe to those who judge the acts of his brothers, for they in turn will be judged!

54. Blessed is he who, fulfilling the first precept of the law, loves me above all created things.

55. Blessed is he who will let Me judge his just or unjust cause.

56. My doctrine comes to regenerate you, to strengthen your spirit, so that once your lips are opened to repeat my teachings, they will close to blasphemy or cursing.

57. In this Age I have come to water again the seed that in the Second Time I deposited in your heart.

58. From the earliest times I have sought a way to make myself heard and understood by men, that is why I have sent righteous men and prophets into this world so that with their works and words they may be emissaries of my will and of my commands.

59. In the First time, because of Abraham's obedience to my command, I made a covenant of love with him, rewarding his constancy, his zeal and fidelity, blessing and multiplying his offspring. To prove his obedience and his faith, I asked him for the life of his son

Love one another!

Isaac, whom he loved so much, and with the submission of the great spirits, he was willing to sacrifice him; but I stopped him, because he had already demonstrated his obedience in his heart and it was enough for me.

60. Isaac was the father of Jacob, to whom it was given to contemplate the path of perfection of the spirit, symbolized in a scale that settled on Earth and was lost in infinity, through which spirits rose and fell in the form of angels.

61. These three patriarchs form the trunk of the people of Israel, from which twelve branches and an infinite number of leaves sprouted, but its fruit has not yet ripened.

62. The people of Israel received the law when on their pilgrimage they were at the foot of Mount Sinai; their guide, Moses, received the tablets and inspiration. The crossing of the desert was to purify the hearts, to spiritualize them and ignite in them faith towards the invisible God. When the people arrived in the "promised land" and took possession of it, they carried the faith in their Lord, deeply engraved in their spirit and practiced a simple, but high worship, in which their heart had been strengthened; but behold, their children's children did not know how to persevere in faith and spirituality, and when other peoples of Gentiles introduced their idolatry and superstitions into the bosom of the people of Israel, they divided it spiritually and materially. It was then that the prophets appeared warning the multitudes announcing my righteousness to them for their infidelity and their sin, but the prophets were mocked and some were killed.

63. I tell you this, because in truth you spiritually are the seed of those first patriarchs and you are the sheep of Moses, but I also tell you that you are of the fruits that in this time will reach maturity and will give life and a good taste to humanity.

64. Christ at that time watered the tree of life with his blood and today he comes to give it a new watering with his divine word, so that the fruits of love and charity of all his children may ripen.

65. At this time I come to combat all fanaticism and idolatry of your hearts, because spirituality does not admit materiality; whoever practices my spiritual doctrine with fanaticism is not doing my will nor has he properly interpreted my teaching.

66. Why even at this time do men materialize the worship of my Divinity, when I, from the first Time, in the first commandment of my law, forbade that I be worshiped under forms and images made by the hands of men?

67. My word at this time, like a two-edged sword, will fight to tear out of the human heart all its errors, so that free of ignorance it rises to my Divinity and reaches spirit-to-Spirit communication.

Teaching 45

1. The light of my spirit descends among you. I come to give you the treasure of peace and to clothe you with the finery of humility. If humanity wants to tear your clothes to shreds, let it, let those shreds serve to cover its nakedness.
2. Among these multitudes are those who, without having seen me, believe me, love me and follow me, blessed are they, for they will be in the Promised Land.
3. On this day you commemorate the resurrection of your Master and truly I tell you, many of you will rise with the light of my word to the life of grace.
4. Only as a man was I born and I died, because as a God I had no beginning and I will have no end. Jesus was born from the purity of the Father's love for humanity, taking human form in the womb of a chaste maiden, previously chosen by the Creator.
5. The works and words of Jesus were the way that came to trace the path that will lead you to the kingdom of heaven. But Christ, through the body of Jesus, felt all the pains and anxieties of the world, knew the agony and wanted in Spirit to penetrate into the dens of darkness where spiritual beings were also waiting for him. But I tell you, the pain of Jesus in the supreme hour of his agony on the cross, was not understood by anyone. There was an instant when he felt alone between heaven and earth, whipped by the unleashed elements and abandoned by his disciples, it was then that he exclaimed: My God, my God! Why have you abandoned me? Men cast him from their bosom and his Spirit forsook him.
6. By virtue of my power, Jesus may have been insensitive to bodily pain, but I did not come as a man to deceive you. My pain was unique, my real Death and my blood, real blood.
7. While the Master's body was in the tomb, the Divine Spirit illuminated the dwellings where the righteous and sinners were waiting for him, so that his charity would lead them to a new era; because the blood of the Lamb not only traced the path of his spiritual evolution to the beings of this world, but also to those of the spiritual valley. When that mission of love was fulfilled in everyone, the body of Jesus merged with the Divine Spirit, in the same way that it took human form.
8. If the body of Jesus did not spring up from the earth, why should I pay tribute to him like all men? He had said to you, "My kingdom is not of this world."
9. When you hear my teaching, your spirit rises again, because he has eaten the bread of eternal life, which is my word. Strengthen yourselves with my doctrine, for the time is approaching when men, like hungry wolves, will throw themselves on you to judge you; and it is not my will that you leave your faith and your peace in the hands of your persecutors.

Love one another!

10. Take advantage of the time in which my manifestation in this form will still be with you, because if you do not light your lamp today, tomorrow you will sigh for this time of teaching and indulgences and you will cry wishing to hear my word again. Many of you will say: Master! What would I give to listen to one of your lectures again through those whom I judged so much as imperfect.

11. Truly take advantage of my teaching, now that I am giving it to you through these my children, whom I have chosen and prepared. From his lips I have caused words of wisdom and love to flow out. They have submissively turned away from the world and are hurrying a cup of bitterness for you, knowing that they are the Father's instrument for His communication with you.

12. If you come to these humble enclosures to listen to my word at this time, you can do it to raise your prayer from the place where you are, whether in the corner of your bedroom, or where you will work your daily bread, the same on the road, in the valley or on the riverbank, wherever I find myself listening to your pleas.

13. Learn to cleanse your heart and raise your spirit to Me, so that you may receive spiritual communion; do not forget that you carry me in the innermost depths of your being. Rise up to Me, so that when the last moment of 1950 comes, your spirit will not be filled with dread saying: Master, you have departed from us. Verily I say to you, whoever prepares himself, from that moment on he will communicate from spirit to Spirit with my Divinity.

14. If you had taken advantage of only one of the many teachings that I have given you, and his doctrine were the law that guided all the acts of your life, truly I tell you, it would no longer be necessary for Me to be among you, because in what you have heard to this day is all my doctrine.

15. I am going to give you my word once again so that your spirit may feel that it is at the banquet of eternal life. Rejoice like John my apostle, contemplating the revelations of the hereafter.

16. At this time all unbelief among you will disappear, because I will leave you as a lamp of faith lit among humanity.

17. Every time I present myself among you, while I give you my word, your pain departs, it is that your spirit feels my presence and is recreated with my love.

Love one another!

18. Not only do those who attend these precincts listen to me, but also great legions of spiritual beings witness this manifestation and receive my light. Among these multitudes are those who on earth were your fathers, your companions, your children. Everyone is moving up the ladder of evolution.

19. Your heart is filled with joy when you hear me speak like this and you feel that it is the very glory of the Father that in these moments opens up to pour out his grace on every creature of the Lord.

20. The light of my love that has come to illuminate the path of evolution of all my children has caused in some men of science, the confusion of their ideas, to find that the principle of creation is not as they had imagined it; but I will speak to them from the top of the mountain and the strength of my voice through the elements will shake the Earth and show them the truth.

21. People, if you wish to enter into communion with my Divinity, do not contemplate these spokesmen, through whom I communicate, as superior beings. Study and analyze my word and you will feel in my sanctuary delighting in the essence of my doctrine. Thus you will be strong to bear witness that this is the Third Time, and that in it I have manifested myself to men as the Holy Spirit.

22. Among humanity I am choosing my new disciples, saying to men: Be regenerated, and to women: Do not sin again. My forgiveness has cleansed all of you so that you can start a new life.

23. You, who have drunk bitterness a lot, now drink milk and honey in this cup of love that I have come to offer you.

24. Enjoy possessing this spiritual good. Do not grieve too much for the sustenance of the body, remember that I have told you: "Man does not live by bread alone, but by every word that comes from God".

25. I found you all lost and showed you the path saying to you: I am the Way, the Truth and the Life, follow me to the end.

26. I have not forced anyone to follow me and I do not threaten anyone for not doing so. Certainly there is the law of restitution that each one works for himself, so that his spirit evolves and reaches his purity, and his light, but the hell of eternal fire does not exist, as there is no divine punishment. Do not misinterpret what has been figuratively said to you in times past.

27. Today you are listening to me, each one recognizing his mission, while Elijah, as a tireless servant of the Lord, gathers the 144,000 new disciples, 12,000 children of each tribe of this people, so that they may receive on their foreheads the sign that marks them as Marian Trinitarian Spiritualists.

Love one another!

28. If on the path of life you feel tired, come to Me and rest by listening to this word, because I am still with you.

29. This word is the bread that I have come to bring to your lips, its essence is the crystalline water that helps you purify your spirit of all its stains.

30. You are afraid that the hurricane winds will snatch you from this path and you will become weak again before the passions of matter. You fear the murmurings of the people, their judgments, you fear the world that with its many temptations takes you away from Me.

31. Since you have not understood my word, you think that I demand that you abandon and renounce everything material, when I am teaching you that you must give to the spirit, what corresponds to him and to matter what belongs to it. While you are in the valley of tears, you will not reach perfection, but you must prepare yourselves in the love and charity that you pour out among your brothers, to reach the spiritual valley to reap the fruit of your sowing.

32. The arcanum that I am revealing to you is my own Spirit which is beyond the scale of Jacob; I am not on the scale, because I am perfect; in it there are only beings who walk in pursuit of perfection. Who can feel that my doctrine is to his spirit like a heavy burden? If you compare its weight with that of a cross, you will understand that now I am your Cyrene.

33. Who can get away from Me, if I find myself everywhere? There are those who try to get away from my presence to secretly sow the seed that I have entrusted to them and gather the harvest for them; but I give you the fertile lands; whoever tries to leave, will have to penetrate into the desert. When has it ever been seen that a seed germinates in the hot sands? There they will not attend the banquet that you enjoy with me, nor will they listen in their solitude to the trilling of the birds that have delighted you with their song.

34. He who has felt in his heart the desire to abandon the cross, it is because he has not sensed his mission or his destiny.

35. How many of you confess yourselves guilty and sinners before Me and are of those who love Me! How many proclaim that they love me and do not even have faith in Me, they believe when they receive benefits, but when a test comes to them they deny me!

36. This Third Time has been an invitation to your spirit, a call for you to have the grace to be one of those who take the divine fruit of the three times.

Love one another!

37. When humanity has found itself at the highest height of perversity, the light of my spirit has descended, converted into a word understandable to man to save him, showing them the way of his restitution, helping them to fulfill it and making them understand the reward that awaits them.

38. To you who hear me I say: do not carry unclean dust on your sandal, seek me, I am your salvation. I am the boat that saves you from shipwreck, that takes you away from the raging sea of sin to lead you to the land of Promise.

39. Why have you encountered pain on your way? Why have your plants been injured by the pebbles of the path? Why are you as thirsty as weary walkers? It is because yesterday you passed along that same path and you did not clear the way for those who were marching after you, not knowing that you would have to pass that way again; and if you never quenched the thirst of a thirsty person, how do you want someone to calm it for you?

40. Only I come to quench the thirst of your spirit for love and peace. My word is crystal clear water that pours out among you. Enjoy it by drinking it, invite your brothers and truly I tell you that you will come to see union and peace in the spirits.

41. If in the Second Time your eyes beheld me because I came as a man, today I come in Spirit. If your bodily eyes have not contemplated me, the sensitivity of your spirit has touched me, because I am manifesting my presence to you. Who of those who listen to me, has not felt me in the hasty beating of his heart? Who among you has not shuddered at my word, which is like a penetrating gaze that reaches your spirit with its light?

42. I come to speak to you as a Teacher, not as a judge. As a judge, do not seek me, because instead of judgments I want to pour out consolation and teachings among you.

43. I have opened your eyes so that you may realize that my law is being defiled on earth, but not so that you may judge whoever violates it. Know my law, that you may not stray from the way when men hide it from you, and that you may know how to guide him who walks in darkness.

44. You have not come to confuse anyone; truly I tell you, before that happened, it would be better for you not to talk about my work or for death to reap your life.

45. People, you do not know what I have in store for you. Do not think that what you have heard so far is all that I have to tell you; I am going to reveal great lessons to you. Very great gifts will develop in you.

46. My teaching comes to lend you its help so that you can achieve spirit-to-Spirit communication with your Father, because in that practice is your salvation. Open your heart, so that in it you may keep the treasure of my word, while the moment comes when you have to reveal it to your brothers, because this is the word that converts the sinner and heals the sick.

47. The imprint that I draw on you at this time is not of blood, it is of light. Come to Me, disciples and rest from your sorrows, mitigate with my word your hunger and thirst for love and peace so that when I leave you full of spiritual goods you will be like the virgins of my parable: watching waiting for the chaste bridegroom, with your lamps lit so that you know how to receive him when he knocks at your door.

48. Whoever keeps my word in his heart and has faith in it, will have peace and fortune in the ways of the world and will achieve his elevation on the path that leads to my kingdom.

49. With love I give you my word to give you true life and to teach you to do the same among humanity where there are so many dead to the faith. Whatever you do in my name, you will see accomplished in your brothers; but if, instead of blessing in your way, you blaspheme or judge your fellow men, truly I tell you, you will be sentencing yourselves, because with the rod that you measure, you will be measured.

50. If you have offended me, ask my forgiveness, if your brother offended you, forgive him, he may not know what he has done. On the other hand, if you are carrying so much light because of the teachings that you are receiving, you still offend, you will not be able to say that you are innocent. If you offended, you would be harder than the rock, because I am teaching you to be noble with your brothers.

51. Study my word so that death will not surprise you unprepared, nor will darkness hide from your spirit the path of its evolution. My teaching is the only book that contains truth from its first word to the last. I have opened that book again before you at this time, in order to resurrect you to eternal life and gather you in my fold of love, because I contemplate you lost like sheep without a shepherd.

52. Behold the voice of him who calls the spirits to deliver them from the toils of the world. Some of my children recognized the voice, others did not, because it was not remembered by their spirit obfuscated by the materialism of this time. But I, the Shepherd, having in the fold of my love that is my Kingdom, the ninety-nine sheep, I descended to the earth in search of the lost one.

53. How long did you feed on bitter fruits that made you forget the sweetness of the fruit of true life, and only until you heard my word, did you know again what the true sustenance of the spirit is.

Love one another!

54. Yesterday you were getting up looking in vain for the path of your spiritual elevation, burdened by the pain of your sins. Today I have gathered you together, I have multiplied you and I have made known to you your gifts, but truly I tell you, Before you fall into vanity by this grace and want to judge the sinner, or try to humiliate the one who has failed, remember and meditate on the teaching that I gave you in the Second Time, when the adulterous woman was presented to me; remember the parable of the publican and the Pharisee and that of the good Samaritan. The essence of those teachings is eternal. Today, tomorrow and always you will be able to apply them in your life. It is the parable that in the Second Time I gave you, sometimes on the banks of the river, sometimes in the desert or on the mountain, it was the divine message that in Christ I brought you before men took me to sentence me and crucify me in Jerusalem.

55. I wanted my word to live in your heart so that charity and love may flow from it and you may get up on the roads healing the sick without expecting reward, doing good out of love for your brothers and sisters.

56. Do not call yourselves spiritualists if in your heart you feel horror for the sick, or disgust if their body is wrapped in rags. You will not be my disciples as long as you turn away from sinners, fearing that your heart will be defiled.

57. This is my new word, which you will join to the one I gave you in times past. For different understandings I have come to give it to you at this time so that you have the confirmation that what has been said by one mouth, has been said by all.

58. Prepare yourselves, men and women, for among you are those for whom I will give you my word.

59. Behold, the bridegroom knocked at the doors of the virgins, and when they were waiting for him, they opened him, brought him in, and there was a feast in his house.

60. Some of you have sat down at the table of love to eat the bread of my word and drink the wine that is its divine essence. How many of you were also with me in the Second Half and listened to me. Others of you saw in the regions my apostles who were sowing the seed of faith in Christ in the hearts, giving proofs of truth to men, healing the sick, cleansing lepers and imparting comfort to the afflicted. But those who did not eat at that time will eat today, and those who were not in the world will be today.

61. I am going to choose my disciples again, remember that in the Second Time I washed and imprinted an oscar (holy spear) of love on the feet of the twelve apostles chosen for my charity, so that you understand that if the Lord did this, what should you not do with your brothers?

Love one another!

62. Full of humility I come to console you and to save you, so that when you rise up after your fulfillment to point the way to humanity, you will leave a trace of meekness on the way. Who has not washed his feet before embarking on the journey, what trace of purity can he leave?

63. Here is the Lamb who voluntarily sacrificed himself, so that his blood would fall on all his children, tracing the path of the spiritual evolution of humanity with his footprint.

64. Among you I behold those who will follow me, but also those who will weep and swear great oaths and then turn their backs on me. I am still among you; take advantage of the moments, because soon I will leave you and from infinity I will contemplate the fulfillment of those who received this inheritance. Everyone who cleanses his heart to give my word will be strong because of his purity, charity, love and humility, but he who magnifies himself and sells my work will be weak before temptations.

65. Your nation has opened its doors, through which the great multitudes of different nationalities have arrived, because I have told you that there will not be twelve chosen at this time, but twelve thousand from each of the twelve tribes; one hundred and forty-four thousand appointed to carry my word to humanity. Some are found in spirit, others in matter, those who dwell in the hereafter, and who did not know this teaching, I will reincarnate them to gather them all on Earth; these will be the ones who will carry the cross of sacrifice and drink the cup of bitterness, for love of their brothers.

66. Today you eat the bread and wine of glory in the essence of my teaching, while humanity continues to represent this lesson with the bread and wine of the earth.

67. Stay close to Me so that you protect each other and feel strong, because the wolves are stalking you and the Pharisees who hide among the mobs are the same as yesterday. They still can't recognize me, because their minds have been troubled. They are the hypocrites who hide their sins behind a false purity.

68. Watch and pray, because they will be the first to come to tell you that I am the false Christ; some will show you the prophecies of the First Time and others those of the Second, to try to prove to you that this was announced as false. They will tell you not to be surprised by these manifestations. Verily I say to you, beware of them and of those who have only taken my word and have no power to do works that convince by their truth.

69. Examine yourselves before your conscience and ask yourselves: Have the sick been healed? Have you felt the peace listening to me? Have you been inspired to do good and to love one another? Have you regenerated? Yes, your conscience has answered you.

Love one another!

70. Remember and live the past times. Here is the table where the delicacies that give eternal life are located. Again I tell you that my body and my blood today are represented by my own word. One crumb of this bread is enough to give eternal life to a spirit. The sick, tasting this bread, will achieve health, and whoever drinks this wine with an upliftment of spirit and respect in my doctrine, will eternally receive peace.

71. Whoever remembers my word at the supreme instant of human death, the gifts and graces that are in it, will be in that spirit, so that on his journey he may contemplate the light of my Holy Spirit.

72. The arcanum of the Father has been opened for the poor and humble. Whoever drinks of this wine will feel that his spirit is strengthened, whoever closes his lips not to drink it for fear of death, death will be in him and only my love will be able to resurrect him, and when it is my will I will come to him to say: Why did you not drink of my wine? Arise, I am the One who spoke by the mouth of men and the same one who today raises you to the life of grace. Who else has the power to raise the dead?

73. While I give you my teaching, I contemplate the heart of each one of those present, some give me their heart, which has fed on my word until they satisfy their hunger for love and comfort; others think about how to destroy this work because they do not believe in it and they are worried about the great crowds of fervent hearts that gather in these precincts to hear my word.

74. Eat of this bread, in him is eternal life. Drink the wine, its essence is the divine flavor that exists in my word.

75. Do not forget the works that I have done with you, so that you may also do them with your brothers. As I have loved you, love your fellow men. Sit the needy at your table and give them the best place at it.

76. In each of my words there is a book of revelations for you to deepen in your study, because the moment of my departure is approaching in which you will feel lonely. You will remain like sheep among wolves, but I will comfort you. Then your mission will begin and they will penetrate some in homes, others in counties and some more in other nations. You will be good farmers in my lands, tirelessly sowing my seed of peace and love. But it will not be necessary for you to carry a double saddlebag for the trip. I will watch over you. Do not be afraid of the inclement weather, nor of the elements, my presence is in everything created.

77. I will guide you to the houses where those who will share your faith live; they will receive you with joy and there you will make the call to others more, so that you may gather to pray and deliver my message to them. Those last ones will become first, and as new apostles they will rise up to sow as you taught them.

78. My lands are very extensive and the sowers are still very few, but it is my will that at the time when I still give you my teaching in this form, the 144,000 will be marked because they will be those through whom I will manifest myself to humanity at this time and everyone who testifies about Me, I will also give it of him, as well as everyone who betrays me, will have to appear before my justice,

79. Behold, you have all eaten of the Lamb; yet among you I behold those whom he will betray to me, not at this instant, nor tonight, but when, seduced by the temptations of the world, he will accept the shining coins in exchange for betraying his brothers. Since no one knows who he may be, you ask yourselves in your heart: Teacher, who will he be? I only say to you, watch and pray that you do not fall into temptation.

80. There will also be those who deny me at this time and it will be soon, this very night there will be those who deny where they have been and to whom they have listened. Let no one deny me for fear of the world, for its pain will be very great.

81. At that time, Jesus went to pray in the garden of olives, because his sacrifice was approaching. Today I come to tell you: Pray and remember that example so that you may find strength in the Lord, because truly I tell you, the cup that I drank that night was very bitter, but also the one that this humanity offers me again today, how bitter it is! In him are all the tears, blood and pain of men.

82. Thus I teach you, O beloved disciples!, to pray to wait for the great trials, but he will never weigh the sin of all men on one. Only Christ carried on his shoulders the sin of all mankind, from Adam to the last.

83. Those who mock these manifestations inwardly, are those who spit on my face, and those who are judging me, are those who whipped me in that Second Time. The sin and darkness of this humanity are the prison where I receive all the tortures.

84. Prepare yourselves, because the mobs of unbelievers and the legions of troubled spirits will persecute you and then I will tell them; leave my disciples, they are not guilty.

85. Watch and pray, live in peace and you will have my strength in your spirit, because you will be fed with the bread of eternal life.

86. The time has come for you to remember Christ, the Divine Teacher, in his last moments on the cross. Those hours of darkness in the world, in which my presence illuminated the spirits who were waiting for me.

Love one another!

87. Humanity has raised me up on a new Calvary in this Third Time, and from my cross I contemplate you, O multitudes. The light of my Spirit descends to men as at that time, my blood was shed drop by drop on humanity. My divine sufferings are like wounds that open before the ingratitude and sins of men, but today the water of grace will flow from them, so that the blind may see and the wicked may be redeemed. If you hurt the tree, it will issue sap. I am the True Tree of Life which gives you life when you try to destroy it.

88. Who will help me in this time with my cross? You, disciples. And whoever weeps for his sins and repents of them and regenerates, will be remembered by humanity as that sinful woman who watered my feet with her tears and dried them with her hair.

89. Blessed are those who feel in their hearts the pain of their Lord, their thirst for love, because in the hereafter, I will make them contemplate me in all my splendor.

90. If on Earth, the death that men gave to Jesus separated him from the arms of his sweet Mother, today in eternity mother and son are united by divine love. Because you must know that if Christ is the Word of God, Mary is the divine maternal tenderness, and from infinity, next to the cross that you have prepared for me again, She lovingly extends her mantle to cover you and directs her maternal gaze full of forgiveness to you.

91. Do not forget these manifestations, and when the year of 1950 has passed, gather to remember these teachings, then your eyes will be flooded with weeping, sadness and joy at the same time. Of sadness, because you will remember the time when you listened to my word, and of satisfaction, because at last you will have penetrated into the time of spirit-to-Spirit communication.

MY PEACE BE WITH YOU!

1. Blessed are you who came to hear the call of love that invited you to the spiritual banquet, to taste the delicacies of eternal life that I have brought you, in fulfillment of the promise that I made to your spirit through Jesus.
2. When I see that you are weakening on the path of your evolution, I come closer to fill you with strength saying to you: "Go step by step with the hope of reaching the Promised Land, until the end of the journey, there you will find the prize of your faith and perseverance, in that blessed and true peace that your spirit longs for so much".
3. Oh, people! In whom I have placed my pleasures, calling him Israel, son of light and disciple of the Holy Spirit. Do not look if your body is covered with rags or if your feet are naked, your spiritual dignity does not rest on the material. Analyze in the light of your conscience the works of your life, so that you may know if your spirit is clean from sin.
4. If you feel pain at the doubt and mockery of your brothers, accept it, do you know if you shouted at that time asking Pilate to crucify me? Peradventure do you know if you were not one of those who persecuted my apostles and made them drink the cup of bitterness?
5. Before this interrogation you remain silent and I say to you: forgive when you are offended, do not make my words two-edged weapons to hurt your brothers. At this time your evolved spirit must reach serenity, it must guide all your deeds, words and thoughts. Your spiritual age is no longer that of the child, and before my teaching you have ceased to be the infants to become the disciples. Do your works within my doctrine without altering or profaning it. Do not remove anyone from your company, even if you see spots or mistakes in one of your brothers, do not say that it is a weed. If anyone mixes imperfect ideas with my doctrine or misuses his gifts, correct him with love and conduct him with charity, only in the event that he obstinates in his bad inclinations and does not know you, leave him, pray for him and leave the cause to Me.
6. I am preparing you so that with my light you may bring the resurrection to those who are dead to the life of grace, so that your prayer may save them and your works may be a healthy example for your brothers and sisters. Think, my children, of what you will present to your Father when you meet in His presence.
7. It is the Spirit of Truth who speaks to you, you have recognized the tree by its fruit and this fountain by its limpid waters. That is why you come after this mark, but it is necessary that that love so great that you feel for Me, you cleanse it of all egoism, of all tares towards your fellow beings so that it may be pure and worthy of the Father.

Love one another!

8. Be humble even if you feel that the Creator has placed great gifts in your being. Behold, I have brought no one a crown to make him king.

9. Multitudes who gathered together listen to my voice, the day is already approaching when you will be orphans of this word, and that you will feel alone, although my spiritual presence is with you. Then a new stage will begin in which I will purify you of matter and spirit, in which I will purify the worship and practices of this people so that they may go to other regions and other nations to bring the good news of my word, testifying with their works, the lessons of love of my doctrine.

10. I have predicted that after the year of 1950, the multitudes that make up this people will already be trying to reach spirit-to-Spirit communication, because by then I will no longer give you my word through human understanding. What then will you make of my precepts and my maxims? What will be the example of spirituality, obedience and faith that you will offer to those who are about to enter your bosom? What will be the example and the seed that you leave to the generations to come?

11. See that this time is already near and that this will be the beginning of spiritual communication, the end of the reign of idolatry and religious fanaticism.

12. From distant lands caravans will come to this nation in search of this testimony. You will receive them with all the love of your heart and you will show them the Book of True Life that you have formed with the chairs that I have given you, without forgetting that your works and feelings must be part of the book that you present.

13. The remaining years of doctrine and spiritual delight listening to my word, take advantage of them, do not make this time of judgment and complaints. Do not want to settle with atonement and pain from the first word that Elijah the messenger gave you at the beginning of this communication, until the last one that I give you.

14. To avoid all desecration, I am going to purge this countryside and touch all those who have received charges. I will extend this purification to all the orders of your life, not only in the spiritual one. The very ones who have profaned my law will be in charge of washing the stains that they have imprinted on it.

15. People, I want my peace to be manifested through your spirit, your look and your smile. I do not want bitterness or restlessness to be reflected through his face haggard from suffering. You are a people born in pain, who have the mission of overcoming it, carrying their cross with self-denial and love, bending their necks and overcoming the weaknesses of matter. Hurry your chalice with patience, see that my divine word heals you every moment of your wounds.

Love one another!

16. When will this word reach all of humanity? The trills of these nightingales have not reached the distance; they have not brought the sweetness of my teachings to the mansions of the great or to the rooms of the potentates; they have not come to the battlefields that have been soaked with the blood of men, nor to the spirits occupied in raising the new tower of Babel or who inhabit the new Sodom: but the word that has sprung from your lips during the last years of my communication, will be the message that tomorrow reaches all your brothers, because for this I purify you and prepare you in these moments.

17. Only the lament of widows and orphans has reached your ears, along with the rumors of war, the news of great calamities and tragedies that you have not yet seen or felt.

18. You have known from Me that you are children of the people of Israel, and from history you know that this people in the past times was called the people of God, the chosen one, the one in whom all the pleasures of the Heavenly Father were poured out. Today I want you to know that that people, whom I have sent back to earth at this time, has never been more loved than the rest of the peoples, and that if they received many pleasantries from Me, it was in order that they knew how to share them with others, so that they might be light, a way, an open book and redemption for all their fellow human beings.

19. By chance did this people fulfill their mission in the past times? Is he fulfilling that law of love and fraternity in the present time? If you know the ancient history of this people, you will not be unaware that great trials, calamities, captivity, famine, plague and humiliation were also upon them, because of their infidelities and disobedience. It was not love or obedience to my law, nor the spirituality of that people, that wrote a book for future generations. The book of that people is written with the blood of brothers, prophets, righteous, is stained with envy, disobedience, disunion and is sealed with the blood of the Son of God.

20. It is necessary that this people wash and purify all those stains, that they erase from the book all their faults and in their place write good deeds, deeds worthy of their Lord.

21. You disciples, do not at this time write a new book of disobedience and profanations, because later you would not have enough tears to erase your stains from that book. Write a new story, but one that is one of regeneration, of reconciliation, of fraternity, of obedience and spirituality. Your covenant at this time is written by your conscience.

22. The years in which I leave you to continue receiving my teaching, which serve to prepare you for my departure, in them you must reach the fulfillment that I am asking of you. Know that after this time I do not want the multitudes to know the imposture, nor your imperfections of now. At that time men will know my word by the writings that I have entrusted to my golden pens. You will look to that book tomorrow when you have to study my work, when you are confused by trials or when you need consolation.

Love one another!

23. The light of my Spirit is poured into your understanding so that you may know how to lead those who come following in your footsteps.

24. Today I come to give you my teaching as at that time when I lived near you and showed you by my example how to redeem the human race.

25. Humanity, not satisfied with that lesson, still asks at this time that innocent blood be shed once again, but the Divine Master has come in Spirit and that proof of love will not be repeated in the same way. Today I am speaking to you through the understanding of man, sending infinite rays of my light in which I give you my wisdom so that you may be saved, raising your spirit along the path of love for your brothers.

26. I have contemplated that of my teaching of love and humility, nothing remains in the hearts of many peoples. They have risen up against each other, the strong humiliate the weak, and my spiritual envoys, to whom I have entrusted the mission of inspiring peace and concord to the rulers, have returned to Me with anguish in their spirit, because they have not been heard or obeyed; so I have allowed humanity to hurry its chalice and that this pain illuminates it, making it return to the path of its evolution.

27. In this hour of trial you have Elijah inspiring you with prayer and good practices, so that you can counteract evil. You have your Heavenly Intercessor watching more closely than ever for this humanity that has ignored her advice and warnings and you have Me, your Father, immutable in my love, giving you one more opportunity for you to regenerate and elevate your spirit, so that you may achieve the reward that I have promised you.

28. If, beyond your nation, your brothers wound and kill without mercy, destroy peace, annihilate weak peoples and sow terror, misery and mourning in their wake, you, to whom I have prepared and announced these events for a long time, watch and pray, send thoughts of peace, may your heart pour out love and charity among your brothers, practice my teaching and in this way you will be countering evil.

29. I have chosen you from among the great multitudes that make up humanity, to manifest to you my doctrine, my will, and I have invited every spirit to perfect itself on the path of fulfillment, but you are more responsible, because you have seen the fulfillment of all my words.

30. The elements and forces of nature will be unleashed to purify and restore everything that has been defiled and desecrated by man on Earth.

Love one another!

31. The children of this time are moved by the chaos they are feeling, and their innocent heart rises to Me to ask for light for the rulers and success in their determinations; they also introduce me to the peoples who have suffered under the yoke of stronger ones and ask me to be free again. His gifts of love and justice are palpitating in them and his cry is for peace and goodwill among men. I receive your prayer and send it as a balm on the needs of those nations at war.

32. Spirits of children, do not stray from the path of his mission, obedience and good feelings. Do not allow yourselves to be contaminated, flee from the influence of evil. Trust in Me and let my light guide you, illuminating the path of your evolution.

33. To you who are older, I also regard you as children and I value your works. Take the light of my teaching and entrust your cares to me, be strong in the face of pain and resign yourselves to your destiny. In your prayer you present to me your suffering brothers, I receive your intercession. To you, as to all my children, I give my love equally. I receive your prayer and with you I bless all my children, both those who love me and believe in this word, and those who doubt and even deny me. Your heart, which yesterday was insensitive like a rock, I have touched and begins to flow water of love and forgiveness for humanity. This is what I have always asked of you, it is the eternal law without beginning or end, the law of love, of charity, which until today has not been practiced by the human race.

34. Today you come to Me, looking for the word that erases suffering, the one that caresses your heart, bounded by great whirlwinds. I come to give you warmth, as the loving lark does with her chicks, because I have contemplated that winter has penetrated many hearts, some shiver with cold, others have died. My presence gives you strength in trials, I do not want your faith to be extinguished.

35. Only faith will sustain you in this time of pain, if you want to be an example for your brothers and bear witness to my word with your works, be strong, prepare yourselves, live watching and practicing what my doctrine teaches you, so that you may be believed. I want to contemplate you strong and enlightened by my teaching, recovering the lost times.

36. If you love me, your heart will be transformed, you will feel full of life, of zeal to strive for your elevation, you will be my true disciples, and when the vicissitudes of life come to you, you will not turn away from Me, nor will you reproach me for the trials of your restitution, you will be conformed in your fulfillment, knowing that the spirit in those trials is tested and perfected.

Love one another!

37. Take advantage of the time in which you will receive my lessons, because after this stage, you will not have my teaching in this form again, but also wait for Me to tell you: this is the portion of hearts that you will take into your care, these are the limits that I point out to you, not limits to love or forgive, but limits in your work, because even when you present me with a scarce harvest, if it has been cultivated with love, it will be enough for me and I will receive you, and I will bless your work. You will watch that your steps do not depart from the path of good, and that the light that I have given you, may be like a beacon that illuminates the path of every spirit. She will dispel all doubts and make you feel confident in your actions; but if you get out of the way, she will always be inviting you to return to fulfillment.

38. To other of my children I say: do not be impatient, do not ask me for a position without first understanding your responsibility. Do not walk in a hurry because soon you will get tired and then boredom will make you sleep, to wake up in another era. The journey is long and the path is rough, you must advance step by step without stopping. If you overcome the impulses of matter and manage to raise your spirit, you will live on higher planes from where you will contemplate with greater clarity the spiritual life that awaits you.

39. Understand my love, see that I am not like the rich miser, that I want everything for myself, everything that is mine is yours too, because you are my dearly beloved children.

40. You are the generations chosen at this time to receive my manifestations. I have poured out my pleasures and blessings on you, because I do not want you to return to earth to atone for past faults. I want to take you to enjoy the peace of my Kingdom, after the fulfillment of your mission.

41. You tell me that the Earth is a place of sufferings and hardships, and I tell you that you are the ones who have made it, with your lack of fulfillment, a world of unhappiness and stumbles. I have taught you submission and obedience and I have always advised you to do good. I have told you to sow peace so that you may reap peace. May you prepare the way for the new generations, so that you may give them of your seed and in them you may see it blossom and bear fruit.

42. I have given you gifts that bring you closer to Me. I have allowed you to look beyond your world and bear witness to my teachings in the Third Time. No one will be able to prevent the manifestation of these gifts, just as no one can usurp my charity for you. Only the conscience will make you understand how great are the graces that I have granted you. Purify yourselves and work so that you will soon be with me and have the satisfaction of having understood and obeyed my commands.

Love one another!

43. Today, in the time of restitution, restore peace to those you have killed in their faith, heal those you have wounded with your word, pay your debts, pour out on your brothers the charity of your love and you will be fulfilling my law.

44. Man, by departing from the fulfillment of my law, has created diverse ideas, theories, religions and doctrines that divide and confuse humanity, tying the spirit to materialism, preventing it from rising freely. But the light of my Holy Spirit illuminates all men, pointing them to the path of true life, where there is only one guide, which is conscience.

45. When the great epidemics are unleashed and the men of science, due to their lack of love and charity, fail to cure those who suffer, the farmers, the disciples, will arise, carrying out with love their mission of healing and consoling their brothers. And the spiritual world, uniting with them, will impart its benefits among humanity burdened by pain. Watch and pray, because if I give you my teaching now through understanding, tomorrow only those who prepare will receive my inspiration and will communicate with me from spirit to Spirit.

46. The golden pens will write my teaching for the generations to come, because my word will not be lost, it will be like a treasure that you will keep throughout the ages. I tell you, whoever finds the divine essence at the bottom of this word, will be the one who will follow my example with the most constancy and firmness. Whoever has faith in this word, it is as if he were carrying a lit torch to illuminate his path, without being confused by false theories or flowery words, because he will have discovered the secret to finding the truth, he will have understood the immense love that I have for you and he will feel that I am with all my children reviving them to continue the journey.

47. You have withstood whirlwinds and storms that have torn your garments to shreds, but you have risen up in prayer asking that my charity will prevent your lamp from going out, and you have found the Master willing to come to your aid.

48. The path is painful and in this world the fruit of the sowing is not reaped; but truly I tell you, in this time of trials and judgment, a little peace in the spirit and a piece of bread on your table are better than the finery or the rich delicacies and even the very thrones of the lords of the Earth. I penetrate you into those hearts, I tell you that they are like tombs and that their lips carry bitterness.

49. On this path of humility there are pleasures, satisfactions and treasures of great value for the spirit, blessed is the one who knows how to appreciate them.

50. Among you there are those who arrived tired of the pleasures of the world, to whom they will never return, but there are those who are still attracted by the false joys they provide, and when the bad friend invites them to the wrong path, if at that moment the sick person approaches them asking for a drop of balm, spirit and matter struggle inwardly, feelings of love and charity towards their brothers triumphing, moving away from the one who tempted them, to approach the bed of the one who in his need had been the saving boat of that peasant. How great has been the joy and peace that this heart has experienced, seeing the sick healthy! Then, rising up in prayer, he said to me: Thank you, Master, for having given me the strength to overcome in the trial.

Love one another!

51. See how those who have healed through you bless you; see how much joy there is in the one who, with your help, has left the bed. Listen to the phrases of gratitude of those lost to whom you returned to the path of good. How much your heart has been recreated by the fulfillment of your mission! But woe to those who do not understand these pleasures!

52. This word that I give you through man is not human theory. At the bottom of this manifestation there is a divine revelation.

53. It is necessary that my Spirit cross the thresholds of your ignorance, to discover eternal life for you, since while you are incarnated you will not achieve with all your inspiration and elevation to achieve that which belongs to you, but which is waiting for you in my arcanum.

54. This is the third revelation, the Third Testament, that is why you are Trinitarians. Everyone who has received the spiritual sign in his heart at this time, before it was already with me in the two previous eras.

55. I have sent you to sustain a great struggle among humanity, that is why you often present to me your garments in tatters in the battles of life, but, you well know that your sorrows and wounds are healed by your loving Master, just as you, in my name, are healing the pain of your sick brothers.

56. I bless your sleepless nights, the comfort and the caress that you have given to the one who suffers, the tears that you have shed for the one who weeps in the world and everything that you have collected, I receive it. Do not forget that what you do with your fellow human beings, you do with your Father and with yourselves. Not a single seed is lost in my countryside.

57. If the word that I make you hear and all that I teach you is perfect, it is because your spirit is perfect in that it came out of Me. See how he, enlightened by conscience, approves of good deeds and does not accept imperfections.

58. Who among you could prove that he has not existed before this life? Who of those who have absolute certainty that they are living a new incarnation, could prove that their account is settled with the Father and that they still have merits to their credit?

Love one another!

59. No one knows the degree of perfection in which he is, so fight, love and persevere to the end.

60. For some the journey will still be long in matter, for others they will soon have to continue it in spirit. Verily I say to you, It is very beautiful to work in the spirit, when it has been fulfilled on Earth, but not because you fulfill your mission in the world, do you believe that you have reached the goal of perfection. The scale of spiritual perfection is very extensive and to reach the top, you will have to go through seven steps.

61. Pray that you will be strong in trials, in this year the pain will be felt greatly in the hearts of men, because once again the bitter fruit of science and human ambitions will poison and kill great peoples.

62. Everything that is stained will be cleaned and every weed will be uprooted. Of the same who are lost today I will know how to use myself to exercise my divine justice and this valley that until now had been of tears, will be of blood, because it will flow in torrents on earth.

63. I gave free will to man, but if he in his obfuscation came to claim me for it, I will tell him that I also gave him will and understanding, at the same time that I revealed to him my law, which is the way not to stumble or get lost and I lit in him the light of conscience that is the inner beacon that illuminates the path of the spirit and leads him to eternal life.

64. Why does sin exist, evil predominates and wars break out? Because man does not listen to the dictates of conscience and misuses his free will.

65. Men will come to the end of their own path and will return along it, gathering the fruit of what they sowed, the only way for repentance to sprout from hearts, because whoever does not recognize his faults, can do nothing to repair his mistakes.

66. A new world is in preparation, new generations are about to arrive; but first it is necessary to put away the hungry wolves so that they do not prey on the sheep.

67. You are sent as soldiers of peace. Do not be afraid of the struggle, do not let yourselves be impressed by the men of the sects and religions; with all your humility you are no less than them.

68. On the path of perfection, on that infinite scale, there have always been beings who go ahead and others who go behind, but they will all arrive at the same abode, because around my Divinity there are no hierarchies but children, all very beloved of my Spirit. I am in everyone, the same thing I hide in the heart of the powerful, as in that of the beggar. Therefore I tell you, when you see the needy man coming to your doors, do not deny him charity, for your Father will be the one who is called to your heart.

Love one another!

69. Be full of your love, O dearly beloved children!

70. My communication at this time is one more proof that I have come to give you my love. But prepare yourselves, because this communication will soon pass, and once again I tell you that on the last day of 1950, I will speak to you for the last time, because after that day, you will seek me spiritually in infinity, and when you are ready, you will listen in the form of inspiration to my voice, already without the imperfections of the human spokesman.

71. Pray people, because in the moments of your prayer the war subsides, hearts rest, mothers find comfort and children shelter.

72. Woe to those who have not known how to prepare, for they will feel like orphans on earth!

73. Great spiritual events will be seen in the world, prophets will arise in the nations, the content of the Seven Seals will be known to all; the light of the Sixth Seal will be recognized as the one that shines at this time, because in this revelation all men will be united, all the beliefs and lineages of the Earth will merge.

MY PEACE BE WITH YOU!

Love one another!

Teaching 47

1. Humanity: I am preparing you with my word at this time, so that you may understand my doctrine. I am making the call to the spirits, to make known to them their gifts, so that they study my manifestations and not be surprised, but with them confirm what was prophesied for this time.
2. I want each one of you to take the place of disciple in which I have placed him. You have all been sent to Earth to fulfill a mission, I have patiently waited for your fulfillment, I have given you many opportunities and you have not yet perfected yourselves. Do you want this new era to pass without you taking advantage of it because the cross of your fulfillment seems heavy to you? Time is yours but it has a limit, and I don't want tomorrow when you get ready to work you will be on the threshold of the grave close to leaving for the spiritual valley and you will have lost your faculties, corporeal; work from the moment of your enlightenment, whether you are in childhood, in full maturity or in old age; sow so that you may reap and keep your seed in my barn, there where time does not destroy it nor can the thief steal it.
3. Today man is debating in great struggles, while some are waging cruel wars, others are fighting to overcome passions and liberate the spirit; humanity has been divided and life is like a boat capsizing in the middle of the storm, you still inhabiting this nation that has remained at peace, you do not taste tranquility, you all hurry a cup of pain.
4. Why, hearing the sound of the heavenly bell, do some still remain deaf to its call? That bell is my voice that is heard at this time in all the dwellings where my children live, when you hear my word you feel that it is not the echo of the human voice that I use to speak to you, but that my voice reaches your heart, encourages you and gives you life.
5. I will only receive from you a clean worship, only your works of love and charity, will give you my peace.
6. Listen to my Father's advice, do not flee from Me, I have told you that a region will be saved by a righteous man, but if you do not become righteous, at least amend yourselves, work, that in this way you will regain grace and you will be my emissaries in all nations. Do not be indifferent to the pain, may your prayer reach Me, and through it many tears will be wiped away and your brothers and sisters will achieve peace and blessing. Before humanity faints under the weight of his cross, I will be his Cyrene and I will take his heavy burden so that he can move forward.
7. Blessed are those who know how to cleanse their hearts to receive my word, because it will nourish them eternally. Blessed are those who groan and suffer when contemplating the madness in which their brothers live, because their prayer will come to Me; they will see the flowering and the restoration of virtue in the heart of man.

Love one another!

8. Ask that it will be given to you; seek and you will find, I have shown you my Spirit so that you may penetrate into it, and I remind you of the words I said to you in the Second Era: "Thomas, sink your fingers in my side and do not be unbelieving". Come to Me by faith, leave your unbelief, look that I am pointing you to infinity, the promised land that with its open doors awaits the arrival of my beloved disciples.

9. I have given you bread in abundance so that you may be fed and tomorrow you will not feel hungry for this word that you despise today. Rise up so that you may achieve your evolution, pray for everyone and think that you are like a ray of light on the path of your brothers; be the good shepherds of that flock that is humanity; all of you who carry light in the spirit, judgment and inspiration will be able to guide and rescue those who have been lost.

10. It is prophesied that the pain will be very great, you remain calm if you know how to pray and practice my doctrine, because you will feel my strength at all times, but woe to those who, having heard these lessons, have not believed in my manifestation, because their doubt will make them falter in the test. You who have received and kept in your memory the words of the prophets, when the time comes when pain overwhelms humanity, do not blaspheme, do not despair, be silent and prepare, for I will protect you with my love.

11. Do not ask me to go back in my laws and judgments, ask with humility and I will give you what corresponds to you in justice, so that you may find salvation.

12. Analyze and understand the lessons that I have tirelessly given you in the Third Time. My word appeared before you like a luminous beacon that showed the way to the lost castaways.

13. My teaching has given you spiritual strength, not only to resist the vicissitudes of this world, but also to carry out the spiritual mission that you have brought. Do not expect that everyone will welcome you with open arms when you go to spread my doctrine; there will be those who will tie ties to make you fall.

14. I come to purify you and to prepare you in spirit and matter so that you may understand the Father's inspirations and then bring them to the hearts of your brothers with the same purity with which I sent them to you, bearing witness with your works to the truth of my teaching.

15. In the hearts graced with my charity I have heard this prayer. "Lord, you are tireless in granting us gifts and benefits." And I tell you, I am your Father and I know your needs.

Love one another!

How can my spirit not be moved by your prayer and petition? I have comforted you in the solitude of your bedchamber and have enlightened you so that your meditation may be profitable. You come to hear my word in haste, but first you prepare your heart like an altar and in it you show me your works as an offering.

16. You come before Me, like the child who offers his hand to his Father, to lead him along the path. And indeed you are children before Me. But behold, I am like the shepherd who cares for his sheep and calls them with a sweet voice from the pasture. You have listened to my voice through the human understanding in this Third Time, but you sought me until your lips were dry with thirst, crossing the desert of your passions, it was then that you heard the call of your Heavenly Father.

17. Whenever you call me to your aid, you will feel my presence giving you comfort and peace; but the moment came when you felt hungry to listen to me and you got up looking for my teaching.

18. For each one, the eternity clock struck the hour and the bell rang, indicating that the moment had come when your spirit would find the water that would quench its thirst.

19. Some hesitated at the unexpected way in which they found me, but then, penetrating into the meaning of the word they were hearing, they found that its flavor and its essence could only come from God; then inwardly, full of joy, they told me: Father, Father, we believe in your new manifestation among humanity! You were adorned with spiritual gifts, you experienced peace in your heart, and you saw the light of harmony shining in your home. And while the children were recreating themselves in the presence and under the gaze of the Father, he also felt his thirst for love calm down when contemplating the joy of his little ones, seeing their regeneration and receiving their caresses through their prayers.

20. Then I said to you: follow me, I have already given you proofs of my presence, the light of faith has already been lit in your heart. That is why it was that from that moment, when the trials have been presented in your path, you have not wavered, nor have you rebelled before my law.

21. You have seen your loved ones leave for the afterlife, you have seen the doors of work close and bread on the table become scarce, you have lost your earthly goods, but faith, like a beacon, has brought you to a safe port. There have also been those who, in the midst of the trial, have faltered and have asked themselves questions about my word and have felt their faith die out.

22. But my word, which came to their hearts through conscience, spoke to them thus: Why have you weakened? Why have you broken faith and forgotten my words?

Love one another!

Remember that I told you that the chosen ones will always be tested, so that their faith, their steadfastness and their love may be strengthened.

23. Those who have known how to be strong, have seen the storms pass and the light become again on their way. They have seen the return of peace, health and lost goods.

24. Thus I am modeling the hard heart of those who have to serve me, so that tomorrow they will be my good witnesses and servants among humanity, in which they must sow the seed of my truth.

25. The spirit is noble before the touch of my word, matter is fragile, so I tell you, yes, I come to strengthen and lift up your spirit, he must take care of reanimating and sustaining his matter on the way.

26. You have been very tested, very beloved disciples, because each test contains a mystery for you, you do not know if it is to strengthen you in the struggle, to reveal something you do not know, or to atone for some fault; but never retreat before the tests, because they are not sent for that purpose, nor are they superior to your moral or spiritual forces.

27. Be of those who know how to remain strong in great trials. I will make generations full of light and grace sprout from you.

28. To prepare yourselves, come and receive my lesson of love, with which all the confusions that you might have picked up on Earth will be removed from your mind. This word will show you the true way, if you had lost it. My heavenly voice comes to your heart to announce and speak to you of the Third Time.

29. Your faults and imperfections have not been an obstacle to my manifestation among you, on the contrary, they have originated it. I come in search of you because you had been lost, and there, in your exile, you were sick and burdened with suffering. Your Master has come down to say to you, "Come to Me." Then you have risen up diligently to follow the path of the law written by Him who is the owner and Lord of Creation.

30. The light of the Third Time illuminates the paths, so that your gaze will discover the thorns and you will be able to turn them away, because this path is strewn with trials.

31. At the door of your dwelling I have called, unceasingly my love so that you may watch; how can there be someone who after so many trials of love still denies my word? Because having eyes they do not see, having understanding they do not understand and having heart they do not feel.

32. You do not know me yet; when you come to love one another as I have taught you, then you will attain a very great knowledge and understanding of spiritual gifts. I have told you that your lips will speak of the abundance of good feelings in your heart; but can he who does not have it in his heart speak of love? Doesn't it make you shudder to think that those to whom I say these teachings are the same ones to whom I have already given lessons of love in other times? See that I, in my love as Father and Teacher, come to entrust this doctrine to you, as a book to which you must preserve with the purity and wisdom that the divine charity of the Lord has placed in it, so that when the mobs arrive before Him, among whom the searchers will come as new scribes and Pharisees to test me, you will be able to present to them a perfect work, a spiritual doctrine overflowing with justice and love, a profound worship in its interior and simple in its exterior, confirmed with your works of love and charity towards your brothers.

33. Watch and pray, be ready, for my doctrine will be persecuted. Do not be disturbed by these revelations; let them, when they arrive, surprise you in your mission, healing the sick, comforting the suffering. I will give you the strength to grant that the sap of the tree of life may be in each one of you. Sit down at the table, under this shade, but take care not to stain the very white tablecloth. This whiteness is similar to that of the road that you will then have to travel. My mantle of love covers all my children and my charity prepares the way for all who will hear me at this time.

34. The unleashed elements awaken humanity every moment, you watch so that they do not leave the imprint of their passage in your regions.

35. Let the multitudes come to you, every heart and every spirit brings an affliction. Put them in communication with my spiritual world, now that it is still the time of that manifestation, so that they may receive the spiritual balm that descends from my Kingdom. I want to see you prepared, working diligently in my work of love, and may the hour of my justice find you healing the sick, comforting the sad, teaching the one who was thirsty for truth, advising the one who had lost his way. See, if that day should overtake you outside of this fulfillment, it will be you who are afflicted.

36. I don't want to look down on you in my presence, I want to see you always dignified and satisfied. With that peace and that strength I want to leave you among humanity, when the moment of my departure has come, because I tell you for sure that you will have to fight. In these trials I see those who will follow me and those who will turn their backs on me, because I have been touching and testing each one of you to give him strength.

37. I want the foliage and the fruits of the tree that you form to be healthy and life-giving, then my provident charity will bring to you the multitudes who are only waiting for the moment of the call because the chalice they are hurrying is very bitter.

Love one another!

38. Sick in spirit, mind and body, widows, orphans, homeless men and women, hungry for love and peace, will be those who come to leave their burden and regain the faith; for those who cannot come, you will pray, you will ask me and I will grant you.

39. Persevere in regeneration, do not let matter regress in its evolution, understand that when you achieve this advance, you will have laid the foundations for your spirituality.

40. Feel, O people!, The joy that the Divine Spirit experiences when speaking to you and feeling heard. Look how much light my word sheds on many mysteries that you had not been able to understand.

41. Men of this time, who thought you were at the twilight of life, my teaching as a new dawn has come to surprise you by reanimating your spirit.

42. Blessed are those who recognize their mission and embrace their cross at this time, because the lands they tread on will be fertile for my word and they will be able to sow the seed of my doctrine in them.

43. Take a seat, children and disciples, calm in your mind and in your heart the storms that are stirring in them and let the iris of peace appear in the spiritual firmament.

44. Before my divine lesson, you will be surprised to discover hidden in your being, innumerable gifts and powers with which you will be able in the future to overcome trials and triumph in vicissitudes.

45. Your guide at this time will be my Spirit, I will make a way for you through the new Red Sea as in the time of Moses. I will rescue you and sustain you in the desert, but I only ask you to tirelessly practice my examples of love and to be faithful to the end, because the end will be found when your spirit appears before the gates of the Promised Land, where you will find rest from human struggles, liberation from the passions and miseries of this world. There you will know the true light of the spirit, who will show you the truth as fully as you can contemplate the light of the sun in this world.

46. You left the Father and to Him you will have to return bringing not only your original purity, but the greatness that the development of the gifts you possess will give you, fulfilling my divine laws; but no one will come alone to my presence, each one will bring all those he saved, those he healed, those he comforted and led along the way of salvation. To help your spirit on its path of evolution, I have come at this time to give you my lessons of love.

47. Now it's time to learn, look how my Spirit is pouring out on all flesh and on all spirit. Some manifest my word through their ecstasy, others outside of ecstasy. The elderly, the young and the children talk about my spiritual kingdom. Are not these the proofs that both my prophets and I announced to you in those times, about my new manifestation?

48. Cleanse your heart and your mind so that your spirit may be lifted up and purified. Then I will manifest my light through your being and surprise humanity with your works of love. Through the child I will speak to the old man, through the rude and ignorant I will speak to the wise and through the humble I will speak to the proud. Today you do not yet understand what awaits you, but tomorrow you will know it and with submission you will get up to walk towards the regions that are sleeping today and that tomorrow, upon receiving my divine message, will get up ready to follow me.

49. Today you are anxiously waiting for your Teacher to come down to teach you, to remind you of the teachings of past times. You live alert with your ear prepared and your heart beating with love for Me. Your understanding is attentive, ready to analyze my word and then in silence, you remember my advice and commands and try to understand them, to put them into practice, then you understand how pure my teaching is and how delicate your mission, and you tell me, if it will be necessary to transform yourselves into spiritual beings leaving the envelope that you are wearing today to be more solicitous, because you feel that it is an obstacle to your elevation and fulfillment. I tell you that you must take that wrap with love and use it wisely; it is not in vain that I created it and offered it to you. If you know how to guide her, she will be your collaborator and you will know how to appreciate and enjoy your existence on Earth, with the harvest that you achieve from your sowing of love in your brothers.

50. Imitate Me and do wonders, for you are my chosen ones. Be doctors and counselors of your brothers, lawyers and intercessors of humanity, and put all your spirit into your work to take her to a safe harbor and that she feels that she is walking on solid ground on the path of her restitution.

51. Enter into the fields that I have prepared and sow in them, as a good farmer soften the lands with your love because the human heart has hardened and it is necessary to work patiently in them. When you have encountered reluctant spirits, you have wanted to flee saying: this is not one of those whom God seeks, He wants humble hearts. Do you not know that it is to these hearts that I come to seek and convert? I ask you: When did you come to Me, was your heart already like a home or like a temple for Me? Turn your gaze back and you will see that you have already left your heavy burden and that you have been reborn to true life.

52. Why do you sometimes doubt my communication by human understanding and ask me for proof, and while you do not see the favor you request granted, you lack faith? You want to hear me speak in a higher language in order to believe, and you are interposing in my high judgments. I ask you: Are you already at the peak of spirituality to know how to interpret my inspirations? Are you already so high that you can read my will in my Spirit? You are still too young to understand me, but I am leading you along the path in which you will reach spiritual communication with me so that you may know my arcanum.

Love one another!

53. You have perverted the mission entrusted to you, spirit, since I have made you possessors of a destiny that will lead you to peace and the perfection of eternal life.

54. When you are humble, you will be great. There is no greatness in arrogance and vanity, as many believe. Be meek and humble of heart, I have told you through the ages. Recognize Me as Father and love me, do not look for a throne for your family, nor a name that distinguishes you from others, be one more among men and carry the good will in you.

55. Prepare yourselves so that you may look at me in all my splendor and bear witness to Me and as you rise, I will pour out my knowledge on you.

56. O humanity, who have not known how to let go of the vanities of the world, in order to comply with the laws of the spirit! You love this land that makes you cry and you come to it again and again, not knowing the end for which you were sent. I tell you, fulfill your mission and prepare for the journey to the land that I have promised you, so that you may hear my voice as a Father who receives you and gives you the rest that you have achieved with your works of love and charity towards your brothers.

57. Do not be afraid of the trials of this time. Put on strength and help your fellow men. You will find among them many whose pain makes them faint, you will see your brothers in distress and you will have healing balm for everyone, a word of strength and courage and a ray of light from your Father. Make the sorrow of those who suffer yours and you will have shared their affliction and given them love and charity.

58. To you who weep in silence I say: Blessed are you who come in search of comfort. You have not looked for symbols or images to pray, because you know that I am with you and inside you have found me. I have poured out strength in your matter and in your spirit.

59. Blessed are those who have known how to guide the multitudes and, feeling the weight of the cross, have sought me like a Cyrenian. I illuminate the path of all beings who inhabit the spiritual and material regions. Do not look at each other as strangers, be warm and love each other in truth, for if you know how to love your brothers, you will have loved Me.

MY PEACE BE WITH YOU!

Love one another!

Teaching 48

1. Multitudes who seek the shade of the corpulent tree where they can rest. Here you are listening to my word that comes to give you comfort and strength, so that you can contemplate with resignation the path that you will have to travel.
2. When you feel that your spirit is faltering, ask Elijah for his staff so that leaning on it, you can reach the crystalline source of the Father, where the waters of his love and wisdom overflow for the encouragement and delight of the walkers.
3. I am teaching you to build the true temple, because there are many who have formed sanctuaries, without having laid the foundations of faith on them. My temple must be like a tree, whose branches extend lovingly throughout the Universe, where birds of different songs come to trill, which, by joining their voices, form a harmonious, sweet and perfect concert, to elevate it to the Creator. There your spirit will rise to seek your Lord, already as a Father, as a Teacher, as a Doctor, but never seek Him as a Judge.
4. The true God will be loved in a true way, false deities will be destroyed and impure and imperfect cults will give way to the cult of the spirit, which will be a song of love for the Father.
5. Truly I tell you that I have spoken to you a lot in this time and that sometimes you do not understand me, sometimes you leave me speaking alone in the desert; however, the echo of this heavenly word will not die and will be heard by men throughout the universe.
6. If the spiritual were to become material objects, you would see yourselves at this moment sitting around a table of enormous dimensions, in front of each of you you would look at the bread of my word represented by exquisite delicacies.
7. Those who are becoming spiritualized tell me that they would not change my word for the richest and most tempting delicacy. Those who have not yet managed to overcome their materialism would prefer that their Father, instead of bringing them spiritual gifts and goods, bring them the riches of the world in abundance.
8. How many have left on my table the delicacy that I offered them with so much love, without having even touched it. When will they live again a time of complacency like the present, in which it fell to them to come to Earth to listen to my word? They are hardened rocks that need storms and time to soften. Their inheritance will be withheld from them, as long as they do not know how to take care of it and value it, but it will return to their power, because I have told you that what the Father gives to his children, he never takes them away, he only withholds them.

Love one another!

9. This is the corpulent tree under whose shade the walkers stop to rest from their tiring walk and regain their strength by feeding on its fruits.

10. Under this tree I am waiting for everyone, some will return satisfied with the mission accomplished, others with their heads down, with their empty hands.

11. When peace has fled from your heart and tears have flowed incessantly down your cheeks, you have begun to meditate to know the cause of your affliction, then conscience has revealed to you that the reason for your troubles and the lack of peace, are due to the little spirituality you have had, to the lack of fulfillment of your mission, to the fact that in the works of your life there is no love and charity towards your brothers.

12. Your present life has been the atonement, because you do not know how many of the sins, with which you had stained your spirit in past lives, you are purifying today. That is why you have not had peace in your heart.

13. Those who have lost even the last atom of peace, struggle diligently to regain it and come to recognize that this grace exists only within the path of justice and goodness, which through conscience I point out to humanity at every moment. That is why those who have listened to my word, strive to follow in my footsteps because they know that peace is on my way and that when there is a stumbling block or a trial, my cariad is near to lift you up.

14. My law does not require superhuman sacrifices, it does not mean slavery or bind anyone with chains; it is certainly a cross, but of love, a cross whose weight instead of burdening strengthens.

15. Remember that on several occasions in your life you have experienced true peace and you will recognize that this has been when you have done good, when you have forgiven, when you have reconciled with someone, when you have left the comfortable bed, to go to the sick person to bring him a consolation; then the peace of my kingdom has been for an instant in your spirit. You, whom I am teaching to preserve peace throughout life, in truth I tell you, that your mission since the beginning of time has been to bring peace to your brothers, that is why every time I communicate with you, I ask you to pray for humanity, because your spirits united in a single thought and in the same intention, will reach the hearts as a breath of well-being and peace. You have also received teaching and authority to give tranquility, light and tranquility to the invisible beings who inhabit the spiritual valley.

16. Full of dangers and temptations are the ways of the world, that is why despite the fact that the spirits sprouted from Me full of light, intuition, with weapons and means to defend and overcome, they often fall downcast under the empire of the world and matter.

Love one another!

17. I found you overcome, but you listened to my voice that came to meet you with sweetness and you rose up full of faith and hope. Verily I say to you, there will not be a lost or vanquished who will not listen to this voice, when the time comes.

18. In this time, those who have moved away the most, those who have lost themselves the most, will be the most ardent in loving me and in following me.

19. The chisel of my love will sculpt the most hardened rocks.

20. To achieve this end, that is why, I have come to seek your spirit, because he is the one who can understand my doctrine, but first I had to speak to your heart, limiting myself through the spokesman, humanizing my word. This is the step that will raise you towards spirit-to-Spirit communication; then it will be my spiritual voice that will come to you as an inspiration that will point out the way of your restitution; because your matter is sometimes a heavy chain or a thick veil that does not allow you to look beyond what is matter. To help you win in this struggle, here is my divine inspiration, which out of love for you is transformed into a human word, which comes as a caress for the mind and for the heart.

21. These days are of remembrance, and therefore you have penetrated into recollection and preparation. Ah, if in all your life you knew how to preserve that spirituality without falling into fanaticism, how great would be your evolution!

22. There is joy in the hearts of these multitudes because they know that in front of their spirit is the heavenly banquet, in which the Master awaits them to give them to eat and drink the bread and wine of true life.

23. The table at which Jesus met with his apostles at that time was a symbol of the kingdom of heaven. There was the Father surrounded by the children, there were the delicacies representing life and love, the divine voice vibrated and its essence was the universal concert, and the peace that reigned there was the peace that exists in the Kingdom of God.

24. You have tried to purify yourselves in these albas thinking that the Master had to bring you in his words a new testament and so it is: today I grant you that, remember the bread and wine with which I represented my body and my blood, but I have also come to tell you that in this new time you will only find that sustenance in the divine essence of my word. If you seek my body and my blood, you will have to seek them in the divine of creation, because I am only Spirit. Eat of that bread and drink of that wine, but also fill my chalice, I want to drink with you, I thirst for your love.

Love one another!

25. Take this message to your brothers and learn that blood, being life, is only a symbol of eternal life, which is true love. For you I am beginning to enlighten humanity with my new revelations.

26. Men and women, children, young and old will form the apostolate of Christ in this Third Time, but truly I tell you that more than hearts, they are spirits whom I have been looking for. Although not all of humanity is listening to my word, I want them to feel my presence in this blessed hour. The parents in their homes, the sick in their beds, the hungry for justice, those punished by men, those who do not have peace in their hearts, the offended, the poor, all penetrate in silence into my sanctuary so that you may listen to the voice of your Lord who will tell you: Peace be with you.

27. People, at this moment in the invisible, surrounding me as at that time, are in spirit my apostles Peter, John, James the elder and the younger, Thaddeus, Thomas, Matthew, Bartholomew, Simon, Philip, Andrew and even Judas himself, full of pain, all accompany me in this new Upper Room. Where else on Earth could they present to you the picture I am showing you? They will teach you lifeless images, while I can make those beings manifest in fullness of life and light.

28. There is joy and at the same time pain in my Spirit as at that time, because all my children have not yet been saved.

29. While you are listening to my word that tells you that you are around my table, your thoughts do not depart from that disciple who in an instant of confusion betrayed his Master and his brothers, and then you wonder if there will also be a traitor at this time and your spirit asks me: peradventure it will be me? Weeping comes to your eyes and you ask me for strength so as never to fall into temptation. Verily I tell you, there will be those who will betray me also at this time, but it will not be to my body as in the Second Time, but they will try to hide the truth of my doctrine by their works, causing humanity to take for an imposture what has been a lesson of divine wisdom.

30. You all swear to love me and follow me until death, but I tell you that you must watch and pray, because Judas had also sworn to lay down his life for Me.

31. If at that time my physical torment lasted for a night and a day, and death made the sufferings of life cease, now in Spirit I suffer in all those who suffer; in each prisoner I am judged by the judges of the Earth, and in each cell I find myself imprisoned in the hearts of those who bear that atonement; do not weep when remembering only those hours of pain that Jesus lived in the world knowing that my passion has not yet ended.

Love one another!

32. Your spirit is already beginning to share my sorrows, realizing that it still needs to do merit with its works of love and charity, to achieve the joy and peace that my word promises to the one who follows me to the end.

33. Lift up your spirit with simple prayer, because prayer is communication and rapprochement with the Lord.

34. This supper is of love, do not forget it, take the bread from the table and share it with your brothers, and when you are all in eternity you will understand that this manifestation that I am now giving you was a symbol of eternal life. Multitudes approach, because if in the Second Time there were only twelve who sat at my table, today there will be 144,000; but my call of love is for all humanity. I want you all to accompany me at this time; there are those who shudder at my word, some cry and others feel unworthy to hear it. I, who know who each one of you is, tell you that among this people who are now coming in mobs to listen to my teachings, there are those who received wonders at that time to believe in Me, there are those who doubted Jesus and also those who shouted before Pilate: "Crucify him, crucify him".

35. Many saw me going to Calvary with the cross on my back, without knowing who they were accompanying, and they saw the tears of Mary without realizing who it was that was crying; see me now teaching again and turning into my disciples those who once did not know how to recognize me.

36. On the cross I asked for forgiveness for you, because you did not know what you were doing, that forgiveness translated into a new opportunity that the Father gives you, so that you open your eyes to the truth, be saved and come closer to Me. And despite my charity for you, there are still some who come looking for imperfections in my word and thus have reason not to believe, not to follow me; but truly I tell you, in the essence of my word there is no stain, instead, with this humble and simple word, I have come to erase many stains from your heart.

37. You are all under my judgment, there will be nothing that excites you more intensely than the charity of my love for you, because my judgment is of love.

38. At that time, Joseph of Arimathea opened the doors of his house, so that in it the Master, in union with his disciples, would celebrate the Passover, when they did not yet know that the Lamb that would be slaughtered on that feast was going to be Jesus.

39. Now I come to ask you to prepare in your heart the room where I penetrate to remember you with my word, the works and the teaching that I sealed with my blood at that time; but do not concretize to commemorate my passion only during these days of remembrance, it is necessary that you build in your being the sanctuary where you eternally remember the lesson of love that Christ brought you to Earth; that sanctuary will be indestructible before the storms that tend to destroy the faith of humanity.

Love one another!

40. Today I am making my voice heard in many counties, cities and villages, so that there are many who are called; in my wake I am sowing balm, comfort and peace in the hearts, encouraging hope in those who believed themselves lost to the life of grace, and I am giving life to those who were dead in vice and sin.

41. Also at that time I went from region to region, and my presence caused rejoicing among the needy, the sick and the poor in spirit; not all followed in my footsteps, but they remained as living testimonies of the wonders that I did in them. Men, women and children came to Jesus, their sorrowful faces and their lamentations told me of their misery and suffering. They had heard rumors and news of my miracles and anxiously awaited the passage of the Rabbi of Galilee to extend his hands to Him and ask Him for a proof of his power; they were simple hearts; but there were others, those of the scribes, the doctors of the law and the Pharisees who, in their aversion to Jesus, came to ask him to show them his hands to see if the power with which he healed the sick was visible in them just by touching them.

42. My piety did not distinguish anyone; I was the Father who came to save all my children from their sorrows. Jesus, the Doctor, was all balm and it was not necessary for me to touch the body of the sick person to restore him to health; sometimes to give the crowds a proof of what faith can do, I would let some sick person come up to Me and touch my robe, to make him healthy.

43. In this age it is no longer Jesus the man, who comes to your world in pursuit of sinners and the needy, now it is Jesus the Spirit, who manifests himself to humanity, to discover among the multitudes of this time the new disciples who must be faithful to him to the end. At a spiritual table, he has offered them bread and wine, invisible to human eyes, but real before the spirit. Many of those who fervently listen to my word today did not believe me at that time, and I ask you: What miracles and what times are waiting for those who, listening to themselves now, do not believe in my communication? They doubt because I communicate through rude and simple men, and not through wise men or theologians, but I tell you that in all times you will always find me among the humble.

44. Those who have come to understand the value of this word and have analyzed it until they find its divine essence, are the ones who will keep it as the seed of the spirituality that tomorrow they will have to spread among humanity.

45. In the First time the voice of the Lord was heard in the Tabernacle, in the Second Time I gave you my lessons of love in the word of Jesus, now you hear my word through the human spokesman, and tomorrow it will be my inspiration that illuminates each spirit in an intimate communication between the Father and his children.

Love one another!

46. In the second half I told you. "Man does not live by bread alone, but by every word that comes from God." Therefore, the bread with which I represented my body was only a symbol. Today I say to you, take the bread of my word, drink the wine of its essence and you will be sustained eternally.

47. Understand that from the kingdom of peace I come to the valley of tears, from the mansion of the righteous I descend to converse with sinners. I do not bring a crown or a king's scepter, I come full of humility to communicate with you, through a clumsy matter that I transform with my light and I surprise you with the infinite truth of my teaching.

48. I am not ashamed of you, and despite your sins and imperfections, I will never deny that you are my children, because I love you. Rather, it has been men who have become ashamed of Me by denying Me on multiple occasions.

49. Today I come to pour out my Spirit among you, so that you may learn to worship me spiritually and simply, free from the materialism of traditions and fanaticism.

50. You, who have overthrown the false gods that you worshiped in times past, will know how to penetrate this sanctuary that I am now chiseling with my word in Our spirit.

51. I see in your heart the desire that I should remain among you teaching you forever in this form, but this should not be, because if I acceded to your request, then you would make no effort to seek me with your works of love, and you would be content to listen to my lessons.

52. Since ancient times I have told you that my kingdom is not of this world and truly I tell you that spiritually the Earth is not your dwelling place either. The Kingdom of the Father is in his light, in his perfection, in his holiness; that is your true abode, that is your inheritance. Remember that I have told you that you are the heirs of the kingdom of heaven. This planet is like an abode that temporarily houses you, in which your spirit is subjected to the tests of its purification, in order that when returning to the spiritual abode, it carries advancement and progress in itself, so you should not ask yourself, why have I not found perfect peace and bliss in this world? Verily I say to you, even those who have been pure have not found true peace in this valley.

53. If this Earth gave you everything you desire, if there were no great spiritual trials on it, which of you would want to come to my Kingdom? Do not blaspheme or curse against pain, for you have created it with your faults. Hurry him with patience and he will purify you and help you to come closer to Me.

Love one another!

54. Do you see how great is your attachment to the greatness and satisfactions of this world? For the time will come when the longing to be absent from him will be very burning in you.

55. Whoever succeeds in fulfilling his trials with elevation, experiences peace in that fulfillment. He who walks on earth with his eyes fixed on heaven does not stumble, nor does he hurt his soles with the thistles of the path of his restitution. You who hear me, resist with love your trials, so that you may be imitated, see that you are advancing in your perfection, for if it were not so, why have you come this day? Why have you left your job to sit on these humble benches? Because you come in search of peace, light, strength and balm. Among these multitudes are those who seek my wisdom and my revelations, to take this message to the regions tomorrow. There are also those who have sinned a lot, those who with their faces bathed in tears have said to me: Father, we are unworthy to hear your word. But I tell you, it is for you that I have come, for those who have strayed from the path of evolution. I have never come to look for the righteous on Earth, they are already safe; I look for those who no longer find the strength in themselves to be saved, to whom I give my blessing and my caress.

56. If any of you has been told that his spirit is lost due to his faults, and he would still like to repair his mistakes and save himself, let him come to Me, that I will give him my forgiveness and raise him to a new life. That one will be like Lazarus, who got up when he heard the voice of Jesus when he said to him, "Get up and walk."

57. I also seek the ignorant, to open before his eyes the book of truth, the "Book of True Life." I want those who yesterday denied me and blasphemed against me, today to rise up among humanity forming a people that is a mirror of spirituality, humility and charity that testifies to my teaching with the works of love towards their brothers.

58. I see that you are taking advantage of my lessons, but you are still far from perfection. You are still weak, because you do not take three steps when the temptation has already made you fall.

59. Be strong, and if because of my doctrine your parents or your children do not know you, give proofs of firmness and faith and do not be afraid, for my power and your example will convince them of this truth. If some of those who did not know you left this world without you having converted them, do not be discouraged, for the seed that you sowed in them, they carried in their spirit and it will flourish in other worlds.

60. Analyze the lessons that I gave you with my passion in the Second Time, I invite you to remember and meditate with me on those teachings. See that these are the last times I will talk about them. You do not know what will come next and it is necessary that you penetrate in preparation, so that you may receive the new revelations that I am going to give you. If, when those days of remembrance come to you, you want to have peace in your spirit and please your Lord, do works of charity in those in need, forgive your enemies, do not have outstanding accounts with anyone, because if you have remorse in your spirit at the moments when I pronounce my seven words, how bitter and painful those words will fall on your heart! For your conscience will tell you that when I asked you for water to quench my thirst, you gave me gall and vinegar to drink.

Love one another!

61. Pray because you live in times of temptations and stalking and you do not know if those who are at peace at this moment will be quarreling or blaspheming in a few moments, always remember what I am telling you today so that you may be alert, watching and praying.

62. Behold how my divine essence is able to reach you through the lips of a sinner. Isn't this a miracle of power and love? I am the One who brings forth water from the rock and light from the darkness.

63. Through humble channels I have come to speak to the humble, because if the lords of the Earth had transmitted this message to humanity, truly I tell you that you would have been left without the knowledge of your gifts and with no duties to fulfill, you would not have eaten at this banquet and you would have had to settle for looking at the feast from afar; instead, through these understandings, virgins of theories, of sciences and religious concerns, I have made an appeal to all humanity without distinguishing anyone by their class, their nationality, their religion or their language.

64. My voice comes from the Kingdom of the Spirit, where I am the King, that paradise where you will all be with your Lord, when humble and full of faith, from your cross you tell me like Dimas: "Lord, when you are in your kingdom, remember me". It is your cross that I have entrusted to you by entrusting you with this mission of teaching, of healing the sick, of comforting, of revealing my divine messages to humanity; this mission weighs heavily, because it contains responsibility, because it is delicate, because it is clean, and on the fulfillment of it fall the ridicule directed at you by unbelievers, the slander, the mockery of those who have not wanted to find the truth in my doctrine.

65. Thus Jesus went along the Via Dolorosa (sorrowful path) bearing the weight of the cross, which was incomparably less than that of the ingratitude of those mobs.

66. Behold the Master remembering his children, deeds of other times, relating them to works of the present time, so that you may better understand my teachings. I want this doctrine to spread throughout the world, to enlighten humanity so that it awakens to a life that it ignored, and rises to form in the world a single home, a single family. That will be the true people of Israel, the people of God in whom differences of lineages, castes and tribes will disappear, because they will all be branches that come from a single trunk, where everyone complies with my law that tells you: "Love one another".

Love one another!

67. You who have taken this cross on your shoulders, recognize the responsibility you have to show humanity the truth of my manifestation and of my wonders; that is why I ask for nobility of feelings, perfect knowledge of who you are with respect to God and humanity. And for that I give you my teaching of spirituality.

68. Prepare yourselves in this way and you will be the good soldiers of this struggle, the true Israelites by the spirit, the faithful disciples; spare nothing to prove the truth of this word. Do not forget that Christ, in order to bear witness to the truth he preached, let his body be destroyed. Why should he defend the life of that body, when before he had said that his kingdom was not of this world? So you, think that in order to achieve the eternal life that awaits your spirit, you can sacrifice many ambitions to him.

69. If you want to remove from your brother the stains that he carries in his spirit, you must first stain yourself; if you want to be forgiven, you must first forgive.

70. How beautiful it will be for your spirit if, when his last moment on Earth arrives, his conscience, full of peace, can speak to the Father in this way: "Lord, everything is finished"

MY PEACE BE WITH YOU!

Love one another!

Teaching 49

1. Your prayer rises to Me like the perfume of flowers and I receive it.
2. Let your spirit taste the bread of eternal life. This is not the first lesson that my Divine Spirit gives you; in another time I manifested myself as a man, to teach you to be born in humility, to live doing good to others and to die on the cross of love. When you listen to my word, it seems to you that it is the first teaching that your spirit receives, and that is that you did not understand the previous lesson. Today I come again in search of the sick who are all my children, because you all groan in this valley of atonement and your laments reach Me.
3. When the pain becomes very intense then the man, no matter how indifferent and cold he may have shown himself before my doctrine, remembers God, turns his eyes to Me in search of my charity and in his despair raises this prayer: "Lord, why don't you grant me what I ask so much of you? If you will not listen to my supplication, then shorten my days on earth, since there is no point in being on it just to suffer." How much ignorance do you show by speaking thus to your Father who is all love for his children!
4. That is why with my teaching at this time I come to bring you out of the darkness of misunderstanding, so that you will not stray from the path of light, even in the midst of pain. You will soon know that I did not create you for pain, because suffering was not born of Me, but of you; now it is necessary that you travel all the way so that you may recover the light and purity, which you left in tatters on the thorns of the road.
5. It is true that your life is like a stormy sea in which for a moment you fear to perish, but since you have descended so much because of your imperfections, when your trials are very hard, even at those moments believe in my presence and in my power, do not let me tell you as to my disciples of the Second Time who were with me in a boat, who when they saw that the sea was rising and Jesus was sleeping, they said to him full of fear and anguish: "Master, save us who are perishing". Then my reply full of counterclaim was this: "Ah, men of little faith!"
6. Beloved people, analyze my teaching, regulate your life with the examples of those disciples, because you too will be disciples. Remember, my children, that in the year 1950 you will stop listening to this word, take advantage of it now so that it purifies you and you will no longer be on the path of sin.
7. My sacrifice of love in the Second Time taught you how to wash away the stains that in matter and in spirit you carry, even those that Sodom and Gomorrah bequeathed to

Love one another!

you. I sacrificed myself for the teaching of humanity, to show it the path of obedience and love where it can achieve its redemption.

8. Now after having been given infinite lessons, you are ready to save and purify yourselves by yourselves. I prophesied to you at that time that I would return among men and here you have me fulfilling my promise.

9. If all those who hear this word do not feel my presence, it is because their materialism, their sin and the ideas that are rooted in their minds separate them from the Master, but it will be enough for them to have a moment of repentance so that they feel me in their spirit, the light of my love will illuminate them like Peter, when at the Master's question he confessed the Divinity of Jesus, they will put an end to their evil, they will look with horror at their past, and they will start a new pure, useful and dignified life. Therefore I say to you, do not judge your brothers, when they penetrate among you with their burden of sins and vices, do not reject them, because that intention will be similar to that of that mob that caught a woman in adultery, and to test my righteousness they brought her before Jesus. How severe a lesson I gave to those who thought they were clean of sin by comparing themselves with the adulteress when I said to them, "To the one who thinks he is clean of sin let him cast the first stone on this woman," and they withdrew in shame.

10. How understanding, sincere and humble you will have to be, if you do not want me to call you hypocrites like the Pharisees whom I called whitewashed tombs, beautiful on the outside and unclean on the inside.

11. My gaze is searching and penetrates into the depths of your being and the innermost depths of your heart, my charity is ready to write down your works in the book of your life that will be that of your judgment. Make her write down only good works and the peace that your spirit achieves with it will be the harbinger of great rewards in the spiritual life.

12. Today you remember that day when Jesus was a prisoner of men and in which even the children, taking the example of the elders in their innocence, also shouted: Crucify him!

13. I saw myself before the judges and great was the joy among those who wished for my death when I was sentenced to be crucified. Like the lamb going to the sacrifice, so I meekly bowed my neck and accepted martyrdom as it was written.

14. Today I am before my judges again. I show you my truth so that you may search it and judge it, and I know that you will find stains on it that it does not have, to condemn it later. Judge my work, but all those for whom I have given you my word, leave them alone.

Love one another!

15. There are spirits among you who have been purifying themselves from their great faults on earth since ancient times and in the bosom of Israel until your days, so that when they inhabit the spiritual space they will find themselves pure. These are the ones who have believed in my presence at this time and they will be the ones who will ask those who pursue my work. What kind of imperfection do you consider this doctrine to be? As Pilate asked the crowds at that time, "What are you accusing this man of?" My voice will be silent, as the lips of Jesus were silent on that occasion, and I will let while some judge my word, others defend it because from that struggle the light will arise. My loving gaze will envelop everyone, and my forgiveness will also be for everyone.

16. Before Annas and Caiaphas I was presented and accused, then before Pilate and Herod to be judged. Verily I tell you that at this time my work, my word, will go before the Sanhedrin and then before the new Pilate to be judged. There will be officials who believe in my new manifestation and in this message, but for fear of the world they will be silent and let my doctrine and my followers be persecuted while they wash their hands, but not the stains they have thrown on their spirit.

17. A new cross will be given to me in the Third Time, it will not be visible to mortal eyes, but from its height I will send my message of love to humanity and my blood, which is the essence of my word, will be converted into light for the spirit.

18. Those who judged me at that time, repentant today, give light with their spirit to the heart of humanity to repair their faults.

19. In order for my doctrine to triumph over the wickedness of men, it will first have to be scourged and mocked like Christ in the column. It is necessary that from each wound light should spring from me to illuminate the darkness of this world lacking in love; it is necessary that my invisible blood should fall on humanity to teach it anew the path of its redemption.

20. The cross that you now offer me is heavier than that of the Second Time. Then you had not known Christ, now you all know them, and yet you are going to condemn Him. You will not now see Jesus pass panting under the weight of his cross in front of your house. My spirit will not be crushed by the weight of your sin, however, you will hear my voice saying to you, "I have, humanity," and my thirst will be for love.

21. Mary, the sweet Mother of Jesus will not join her tears to the blood print of her beloved son, but She will send you from heaven her tenderness as a Universal Mother in exchange for your ingratitude.

Love one another!

22. I will not fall on the way to my new Calvary, therefore, there will be no need for the Cyrenian to come to my aid, because I am the strong among the strong, but my gaze will seek my disciples, waiting for them to be faithful as my apostle John was.

23. Blessed is he who knows how to interpret what the Master has told you in this commemoration. Blessed are you who at this time listen to the Divine Master in his teachings of remembrance. The dense darkness that forms the sin of humanity, make the Master embrace the cross of martyrdom and return to travel the way of Calvary. You are living in the Third Time, and you still offer the cup of bitterness to your Lord, and I, humble, accept it to give you once again a lesson of love. Crossing my face with blood and tears that I shed out of love for you, and when you hear my words, tears also come from you that tears out the memory and repentance; that crying washes you and brings you closer to Me.

24. Women who have atoned for your faults, take comfort, for your evil will be set aside for you, so that you may stand up strong on the way. You have imitated Magdalene, and after your fall you have repented, be strong, be healed in spirit and body and be saved.

25. I have come to sinners, not to the righteous, therefore do not be scandalized. I love all my children, healthy and sick, clean and stained and I take care of them all. One heart asks me for light for her children, another introduces me to her sick mother, and I grant them all my charity.

26. If you have cried a lot, console yourselves, if others ask me for sensitivity to cry for your sins, take it and rest, that crying is also relief and peace for the heart full of regrets and sorrows.

27. Remember: when the sacrifice was consummated and those who had persecuted me believed that the lamp that had illuminated the path of my disciples had gone out forever, and that when my voice ceased everything would have ended, they looked into the hearts of those who followed me an inextinguishable ray of light, of that light of eternity that never dies, because if some did not know me, others loved me, and since they knew how to follow me, when I promised to return, they waited for my return watching and praying and in all my manifestations they felt my presence.

28. So it will be at this time; those who have penetrated into the essence of my doctrine will continue to watch and respectfully await the fulfillment of my words, while others will forget the love that I have manifested to them and my desire to save them.

29. I contemplate the pain that is in every heart, and while the lips are silent because they do not know how to express with words what they feel, the spirit rises and makes communion with me. The Spirit of the Father is very close to your heart, he watches over you and blesses you. I also comfort your spirits, dry your tears and bless all of you who have gathered on this day to listen to the voice of the Father, who told you that in the year 1950 you will stop listening to his word through human understanding. You resemble my apostles of the Second Time, because they also listened to me a lot. Carry my word in your hearts, so that you can pass it on to those who did not listen to me through the speaker.

Love one another!

30. You on Earth commemorate dates and days that remind you of the great deeds of your Master in his passage through the world and I am in essence and presence with you at the moments when you remember my works. Only men have their determined days to celebrate with feasts the memory of my passion, in the spiritual these events are not celebrated, because in eternity there are no dates, no days; there is only one day, which is prolonged and never ends; but my divine works are present in the spirit of the righteous who dwell near their Creator and the worship they render to their Father, they do not do it only at certain moments, but they always do it.

31. O disciples who have taken part in my banquet and have eaten the bread of eternal life that your spirit longed for! You think that every year I die and rise from the dead, and that only happens in your mind, because I live in eternity. You believe that my Spirit descends to the dens and to the worlds of atonement to give light to those who are lost, and I tell you: if you wish it, if you ask me, I will do it, because I always find myself giving my charity so that the lost may find the path of their salvation, my gaze always rests on the one who carries with him his chain of atonement and eternally my Spirit is present in all the worlds and in all the valleys, without distinguishing any by its greater or lesser light or spiritual elevation.

32. Know, my new disciples, that your homage and your tribute to the Lord must be constant, without waiting for specific dates or days to offer them, as your Father's love for you is constant; but if you want to know how you should remember my works of love every day, without falling into fanaticism, I will tell you: your life must be a continuous tribute to the one who created everything, loving one another.

33. Do so and I will grant you what you humbly ask of me, that your faults may be forgiven you. I comfort and relieve you, but I tell you: when you discover your mistakes and your conscience judges you, pray, amend your error, put on strength so that you do not fall into the same fault again and do not have to ask me repeatedly to forgive you; my word teaches you so that you climb and give way to light and spirituality.

34. This doctrine is the way that leads you to Me. Do you want to enjoy the promised kingdom? I remind you and I revive the covenant that you have made with me through the ages, so that this covenant will not be broken. I ask you, men of Israel, do you want to enter eternal life and be close to Me? Feel me now that I have come to confirm and fulfill the prophecies and to teach you with patience, so that in the future, every word that sprouts from your mouth, may be born of your spirit prepared before by my love and translated into works of charity towards your brothers.

35. Begin to have charity, bear your sorrows with conformity, work your bread with the sweat of your brow. Love each other as I love you and watch over this nation that I have chosen from all and that I have named the pearl, in which I have placed my pleasures.

36. Do not imitate Thomas when he tests you, do not ask me to allow you to sink your fingers into the wound in my side to believe. When I have to give you a lesson that makes your spirit tremble, do not ignore me, do not doubt and then cry with repentance, because your life is a path of trials and wonders, of sorrows and then of joys, in which the spirit is forged on the scale of perfection.

37. Do not be like Peter, do not deny the one who has given you his lessons with such love, nor be ashamed to belong to this people and to carry the spiritual gifts that I have entrusted to you, because you will deny me, not three times like that disciple, but a thousand and a thousand times, because you have multiplied in number, and your lack of faith will reverberate in other nations.

38. Watch that my cause is not betrayed and the seed of Judas will germinate in their hearts, and when the time comes for them to wake up, in their error they believe, like that disciple, that material death will free them from the regrets caused by the fault committed, and then reach the spiritual valley without finding peace for their spirit that never dies.

39. Look how, as I approach you, making you feel my presence, I show you the true life, but there are few of you who are interested in knowing it; the rest of you are dying for lack of faith, because you did not believe in Me when I became a man in the Second Time. Today you again question my word and my manifestations, and you prove me when I have only come to raise you to spiritual life and to make the truth known to you.

40. My Spirit lives a passion that does not end; every moment he is raised to the cross and the crown of thorns surrounds my temples, my wounds open and I am immolated again so that you may find in my example the lesson of love for your brothers and sisters and live forever.

41. Today I come to you in Spirit, to tell you that I live eternally, while you have succumbed many times, because having me close and having heard my word, you do not know how to receive it in your heart as the earth does when it is opened by the sower and helps the germination of the seed, that is why my seed of love has not been fruitful or multiplied one hundred times one as is my will.

42. At this time I am judging the living and the dead, the light of my love is poured out on every spirit and on every flesh. Blessed are those who weep, for they will be comforted. Blessed are the humble, for they will have glory and praise.

43. When the time comes, you will arise, beloved people, and you will make your brothers feel my holy word and you will disperse throughout the world as good disciples, and this new Gospel that I leave you will spread. This light from the Sixth Seal will illuminate the humanity of this time and with it the mysteries will be clarified. My doctrine will be founded in different nations and everything that men have not discovered, they will see through the light imparted by the Seven Seals and you will speak of these teachings that you received, teaching humanity in the fulfillment of my precepts.

44. Penetrating into the essence of my lessons, my children will understand that my will has been to communicate from Spirit to spirit with humanity, that I have returned among it, because my covenant is indelible.

45. One cannot be said to be alive who ignores my truth, nor a disciple who, having this teaching, commits criminal acts. To the spirits who had lost their way, I have come to rescue them and to deliver them from ignorance and sin.

46. Purify yourselves like Magdalene and live for my service. She was converted by his love and by his repentance. Since the world has not awakened to my love, you who have heard me, honor me by fulfilling the command that says to you: "Love one another."

47. The nations that live in war today are the reckless virgins who did not want to stay awake, and when the bridegroom appeared and knocked on their door, they were asleep. This people has felt me and therefore has managed to preserve peace.

48. I have been your servant to teach you humility. Whenever you have asked me with justice, I have granted it to you, your will is mine. You ask me that you do not lack sustenance, that I take away the scarcity of your home and I give you what is necessary. I grant you everything without your asking because I am your Father and I love you. What pain can afflict the son that the Father does not feel? Who among you has not brought bread to his lips, is naked or lacks a roof? I watch over all my children. The pure air feeds you, the fields offer you their seeds and their fruits so that you may feed; there is no shortage of a fountain that provides you with its waters to quench your thirst. I have given intelligence to man so that he may seek the means to live and lead a pleasant existence, discovering in nature what is necessary for his well-being; understand that it is not you who created beings, nor do you preserve their life, but I who love you and point out to each creature its destiny.

Love one another!

49. In this age in which I have manifested myself in the Spirit, to give you my teaching I say to you: Fulfill the Third Testament that I leave with you. Let your spirit come to me in haste. Take my grace so that my light may shine in you and the Word may be on your lips.

50. Wash yourselves with your cry of restitution and repentance. Raise your understanding through prayer so that your analyzes are just, then you will feel the light of my inspiration on you and your joy will be immense. After receiving this divine inspiration, you will rise up to speak of my work to your brothers, and truly I tell you, your word will be a testimony of the truth.

51. I have manifested my doctrine to you with the word poured out by the lips of many spokesmen inside many enclosures, with a single essence, under a single form, tracing the same path, pointing to the same goal.

52. None of those who have listened to me at this time will be able to say without lying that they have not understood me, because everyone who has been called has been prepared before, My word is a divine treasure that I do not want you to keep just for yourselves. Do not become the greedy rich because believing you have a lot of wisdom you will have nothing, truly I tell you that selfishness is darkness and darkness in the spirit is ignorance.

53. Extensive and clear is my lesson in the Third Time, a lesson that Elijah clarifies to you with his word and that even your spiritual brothers simplify with their advice so that you do not live in confusion. Who of my disciples who has received this teaching will be able to feel weak to fulfill my mandate to bring this message to humanity?

54. I want you to learn all the means and ways of doing charity so that you will not say to me: Father, how do you want me to share my bread or my coins with my fellow men if they are so scarce? If you do not know how you should do charity, you will not be able to teach these lessons to your brothers.

55. Truly I tell you, if on many occasions your hands find themselves empty before the needy, your spirit will always find in itself something to give. When you have nothing materially to share with your brothers, let your spirit offer of the much it possesses; but recognize that, when it is necessary that your charity be in the material, you should not evade the fulfillment of your duty by saying that with the intention it has been enough. Learn from your Father that He gives you everything, both for the spirit and for the matter. Learn from Jesus who taught you to give everything out of charity for your brothers and sisters.

56. Bear your cross with patience and with love, so that I may say to you: Blessed are you. I contemplate in the hearts of some of my children the storms unleashed and I say to them: watch and pray, that the storm will pass and you will see the iris of peace shine again.

57. Tomorrow, when the tribulation has enveloped humanity, you will give thanks, because due to the trials that you are hurrying today, you managed to strengthen your spirit. If you come to contemplate the pictures of pain, hunger and misery, which there are millions of in the nations that are at war, you would not dare to complain, and truly I tell you that many of your brothers, if they do not bless me, at least they do not blaspheme.

58. Watch and pray, make yourselves worthy of my benefits, destroy with prayer everything that human perversity has done.

59. After the approaching chaos, men will seek my Fatherly love and will find me waiting for all my children, because in the Third Time, all humanity will recognize me and all will be spiritually united under one cult.

60. Men have imitated the prodigal son, but when they have squandered even the last part of their inheritance, they will remember the Father and return to Him.

61. I warn you all with my prophetic word, listen to it and spread it, so that tomorrow when you see it fulfilled, you will understand that it was your Father who was teaching you.

62. How far humanity is from the approaching spiritual struggle! How many of my children whose lips have never uttered my name, will be surprised to hear it glorified everywhere!

63. I tell you that you, only pronounce my name when you think it indispensable, so that you teach your brothers respect for the Father.

64. When you see that all morality, virtue and justice have fled from the world, their regeneration seems impossible to you, but it will be in this that the greatness of my doctrine will be manifested.

65. Let my teaching flourish in your heart. Look at each other with love, help each other in your spiritual mission, accompany each other in your trials.

Love one another!

66. When you have prepared yourselves by fulfilling my law, I will give signs to humanity announcing your unification.

67. When will you be ready for your brothers to feel in their hearts the longing to live in the bosom of this people? Understand how serious is the mission and the responsibility of those who listened to me at this time of my communication for the human understanding.

68. "Love one another", and you will see that great multitudes follow you, because humanity is only waiting for an example of true charity and love to rise up in pursuit of my truth. When you reap faith in the hearts of your brothers, in your being you will feel my love, and for your spirit, there will then be no better reward than peace.

MY PEACE BE WITH YOU!

Love one another!

Teaching 50

1. Like the lark that spreads its wings to cover its chicks, so my love extends over you.
2. This voice that calls you is that of the Divine Master; this word is that of the one who created everything. He who has the power to do everything, will turn the stone of your heart into a sanctuary of love and upliftment and will turn on the light where there was only darkness.
3. Some of you will be converted and prepared with my doctrine so that you may go in search of those who have been lost in the deserts, because this is how I contemplate human life, like a desert. There are those who sit alone in the midst of millions of spirits and those who die of thirst without anyone offering them a little water. There I will send my new apostles; I want my name to be spoken again with love by some and heard with emotion by others; I want it to be known by those who ignore it. There are men, old people, women and children who know nothing about my existence. I want everyone to know me and know that in Me they have the most loving Father, that everyone listens to me and loves me.
4. It is necessary that you prepare yourselves, because the moment is near when I will make myself felt in your spirit. I will come to you knocking on the doors of every heart. Blessed is he who knows how to give me lodging. To some I will ask bread, to others water, and as John my disciple prophesied to you: "Behold, I stand at the door and knock, and if anyone hears my voice and opens it, I will come in to him, I will have supper with him, and he with me."
5. Understand that it will not be the material objects that I come to ask of you, it will be the works of love of your spirit, because my hunger and thirst is that you love one another and that you live in peace.
6. Let my love germinate in your heart and mitigate with it the thirst that burns this humanity.
7. I have not tired of waiting for you, you have tired of walking so much because you have made your way long. Let no one be afraid to follow me, for I will be his staff.
8. Fight so that humanity becomes spiritualized; if you come to see it, you will rejoice and thank your Father, but if you do not come to contemplate it, do not be afraid, leave the seed sown, that if you do not reap the fruit here, you will reap it in the life that awaits you. What will that life be like? Do not worry, have faith in her because she is infinitely more beautiful and perfect than the one in which you live today. There are no words in your language that describe or express the divine, and if I were to describe it to you in any way, you would not conceive it, nor would you understand it. In each dwelling and in each scale that you reach I will tell you what you have to know there. However, I have a lot to reveal to you in this world so that you can rise up to those who are waiting for you without stumbling over the obstacles on the way.

Love one another!

9. I want man to come to possess wisdom by being humble and charitable at the same time. Look how many, with a little knowledge, become puffed up, feel great, wield a scepter and crown themselves before their brothers. Be humble of heart, be humble and accessible and I will crown you, but not with human vanities. It will not be necessary for humanity to contemplate this award. Do not look for rewards among men, who have very little to give you; seek to be compensated, who is all justice and owns everything.

10. Do not stop in your journey, do not go back in your evolution; remember with how many sufferings and vicissitudes you have come this far. The fisherman of hearts has rescued you and has brought you to safety; do not stain yourselves again. I sent you to the earth to atone for your sins and not to multiply them. Not because you see that I forgive you for every fault, do you think that my justice can never come to you and force you to wake up from your dream of greatness. Let the peace of my love reveal to you how much I want you to know and let it not be the pain of my justice that speaks to you.

11. Learn, take advantage of the divine teaching and practice it, this will be the way to show that you learned from Me; but when I ask you what you made of my loving lesson, do not answer that you did not know what you heard and that you ignore everything. If you, who listened to my words, denied my love and my righteousness by your deeds, what seed would you leave on earth?

12. At this moment I want you to pray for the nations of the world, for your sister humanity and I promise to descend towards you all like a lark, as I have already descended among you.

13. With love and joy I contemplate that you have all prepared to receive me, some with their good works, others with their pain and others with spiritual penance. You had to pass through the paths of thistles to get to the tree where the nightingale trills, whose song gives peace to the heart.

14. When you left for the paths of life, experience and evolution, you were inherited, but now that you have come to listen to my voice that has surprised you halfway, I find you disinherited.

15. What inheritance is the Master referring to? To that of the spirit, because while some lost it, others changed it for the vanities of the world. But the moment came when you felt the need for spiritual gifts and not finding them in your being, you began to look for them with anguish on one path and the other. That is why I often call you "prodigal sons", because you are similar to the one I told you about in my parable.

Love one another!

16. The signs of the storms that have passed through him are imprinted on your heart; the traces left on your plants by the thistles of the road are fresh, and in your whole being I see the fatigue of a life that today you understand that it cannot be eternal.

17. Your spirit lived a long sleepless night and tears, but the hope that you put when you got up to look for me, was not disappointed, because a beautiful dawn came to surprise you, blinding for moments to your spirit.

18. At last the prodigal son, present in every heart of those who make up this people, returned to his Father's home, heard his voice again and felt caressed with infinite love. The shame of showing his torn clothes and his feet without sandals, dissipated when he felt on his forehead the paternal oscar (holy spear), as proof that everything was forgiven by that Father who had been waiting for the return of the son for a long time.

19. That is why I have told you on this day that you have all prepared to receive me and that you have made yourselves worthy of my caress. When you have rested and the sobs have ceased in your chest, then your Father, becoming a Teacher, has presented his lesson to you, so that you may begin to fulfill the mission for which you were created and sent to Earth.

20. He who increases his love for the Father and becomes his disciple will no longer be able to err on the path. I make everyone enter my sanctuary so that, looking at the purity and perfection that exist in it, they will never dare to stain it.

21. The child was ecstatic before the Divine Teacher's chair, and when penetrating into the essence of his teaching, he realizes that the inheritance that he thought he had lost on the way, was always with him, but his eyes did not look at it, nor did his heart feel it, because he was deaf, blind and insensitive to his spiritual gifts. Already strong, secure and confident, loving his Creator and feeling loved by Him, he has the desire to retrace the paths he left, but not to get lost, but to make light of them, remove the thistles and go to meet the lost travelers and guide them to that tree where he regained life and faith.

22. Blessed are those who tirelessly seek the truth and even more, those who, having found it, do not reserve it for themselves, but bring it before humanity, to illuminate with its light the path of their brothers and sisters.

23. I have called you farmers and indeed you can be. I have given you the time, the seed, the water, the land and the farming tools.

Love one another!

24. Simple is the figurative sense in which I speak to you, so that you can understand how much I want to tell you in these lessons.

25. In your spirit I leave my dew of love that fertilizes and caresses you. Neither in the mountains, nor in the valleys, nor in the flowers, have I poured out so much grace as in you. My love will always accompany you, but this word, which I now give you through the human understanding, that will not be eternally with you.

26. Hear and keep my words in your heart. If I did not grant humanity to return to Earth by becoming a man again, as is the desire and belief of many, I will not grant you that you continue to listen to me in this form after the appointed moment, which is at the end of the year 1950. Today you still don't know what I have in store for you after this time.

27. I am going to prepare you to heal the sick, to comfort widows and orphans, to convert sinners with words of authority, to heal lepers and fill the spiritual path of your brothers with light.

28. Once again I am inheriting and entrusting to you the seed of life, love and spirituality. Do not disinherit yourselves anymore in your life.

29. I leave you my peace, for I am the peace that spreads over the world, like the wings of the lark that covers its chicks in the nest. When will you become spiritually like larks of peace?

30. I have caused you to be born in this nest of love, where you have never lacked sustenance and where my teaching fills your heart with joy. You are still weak, your wings have not grown, the plumage is scarce, but the day will come when you will feel strong to take flight, cross the distances and defy the fury of the winds. Do not imitate those who wanted to leave the nest ahead of time and fell to the ground, because they did not yet know how to flap their wings. Wait for Me to show you the way and then you will not get lost. As a flock of larks you will spread, carrying the olive branch, as a symbol of peace and you will form new nests in the foliage of the trees.

31. You ask me why I have come among you at this time, and I say to you, Do you not realize everything that is happening around you? Do you not know that what has happened in the world in recent times and what is happening in the present are announcements of my arrival and of my presence among men?

32. Look at how war has enveloped the most advanced nations, evil has reached its highest degree of development; lies are taken as if they were truth; science, by revealing great mysteries to humanity, has allowed it to use them for destruction and how many impure activities the world has consecrated as good. That is when I appear before you to enlighten your mind and stop you in your race towards the abyss.

Love one another!

33. I speak to you with my eternal truth and I tell you: if you seek pleasures and science, in Me you will find true science and true joy.

34. How small your planet is, and yet how distant you live from each other. How much division there is in your world!

35. Man is no longer ignorant, his spiritual and intellectual evolution is great, therefore, his responsibility in this hour of trial is also very great. The man of this time may say that he ignores my laws and my justice, but this is not true, because within himself he carries a spirit of light. It is that the spirit yields to the temptations and attractions of the world, before whose plants he deposits his gifts and bows his neck.

36. Humanity, for the love of you I have descended and I have materialized in this way, my Spirit descends to the abysses and my charity extends to save the wayward sheep. I have come to teach you to pray and to ask with the spirit and not with the lips: because it is not the body that must ask, but the spirit is the one who knows what you both need, since I gave you the word so that you could communicate with your brothers.

37. The language of the spirit is beyond your language and your thought. How will matter be able to express what the spirit feels? Those expressions will always have to be poor and those manifestations of prayer imperfect. A tear that falls from your eyes and that often no one sees will always speak better to the Father, a sob that drowns in your chest, a pain that you offer to me in silence and that you hurry with patience, or your good works that will raise their essence to Me, as flowers give off their fragrance.

38. I am justifying my presence among you with my teaching. Some will say, "Teacher, it is difficult to practice your doctrine and perhaps inappropriate for our materialistic age," but I tell you, they said the same thing in the Second Half of my word and yet the Gentiles and pagans were the ones who converted to it the most quickly.

39. Just as I announced to you these times of great bitterness, I also tell you, that after this confusion, harmony will come among humanity.

40. The proud, the exalted, the lacking in charity and justice, will be retained for a time in the hereafter, so that good, peace and justice may progress on Earth and spirituality and good science may grow within them. For it will not be necessary for you to lead a mystical life in order to please me, nor will anyone be forced to follow me, because the works that you compulsorily offer me will not be received by Me. Only the offerings of goodwill, sincere impulses, spontaneous love come to Me. I also do not want you to serve me for fear of punishment, it is time for you to know that God does not punish His children, therefore, do not offend me anymore with your bad judgments.

Love one another!

41. Let interest never guide you, nor give something thinking in advance of the reward, because that is neither love nor charity. Do not let your spirit expect to gather love in the world, as a reward for his good deeds, because you did not come to earth to gather love, but to sow it. The harvest is not of this world.

42. Those who have fulfilled their mission in this life, have left it with peace in their hearts, with a smile on their lips, full of satisfaction and humility, blessing everyone, without thinking about all the pain they collected in exchange for the love they sowed. I am the perfect and just compensation to your works. Do not forget that I said to you, "Whatever you do with your brothers, you are doing with me."

43. If, by a brief act of repentance and spiritual elevation, my divine ray descends on these matters and I place on his lips the word that interprets my divine teaching that moves you and makes you tremble with his love, what will the Father give you, when in that hereafter you present yourselves full of merits in your spirit?

44. I have come to say to you: ask me for my scepter and I will give it to you. Yes, my children, know how to ask and everything will be given to you, that if one day you become worthy of my scepter. I would not deny it to you, but I want you to analyze this word well so that you will not be confused.

45. Many men of recognized wisdom in the world, will not be able to recognize me in this form and will deny me, but do not be surprised, I already announced it to you some time ago when I told you: "Blessed are you Father, who revealed your truth to the humble and hid it from the wise and knowledgeable", but it is not because I hide my truth from anyone, but rather because the pure of understanding, in their poverty or insignificance, can feel better, while men of talent whose understanding is full of theories, philosophies and dogmas; they cannot understand me or feel me. But the truth, which is for everyone, will come to everyone at the appointed moment.

46. Many will come to tell you that it is not I who am speaking to you, that it is not my divine essence that is poured out in this word; then some of you will doubt and in their anguish they will say to me: Master, how is it possible that I lose faith and have to walk without law and without God? But truly I tell you, whoever has felt me and seen me cannot deny me anymore.

47. A whirlwind of ideas and darkness has long disunited men. A whirlwind of light at this time will unite them. The tower of Babel that men built has been destroyed, but in the hearts of peoples and races, that tower of pride has continued to grow. Only a spiritual whirlwind can bring it down and that tempest begins to shake its foundations and its walls, but when this tower has been destroyed, there, in its place, another one will rise, the one that cannot be destroyed, because its firm foundations will not be of disunity, but of fraternity and harmony.

Love one another!

48. To help you understand my lessons, I say to you: Receive me into your hearts, so that you may understand the doctrine that I am coming to reveal to you at this time. This word that I am giving you is the New Testament that will lead you to eternal life. Blessed is the one who recognizes the virtues of this word, because in the hereafter he will recognize the virtues that exist there. Do not ask for proof to believe, because you would imitate the pagan peoples of antiquity, and these are already other times. Do not bring your materiality and your doubt to the point of denying and even putting to death your prophets, as you did in the First Time. You have reincarnated to take a step forward on the path of evolution, not to remain stationary in the same lesson. If my new teaching is more profound, see how I myself have come to explain it, so that you may understand it.

49. You all receive the same teaching, however, not all of you have the same number of reincarnations. You live in the Third Time and there are still those who do not know where they are, or what the truth is, or what the right path is.

50. This is the time of the light and the spirit and many do not yet know the true worship of God; while some do not carry an atom of fear of my righteousness, others fear God in an erroneous and unjustified way. I say to my disciples, that man must fear of himself, because he is the one who works, the one who builds or destroys. How unjust do you show yourselves to your Father, when in the midst of the pain that you are laboring, you say to me, Lord, why are you punishing me? I do not put a crown of thorns on the head of my children, nor on their shoulders the heavy cross. They are sentenced, crowned and overwhelmed with penalties.

51. Jesus the Righteous accepted the crown that you gave him and the cross that you imposed on him, because his sacrifice and his blood were the only ones worthy of showing you by his example the path by which you must ascend to cleanse yourselves of your sins.

52. I am your Judge, but my judgment, which is unappealable and inexorable, is born of love. Today I come to judge the living and the dead, but know how to understand which are the living and which are the dead. I am resurrection and life and I am raising up those who had died to the truth. I come as a king, but I do not wear a crown of vanity, because my kingdom is one of humility. For many I am the dead who rises, because I have come in Spirit to humanity to tell it again that "My kingdom is not of this world", and that in order to hear the voice of your King and Lord, it is necessary to raise the spirit in order to reach Him.

Love one another!

53. He who during his stay on earth has succumbed to temptations and has been a slave of the world and its passions, will have to be surprised by death without strength, nor elevation in the spirit, which is as if it carried death in itself.

54. Evil is raised up thrones in the world and is worshiped in all forms. Good is mocked and fought against, as if it were harmful or useless; but if my voice comes to call you from eternity, so that you may come to Me by the path of good, which is the only one that leads to Me, it is because I am your Creator and because you belong to Me. If I am looking for you, it is because I love you and I don't want anyone to lose the happiness that I have prepared for everyone. As a thief I have come to surprise you, but if I have come to seek anything, it is your spirit. If I have seen you carrying a heavy cross, I should not have come to increase its weight with my judgment, but I have come to help you carry it.

55. Truly I tell you, I cannot yet ask you for perfect works, because you were born and live in sin; but I assure you, I will make virtues spring up from your heart by the power of my word. The gifts that are in your spirit and that humanity believes belonged only to the righteous and the prophets of another time, arise now even in great sinners, and through these gifts humanity will be saved.

56. I am thirsty for your love, hungry for your peace, but if you are also hungry and thirsty, what can you give me? Your spiritual fulfillment is one of peace, watch and pray so that you may make this gift that I have entrusted to you a reality. Pray briefly each day, and spend the rest of your time in fulfilling your spiritual and also material duties.

57. Tell humanity that I have illuminated the path of sinners so that they can escape from the abyss. I come in search of the lost, for the righteous are already with Me.

58. I will teach you to march through the world with meekness at the same time as with firmness. When my communication began at this time, who could have told you about all the spiritual pleasures that you were going to enjoy?

59. You searched the prophecies of the past times and verified that my new manifestation was announced, but when you had the communication of Mary your Heavenly Mother, there were those who wondered: Would Mary's presence also be announced? Verily I say to you, if you interpreted the prophecies of John the Apostle correctly, you would find that his presence was to be at this time also.

60. How many of those who are part of this people have not even searched the scriptures, because the intuition of their spirit and the faith of their heart have told them from deep inside: "He is the Divine Teacher." "She is our spiritual mother."

Love one another!

61. Truly I tell you, wherever my Spirit is manifested, the tenderness and sweetness of Mary will be present there.

62. Why have so many been unaware of her? Think that if she had only existed as a woman and her mission had been reduced to bringing into the world the body where the Word manifested himself, I would not have left her to you as a Mother at the very foot of the cross, nor would my disciples have recognized her as their own Mother, after the Master departed. At this time, when part of humanity denies her purity and divinity and another part recognizes her as the Universal Mother, they worship her with fanatical, ignorant and idolatrous cults; I send you my light and I grant you his presence, so that through his word that pours maternal essence, infinite tenderness and divine consolation, you may rise up among humanity, carrying in your heart a sanctuary where your most tender offering is that which you dedicate to your Heavenly Mother; then you will worthily bear the name of Marian Trinitarian Spiritualists.

MY PEACE BE WITH YOU!

Teaching 51

1. Disciples, with how much joy and tenderness your heart welcomes me today, it is that before your spiritual Mother was among you, enveloping you in her divine essence.
2. How much joy there will be in your spirit, when already outside the matter that imprisons him, he dwells in the regions of peace and can always be listening to the voice of the Heavenly Mother, like a divine song!
3. Faith and love for your spiritual Mother is a seed that I entrust to you to cultivate in the hearts of your brothers and sisters. All those who, through my charity, received the sign on their foreheads, will go ahead making light on the path. Long ago I commanded those same spirits to mark the doors of their houses with the blood of a lamb, as a symbol of covenant and purification. Only I know why at all times I have pointed out to you; only I know your destiny and your restitution, and that is why my justice always touches you, so that you may stay away from evil.
4. When my voice sounded like the echo of a ringing bell at this time, you instantly recognized who was calling and you got up to listen to me so that later you could follow me. None of you feels himself king or lord because of the gifts he has received from Me or because of the dignity with which he has been invested; be the most humble, but also the most zealous of my law.
5. This is the time of your spiritual activity, in which the experience you have gathered on the way will help you. Whenever you have been on Earth, you have sought comforts and pleasures, and when you have dwelt in the Hereafter you have concretized yourself to a contemplative life. Now is when you are understanding the purpose of your existence and the essence of your spiritual mission.
6. Every day men open new furrows to perversity, and it is there that you must drop this seed, you husbandmen of Jesus, so that the example of your good works testifies to the truth of my doctrine and apart from its materialism to your brothers. Let your life always slide along the right path, and when death opens the doors of eternity to your spirit, your brothers and sisters may say, behold a righteous one; and when they come before my presence, the Father may tell you: Come, you will live eternally in Me.
7. Elijah, who is the Spiritual Shepherd of the Third Time, is the one to whom the spirits have been entrusted as sheep of the Lord's fold. He is the one who will gather the 144,000 that I am marking with the sign of my Divinity, and when they have been marked, my justice will be unleashed on Earth. Today Elijah is lighting a lamp in every spirit, so that no one will be lost in the hour of trial.

Love one another!

8. People, My ray of light becomes a word through my spokespersons, to teach you my doctrine. This word has touched your heart, it has pointed out to you the path that leads to happiness by making the weight of your cross lighter. Strengthen yourselves in my word so that you may endure your trials with fortitude and deliver their fulfillment with love and gentleness. Do not be afraid of the untied tongues of men, do not forget that you will have to be very tested.

9. It is necessary that humanity rise up again against me; it is necessary that men search my work; only in this way will they be able to discover the truth and the just law, only in this way will they be able to find my presence and feel my wisdom and my love.

10. In this struggle you have a very important mission to fulfill, but do not think yourselves the possessors of my law, because I am the Law and you are only the interpreters.

11. Be happy thinking that you do not have regal temples that someone can destroy, because you can do your meetings the same in a simple bedroom, in a valley or on a mountain; where my children meet and call me, there I will be with them. I also tell you that there will be no human power to stop this word, which will come without interruption, until the day marked by my will. And if before that time men will shut up the mouths of my disciples or put them to death, their corpses will scream.

12. The prophecies that I have given you in my word will be faithfully fulfilled, because I have not come to deceive you, I have not come to give you stone for bread or snake for fish. I am the Way, the Truth and the Life.

13. In the Second Time I only announced to you the Kingdom from which I came and into which you will have to penetrate; now I come to reveal to you many beauties of that divine mansion. This new life is the beginning of the Kingdom of peace that I have promised you.

14. My footprint has been marked from the First Time, walk through it, go forward without abandoning your cross, because without it you will not be able to be recognized.

15. What men have destroyed, I will rebuild.

16. Penetrate the light and the essence of the Sixth Seal, the book in which your destiny is written.

17. I give you chairs of consolation, others of teaching, others of alertness and some also of preparation, so that you may lack nothing in your saddlebag.

Love one another!

18. How many of the prophecies of my prophets are already being fulfilled! Joel said, "I will pour out my Spirit on all flesh." John the apostle saw this time in his prophetic visions, and my word will continue to be fulfilled to eternity.

19. The divine word is finding an echo in the heart of this people. You have prepared the abode and here you have me with you. The Book of True Life is open before you and every time you study it you will receive a new lesson, but those who sleep in their deep lethargy, do not wait for the year 1950, do not wait for my ringing bell to announce my departure and until that hour you want to get up to hear me. You know that my word and that of my spiritual world will cease to be heard after that year which I have appointed for you.

20. I rescued you and my blood was a symbol of the love I have for you, I do not want you to return to sin, to darkness.

21. A world test is coming and I want my people to be prepared, so that in the midst of the storm, they may be the beacon of hope that illuminates the route of the shipwrecked. Verily, verily, three-fourths of the earth shall be touched, they shall be washed away by sorrow; listen to me, people, for you will have to carry these words to all your brothers.

22. In your heart you will put to death the egoism that it could enclose and you will give place to charity. Would it be possible for you to preach love without feeling it? Before you put that mask of hypocrisy on your face, I will teach you and test you until sincerity is born in your heart.

23. The day of my departure will come, and he who has been able to prepare himself will feel spiritually situated at the right hand of the Lord; but verily I tell you, the number of the disobedient, of those who jump the forbidden fence, will be great, these will be those who, having listened to me a lot, did not know how to take advantage or understand the lesson, and in their ignorance they will ask the Father to be with them for a while longer, having told them many times, "My word is from the King and never goes back," "sooner the heavens and the earth will pass away, or the king's star will cease to shine, than one of my words will cease to be fulfilled," therefore I tell you, that it was my will to announce to you the end of this manifestation from the first days of my communication, so that you all would know and be prepared.

24. Elías announced to the people my imminent arrival, and also pointed out through the mouth of Roque Rojas the year 1950 as that of my departure, that is, the end of the stage of communication for human understanding.

25. At this moment I tell you that my lessons are going very far ahead and you are lagging behind; if you do not want to feel weak on the day of the test, you will have to hurry and make an effort to march to the beat of my lessons. Only in this way will you feel strong to penetrate into the next stage, in Spirit-to-spirit communication.

Love one another!

26. I have revealed to you the presence of the spiritual world, so that you may feel the proximity of your brothers and receive their wise advice; they have come to bring you spirituality; why have you wanted to drag them towards materiality at every moment? It is true that you will not succeed, but you make them suffer.

27. These spirits live in harmony with my Divinity, you are the dead whom they come to raise up, my voice will be telling you continuously: prepare yourselves, because if it were not so, if you do not realize that you live in a time of dangers and lurking, you will see the false Christs, the false Elias and the false spirits of light arise before you.

28. Do you want the world, men or pain to free you from your mistakes? Remember that I have said to you, "The tree is recognized by its fruit," and you must understand that you will be judged by your deeds. Blessed are those who with submission and obedience take up their cross; but there must always be among my apostolate the self-interested and false traitorous disciple, who if he could again lead me to sacrifice. Although it is not necessary to be in the matter so that you can crucify me or spit on my face.

29. I want you all to be obedient, I want none of you deserving of these harsh words; that when your brothers come to ask you about Me, do not hide yourselves, nor deny that you have listened to me; that no one turns his back on me at the moment of trial, that no one hides his inheritance.

30. Extensive is my lesson in each of my lectures, because I want to raise up in your heart a spiritual sanctuary, where I dwell and a peaceful abode for your brothers.

31. Take advantage of this time in which my word through the speaker caresses your spirit; open your heart and keep this book in it, because the moment will come when you wake up from your deep lethargy and turn to it in search of light.

32. From my cross of love I speak to you, but it is not blood that flows out of my body now, but light that comes out in rays that descend on men. I have given you the gift of the word and the light of inspiration: from your mouths will come the explanation of the mystery of the Seven Seals, so that humanity may know my truth. This word that I give you will cause the blindfold of darkness to fall from the eyes of men. All the weeds will be cut down and the good seed will be sown in their place.

33. You are treading on traces of blood, of vice and of sin, denying against those who left them, without knowing if those traces are the ones you left in your previous life; that is why do not feel exempt from responsibility at this time; you will already come to understand that my justice, no matter how hard and inexorable it seems to you, only contains love. A treasure of wisdom I have poured out in this time through my spokespersons and it will be until after my departure in 1950 when you give all your value to this word, when my nightingales have become silent for these divine songs.

34. My word is the King's, my will is one and at that moment nothing and no one will change the order of my commands and designs. There are those who say that 1950 is distant and that it is still time to enjoy free will, that then there will be time to convert and comply with my law. How small and ignorant he proves to be who thinks and feels like that! Who knows the days he will live on earth? Who is the owner of prolonging his existence according to his will?

35. No one wants to leave his spirit turned into a spoil when his envelope ceases to exist; nor make of your spirit a suffering shadow that from door to door and from heart to heart implores an alms of light, when my Spirit poured torrents of it on him.

36. Listen, little children: the Master wants that when this word ceases to be heard, you can be the spiritual teachers of your children, of the new generations to whom I entrust you. You will teach spirituality and morality and your seed will be received in my barn.

37. The hypocritical Pharisees of the Second Time, at every step they crossed my path in the hope of finding a stain in my work, a lie in my words and they could never find them.

38. At this time you will be searched like Jesus, but since you do not have the strength and wisdom of the Master, I want you to at least always find yourselves on the true path. After what I have told you and the time I have given you, your prayer should already be one step away from spirituality, but you have not yet overcome the world, the spirit has not yet imposed itself on matter.

39. In the Second time, I searched for disciples along the shores of the Sea of Galilee and when I found those who were to follow me, I said to them, "Come," and they came after Me; they left everything to follow me. To the multitudes who believed in my words, I said: "Whoever wants to hear me, distribute his goods among those in need and follow me, I come to teach the way that leads to my Kingdom" Those disciples, later converted into apostles of love and truth that Christ preached, knew how to move the spiritual and moral foundations of the peoples of that time. With love and with blood they sealed their work of submission to the Father; from among those multitudes who listened to me and from those peoples who later listened to my disciples, the faithful to my doctrine, the martyrs, emerged.

40. Today I do not come to ask for your life, nor your blood, because it is another time in which you live today; despite this, could you not do something similar to what those did in love, in self-denial and in faith?

Love one another!

41. There are those who say to me: Father, I am ready to give my life for you, and I answer you: No, son, do not give your life without knowing why, rather keep it so that you may be useful to your brothers and when you have completed your mission, then yes humbly give it to me.

42. Today you say: Lord, we do not live by bread alone, come to us and give us your word.

43. You remember me in the midst of your vicissitudes. You are the strong people, and in the moments of greatest suffering you remember the Crucified One, to ask him for strength.

44. You have been strong to seek me and follow me, and your intuition has led you to Me since men have been determined to hide the light of the way, my promises to return, my prophecies of the Second Time and the revelation of my apostle John.

45. In spite of everything, you have managed to turn away from idolatry and fanaticism, defending the faith of your spirit. And when you heard that Christ had returned and that He was teaching the multitudes, you answered the call and recognized that he was the Teacher, by the humility of the way he manifested himself, by the humility of the place and by the simplicity of those who followed him. If they had told you that it was being manifested in the palaces of men, you would not have believed it, because the memory of the humility of the Rabbi of Galilee has not yet been erased from your spirit. Neither would you have conceived him incarnated again in a man, but when you saw him coming into the world in a spiritual form, you felt that this light came from the Holy Spirit. And you know that I don't come twice in the same way. Disciples, close your ears to the murmuring and the judgments that humanity makes of you; think that they are innocent, but always be prepared so that they will not extinguish the light of your faith.

46. I come to reveal to you the secret so that you will never get lost from the path of true life, since at this time in the world there is no one who knows how to guide you along the path of truth. The secret is to let yourselves be guided by consciousness, because I am in it.

47. All men and all peoples have guides, but if he were to ask them, "Where have you been led?" Everyone would say to me: "Towards pain, towards the abyss and destruction."

48. I am giving you a broad explanation of how the path that leads to Me is, teaching you to live with purity on Earth, so that your spiritual worship may be pleasant and clean. I come to tell you to be human, so that you may be spiritualists, fulfilling Caesar and knowing how to fulfill your God.

Love one another!

49. Human life has laws that you must comply with in order to be in harmony with it; nature demands of you her tribute. Give to each law the fulfillment that corresponds, but never get confused and offer me the tribute that belongs to the world, nor to him give the offering that it should be for Me; know that whoever fulfills both laws, both spiritually and materially, is glorifying me and will come to Me.

50. That is why my teaching is not only concrete to the spirit, but also to human life, to the morality that man must have within it; because if you go deeper into these lessons, you will see that Life is one and the way is also one. Do not be surprised that I tell you to dignify the family, to love your parents, that spouses love each other, that man does not see in woman a servant but his worthy companion; that woman sees in man her bulwark, her shield; that parents bring healthy children into the world, those who guide on the path of good.

51. Nor be surprised if I tell you that if Caesar asks you for the tribute of labor, fulfill it, because it is also a law that weighs on man. Take the tools of husbandry and pluck from the earth its treasures and its fruits of love.

52. Seek your progress within human life, but never allow yourselves to be dominated by excessive ambitions, because then you will lose your freedom and materialism will enslave you.

53. Put in each of your acts what your conscience tells you, so that they may contain justice. Respect your rulers, answer their calls and work with them for the good of all. Respect the religious beliefs of your brothers and sisters and when you enter their churches, discover yourselves with sincere recollection, knowing that in every worship I am present. Do not disregard the world by following Me, nor turn away from Me on the pretext that you have duties to the world; learn to merge both laws into one.

54. I come to free your spirit only from the superfluous, from the false, so that in the harsh trials of earthly life, it may know how to rise above all misery, slavery or humiliation. Listen to my voice that says to you, There is no one on earth who has power over your spirit.

55. I have to speak to you in this way, to destroy the misinterpretations that have been given to my doctrine, today I do it through these men by whom I communicate, who are not righteous and that nevertheless, it has been my will to choose them.

56. They know that the greater their preparation and their limpidity, the greater the inspiration that comes to their mind, that is the reason for the regeneration and amendment of these my children who sinned before and today struggle to make themselves worthy of manifesting my Word.

57. If you want to seek perfection, you will not find it in the spokespersons, look for it in the essence of my word, there you will find my presence.

58. People, learn to do charity in all its forms, but do not make your works public, seeking admiration or praise, because that payment is small and you will lose the big payment, the one that I reserve for you.

59. I tell you not only to purify your spirit, but also to strengthen your matter, so that the new generations that sprout from you will be healthy and their spirits will be able to fulfill their delicate mission.

60. Pray, but let your prayer be brief, so that the rest of the time will be spent in practicing the law. I ask you for five minutes of prayer, but that in them you give yourselves to Me so that you may hear my voice in your conscience. Truly I tell you, you are not all watching and praying, because my discerning gaze has penetrated into your heart, where many times even you cannot penetrate, and has discovered what you hide in it.

61. This is the time of judgment for humanity. Man for man, people for people and nation for nation are judged by my Divinity; however, men have not realized it nor do they know the time in which they live. That is why I have come in Spirit, sending my ray over the human understanding and through it I have revealed to you who speaks to you, what time it is that you live and what your mission is.

62. The content of my three testaments, I have come to deposit in the heart of this people, and yet knowing that you possess the truth and the law, you still rise up unaware of each other. It is that the influence of the war that is hovering over the nations, has also made a prey to you.

63. The only God who exists speaks to you, whom you called Jehovah when he showed you his strength and revealed the law to you on Mount Sinai, whom you called Jesus, because my Word was in Him and whom you call today the Holy Spirit, because I am the Spirit of Truth.

64. How is it that you looked at three gods where there is only one? You are all children of this God. Why here on earth do you not know how to love each other as brothers and sisters that you are? You know that men kill each other with men, that blood flows in torrents and the pain that invades the Earth does not move your hearts. I have said to you, Pray, and if you do my commands, you will not fear wars, famine, pestilence, or unknown diseases; but if you are exempt from these penalties, it is so that you pray and watch over your fellow men. Do not doubt the power of prayer because it is the greatest weapon of the spirit.

65. The reckless hand of man has opened the doors that stopped the forces and elements of purification, which have fallen on humanity.

66. Nations of the Earth, who are hurrying a very bitter cup and feel the pain to the depths of your heart, since you have wanted it that way, hurry it with patience, so that from this experience you can obtain light and benefit for your spirit, as you rise up after the true path where you will reach the ruins of the temple that you have destroyed within yourselves and that you will have to rebuild, so that in it my voice will speak to you and you will possess my law again.

67. Pray and do merit, people, because war is stalking your nation. Your spiritual mission awaits you, do not let hunger, plague and death penetrate among you. If your faith lacks strength, you will have to shake your hair in despair at the sight of your brothers killing themselves, your children suffering from hunger; the water you drink will be bitter, your mountains and your valleys will dry up and the trees will not bear fruit, and this land that is looked upon by many as a land of promise for its wealth and abundance, will have nothing to offer to the foreigner, who in search of freedom or bread approaches it.

68. While my arcanum, full of revelations and mercy, is only waiting for the hour when humanity turns its gaze to the Father, showing itself to be clean and humble, in order to pour into it what I have in store for it, truly I tell you that you have always been challenging my justice, and that at this time I have accepted the challenge. I come in time of war, my power is great, my hosts numerous, and my weapons invincible. In the end I will overcome, but I will not rise up over the dead, but before the living; I will humiliate no one, everyone will lift up their faces to exalt my name. That is why among you, people, I want to contemplate union, charity, respect and love from one farmer to another and from one farmer to others.

69. I grant you this time, so that you may destroy in your heart idolatry, fanaticism, everything superfluous and evil that existed in your practices and in your worship. Feel the divine word as it descends on humanity, but in the midst of my justice, feel my peace.

70. O valley of tears and of blood where men lift up their throne to worship themselves and then with their hands dig their own grave! I come to free them from sin and death, because they have become bound and enslaved. Verily I tell you, this world no longer belongs to this humanity, that is why it rejects it at every moment.

71. The Earth, which as a self-sacrificing and tolerant mother has sheltered men, from now on and at every step will point out to them the path that leads not to her bosom, but to the Most High, where another mother, the Heavenly Mother, awaits the arrival of her children to wrap them in her mantle that is eternal promise of happiness.

Teaching 52

1. Feed on my divine essence, be strong in the fulfillment of my law and as a reward you will find peace and comfort in your works. Be true intercessors for your brothers and bring them, with your prayers and your merits, the peace of my Spirit. Do not deprive yourselves of my grace in these times of stalking, strengthen your spirit so that you emerge triumphant from trials.
2. Intercede and make merits even for those who do not love you; imitate Mary, your Heavenly Mother, the divine intercessor, who advocates the same for those who put their hope in Her, for those who have closed their hearts to her or for those who deny her purity and her divine essence.
3. Delicate is your mission and noble is your destiny, people, do not deviate any more from the path that I have traced for you. I have erected a sanctuary in your heart, but do not let the flame of faith be extinguished within it, nor the ideal of spiritualizing you end. Do not keep your temple in darkness, for if someone knocked on its doors he would not find the light he seeks, nor could he hear the echo of my voice. Take my presence and my word in your heart and truly I tell you, there will be no one who destroys your sanctuary, nor who will turn you back on the way. Who can stop you from loving me?
4. My light shines in every understanding and my voice vibrates in every consciousness; however, men do not want to realize the time they are in. It is necessary for a people to prepare to give the good news to humanity and I want that people to be this one, whom I have chosen to make him hear my divine word. If at every step I tell you to prepare yourselves, it is because you will have to bear witness to my manifestation through the human understanding, and that testimony will not be reduced to repeating the phrases that you have learned from Me, but to giving proofs of spiritual power, either by converting stubborn sinners, healing the evicted sick or some other of the works that I have taught you. Think that if you get up without first achieving the regeneration of your life and a principle of spirituality, when you preach love and charity, you will imitate the hypocritical Pharisees who published their false virtue and hid their perversity. I do not want any false ones or prevaricators among my new disciples.
5. If you long for my doctrine to flourish on earth, sow it pure as I have given it to you, watering that divine seed with the water of your good works. Walk trusting in my protection.
6. Who will be able to stop you or silence you when you rise up inspired by my divine light? No one, my people, as no one silenced Jesus at that time, and if He was silent before some sinners, it was to give you a lesson in humility, since with his works he testified to the truth of his word.

Love one another!

7. Realize the years that have passed during which my word has been vibrating through these spokespersons and no one has managed to silence the divine voice that springs from their lips. Truly I tell you, the year 1950 will come without interruption, but once the end of that year has come, my nightingales will be silent for the transmission of my teachings, because everything that I have to tell you through them during this stage of my manifestation will have concluded.

8. You will bear witness to my doctrine with deeds, words and thoughts, and nothing will stop the torrent of light that I will make flow from your spirit, but your time will also come to be silent; I will seal your lips and gather you, because what I was going to say through you will have already been said to the last word.

9. I want you all to unite without making distinctions by attending different venues, because the teaching that has reached everyone is the same, the light that illuminates your mind is the same in some and in others.

10. I have given you means to defend your faith and to watch over the work that I have entrusted to you, but I have never given you weapons to hurt one another. I want those who make up this people to be the soldiers of my spiritual cause, but never the enemies of it.

11. My arcanum was opened at this time to turn the outcasts of the spirit, the hungry and thirsty for justice into possessors of a spiritual treasure. Are you not pleased about it? Does not your heart tremble with gratitude, O people? You say "Yes" to me inwardly, but I want that "Yes" not to be in word, nor in thought, but that you express it with works of love for your brothers and sisters.

12. Now I tell you: rest for a few moments from your earthly fatigue, you have walked a lot with your burden of pain in tow. Come to the fountain of grace to drink of this water that redeems. Now you are weak, but soon you will become the strong ones to fight for my cause and face the trials.

13. Prepare your sandals, because a new path awaits you, in it you will find endless opportunities to sow charity and love. You are still afraid and that is why you have not wanted to announce the new time to humanity. You must understand that what the Father has deposited in you belongs to your brothers and that you must make it known to them.

14. At this time I have not come to give you new gifts or attributes, because what you have realized that you possess, has always been in your spirit. But the times pass and I ask you: what are you waiting for to start and fulfill your mission? Do you expect unbelieving men to mock my word, my new manifestation and publish falsehoods everywhere?

15. Practice and live my teachings and truly I tell you, blasphemous lips will be silent, those who were reluctant will come to you, interested in finding the explanation of my doctrine and will find very great and eloquent testimonies of my truth, if your works are of love and charity. How many of them, seeing how you heal the sick, will bring you closer to their loved ones full of hope to find relief for their ills.

16. Deliver my teaching cleanly and you will not have to hide to cure the sick, because truly I tell you that at this time you will not seek the catacombs to be able to practice my teachings, but you will do it in the light of day. Do not be afraid if you are not believed in your region, you will already go to other lands where you will find fervent hearts.

17. The first ones who must be convinced of the truth that you are going to preach, must be you, so that you can communicate that faith to your brothers. If doubt comes to penetrate your spirit, it will be like a dagger that is killing your aspirations.

18. Three eras have already passed over you, understand that you must rise to fulfill the highest of your destiny, wake up from your lethargy and move forward with a firm step on the path of your evolution.

19. Do not ask me why, being in the way of the Lord, you are still surprised by temptations, know that it is then that you are most tested. That is why I always say to you: Watch and pray so that you do not fall into temptation.

20. The day is coming when your brothers will come to ask you questions. Are you then going to hide what I have revealed to you with so much love? I have not given you anything in my lessons that you can be ashamed of.

21. Do not wait for the lamentations on earth to multiply and the rumors of war to increase to get up, pray and do works of charity every day, that with this you will counteract the force of evil.

22. Whoever of you does not get up to fulfill his mission, it is because he does not know the gifts that I have given to his spirit.

23. Blessed are those who know how to find the essence of my word, for theirs will be this inheritance. The seekers of divine truth are those who have always walked after their Creator, they will come to find the presence of the Master within this humble manifestation.

24. Outwardly my manifestation of this time will seem poor, but truly I tell you that I have come to build a sanctuary in the heart of the man who hears my word. Do not think that among those I have chosen in this time, there are hierarchies, I love them all in the same way. Do not think that the gift of grace possessed by those who transmit my word was achieved by their own merits, this grace is so great that it was only because of my love that it was possible for man to receive it.

25. This mission is delicate for the one who has received it; great is the weight of this cross, because without departing from the needs of the world and without abandoning his material duties, the spokesman has to reach the degree of spirituality that allows him to receive the divine ray of my inspiration.

26. There are moments when you are surprised that God can be with you and manifest Himself with such love; your strangeness is due to the fact that knowing your blemishes and imperfections, you feel unworthy of this great test of your Father's love. You have always been surprised by my love, judging me as you usually do with yourselves. Why do you conceive that in Me the rancor, the feeling of revenge or selfishness is hidden? I tell you, when you judge yourselves inwardly in an examination before the light of your conscience, with the sincere and humble confession of your faults, you make yourselves worthy that I come down to tell you about my Kingdom, because your regret for having offended me helps to purify you.

27. Do not be surprised that my love, despite your sins, follows you everywhere. You are all my children; in this world you have had a reflection of divine love in the love of your parents. You may turn your back on them, ignore their authority, disobey their orders and ignore their advice; you may by your evil deeds cause a wound in their heart, make their eyes dry up from crying so much, that their temples become gray and their faces are furrowed with the traces of suffering, but they will never stop loving you and will only have blessings and forgiveness for you. And if those parents that you have had on earth who are not perfect, have given you so many proofs of a pure and high love, why do you wonder that whoever formed those hearts and gave them that mission of being parents, loves you with perfect love? Love is the supreme truth. For the truth I became a man and for the truth I died as a man.

28. At this time I do not come to ask you for the blood sacrifice, however there are those who have given their lives in my name blinded in an instant by their fanaticism, after having led an impure existence. Such acts will not be able to raise a real seed, but will continue to foment fanaticism.

29. That is why I tell you to speak with your own word and that the teaching you give, live it in your heart. Nothing will speak better than your own life.

Love one another!

30. Do not be surprised my love, but do not doubt him either, if you see that in the world you hurry very bitter chalices. Man may descend a lot, be filled with darkness, or take a long time to return to Me, but for everyone the moment will come when feeling in their own being, they will not feel distant from me, nor see me as a stranger or they can deny my existence, my love and my justice.

31. Just as man on Earth can create for himself a world of spiritual peace, similar to the peace of my Kingdom, he can also, with his perversity, surround himself with an existence that is like a hell of vices, evils and regrets.

32. Even in the hereafter the spirit can find a world of darkness, of perversity, of hatred and revenge, according to the tendencies of the spirit, its confusion and its passions. But truly I tell you, both glory and hell, which men conceive only through earthly figures and images, are nothing more than different states of the evolution of the spirit: one on the cusp of perfection by virtue and evolution, the other in the abyss of its darkness, its vices and its obfuscation.

33. For the righteous spirit, it does not matter where he is, because everywhere he will carry the peace and glory of the Creator in himself. On the other hand, the impure and troubled spirit, even if he can find himself in the best of all worlds, will not cease to feel inwardly the hell of his regrets that will be burning him until he purifies him.

34. Do you think that I, your Father, have created places expressly destined to punish you and thus take eternal revenge on me for your offenses?

35. How clumsy are the men who are teaching these theories!

36. How is it possible that you believe that darkness and eternal pain are the end that awaits the spirits who, even if they have sinned, will always be children of God? If you need teaching, here is the Teacher. If you need love, here is the Father. If you long for forgiveness, here is the perfect Judge.

37. He who never tries to seek me by correcting his faults will be the one who does not come to Me, but there is no one who resists my justice or my trials. Only then will you be able to reach Me.

38. Disciples: If at the moment of listening to my word you do not understand it, keep it in your memory, and in the moments of rest, remember it and analyze it; then you will come to understand much of what I have taught you. If you do not stockpile what will you be able to deliver to the multitudes that are to come?

39. Without distinction, I let you all come to my presence to give you my lessons. Before I give you a charge, I dry your tears, I close your wounds, I calm your spiritual hunger and thirst, and when I have given you proofs of my love and I have lit the light of faith and hope in your heart, I have said to you: You have all been called, do you want to be one of the chosen ones? Then some ask, "Which way and where are you taking us?" These are the ones who sigh for the world and its pleasures. Others say to me, "Lord, we are not worthy to call you your chosen ones, but your will be done in us." These are the ones who are already in time to rise.

Love one another!

40. To those who follow me I leave the peace of the world so that they may watch and pray for him. The nations will soon raise their prayers to ask me for the peace that I have proposed to them every moment. Before I have allowed men to taste the fruit of his work, to contemplate rivers of human blood and pictures of pain being spilled, mountains of corpses and cities turned into rubble. I have wanted men of inveterate heart to see the desolation of homes, the despair in the innocent; mothers who, maddened by pain, kiss the shattered bodies of their children, may they feel all the despair, anguish and lament of humanity, so that they may feel humiliation in their pride and their conscience may tell them that their greatness, their power and their wisdom are lies, that the only truly great thing comes from the Divine Spirit. When these men open their eyes to the truth, they will be horrified, not at the pictures that their eyes contemplate, but at themselves, and not being able to flee from the gaze and voice of their conscience, they will feel within themselves the darkness and the fire of remorse, because they will have to account for every life, every pain and even the last drop of blood that has been shed for their sake.

41. I will not only claim for what men have done of the lives of others; I will also claim for what they have done of their own life, of their body. Who can say that he has come to Me in spirit, at the very moment when the eternity clock called him? No one, because many times you shorten your existence by aging prematurely, sometimes consumed by causes that are not worthy of one of your tears or a single one of your gray hairs.

42. I am inexorable and perfect justice, born of the purest love that is your Creator, who only asks you to turn away from the pleasures of the world to come and hear my word. The Master gladly opens his book of perfect teachings to delight you with a new lesson. How many times a single one of my maxims has been able to save you. Here he has awakened your spirit and has felt the charges he received from the beginning.

43. I have found your heart guarding the vain seed that it gathered on earth, but which is now to become a granary where you keep the good fruit of your charitable works.

44. The great sinners arrive among the multitudes, those who have dragged their spirit into the mire of passions, who have taken away honors, who have profaned the gray hairs of the old man, who have stolen what is foreign, who have stained the innocence of the child and given material or moral death to their fellow.

Love one another!

45. Those who profane the home come to hear me, those who flout divine or human laws, those who extinguish the faith of hearts, and when they hear my word that touches the sensitive chord of their heart, then they say: "It is the Judge who speaks, but with how much sweetness he makes us understand our mistakes and with how much tenderness he teaches us and corrects us". And when those hearts have left the enclosure where they heard this voice, it seems to them to see life and everything that surrounds them illuminated, not only by material light, but bathed by a divine light that speaks to man through all Creation. Then a wonderful life arises before the eyes of the one who has purified himself, where before he saw only matter, carnal pleasures or sins. An existence that he had not foreseen appears before his spirit, full of revelations, promises and inspirations. It is the miracle of love, not only of the word, because how many times have men spoken in a more flowery and perfect way than these humble and rude spokesmen through whom I communicate, but the essence of which each of these words is clothed, can only spring from Divine Love.

46. Few have listened to my word in this way, but in truth I tell you that all humanity is listening to my voice, in the silence of the sanctuary that exists in their spirit, although their mind is not able to conceive these inspirations, nor their lips know how to express everything that through their spiritual gifts they are continuously receiving; when you are ready, you will verify this truth.

47. In this Third Time, Elijah is the Shepherd who rescues you from dangers day by day, he is the one who penetrates to the corner of your bedroom when you pray, the one who accompanies you in the solitude of the desert and the one who follows you on long journeys. Wherever you need someone to defend you, or a voice to give you courage, there is Elijah, the Spiritual Shepherd of the Third Time.

48. If you want to know where Elijah dwells, I will tell you that in the spiritual mansion. Who among you could rise up there to contemplate Him? No one yet, that's why he comes to you to prepare the paths that lead to your heart, so that later the Master arrives illuminating your entire being. And do not think that I only descend towards those who seek me with greater purity or perfection, no, I come after everyone who seeks me, who prostrates himself before his idol, who conceives me through forms or ideas very far from the truth. Each one seeks me according to the capacity of his spirit and it will not be I who come to extinguish the flame of faith that they have in the depths of their being, about the existence of God.

49. My will is that in this time humanity may come to communicate spirit to Spirit with its Lord, that in the heart of man there may be a true sanctuary where he hears the voice of the Father.

Love one another!

50. To reach this degree of spirituality, men will have to attend the great battles of the religions, which will awaken the lethargic spirits, which will contemplate the light of truth.

51. Do you not think that it is time for men to raise up to their God, to their Creator, a cult and a tribute worthy of the one who receives it and of the one who offers it? If you study or observe the different kingdoms of nature, you will find in them an infinite number of examples, lessons and parables worthy of your imitation; I do not want to tell you that the lower beings are your teachers, but I do tell you that nature, the whole life, is a book whose author is God. I have opened that book before men so that in it they may contemplate my perfection, my love and my justice, not in word but in deed.

52. Do not look for me in books of false wisdom, nor in your theories generally mistaken by the materialism in which you live. It has already been granted to you that you walked along all the paths in full enjoyment of your free will, today I come to tell you to restrain your career and meditate for a few moments on the experience that you have collected in life, on everything that you have looked, felt and suffered on the long road traveled. Verily, verily, I say to you, whoever takes advantage of that light will find the path of truth that will lead him to his own origin. The way is Me, whoever has known It, has known Me, I am the beginning and the end of the way. I am the alpha and the omega.

53. I am the Master of simplicity, who comes to speak to you as an intimate friend, with the most familiar of languages, to clarify mysteries and reveal the secrets hitherto hidden from your human knowledge.

54. Give your spirit the opportunity to recreate itself in the contemplation of the divine and in the practice of the laws that govern it. Do not take this life as the only one, nor material work as the only means to have well-being. Do not shut yourselves up in the love of your family, because your lands are more extensive. Selfishness is not God's seed.

55. Men have loved this life in such a way that when the time to leave it approaches, they rebel against my will, ignoring the call I make to them, despise the peace of my Kingdom and ask the Father for one more time on earth to continue possessing his temporal goods.

56. Sensitize yourselves so that you imagine the spiritual life and do not conform to the principle of your evolution that this is this life, because there are higher works on it.

57. Do not try to reject death when she approaches you by my will, nor do you seek the man of science to perform the miracle of contradicting my designs by prolonging your existence, because both of you will bitterly mourn this lack. Prepare yourselves in this life and you will not have to fear your entry into the Hereafter.

Love one another!

58. You cry when one of yours leaves for the spiritual valley, instead of feeling full of peace, understanding that he is going to get one step closer to his Lord, and instead, you feast when a new being arrives at your home, without you thinking at that hour that that spirit has come to incarnate to fulfill an atonement in this valley of tears; It is when you should cry for him.

59. When will you feel for strangers what you feel for your own? From a single marriage I caused to sprout the endless seed of this humanity, which very soon was divided into families, into tribes, into peoples and nations, hence the differences in customs, in languages and religions were born. These differences created hatreds and put distances between each other. Wars and envies arose. The seed of Cain has borne many fruits. But now that the spirit has developed and you have cultivated your mind, why do you keep looking at each other like strangers, hate each other and put yourselves to death? Today you know that all spirits were born of my Divine Spirit and that humanity comes from a single couple, that therefore you are brothers by the spirit and even by the blood.

60. How far are you from the true path, when you do not feel the pain of your fellow man, being a part of yourself! You see someone pass by whom you have never seen before and considering him a stranger you do not address your greeting to him, on the other hand, if you see a funeral pass by you discover yourself. Why don't you devote your attention, your love and charity to the living? I have wanted that with your love you erase the borders and the differences that exist in the world, but men have not wanted it that way. Do you want it to be human blood that blurs the boundaries and brings them closer to each other? Do you want war to unite the races? I prepared from the earliest times a people who would recognize me and love me, so that I would go among humanity like a torch, and this has been strong at times and at others has weakened. Today I have brought him back to earth, so that the prophecies may be fulfilled. This people is the one who has received the three Testaments spiritually and knowing that at this time I was communicating through the human understanding, they did not dare to deny me publicly because their spirit remembers that in the Second Time they shouted "Crucify the impostor", and then they had to cry bitterly. Today many of them have believed in my return, others have not; but these, after my departure in 1950, will also believe, because they will contemplate my fulfilled prophecies and tell me. "Lord, when you spoke to me I doubted and now that you have departed and that I see your word fulfilled, I believe in you."

61. Before I lift up my word, those who you call foreigners will arrive, who without clearly understanding this word due to the difference in language, will feel that their spirit is filled with peace and is fed with my divine essence, because it will be my love that they feel in their heart and you already know that love is the language of the spirit. These will also rise up to follow me, for my people are scattered throughout the whole world.

62. In the midst of a storm I have come to you at this time, the iris of peace has not yet shone, the dove has not come with the olive branch, but the moment will come when I, the love of loves, can say to all men: "Here I am"; then everyone will see me and be united. Today I am still judging the living and the dead.

63. In the Third Time I have come out of the tomb of oblivion in which humanity has had me to resurrect it, because I am life. No one can die, even he who rips himself out of existence by his own hand, will hear that his conscience will claim his lack of faith.

64. I want you to come to form a family, a healthy people of spirit and body.

65. When will the elevation of Abel, the obedience of Abraham, the strength of Jacob, the patience of Job and the spirituality of John arise from among you? Recognize your responsibility in the world.

66. Men, flee from vices so that your blood may be fertile seed and the fruits of tomorrow may be pleasant.

67. Women, I am preparing you to give the world children of peace and goodwill. To the barren I say: Pray, do not be ashamed of your atonement. Be content that I will surprise you by making you feel the heartbeat of a new being in your bosom.

68. Procreate perfect children in imitation of your Creator, who has formed only perfect beings and fulfill the divine precept that asks you to love one another.

MY PEACE BE WITH YOU!

Love one another!

Teaching 53

1. Why is it that from the day I communicate with you to the day I teach you a new lesson, I find that in such a short period of time, you have already stripped yourselves of the peace that I gave you? Do not lose on the roads the graces that I give you. You come frightened by the trials and vicissitudes that you encounter on your way, you arrive with a contrite heart; this is how I see you almost always, when I have given you my peace, so that you may cross with serenity and faith on the path of evolution of your life.
2. I have taught you to pray so that you may be freed from risks and stumbles, from lurks and darkness; I have told you that even the elements will hear your prayer when they are loosed by my justice; they will pass over you without touching you, because you knew how to pray with faith and purity.
3. From the dross and the abyss I will raise your spirit at this time so that it recognizes not only your God but yourselves as well as your spiritual gifts, but first you will have to go through the crucible of pain that will purify you, because without regeneration your gifts will not be able to shine in all their intensity.
4. Human passions are like a storm that strikes your inner sanctuary and only the one who prays is strong to resist the trials and the one who watches is alert to protect himself.
5. When I speak to you of temples and shrines, I am not referring to the enclosures that you build materially, but to your heart, because wherever you go, the temple will be there and you will always find my love present in it.
6. Humanity has created religions, similar to paths that lead to Me, but I tell you: Stop walking under the human interpretation that each one gives to my law; it is time for all of you to know how to receive my inspiration, so that this light may be the one that guides you.
7. Sometimes you ask yourselves: why is it that this people is the only one I have spoken to, when there are so many nations that need it? To which I answer you, that at that time it was only a mob that witnessed my crucifixion and my death; however, the blood of the Lamb fell on all mankind, to show him the way of his restitution; so at this time I will speak to these congregations, but the light of my Spirit is poured out throughout the world.
8. I have already given you all the means to learn and practice, and I do not want that when you arrive in spirit before my presence, you present yourselves without harvest, pretending that the hardness and the reluctance of the matter did not let you fulfill your mission, because whoever does not overcome the temptations of the world, will not have merits to present himself before the Lord. Matter has a lot of strength in its passions, inclinations and weaknesses, but the spirit is endowed with a higher power and with it it will be able to impose itself on evil.

9. What merit would your spirit have, if it acted inside a body without will and without its own inclinations? The struggle of the spirit with its envelope is from power to power, there he finds the crucible where he must prove his superiority and his elevation, it is the test where many times the spirit has succumbed for an instant to the temptations that the world offers him through the flesh. The force they exert on the spirit is so great that it came to seem to you that a supernatural and evil power was dragging you into the abyss and losing you in the passions.

10. How great is the responsibility of the spirit before God! The flesh has not assumed that responsibility; see how, when death comes, it rests forever on earth. How long will you make merits so that your spirit becomes worthy to inhabit more perfect dwellings than this one in which you live?

11. The world offers you crowns that speak only of vanity, of pride, of false greatness. To the spirit that knows how to pass over these vanities, another crown is reserved in the hereafter, that of my wisdom.

12. At that time I sought the valleys, the mountains, the sea and the desert to speak to you; today I also find that there are hearts that by their peace resemble valleys, others that are like a stormy sea, like the one that curled up, when Jesus with his disciples sailed in the boat. Some, by their elevation when listening to me, resemble the mountain and others, by their loneliness and their aridity, resemble the desert.

13. You who hear my word, love it, study it and put it into practice. How many wishing to listen to her will not be able to hear, because that grace was not given to them at this time! But in truth I tell you that its echo will reach everyone and with more purity because it will not be the voice of man that reaches them, but the essence of the Divinity.

14. Today I am chiseling your heart with my word, I am teaching you to feel the pain of others, because whoever does not have charity, cannot be my apostle. I do not want the needy, after having uselessly knocked on your door, sobbing, to ask me if these are my chosen ones, those whom I have prepared as depositories of the cares of their brothers, as confidants and staffs of the needy. Watch, O disciples!, So that you may perceive even in the middle of the night, when you are sleeping soundly, the hand that knocks at your door. The one in need who is looking for you today may be the one who, moved by your charity, also becomes my labourer and tomorrow I will lighten your mission for you! How many of those who arrive today asking for a little love, understanding or justice, will tomorrow be the shield that defends you, or the witness that saves you, but what can you expect from the one who knocked on your doors with all his pain and the hope placed in your charity and was not heard? Let him come to you who has sunk into the mire of vice; if you know how to move him, he will repent. Let the ragged man feel worthy of your house and of your table, but do not be disgusted by his poverty, perhaps spiritually he is cleaner and more adorned than you. Do not reserve your best attentions and smiles for those who carry material wealth in their hands or who present themselves covered with expensive adornments; make your heart not contemplate these differences and distribute the benefit of your gifts equally to all. Suffering abounds; how much good can you do in every day and at every moment?

Love one another!

15. If you look at childhood, you will see that there are many little ones without love, without law and without bread. If you penetrate among the youth, you will find the struggle of passions, the wrong paths; and if you look among the men and women who have reached maturity in life, you will find among them the tragedies, the very bitter cup, sometimes of widowhood, the lack of hope and faith, as well as a true spiritual incentive that comforts and sustains them.

16. Only my word can move and make sensitive the heart hardened by pain. Many of you had suffered so much, that you didn't feel or care about the pain of others. I tell you a lot about the pain and I mention the charity that you should have towards your brothers, because there are so many sufferings in the world as human beings, and just at this time the sorrows of humanity begin; that is why I am preparing you to comfort your brothers with your love.

17. If the great peoples of the Earth like to toast the world by raising the chalice of bitterness and pouring it on humanity, I, from this humble table, toast with you with a spiritual chalice of sweetness and life, so that you may carry this message to those who carry death in their hearts and bitterness on their palate.

18. Go step by step along this path of love; let the hurricane winds blow over you without weakening you. Your ears will hear that they tell you that you are going down the path of perdition, but strengthen yourselves with the memory of my words, when I tell you that my mantle will cover everyone who travels in the world along the path that I have traced with the bloody imprint of my passion.

19. I want your face to reflect the meekness of your spirit but not hypocrisy, because what your brothers do not see, I will be judging. After the storms that are going to strike this people, the number of those who remain around me will be short, because many will falter because of the trials, but those who remain will be those who will make my work flourish. Everything will be clean both materially and spiritually, because with my word I have come to open for you the way that was closed by the wickedness and disobedience of men. The eyes of your spirit have also been opened so that you may behold the truth; I tell you again that every eye will see me. The well-understood penance that I have asked of you is so that you may put in your life a principle of regeneration; therefore I tell you that I do not want you wearing habits of hypocrisy, I want you to be good and sincere, testifying with your works the truth of my doctrine.

20. You will come to acquire a wealth of wisdom without needing the books of men, your only book being this word in which you will have no influence of strange doctrines or misinterpretations, nor theories of men, only my law that traces the path of your evolution.

21. The dense veil of your materialism had lulled you into an ignorance that made you feel far from the divine and hid from you the light that should illuminate the life of the spirit. At this time my voice tore that veil and showed you my sanctuary revealing to you new lessons of my arcanum. Faced with my spiritual manifestation, some have lit their lamp of faith, while others have preferred to continue looking at life with the light that their weak spiritual knowledge has given them. When will you understand all that you must treasure for the spirit?

22. I do not forbid you to search nature or to accumulate knowledge, if these are for the well-being and advancement of your human life, but I also want you to be interested in reaching light for your spirit, because it will be the only thing that from here you will take to the hereafter and that on the spiritual path will serve you for your progress. I am so close to each one of you that it is enough that with your thought you ask me something, so that you instantly receive my answer. No one will be able to reproach the Father who has turned away from his children, because like a loving shepherd I have always watched over all my sheep and I can truly tell you that none has been lost or will be lost, because everywhere I am; everywhere my light exists and the life and love of your Father pulsates in all creation.

23. Man has strayed from the fulfillment of my law and today I can tell you that with my lessons of love I am bringing many erring sheep to the path of their evolution, but when they return to the fold I will bring others, until I keep them all in the fold of my love.

24. Today you know that pain purifies the spirit and the heart, and that it is not the first time that you have to distain your spirit from its faults. The glass of bitterness poured its contents on the world and it was like a new flood, but more painful, more bitter and prolonged. Times will come when it will not be pain that holds men down and stops them, but the light of their conscience. If you still need pain as a brake, it is the clearest sign that spiritually you have not evolved.

Love one another!

25. Think, my children, that you will have to climb the mountain carrying a cross of pain on your shoulders, but understand that the cross that will lift you up will not be that of the restitution of your sins, but that of your sacrifices for others. To men I say that they should be guides, defenders and guardians of humanity, to women, to mothers I say: pray for the great multitudes of children without fathers, homeless and without bread. Your prayers will be like the wings of the lark that open to shelter the chicks; but at this moment, think not only of yours, because they have your tenderness, but of those who on earth have nothing but loneliness and hunger for affection. Pray for them. Who better than you to understand the cold, the emptiness and the thirst of those tender hearts? Pray and soon bread, shelter and love will come to them. This is the right time to do charity.

26. You have been confined to the Earth, to this planet that being a wonderful garden, where the Creator overflowed in blessings, man came to transform it into a valley of tears, but humanity will come to understand that by restitution it has been given to come into the world at this time to transform this desert of sorrows and pain into an eden of light, into an abode of fraternity and peace where my precept is fulfilled that tells you: "Love one another".

27. Among those who listen to me are the unbelievers, who would like to play as Thomas did in order to believe, those who will come to communicate with Me from spirit to Spirit. I tell you that you will first wash your vessel inside and out, so that my word may fall into it as a dew of grace and life for the spirit.

28. The sick would like to touch my robe as in the Second Time, so that their faith would heal them. And I say to you: Why do you not touch my Divine Spirit with your pure thought, with your fervent prayer? You would get everything that your spirit and matter needed.

29. This is the lesson that I give you, letting you look at this book that I have opened before you through the ages. It is the book of my eternal wisdom, which today I show you, opened in the Sixth Seal, taking as my interpreter the spokesman that I have prepared.

30. Throughout the ages you have wanted to study my manifestations to know my will and my commands, and I have answered your questions, because everyone who seeks me out of love, desirous of finding the truth, finds me, looks at me in front of him, feels me and is encouraged by my love as I am filled with joy when my children present to me the fruit they have achieved with their works of love and charity, with which they have alleviated the pain of their brothers.

Love one another!

31. In that book that I have come to open once again before you, all my teachings are contained, and what is written in it you will know and it will be for your happiness, because it will guide you on the path of your evolution.

32. You are eager to receive my inspirations, which I have poured out abundantly in all times and you have not taken advantage of them. Today that I communicate with you through the human understanding, will you continue to doubt my lessons and my presence among you? I have not come to speak to the dead or to beings for no reason, but to you who are human, who have a conscience and know me. If I spoke to the dead; if I spoke to the stones or to the elements of nature, they would already be bearing witness to Me, but the unbelief of my children will not stop my teaching, and this book will continue to speak of the truth, of the life of grace and of the hereafter.

33. What do you seek in my doctrine, what do you want to know, my children? The light, some tell me; we long to find peace, I hear others tell me. I tell you that if you prepare yourselves, you will find in my word everything that your spirit longs for. I have prepared this nation as a prosperous and blessed land from where you will be able to look at the mount of the new Zion, the land that awaits you, and tomorrow, after having passed through the world fulfilling your mission, you will meet in spirit on the paths of the hereafter, and you will all be gathered in one valley forming one Spirit with me.

34. It is necessary that you study so that you may know the reason for the events of this Age, why Elijah has come at this time and why I give you my word. In all ages Elijah has come as my forerunner to prepare the spirit of all men. In the First Time Elijah came to Earth, reached the heart of humanity, and found it fallen into paganism and idolatry. The world was ruled by kings and priests, and both had departed from the fulfillment of the divine laws and were leading their people along paths of confusion and falsehood. They had erected altars to various gods, to whom they worshiped. Elijah appeared at that time and spoke to those with a righteous word: "Open your eyes and see that you have profaned the law of the Lord, have forgotten the example of his messengers and have fallen into cults unworthy of the living and powerful God, it is necessary that you wake up, look at him and recognize him, tear down your idolatry and lift your eyes on every figure with which you have represented him".

35. Elijah heard my voice saying to him, "Get away from that wicked people, tell them that for a long time the rain will not fall, until you command it in my name," and Elijah said, "It will not rain until my Lord signs the hour and my voice commands it"; and saying this he went away. From that day the earth was dry, the seasons favorable for rain passed, without it coming. There were no signs of water in the sky, the fields felt the drought, the cattle began to perish, the men dug the earth looking for water to quench their thirst, without finding it; the rivers dried up, the grass withered succumbing under the rays of a hot sun and men cried out to their gods, asking that that element return to them to sow and gather seed to feed them.

36. Elijah had gone away by divine command, he was praying and waiting for the will of his Lord. Men and women began to leave their lands in search of new villages where they did not lack water; everywhere caravans were seen and in all places the land was dry.

37. The years passed and one day when Elijah was lifting up his Spirit to the Father, he heard his voice saying to him: "Seek the king, and when I give you the sign, the waters will fall again on this earth."

38. Elijah, humble and full of obedience, went before the king of that people and showed his power before the worshipers of the false god; then he spoke of the Father and of his power and then the signs appeared, lightning, thunder and fire were seen in the sky, then the life-giving water fell in torrents; again the fields were clothed with greenery and the trees were filled with fruits and there was prosperity.

39. The people, faced with this trial, woke up and remembered their Father who was calling them and admonishing them through Elijah.

40. Many and very great were the wonders of Elijah at that time to move humanity.

41. In the Second Time John the Baptist appeared advising penance, preparing hearts to receive the Messiah. That blessed Forerunner spoke to the multitudes, because the time of Jesus' preaching was approaching, and it was necessary that they should recognize him. He baptized with water and even poured it on Jesus, saying to him, "Teacher, how should I baptize you if there is no stain on You?" To which Jesus replied, "It must be so that I may begin my journey by teaching submission, so that those who follow me, when they are about to begin its fulfillment, will know how to purify themselves and prepare themselves."

42. Elijah, a Spirit of great power and who has not been recognized by humanity, has always been my forerunner. Today he has come once again to prepare those who have been appointed, those who have served me as spokespersons and all of humanity.

43. If you prepare yourselves and study my teaching to come to know my will, Elijah will come to your aid and will be your staff and friend.

44. Elijah is a divine ray that illuminates and guides all beings and leads them to Me; love and venerate him as your precursor and intercessor.

Love one another!

45. Disciples, if you want to enter the Kingdom of Heaven, do lawful works, comply with the law, and my Work will be known to all, distinguishing between religions and doctrines as the only path that I have traced to man.

46. To help you in your preparation, come to Me, sit at my table, where I have reserved a place for each of my disciples, from which you will attend my chair. Do not worry if the person I am communicating for is a man or a woman, if he is an old man, a young man or a child. Analyze my lessons until you find the divine essence of this word and you will feel my presence through any of my chosen ones. Take advantage of these moments, because later you will be able to cry if you don't do it that way.

47. Let this people grow as trees grow, multiplying their branches, as rivers spread, forming new rivers and streams. Look at how new congregations sprout from one congregation in the counties and in the cities.

48. It is my Spirit that has sent you to the different regions to carry a message of spirituality. Why are there those who, departing from the principles of spirituality that I have outlined to them, of giving love and charity without any interest, are selling the services they do through gifts that cost them nothing? Do you not remember that I told you from the first lessons you heard, to watch and pray, because temptation lurked in your path? Remember and you will remember that I also told you that I have more to give to you than you have to ask of me, so that you may be willing to receive from Me whatever is lawful.

49. Know that in the book of your destiny is marked the day and the hour when the doors of the hereafter will open to give way to your spirit, from where you will see all your work on Earth, all your past. So do not want to hear voices that are reproaches or complaints against you, or see those who point out to you as the cause of their ills.

50. What a pity, what a pain a spirit feels when he arrives at that mansion of light and peace and hears that the cry of his victims reaches there! If you do not want to go through this trance, cultivate from now on the lands that I have entrusted to you, sowing in them the seed of my doctrine in all its purity. Do not feel incapable of carrying out works worthy of Me and abandon your tools in the middle of the task, to forget this mission and give yourselves up again to the temptations of the world.

51. Arriving in haste to listen to my word, remember that the day is coming when you will no longer listen to it in this form. The time has passed for you when it was necessary for the prophets to appear before the people to exhort them to do penance and threaten them with the justice of God, if they did not hear that warning voice. Today I want you to be the prophets who awaken humanity and transmit this heavenly message to it. I will do wonders in your way and I will give you the weapons of truth with which to fight, because you will be fought.

Love one another!

52. I will make many crooked paths straight by the righteousness of my good disciples. The spiritual presence of the people of God, called "Israel" on Earth, will be felt among humanity and many will come to understand that what had been interpreted in a material form had a high spiritual meaning.

53. If the spirits that formed this people, spread throughout the world and through the spiritual valley, to fulfill a restitution, now, united by my love with the light of the Holy Spirit, illuminating the path of their evolution, they will gather in their path all those hungry for freedom, peace, truth, justice, love and redemption.

54. Verily I tell you that the people of God are infinite, that you all belong to him spiritually, therefore, that people could not be limited to one nation or one race. The people of Israel, called by the prophets and patriarchs of the earliest times, "the People of God", is a symbol of the universal family, a people made up of beings wisely chosen for my designs and which I have taken as an instrument to convey my lessons to humanity as an open book before men, a book that speaks of spiritual and material evolution, divine revelations, prophecies, human interpretations, the successes and errors of that people, splendor and decadence, freedom and slavery, light and darkness. This people will have no more Promised Land in the world, their mission is to go looking for the lost and reanimating the weak to teach them the way of the desert, behind which are the gates of the New Jerusalem, the spiritual city, where you will dwell eternally with your Master.

55. The 144,000 designated have the mission of zealously watching over the law, of reviving the people on the day, of defending the faith. They will be soldiers of peace, teachers in my wisdom, doctors for all ills, comforters and prophets.

56. Great events have been witnessed by the generations of this time; without you realizing it, you are going through the great battle, which is not fought only in your fields or nations at war, but in many orders. The real battle is in the spiritual, there where your eyes do not penetrate, in the human mind and heart, in men of science and religions and in all human institutions. It is that a new time is coming, in which the Seventh Seal has to be opened and Justice and light in the spirits triumph. First I will have to send to Earth spirits full of my grace, who will lead humanity like children so that they may achieve their salvation.

57. Pray and feel how Elijah crosses space from one end to the other, making light on the dark paths, rescuing those who have been lost, unifying the stained, awakening those who sleep in ignorance and ordering everything, because this is his time. Do not be afraid of him, love him, because he has come as a Shepherd to lead you to the Father, to the heavenly pasture that awaits you.

Love one another!

58. My word and all the prophecies will be fulfilled.

59. In the Second Half you nailed my hands to a tree, the same ones that healed the sick and caressed children, young people and the elderly. Today I have thrown off my right hand, but not to reject the cross on which you have raised me, no beloved children, today I lovingly extend it to give you my blessing.

MY PEACE BE WITH YOU!

Love one another!

Teaching 54

1. Blessed are those who leave their material goods to hear me.
2. Those who have taken advantage of my lessons have strengthened themselves and when they have been surprised by a trial, rather than despair, they have begun to meditate and pray, feeling that in those moments divine inspiration comes to their understanding, like a ray of light that illuminates the path of their spiritual evolution.
3. Verily I say to you, he who knows how to prepare himself and strengthen himself in the fulfillment of my law, will be able to come forward through storms or through fire. Even to those who have known how to fulfill with faith the test that has touched their spirit, I say again that they do not become lethargic because new tests will come, and they must be prepared. There are many who at the end of a great trial, when the day is about to end, have been about to fall bent under the weight of their cross, but in those moments my voice has been heard encouraging them to reach the end that is already close.
4. If you attribute the trials of life to chance, you will hardly be able to find yourselves strong; but if you have a notion of what is atonement, of what is justice and restitution, in your faith you will find elevation and conformity to overcome trials.
5. I am pleased to try your spirit in different ways, because I am forming, modeling and perfecting it; for this I use everything and everyone, I take the righteous as an instrument as an evil one, I use the light as well, which I make darkness my servant. That is why I tell you that when you find yourself in a hard trance, think of Me, of your Teacher, who with all love will explain to you the reason for this test.
6. There are chalices that everyone has to drink, some first and others later, so that everyone comes to understand and love me. Misery, illness, slander, dishonor, are very bitter chalices that will not only reach the lips of the sinner. Remember that the righteous among the righteous in that Second Time, rushed the most bitter cup that you can conceive. Obedience, humility and the love with which the cup of sorrow is hurried will make the cross lighter and the trial more transient.
7. The world is a school for the spirits, your body is only an instrument. On Earth you pass through the different rungs of the scale of spiritual perfection, by which spirits rise up to Me, impelled by the strength of their merits, of their effort to reach the Father, by the love they have poured out on their brothers. Whoever does not walk this path of struggle, not only will he not know who his Creator is, but he will not even know himself.
8. Whoever renounces his destiny is rejecting the title of son of my divinity; if he does not believe in my existence, he will not be able to have faith in my love.

Love one another!

9. If for some this life has been excessively bitter and painful, know that this existence is not the only one, that it is long only in appearance and that in the destiny of every creature there is an arcanum into which only I can penetrate.

10. This voice has not told you: you have to obey this word, it has only told you: seek the truth, go after love, go after peace and if you find this in my teaching that you are listening to now, stay, but if you have not found them here, keep looking.

11. I am manifesting myself before each one of you, sometimes through your heart, sometimes in your spirit.

12. Before my voice of forgiveness, the dead will rise to the life of grace and will come out of the confusion of their spirit, fulfilling my law that tells you: "Love one another". Where there is no forgiveness that always comes from love, there will be no repentance or good works, therefore there will be no redemption.

13. How many of the dead of the spirit have to wander through the world, waiting for bodily death to lead them to my presence, to listen to the voice of the Lord who raises them to true life and caresses them. What longing for regeneration could they have increased on Earth if they considered themselves irretrievably lost forever, despite feeling capable of true repentance and restitution for their faults?

14. And if the evicted of the spirit have come to Me without hope, even those of the body sentenced to death by men of science have come to my presence; I, who possess life, have torn them from the clutches of material death; but what are those doing in the world to whom I have entrusted the health of the spirit as well as that of the body? Are you ignorant of the high destiny that the Lord has entrusted to you for its fulfillment? Am I the one who has sent you with a message of health and life, should I have to receive your victims incessantly?

15. Now that you have come to expose your sorrow to me and to ask me for strength, I tell you: Trust in Me and you will all be comforted. Not everyone hears my word as you do, but my strength and my light are the heritage of all spirits. It is you who weaken and allow yourselves to be overcome by trials.

16. Only I, Who am your Father, hear and understand your heart. You have not yet found true love for each other. I also tell you not to look for images or symbols to grant you relief. Learn to pray with the spirit, awaken the sensitive fibers of your being, so that you may feel my presence and enjoy my love. Do not feel like strangers to your Father before Me; or have you become so far away that you no longer recognize me?

17. I contemplate at this time that men have become familiar with sin, passions are unleashed, children from an early age lose their innocence and take forbidden fruits;

Love one another!

humanity has headed towards evil, and from generation to generation it is weakening and descending. That is why I have come once again to manifest myself among you.

18. Pray and understand my word. Do not ask me for you only, pray for your brothers known and unknown, material and spiritual.

19. You do not know the spiritual poverty in which humanity lives today, and it is necessary the intercession of a people and their struggle to bring light to all spirits.

20. Cleanse those who have been defiled, reveal to them the gifts of their spirit and guide them like little children by bringing them to Me. You will find in your path many sick people who will not be cured by science, but among you you will find a way to obtain healing for their ills. You will heal them with your love, by the good influence that you exercise; by the regeneration that you inspire them and by the knowledge of my doctrine that you transmit to them, they will find that the balm is in the peace of the spirit and in the fulfillment of duties, in the love of one another.

21. I don't want to see my children lose the chance to save themselves. If great sinners seek me with humility and repentance, I will forgive their sins and give them the opportunity to rebuild their lives. I am making the call to the greatest sinners, to redeem them and bring them to safety.

22. I have inspired the hearts of young people, young men and maidens, to form new generations, for which I am purifying them, and if they know how to fulfill the mission I have entrusted to them in their children and prepare and lead those spirits along the path of good, I will communicate with them and you in these new generations will support yourselves and will be continuators of this work.

23. Keep the grace that I leave among you. There will be in a short time those who want to prevent my work from going forward, but there will be others who, having asked for my help, will receive a miracle and even if they are not of my disciples, they will testify about Me and say, The Lord has healed me. Others will say: I had lost the dearest thing and He has returned it to me.

24. Do not want to defend my work with false testimonies or ever lie because I have not taught you to lie. My works are always clear and if you know how to interpret them, you will find in them my love and charity for humanity.

25. When you hear foolish words, be silent, as Jesus was silent before the Pharisees, but do not fear that your garment will be torn; I will justify you and raise you up before your brothers. This humanity that judges you, will know that you have not mistaken the path, but that you have come closer to Me. Watch over your actions and fear only the Eternal Judge who always looks at you.

Love one another!

26. With gentleness and spirituality, you will bear witness that you have heard me and many will convert. If you do not understand, be silent and forgive. If you unify your matter with your spirit and fulfill my law, you will achieve grace for humanity.

27. Remember, blessed people, that I have told you in all the precincts, that times of pain, of trial and of justice are approaching for humanity, which will serve for its purification. I also announce to you that after that time, there will be joy on earth.

28. For years you have been listening to these messages, which are lessons with which I prepare you as disciples, so that tomorrow you will be able to make light in the lives of your brothers and guide them towards the good path, both incarnate and disembodied beings. It is my will that you leave a good example as a seed for future generations. May the revelations I have made to you serve to strengthen your spirit in my wisdom and your heart in the good, removing from it all the weeds that had long grown in your being; however, I tell you with sadness, that you do not yet feel my word, that you sleep for these manifestations and that your works do not testify to my doctrine.

29. I have wanted you all to form one heart, one will, but I see that you still persist in your disunity.

30. I have told you that in all your precincts I manifest myself as the one God who loves you all equally; however, some of you are denying gifts and truth to others; how can you believe that in this way you are exalting my doctrine?

31. Not only with the attitude that you keep within those enclosures is how you should seek me to please and serve me, but with all the acts of your life; but until this moment, neither spiritually nor materially have you adhered to my law and you are still the little ones who do not want to grow up. Do you not want Christ to continue to guide you, the one who told you, "I am the Way, the Truth and the Life?" Do you not want love to be the one who saves you, the one who makes you strong, serene and firm so that in the hour of storms and trials it will be the one who lifts you up and protects you?

32. See that I have given you a wisdom that surpasses all human science: that of mastering the elements, but you have not known how to be like meek sheep at my voice. Do you intend that by your disobedience those elements will bow down to you as submissive servants?

33. Do you see why it is necessary that you listen to my teachings, as it is also essential that you analyze them, that you feel them and put them into practice? Watch and pray, I have told you, so that you will not be surprised by the pain, but you have not wanted to watch or pray. When trials have struck you, you have believed that I have punished you or that I have forsaken you. It is until then that you remember to pray, to ask me not to leave you. Ah, if you understood that I do not abandon you and that it is you who forget about Me! You must know that there is not a single second when I am not giving you something and that instead, you often live a whole life without offering me anything.

34. I give you these lessons so that you may know that I am always with you, that I listen to everything and that I know everything, so that you will not reject my benefits or feel lonely and sad in your trials.

35. How many of you, when incarnating, behave like ungrateful children who, ignoring the advice of their parents, throw themselves like fools onto the uncertain paths of life, only to later, when they have stumbled a lot and have been disappointed, stop to cry, exclaiming in repentance: Ah, if I had listened to my father, I would not have known so much pain, nor would I have strayed so far from the path!

36. Sometimes it is already too late when they recognize their fault, they are surprised by death that does not allow them to return to the paternal home and fall from fennel before those to whom they denied authority.

37. What a great pain for those who saw their last moment arrive, without being able to bathe their parents' faces with their tears, nor being able to hear the phrases of forgiveness from their lips!

38. Sometimes when you think about these trials you say: How is it possible that God in his perfect justice goes to the extreme of depriving of that joy those who have already recognized their fault and repented of it? And I answer you, it is not the body that must receive this grace, but the spirit, for which there will always be time to wash away its stains, as well as to reap the fruit of its repentance.

39. So that your spirit does not get lost in the random pilgrimage of the Earth, it has been endowed with a higher light that is consciousness, in addition to the fact that the world has always been illuminated with the light of my doctrine and my revelations, from the first days of your existence in this world until eternity.

40. I have always enlightened you, so that when your incarnate spirit returns to spiritual life it can dwell in high mansions.

41. Beloved people, instrument for my manifestations of this time, spiritualize yourselves, so that when you become the true interpreter of my word you will be it with your thoughts, your life and your word. Understand that living examples are needed for humanity to believe in Me.

Love one another!

42. Who among you will be the great spirits who will lead the multitudes to true spirituality? The spirituality that means elevation must manifest itself through the mind and feelings so that it is the salvation of humanity.

43. Disciples, high minds and pure hearts are needed for great works. develop your attributes and be great. Why am I asking for unification, people? Because I know that war, as a consequence of the lack of fraternity among men, is approaching like a whirlwind that sweeps everything away, and I want you to be vigilant, forming a people of peace, an army of soldiers at the service of good. If you get up to fulfill this mission, carry me in your heart; without Me you will be able to do nothing. Who am I? Christ. And who is Christ? It's the love of God; that is why I say to you: take Me and you will not die, but you will overcome all adversities and conquer eternity.

44. Do not forget that the divine powers are only with the humble and that they never descend to flatter human vanities.

45. It is true that many are defiling their spirit, but do not judge them because they do not know what they are doing. I will save those too, no matter that they have forgotten about Me now, or that they have changed me for the false gods they have created in the world. I will also bring them to my Kingdom, even if now, by going after the false prophets, they have forgotten the sweet Christ who gave his life to teach them his doctrine of love.

46. No one is bad for the Father, no one can be if his principle is in Me. Mistaken, blind, violent, rebellious, so many of my children have been, by virtue of the free will with which they were endowed, but light will be made in all, and my charity will lead them along the path of their redemption.

47. Today the force of matter and the influence of the world have made you selfish, but matter is not eternal, neither is the world nor its influence, and I am the patient Judge whose justice owns life and time. Do not judge those who deny me, for I will find you more guilty than they are.

48. Have I raised my voice to judge my executioners? Did I not bless you with love and gentleness? If you knew, that many of those in the world who were temporarily lost due to this lack, today they are purified in spirit.

49. See how my word comes to guide and guide you, I give it to all of you, because I love you all and I seek you all. Do not wait for the whirlwinds to catch you wrong or asleep, because then it will be the gnashing of teeth. You do not yet know my plan of salvation, therefore you only have to trust in Me and obey Me.

50. Do you see how humble my word is, how insignificant are the servants through whom I transmit my voice and how poor is the environment in which I manifest myself?

Love one another!

Do not be surprised to know that in this Era, this doctrine will be the one that governs and guides the destinies of all humanity.

51. The divine thought, through my ecstatic spokespersons, has been translated into words that, united in phrases, have formed and defined a spiritual doctrine full of revelations and perfect teachings.

52. This is the promised Comforter, this is that Spirit of Truth foretold who would come to tell you everything. The preparation is going to begin already, the times are coming when you need the one who, having strength in his spirit, guides you with the nobility and simplicity of his heart, with wisdom and with charity.

53. The multitudes need those who know how to be firm in trials, those who are accustomed to the great struggles of the world and of the spirit. They are the ones who will be able to guide and lead humanity, because in their heart there will be no desire to oppress, nor to dominate anyone; they will not be able to shelter egoism because in their moments of elevation they will have felt the charity of the Lord showering them with love, so that from that charity they can give to their brothers.

54. If you do not unite, you will not know how to respond to humanity, if you do not unite, you will not know how to defend yourself from its attacks. Soon the struggle will come and it will be necessary that I find you protected and prepared by hearts that carry light and faith, and by then you will know how to forgive those who offend you, knowing that those wounds are made to you by your brothers out of true ignorance.

55. When the struggle comes, I want you to respond to the offenses of your brothers with your forgiveness and your love.

56. Take up your cross also, or do you think that the cross of Christ does not weigh? Do you think my tasks are small? The missions of those who follow me will not be small or easy; easy works are for the weak in spirit, for hearts empty of love.

57. There is no time left to waste, because the moments are approaching when the forts of this people will arise, to prepare the roads that will lead you to that solemnity in which you will feel my Spirit closer to you.

58. I see among the multitudes those who, joyful to feel and understand my inspiration, are preparing for that struggle; they know that only truth, spirituality and love can be the weapons to triumph.

59. Come to Me, attend to the loving call that your Father makes to you, so that, far from the dark paths of pain or ignorance, you may be filled with my peace and my light, and then you may do the same with your fellow human beings.

Love one another!

60. I have not only come to give you positions or responsibilities, I have also come to wipe your tears and listen to your complaints.

61. Today you are going after your Savior and I am coming to help you with the cross, but before you finish your journey in this world, you will have brought the good news to the regions.

62. "Man does not live by bread alone", and this world is spiritually hungry, therefore you will be able to offer your brothers this food that I have entrusted to you.

63. My doctrine is the way that teaches you to live in peace on earth and that will bring you closer to the Father when you live in spirit. Where is the fraternity that I have taught men? It does not exist on earth, because you have long allowed the tares to grow among the wheat; heartbreak abounds among men as well as discord; they have not recognized each other as brothers in God, and yet they say they recognize me and even love me.

64. There are lords and servants, judges and prisoners, executioners and victims, and they are all brothers; great will be the commotion that my word of this time provokes among humanity, because she will come as a judge to all spirits.

65. Watch and pray disciples, so that you may feel my presence, because if you find yourself sleeping, when you wake up there will be great suffering in your spirit. Be attentive to my word so that nothing surprises you, and when the roads are prepared and the regions open their doors, you will find yourselves ready to fulfill your mission; and when hearts crave a word of life, it is ready to spring from your lips, the same when the mournful crowds pass in front of your door that it does not remain closed.

66. It is no longer time for you to continue in the pleasures of the world, it is time to live with all the senses and powers awake and attentive to what speaks to you and surrounds you. The time of your stay in this abode is already very short, and it is necessary that you take advantage of the moments that remain for you to live in it. For those who prepare, nothing will go unnoticed, whether human events, signs in nature or spiritual manifestations; the one who is prepared will contemplate great wonders, so that he can explain, teach and predict to those who do not see, feel or understand.

67. Beloved people, recognize how great will be the joy of the spirit who in his career served as a guide, counselor or staff to his brothers; this is your mission, to be strong, upright and obedient to my law, so that you serve as a beacon to your fellow man.

68. When will this humanity become like an immense flower whose petals are your hearts and its fragrance your love for Me?

Love one another!

69. When you look at how the world is in this hour of trial, in which its ambitions and hatreds overflow, you think that these words that I tell you are only a divine dream, but I warn you that if in the Second Time I accepted the cross that you offered me, and now I came to you on the cloud, it was because I knew that the seed of my love would triumph over human imperfection. Why do you doubt that I can save you? Do you believe that Jesus shed his blood uselessly on Calvary, that he taught you nothing? Do you think my new manifestation is sterile? Verily I say to you, God cannot err, nor can he fail in his mission of love.

70. Great, very great you look at human perversity, terrible it seems to you the power and the force of evil that men exercise, and yet I tell you, it is very weak before the force of my justice, before my Divinity that owns destiny, life, death and all Creation.

71. From this blessed and prodigal land man has made a hell, because all the forces and elements with which I surrounded them for life, he has taken them to cause death; despite all this I can tell you that he who repented, and understanding his error consecrated himself to repair it, will soon reach the spiritual gates of true paradise, where the Angel of the Lord will sheathe his sword and make him pass to the eternal mansion of peace, where the Father's love will give him the reward promised to all men of good will.

MY PEACE BE WITH YOU!

1. The light of the Holy Spirit vibrating is upon all spirits.
2. Blessed are you who are preparing to fulfill my commands, because you will always feel helped by Me. But I also say to you: do not silence the voice of conscience when it points out to you your mistakes, listen to it, because it is my voice. If you want to please me, after you have repaired your faults, raise your spirit in prayer and you will always find me waiting for you to give you peace.
3. The more you feel that I forgive you, the closer you get to fulfilling your duties; never abuse that forgiveness.
4. All those who rise up with the desire to elevate themselves spiritually, on the path of fulfilling my law, will be surrounded by great multitudes who will follow them. And if I put you in charge of a portion, do not have dominion over yourselves; see that even kings at this time have come down from their thrones to become servants of their peoples, because an era of equality and fraternity for men is approaching. Remember that when I called you, you answered with humility and told me that you would be submissive and that you would take up your cross with love to follow my footprint with which I marked for you in the Second Time the path of your spiritual evolution.
5. If you prepare yourselves, the great trials that are approaching humanity, like hurricane winds, will be for you like a gentle breeze that comes to caress you; then the light of a new dawn will shine and the sun will give you its benefits; but if you do not watch and let hypocrisy germinate in your heart and cover yourself with sheep's clothing, while you carry hungry wolf entrails, you will encounter stumbles and the thorns of the road will hurt your plants.
6. Woe to you if evil inclinations can do more than the virtues that you carry in your spirit and if my teaching does not bear fruit! If you do not meditate or analyze my word, believing that you are doing my will, my light will awaken you, and when you know the whole truth, you will remember that I have sent you into the world to do charitable works.
7. Even if you wanted to run away from your destiny, you couldn't do it. As often as you go out of the way, my charity will bring you back to him. My law is written in each of the spirits and you must obey it.
8. I have looked at your disagreement with the rulers of the nations, without understanding that they are instruments with which I use to bend and polish the peoples. You have not been able to unite in thought to help the one I have appointed to govern the destinies of the nation. You oppose and cause division, when I have advised unification and compliance with my will. Love each other and may your prayer prepare and help them spiritually.

Love one another!

9. Unite Israel, listen to me. I'm going to put you to great tests and I don't want to see you cry. Pray for those who do not know how to do it, for those who feel weak. Let there be no joy in some for the failure of others, because you do not know if you will all go through the same trials and when they touch you, you will also weaken.

10. Reject temptation, because this is the time when that power will want to multiply its harvest, and only prayer and good deeds will turn it away from you.

11. Many doctrines, seeing you disunited, will call you to unification, and I want you all to be unified in Me and practice worship in the same way that I have taught you.

12. To help you in your elevation, I have prepared for my children the best place because I want to bring you close to Me and give you my peace; everyone who feels tired, come to Me and he will have rest and strength.

13. Disciples, have charity for those who lack the law, for those who have rebelled, because they are the beings most in need of your help and of your charity. Why does a man sin if he knows the good and knows that only his practice will make him happy? It is that he does not listen to the voice of his conscience and the shepherds have let their flock disperse along different paths and his word no longer has essence or power to bring the sheep back to the fold. Where are my disciples, successors of those apostles of the Second Time?

14. To you who are now my children I say: do not call yourselves pastors or priests, let Me guide humanity, that in Me they will have their Father, their Judge, their best friend and counselor. Be you only messengers of the good news and witnesses of my manifestation, and when humanity has reached through its gifts communication with my Spirit, it will go with a sure step on its path of evolution, and I will inspire it with works and actions based on my law. This will be after the atonement and restitution that you are now living.

15. If you had not failed, you would not have known the rigor of the law of restitution and you would have always been ahead in your evolution. Verily I tell you, if you who are in charge of bringing this message to your brothers and sisters do not comply, you will be judged by humanity and you will know the rigor of that judge who has neither mercy nor love.

Love one another!

16. When I have put you to the test in order to raise your spirit, I have accompanied you so that you do not faint, and when you have accepted my will taking advantage of that lesson, you feel closer to Me, for which you thank me and I give you peace.

17. I have asked humanity to unite and return to a simple, spiritual life, because I want the spirits to merge into a single faith, recognizing and loving me. The different doctrines will disappear and only my law and my word will prevail.

18. I have always shown you my love and you have not understood me. Do you not know that when I give you a new office, it is in order that by fulfilling it you may redeem yourselves? I have chosen you because I love you and I want you to be my disciples, and in order for you to be called that, you have to adopt humility and meekness in all the acts of your life.

19. You are in the time of harvest, in which you will gather what you have sown, but if you sow again to reap later, take from the good seed and cultivated, which I still give you a little more time.

20. Understand that more than following me yourselves, it is I who have followed you through the ages to point out to you your mission and teach you to comply with my law, so that your spirit will never get lost on the road and know how to be like a bell that calls the crowds.

21. How many trials your spirit has had to go through, so that at last it may become meek and humble and enter decisively on the path of the law! Yesterday blasphemy escaped your lips when the trial made itself felt in your path; today, when you feel under a hard lesson of life, you pray, it is that the light is being made in your spirit.

22. When I tell you that "they and you are the same", I want to make you understand that you are achieving evolution through the reincarnations of your spirit. From the moment the voice of the Father said to you, "Grow and multiply" to the present, your evolution has not stopped for an instant, but how slowly you walk!

23. You have multiplied, and with this you have fulfilled that divine command; but then a new commandment was needed so that fruits worthy of God would sprout from your heart, and then I said to you, "Love one another." In the Second Time I brought that phrase to you as the compendium of the whole law, and I am still waiting for it to bear fruit in your heart. Now I have come with new lessons and new revelations, however, I do not take away from your heart that divine commandment to love you, nor that other to multiply you.

24. Yes, humanity, grow in virtues and wisdom, multiply through spirituality, love one another without distinction of races, classes, creeds and worlds.

Love one another!

25. I want to see the wheat grow in the fields where the weeds grew so much, where evil multiplied so much; the day of justice has arrived and the fire of war burns and consumes the bad seed of which no ashes will remain, because the winds will scatter it and then the waters and the snows will wash and purify humanity. When the pain is very intense among men, they will raise altars to Me, burn incense and say that they love me, but I will tell them that this is not the way to please my Spirit, and that what they believe is love for Me, is fear of justice and death. It is necessary that men understand that the only incense that comes to Me is that of the works of love and charity that you do to each other, inspiring yourselves in the love of your Father.

26. To you who listen to this word, I say that you rise up imitating me, that you follow me along the path of love that I traced to you in the Second Time, so that when you no longer listen to me in this way, you will know how to gather the multitudes in these enclosures holding them with the truth and the essence of your words and examples. Not only in these places will you be able to teach, but wherever circumstances demand your work; do not forget that I have told you that in the desert, on the roads, at sea, in the valleys, you will be surprised by the trials and also by my inspiration.

27. To fulfill this mission, I want this people, whom I am forming with my teaching, to be the ones who honor my law and give testimonies of their Teacher with their works and examples. May there be peace in your homes, that among your family you are not against each other, that there are no quarrels between brothers, nor faults between father and children. When peace begins to exist between you and your home is not a small battlefield, you will be at the beginning of the disappearance of wars, because whoever has peace in his heart, will carry it everywhere. Think of your children and see that you have not yet been able to engrave my law in their hearts with your examples, and that these are the new generations destined to spread the spiritual light among humanity.

28. Their spirits are great, but recognize that they need in the infancy of their material life, your protection and your guidance; begin that mission with the little ones, be understanding and patient; learn from Me, who know how to wait centuries, millennia or eternity for the evolution and perfection of a spirit; you are all similar to the brilliant in its origin, which must be polished with care so that it gives beautiful flashes. Do you consider yourselves unworthy to be compared with the shining one?

29. One of the most beautiful and wonderful creations that I have put on this Earth, are the flowers that give your sight, that embalm the environment and that inspire you; and truly I tell you that you are more perfect and beautiful than flowers.

30. If you already had the spirituality that you must achieve, you would know the language of everything created, and through it I would speak to you and you would not make your Father materialize before you, even bleeding on a cross and giving my divine word at this time by the lips of impure men; But it is necessary that you know your Father, and that is why I have never hidden myself, nor have I refused to come among you despite your iniquity. If, by showing myself to men, they have always created false gods, what would it be if I hid Myself out of disgust at your sins?

31. O disciples, who delight in listening to me and say, "Master, we regret that there is no freedom that allows us to speak directly of your word to our fellow men." But I say to you, Do not be afraid of your brothers, of what can you be ashamed? Wait, wait a few moments, that soon humanity will jump over the fences and obstacles that with its fanaticism and ignorance it has formed and that has prevented it from penetrating to the bottom of the truth, which it has only known superficially.

32. Eat the delicacy that I offer you today and you will feel my peace, but do not let anything take it away from you.

33. I call you disciples of the Third Time, because you have made a new covenant with my Divinity.

34. I entrust to you new lands where the tribes of Israel will multiply, but when you know that you are part of my people, do not be filled with vanity, because if you analyze your mission, you will understand your great responsibility.

35. I have come among you again and I ask you, will you again take your Lord to the sacrifice? Do you think that my blood was not spilled enough in the Second Half?

36. Behold now your spirit bearing on himself the cross of his restitution, entrusting vast lands to him to cultivate, but he will sow no seed in them other than mine. The harvest that you gather at this time will be the key that opens the door of your salvation.

37. I have come to exchange the burden of your iniquity for the sweet weight of my cross, so that you may rest from the sin that has burdened you for centuries.

38. Let not your lips utter blasphemies, but glorify my name. The gift of the word that I have given you is not for you to stain the honor of your fellow man.

39. Now that you know that I have called you to become my beloved disciples, do an examination every day in the light of your conscience, especially when you know that you are going to listen to my word.

40. Take care not to do misunderstood penances, nor deprive your body of what is necessary for it, instead avoid what is harmful to it, even if it means a sacrifice for it. This will be the penance that benefits your spirit and therefore, the one that pleases the Father.

Love one another!

41. Slowly you are learning to raise your thought to infinity without the need for images embodied on a canvas or forged by your mind. Little by little the obstacles that your spirit encountered whenever he tried to pray are falling. He is now on his way to attain spiritual communication with his Lord.

42. Do not forget that in order for your prayer to leave you with deep satisfaction and make you feel true peace, as you prepare to raise your thoughts to come before my sanctuary, cleanse your heart.

43. Tomorrow you will see the great multitudes coming after you; it is necessary that they discover a deep and luminous footprint that will guide them towards the truth, and that footprint will be that of your good works.

44. You have to bear witness that you are that people whom the Lord sent to make a pilgrimage to earth, to make light among humanity. The wisdom that springs from your spirit will be the light of the Sixth Seal unleashed at this time.

45. If you love me, you will be able to fulfill my commands, if you love me, you will know how to love your brothers.

46. Inwardly some say to me: Lord, if we are gathered here listening to your word, is it not because we love you? And I tell you, there are very few who come to hear me out of love; the most come burdened by pain.

47. I do not censure that it is pain that has brought you to my presence, because after having fulfilled his mission, he leaves leaving the hearts of those who will later be my disciples ready.

48. You will not be able to say that I have never felt human pain and that is why I do not understand you. That is why I became a man and suffered, to give you an example in every trial and in every trance. If I ask you now to sow with light and good examples the path that your children have to travel, it is because I, in Jesus, was always the son obedient to his Father. I know and feel all your pains and not because I have come to you in Spirit, I find myself distant. Truly I tell you that my manifestation in the Third Time is the best proof that I love you and understand you.

49. In your quiet moments, meditate on my word. Understand that I am the peace that descends when the whirlwind strikes you. Keep this peace despite all the trials and do not let it flee from your heart and return to Me.

50. Do not rebel when diseases take hold of your home; they purify the spirit, however, I do not prevent you from seeking the balm, but I tell you to seek me as a divine doctor and receive with love whatever it is my will to grant you.

Love one another!

51. There are many who have returned to the path only because of the sufferings of life, some reneged while experiencing pain, but when they recognized that he was the one who stopped them on the path of perdition, they blessed his cup of bitterness. I sit these at my table and give them to taste the Lamb turned into a delicious delicacy of love and charity.

52. Verily I say to you, if men would do the same to those who have been ungrateful to them, how much peace there would be among mankind!

53. Live in peace, this will be the best testimony you give that you are my disciples. Do not forget that many eyes are always watching you, either to confirm if what you practice is true or to have evidence to deny you.

54. Be my faithful soldiers; never be the cause that your brothers do not know me. There has not been a single time when I give you my word, that a heart has not been presented at least to search; in those moments my word, my manifestation in all its parts and the acts of my servants have been analyzed. With all their senses and powers they have come to scrutinize my communication and there are more who have come expecting the rumor of my presence to be false, than those who have arrived with the fervent desire that the good news be true. Who was to tell them that while they are observing and judging everything, my gaze penetrates into the inside of their heart and my voice is calling them through their consciousness? It is at that moment when the faith has been ignited in many who doubted and has overflowed in those who already had it. Thus the number of my disciples has been increasing and they are already forming a people, to whom I am telling them to treasure my peace so that it may be their best treasure, because that will be the greatest testimony they will give of the truth of my manifestation before the other peoples of the earth.

55. I want you to understand that this nation has a high destiny to fulfill and that each of you has a delicate mission. This people will be a fountain of peace and love, to which men of other races will come to drink. That time is not far off, but before you will have to get tired of so much fighting between brothers, before you will have to convince yourself of so many lies and falsehood of which humanity has made a cult. Then you will come to Me and find that Christ, the one who died on the cross, lives and comes full of glory and majesty, as He was seen ascending in the Second Time.

56. Today you feel that the environment is not entirely favorable to talk about my Work, but the day is approaching when your mouths will open tirelessly to talk about my word, because pain, need, anguish and confusion, will want to take away everything that I have given you.

Love one another!

57. From now on I am preparing you and teaching you, so that you may be able to preach my teaching in word and deed, because humanity is already tired of transgressors. Form an obedient family, unite your thoughts, your will and your destiny, with a bond of spirituality and you will be strong and immortal.

58. Great trials await humanity, in the face of every pain and every catastrophe, remain vigilant and pray. Many sorrows will be mitigated, others will not come, because they will be stopped on their way by those who pray.

59. When from other religions and sects they contemplate that the multitudes are running after this people, those who persecute you will rise up from those religions, but do not be afraid, because if you know how to remain calm, the Holy Spirit will put words of light on your lips that will silence those who slander you.

60. I do not leave you the murderous sword to defend you, I leave you the sword of love; each of its flashes of light will be a virtue that sprouts from it.

61. How much grace will you find before the Father, if you subdue the multitudes of persecutors of my work with your words and present them converted with your works of love!

62. That's the lesson I gave you in the Second Half and that you had already forgotten.

63. The human mind will suffer disturbances trying to understand the Trinitarian Marian Spiritualist doctrine, because the materialized man is clumsy in front of the spiritual.

64. It is I who have come to manifest in this world once again, making humanity understand that I am not at a height that you cannot reach. I come to teach you how to raise your spirit through prayer, until you find my presence and bring your spirit closer to my Divinity through a life consecrated to good. Only those who live in my law know that I am truly within man and that this is not a metaphor.

65. You who listen to me, do not hinder your understanding for spiritual teachings; do not cloud your light, nor let your heart, sensitized and ennobled in the moments of listening to my word, become indifferent and cold. You have already tasted the pleasures that the world offers, you have already known its honey, now come and taste the fruit of the tree that I have cultivated, but once you have satisfied your hunger, take care to return to those paths, think that it is not fair that you take to the mud what I have graciously given you.

66. Hear my word that tears off the bandages of darkness and makes light in every spirit, so that in the future you may walk the good path, as well as recognize the forbidden and find strength in yourselves not to fall into temptation. Whoever has received this teaching cannot be called ignorant. Hear me and understand me, disciples, today that I am still with you in this word.

Love one another!

67. Whoever has been a servant in the world will not be surprised when I command him; whoever has been lord, forget his vanity and be my servant, then you will all know the very sweet way of Jesus to command his disciples.

68. Submit your free will to my law and to your conscience and you will not feel like slaves but truly free.

69. Now that the weeds have spread all over the face of the earth, it is when I come to tell you to get ready to be my husbandmen so that you may sow my seed of peace. Each of my chosen ones at this time can ask himself inwardly, if before hearing this word he was not grieved and tempered in pain, touched many times in the dearest.

70. Reach persuasion and faith, listen to me without getting tired and without getting acquainted with this manifestation; keep watch, I don't want to catch you sleeping on the day of my departure. Today you see that this year passes and the other arrives, and my word invariably descends among you, but the year of 1950 will come and you will no longer listen to me in this form, by then, I want you to find yourselves strengthened and full of teaching.

71. Study my Work through all my spokespersons, do not have a predilection, think that I descend to everyone and for everyone I speak the truth. Do you want me to reach the year 1950 without you having taken advantage of my presence, or learned my lesson? Do you expect that the unbelieving world of my manifestation as the Holy Spirit, will throw itself on you and finding you weak will exterminate you? Do you want the governments of the Earth, finding division and confusion among you, to enact laws that will stop your passage? How would you weep, present generations, if you caused these prophecies to be fulfilled! How hard and sad you will make your existence and how many obstacles you will leave in the way to those who come after you! Arise full of love and hope, I still have much to reveal and entrust to you!

72. If you go through any trial, do not hesitate, be attentive so that you see how the Master frees you from all evil in each trance and you will feel your spirit develop and strengthen. Think that no one is immune from pain, that those who have loved me the most and followed me the most closely are the ones who have felt their heart bleed the most. Whoever wants to follow me, take up his cross. Why have so many fallen by the wayside? Because the love they thought they felt was not true.

73. Spiritualize yourselves, flee from the superfluous and the frivolous, do not seek the vanities of the world anymore, nor do you seek the spiritual virtues as a simple ornament for your spirit in order to be admired. Beautify your spirit with the virtues that I have taught you in my lessons of love.

74. I am waiting for you on the top of the mountain where I will give you your reward. Do not turn your gaze back to contemplate the traces of your past. Continue serenely forward without feeling the thorns that you have sown and reach the summit of your perfection where my light shines. When you meet there, you will finally bless my law of Love.

MY PEACE BE WITH YOU!

Teaching 56

1. With joy in my Spirit I behold you listening to my word. In multitudes you come to these precincts to recreate yourselves with my lessons of love. Not everyone comes to hear me, most come in the hope of alleviating an ailment or averting a grief. There are many who have been called and few who follow me: there are many here who in the Second Half wished to hear the voice of the Rabbi and did not have the opportunity to meet him, there are also those who, although they could have heard him, did not want to; at this time, both of them eagerly listen to my word and do not wait for Me to lift it up and then regret their laziness again. I am not therefore speaking in the desert; if many are not interested in my word, there are some of my children who know how to keep it as a jewel of inestimable value to make it known to humanity when the time comes.

2. I have come with charity and love for everyone, making my presence felt in many ways; some have contemplated me with their spiritual sight, others feel my strength that makes their being tremble, others are moved by the essence of my word, others feel how the peace of my Spirit envelops their heart; the sick see how they heal from their ills before my caress and sinners feel contemplated by a perspicacious and penetrating gaze that reaches their spirit. Then you said. "The Lord is with us." When in the Second Time my disciples asked me if I would return, I made them the promise to be among humanity again, telling them what would be the signs that would mark the time of my return. Many centuries passed for these signs to appear announcing my new manifestation, which you see fulfilled today. If after 1800 years that have constituted an era for humanity, I have faithfully fulfilled my promise to you. Do you think that now that he has announced to you my departure for 1950, may the Lord break his word?

3. When the theologians and the men who study the scriptures of the past times, saw fulfilled the signs with which I predicted my return and my presence among you, ignoring them that I am present and that I am speaking to you in this way, seeing that time passed without seeing me arrive, saddened they closed their books believing that they had mistaken the time and signs, not knowing that they had been right. But I tell you that very soon, when the proofs that I was with you will be known to mankind, everyone will be able to verify that my manifestation was verified at the precise moments when the prophecies were fulfilled. How much joy there will be in many hearts and how much interest to question my disciples, as well as to search the new scriptures!

4. At this time there were not a few witnesses of my manifestation, there were thousands and thousands of beings who felt their hearts throb with love or fear when they heard my word; many of them will be my faithful witnesses and my good disciples; those who will not abandon me when my word is judged in courts and councils testifying my truth with their works of love.

5. Truly I tell you, among these multitudes there is not a single one to whom chance has brought it; again I assure you that the leaf of the tree does not move without my will. In the life of each one of you there is a cause for which you have come to attest to my word, you come from different paths, from different sects, religions and doctrines, stumbling over the stones of the path, accumulating in your spirit the light of experience.

6. When you arrive here, you feel an unknown force, an indefinable effluvium and you wonder, What will it be? Where does this word that moves and this peace that floods the heart come from? and I have answered you. It is your Father who comforts you, but I do not come to force you to believe in my presence in this form, nor is it necessary to force you to believe, since I am manifest and palpable before you and only an atom of sensitivity is enough for you to perceive me.

7. This is the time to make you understand that the use you have made of your free will is wrong, and that now the performance of a spiritual mission among humanity awaits you; see that I do not judge your past works to tell you whether or not you are worthy to receive this office. For it is not he who brought you into this world, it was my will.

8. Meditate on your destiny, ask your mysteries and I will answer you; no one who has questioned my arcanum has been left without an answer; because in that instant the light of your conscience will shine revealing the great gifts that you have received from your Lord.

9. I want to contemplate that you raise your spirit seeking in the infinite my wisdom; imitate in that the men of letters and the men of science whom I surprise in the middle of the night looking for inspiration and others the answer to the "why" of Nature. I do not want to tell you to seek on this earth the wisdom that will give you glory among men; I want that elevation and that greatness to be interior and that what you achieve in your struggle and study will be a fruit of life and love for your brothers.

10. When I approach the men of science, abstracted in their meditations and aged in the study, I ask them: Why do you work so hard? For whom are you fighting and suffering like this? And there has not been one who says to me: Master, I fight for the love of humanity. They love science and they give their lives to it. But to those who have been able to interrogate animated by noble ends, great knowledge has been revealed that has always borne sweet fruit to humanity as proof that the one who inspired that light was Me and to those who without love and without respect have searched Nature, have remained at the beginning of the road or have fallen into the abyss, since it was not the good in which they were inspired, but vanity, hatred and ambition.

11. But just as science is revealed to man, so also the light for the spirit I give to him by inspiration. Thus I spoke to the patriarchs of the first times; thus I inspired Moses, whom I made a spokesman of my word to speak to my people and I dictated laws and maxims to him, which he wrote so that they would be perpetuated and known to subsequent generations

12. After Christ was on Earth, he enlightened four apostles of his doctrine granting them that in their meditations and ecstasies, they remembered his divine word so that they bequeathed to humanity what their spirits reached to receive through their understanding, they were Mark, Luke, Matthew and John.

13. The day will come when the books will be thrown into the fire as useless, which will happen when the essence of them exists in your heart and the law that encloses it you live, but before, this last Testament will join the first two through a struggle as happened with the first and the second.

14. Today I have not concretized myself to tell you only about the present time; I have told you a lot about the past times and I have even anticipated prophecies of the future; I have discovered what had been hidden from you, I have rectified what has been altered and I have revealed future events to you.

15. Blessed are those who are preparing, because tomorrow they will be able to read with good will these teachings that tell you about the destiny of humanity, the future of nations and the triumph of light, which is that of love, peace and justice. This Doctrine will make man truly free, because he, believing himself free by fleeing from his conscience and my laws, has ignored that in himself he carries attributes, powers and gifts that he has not been able to develop, so instead of being free, he has been a slave to himself, a slave to his ignorance; such a humanity. How can he feel the peace of my kingdom in his heart and carry me in his heart, if his mind is clouded by material ambitions, if his heart beats by human passions and therefore his spirit is materialized?

16. This humanity is spiritually dead; but I who have the power to raise the dead, I come to call you to life and open before it a time in which you free your spirit, know your gifts and through them achieve progress and elevation.

17. Today you begin to make use of all the powers of the spirit; this will lift you up from the abyss.

Love one another!

18. Here is a people who with interest seek my word and want to treasure my teachings knowing that the time for my communication through human understanding is short.

19. Take advantage of my lesson, O disciples! then go without fear to spread my word and my teachings among humanity; do not be intimidated by those who try to distort your mission with theories.

20. Humanity seeks without knowing what it wants; today I come to tell you: I am what you are looking for. Who doesn't want peace? Who does not long to know the truth? Who does not want to preserve health?

21. You will have to seek me because peace is not on earth and there are no men of good will, but my righteousness has descended. The day of the Lord has come.

22. When man does my will, even the elements will bow down to him as servants; as long as man persists in his disobedience, the elements will unleash themselves, making him recognize his lack of harmony in everything created.

23. I do not come against my children; I only come to destroy sin so that you can contemplate my light.

24. Pray, people, and I assure you that I will receive your offering, not the material one, but the one that your spirit gives me.

25. My justice is in every heart, the same in the one who opens his doors to me, as in the one who closes them to my call; my gaze is perspicacious and knows how to find within them everything they contain; in some I have found the offering of his love and his humility; in others the joy of being before Me and his gratitude for the favors received, I discover hope in some, pain in others, and truly I tell you that my altar is covered every moment more with tears than with offerings.

26. Here before Me you cleanse yourselves of every stain; oh, if you only knew how to preserve this cleanliness throughout your life! but this atmosphere of spirituality and brotherhood that you form in these hours of communion and teaching does not reign in the world; the air you breathe is poisoned by sin.

27. But you have felt how, as you assimilate my Doctrine, link after link of the chain that bound you to the world is falling from you.

28. I am judging you, but look how sweet the word of your judge is; see that instead of a sentence I give you my forgiveness so that you will not fail again; it is you yourselves who sentence yourselves, recognizing that it is right that pain touches you; then I bless that attrition and with my teaching I take you out of the cup of bitterness. This is God's way; follow me in it.

Love one another!

29. Whoever listens to the voice of his conscience, recognizes and understands his faults while accepting his atonement; but whoever does not understand the magnitude of his faults, will not know how to get rid of his stains and until that is not, he will not be able to reach Me.

30. Do not blaspheme against pain; what you must destroy is sin; pain has always served to stop you in your dizzying race towards the abyss.

31. Today you have ceased to be children and you can understand the meaning of my teachings; you also know that your spirit was not born together with the body that you possess, and that the principle of the one is not that of the other. Those children that you rock in your arms, carry innocence in their heart, but in their spirit they contain a past sometimes longer and more random than that of their parents themselves. How great is the responsibility of those who have to cultivate those hearts so that their spirit reaches progress on the path!

32. For this reason, do not look at your children with less love; think that you do not know who they are or what they have done; rather, increase your charity and love for them and thank your Father for having placed his mercy on you to become guides and counselors of your spiritual brothers, of whose bodies you become parents by blood.

33. Without having these spiritual knowledge, humanity is helping each other on their path of evolution, because the path of perfection is created for everyone and will be traveled by everyone to the end, even by the one you consider the most distant from my laws. Can you imagine that any of you will not come to Me even if it is by spending eternity on him? Could the perfect Father have neglected any of his children?

34. Now, disciples, do you think that a single existence is enough for the spirit to complete his mission and perfect himself? No Master, you tell me with deep conviction.

35. Behold the resurrection of the flesh, but not in the form in which it was conceived by mankind. The flesh, being inert, goes to the bowels of the earth while the spirit leaves for the hereafter in expectation that my justice will send him to incarnate in a new body; in this form spirit and matter are united again in this world, but not in the spiritual valley.

36. Not because the Father grants you more than one opportunity for the fulfillment of your mission, do you miss the one you have today, because no one knows the number of existences that my justice will assign to him; therefore, both the old, the young and the child must hurry to fulfill the mission that has been assigned to them to settle their debts.

Love one another!

37. I also tell you that this is the time of the resurrection of the dead, for this light will kindle the faith of those who perished in the darkness of remorse, despair and bitterness.

38. The Sixth Seal is untied and the book is open before you; the candlestick illuminates the Universe and the Divine Word, symbolized by a tongue of fire, speaks to you from infinity; it is the voice of the Lamb slain in the Second Time that surprises men, enlightens them and lifts them to the life of grace.

39. Live alert because soon many prophets will arise and it is necessary that you know how to distinguish the true from the false.

40. The men in charge of doing justice on earth, taken as instruments of my Divinity, will touch everyone they surprise in falsehood, everyone who benefits from my teaching and who hides his perversity behind a mask of holiness.

41. Woe to those who, promising to lead men to glory, lead them to war and confusion!

42. I want my disciples to make themselves recognized by healing the sick, rescuing the lost, raising up the weak, in order to fulfill this sacred mission; let go of the superfluous, abandon all useless entertainment on earth, do not deceive your heart or your senses with false beauties or insane impressions.

43. Raise your spirit so that you may taste only of the eternal, the beautiful and the good; if it were not so, your spirit materialized by the life you led, will suffer a lot to get rid of his body and everything he leaves and will have to wander for a while in the spaces wrapped in confusion and bitterness until he reaches his abstraction.

44. Live in my Law and you will not have to fear death, but do not call her or desire her ahead of time; let her arrive that she is always obedient to my commands; make sure that she finds you prepared and thus you will penetrate the spiritual mansion as children of the light.

45. Today sit at my table, eat, so that this bread will transform you and then you will know how to offer it to whoever needs it.

46. Today you bring before my word those whom you meet on the way without health, without peace, without ideal. Tomorrow, when my voice is no longer heard in this form, it will be you who receive your brothers and feed them with this essence.

47. Nothing has been left to chance, everything has happened this way by my will. In the destiny that I am pointing out to you is my justice. If you find the path strewn with thistles, verily I tell you that it was not my will that laid them to hurt your feet and that you must advance along the path full of conformity, considering that these hardships that you suffer, strip your spirit of stains.

Love one another!

48. When that conformity is born from your heart, you will feel how my charity cleanses your path.

49. Those of you who now listen to my word, receive it as a balm on your wounds, but do not concretely receive my benefits without wanting to penetrate the meaning of my Doctrine, because the moment will come when you will not hear this word again and if you did not know how to prepare to communicate from spirit to Spirit in the times to come, you will feel orphaned.

50. I want you, in the coming struggle, to be the steadfast soldier who defends his cause, so that in life he may be called like Jacob, the strong and prudent Israel; that you may always be able to turn and respond to the Father's call.

51. Do not walk between doubt and faith, because your steps can never be firm or your determinations solid. Also do not ask me for proof to believe, because you do not know in what way my justice will be able to give you these proofs.

52. Do you not perceive an invisible help that lifts up those who had fallen into the mud? Do you not look at the crowds who arrive sick and who regain health and joy? Do you not realize how the outcasts of life come before my presence and when the gifts they possess are revealed to them, they are sought after and even admired by the multitudes?

53. Know how to discover all the proofs that I have given you of my power and my presence and you will be convinced that I have granted each one a miracle so that he may believe in my arrival in this Third Time.

54. Understand that if you have led your steps towards the leafy tree, under its shade you will hear the almighty voice of your Father. The disciples should take advantage of my presence to ask me if the fruit they are gathering is lawful and pleasing to my divinity, to which I answer you, that if you have sown my seed, you will have to gather a good harvest.

55. Why are there those who come walking so lazily? Get up, see how the moments pass without you taking advantage of them; now is the time. Do not want to get up when your time is scarce, because then you will try to walk the path by leaps and bounds and you will do nothing well and you will be able to collect nothing, because the seed requires time to germinate, the plant to grow and the fruit to mature.

56. It is already approaching 1950 in which I will raise my word; in that year I will mark the last of my children and the number of the 144,000 will be complete. Those who have listened to my word and know his gifts and positions and have taken advantage of this grace, will feel safe, but those who have not wanted to understand this Work, will have to suffer a lot, many merits and sacrifices will have to do to reach the height where my peace is, which is like a door that opens before the spirit.

57. You, the disciples of the Third Time, those who have seen the Holy Spirit coming, are the ones who in this light understand the present, the past and some of the future teachings. Do not doubt that this is a time of lights, but do not be too confident. See how the talent of the man of science shines like never before. See to the child how much he knows from his first steps. See what is happening around the earth. You are still castaways who go in search of castaways, crying out for help in the midst of the raging sea.

58. Study my word deeply so that you will come to have a true knowledge of it and that each one will not make my Doctrine a different theory. Do not wait for the time of persecution without having weapons with which to defend yourself. These weapons will be your way of life, your word and your worship.

59. I do not demand that you be infallible, because I am the only infallible one; what I do ask of you is sincerity and goodwill in each of your acts; the rest I do to complete and perfect your work, because as your works are done, so will your reward be.

60. If any of you should feel envious of your brother, judging him to be dearer than the Master, and both of you should claim your place at my right hand, I would say to you: It is not I who should seat you at my right hand; it is something for each one to carve out for his own merits. Truly I tell you, I could not love one son more than another.

61. Among my apostles of the Second Time, I loved Judas no less than I loved John. Those spirits were drops of the infinite ocean of my love and when they returned to the Father, only He knew in His high judgments, what each one had carved for himself.

62. In order that at this time humanity may rise up to follow me, penetrate the mysteries that I have clarified for you and be filled with light, it is necessary that it has freedom in spirit, in thought, in will; but for this reason I have come to free spirits from their yoke, starting by collapsing thrones and empires to make scepters and crowns fall. Be free, do not seek your kingdom or your glory here; do not make the humble your servants, nor be slaves to frivolity. Remember that I said to you, "My kingdom is not of this world, my throne and my armies are not here." Neither is the kingdom of your spirit nor its reward here.

Love one another!

63. With the truth I spoke to you and with the truth I am speaking to you. After so long having made great revelations to you, it would not be fair for you to say to me like Pilate: What is truth?

64. Do you want to get to Me? Do you long to someday reach where those who have followed me have reached? I have already given you everything you need to achieve your desire; if I became a man at that time and now in spirit I have come to speak to you, it was to teach you the way that leads to perfection. I am the Eternal Word who says to you: Listen to me, that 1950 is approaching and then it will seem to you that the gates of heaven have been closed.

65. I said to you at that time, "Whoever knows the Son knows the Father," now I add, "Whoever knew the Son and through Him the Father knows the Spirit of Truth who speaks to you today."

66. Come with full knowledge of your mission to the bosom of the Sixth Seal, call me and I will come to speak to you, but do it only until the year 1950, when the end of my communication through human understanding is marked by my will.

67. The same I receive the one who in his heart extols my name and blesses my new manifestation, as the one who comes only to qualify my word, waiting to find errors in it, to deny it. I have a lesson for everyone. I speak to the heart of the child and the heart of the old man, to the heart of the man and the heart of the woman. I speak to the philosopher and the man of science. No one goes unnoticed by my wisdom. That is why I say to the crowd: Take from my word what corresponds to each one.

68. At that time I said to you, "I am the way." Until later you understood what Jesus meant by those words because you understood that the way was the divine Law of love.

69. Today I say to you again: "I am the Way, the Truth and the Life, and if you seek the essence of my word in this time, you will find in it the eternal Law of love, that same path that I traced to you on earth.

70. At that time many believed that Christ was erring the way and altering the Law, so they fought him and persecuted him, but the truth, like the light of the sun, always prevails over darkness. Now my word will be combated again because there will be those who think they find contradictions, confusion and errors in its essence, but its light will shine again in the darkness of this time, and humanity will see that the way and the Law that I have revealed to you, is the same of that time and will always be the same.

71. Listen to me at this time so that you may take advantage of the divine lesson. Do not repeat what many did in the Second Time that while listening to Jesus they mocked him and when they saw the wonders of the Master on the cross and even after he died, they were filled with remorse and fear, because they understood that God had passed through the world. Does anyone know if these disciples through whom I communicate were the ones who most ignored and mocked me at that time? See them now enduring the judgment, the look of mockery and the mockery of the crowds. Do not call this revenge, it is justice and it is necessary that the one who errs out of ignorance, experience and live, so that later he may understand his error.

Love one another!

72. Perchance do you know if these spokespersons were once of those who longed to be my apostles and had to wait to be able to serve me?

73. Humanity is purifying itself with pain, so that my kingdom of peace and spirituality can be established in the hearts of men and peoples.

74. In the year 1924, I foretold to you all how much in the present is happening.

75. One by one, those who are called to be my precursors and prophets are coming to my presence at this time, and everyone who has felt the call inwardly tells me: "Lord, here I am, I want to take up your Work, give orders, I am your servant".

76. Since that moment I have dedicated myself to polishing the roughness of his heart with the chisel of my word, to fill it with charity and balm, peace and goodness. Remember that I have told you that out of the abundance of your heart your lips will speak.

77. I want you to be like trees whose shade shelters many, more. How few of you are truly learning to shade the wayfarer!

78. Imitate your Father who is like a stout tree that gives shade and offers its fruits to all his children.

MY PEACE BE WITH YOU!

Love one another!

Teaching 57

1. Rest for a few moments from your weary walk, you who are walking on the dust of the Earth, and you who inhabit the spiritual space.
2. As you listen to my divine word, your spirit is being purified.
3. To those of you who live in the spirit and are still attached to material ideals, I say: Get away from what no longer belongs to you, because if the Earth is not an eternal dwelling place for man, it is even less so for the spirit. Beyond, in the spiritual valley, a life full of light awaits you, which you will reach step by step, along the path of good. To those who listen to me as humans, I say that as long as you have that body that accompanies you in your earthly transit, you must take care of it and preserve it until the last moment, because it is the staff on which the spirit rests and the instrument to fight; through his material eyes the spirit peeps into this life and through his mouth he speaks and can give comfort to his brothers.
4. I have come at this time to prepare you and I have to speak to all humanity to help it in its spiritual evolution.
5. Let peace penetrate your heart from now on, because later you will have to pray and watch tirelessly for the peace of others.
6. You will do a very great and meritorious work if you give tranquility and calm to hearts agitated by pain or worries. There will come times when on that peace you will learn to end the happiness of your fellow men.
7. Disciples and children, listening to my word, you feel that the shadows that enveloped your mind and the burden that you carry in your heart, have departed. It was the burden of suffering, worries and sometimes regrets that were weighing you down in life.
8. Do not forget that no one can be your best Cyrineus than Jesus. Hear my word and let it flood your heart with peace, it will be balm on your wounds.
9. My word anoints, caresses and strengthens. Learn it and feel it, so that later you may anoint with my truth and my love those who you find sick on your way.
10. The times will pass and when extraordinary events occur, you will exclaim: this was already announced, because you will remember what I had prophesied to you so many times.

Love one another!

11. Give the good news of my doctrine to everyone to whom you can get my word, even if he suddenly does not show faith. Truly I tell you, if you speak to him with love, his spirit will never forget how much you told him.
12. That is the land of which I speak to you; the heart and the spirit of your brothers, the seed is my Doctrine that you must make known to them and the crystalline water, my love and my truth, with which you must irrigate those lands.
13. When will men feel my spiritual presence? When will I hear that humanity welcomes me?
14. You who have heard me through the human spokesman, do not stop to look at the defects of these brothers of yours for whom I speak to you today, tomorrow my written word will remain and the influence of the spokesman will have disappeared.
15. This is how my word of this time will reach all those who have not listened to it, full of essence and purity.
16. I want the only badge worn by the emissaries of this message to be the truth, she is the key, the shield and the sword.
17. The sages, the scientists, the great ones of this time, who have struggled a lot to achieve the glory of the world, will be surprised to see my new disciples, men, women and children, humbly manifest divine teachings, without boasting of superiority or vanity.
18. The greater the knowledge you have of the value of what you possess, the more real and true your humility must be.
19. How blessed is the spirit who, by leaving his human remains in this valley of atonement from infinity, contemplates that he left on Earth a trace of light, truth and love.
20. My new people of Israel, who in spirit are the same of all time, will be in charge of carrying my revelation throughout the world, will be the one who will point out to men where they have profaned the Law and where they have misinterpreted my words.
21. How can you hold such a high and delicate office? Having love and zeal for my doctrine and good will to be my apostle.
22. The one who feels charity for his fellow man, the one who feels the pain of others and the one who, thinking about the needs of others, forgets his own pains, he has the seed, the balm, the sustenance; then he will learn the proper way to give what he has received from Me and to express what comes from the heart or the spirit.

Love one another!

23. Study the book of my lessons in the light of your consciousness, it will tell you if you are progressing or if you are stationary.

24. Do not think that the gift of love has been entrusted only to privileged beings, know that you are all predestined, and that some before and others after, you will all love as I have taught you.

25. Take advantage, take advantage of these times of my communion and study my word, so that you will not be surprised when you look at those for whom I gave you my teaching, speaking out of ecstasy, in spirit-to-Spirit communion with their Creator.

26. Raise your spirits, raise your morale. At all times that has been my teaching. Jacob contemplated the silhouette of the Father at the top of the spiritual ladder. Moses received the Law on the summit of Mount Sinai, Jesus on Mount Tabor, bequeathed his divine sermon to you.

27. Analyze the symbol of these manifestations. But where is the mountain from which I speak to you at this time and give you my Law?. You all know, that mountain is perfection, truth, wisdom.

28. Whoever has felt touched by my charity at this time, do not sow the thistle or the thistle on the way anymore, because the fruit he gathers will be many times more bitter than the one he sowed.

29. Consider yourselves as part of that seed that I promised Jacob in his dream, when I announced to him that his offspring would be numerous like the dust of the earth and that in his seed all nations would be blessed.

30. Today my warmth descends among you to give life to your heart; but this warmth does not wither the flowers that I am cultivating in your spirit. I give everything to you and the more I divide my assets among my children, the more they multiply. I am not afraid of running out of any virtue like the rich miser. Ask that it will be given to you. What can you ask me not to grant you?. I only ask you to make yourselves worthy of my benefits, that you know how to ask me.

31. To each one is destined what he has to give throughout his journey. While some are receiving it and taking advantage of it in due time, others squander it and there are those who have not even known how to prepare to receive it and when they have returned to the spiritual mansion they have realized everything that was theirs and did not know how to achieve or deserve.

32. My voice speaks to everyone, there is not an incarnate or disembodied spirit to whom I have not addressed my word, whether as a Father, Teacher or Judge; but man has not been able to prepare himself to interpret the divine language, despite having spoken to you in all forms and in all languages. When are you going to communicate spirit to Spirit with my Divinity to hear my voice in your spirit, since that is what you are destined for? At least you, who hear my voice, go preparing yourselves so that step by step, along the path of the development of the spirit, you will reach that grace. Don't you think that the most natural and just thing is that your spirit can be in communion with its Creator and listen to his voice, wherever he is?

33. Long ages have passed over men without their understanding the end for which they were created.

34. My children, it is not necessary to penetrate the wisdom of the world to know the purpose of your existence, not only the wise will be able to know me and get to know themselves; how many times the humble, the one who lacks enlightenment on Earth, has a greater intuition of the truth.

35. That is the reason why I speak to you in simple and humble language, accessible to every mind and every spirit, so I have wanted to communicate through humble and even rude understandings. If speaking clearly and simply to humanity I am not understood, how could they understand me if I spoke to them in a higher way? I am not talking to you about mysterious teachings; the spiritual, the higher and more perfect it is, the clearer, more natural and simpler it presents itself to your spirit.

36. Make a spiritual study of my revelations, but do not make complicated theologies out of them. If the Master is simple, let the disciples be simple; follow me with humility and meekness and I will make you possessors of the promised Land, because he who walks in disobedience owns nothing. The more you possess, the more humble you will be before others.

37. Your ears that had not listened to flattery, do not let pride surprise you now; your eyes that had never contemplated the wonders of my Creation, do not let vanity blind you. Seek no other crown than that of the good fruit of your works of love for your brothers and sisters.

38. Do not wait for more favorable times to start working, because if you do not take advantage of these moments, tomorrow you will sigh for them.

39. All this I tell you, so that you can give your testimony to humanity; do not be afraid not to be believed because the elements will confirm your words. The Earth will tremble, the waters will come out of their channel, the fire will be unleashed, the winds will be unleashed on the world, the seas will curl and epidemics will devastate regions. The unbridled race of mankind will be stopped by pain. Once humanity is washed of its materialism, my word will reach the hearts and no one will be left without it.

Love one another!

40. Your heart has opened like a flower, to offer me the perfume of your elevation and of your thanksgiving, because you know that it was my charity that turned the thorns out of your way and wiped away your tears.

41. I have taught you that the way to avoid suffering is to bring you closer to the fulfillment of my Law; for this I have told you, it is necessary that you depart from many fanatical practices, which leave you no benefit.

42. The hope of his salvation has arisen in the hearts of those who have listened to me at this time. I want you at the end of the day to experience the joy of having overcome all obstacles.

43. Carry my Word in your mouth; it is not necessary for this that you use the same way in which I speak to you. Speak of me and of my Work, with the same language with which you speak to your brothers and sisters and only when you try to repeat my phrases, do it in the way in which I have spoken to you, but be prepared, because there will be times when I am the one who speaks through your lips and then your simple and material language will disappear, to let my divine word manifest in the form and in the sense.

44. Soon the mobs of men will arrive, whose spirits have wasted time and missed the opportunities that the Father has given them to rise; they, hearing my voice, will stop first, then repent, and later they will take up the tillage tools to cultivate my lands and replenish the lost time.

45. Today they pass by the one who suffers without paying attention to the pain of their brothers; but after being touched in the heart by the essence of my word, they will turn their eyes to everyone who needs comfort and they will take the balm with which I healed them. Then they will ask him, Why yesterday I saw no pain in anyone, neither widows, nor orphans, nor hungry for justice, nor needy? Because he was deaf, blind and insensitive.

46. Who has loved his fellow human beings on Earth, how calmly and happily his life passes and how peaceful his agony is; but he who did not sow love on his way, never had a moment of true peace and with pain says goodbye to the body in which he lived.

47. This is the time of sin, in which I will show you my power, raising up in the heart of humanity a sanctuary of love. Man will not need to build temples or palaces to my Divinity, because my spiritual doctrine has not been teaching such demands. Today the true temple of God, where He dwells, will be known to men.

Love one another!

48. For these teachings that I am giving you today, you will be unknown to your brothers, but do not be afraid, because in the meaning of them is the reason and the truth that they will soon recognize when the trials are looming over humanity.

49. Everyone will understand that my love has given each one of you a place at my table for all those who hunger and thirst for justice to drink the wine of life and eat the bread of the spirit at it. The Earth has imprisoned you for a long time and many of you have fallen into the mud and into the dross that the sin of men has created; from there my charity is freeing you, that's where the echo of my voice arrives inviting you to the path of light; if my word has always resounded in the barren desert of your heart, stop now for a moment to hear it, because in it you will be able to find the crystal clear and fresh water that quenches your thirst for truth.

50. Strengthen yourselves in my teaching, stop being the fragile boat with which the waves of your passions or your weakness play. Take the spiritual and moral strength that is in my word, and truly I tell you that the storms of life will no longer surprise you.

51. See how instead of punishment, the surprise of my word awaits you by forgiving your imperfections and that of my love by sitting at my table to delight you with divine delicacies.

52. Those who have been forgiven by Me today, tomorrow will forgive those who offended them, and those who received the sweetness of my word, after drinking for a long time the cup of bitterness, will later go on their way sowing comfort in hearts.

53. Man has torn many secrets from Nature and with his science he has transformed human life; the light of knowledge shines in minds and every day humanity advances along the path of scientific progress, towards a goal that it has not yet been able to glimpse, but in the heart of your civilization I do not find love.

54. From time to time I come to men to bring them my Law, to remind them of my lesson, to repeat my words to them, because your science without love cannot be good, your progress if it does not shed egoism to make room for charity, it cannot be solid and lasting.

55. Between one advent and another of my Divinity, thousands of years pass, and when I manifest myself, it is to speak to you of a single teaching of love; in it all my Law and all my Doctrine are summarized by saying to you "Love one another".

56. The day when men inspire their science and their progress in the divine light of love, they will make this world a paradise full of life, light, health, never dreamed of, because

Love one another!

to the selfish science of today I will not reveal all the wonders that I have in store for humanity.

57. At this time I tell you, evil will not prevail, because in my Work the imperfect cannot exist, your spirit has been made so that through its evolution it reaches the highest degree of perfection.

58. My disciples will arise on all the roads of the earth and in their path the fog that had hidden the truth will dissipate, they will have my maxims engraved in their hearts, as my precepts were once engraved in stone.

59. People, here is the light, fill yourselves with it, but first destroy that garment of materialism that has enveloped you and may it never again cover your spirit.

60. Not all humanity will be purified by spirituality; the elements will also do justice to the new Sodom and Gomorrah, in order to prepare the Earth for the new generations.

61. That flood that washed the earth from human impurities, and the fire that descended on Sodom, you know now as legends; however, at this time you will also contemplate how humanity will be moved when the Earth trembles under the force of air, water and fire; however, I send you again an ark, which is my Law, so that whoever penetrates it may be saved.

62. Not all those who in the hour of trial say, "Father, Father," will love me, but those who in their fellow men always practice my love, those will be saved.

63. Beloved disciples: all of you who follow me, let your steps shine spiritually in the shadows of the night, so that they may trace a path of light that guides those who are lost.

64. Before you had thought of coming to listen to me, I have been in your heart and communicated with your spirit, which is who I am looking for. It is my will that at this time humanity will rise up, leave its lethargy and turn away from the false and frivolous world that it has created. I want you to be disciples of the Holy Spirit.

65. Make sure that there is harmony between the spirit and the envelope, so that you can easily fulfill my instructions; bend matter with love, use energy if necessary, take care that you are not blinded by fanaticism, so that you do not act cruelly in it. Make of your being one will.

66. It is not the time to stand still or become lethargic; see that something higher than you is keeping you awake, whether it is a spiritual restlessness or a physical ailment. Only awake will you be able to perceive my inspirations, because the one who sleeps hinders his spirit and cannot contemplate the light, nor understand life because his eyes will be closed to the truth.

Love one another!

67. There are many who are only waiting for a word to come to Me, that is why I prepare you and send you to the regions to give the good news, that is why I put the thirsty in your path, so that you can offer them this water that truly quenches thirst.

68. I have taught you not to imitate the rich miser who hides his treasure from strange eyes; know that this gift that you possess today is not only for you, but for everyone who needs it. It is my will that my word will reverberate throughout the world, first through the spokesman and then through my emissaries.

69. The few years that remain to deliver my words to you, you will see them pass as if they were an instant. Relax and keep my word so that after my departure you will make it known in all its purity.

70. Do not expect that the year 1950 will come to shake you finding yourself unprepared, do not wait until then to make up for lost time. Get up from now on, take advantage and analyze my teachings and in this way you will not be confused; persevere in charity, do not look at the speck in your brother's eye, nor move away from the leper because I put them in your way so that you cure them.

71. I come to save you, to call you all, I want to gather you around my word.

72. I want you to arrive with obedience and humility to the end of the path, the road is strewn with trials, each of them is a step forward towards the summit of the mountain or one more rung on the ladder of perfection. Walk with your eyes fixed on infinity.

73. I bless those who have sacrificed themselves for their fellow human beings, those who have renounced the pleasures of the world to comfort those who suffer. I want your examples to be written in the book of eternity, which are what men need to get up to follow me.

74. I am giving the light to humanity, because its science will not save it and it is in a rough sea, but I will rescue the shipwrecked to turn them into fishermen and I will give them a boat to bring hope and salvation to the lost.

75. These will be the disciples of the Third Time, the new fishers of men, who will have my teaching as a guide and the life and acts of my apostles of the Second Time as an example and stimulus.

76. Watch and pray, disciples; whenever you do it together, you will feel my peace. If murmurings and bad judgments haunt you, close your ears because those darts are not deadly; if you are fulfilling my divine teachings, on your way you will receive demonstrations of gratitude and respect, and these will give you life and breath.

Love one another!

77. The more you work, the shorter the time and the road will seem to you, when the world causes you pain and you understand that there is no one in it to comfort you, deposit your complaint in Me and I will console you. You all bring my light in consciousness, that divine spark that never goes out, because while that light illuminates the hearts of some, that of others, who have been rebellious to that light, I find them in darkness. I receive and welcome everyone at this table of love; drinking this wine and eating this bread, you will remember my maxims.

78. Enjoy this banquet because you will not always enjoy it; calm your hunger and thirst forever, because very soon you will have to travel the long roads and you will need courage and strength of body and spirit.

79. As a thief I came to your heart at this time, surprising some and awakening others, saying to you: "Behold, your Master, listen to him and purify your life so that you may bear witness to my arrival with your deeds." If this is not the case, my word and my communication through the human understanding will be mocked and denied. Let your works inspire sinners to repentance and let their lips, which have only known of blasphemy, pronounce my name with love.

80. I put my Word on your lips, that you may save the lost.

81. If men made the Earth a world of scum and evil, by your efforts and merits it will be transformed into a world of peace and spirituality, and you will have my help at all times in this Work.

82. Woe to humanity if mercy and charity do not arise in its heart! Woe to men if they do not come to have full knowledge of their evil deeds! His own hand is unleashing on himself the fury of the elements and trying to pour over the nations the chalice of pain and bitterness, and when they are collecting the result of his work, there will still be those who say: "It is God's punishment."

83. I have only given you proofs of love; I sent you to the Earth that was like a fruitful, loving and tender mother; I gave you the fire of life, the air that is the breath of the Creator and the water that is fruitfulness and freshness and you have taken everything to sow destruction and death; everything has been desecrated and it will be even more so, your rivers will be of blood, your fire will be of extermination, the air will be saturated with the breath of death, and the whole Earth will convulse. In the hour of justice many will say to me, "Lord, forgive me, I had the blindfold of darkness over my eyes."

Love one another!

84. I will forgive you and let you know that in this Age no one has darkness in the spirit.

85. As the owner of everything created, I will have to claim from you everything that was made on Earth; then you will see how nothing escapes my penetrating gaze and nothing is erased from the "Book of True Life".

86. Let the Master penetrate into your heart; invite me to come to your home, let me live with you. These words are for all the peoples of the earth, have charity from your brothers and from yourselves, so that you destroy the threat that hovers over humanity; with a little goodwill you will be able to achieve peace even in the most difficult moments.

87. It has been a long time since I have been knocking at your door; recognize my call by its sweetness, do not be alarmed and when you open, let the hand of death be the one that knocks. The times announced by Christ, by John his apostle and by the prophets have arrived; these times took a long time to arrive according to men, but I tell you that seen from eternity, only an instant has passed; remember that you were told that those who persevered faithful to my Law of love to the end would be saved; watch, pray and persevere in the good, so that you do not get lost in this unchained sea of passions, despair and death; my divine Law is with everyone in the hour of justice, my love accompanies you eternally.

MY PEACE BE WITH YOU!

Love one another!

Teaching 58

1. This son of mine through whose understanding I am delivering this message to you, does not pretend to impersonate Jesus, he is one of the many spokespersons that I have prepared in this time, to make my divine word reach you.
2. Get ready for that voice to reach your heart and you will rise to true life.
3. Truly I tell you, my word is the bread of the spirit, therefore whoever eats of it will never hunger again.
4. Be like children before Me and then I will tell you as in the Second Half. "Let the children come to Me, for theirs is the Kingdom of heaven."
5. My Kingdom is for the pure of heart, so now that you know it, you will not remove anyone from my presence, not the adult who, as a sinner, comes before the Master, because he comes to purify himself in my word; nor the child, because although you think he lacks understanding in the teachings of my Work, he has a spirit many times more evolved than yours.
6. In this era in which I manifest myself through human understanding, I am clarifying my past teachings to you. My Spirit is above all matter and above all spirit at this time so that my divine presence may be felt by all and you may contemplate the path that leads to eternity.
7. If humanity has given my teachings of the past times crooked interpretations, today you can also fall into that error. Here is why, despite coming in the spirit, I come for a moment to materialize my teachings to make them understandable to you, who have not known how to prepare, watching and praying.
8. Know that the purpose of my spiritual Doctrine is the perfecting of your spirit, so that it may come to possess the peace and happiness to which every spirit aspires with the knowledge of my truth.
9. Before I gave you your cross, I strengthened you and wiped away your tears. Blessed is he who has known how to weep in my lap, for he will feel his pain disappear. Blessed is he who, after obeying my Law, attains joy in his spirit, for it will be the fruit of his merits.
10. If you want to follow Me, always arrive clean in front of Me. You will not need jewels or luxurious dresses, I just want purity in your spirit and in your body so that you can carry me in you.

Love one another!

11. My word is clear and yet sometimes you don't want to understand it. In the Second Time I spoke a lot in parables and figuratively, because the men of that time only understood me in that way, but despite this they pretended not to understand me on some occasions. And it is that humanity would like to touch the divine with its hands and flees from material renunciations and spirituality that are the means by which it can contemplate the light of Divinity.

12. Have spirituality, be clean of heart and at the Lord's banquet you will never be afflicted and you will understand and feel how much He speaks to you. You will not feel unworthy nor will you have the desire to leave. Therefore, whoever gets up from my table, it will be only to go and preach with his life and his works the truth of my teaching.

13. Disciples, I am in your heart, that is why Jesus died among you, to live forever in your heart. Listening to my word, your spirit will evolve, see that by the works of my disciples I will be recognized at this time.

14. Pain has purified your soul and your spirit, so that in thought, through prayer, you may be transported even to distant regions to fulfill your delicate mission of making peace and bringing light to your brothers.

15. When your body ceases in its daily struggle and takes rest in bed, the spirit takes advantage of that time to free himself and occupy himself in his own missions, in the works of the Lord; but if your heart instead of resting from its worries and vicissitudes, or rising in prayer, surrenders to bitterness, the spirit will have to remain busy overcoming the weaknesses of his body neglecting other missions. This is how you strip yourselves of your virtues, for lack of faith and spirituality, having to think that whoever abandons his duties to others, to take care only of himself, is selfish with his fellow men and therefore has no charity of his spirit.

16. Practice my teachings so that you may be strengthened and when those who deny and slander you come to your doors, have serenity in your spirit and sweetness on your lips.

17. If you work with this preparation, you will see that with your prayer the sorrow that they could hide will be removed from those hearts, as proof that they were before my disciples.

18. If, on the contrary, you try to defend my Doctrine by answering blow for blow and blasphemy for blasphemy, then you will see how the mobs will defeat you and find reasons to prove that you cannot be my disciples because of your lack of love and charity towards your fellow men.

Love one another!

19. Do not allow the sanctuary that I have built in your heart to be destroyed by profane ideas; live alert, penetrate in prayer so that the storms do not surprise you.

20. When you listen to the prophets of this time whom you call seers, who in their looks speak to you of dangers and predict trials, raise your thoughts to Me, to ask me for strength, to resist, or light to save that obstacle, imploring my charity for all your brothers.

21. It's time to pray. The homes that live in peace, should pray for the broken homes. The widows who have found resignation and consolation, accompany in thought those who go aimlessly maddened with pain.

22. Mothers who rejoice to see you surrounded by your children, send your comfort to those who have lost them in the war. It does not matter that your eyes do not see the result, your faith will suffice and that you want to share the pain of your brothers, so that I send those for whom you pray, peace, my consolation and my caress, bread and forgiveness,

23. I have given you so that you may attain by your merits the land of promise.

24. I will always help you in your preparation so that you can be strong and rise up as good soldiers of this cause when confusion breaks out and peoples against peoples and nations against nations rise up.

25. Today I say to you, welcome to the wayfarer who has been coming for a long time in pursuit of the divine light. O transient inhabitants of this world, who are here today and tomorrow you do not know where your spirit is going! Verily I say to you, it is not death that awaits you, but eternal life, for I have not decreed death for the spirit; but I want that at the moment of my call you find yourselves like the faithful virgins of my parable waiting for the arrival of the chaste bridegroom with his lamp lit, so that at the moment of listening to my voice that calls you, you can leave the cup of bitterness that you have drunk in this world that no one at that hour can take away from you what with so much pain you are about to reach.

26. Here the eyes of your body tired of crying will close, while the eyes of your spirit will open to true life, as you cross the thresholds of eternity, there where your Father awaits you with the reward he has promised you.

27. How many dead to the life of grace have risen in this time listening to this word! How many weak have risen up full of strength! How many timid and desperate people have been filled with courage and have found peace!

Love one another!

28. The multitudes that I announced in the first days of this communication are these: the dead and needy that I said would arrive, are you.

29. In your loneliness and in your bitterness you waited day after day for the moment that I will give you the good news of my arrival. You have arrived under the shade of the tree where I was waiting for you, attracted by the rumors of my presence and my wonders, and here you are becoming disciples of the Divine Master.

30. I will still be with you for some time, so that you may engrave my teachings in your spirit and not fall into desecration or adultery. I want that when your lips are ready to speak of my Doctrine, your heart will confirm with works of love the word that the Master will teach you.

31. Be careful not to hurt the heart of your brothers or to extinguish their lamp of faith, because there among the crowds are my new disciples, do not turn them away from that path. Do not think that you are the only ones I will use at this time. You will be called first and those last. Even those who are tired of walking and suffering will come and say to me: Father, I have surrendered to you, I wish I had met you a long time ago on my way, I would have avoided many of my sufferings and mistakes. But I tell you, the leaf of the tree does not move without my will and those who speak to me in this way should know that even among my farmers there are those who in their hearts say to me: How happy I would be if I were still free to enjoy what the world offers me! This is the one who did not know how to take advantage of the trials that are the lessons that life gives, nor has he known how to understand the meaning of my teaching, that is why he is weak and in his weakness he tempts himself.

32. Who can hide any intention or any of his thoughts from Me, who dwells in the heart of every man? Therefore do not be surprised if I tell you that those who persecute and try to destroy what I have done will arise from among you. Some of those who today call themselves disciples and laborers of the Lord, tomorrow they will rise up against my Doctrine fighting those they called their brothers. That is why I always say to you, watch and pray, so that you do not fall into temptation.

33. Let everyone be in conformity with the gift and the office entrusted to him and do not get up on the roads and to the regions until the due moment is marked and his mission is pointed out to him. I tell you this because there are those who, without having prepared themselves, go on teaching, and there are also those who become guides without possessing the proper preparation. On the other hand, to others who seem unable to fulfill the missions that I am entrusting to them, I say: How do you consider it impossible to fulfill what He entrusts to you who knows what each of his children is capable of? How did you think my communication was possible at this time? Is it not by the understanding of man?

34. There are those who have doubted my communication in this way considering the spokesman as an impostor, and of those who have doubted I have also served by calling them and preparing them to perform the position they doubted and giving them proof of my truth. Many of them have been my best spokespersons, because of the faith and joy with which they have later worked. Knowing that divine words were flowing from their lips, they turned their eyes to Me to bless my name.

35. Since then they do my will and not theirs, recognizing that whoever does his own will on Earth, does it to glorify himself and therefore departs from Me.

36. The Master tells you: today it is my word that guides you, corrects and teaches you, after 1950 only your conscience will guide you. Give up my teaching in all its purity, show my Work with all charity.

37. I have not called you to perish in this struggle; on the contrary, I want you to achieve triumph as good soldiers, but let that triumph be that of the peace that you have sown, that of the health that you have given to the sick, that of the light that you have made in the darkness.

38. Whenever you come to present your work to me, I receive you. You come from the lands that I have entrusted to you and you ask me: Divine Master, is my work, my struggle pleasant before you? And the Master answers you: Your works are not yet perfect, you have not become my disciples, I look at you like tender little children, whom I love very much and I receive that fulfillment that you present to me, I receive it; your spirit rises taking the first steps, bending to matter and giving ear to my new teachings at the present stage.

39. In the first time you knew the name of the Lord and you looked at my manifestations in the bosom of the people of Israel to whom you have always belonged, and I said to you, Behold, the way, and the way of which I spoke to you was the Law. Later, my incarnate Word in Jesus spoke to you and you enlightened yourselves with my parables and precepts, and in them I told you: "Everyone who fulfills by loving and forgiving his fellow men is within the path of my Law", and at this time you find yourselves again on the same path of your evolution and you have before you the same Divine Spirit teaching and guiding your steps; I have come as a radiant light and everyone who prepares, will be able to contemplate me.

Love one another!

40. Humanity has not risen in this age to fulfill my commands and I am waiting for it; I have cultivated the spirits throughout the ages and you have not yet presented me with fruits worthy of Me; I have dictated perfect laws on all beings and the spirit of man, which is the masterpiece of the Creator, has not been perfected; after inspiring and advising him incessantly, he has not known how to listen and obey his God.

41. You have not made good use of the gifts that I have given you and you only show me pain; if there is pain in you, it is that you have transgressed the Law; having been endowed with strength, you have weakened.

42. I want you to know that you are, among all the creatures of this world, the favorite being endowed with spirit and conscience; I have given you the free will to take by your will the straight path that leads to Me; it is not the flowery path that I offer you, but that of prayer, penance and struggle and along that path your conscience will guide you.

43. The time is approaching when you will come to Me in spirit; you are in the Third Time, in the sixth stage, close to the threshold of that perfect life that awaits you; do you want to come to Me and enjoy the peace that I have promised you from the beginning?; You all say to me: Yes, Master, because the cup we hurry is bitter and our day is heavy. Every day your work becomes more difficult and you stumble over the misunderstanding of your fellow men; but my word, which is balm, comes to soothe your pains; that fountain of grace that you had left to dry up, today overflows again to give you strength.

44. Look, the year 1950 is approaching and the people are not gathered, the twelve thousand spirits of each tribe are not yet prepared, and if that year comes and you do not present me the number that I have asked for, who will be able after that time to point out the chosen ones! Are you going to point them out and mark their destiny?; No, people, only I write with indelible letters the mission that corresponds to each spirit.

45. How much I long to manifest my Work in other nations! The time is approaching when this communication is to be closed and these lips will no longer speak in this form.

46. I am the one who speaks at this time, the one who cultivates and prepares the spirits, because there are no masters of the spirit on earth.

47. And just as these multitudes, small yesterday, have multiplied today, so I want to gather my disciples in other nations.

48. As you look at my constant struggle, you tell me: "Master, How great is your Work, how abundant is your word and how much love and power you pour into it! Hearts are converted and the sick are healed by feeling your presence." Listen to Me to the end so that you may learn from Me.

Love one another!

49. I have manifested myself spiritually in all nations as it was written, The prophets said: in the time of war and tribulation the Holy Spirit will come to communicate with men. Humanity is looking for me, sighs for my word and its anguish and confusion is so great that it does not succeed in finding me being so close to it. In some cities temples have been destroyed, books have been thrown into the fire, faith attacked and the sacred laws unknown, and in some nations my name has been erased from the hearts of their inhabitants and yet I have announced to you that the heavenly kingdom will find a seat in the hearts of men. Who can destroy the inner temple if you know how to build it in your spirit! How great is the struggle that awaits you, people!

50. The knowledge will soon come to the world that the people of Israel have returned to earth incarnated in different nations and I am going to serve them; they will know that you are not descendants of that people by blood, but by the spirit, and as in times past, witness of my coming and of my manifestations.

51. You who represent me will carry my message to humanity; I have sent you to illuminate the earth, to preach good and to bear witness to the truth. You will put consciousness before spirit and matter and teach that it is your guide, and all materialism will fall and the spirit will rise again becoming my disciple.

52. You forget your sorrows at this moment to think about those of others because you know that in other lands pain has filled the chalice of its inhabitants and this pain reaches Me, because what affliction does the son feel that he does not reach the Father? But that pain is purifying and enlightening man, it is making him feel the touch of justice and will make him return to the path; only pain will make him meditate and regain the health and peace that he has lost.

53. My presence and my love accompanies all my children in this hour of trial.

54. Among the called of this time are those who have asked the Father for one more time of freedom that I have granted them, but when the moment has come to ask them for an account, I have asked them: What have you done with that freedom that you asked of me? And they could only answer: We have done our will and the fruit we have gathered is very bitter.

55. These have returned to Me tired, bitter and jaded of the fruits they so desired, poisonous and deadly fruits.

Love one another!

56. The Lord was waiting for them, I knew that they had to return and when they returned I asked them if they still want to follow the path of earthly pleasure or carry the cross of love of the Master and follow him, and they told me with their hearts that they will follow me to the end.

57. I say to all of you: Pray that you will be strong on your matter.

58. While a large part of humanity is suffering, because the law of force is still the one that prevails among men and injustice reigns, I descend and present myself spiritually among you to feed you, so that you may regenerate, understand my divine teaching and then be able to do perfect works among humanity. For this I have planted my trees that are the large or small congregations in different cities, provinces and villages; trees that give shade to the walker who comes along long paths and deserts and that give their fruits of life to the hungry. Love these trees, cultivate them with your affection and your zeal, not because you look at some naked of leaves and others aged whip them as if you were a whirlwind because their branches will be new trees. Do not forget the day when you received the first shadow and ate the first fruit.

59. I have taken you as little children. When you begin to take your first steps as farmers, I am entrusting you with small lands so that you can learn to sow. Those first lands are the heart of yours, they are your friends and also your enemies. For each case I inspire you.

60. Thus, when the storm has approached your lands, you have been met with courage in spirit, and the time has come to reap and reap, with joy in your heart you will be able to take the collected seed to the granaries of the Father, the same that will be in the future your food in eternity.

61. Time ago the Master invited you to sow in his lands, but some were deaf and ungrateful to the first voice; but the Father kept waiting for them because he knew that at the second call they would arrive full of repentance asking for his forgiveness.

62. Some, in order to believe me and follow me, asked me as proof for the health and tranquility that they could not find on Earth and when they healed and saw peace reign in their homes and in their lives, they told me: "It is You, Father".

63. Blessed is he who recognizes the works that he manifests every moment on his way, because he gives his Father a joy. Woe to the one who doubts or mistrusts because he feels alone, lost and weak!

64. Listen disciples: In the Second Time, one day Jesus was sailing in a boat accompanied by his disciples; the waters were calm and those men were ecstatic with the word of the Master. But Jesus fell asleep in time that the waters began to swell threatening a storm. For a few moments the boat was a toy of the waves and fear seized those hearts, to the extent that they woke up with an anguished voice to the Master saying: Lord, save us who perish! To which Jesus, looking at them sweetly, stretched out his hand towards the waters, which instantly became calm and turning to his disciples, reproached them for their doubt, saying thus: Ah men of little faith!

Love one another!

65. Sometimes I look at you like this, weak in faith. It is enough many times that bread is scarce on your table or that the doors of work are closed at times, so that doubt takes hold of you, forgetting that you are in the boat with Jesus, who also says to you: Ah men of little faith!

66. When I am overflowing with complacency, you believe me. but when I test you, then you doubt.

67. Do not think that I can send you pain, because it does not exist in Me. It is a seed that was born from the heart of man from which I use so that its fruits awaken and enlighten him, because I am the one who makes light spring out of darkness itself.

68. How many there are who, under the pain of their trials, have called me the imperfect and unjust God, without recognizing that the pain they are gathering was sown by themselves and that only because of him will they be clean and free from their burden!

69. When will humanity put pain to death? When will their wars and their sins cease? My voice, like a bell, tells the spirits at this time. Wake up! Get up! Listen to your conscience so that you may enter with submission and meekness along the path of the Law; the time of peace and grace is promised to you, in which pain and tears will disappear, but first you will have to fight and persevere in the good.

70. When all men rise up encouraging this ideal, the Babel confusion that endures in these times will disappear, so that all races will be united in an embrace of fraternity.

MY PEACE BE WITH YOU!

Teaching 59

I Welcome all of you to the Master. Which of you are the disciples? Who are the preschoolers? You don't know. There are many who already think they are teachers and, however, I contemplate that they have not yet understood the first lesson, on the other hand, others feel unable to teach and close their lips when they could already with their words and with their deeds begin to teach.

2. In all times I have limited myself to be felt and understood by humanity. If at that Second Time, in my manifestation as Christ, I had come as God and not as man, humanity would rightly have claimed me saying to me: "Lord, we cannot imitate you because you are God and we are men".

3. New teachings I have now brought to you, my arcanum has once again been opened for men and I want this to be a cause of rejoicing for my people.

4. Among humanity there are those who tell me in their hearts: Why, if you love us so much, do we suffer so much? Why have you sent us to the earth to suffer? I forgive your blasphemy because it is born of your ignorance and I tell you that it is your faults and falls that have been stripping you of gifts and attributes, and that for that reason, being rich in spirit, you have been left without any virtue. That is why you must now make merits, to advance on your path of evolution. This is why I come to open my arcana to you without making distinctions between humanity, so that everyone may take from this grace what they feel their spirit needs, be it peace, light, strength; but do not forget that in the crucible of pain is where spirits are forged and merits are made to achieve greater elevation. I am speaking to you from the top of the mountain and according to the elevation of each one, you will ascend in this way and come closer to Me. After you have heard me, you will go down to the valley where you still live, but not to the abysses that man has created with his sins.

5. The valley of which I speak to you is the harmony with the spiritual that you have not yet reached. Each spirit has been entrusted with a body as a means for it to manifest itself in this material world. In that body, which is a masterpiece of my wisdom, there is a brain where intelligence is revealed, and a heart through which virtues and noble feelings overflow.

6. I have found many in the abyss and I have come down to them to save them. My love for the lost made them listen to my loving voice that said to them: Where are you, my children?"

7. Behold my light, come after Me.

Love one another!

8. In the First Time your faith had dimmed; my children no longer understood the language of their own conscience, and it was necessary for the Father to come to them to say: Take this stone on which my Law is engraved, do not forget that it teaches you the way that leads to the top of the mountain where I wait for you. And before that stone in which my Law was carved, they swore to get up and walk to the end of their destiny; but the times passed and in the journey tribulations and trials arose, which were increasing the more time passed; then, raising their face and voice to the Father, they said: "We do not know you, it has been a long time that we have struggled and walked without contemplating the end of our walk, nor have we reached the peace that you promised to our heart".

9. The men returned to their disobedience and the Father returned to look for them, getting closer to them to speak to them as a Father and as a friend, but they ignored him saying: "You cannot be our God because He has always been on high".

10. And it is that he presented himself to them as the perfect truth, while men were looking for a truth in their own way and full of indignation they led the Divine Man to death. That Man who was all power and wisdom did not give men what they in their foolishness asked for. He was pure and only clean and perfect works could spring from Him. But from the same death he rose to life thus manifesting that the author of everything created could not die, and when the Lord again went to his Kingdom, to the mountain of perfection, then men confessed that the one who had been with them was God himself because his works and wonders were beyond the reach of humanity. They remembered that He had said that He was the way and longing to reach the top of the mountain where the Lord dwelt, they left the abyss to the valley where they contemplated the light that helped them to continue the journey, but the road was full of thorns; then, remembering that the Father above all is love, and that he had let them understand that when their pain was very great he would return to them, they began to ask their Lord, from the bottom of their hearts: Father, why don't you come? You are love and forgiveness, why have you punished us? and they foresaw the time when their Lord would come down from the mountain for the third time. When he came to them, he asked them, "What do you want from Me?" And they answered him, Father, save us! Then the Lord asked them, "Do you want to come out of the abyss?" Cross the valleys and climb the mountain animated only by my voice, which is the only thing you will hear at this time. Some doubted because they did not contemplate the humanized presence of their Father, but others did believe that the voice they heard came from their Lord. They rose up full of faith to continue their journey guided by that divine inspiration that was the light on their way.

Love one another!

11. Disciples: You are the ones, but truly I tell you, I have not sent anyone to dwell in the abysses, I have sent you to dwell in the valley so that from there you may ascend to your Father's mansion. It is men who have opened chasms before their feet to sink into them. Now I ask you: Do you believe that with this word that I have given you through human understanding, you will be able to reach the kingdom of heaven? Are you thinking of saving yourselves by believing and practicing what you are hearing?

12. Blessed is the one who believes in this word and in this manifestation, because he will reach the top of the mountain; but to whoever does not believe, I say that this will be the third time that he will deny me or ignore me, because whoever believes in Me once, will always have to recognize me because the flavor and the essence of my word never changes.

13. I will leave those who doubt in the place where they are today so that they can wake up for themselves. If He did not let men know the consequences of their actions, could they know when they have done right or wrong? Conscience tells them about all their works so that they can repent of their evil deeds and with their works of love fulfill my Law that tells them: "Love one another".

14. Christ at that time said to the men who did not know him, "You will wait for Me to return. That is why today, when I am with you again, I am calling you to tell you to turn away from the abyss and follow in my footsteps."

15. What will the Father do with those who have doubted His presence at all times? To subject them to great trials and to touch the most sensitive fibers of their heart so that faith, love and the desire to serve Him may be awakened in them. Truly I tell you that light will be made in all darkness and peace will be where for a long time only the Ay existed! of pain.

16. In each heart I discover a different concept of my Divinity; I can tell you that I find a different God in the belief of each of you; this is due to the different degree of evolution in which each one is.

17. Once again I present to you the mountain; if it is invisible to your body, I am presenting it to the eyes of your faith. On Sinai I gave you the light in the First Time and on Mount Tabor I was transfigured in the Second to give you samples of my Divinity.

18. I want to contemplate you believers of my third coming. I have told you that whoever wants to follow me, let him take up his cross and follow Me to the top of the mountain; but you already know that the way of Jesus is that of humility, sacrifice and has been traced with blood to Calvary. You know that I was persecuted by slander, spite, mockery, disbelief and envy. But I say to you again, whoever wishes to follow me, let him take up his cross and come after my footprint.

Love one another!

19. Why are you afraid? I do not come to ask impossible things of you, only that you pray with purity, that you practice charity and that you turn away from the superfluous. Is there an impossible in this? If spirituality had existed among humanity from the beginning, I would not have come to materialize in this world and men would have conquered the mansion promised to the spirit, through his inspiration, his conscience and his gift of revelation.

20. After 1950, my Spirit will no longer materialize before humanity. From the top of the mountain where I dwell, I will watch you ascend step by step until you come to Me.

21. You are the wayfarers who came in search of your salvation, in the hope of finding the truth. You were carrying a heavy tree on your shoulders and you were looking for a Cyrenian to help you bear this cross; but if you stayed here it was because you found what you were looking for.

22. Who who has really tasted this word could abandon his Master? Who out of ignorance would turn away from the path? Who could tell me that he has learned nothing from Me?

23. Whoever has not taken this divine lesson with true love and interest to study it, I will not be able to call him my disciple, but simply a child.

24. I have given no one to eat apart, nor have I left him outside; I have seated all of them at my table, and on it I have distributed bread and wine equally.

25. I want you all to become farmers in my lands, but farmers who are prepared and jealous of their mission, who know how to cultivate my seed, who do not let the gnawing worm that seeks the fruit to devour it penetrate into their land.

26. Disciples: Study this lesson so that you can ask your conscience if you are firm on the path, if you are understanding the teaching, if you can already call yourselves farmers of my countryside.

27. My mercy has been manifested in you. I have asked no one his works before he began as a labourer on my way, and truly I tell you, among the number of those who follow me, there is the one who has stained his hand with his brother's blood. No one on earth could have transformed that evildoer into a propagator of charity but Me. It was my forgiveness and my word of love that redeemed him and awakened the noble feelings that were sleeping in his heart.

Love one another!

28. If I have called some from the prisons to sit at my table and form a new apostolate with them, let no one judge these works, because in truth I did not come to heal the saints or to save the righteous, he comes to seek those who need me; this is my charity. I came to turn slag into a useful element; that is my power.

29. Only clean will you be able to reach Me and only when you cleanse your heart will you be able to receive Me. Or do I not deserve this offering from you? I contemplate that when you are about to receive a person in your home that you judge important, you clean everything and order it to make yourself worthy of him.

30. Do you not think it is right that every day, at the birth of the light of dawn, you should have prepared and cleansed yourselves to take me in your heart?

31. I speak to you simply because you are the humble in spirit; if you were rich on earth, you would not be listening to me. I do not come to look for finery or palaces among men; ask the seers the spiritual splendor that surrounds your Master and you will understand that nothing in the world can be like him.

32. Listen to the voice of these prophets who will be the ones who will guide you many times with their revelations, Give credit to their words knowing that I am serving the most humble at this time, the one you believe most imperfect to receive the grace of the Master.

33. I find your heart full of peace, because I am close to you.

34. I come to converse and to give you my teaching; in this time I was not humanized on Earth, nor have I sought the shade of a palm tree to speak from there to the multitudes, nor has my plant trodden the dust of the Earth.

35. I come to teach you the perfect love for your Creator. Am I not peradventure worthy that you should love me thus?

36. The trace that I traced to you in the Second Time was to turn into brothers those who lived as enemies and to spiritually elevate those who already knew how to live as brothers. Today, since you do not look at me with material eyes, I want you to contemplate me with the gaze of faith; but there are many among you who believe only in what their hands touch and doubt everything that is beyond sight and mind. They are the ones who say to me, "Father, why don't you perform miracles as in times past in order to believe yourselves?" Truly I tell you, that time has passed, and if you claim to believe in Me and to know Me, why do you want miracles? Believe by faith.

37. Join my word of that time to that of now; compare its essence and you will find that it is the same, Remember that I told you. "The tree by its fruit will be recognized." Let my word pass through your heart until it reaches the spirit, who will tell you from whom this word comes.

Love one another!

38. As long as you do not let the Spirit taste the taste of this fruit, how dare you deny that it is the Father who speaks to you?

39. Why are there those who, without understanding my Work, cannot depart from Me? For it is his spirit that has been convinced of my presence. Why do others, still doubting, not stop listening to me once? Because they carry doubt in their hearts, but it is the spirit who holds them back, because he is contemplating the truth, If those hearts persevere, their darkness will disappear.

40. Those of you who are satisfied with my word, do not go into the desert, nor store up for yourselves the food that I have given you. I called you to calm your hunger and so that later you can go and do the same with your brothers and sisters who are hungry.

41. Now that your spirit receives the light through this word, let him; he wants to know me, he wants to know who it is that enlightens him, he wants to know the path that will lead him to the end of his destiny.

42. Blessed are those who break the chains of slavery that bind them to the world to be with me. Blessed are those who overcome the inclinations towards the superfluous and the human passions to preserve cleanliness in the mind and in the heart, because my word will fall like seed on fertile ground.

43. Not because you have listened to me at this time, do you think that you have reached perfection. You have to make a lot of effort on the way and practice my lessons to achieve that perfection with your works of love.

44. Here on earth the spirit will not achieve its greatest elevation, so I tell you: Do not take this life as the only one, nor your body as if it were eternal. Verily I say to you, that matter which you love so much is nothing but your cross.

45. Understand my word, see that in its simplicity is found my essence that is life, balm and peace. Men may speak to you with a very flowery word, but they will never be able to give you the essence that my humble Verb contains.

46. Today I hear men talking about law, justice, peace, equality and fraternity; but truly I tell you, where there is no love, there can be no truth, no justice and much less peace.

47. When I talk to you about love, I am referring to the divine bond that unites all beings, I am not referring to love as men understand it. Where there is selfishness or low passions, there is no true love. I love the one who denies and offends me the same as the one who recognizes me and honors me with his works.

Love one another!

48. If some are happy knowing that they are loved by Me and others are not interested, my mantle of Father continues to cover everyone because love is immutable.

49. No one will be able to prevent me from loving you, any more than the sun will prevent me from sending its light to you. But do not forget that I am also a judge, and that no one will be able to prevent or avoid my judgments, just as no human being can stop the elements by himself when they are unleashed.

50. Walk within my Law and you will understand that my justice is inexorable. Fulfill my teachings and through the same vicissitudes you will feel peace.

51. Humanity is divided, because they are not governed by a single law. Each nation has its own laws. Each people follows a different doctrine and if you penetrate into the homes, also each father governs his children in a different way.

52. I revealed to man the gift of science which is light, and man with it has created darkness and caused pain and destruction.

53. Men judge themselves to be at the pinnacle of human progress, to which I ask them: Do you have peace on Earth? Is there fraternity among men, morality and virtue in homes? Do you respect the lives of your fellow human beings? Do you consider the weak? Verily I tell you, if these virtues existed in you, you would possess the highest values of human life.

54. There is confusion among humanity, because those who have taken you to the abyss, you have raised them on pedestals; therefore do not ask why I have come among men, nor judge why I am communicating through sinners and ignorant because not everything that you judge imperfect, it is.

55. Man is the most perfect thing that has ever existed in the world. In him there is a likeness to the Creator; he has in himself the trinity that you find in your God: consciousness, spirit and matter, three potencies that together form a perfect being.

56. The body could live without spirit, animated only by material life, but it would not be human. He would possess a spirit and lack a conscience, but he would not know how to guide himself, nor would he be the superior being who, through conscience, knows the Law, distinguishes good from evil and receives all divine revelation.

57. This is the light of the Third Time; but whoever says that it is not God who speaks to you, but this man, put him to the test, for truly I tell you, As long as my divine ray does not inspire his understanding, so you threaten him with death, from him you will not be able to extract words of essence and truth.

Love one another!

58. It is not strange that just as spirits use their bodies to speak and manifest themselves, for a moment they detach themselves from them to let the Father of all spirits manifest himself in his place: God.

59. I come to you, since you do not know how to reach Me, and I teach you that the most pleasant prayer that reaches the Father is the one that silently rises from your spirit. That prayer is the one that attracts my ray through which you listen to me. It is not the songs or the words that flatter my Divinity.

60. More than the virtuous, I come to seek among you the needy, the ignorant, the sinners, in order to manifest my charity to you and to make you my disciples.

61. In this Third Time, I must strip your spirit and your matter of all their blights, so that you may achieve true elevation.

62. I listen the same to the one who in pure form knows how to rise up to call me, than to the one who in his ignorance seeks me through the most imperfect cult. I cover them all with my mantle of love.

63. You who are listening to me at this time, do not think that you are on the cusp of spirituality, because you still have a long way to go to reach that degree of evolution, nor do you think that you are the little ones or beginners in my Law, because although you are taking the first steps in this Third Time, already in past ages you were also disciples of the Lord. Your spirit, listening to me at this time, was shaken and after studying my word, has come to understand the worship that the Father expects from his children.

64. If, following me, you are not free from trials on this path, it is because you have not yet arrived at the abode of your Father, where he awaits you, to make you feel true peace and perfect bliss.

65. Now I tell you: Do not get tired, do not retreat before the thorns and stumble, pray and you will feel me close and you will see that I am the good companion in your journey.

66. Do not despair, nor imitate the materialists who only contemplate what material life presents to them.

67. Everyone who has been lost will have to retrace the paths returning to the starting point to find the peace of the spirit.

Love one another!

68. It is necessary that you understand what I have called you to do in the Third Time, that you know your responsibility and your mission, because you will not only answer for yourselves but for the portion entrusted to you.

69. Why are you afraid? Does it mean a sacrifice to love one another? Do you not see how your brothers weep in the nations?

70. War has spread its mantle over many peoples of the earth and this will cause famine, plague and death to also break out.

71. Do not leave the door open to war, for like a thief, he will penetrate and surprise you. Watch and pray.

72. The bad grass will be cut off by the roots from the hearts of men and the good seed will be preserved, to form with it a new humanity.

73. Many men and women, because of so much pain and destruction, begin to sigh for my Law, for my word and for my peace, but they do not know where to lead their steps to find me, Would it not please you to arrive at those moments before them and be able to tell them: "This is the way there is the Divine Master"

74. Look how you are burying every page of the teaching that I give you without understanding the destiny that it has.

75. I am the book, the word and the light, perchance will you be able to deny me by hiding the truth?

76. I bless you, because you have been able to prepare your heart as a sanctuary. The lands, which are your hearts, have opened their bowels to receive the dew of my grace, which will cause the seed of my word to germinate.

77. At my table, no one has been served more to one than to another, no one has been distinguished or humiliated. It is men who love me differently, some with zeal, with perseverance and with faith; others with coldness, with nonconformity and inconstancy. When all men seeking peace find it in Me, they will understand that the word of Christ and his promises are of eternal life and everyone who finds me at this time will never leave Me again, because the spirit incarnate in this age, has reached a great evolution that is experience and light.

78. I leave you as torches among humanity, by your works faith will be ignited in many hearts. Take care of your actions, words and even your thoughts.

79. Let your left hand never know what the right hand is doing, and the seed of your love will be abundant and fruitful.

Love one another!

80. What have you made of the Master's lesson? I have not yet contemplated your regeneration. But do not wait for my justice to touch your world to get up and work for peace.

81. Not because you feel forgiven beforehand, are you going to misuse this forgiveness.

82. The past two ages passed without your spirit faithfully fulfilling its destiny. Today a new time has opened before him so that with his merits he may flood the Earth with peace and misery and pain may be driven away from it. It is the time when you will be able to leave your example imprinted on the hearts of your brothers, so that they may turn away from vice, from the superfluous and regain the health of the spirit and that of the body through regeneration.

83. Truly I tell you, if you rise up at this time to the fulfillment of your mission without watching and praying, you will see the face of the earth covered with corpses.

84. Understand, people, that you have never been sent to Earth to be indifferent to what is happening among humanity.

85. Watch and pray, do not expect that this year will be one of complacencies for you. These are times of struggle, of amendment and meditation.

86. Do not deprive yourselves of my gifts, for you would be left as outcasts on earth.

87. Pray for the peace of the nations; I have spoken to men through conscience, to those who govern these peoples and I have seen that their heart is reluctant, that they do not withdraw their hatred and their ambition from it.

88. Watch over your faith, over your zeal to testify my truth and be unconcerned about the trials that your brothers cause you for love of Me, because my Work, my Doctrine and my Law are indestructible, they are immaculate. I tell you this, because you will be persecuted because you are my disciples. Evil intent and bad faith will follow you. But that is not why you will hide yourselves in the catacombs to pray and try to serve me; those times have passed away.

89. I have liberated your spirit and in its evolution no one will be able to stop it.

90. My extensive lesson of this Third Time will elevate you all to a greater degree of evolution from where you will contemplate your one God. Then there will be peace in your spirit and that peace will be similar to the joy that you will have when after conquering the promised land and feeding on the eternal delicacies, you experience the glory of loving and being loved by your Heavenly Father.

MY PEACE BE WITH YOU!

Love one another!

Teaching 60

1. Come to my table to eat the bread of my teaching.
2. You are going to listen to the Word; O people!
3. I contemplate your eagerness to follow me; you have not cared to bring your heart wounded by yours, it is torn; but the garment of your spirit I contemplate intact, because the wickedness of man cannot get there.
4. Blessed are those who for my sake are mocked and wounded and yet with meekness and love carry their cross on their backs, because they will see wonders of conversion in their brothers.
5. Not all those who make up the crowd that listens to me have faith; among them I discover the new Pharisees hiding, trying in vain to find an imposture in the truth.
6. I have come to teach you to raise your spirit so that you may find the essence of this word that is above all human imperfection.
7. The essence that springs from this word that I am giving you, I will pour out on all the peoples of the earth because it is the seed of unification. This Doctrine will make humanity meditate and understand many teachings.
8. The broken ties will be united and the differences of races will disappear before spirituality, because the cult of the one and only true God will be one.
9. In this way you will begin to form a single family on Earth and I will leave you a great, infinite torch that will illuminate the spiritual path of all my children.
10. My open side still lets out a flood of water that is redemption and balm for you.
11. I prepare the ways for the foreigner to come to this nation and hear my word through this communication.
12. If in the Second Time I said to you, "Whoever knows the Son knows the Father," today that I speak to you as the Holy Spirit I say: "I am Christ and I am the Father, because the Word that spoke in Christ was the word of God, which is the same one that you are receiving today."
13. It has been necessary that I speak to you through symbols, figuratively and in parables, so that you may come to understand the lessons of spirituality that I have brought to you at this time.

Love one another!

14. But the time has come when you will put away all materialism from your worship and seek me with the spirit.

15. Understand that I do not come to the material house where your bodies penetrate, I come to the abode that your thought prepares for me.

16. Today enjoy with my word. When the year 1950 arrives, my Spirit will not abandon you because he is in you and in everything created, but you will no longer listen to me in this way. If I came spiritually to communicate with humanity, you will then rise spiritually to Me.

17. You come in fear before the Master to ask me: "Lord, will our seed be pleasing in your sight?". To which I answer you: If you have spoken with love, if you have had charity for the sick, if you have forgiven insults, you will have pleased your Father.

18. Sow good seed so that you may reap good fruits. If you sow love and gather disappointments in the world, do not lose faith and leave your cause to me, because it is to Me that you serve and from whom you will receive the reward.

19. I have taught you to sow in the world to reap in heaven.

20. Do not seek your payment on earth, nor forget that my kingdom is not of this world.

21. In this age the elements have been unleashed, to purify my chosen ones and leave them prepared to preach my word.

22. My inspiration is illuminating those who have sought me, those who are destined to be my disciples: the voice of Elijah is like a sonorous bell that awakens the spirits announcing my presence.

23. The Work that I have come to present to you is the ark where those who enter it are to be saved, and on the day that you have received the last of these messages, the elements will be unleashed and will scourge humanity. You too will be tested and then I will contemplate the faith and trust that you have placed in Me. You will be searched, and many of your brothers who have judged you wrongfully out of ignorance, knowing my Doctrine, will join you. Not only will man attain my teaching at this time, also the spirits who dwell in the spiritual valley will be elevated to higher scales.

24. Beloved disciples, be zealous for my Work, do my commands, and by this you will be bearing witness to Me. Mary, your sweet Mother, also descends to you and fills you with grace, teaches you perfect love and turns your heart into a source of charity, so that you may do great works of love among your brothers and sisters and know the truth. She is my collaborator and next to my word as Teacher and Judge, there is her word as mother and intercessor. Love her, O people, and call on her name. Truly I tell you, Mary watches over you and accompanies you, not only in the days of trial but eternally.

Love one another!

25. I make my people responsible for these manifestations of love that I give them; whoever has learned from Me, prepare and teach my truth to the last.

26. Many hungry and thirsty for the divine word will come to you and in my teaching they will cry out their longing to know; I will be contemplating you from beyond and every good work that you do on behalf of your brothers will be blessed and its fruits multiplied, on the other hand every error or adultery to my Law will be judged and sanctioned by Me perfect justice.

27. Grow and practice without fanaticism, elevate yourselves and place yourselves on a plane from which you can teach all your brothers without distinction of creeds or doctrines. Do not stop to do charity to a needy person because he practices a delayed or imperfect worship; rather, your disinterested work will conquer his heart. Do not close yourselves in groups, nor reduce your field of activities with this, be a light for every spirit and a balm in every affliction.

28. You are like the walker who sits under the shade of a tree to rest and then continue the journey. Yes thirst burns you, there is a source of crystal clear water in my teaching; if your strength is exhausted, rest; if sadness overwhelms your heart, wait and you will hear the trill of the nightingale that will make you forget your vicissitudes; but if hunger comes to you, cut the ripest fruit from the tree and eat.

29. Here is the Master speaking to you in simple parables so that you may understand my Doctrine.

30. I do not want you to park on the road, nor that tomorrow you will remain mute when men ask you what you heard from Me; it is not my will that after 1950 you come to claim me in despair because I have been absent from you.

31. See with what meekness and constancy I have presented myself to deliver my word to you and teach you to pronounce my divine words syllable by syllable.

32. Disciples: I do not come to demand that you achieve perfection in your works and words, but I do ask you for all the purity, charity and sincerity of which you are capable.

33. Keep my essence in your heart so that when you speak, your words will be saturated with it and move the hearts of your brothers. If your word does not carry this essence you will not be believed and they will let you preach alone in the desert, the wind will take those words away and you will have sown nothing. What incentive will he be able to sustain in his day to whoever is working like this? That one will have to sink into despondency.

Love one another!

34. From now on I tell you to be filled with strength, with courage for the struggle, because in your weaknesses and in moments of bitterness do not expect that someone will always come to comfort you.

35. But if you know how to prepare yourselves from today, you will never feel lonely or absent from me, even if you have stopped listening to my word. If you know how to seek me and love me, you will feel my presence wherever you are and at the moment when you need it.

36. Always seek Me in the best way you can and in Me you will find the Father, Teacher and Friend.

37. I have never denied my charity to the one who has sought it, even when he has arrived covered with leprosy. I have forbidden no one to take bread from my table.

38. This is how I prepare you because my word will flow from your lips and it will be consolation, prophecy, balm and bulwark in the trials of humanity.

39. Look at the trail of pain that the war is leaving and men do not want to wake up from their lethargy, but soon events will arise in the world that move humanity and make it change its route.

40. The elements will give voices of justice and when unleashed they will cause portions of land to disappear and become a sea and that seas disappear and in their place the earth arises.

41. Volcanoes will erupt to announce the time of judgment and all Nature will be agitated and shaken. Pray that you will know how to behave like good disciples, because that will be the propitious time in which the Marian Trinitarian Spiritualist Doctrine will sink into hearts.

42. Full of joy you come to Me today, to sing Hossana! because you are the ones who have heard my voice and my word in the three Ages and recognize that I am the one God who in the three times has come to manifest himself to humanity.

43. You do not see mystery in my Trinity because in truth it does not exist. I am one God who has manifested himself in three phases. It is men who, when they deepen in their meditations and in their sciences, become confused.

Love one another!

44. The book of teaching is open before you and it is the Teacher who comes to choose the lesson; then you feel that from kindergartens you become disciples according to the love, faith and will that you put when listening to me.

45. There are those who, despite hearing me and believing in my presence, have not understood me; others who recognizing the greatness of my revelation have not risen to regeneration and the fulfillment of their mission, others who would like to spread my teaching among men but fear humanity and feel that their lips are silent and there are even those who have told me: "Teacher, let me enjoy the pleasures of the world and once jaded, I will come to you". O ignorant ones who thus speak to your Lord without thinking that the last day of your life you do not know him and when you see him coming you will enter into a struggle with death, with the invincible, and your spirit will detach itself from the flesh to hear the voice of his conscience that tells him that before my presence he is naked of good works, with empty hands, showing that he has lost the opportunity to approach his Father!

46. I come to choose from the multitudes those who, full of faith and firmness, will follow me so that they may imitate their Lord by spreading the Law throughout the world. You know that I have no preferences, but that not all of you are in time to be chosen.

47. From the earliest times of humanity I have come to use those who have prepared, those who have analyzed my teaching to send through them my messages and my Law to others.

48. When I spoke to Abraham, he listened to my word and contemplated his Lord with faith. That voice said to the patriarch: I behold that you are righteous on earth and I make a covenant of covenant with you; it is my will to make numerous generations sprout from you, which will form a people who must recognize and love me and in him all the nations of the earth will be blessed.

49. I gave Abraham a son whom he called Isaac and whom he loved deeply, and to test the patriarch's faith and obedience, I asked him to sacrifice him. Abraham was strengthened in his flesh and in his spirit, but recognizing that it was divine order that he was receiving, he only asked in his prayer for strength to carry out that supreme command and prepared himself for the sacrifice of his son.

50. That was enough for me, and when Abraham's arm was raised to strike the blow, I stopped his hand, gave him back the life of the beloved son and gave him my gift of peace. Only one of my chosen ones could withstand that test, that's why I chose him so that his example would be written for the men of his time and posterity.

Love one another!

51. Then the Lord sent to you his incarnate Word in Jesus, whom you tested and from whom you asked me for his life in order to believe; and my infinite and incomprehensible love for you, he gave him to you as a meek lamb, so that receiving his blood, you would rise to eternal life. You will be able to understand my love for you sinners.

52. Today I come to seek you again, but I do not come to engrave the Law in stone, nor to incarnate my Word in a man. My Holy Spirit comes to speak to you through the understanding of the man inspired by Me, to prepare you, so that later you may communicate directly from spirit to Spirit with my Divinity.

53. It is the spirit of Elijah who opened the doors of this Era in which I have revealed to you the new teachings contained in the Sixth page of the Book of the Seven Seals, the Book of Life, whose light will illuminate to the last corner of the Earth.

54. You belong spiritually to the lineage of Abraham, to the people in whom throughout the ages, all the prophecies and the promises that I made to you through the patriarchs were fulfilled.

55. Now I am entrusting to you a new testament that is like an ark, so that humanity may be saved in it.

56. Work, sow, but do it within my Law. If I have said to you: my will is yours and your will is mine, I can repeat it to you, but as long as your intention is lawful. Think that nothing unclean should have sprung up from you because you were born from the womb of God, righteous and clean. I gave you the Earth full of blessings so that men could have it as a temporary home.

57. If at all times I have come to show myself to men, why then do they need to make my image with their own hands in order to worship me in it?

58. People, your restitution in this time has consisted of coming to look for a jewel of incalculable value among the mud. Why? For in the land which you inhabit, which you have turned into a foul swamp, you lost your inheritance in former times; you came without it to my presence, and I had to send you to find it, so that when you returned to Me, you would show it to me. That jewel is the set of virtues. Do good and the more you practice it, the greater the sparkles she gives.

59. Do not blame me for having come to teach you in times of pain and sadness, because I did not create the pain.

60. Be my good husbandmen and I will send you to the regions to teach this Doctrine. Do not go to teach the superfluous, nor confuse true faith in the spiritual with superstitions. If you mixed these ideas into my Work, it would be better for you to be silent.

Love one another!

61. Speak of my truth and I will reward you with my inspiration, as I have rewarded the inspiration of this people and of my spokespersons by pouring out my word more and more extensive.

62. Feel my divine presence among you; it has been my will to surprise my people on this day.

63. Today I come to ask you: What have you made of the Work that I have entrusted to you? What have you made of my teachings, and how have you delivered my message to your brothers? You are silent before my questions, people, because you know that those same questions had already been asked by your conscience.

64. You feel like children before the Teacher and in silence you cry. I forgive you and grant you one more time, so that in it you may become the true disciples.

65. You know very well that you have not lacked for teaching, that I have filled you with incentives to continue on the path. Certainly, I present myself as a judge, but I make you feel my Father's love first.

66. People: If I were to give the nations peace in exchange for your regeneration and amendment, would you gladly accept this condition and strive to fulfill it? Think about what I am saying to you, disciples.

67. I come full of love and meekness so that you may learn to love each other and be humble. I am the example and the book. Listen to Christ again because He is the Way, the Truth and the Life.

68. Not only I have come to manifest myself, but also Mary your sweetest Mother and Elijah your Spiritual Shepherd, so that you understand that this is the last time in which God materializes through the human understanding to be seen, heard and felt by man.

69. If you, who have heard this word, embrace it with love and make it known as I have taught you, truly I tell you, your seed will reach to the seventh generation; but if you do not have submission and charity, pain will be felt in your children and in their descendants.

70. You will have to work a lot within your congregation, so that your merits may be taken into account; you will have to unite in thought and in will; you will have to love each other as brothers and know how to forgive each other your offenses; then you will have broken the chains that bind you to materialism, to self-love, to selfishness, to begin to live and suffer for others.

Love one another!

71. Elijah is with you and his light inspires you to finish building the sanctuary in your heart, just as he also gave you courage to tear down your idols from their pedestal. The ray of Elijah has always come to exterminate idolatry, superstition, ignorance and has made men recognize the power of the God of Truth.

72. People: Take refuge under Mary's mantle of peace in this time of tribulations and pray for all people, both for those who recognize her as Divine Mother and for those who do not know her.

73. See how war spreads like oil on water. The weed will need to be cut off by the roots, so that the Land is clean again.

74. Watch and pray for the peace of your nation and keep my word in your heart, because you are still in the time to hear it, but soon this time will pass.

75. I receive the prayer of this people who also raise their prayer to the Queen of Heaven, who sends you her caress and deposits in your heart a spiritual flower.

76. Blessed are those who come looking for my footprints. You are hearing my voice that I send you from the perfect, a voice that in multiple ways is heard throughout the Universe.

77. No one can hide from the Creator's gaze since He is omnipresent. I follow you wherever you go as your own shadow; no thought can escape my Divinity, nor is there any work that has been hidden or ignored by Me. I am the same with the righteous spirits who inhabit lofty mansions, as with those whose spiritual turmoil has caused them to create and inhabit worlds of darkness.

78. Here I am with everyone, I am the one expected by some, the one persecuted by others. The Holy Spirit comes to lift the veil of darkness that covered you, so that every eye can be recreated with this light. I am the eternal life that comes in search of the dead to raise them up.

79. Rise up in your prayer in such a way that you can reach the thresholds of eternity, where time does not pass and where everything is peace and bliss, because there you will be saturated with true life.

80. Think that inexorably the moment will come for everyone to penetrate forever into that dwelling. Why do you insist on dwelling in this world? How little is your faith and your hope in the spiritual life when you cling so much to the Earth, and when I contemplate that you wanted to see in it again those who were yours and who today live in spirit, in better worlds than this. Why do you want them to come to cry again in the valley of tears and to eat of your bitter bread, if from where they live they are already glimpsing the silhouette of the Promised Land?

Love one another!

81. You feel that the Father's righteousness is manifested throughout the universe, but I tell you not to confuse my righteousness with vulgar punishment. This era has surprised you unprepared because you have wasted the times and your gifts and for this reason you feel punished.

82. Disciples: Wake up and recognize the time you are in. I tell you that just as no one will be able to withhold my justice, neither will he be able to close the doors of the Hereafter that my charity has opened for you. No one will be able to prevent messages of light, hope and wisdom from descending from those worlds among men.

83. I am the only possessor of that kingdom and its key is in my doctrine. Understand then all the grace that I have deposited among you, humble spiritualists, because no sect or religion of this time has the communication of the divine word, nor the presence of the spiritual beings of light sent by my will.

84. Let the great religions and sects ignore these teachings, let them deny this communication and judge you; they have forgotten, or do not want to know that Christ has the key to all the mysteries of the spirit. You will see how many who claim to follow me will actually be the ones who persecute me; but my word will have to be fulfilled.

85. This is the Third Era in which Christ comes to the world on the cloud full of majesty and surrounded by spiritual beings of light to liberate and save men. I have given them all signs of my presence, I have knocked at every door, but hearing my footsteps, they have denied me. And you have been the humble ones, those who carry in your spirit the seed of the people of God, those who have believed in Me, have felt Me and received Me into your heart.

86. No one has been able to stop these manifestations nor has he been able to stop your passage, because the truth is light and it is an invincible sword.

87. Today you know that my coming at this time was not to fill you with the riches of the world; however, as one more proof of my presence among you, you have seen my charity palpable, already recovering the lost health, already seeing the doors of work open or receiving my manifestations in as many ways as I have given them to you.

88. I will give you all proofs of my presence, both spiritually and materially.

89. Religions and sects of the world: Open your doors and like torrents come to Me! Men of power: arise and try my Work! Men, women, seek me, have charity from yourselves! If this people were not prepared to receive you, I will receive you, I will heal you and I will give you the bread of my word.

Love one another!

90. Humanity, pray; I am waiting for you to speak to you and reveal to you the mystery of the Third Time.

91. Do you expect glory in the world? You well know that this earth, by the will of man, instead of flowing with milk and honey, pours out weeping and death.

92. Prepare yourselves, because it will be your hands that will have to destroy your idolatry once you practice the spiritual worship of God with all love.

93. Watch, people, for the fight is approaching and the adversary is approaching. It will not be the Pharaoh of the First Time, nor the Caesar of the Second who will try to reduce you to slavery, afraid of your development and of your light; it will be the darkness of all the centuries that will envelop and threaten you, that is why I have given you the sword of light to fight. In that light there will be faith, wisdom and charity.

94. Forgiveness will be one of the virtues that will find the greatest merit before my justice. I say to you once again, "Love one another."

95. My love will melt all men and all worlds. Before Me the differences of races, languages and lineages and even the differences that exist in spiritual evolution will disappear.

96. Between God as Judge and man there is a ladder that is Mary, the most loving Mother, in whose love the spirits are washed and purified to present themselves before their Lord.

97. If the disobedience of Adam, the crime of Cain and the confusion of Babel still weigh on humanity, I will give you occasions to get rid of all those stains.

98. I offer you this source of crystal clear and virgin waters so that you have somewhere to quench your thirst and cleanse yourselves of all impurity, but watch over the source because men will arise wanting to deceive you with false spiritualist doctrines and they will tell you that they love God and Mary. Take care, because that will be to disintegrate you from the fold. There will arise those who will mix my Doctrine with human doctrines. Stay alert! For the hour is at hand when I will call you to judgment; then my presence will be like the thunder in the storm and my light like that of the lightning that is born in the East and is lost in the West; then I will call the 144,000 marked by Me so that before my justice they will deliver their harvest; some will be in matter and others in spirit.

Love one another!

99. Those who followed me in 1866 will be present at this judgment, so that they will also answer for the first seed. Before peace comes there will be judgment. You will see strong against strong rise up and in their struggles their strength and their pride will weaken; by then, the Earth will have been bathed in the blood of sinners and also of innocents and when these trials have been, peace will come to the nations because men will be recognizing as the only, strong and just God.

MY PEACE BE WITH YOU!

Love one another!

Love one another!

Teaching 61

1. As my ray descends among you, the angels join your spirit in prayer and homage to the Father.
2. The fear of my justice has raised the fervor of this people, seeing that the elements are unleashed in these days of trial. Why are you afraid? Have I not taught you to pray and to shield yourselves with faith?
3. Behold, the elements are showing you the fulfillment of the prophecies of times past. If you have had to live and see these events, do not be afraid of the will of your Father, everything serves to purify you.
4. I am entrusting to each one of you a portion of hearts to lead you by his word and his examples; but if you falter in trials, what confidence can you instill in your brothers about my teaching? Among the multitudes who follow you there are hearts of rock that only with good works will be able to be moved and converted to my Doctrine.
5. Live alert and be sensitive because at every step and in any place I will introduce you to the needy and you should not pass indifferent next to him without feeling his neediness. Even those whom you look at only once in your life are part of your portion; they will recognize you in the hereafter.
6. Do not look at pictures of pain just out of curiosity; always be animated by the noblest feelings so that your works contain true charity and so that you bring comfort to your brothers; do not flee from a hospital, nor be horrified by a leper, a mutilated or who is attacked by any contagious disease, do not look with contempt or repulsion at a prison, or pass by it without raising a prayer for those who are in it. Reach out your hand with love to those who have fallen, to those who find themselves forgotten by men. How much good will you do them in their spirit!
7. Temper your hearts for the struggle, I do not want weak soldiers in my ranks; your presence on the path of your brothers can mean salvation, liberation, health and peace for them.
8. Soon I will raise my word from among you and those who have not wanted to carry it in their hearts will be waiting for pain to come to polish them. How could you bear witness to my new manifestation if you are not prepared?
9. If in the Second Time my Word spoke through Jesus the child before the doctors of the law, making their lips silent before my questions and surprising them with my answers, truly I tell you, that at this time my Word will come before the new doctors, theologians and sages, to interrogate and answer them; for this it is necessary that you prepare yourselves, I will send you to give this testimony to humanity and if men do not believe you, I will tell them: "If you do not believe my emissaries because of their poverty and their humility, believe them because of their wonders". The works of my disciples will be accompanied by signs in nature and in the life of peoples that will make humanity meditate on the truth of my Doctrine.

10. I do not want those marked after their earthly journey to return to the spiritual valley enveloped by darkness. I want to receive you full of light, strength and love to send you in spirit to Earth as an invisible army that will come to clear the roads, to free the captives, to awaken those who sleep in ignorance, in pride or in vices. What will become of those who, having received the sign of the Holy Spirit, present themselves without light and without merit in the Hereafter? Will the Lord send them among his armies of light or will he have to make them reincarnate again so that they come to wash away their impurities?

11. Truly, truly, I say to you, you do not know what times await mankind on this earth, nor do you wish to come and inhabit it in those days.

12. Turn away, turn away from sin, because my sword of justice comes implacably to exterminate evil. I will help those who struggle to be saved and I will help with my charity those who mourn for the error of men. Yes, people, there are men and women who take care to remain in virtue, in the good, and parents who pray that their children do not deviate from the good path.

13. I exhort you to a well-understood penance, one that does not deprive you of anything, that is beneficial to the spirit and to the body but in which you exempt yourselves from everything that is harmful, however healthy and pleasant it may seem to you, even if this abstention means a sacrifice.

14. Wherever you step, leave a trace of love and charity so that whoever passes by receives the light, then you will be imitating your Master. Truly, I tell you, one of the deepest traces that you can leave in the hearts of your brothers and sisters is that of forgiveness for the offenses received.

15. Your heart has opened full of humility to confess before your Lord and I who am the One on whom all offenses fall; I grant you my forgiveness as a breath of peace that calms your spirit and fills your heart with hope. What more can your spirit desire in the exile in which he finds himself?

Love one another!

16. The Father speaks to you from his Kingdom, Mary covers you with her mantle and Elijah watches over you; know how to appreciate the grace that has been granted to you.

17. Behold, the Book of True Life is opened before your eyes, so that you will not go into darkness. If I endowed you with spirit, the most natural and just thing is that I show him something more than Nature can teach him. A spirit should not live in ignorance in the midst of my creation since he is superior to everything around him.

18. I thirst not only for your love, but for your understanding.

19. Take with spiritual elevation the trials and vicissitudes of life so that they may be profitable to your spirit, for truly I tell you, through them you will clearly understand many teachings of your Father.

20. Accept your destiny, be content with what you possess, be patient. Why do you sometimes lose your cool and despair? Because you forget your principle as well as the debts that you have to repay.

21. Let your spirit understand and be satisfied with his restitution and you will feel that the light penetrates into your interior, filling you with hope, strength and joy.

22. Know that it was not my will that you weep, nor that it pleases me to see tears in your eyes; but when I saw that your spirit, who came clean to earth, has been stained with the sins of the world, I let him purify himself so that he could return to Me. If the ignorant deny my righteousness and the weak succumb, they are forgiven; but you who have heard this word, who have received this Law, cannot despair or blaspheme, unless you extinguish the light of your faith and fall into confusion. Do you not think that if you were lacking in this way, it would be as much as staining this white leaf that I have given you, or as throwing away from you the bread that I offered you with so much love?

23. Do not weaken, do not get sick again or allow anyone to take away the gifts that I am teaching you to develop; know how to take advantage of the teaching and the strength that I give you so that you transform bitterness and suffering into peace and love; if there are discords within your home, it is that you have not known how to put into practice my lessons of love.

24. As long as you listen to me you feel safe, but as soon as you leave the premises, you feel stalked in many ways. Am I the one who tempts you, who makes you fall and who wants you to get lost? Disciples: If I have allowed temptations to exist, let them test you; your mission is to resist with faith until you turn darkness into light. If I put the one who has been lacking in your path, it is not to make you fall, but so that you may save him;

Love one another!

pray recognizing that you are in the time of the struggle of the spirit and that you must fulfill the precept that tells you to "Love one another".

25. Be active, do not sleep Or do you want to wait for the persecutions to catch you sleeping? Do you want to fall back into idolatry? Do you expect strange doctrines to come to be imposed by force and fear? Be alert because false prophets will arise in the East, confusing the peoples; unite so that your voice may resound throughout the world and that in time he alerts humanity.

26. To help you in your unification, I am making myself felt among you in many ways to make you understand the time in which you are, but how few there are who, feeling my presence, know how to say: it is the Lord! Men sleep spiritually, you who hear me have awakened, but you still do not get up to wake up others.

27. From within these humble enclosures the new message for humanity will come out, from them the multitudes will come out bearing on their lips the testimony of their regeneration and their spiritual advancement.

28. How materially poor these houses of prayer have been, but their greatness has been spiritual! The enclosures where you have listened to my word are like a stout and leafy tree whose shade has been healthy, its presence has instilled peace and confidence and its fruits have fed you, they have sheltered the adulterer, the infanticide, the vicious, the sick, those who stained their hand with the blood of their fellow, the poor, those hungry for love; tears have flowed in everyone, prayers have been raised and words of gratitude have been heard. Step by step in these precincts, this people has been purified with tears and prayers.

29. Now humanity is being purified in the midst of great sorrows; the war has spread its influence throughout the world and the weak man has given in. Today rivers of blood are flowing, nations are rising up against nations, mothers themselves are pushing their children into war. Then all the consequences will come: plague, famine and death; there will be no place free from such extermination, rare diseases will appear, leprosy will spread and blindness too. The sun will feel like fire, the fields that were fertile yesterday will become sterile and the waters will be polluted. Therefore you must prepare yourselves, because my sign will not be enough to be saved; how many, without being of my marked ones, will be saved, how many, without being of my chosen ones, will know how to find the way of salvation! Watch and pray.

30. Verily I tell you, if at this time you hear my word on earth through a human understanding, in other worlds it is also heard, although through other channels, by other means; but those wonders you will know until you penetrate to the spiritual life.

Love one another!

31. Who has not felt uneasy about the life beyond? Who of those who have lost a loved one in this world, has not felt the longing to contemplate him again or at least to know where he is? You will know everything; you will look at them again; but do merit now, lest when you leave this Earth, in the spiritual valley you ask where those whom you hope to find are, and they tell you that you cannot see them because they are on a higher scale; do not forget that time has told you that in the Father's house there are many mansions.

32. Eat the bread of my word so that sadness and pain may depart from your heart and you may presume eternal life; I give you a little of that peace.

33. Listen to Me once again by removing the evil thoughts that the world inspires from your mind and thus you will be able to penetrate with preparation into the spiritual teachings that I have come to reveal to you. Here, at the moment of your elevation, at that moment when you struggle to concentrate in the depths of your heart, is when the passions of the flesh are reflected in your spirit, when will you let the attributes and beauties of the spirit be fully reflected in your body?

34. Purify yourselves so that you may be able to feel me; put aside little by little your materiality, Leave the false deities who dwell in insane pleasures, in vanities and superfluous ambitions, dominate your passions that come to tempt you and tell them as Christ said in the desert: "You will not tempt your Lord, but you will worship Him".

35. I come to remind you also that I taught you to pay a tribute to God and another to Caesar, because I see that you are giving everything to Caesar. Meditate a moment in each day because inexorably the time will come when you listen to my voice that calls you to take judgment and then it will be when your spirit responds of itself and of its envelope. Do not be afraid of Me in that hour, I am not unjust, be afraid of yourselves.

36. If I have shown you on earth that I am your benefactor by loving and forgiving you, do you think that when you come to the spiritual life you will find me changed?

37. If I seek you and follow you with such eagerness, if I speak to you and lean down to where you are, it is because I do not want that when I leave this world you get lost in infinity, that you run out of light, that you look for me and you do not find me, that being very close to you you feel me very far away, and you do not listen to me or contemplate me.

38. Listen to my lessons and put them into practice. Blessed are those of you who, living in the midst of privations, vicissitudes and bitterness, still ask for those who weep, forget yourselves and pray for the peace of the nations, because those who do this will find the path of light that leads to the kingdom of perfection and in the hour of their judgment their burden will be lighter.

39. I have been showering your spirit with benefits so that even the needy who complained about not being able to do charity because he had nothing, today recognizes that spiritually he has an inexhaustible flow.

40. I am speaking to you through a channel very worthy of my Divinity: man, and in truth I tell you, this communication has never been interrupted. I am the eternal Word, who has always spoken and will always speak to his beloved children.

41. According to the density of the darkness of the world, so is the intensity of the light that I send you so that humanity may know the true way. If you were already prepared, how much you would enjoy feeling my presence at every step, in every place and in every being. You would feel me in your heart, you would listen to me in your spirit, you would see me in all my works, even in the smallest ones. Today humanity exclaims: "My God, how dark are the paths of life!" without contemplating that Elijah, the Messenger of the Third Time, has illuminated the roads with my light and that in them you can clearly see the traces of my blood.

42. My Kingdom is coming against your kingdom, I have risen up in war against the world, but let no one be troubled, because my sword is of love and my armies come armed with peace and light. The enemies of my Kingdom will fall dejected under the universal force of love and those enemies could not be my children, but their imperfections, their disobediences, their sins, which I will make disappear.

43. How could I take your weapons of hatred and death to exterminate you? Could I be the destroyer of my own children? Is this conceivable in God? I say to you, Behold your king without crown, without scepter and without mantle. Search my word, judge me through it if you will. I tell you that my Kingdom has come to you at this time to teach you spirit-to-Spirit communication with your Father.

44. You are the wayfarers to whom it will be given to contemplate the new Jerusalem, the white and luminous city that is not found on Earth because it is spiritual. Go ahead, persevere in faith, travel the path full of bitterness and roughness, until you reach the great door where you will see me, there I will receive you and show you the greatness of my Kingdom that is the power of my glory; to help you get there I give you my staff of love.

Love one another!

45. Today you seek my word to strengthen your spirit because you know that it is a propitious time to penetrate the path of spirituality. The path is traced by each man in his heart, it is only necessary that he wants to find it. My love has come to show its strength to all my children and my light has not left anyone in darkness.

46. Thousands and thousands of beings live in despair and anguish, but the time will come when you will see them rise to the light, because their pain is leading them to the path of eternal life. My light descends on humanity like a divine inspiration, but then doubt arises in men and they do not believe that it is the voice of the Lord that speaks to them, and they have not yet understood what Era they are in.

47. My seed, which is of love, truth, charity, health and peace, is destined for everyone who wants to sow it.

48. You who hear my word through the human understanding are not the only ones who receive spiritual messages; I know where other of my new disciples are, those who lovingly prepare to receive my divine thoughts by inspiration and intuitively know what time this is. Know that I did not grant everyone the grace to receive my light or that of the spiritual world through the human brain; some have been prepared in one way, others in another, but all will agree on the truth that is one, some and others will recognize each other in spirituality in the works of love and charity towards your brothers.

49. Humanity would like to have the visit of a new Messiah who would save it from the abyss, or at least hear the humanized voice of God vibrating in the winds and I tell you that it would be enough for you to observe a little or gather your spirit in meditation to give it sensitivity, so that you would listen to how everything speaks to you. If it seems impossible to you that the stones speak, I tell you that not only the stones but everything that surrounds you speaks to you of your Creator so that you wake up from your dreams of greatness, pride and materialism.

50. This is the sunset of an era and the dawn of a new time; the light of dawn is already appearing, when the shadows of the night have not yet dissipated; the miracle is before your eyes and you still do not feel it because of your hardness of heart. How are you going to enter into meditation if you have not yet repented of your faults?

51. You have become familiar with the wickedness and vice that surrounds you, you naturally look at murder, dishonor, adultery, you fight virtue and instead disguise vice, to show yourself clean in appearance in the eyes of your brothers.

Love one another!

52. Verily I tell you, out of this darkness mankind will come to the light, but that step will be slow. What would become of men if in an instant they understood all the evil they have caused? Some would lose their reason, others would take their lives.

53. Do not wait, people, to find yourselves in spirit to rise up to bring to the world the news of my manifestation among you, this news will reach the heart of humanity and that will be the beginning of its spirituality.

54. When men have regenerated they will feel my presence and my love in their hearts.

55. O my little children, you cannot imagine the divine longing with which I approach your heart! I come to talk to you, to recreate seeing you around my table. If you have not yet learned to rise to Me, I descend to you. I will never stop loving you, I will never get tired of looking at you with tenderness.

56. This way of hearing me through a human interpreter will end and the hour will sound when the Father will ring the bell to call you to congregation and you will hear this word for the last time.

57. 1950 is approaching the year in which you will cease to hear me; do not believe that when the echo of the last bell has disappeared, rest will come for this people; on the contrary, that will be the first moment of your struggle, of the great journey that you are going to start.

58. Today you are like my disciples of the Second Time, surrounding the Master, listening to his Doctrine and observing his works; the Master was the one who spoke to the crowds, the one who did wonders among the needy, the one who guided and corrected and the one who defended them; but He had announced his departure to them and they knew that they would remain in the world like sheep among wolves.

59. How they dreaded that hour! And when the moment of separation came, they were left alone on Earth, but the Master accompanied them from his Kingdom, his Spirit encouraged them at all times and fulfilled to them every last of his promises.

60. Why do you, who know that this way of communicating will end, wait with indifference for that year of 1950? Why do those of you who are already tired think that after that time you will be able to lie down to sleep? Think that today you are simply the children who will later become teachers; but do not be afraid of the fulfillment of your mission, remember that when I was among my disciples at that time they were also children in my teaching.

61. On a certain occasion I said to Andrew, who was one of my twelve apostles: Do you have faith in Me: "Yes, Master," he answered me. Do you believe that in my name you will be able to heal the sick? "Yes Sir, I think I can do it." Well, I said to him, go along that road that leads to Jericho and on it you will find a sick man; anoint him in my name and bring me news.

Love one another!

62. Andrew started walking and on the way he found the sick man who was a leper and said to him: In the name of Christ, my Master and Lord, heal; but the leper looked at him sadly without experiencing any relief. For the second and third time Andrew spoke my name, but the sick man was not healed. Sorrowfully, the disciple returned to Me and weakly said, "Master, the sick man has not been healed, he has not been cleansed of his leprosy, my faith in you has not been enough for me, but I have understood that what you do, we will not be able to do it; moreover, the man's illness is incurable."

63. Then I said to him, "Andrew, follow me," and I led him to the sick man, whom I simply touched with my hand and said to him, "Be healthy." The leper was instantly cleansed.

64. Andrew, ashamed and at the same time amazed, asked me how this could have been, to which I replied that charity worked miracles, that he could not achieve it because he doubted this power and felt horror of touching the leper. However, later, how many sick and among them how many lepers Andrew, my beloved disciple, healed.

65. I want to make you understand that during this time of my preaching you are developing your gifts, and that when you come to err I correct you, but your best fruits will come after you have listened to me.

66. Nothing pending or unfinished will the spirit leave on earth.

67. What I am telling you is being heard by a few; however, it will reach all hearts. As my word of the Second Time has spread throughout the entire roundness of the earth, the word of this time will be like a fruitful watering on the seed that I sowed before.

68. Do not believe that you are the only means to make my Law known to men; but it is necessary that you fulfill the mission that corresponds to you because you are within my divine plans, Do not be cowed by slander or humiliation, keep in mind the way that your Lord walked on earth. I am the Way, the Truth and the Life, I am the door.

69. It is time that you make my Doctrine shine with your works so that my name may resound to the most hidden corner of the earth; some will be precursors of others, just as Elijah has been my precursor in all times.

70. If you come on my way, you will not feel fatigue, nor will you come to Me tired; on this path I have come to shed my light with this word that I give you through the spokesman, a word that you will soon cease to hear. Engrave deeply on this path the imprint of your steps so that tomorrow they will do you justice by considering you my good disciples and your example will serve as an encouragement to those who come after; I wait for you in eternity; therefore, it will never be too late to reach Me.

71. In my blood you will wash away all your stains, for what does my blood mean but my love? I will see you dwelling in my bosom, at the top of the scale of perfection after having crossed the arid and desolate deserts of your restitution, after having saved the crossroads of passions and having freed you from the waves of the raging sea; the pain, the struggles will pass, and you will finally reach the mansion where there is true peace, the happiness not felt by the human heart and where the light of infinite wisdom shines.

MY PEACE BE WITH YOU!

Love one another!

Teaching 62

1. Beloved disciples: I come to confirm to you that what I told you in times past is being fulfilled; in the same way what I have prophesied to you through the understanding of man in this age will be fulfilled. This is the reason why faith has been revived in these multitudes who at first came to search my word to verify if it was true that the Divine Master was giving his lessons of love to his children and who have then dedicated themselves to study and analysis to then bring this Doctrine to humanity.

2. You begin to love everything that is worthy of your heart, clean of passions and of your spirit, and insensibly you are ceasing to love everything that you once aspired to in the world. This is how the Spirit of Truth speaks to you in this time when he manifests his word through clumsy, humble and sinful creatures. You have erected small and poor enclosures in the most remote corners of the cities and villages, and crowds eager to listen to my teaching have gathered in them.

3. At that time the people heard Jesus speaking in the villages, on the banks of the rivers and in the fields until the moment arrived when my work had to be consummated and I entered Jerusalem, the city whose name will always be united to that of the Master; but that people no longer allowed me to leave, not because they loved me, but because they had to put to death the one who brought them the message of greater teaching than those who had received from their Lord until then.

4. Now Christ says to you: "I am the gate of the new Jerusalem, blessed be everyone who enters the white and holy city through it, because he will not leave it either, but not because he will encounter death; on the contrary, he will find eternal life there."

5. Meanwhile, your bodies will descend to the earth, in whose bosom they will be confused to fertilize it, because even after they are dead they will still be sap and life; your consciousness that is over your being will not remain on Earth, but will come with the spirit to show itself before him as a book whose deep and wise lessons will be studied by the spirit. There your spiritual eyes will be opened to the truth and in an instant you will know how to interpret what you have not been able to understand in a lifetime; there you will know what it means to "be children of God and brother of your fellow men"; there you will understand the value of all that you have possessed, you will experience regret and regret for the mistakes made, for the time lost, and the most beautiful purposes of amendment and reparation will be born from you.

6. It was necessary that I should come at this time, with a broader and more complete teaching to clarify mysteries and to destroy darkness in order that you might know all the gifts with which your Father has clothed you; without that knowledge and without that development, you would not have been able to approach Me and you would always be sailing in your sea of uncertainties.

Love one another!

7. The gifts and powers that you possess, you have not been able to take advantage of them due to your ignorance; but if in any of my children they have manifested spontaneously or naturally, there has been no shortage of those who judge him abnormal or attribute hidden and perverse powers to him.

8. Poor humanity that, having the true God for God, does not know him or understand him, just as it has not been able to know itself, because it wears a blindfold of darkness over its eyes because of its religious fanaticism, because of that impure and imperfect cult that has always been an obstacle to its elevation and evolution; but I, Who am the true and only shepherd of the spirits, to lead them to the abode that my charity has marked out for them, I come in search of the wayward sheep to lead them to the path of light that leads to the heavenly pasture.

9. For this I come to show you a new page of the Book of True Life.

10. I come to take nothing from you; on the contrary, I come to leave everything to you. It is not yet time for me to come for the harvest.

11. I am teaching you with my divine lessons to till the land and when you have advanced in the analysis and knowledge of my Law, you will make it known to your brothers with the testimony of your works of love and charity. I will from eternity follow in your footsteps and watch over your sowing; when the time is right, you will present your harvest to me.

12. You live in a time of trials, there is not an hour of the day when you are not under some test. Under the weight of them the profane blasphemes and the surprised disciple wonders: Why, if I am following in the footsteps of the Master, do I feel myself bending under the weight of the trials? And the Master answers you. He who follows me will carry a cross and the closer he accompanies me and imitates me, the more bitter will be his chalice, because without trials what would you be? When would you get to me?

13. The glory of the Spirit is for those who carry the weight of their cross on their shoulder and have a look of forgiveness for those who offend them, a word of comfort for those who suffer and a hand that blesses all who cross their path.

14. Grace will reach those who, on the via dolorosa of their life, when they fall, know how to get up with resignation and without throwing away the cross of their mission, reach with it to the top of the mountain; because these will have imitated their Teacher in their life, and with Him they will be in His Kingdom.

Love one another!

15. Do not believe that Christ, because he was God made man, bled and died without feeling pain in his agony; truly I tell you, Christ's pain was real and there has been no pain before or since to equal it; it was so intense in his very flesh, that it exclaimed: My God, my God, Why have you abandoned me?

16. They will also come to offer you the chalice of pain. Do not reject him, for no proof greater than your strength will ever be sent to you!

17. I am awakening you with my light and thus I will awaken the religions with the truth of this word.

18. My charity has enlightened every spirit in this time and the questioning and the restlessness have arisen in them. Men and women rise up in search of light because they feel like castaways in the middle of the storm.

19. From the men of science lost in the sea of life to the rude of understanding feel the arrival of the new time. How many of these men, when looking for me, will have to stumble upon you to ask you what the Master taught you! Not all will arrive with meekness, there will be those who demand proof to believe and others who threaten you; that is the time for which you must be prepared, that will be the occasion to do merits before your Lord.

20. You will speak as I have taught you, the flowery word without essence that men use will not spring from your lips; let the humble, simple and sincere word be the one that sprouts from your lips and it will touch all the fibers of whoever receives it. Make yourselves worthy also that I reveal to you the mysteries that in my arcanum await the moment of coming to light. Strengthen yourselves in Me, do not recoil at anything. It is not my will that men, through fear, should shut your mouths and make my people silent.

21. Value the trials that you have passed so that you will not fear those that are to come! You defeated Pharaoh, you passed over the idols that you used to worship as if they were your God, you forgot the traditions to stick to the Law and you rejected religious fanaticism and in that struggle your spirit has been tempered.

22. Do not give your body more importance than it actually has or let it take the place that only your spirit corresponds to.

23. Understand that the envelope is only the instrument you need for the spirit to manifest on Earth.

Love one another!

24. You will rise up clothed in humility to fulfill your mission and you will be surprised to see how a mysterious force is arranging and preparing everything on your way. Thus, when you come to deposit the seed of my Doctrine in some heart, you will discover that before you came to him, he had already been warned and prepared and that is why he knew how to receive the seed in his bosom.

25. Do not be cowed by the barrenness of the fields at this time. Do not be discouraged if, when sowing a seed, you discover that there are only stones under the earth. Fight against the same stones, I am giving you the tools; have faith and I promise to manifest myself wherever you need me.

26. Watch, for men are preparing and will unite in large and strong groups without knowing why they do it; but you know that they are rising up in search of the third of my revelations, in search of the one who promised them to return. They will look for light in the past testaments waiting to find a word that confirms their belief that this is the time of my return as the Holy Spirit.

27. Men question me and say to me: "Lord, if you exist, why don't you manifest yourselves among us if in other times you have descended to our dwelling place? Why don't you come today? Is our iniquity now so great that it prevents you from coming to save us? You have always been looking for the lost, the blind, the leper, the world is now full of these, do we no longer inspire you with mercy? You told your apostles that you would return among men and that you would give signs of your arrival which we think we are contemplating. Why don't you show us your face?

28. There are the men waiting for me without feeling that I am among them. I am before their eyes and they do not see me, I speak to them and they do not hear my voice, and when they come to look at me for a moment, they deny me, but I continue to bear witness about Me, and I continue to wait for those who are waiting for me.

29. And truly, the signs of my manifestation in this age have been great; the very blood of men poured out in torrents, soaking the earth, has marked the time of my presence among you as the Holy Spirit.

30. Everything was written in the book of the Seven Seals that is found in God and whose existence was revealed to humanity through John, the Apostle and prophet; the content of that book has only been revealed to you by the Divine Lamb, because there has not existed on earth or in heaven a righteous spirit who could clarify for you the profound mysteries of the love, life and justice of God; but the Divine Lamb, who is Christ, untied the seals that closed the Book of life to reveal its contents to his children. And now Elijah was sent as a representative of the Third Age and as a forerunner of my communication among men to prepare your spirit to understand this revelation. He was the one who laid the first stone of the temple of the Holy Spirit and who revealed to you that you were at the time of the Sixth Seal and that all those who listen and contemplate these manifestations, would remain as witnesses before humanity, to whom they should deliver my truth testifying with their works the reality of my manifestation.

Love one another!

31. The first brains for whom this light was manifested were prepared by my charity; but in order to be worthy of my manifestation, they prayed and persevered in faith, in respect and in elevation; among them are my son Roque and my servant Damiana, spokespersons in whom, first Elijah in him and then the Divine Word in her, announced to humanity the arrival of the Third Time. Through him I began to call the children of Israel and to point out the chosen ones from each tribe.

32. Since then some of my children have tried to put out this light; but truly I tell you, no one will be able to do it, because the light of the Sixth candlestick comes from God; rather, those who have wanted to fight against that light have fanned its flame.

33. Now, study my lesson and tell me if all these prophecies could have been fulfilled in the bosom of any religion.

34. With a word of love and of life I have come to teach you a more perfect worship and you have known a new communication with your Father that prepares you for perfect communication from Spirit to spirit.

35. The gifts that the spirit possesses were discovered to you and you understood that possessing an inheritance, you did not know it. I persuaded you of my presence by granting you the benefits that only my charity can do, both in your bodily health and in your morals, in the path of your life, because only the light of faith will be able to make you reach the end of the path of your spiritual restitution.

36. Today I receive from each of my children his offering and his request.

37. Take away from your spirit and from your body the weariness, because you still have to walk and you still have to work. The time of the pain has coincided with that of my arrival, so you are not alone. How much joy will be experienced by those who counterbalance the sufferings of life with the practice of my Doctrine!

38. In this time your heart will learn to beat with love for others, because you will come to recognize yourselves in truth as brothers and sisters in God. The hand of the one who loves will be strong to lift up the fallen. The rock that feels the touch of my charity, will flow inexhaustible water.

Love one another!

39. Today the lips of the children of this people are still closed to announce to the world that Christ, the Rabbi, has returned; but your silence must not be prolonged because tomorrow you will weep for your disobedience.

40. Truly believe that your works will remain as seed for future generations and that for this reason you had to go through the crucible of pain to purify yourselves and so that you could understand the gifts that I have given you. Many of you had to wash in the waters of purification. The understanding of the spokesman was cleansed, the heart of the one who had to lead crowds, the hand of the one who had to anoint the sick, the spiritual gaze of those who were to penetrate into the afterlife to prophesy.

41. The pain, the cup of bitterness and the trials of your life have given you the courage to resist the approaching struggle, because truly I tell you that your faith, your spirituality and your patience will be put to the test by humanity. I say this not only to whoever is listening to me, but to everyone who, even after the time of this manifestation, rose up taking up his cross to follow me.

42. Put on meekness, piety, humility, so that you can be recognized as my disciples. If you behave truly as disciples of Jesus, the Pharisees themselves, when they approach you hidden under a disguise to surprise you, will be the wolves who become tame sheep before your example.

43. I come to save you with my light; there is not one who can say today that he is safe. Truly I tell you, if I were to offer you salvation at this time in exchange for a righteous man, you would be lost, because you could present no righteous man to me.

44. Humanity is shipwrecked in the midst of a tempest of sins and vices. Not only man, when he becomes an adult, pollutes his spirit by allowing the development of his passions; also the child in his early childhood, sees the boat capsize where he sails. My word, full of revelations, rises up in the midst of this humanity, like an immense beacon that reveals to the shipwrecked the true route and encourages hope in those who were losing faith.

45. It is written that every eye will see me, because spiritually all will know my truth; the blind will open their eyes to the light and behold Elijah leading crowds before my presence. The incredulous world will be overwhelmed by this kind of testimonies, of surprises and trials, and while some deny me using the scriptures as proof, others will rejoice because they will see the hour of fulfillment of many prophecies that I announced by the mouth of my prophets and by the lips of Jesus.

Love one another!

46. Those who are waiting for my arrival in the bosom of their churches do not even sense in what form and where I am communicating, despite the fact that my manifestation made itself felt through numerous events. Like the lightning that is born in the East and is lost in the West, so has my arrival been; but the vibration and the reflection of my spirit have been transformed among you into a human word so that you can understand who it was who knocked on the door of the hearts of men and why the signs were given.

47. I have wanted to communicate through humble brains, because they, being free of prejudices, clean of crooked interpretations of my Law, were the ones indicated to transmit my word with greater purity. This word will be hotly discussed by humanity, even if it would like to spread a veil of indifference over it, because it will be at this time, the only one that will shed light on many mysteries and on many confusions.

48. Verily I tell you that after 1950, I will touch with my power and my justice all the rites that are celebrated in the world, and if their ministers and pastors do not wake up to this touch, I, using the children, will speak to them. Just as the nations have been touched by my justice, so the different religions will be touched. Every crown, every sceptre, every title and hierarchy will be judged.

49. People: Where do you keep the words and the teachings that I have brought to you with so much love? See that this word has been the divine caress with which your Father has come to awaken you at this time, or are you going to wait for the unleashed elements to come to awaken you from your sleep?

50. The Father would not like to appear before his people with complaints, but by blessing their works; but the purpose of regeneration does not yet arise among you, and that is that you have not yet come to understand all the love that your Master has shown you, getting rid of the dross to put on his grace.

51. Do you not hear the voice of conscience telling you that you are the disciples of the Third Time? Hear that voice and get up. Already your Master wrote with his passion, his doctrine and his example in the heart of humanity, the Law that you must follow. The apostles, those martyrs fought for the preparation of the seeds of my Doctrine; now you fight for the benefit of the generations of tomorrow because from it you will reap the ripe fruit that will give peace and happiness to your spirit.

52. May it be love for your God, charity for your brothers and the desire for perfection that leads you to the practice of my teachings. Let it not be pain or fear of my justice that you need to feel impelled to work, because then your merits will not be true before Me.

Love one another!

53. Let other peoples wake up for the new time as they contemplate the regions devastated by the waters, the nations destroyed by war and the plague annihilating lives. Those peoples, who are overabundant in their sciences and lethargic in the splendor of their religions, will not recognize my word in this humble form, nor will they feel my manifestation in spirit; therefore, the Earth will have to be shaken first, and Nature will say to men: "The time has come and the Lord has come among you." For humanity to wake up, open its eyes and accept that I am the one who has arrived, the power and pride of man will first be touched; but your mission is to watch, pray and prepare yourselves.

54. Someone says to me in his heart: Lord, how is it possible that by loving us so much you make us feel your justice in that way? To which I say to you: if my justice did not respond to your actions in that way, you would be irretrievably lost. If I allow pain to pass through you and also death, it is because pain purifies and death renews the spirit. How is it that you should not have poured out a cup of pain and death if you have created it yourself? Truly I tell you, the pain and death in the flesh are less terrible than what the spirit feels because of remorse or regret for having offended its Creator with its faults.

55. You are listening without understanding. Do not leave the entire weight of understanding my word, either to the spirit or to matter, but let each one take the part that truly corresponds to him; it must be conscience that says what concerns one and the other.

56. When you see that I have come to you full of peace, do you not move to compassion thinking of those of your brothers who do not have a moment of peace? Would it not cause joy to your heart, if I told you that by your prayers and thoughts wrapped in charity, your brothers can awaken to the light?

57. The Father came at that time to save his children; in this time, it will be humans who save each other with the love that their Father taught them.

58. My charity has built a bridge between my Kingdom and the Earth; that bridge is my people, through it the multitudes will reach the Promised Land.

59. I have poured out my wisdom among my people; Mary has poured out her love in your heart and where is that love and that wisdom that you have not yet presented to me? What do you do with what you receive from the divine mercy? You doubt at times because I come in spirit. Feel this way about me because in truth I tell you that you will never have me as a man anymore.

60. Through the lips of the spokesman you hear my word and this voice has made the call to those who had lost their way, to those who, believing to find better places than those that the Father has assigned for each of his children, have gone after men, pleasures and riches of the world. These children have come to my presence with their clothes in tatters, with a jaded heart and with the traces that the drunkenness of materialism has left on their entire being. When the Father asks you about your garment, understand that it is that of dignity, which is white and pure and in this way you must always present it to me.

61. Many are turning to Me, is it because they love Me? No, it is that the moment came when the world could not offer them what they asked for, then they remembered that I exist; but I receive them, because here, listening to me, they will repent of their sins and love for the Father will be born in their heart, The light of my word will be in my children like a new dawn and their past will be like the night when it has faded.

62. Completely quench your thirst, think that very soon your word will have to quench that of your brother. If listening to me and drinking this wine you still feel thirsty, it is because your heart is longing for the glories of the world. Only my very patient and loving word will be able to make the miracle of your transformation and then you will be worthy to get up on the roads giving my teaching to your brothers. You will humiliate no one, nor deny my charity; you will distinguish no one, because you would not imitate me. Peradventure do you think that my blood shed on the cross has ceased to fall on any of the sinners?

63. When John the Baptist announced the imminent coming of the Kingdom of Heaven, his prophecy was for everyone. That prophet and forerunner of Christ has been among you at this time; he came before my ray communicated through the human understanding and he also came to announce to you that the coming of the Holy Spirit was near. His announcement, his prophecy, was without distinction for all and you have known him at this time under the name of Elijah, because that spirit is that of that prophet who has been in all times before humanity, and is the forerunner who has prepared the ways of the Lord. That is why I welcome you all, because I came without judging sins or humiliating the one who has been most defiled. These will be the ones who love me the most ardently, because their faults were many and they were all forgiven.

64. The star that announces my presence and my word has been contemplated only by the humble; kings and men of science have slept in its greatness and have not been able to discover in the firmament the divine light to rise up after it, like those magi of the East who left everything to arrive before that light of heaven that announced to the world the arrival of the Savior. If men of science were to seek my light and those who live in opulence were to practice some of my teachings, they would feel my presence inside their heart.

Love one another!

65. At that time I told you that a camel would sooner pass through the eye of a needle than a rich miser in the Kingdom of Heaven. Today I tell you that it is necessary that these hearts divest themselves of their selfishness and practice charity with their brothers, so that their spirit can pass through the narrow path of salvation. It is not necessary to divest oneself of possessions and wealth, only of selfishness.

66. How many of you were owners of some wealth on earth yesterday and forgot about the miseries and needs of your fellow men; when the hour of his judgment came for your spirit, you felt that your volume of sins was so great and the spiritual door so narrow, that you understood that you could not pass through.

67. Today it is not a flow of material goods that you should share with the needy; your flow at this time is of light and spiritual knowledge, by which you can consider yourselves rich in spirit; but think that if it is a serious fault before God to deny your brother the riches of the world by having them, what will it be to deny him the spiritual graces that never diminish no matter how much he gives of them? What will be the justice for these rich of the spirit who show themselves to be so selfish?

68. I have destined you to give great lessons to humanity through you, In truth I tell you that this people has not been formed by chance, nor has a single heart arrived by chance; the 144,000 who in spirit and matter are to rise up, will be like an open book of light, experience and restitution. That is why I am touching their spirit through consciousness, and truly I tell you, if they do not convert in the day, they will convert at dusk; but they will look up to the Father and then they will set out on the path of fulfillment.

69. I am still going to give you some more time to meditate on your mission and prepare your heart. I am sending you at this time to bear witness to my truth. The Sixth Seal speaks, its light spreads, its mystery becomes clear. Call men, women and children, to listen to my word because the year 1950 will come and my voice will no longer be heard in this way.

MY PEACE BE WITH YOU!

Love one another!

Teaching 63

1. Why is your heart filled with fear when you hear my word as Judge? Ah, if you were always afraid, but not of punishment, but of the shame of offending me and of defiling you, how much good would you achieve for your spirit.
2. I have told you to make yourselves worthy of my presence in this way, not to close the doors of my charity on yourselves.
3. I am perfect and I expect perfection from you, only in this way will you reach the top of the mountain; for this I give you time, light and strength.
4. On this day, which men dedicate to the remembrance of those who have departed to the afterlife and which they mistakenly call "day of the dead", I grant that those beings communicate with you so that they may give you proof that they live. They will tell you that, just as you have received spiritual missions to fulfill on Earth, they also fulfill delicate positions in the spiritual valley.
5. Do not cry for these beings, do not materialize them, do not disrespect them; let them communicate with you, receive in your heart their message and their healthy advice and then let them go in peace to the world where they live and from where they watch over you. This grace of listening to them will soon pass away; after that you will only feel their presence in your heart.
6. While I am uniting you, not only with all those who live on Earth, but even with those who live on other worlds, many of the nations do not feel my presence because they are busy in their wars; but without knowing they are fulfilling my word of the Second Time in which I announced to you that I would return when these events occurred among humanity.
7. Get up, analyze this word carefully. What would become of you if you did not listen to her again, if before the appointed time these mouths were silent? What teaching would you give to those who are to come, if I have not yet given you all my revelations?
8. Persevere in your regeneration; watch, pray and study. Listen to me as much as you want, but do not become familiar with my presence. Always seek Me as a Father and as a Teacher, never challenge my justice.
9. See how by that atom of faith that you have had, you have achieved many wonders, like this one now, through which you will hear the voice of those who were yours in the world.

Love one another!

10. It will not be the tombs that are opened to let out those who are inert inside them; it will be the doors of the spiritual world that will let through those who, full of light and life, come to let you know their survival.

11. If any of those beings still manifest human tendencies or materialization, have charity for him and give him the light with your prayer; remember that you must help each other.

12. Thus, step by step, you go along the path that ascends to the top of the mountain where you will arrive when you have purity and perfection in the spirit.

13. Understand that you have Christ as your teacher, that my word given through these human lips has united you, and that this word is the book of love and wisdom. Each time I bring you a new lesson for the recreation of your spirit. Today you feel delight in listening to me, tomorrow you will feel joy practicing my teaching, It is said by Me that the multitudes will come to you in search of this light, and it is necessary that they find it in your words, in your deeds and in your life.

14. I have prepared the table and invited you to my banquet, but I tell you that later it will be you who prepare the table to receive your brothers, thus prolonging this feast of fraternity and love to eternity. In this Third Time your spirit will fulfill its destiny of teaching your brothers and sharing with them all that he has received from my charity; they will not be material goods since you lack them, they will be spiritual goods which is what you are full of. In order for your virtue to be believed and for your word to have the strength to convince and convert, you must remain on the path of good. When you feel that my love has turned you away from the path of evil and has put you on the path of regeneration, affirm your steps there and do not return anymore to the place from which you were rescued. Then, when you rise up to preach regeneration, amendment and perseverance in good, you will easily be able to redeem and move the sinner's heart. If you know how to cleanse your heart and your lips in the moments of addressing your words to the hard heart of your brother, if you know how to raise your thoughts to Me full of confidence in those moments, I will be the one who speaks through you and touch with my word the most hidden fibers of that heart making him feel my presence.

15. Understand that you have to transform yourself spiritually and materially, that many of your customs and traditions, inherited from your ancestors, will have to disappear from your life to make way for spirituality.

16. Look at this humanity plunging into an abyss, while you are still sleeping in a deep sleep, in which you only seek your tranquility and ignore what happens to others. I tell you once again to stop worrying about the superfluous, the harmful, so that you

Love one another!

consecrate those moments to do works of charity, to sow my seed of love in the spirit of your brothers and sisters.

17. This is the time that my prophets saw and announced, this is the time that I announced to you in my word. See how one by one of those prophecies are being fulfilled. My word as King never goes back, nor contradicts, nor denies itself. Also through these human spokesmen I have given you many prophecies which you have seen fulfilled one after another. I tell you this, because the year 1950 is approaching and then you will be left without hearing my word through human understanding.

18. I speak to you with sweet words full of love to convince you that you should prepare for that great day. Blessed are those who trust that my word is unchangeable and prepare for this time because they will not be surprised when this form of my communication ends.

19. Listen to my voice, you can still be recreated with it for a few years, it is the song of songs that vibrates in the Heavens and whose echo is heard on Earth, When this song ceases to be heard by the lips of my spokesmen, I will make you continue listening to it in the depths of your heart, when communicating spiritually with Me, Truly I tell you that the time is already short for these prophecies to be fulfilled; but I also tell you that man will not be able to do his will on mine trying to prolong my communication between you. Be alert because many will rise up deceiving their brothers. You will continue to bring sinners before me, those who have been defiled by theft, adultery or crime, not to accuse them before the Lord, but so that they may be forgiven and turned away from their darkness and their stains.

20. You will continue to anoint the sick with love and in my name with as much or greater confidence and faith than you have now, so that I may continue to work wonders among you. That will be the seed that I will receive and keep in my barns.

21. Which of your acts will have been perfect? Your conscience tells you that so far you have not had a single one.

22. Think that only what is perfect comes to Me; therefore your spirit will enter my Kingdom only when it has reached perfection. You sprouted from Me without experience, but you will have to return adorned with the garment of your merits and virtues.

23. People, lift up your face and look to Heaven; when you feel that I am coming as a Judge, you shudder and bend your neck. Understand that the time of my spiritual communication with man has come as it was written.

Love one another!

24. Spokesmen of this people who are the instruments for me to speak to humanity, listen to my word that tells you: You are the source, my word is crystal clear water, let it overflow, but preserve its purity.

25. My commands will descend on this people so that my truth will be cemented. From you will come the faithful writings that will later be engraved in the hearts of men of all races. Among you are the disciples who will gather and arrange the writings.

26. My Heavenly Concert is heard on Earth so that the preaching of the prophets and the word of Jesus may be fulfilled. A long time ago Joel told you about a time when the sons and daughters of Israel would prophesy and have visions and dreams and that my Spirit would be poured out on all flesh. Verily I say unto you, this is the time foretold.

27. Here you have my Spirit communicating through you, my spiritual world speaking through your mouth. Here you have men and women of all ages who penetrate with their eyesight into the spiritual and others who receive announcements and revelations in their dreams.

28. This is the time when my spiritual hosts approach the world to raise up those who have to follow me and destroy the tares and weeds of sin.

29. Seers, look at me. You would like to discover some form and you do not find it, you only contemplate the clarity of my light, because that is Me: The Light.

30. I leave you watching in the light of the Sixth Seal; from it springs the gift of the word, from there arises this concert that you hear in your heart and that shakes your spirit because I am the Lord. Before you is the Lamb unleashing the Sixth Seal to show you the way, because the Lamb is Christ and Christ is the way.

31. Everyone respects the place assigned to others and respects himself.

32. Pray, repent. If you are hypocrites, be sincere now; if you are reckless, be sensible now; if you live among rubble, rise up to the light; if you do not have divine inspirations, listen to me and you will be filled with light. He who is the beginning and cause of all creation speaks to you and says to you: Take up the cross of Jesus' love and come to Me.

33. Today you were surprised by my arrival because you were not prepared; that is the origin of the doubt of some. When someone has raised his question to infinity asking if this manifestation will be true, he has instantly received in the middle of my chair, a wise and loving answer that has ignited a flame of light in his heart.

34. He who has faith never feels tired or tired of hearing me; he can cross valleys and climb mountains every time I manifest myself to come and hear my word.

Love one another!

35. He who has recognized which is the water that quenches his thirst and the bread that quenches his hunger does not change it for anything, nor does anything stop him from finding them. He who feels the delight of listening to the Divine Master and the joy of penetrating for a moment into the eternal, does not regret leaving for those moments the pleasures of the world.

36. Disciples: There have been times when my word, full of righteous complaint, has seemed bitter to you, it is that you have not been able to understand it, because in truth I tell you that I do not come to increase the bitterness that you gather on earth.

37. My divine teaching has been leading you away from uncertain paths, from false pleasures and vice; in return, it has made you know and enjoy the pleasure of doing good.

38. I will not leave you without an inheritance when my word ceases to be heard through these channels, because I want to keep you so that you may testify to the new generations of the truth of my lessons of love and so that you may be counselors of your brothers.

39. Not everyone will know at this time the word that I gave you through the human understanding, because the moment of their awakening has not arrived for them. They will be called, but not chosen; but tomorrow, when they are ready to follow me, they will be called again and then they will be of the chosen.

40. The elements of Nature, in imitation of a ringing bell, are awakening sleeping humanity by inviting it to pray and meditate; those who do not understand that voice is because they are troubled or deaf to spiritual messages. Today they still attribute these manifestations to simple phenomena of nature; but the time will come when the ministers of religions and men of science and power, full of fear, will ask themselves: Is it really the justice of the Lord who knocks at our doors? Will it be the time of His presence among us?

41. I tell you that man's reluctance is great; he still resists pain and opposes my justice that touches him; but when he bends his neck, all the human lineage will be gathered in one fold.

42. I say to you: What are you waiting for to give the good news? Do you intend to prophesy about this? I am telling and revealing everything to you, so that you may always have a wise answer to every question that your brothers ask you. See that you will be fought with great arguments that will fill those who are not prepared with fear.

43. Record my word and do not forget the great wonders that I have granted you so that each one of you may be a living testimony of my truth; then whoever searches you and delves into my word will see that it does not contradict in anything what I told you and prophesied in times past. The struggle will be great, to the extent that some, having been my disciples, will be filled with fear and deny me, saying that they never listened to me. Those who know how to be faithful to my commandments and know how to face the struggle, I will cover them with a mantle under which they will defend themselves and come out of every trance unscathed. For the one who sows this seed badly or profanes the purity of this Work, it will be judgment, the persecution of men and unrest at all times. It is necessary for everyone to know the tree he has cultivated, by the taste of its fruit.

44. I have great miracles in store for the time of the spiritual struggle of my people; wonders and works that will astonish wise men and scientists; I will never abandon you to your own strength. Do not be obfuscated when humanity taunts you; do not forget that in the Second Half the mobs taunted your Master.

45. When many are still waiting for my arrival, my departure is already approaching; but truly I tell you that the Holy Spirit will be eternally enlightening every understanding and every spirit, because you are already at the culmination of the times.

46. From everyone I receive a present: childhood presents me with its innocence, the maidens with its fragrance, mothers with their tears, fathers with their cross, old age with its fatigue. But my love encourages your faith; I watch over that lamp so that its flame will never be extinguished.

47. At this time I did not descend to earth as a man to be seen by the eyes of your body. That era is over. This is the time when you must make merits for your salvation. Search for me in the invisible and you will soon find me. Seek Me as a Father, as a Teacher and thus you will have me. Do not seek me as a servant, although truly I tell you, I have always served you. My services do not expect payment, but if in any way you would like to compensate for my benefits, I will only tell you to love each other, because if you do so, my Work will be crowned.

48. Do not be surprised that being the owner of everything created, I present myself among you asking for love; I am the God of meekness and humility. I do not come to flaunt my greatness, but I hide my perfection and my finery to get closer to your heart. If you looked at me in all my splendor, how much you would weep for your faults!

49. Behold the way, come by it and you will be saved. Truly I tell you that it is not necessary to have listened to me at this time to achieve salvation; whoever practices my divine Law of love in life, and that love inspired by the Creator is translated into love for his fellow man, he is safe, he testifies to Me in his life and with his works

Love one another!

50. You are listening to the Holy Spirit, but not to a different spirit from the one who has spoken to you as Christ or as Jehovah; he is the same, the only one who exists, but who has manifested himself in each of the three eras in a different way.

51. In the First Time, on Sinai, your God manifested himself and the phase that he presented to you was that of his Justice and his Law. In the Second Time God himself spoke to you in Christ and presented to you a phase that you had not understood: love; and in this era that is the Third Time, my Holy Spirit speaks to you from infinity, communicates from the spiritual with your spirit and thus shows you one more phase, that of his wisdom, which is light for all humanity. Why look at mysteries where there are none: The mystery of the Trinity is clarified.

52. What inspired me to create you? In my love, because before I formed you I already loved you in Me. The Lord loved those who were to be his children, but he also wanted to feel loved by them. For the children I formed Nature, the elements, the worlds or abodes so that you could enjoy the material life and thus begin a journey of perfection and elevation; I gave the spirits a material body where they could reflect their feelings and their potencies, guided by consciousness.

53. To the man thus formed and endowed I granted free will; within him I deposited the leaf of my Law and of my justice and placed him at the beginning of the way.

54. Without that inner law, man would never have recognized, understood, or loved me; but the conscience that has been the beacon that illuminates the way and the voice that advises the good, have made you understand the manifestations of the Father until you reach this time when the incarnate spirit will manifest freely and impose itself on the superfluous and the material.

55. Why have I had to come down to you three times, because you have stumbled during the hard journey and I had to come to lift you up from the dust of the earth, because with full knowledge you turn away from the road and when you get lost and cry you say to me, "Father, why are you punishing me"? Why do you say that it is I who have punished you; think that while you blaspheme, the life with which I have surrounded you continues to give you its caress. Learn to live and you will not have stumbles, that is what my Law teaches you. Do not expect peace or true life from the doctrines of men.

56. My judgment will come to all; when the time comes, I will ask the ministers of my Law and the men who forge doctrines: What is your harvest? And some and others will present to me only vanity, hatred and not having had charity from humanity.

Love one another!

57. First of all, I will judge the ministers of my Law, because she is my testament of love and wisdom for all my children, because from her comes the redemption of men. Woe to those who have hidden these teachings in their understanding because it will be a cave of darkness, or in their heart, because it will only be a cave of egoism!

58. Be prepared and understand me. The one who carries the light of the Holy Spirit overflows light in everyone in need.

59. If someone feels that my word hurts him, it is because she is like a sword; but the wounds she opens are those of love. Tomorrow you will understand that my word is always fair.

60. I will call the fathers of the family and ask them, "O fathers of men, what have you made of your children?" I will judge the teachers of humanity, among whom will be the philosophers, theologians and scientists, and I will also ask them what has been the seed that they have deposited in the hearts and minds of their own brothers. I will ask them in the service of what cause they put the gifts I entrusted to them.

61. The rulers of peoples, nations and kingdoms will come to my presence, and I will ask them which way human destinies have led and what they have done to their peoples; I will ask them for an account of their brothers' bread, work and wages, and if they would only present greed and vanity to me in their heart, and wealth in their hand, while their peoples perish from misery and hunger, how great will be their responsibility!

62. Doctors will also be called. I will ask them what they have done of the secret of the health that I revealed to them and of the balm that I entrusted to them; I will ask them if they have really felt the pain of others, if they have known how to descend to the humblest bed to heal with love the one who suffers. What will those who have achieved greatness, comfort and luxury with the pain of their fellow men, pain that they did not always know how to calm, answer me? Everyone will ask themselves questions in their hearts and in the light of their conscience they will have to answer me.

63. If I have revealed to you that you are part of Israel, you do not think that I love you more than other peoples; why should I love you more than another if you are all my children?

64. Truly I tell you, if humanity had persevered in the Law that conscience dictated to it inwardly, it would not have been necessary to send you guides, nor prophets, nor would it have been necessary for your Lord to descend among you until I had to engrave my Law on a stone for you in the First Age, nor to have to humanize myself and die as a man on a cross in the Second Time.

Love one another!

65. If I formed a people and filled it with gifts, it was not so that it would magnify itself and humiliate others, but so that it would be an example of submission to the true God and an example of fraternity among men.

66. I chose this people to be the instrument of my will on earth and the bearer of my revelations, to invite everyone to live in my Law, so that all humanity could become the one people of the Lord.

67. If this people has suffered a lot despite having been the chosen one, it is because they believed that the inheritance was only for themselves; that their God could not be God for the pagans, because they regarded other peoples as strangers and did not participate in what the Father had entrusted to them. If I separated him for a time from other peoples, it was so that he would not be contaminated by evil and materialism. But when he closed himself up in his selfishness and thought he was great and strong, I showed him that his power and greatness were false and I allowed other nations to fall on him and reduce him to servitude. Kings, Pharaohs, and Caesars were your lords, when I had offered to be your Lord. The Father, in his infinite love, manifested himself again to his people to give them freedom and remind them of their mission, and at this time I come to give them my lessons of love and it is only my gaze that can discover among humanity the children of Israel whom I call and gather to receive the light of the Holy Spirit.

68. I have come to manifest myself before your spirit because the time when I spoke to you through Nature and through material manifestations that you called milalgrs, is far away from you. Today you can already feel me in your spirit as well as in the depths of your heart.

69. At this time Palestine has not been a witness of my manifestation because it is not a certain place that I come to seek, but your spirit. I seek the people of Israel by the spirit, not by the blood, the people who have the spiritual seed that through the ages they have received for my charity.

70. Prepare yourselves people, take advantage of the time, because time is light. 1950 is approaching and I don't want you to feel orphaned by withdrawing my word. Verily I tell you that those who prepare themselves will feel closer to me, they will have great inspiration, they will heal the sick just by praying and they will be surprised by their gift of word.

71. You will keep these meetings because in them I will pour out great inspirations; the gift of clairvoyance will be unleashed and through your lips I will speak to wise men, to scientists and this prophecy will be written by those who have the mission of writing down my word.

Love one another!

72. Men and women who hear this word, do you believe in my coming among you? Do you believe in my communication through the understanding of man? In some the ardent faith answers: Yes, Master, I believe in your presence! In others he answers his silence that says: Who knows!

73. The Master tells you: Do not only search Me; penetrate into the interior of your heart and see what has come out of it; if words of love and truth have sprung up, you can be satisfied; if consolation has sprung up for others, you can say that crystal clear waters have flowed from your source. If you were in a high degree of perfection, my Manifestation among you would have no reason to be, but if your consciousness claims many imperfections from you, why do you ask Me what I have come for? It is necessary for you to know that I have come looking for your spirit who is destined to perfect himself on the path traced by my charity, so that, having reached his purification, he can achieve the happiness to which every being intuitively aspires. I come to teach you the way to make merits to achieve that goal.

74. Truly I tell you, the spirits of the righteous who dwell near God, with their own works carved out the right to occupy that place, not because I gave them to them; I only showed them the way and showed them at the end of it a reward.

75. Blessed are those who say to me: "Lord, you are the way, the light that illuminates it and the strength for the wayfarer. You are the voice that indicates the direction and revives us in the journey and you are also the reward for the one who arrives at the end". Yes, my children, I am the life and the resurrection of the dead.

76. It is enough that you know, as I told you in my word, that the reincarnation of the spirit is true, so that a light may be lit in your heart and you may admire my loving justice more. Compare the theories and various interpretations that religions have given to these teachings and lean towards the one that contains greater justice and has greater reason. But truly I tell you that this is one of the revelations that will move the spirit the most in this time, in which the intuition about this great truth is being awakened.

77. If, by telling the truth to the world, men judge me again, they will be able to do so, I will let them judge me; but if they want to touch me and apprehend me, they will not be able to, because I am in spirit and before them I am intangible and invisible.

78. You have risen to true life under the miracle of this word; no longer live in indifference or sin, as those who have not heard me do, because then you would descend to the level of the dead. Only I can and should speak to you like this.

Love one another!

79. To my apostles in the Second Time I announced my new manifestation and when they asked me what signs would announce that time, I announced them one by one, as well as the tests that I would give them. The signs have appeared to the last; they announced that this is the time prophesied by Jesus and I ask you: If this manifestation that I am giving you was not true, why has Christ not appeared, despite the signs? Or do you think that the tempter also has power over all creation and over the elements to deceive you?

80. I warned you for a long time so that you would not fall under the seduction of false prophets, false Christs and false redeemers; but today I tell you that the incarnate spirit is so awakened by its evolution, by its light and experience, that it is not easy to give darkness for light, no matter how much artifice it has. Therefore, I have said to you: Before you commit yourselves with blind faith on this path, search as much as you want. See that this word has been given to everyone and that I have never reserved part of it only for certain beings. See that there are no books in this Work in which I intend to hide any teaching from you. But I also said to you at that Second Time through the lips of John my apostle, "If anyone hears my voice and opens the door, I will enter him, I will dine with him and he with Me." I also taught you the parable of the virgins so that you might keep it in mind at this time.

81. Elijah, who was to arrive first to prepare the way of the Lord, manifested himself for the first time by the human understanding in 1866. Do you want to spend a few moments investigating the signs and events that arose in all orders and coincided with the time of that manifestation? Again it will be the men of science who study the stars who in ancient times were called magicians, who testify that the sky has given signs that are divine voices.

82. To you who have had the joy of hearing me, I say: I knocked on your door and you opened it for me, I have dined with you and you with Me. You beheld the flash of the lightning and the thunder of the thunderbolt, and here I am.

83. Behold the Sixth Seal loosed and opened before your eyes. Who unleashed it? Who unleashed the previous five? It was not Moses, Elijah, or any patriarch. It was I, the Messiah, the Word, the Lamb Slain, because that book of wisdom is the way and the life, and I have told you that I am the Way, the Truth and the Life.

84. I sent Elijah to announce to the world that the Sixth Seal was about to be released and he, bathed in the light of the Holy Spirit, descended among men as a precursor of my coming in the Third Time. You already know how Elijah communicated, how the Master has manifested himself, how much he has delivered you and taught you. I only tell you now that you preserve this Doctrine with all its purity, that you walk towards regeneration and spirituality, so that my arrival in spirit may be believed, and my word may be heard with respect and love.

Love one another!

85. Speak with the truth always and you will be recognized as disciples of the Holy Spirit, because even the snowmen do not have the purity of my word. The reflection of the sun on the snows of the mountains hurts your sight, but the divine light neither hurts, nor blinds the spirit,

86. Hear me, I am Christ the Word of the Father. I have not come to destroy anything that has been revealed from the earliest times. My Law is the same, it is the Law of love. The forms may change, but not the essence, that is why I have told you that not because you hear my word through human beings, do you question it.

87. Here is the way before your eyes again; begin to lift up your spirit, tell yourselves with intimate satisfaction that you are my disciples. Who are the disciples of the Divine Master? Those who love their fellow human beings, those who practice my Doctrine of forgiveness, charity and selflessness.

88. You are all children in life and you are all under the mantle of my providence.

89. The one who in his prayer says to me, "Father, your will be done to me" and when the test surprises him, he exclaims, "Lord, why are you touching me in this way?" He is not yet a disciple, but is just a child, because he has not understood the lesson. If you aspire to be my disciples, observe the life of Jesus, your Teacher on Earth, look at his obedience and submission to the Father from his childhood. He came into the world to do the will of his Father and went through humiliation, slander, ingratitude, contempt, pain and sacrifice, without departing from the path traced by the Eternal.

90. What will you answer about your steps when you come into the presence of the Lord?. Before you knew that each one of you would have to answer for himself, now you have known that a portion of spirits depends on each one of you, of which you will also have to answer. This is the importance of your example in life so that tomorrow you will not have to pick bitterness instead of a sweet and pleasant fruit. Do not forget that from those beings that I entrusted to you, the new generations will sprout that will have to flourish Spiritualism on Earth; these blessed generations are a divine promise for humanity, you have the duty to prepare the way and the abode for them and welcome them in an atmosphere of spirituality and love.

91. Will you be able to recognize them when they arrive? Will it be necessary for you to be watching? Will the world know how to feel that event? First you will have to give the warning voice so that everyone will put away the thorns that they have left on the road and also the impurities so that their children are not injured or stained when they reach the Earth.

92. Union I ask you people, so that my divine seed may germinate in your bosom. I do not want you to come to Me crying your faults to my Law or lamenting the lost time; nothing would remedy your crying in those moments.

93. I have come to speak to you at this time as if you were clean and spotless creatures to be converted through love.

MY PEACE BE WITH YOU!

Teaching 64

1. Here is my lesson, beloved disciples, analyze it and put into practice my divine teaching. This seed that I entrust to you is sacred; cultivate it, understand that the fruit you achieve depends on it.
2. In the Second Time I told you, "In my Father's house there are many abodes," that is, there are many worlds where the spirit can reach its complete evolution. Make merits so that you may reach a high place in the abodes where light and spiritual peace shine more intensely. Where will you penetrate after this life: Only I know, that's why I tell you that with good works you will carve a ladder where you can ascend until you reach true spiritual peace and that you do not delay the moment when your spirit receives the reward that it has conquered with those works of love for its brothers.
3. You see that there are no punishments that await those who have not fulfilled the mission that the Father entrusted to them. You are only going to collect the result of your deeds.
4. It is not in the tribunal created by human imagination that you will see me in that hour of judgment; it will be in unknown worlds where the spirits penetrate to find a purer and brighter light that illuminates those who have gone in life in pursuit of truth and elevation. Those who did not seek my truth will arrive at places of atonement where they will restore their purity to their spirit and then go ahead and reach Me, because no one will be lost.
5. How decisive the mission of your consciousness will be at that moment! for no one will be able to silence the voice of that judge who lives indissolubly united to your spirit. You will analyze all the acts of your life and none will feel judged with excessive rigor or excess of benevolence. That will be where that light that I put from the beginning to illuminate the path of the spirit will shine brightly.
6. Love each other from one nation to another, unite in one brotherhood so that tomorrow when you live in different dwellings you can love each other from one world to another.
7. Verily I tell you, there is no happier day for a spirit than the one when he presents his fulfillment before his Creator, if that fruit turns out to be pleasant before his infinite wisdom.
8. The spirits of light, those whom you call angels, will come to meet you to present you before your Father.

Love one another!

9. Your throats exclaimed in the Second Time when you saw Jesus coming: "Hosanna, hosanna to the one who comes in the name of the Lord"; now, when you feel that my Spirit is approaching you, you open the doors of the sanctuary of your heart, you penetrate in silence into it and show me the inner joy that fills you.

10. I am the same from that time, you are also the same, my teaching is the same too; however, your evolution is greater and that is why you seek a more perfect communication and worship towards your Creator. Now, when you pray, your spirit, detached from matter, merges with the angels who populate the spiritual space to sing together with them a hymn that is not from Earth but from Heaven.

11. When humanity commemorates the birth of the Savior, the hearts of men are filled with a joy and a hope that they could not explain; the same happens when you commemorate the passion and sacrifice of your Lord; you experience, even for a moment, an inexplicable sadness and it is that I am always being born and dying in the hearts of men.

12. I have wanted you all to live eternally and I can do it because I am life; that is why I have always manifested myself to my children in various forms and that is why I have given you my Law, so that it may point out to you the way by which you can reach Me. When humanity has considered itself lost to eternal life, I have come to give him my forgiveness and to erase with my lessons of love his stains allowing him to make restitution for his sins.

13. On the tablets of the Law of the First Time, how much blood has fallen trying to erase what was written on them; on my Doctrine of the Second Time how much desecration has been done without being able to tarnish its light; but I have forgiven everything because forgiveness is resurrection and it is life and I have told you that "I am the Way, the Truth and the Life".

14. Someone often asks me: Master, if you forgive our faults, why do you let us wash them away with pain? To which I say to you: I forgive you, but it is necessary that you repair those faults so that you restore your spirit to its purity.

15. In the Second Time I told you: "Ask and it will be given to you, knock and it will be opened to you" Now I tell you that your hand should always knock at the Father's door and not at the Judge's. Seek my love, my wisdom, my forgiveness, but do not seek my justice, which is inexorable.

16. Virtue has been despised and regarded as something harmful or useless; now the time has come when you understand that only virtue will save you, make you feel peace and fill you with satisfactions; but virtue still has to suffer many stumbles and vexations in order to penetrate all hearts; the soldiers who defend it will have to fight with great effort and faith. Where are these soldiers of goodness, charity and peace? Do you think it's you? You examine yourselves inwardly and answer me that it is not you; instead, I tell you that with good will you can all be one of those soldiers. Why do you think I have come among you then?

17. If you put all your love on your side for this cause, you will have the merit of having prepared the way for the advent of new generations that will bring a message of happiness to the world.

18. Much of what I have spoken to you in my lectures is for you to fulfill; but also recognize that in you I am speaking to your children. Listen and analyze so that your envelope may bend meekly and help your spirit march along the path that I am tracing with my lessons of love.

19. The time for you to meet me was propitious for you; hunger had overwhelmed you and with the fruit of this tree, you have regained your strength.

20. This time is a time of danger for humanity and men are still far from the Ark of salvation that is my Law.

21. I am preparing the disciples who will have to prove to the world that it is not an impossible, nor does it mean a sacrifice, the fulfillment of my Law.

22. By loving your fellow human beings you are safe; fulfilling that precept is not a penance. Whoever lives to serve his own brother, feeling and alleviating his pain, a brief prayer to Me will suffice, so that I through him will do wonders.

23. I am not sending my emissaries to distant regions yet, because they still have a lot to learn; when they feel strong and willing from the inside of their heart, they will tell me: Master, we are already prepared. I will penetrate into the sanctuary of those disciples and there I will find submission, humility, wisdom and charity.

24. I will give my oscar (holy spear) to the farmer and I will show him the way; that path that, although long, will bring him closer to Me; in it are the thistles, on its sides the abysses, sometimes the lurks and dangers, also the temptations, but whoever perseveres with faith in it, feels my presence at every step, because I have already told you that I am the way. Who can think that I will abandon him in the fight? How can you think that I turn away from you when you are in the fulfillment of my Law, if in your past I have never turned away from you? Let me prove to you; the trials of life strengthen the spirit, temper the heart and perfect it.

Love one another!

25. When will men dream of attaining the perfection of their spirit? Today they do not even have peace because there is no goodwill between them. The light of Heaven will begin to be reflected in this world, when this good disposition arises in men to channel their march along the path of fraternity, mutual respect, love of one another.

26. Men and women of this people: you are simple and humble and that is why I give you my teaching in simple words so that everyone understands it, My word is the bulwark of your faith and your hope, and the benefits and charities of which I am sowing your journey are the incentive and the stimulus for you to continue on the path without faltering in trials.

27. Humanity, divided into kingdoms and nations, senses that the time of my spiritual manifestation has come; inwardly it waits for me and desires me. How gratifying to her will be the announcement that you bring her of my presence and of my communication with you!

28. People: Prepare yourselves, so that you may be the herald of the good news; when that time comes, let not your mouth be closed nor your arm be lazy to sow and cultivate the portion of the earth that corresponds to you.

29. Some peoples have already received the visit of the forerunners, but it is essential that the farmers taught by the Master himself in the Third Time come to give irrigation to that seed thirsty for the dew of grace.

30. How soon will you see many peoples bearing good fruits that today you think are hard of heart and very distant from spirituality!

31. The lands will be fertile, because they have been greatly prepared; the nettles and tares will be removed from them until they are clean. So when my disciples come to them, when they contemplate them ready, they will say to me: Thank you Master.

32. The time of that preaching will be announced by means of the sonorous bell, which will be cast into flight.

33. This nation will be ready and dressed to receive the multitudes who, seeking sustenance and peace, come to it. You, get ready, clean your home and dress the best delicacy so that you can seat the stranger at your table.

34. Verily I tell you, from beggars to kings will come in those caravans; those who find hospitality and love in you will raise to infinity a hymn of gratitude.

35. Those who have been marked by my charity know that they are guardians and soldiers of this Ark and that they must destroy all traces of idolatry and fanaticism. Great is the struggle that awaits you, but the torch of your faith will save you. You have already known what slander, persecution, intrigue is. You have already suffered all these trials, which will not surprise you if they appear again on your way, because it is not a path of roses that leads to my Kingdom, it is the one that bears the bloody imprint of my footsteps engraved. Therefore I say to you, Blessed are those who suffer persecution and slander for my sake, and bread and water will be denied them, for they will come to Me and be exalted.

Love one another!

36. Do not be afraid of insults or blasphemy; remember that they were also hurled at your Master; do not be afraid that men will say about you what you are not, remember that They called Me a sorcerer and a sorcerer; if the world hates you, remember that it hated Me before you.

37. Learn to be silent and leave the cause to Me. Be the intercessors of those who offend you and your merit will be great. Today you are ignorant of many faults of your fellow men, but when you know how to judge with true justice their faults will be revealed to you because then you will be able to teach and save your brothers.

38. These are the ways of the spirit that the good disciple of the Holy Spirit will have to know and travel without getting lost.

39. The son of light will know how to walk among darkness and among them he will know how to find the lost one to save him.

40. How is it possible that at this time when humanity is groaning, you are still dreaming of possessing great material wealth? Have I given you my peace so that you may think only of your worldly ambitions? incessantly rumors of war come to you and you do nothing to prepare. I have been asking for your unification for a long time and I still find you divided. When will all humanity feel eager to unite spiritually in thought and in will? I have already told you that the day you unite you will be the invulnerable wall that rejects all aggression. You should be strong by now, because the fruit of these trees has been abundant and everything has been yours.

41. Do you not carry in your spirit the wonders that I have given to each one of you? Have you not understood that everything I have taught you has been a revelation from your Father? If anyone is ashamed to be a disciple of this Work, it will be because he has not understood anything of my teaching. Today you can still be calm, even if you miss your spiritual duties; but the trials will come and then you will lament and your last hour will sound and you will not know how to penetrate into that world that awaits you, nor with what to silence the voice of your conscience. See that by one of you who fulfills and obeys me, how many hearts come to my presence! Notice how you are observed in each of your steps by those who would like to know if you are really listening to the Holy Spirit.

42. Do you think that if a blasphemy or an obscene word comes from your lips, the unbeliever will think that you are disciples of Christ, the Divine Word? Are those words and phrases the proverbs and maxims that I have taught you by chance? The children are watching you too, why are you fighting in front of them? See that by this example what you are doing is that the wickedness of Cain penetrates among the little ones. Think that they are your next heirs, the ones who will say what you learned and what you were in the way of your God and Lord.

43. Cultivate a good reward for yourselves by cultivating a good fruit for your brothers. Prepare yourselves for the times to come because before my departure there will still be division among you, because temptation will touch you all. It is necessary that you watch. Pray and practice my divine teaching; verily I tell you that these short moments that you dedicate to the practice of good, will make their benefits felt even in many of the generations after you. No one has been able and will be able to chart their own destiny, that belongs only to Me. Trust in my will and you will travel the journey to the end without major stumbles.

44. Judge well when I tell you that the leaf of the tree does not move without my will, so you will know when it is I who is testing you and when it is you who fill your cup with bitterness and then blame me, Then you become judges and take me for a prisoner. Know how to recognize your mistakes and correct them. Learn to forgive the faults of your brothers and sisters and if you cannot correct them at least spread a veil of indulgence over them.

45. Your prayer for your brothers has reached me, because you have penetrated into the sanctuary of the Lord, and there your spirit has felt safe. Those who are looking for peace, those who are looking for a path that leads to a better life, are the ones who are penetrating my sanctuary. Those who seek the treasures and honors of the world eagerly strive to find other paths. I tell you that the peace that is only in my Spirit will finally be longed for and sought by all.

46. Who or what can give you the true peace of the spirit on earth? Only the infinite love of your Father.

47. There are wealthy rich people who have no health, nor do they know joy, and poor men who, having health, do not know what they have and live bitter because they want wealth or comforts. I do not discover noble ambitions in the hearts of men and when they come to have them, they do not pursue that ideal in good ways; you have the proof in those senseless and unworthy wars of beings who possess the light of God.

Love one another!

48. I am peace, in my infinite wisdom there is all that you can desire, but when have the peoples prayed to achieve my peace? When have the men who lead and govern the peoples set their eyes on Me? When have the armies prostrated themselves to ask their Heavenly Father for forgiveness after they had put their fellow men to death? And peace is so subtle that it is necessary to watch and prepare to know how to retain it, not to let it return to Me. Look how you are filled with peace after listening to me and with that grace you leave the enclosures and reach your home, but how brief are the moments in which you manage to retain that peace in your heart! I have named you "the people of peace", "the children of peace". That is why you do not decide to get up to teach the good news, because you know that to bring peace it is necessary to have it, but when are you going to fulfill that sublime mandate?

49. Disciples: learn to retain my peace, turn it into a sword and destroy the discord and disunity that exists in your home, go filling the lives of those around you with peace so that this will serve you as practice and tomorrow you will bring peace to other homes and to other peoples. That is the seed I am depositing in your storehouse.

50. How soon this people would be recognized if peace existed in its bosom and if it demonstrated it in its life; the hurricanes, the storms and the whirlwinds would vanish when they arrived before the strength of your peace; as long as there is division among this people there will be fragility and its doors will be open to lurking.

51. My word in these precincts has descended into torrents, my wonders have been in abundance to encourage your faith. Have you not understood the meaning of my Work among you?

52. I have called you Israel so that you will rise up strong to follow me and bring my peace and my Law to the heart of humanity. This is your destiny and the time will come when this people full of spiritual strength will arise in the world, It will appear as light in the time of confusion and doubt, when the hunger and thirst for truth will be greater.

53. The Master says to you: People, may your hand never be empty, may your heart not be stingy, because you do not know the moment when you could be surrounded by the crowds of needy or overwhelmed by the questions of the searchers. Your duty is to give to all of how much I have poured out in your spirit. Do not come to feel more than anyone else, nor to believe yourselves the most beloved and the only owners of the truth contained in the divine revelations and the Lord's pleasantries, because you would be in danger of falling under the dominion of others as in ancient times Israel fell into captivity for its disobedience to my commands.

Love one another!

54. What would your heart feel if it saw your children turn away from the path disappointed by your example? What would your spirit feel if from the beyond it saw the new generations looking for me in idolatry?

55. The tribes are still scattered; the greater part of this people has not yet found the way; it is necessary that those who have heard this voice and have received my commands should watch and wait in readiness for the arrival of the multitudes so that when they see your union and your worship they will recognize my Doctrine and follow me; do not expect them to be of one race or nation because men of all races will come among them.

56. Elijah is coming step by step leading his flock and truly I tell you that the moment when one and the other will meet will soon come.

57. I have appointed you the strong ones of my house and I give you my divine strength every moment so that you may watch over the mission that I have entrusted to you, praying inside my sanctuary that exists in each one of you.

58. Welcome those of you who leave the world for a few moments to come and hear my word. Verily I tell you that for one of you who learned and practiced my lesson, a region would be saved, just as if all this people prepared themselves and prayed with love, they would be able to save humanity. It is not that your number is small, but that your love is still very small. For now, cleanse your heart. Who better than you can know its flaws and its blemishes? Understand it and purify yourselves of everything that the conscience demands of you.

59. There are many who try to forgive their sins and I ask you: Why did the Father put this burden of work and suffering on the son? Am I not the one who has come in all times to lighten your burden of hardships and sufferings?

60. At all times my voice calls you to the right path where there is peace, but your deaf ear has only an instant of sensitivity to that voice, and that moment is the last of your life, when the agony announces to you the approach of the death of the body. That is when you would like to start life to repair mistakes, to calm your spirit before the judgment of your conscience and to be able to offer something worthy and meritorious to the Lord.

61. I am the Way and I have shown you that way since the first steps of humanity on Earth. Tell me: When have I left you without help or without light? At what age or in what era have I erased my Law from your spirit; I have never stopped speaking to you, that is why now I have been asking you for your harvest. Through my new communication I have claimed you with divine rigor and absolute justice and I make you responsible for your failures to my Law.

62. I have appointed as disciples all of you who have heard this word, but it is necessary that you demonstrate it by your behavior and that you spread this good news so that today's humanity prepares the way for new generations. Those beings should not come to hurry the cup of bitterness and pain from the first days of their childhood because they bring another mission; but if you gave them to drink from that cup, you will answer me about it.

63. Oh if you only knew how to live with the simplicity of birds that live loving each other and that when they feel that winter is approaching they take flight in search of better climates, but leaving their nests in the trees ready to serve as a home for their brothers! The winter of your life is old age; but you who are men of little faith, look in that winter at the coldness of death and the end without understanding that spring always comes after winter with its branches, its trills and its perfumes.

64. That little faith in the spiritual resurrection after this life is what makes you take care of the human, the material until the last moment of your existence, without preparing the wings of the spirit to take flight and without leaving a nest formed with virtue and faith for the new inhabitants.

65. You do not resemble birds because your world is not one of peace; you are rather soldiers who fight within an endless battle and I tell you: fight nobly, wield weapons of justice; persevere in the good, the good is the truth; leave the roads prepared for the new soldiers, leave them free and clean the field so that reason, love and justice may triumph in it at last while you come to rest in Me.

66. I have to speak to you this way because your world is involved in wars of all kinds. When trials come to the world they always surprise him unprepared, because while he thinks and meditates little on the eternal, he likes too much the flattery of the world and the flesh.

67. Truly I tell you, if at this time men do not cleanse the stains they have left on their spirit, the elements will come as heralds announcing my righteousness and my glory and purifying humanity from all impurity.

68. Blessed are the men, women and children, who, realizing the proximity of that justice, glorify my name feeling that the day of the Lord has arrived because their heart will tell them that the end of the reign of evil is approaching. I tell you, these by their faith, their hope and their good works will be saved. But how many of those who live in those days will blaspheme!

Love one another!

69. Humanity that you believe that great riches and earthly possessions are needed to conquer the world and you forget Christ who was born in a manger and who without having anything on Earth, however, conquered the heart of humanity, made the peoples his vassals and was proclaimed King and Lord.

70. When you come to understand and feel the truth, you will see how easy it is for the spirit to follow in the footsteps of his Master, even in the toughest trials. Do all that is on your part, for I will not ask you for more than you can do; then you will have left the way prepared for the new generations; I recommend you to the children and I charge you to lead them on the right path. Gather them together, tell them about Me with love and tenderness, look for the disinherited, those who live lost among miseries and vices. I give essence to your words so that they may be the way of salvation when they come from your lips. Open the "Book of True Life" before the innocent, so that their spirit may awaken and be great by penetrating the revelations of the Holy Spirit; resemble your Teacher and you will be heard.

71. If in the Second Time I looked for a humble place to be born as a man and hearts to dwell in, you do not go after a place that makes you remarkable; look for the sensitive fiber that exists in every heart so that there you may deposit my seed and my balm. The place to be born as a man was indifferent to me, but I gave up my life because my love was born in your heart. Now I tell you: humanity, the seed of that love represented in my blood, fell into the hearts of all men, why now do you not love and cultivate what I sowed with so much love?

72. Do not be deaf to this voice, open your eyes to the reality of this time and embark on the journey with full confidence and faith, otherwise you will have to wake up blind in the afterlife and I have told you that one should not enter that mansion with closed eyes.

73. Peradventure the Lord asks impossible of you? I only come to teach you to sow love so that you may reap the fruit of life in the end. Cultivate the hearts of children today so that tomorrow you will hear them speak of the greatness of the Holy Spirit.

74. Watch over the roses and lilies that are the heart of youth and tomorrow you will delight in the flowering of virtue. Teach to pray with the spirit and you will all recognize that this is the perfect communication when you feel that your spirit has come to my presence and there it has been sustained by my love.

Love one another!

75. Today my divine ray still descends among the multitudes; but remember what you heard when I said to you: "Where two or three of my children gather, there I will descend to give them my word"; since then the number of my listeners has been increasing until they form multitudes.

76. If I have fulfilled my promise to return to you, I will also fulfill my will to depart to you; make the most of the remaining moments of listening to my word and you will be prepared as disciples of the Holy Spirit.

MY PEACE BE WITH YOU!

Love one another!

Teaching 65

1. You are preparing the sanctuary of your heart so that my word may descend into it as a balm; but at this moment I ask you: Why do I find you burdened by pain? Because you have not watched and prayed.
2. If you eat the spiritual delicacies at my table, why don't you take advantage of the essence they contain, which is health and eternal life? How long will you understand my doctrine so that you may rise up to preach it with works of love for your brothers and sisters?
3. Sometimes you dare to tell me that I have not granted anything that you have asked of me, when I am giving it to you every moment and it is only necessary that you prepare so that you can receive it.
4. Do not overwhelm your spirit with chains of sins, set him free so that he may rise up and receive from Me whatever he needs in his journey. Why do you put out your lamp of faith if I am among you? I have told you that the responsibility for the peace of nations and the salvation of humanity rests on this people, but how are you going to carry out your mission if there is still no firmness in your steps? You come to hear my word, you say you love your Lord, but words are not enough, good deeds are necessary for humanity to achieve my peace. I come not to discourage you but to awaken your spirit. Take again the fruit of the tree and get fed up with it, O walkers!
5. Blessed is he who, eating of this fruit, firmly believes that he has eaten of the tree of life, for verily I say to you, he will not die. At this time I found you dead to the life of grace, but my presence through this teaching has been your resurrection. You considered yourselves unworthy to be in my presence and I made you worthy by purifying your spirit from all its past faults by clothing it with purity. With this forgiveness I have given you a lesson of love and justice; put it into practice in your brothers.
6. By what right are you going to judge and condemn your fellow men because of their imperfections? Remember what I told you in the second half. "He who is free from sin, let him cast the first stone."
7. My Doctrine is clear and clean so that the children understand it and engrave it in their hearts. I have come to take you from lesson to lesson to perfect spirit-to-Spirit communication.

Love one another!

8. In your desert of restitution, the heavenly manna is descending; when you arrive at the divine mansion, you will sit at the Father's table to eat of his delicacies. The vast desert represents the atonement and the way, the evolution of the spirit.

9. Come to the Father; He dwells on the top of the mountain and will give you orchards and fields of those that exist in the contours of that mountain; the men will cultivate the wheat, the women will make the orchards and the valleys covered with flowers and the song of the children will join the birds to make your work sweet. Human vanities and materialism will not reach your lands because they would be like plagues that would destroy your fruits. Hearing these words, how many men will be able to understand how far they have strayed from the path laid out by my Law.

10. When a man comes to believe that his faults are unforgivable, he strays further and further from the path. Ah, if only I knew that an instant of sincere repentance can save you by leading you to your restitution that no matter how far you think you are from my Divinity, a single step separates you and that step is that of your repentance! Why can't you hear my voice? Don't you feel that I come as a loving Father, as a loyal friend? You sleep and that is why you do not listen to my call. How do you expect to hear my footsteps if I come on a cloud?

11. Wake up, get ready so that you will see my promise fulfilled. I will call blessed those who wake up and listen to me, because then I will put the good news of my spiritual presence in their hearts and words of tenderness, light and hope for men will flow from their lips.

12. Hurricane winds are coming, so you must strengthen your faith so that you can come out ahead of the trials and save as many as you can; I want you to be friends and brothers of all humanity.

13. This is the time that Joel saw and announced, in which the children of humanity would have prophetic visions and dreams in which their mouths would speak moved by my divine strength, because my Spirit would be poured out on all flesh and on all spirit.

14. Here is a people that is born and grows in silence and whose children pour out the words of the Holy Spirit, transmit spiritual messages and with their spiritual gaze cross the thresholds of the beyond and look at the events of the future; verily I tell you that this seed is scattered throughout the world and no one will be able to destroy it.

Love one another!

15. Through the lips of men, women and children you have listened to my divine concert, with ecstasy you have penetrated into the delight of hearing the voice of the Lord and his angels. My word is not for one people, it is for all peoples, for all beliefs and religions.

16. Only this multitude knows that this is the Third Time, but humanity will also know it, although it will first deny everything that I have revealed to you and that has been written. Truly I tell you, this word will reach to the ends of the earth because nothing is impossible for Me. I will show my wounds to the world like Thomas, so that he may believe and repent, so that he may wash himself in his tears and then follow me faithfully to the end. This divine manna will descend on every heart and the way that leads to the Lord's mansion will be revealed to every spirit.

17. The waters of Jacob's well dried up and did not quench the thirst of the spirit of mankind. The Samaritan Woman had already told him, "Truly I tell you, I have water that whoever drinks from it will never thirst again." And that crystal clear and pure water is my word, which I will pour out on the world to quench its searing thirst.

18. Elijah has long been leading my flock among humanity inviting everyone to be unified; that flock must watch and pray because it has my light and power to help humanity with love.

19. You who hear these teachings already knew them in other times; but now you will have to spread them among humanity so that it may know them. You also know that in 1950 you will be left without this word; but prepare yourselves so that this will not be a loss that you have to regret but a step forward that will put you in front of the struggle. I will be close and so will my emissaries; I will continue to watch over those I have doctinated and I will speak to them by inspiration.

20. Let no one pretend that I will prolong my stay among you, because I have already manifested my will to you and have prophesied to you the year and the day when this manifestation through human understanding will cease. Let no one throw a sentence on himself.

21. He who has been clumsy to serve me now and then prepares himself will lose his clumsiness, speak wisely and do wonders.

22. If you, the people who hear me, weep at the remembrance of my passion and repent of your sins, blessed are you, for truly I tell you that your pain purifies you and my word, which is life and resurrection, will comfort you. My light is for all my children, not only for you who inhabit this world but for the spirits who live in different abodes. All will be set free and raised to eternal life when, with their works of love for their brothers and sisters, they fulfill my divine precept that asks you to love one another.

Love one another!

23. The Father suffers when humanity is plagued by wars. Brother against brother has risen and innocent blood bathes the earth. Today, on the great day of justice, you breathe an atmosphere of desolation and death, but by the dawn of 1946 the struggle will have ceased and you will have a truce in your sufferings.

24. All the pain of humanity falls on Me like a heavy cross, I have been unknown and torn by the human lineage whom I have wanted to make my disciple of whom a few follow me; tomorrow, knowing my Work that I have manifested in this way once again I will be mocked because they will not understand me. This misunderstanding of my children, opens my wounds anew and my blood falls again on every spirit. For speaking the truth and teaching love I have been unknown, and the times have passed, you for repeating my words and bearing witness to Me will be despised; but whenever you embrace your cross and ascend the mountain, you will be saving many innocents and redeeming many sinners.

25. I have not come as a king among you, I have presented myself humble and for this you recognize that the word that you have heard is from the Word of the Father. Again humanity offers me a crown of thorns and a mantle of ingratitude. I have suffered the slander and ignorance of my children.

26. Even though the spirit is in full evolution, it sleeps; but I am enlightening you through consciousness so that you may return to the path and return to fulfillment. Why do you feel that my word hurts you?

27. While you remember my passion of the Second Half, a heart, the most tender, weeps in silence and intercedes for her children who have not understood her. He has no reproaches for those who have caused him so much pain, nor a complaint against those who sacrificed the dearly beloved Son; only his love and forgiveness for humanity crown the work of redemption of his Only Begotten Son. It is your Heavenly Mother whom I leave among you so that you may listen to her and in her lap console yourselves.

28. In the depths of your heart you are feeling the divine breath of the Lord. If only you understood the love with which I come to you!

29. With the union of your hearts you have formed a sanctuary to receive me. Every heart has been prepared, every mind has been cleared and that is the propitious moment for my divine ray to descend among you.

Love one another!

30. The test is approaching and I am preparing you for it. It is time for you to walk with a firm step without fear; you are Israel and that name means "Strong". That blessed seed has always existed in your spirit. True prayer comforts your spirit, purifies your stains, comforts you when you are sad, accompanies you in orphanhood and separates you from temptations. And just as I have taught you to pray from spirit to Spirit to be strong in life, also at the hour of death raise your spirit to Me, by that blessed scale of prayer. How far humanity lives from true prayer! How few there are who know how to practice it! Spiritually humanity lives in the likeness of the men of antiquity; the worship of the golden calf, the cult of the pagan gods still exists. The tower of babel of the men of science of these times at every moment challenges my divine justice.

31. A new flood will be unleashed which will wash the earth of human perversity. He will overthrow the false gods from their altars, he will destroy stone by stone the foundations of that tower of pride and iniquity and he will erase all false doctrine and all absurd philosophy; but this new flood will not be of water as at that time because the hand of man has unleashed all the elements, both visible and invisible, against him. He himself dictates his sentence, punishes himself and justice is done.

32. Every debt will be paid even the smallest one; for this it is necessary that the great of today become servants and that the vassals rise up. You who hear me, believe in your responsibility to the peace of the world.

33. It's no longer two or three of you who are listening to me. Your number is already great because my seed has spread from heart to heart, from home to home, from county to county and the news of my new manifestation has crossed your borders to reach other countries where the echo of my word and the news of my wonders have testified that I have truly returned to you.

34. The house of Israel is now in the depths of your being, in your spirit. That is where I have manifested myself in this time through this communication.

35. I have told you to hurry up to study my lessons, to take advantage of my presence since the time of my departure is near and no one ignores it. Here is the test that awaits you. Who will be prepared to resist it? You have multiplied and yet I do not consider you strong. It is that you have lacked love, charity, fraternity towards each other, you are not united by the spirit. And these are the possessors of the Ark of the New Covenant?

36. I wanted you to be strong by your union and great by the spirit. It is not necessary that you possess the material power to be great, nor the knowledge of the Earth to be superior. There is something that your God has always revealed to you and that truly gives you greatness.

Love one another!

37. Great is the light that I have poured out on you; but do not let yourselves be blinded, for you will appear to your brothers as fools and fanatics. This light is not only yours, it is the light of the Sixth Seal that will shine on all nations.

38. You come clean before Me: slowly you have been getting rid of fanaticism, idolatry and superfluous traditions; in this way your heart beats to the beat of your spirit; the path begins in Me and ends in Me, but I do not ask you to travel this journey in one day but I give you enough time to walk the path to the end.

39. I help you throughout the day, I give you strength, I purify you. If you judge your spiritual evolution by your present life, you will recognize that you have taken a great step forward by comparing your current life with that of the beginning of humanity. Study my word with the zeal with which you study the lessons of the Earth and analyzing them you will discover that what you thought unfathomable was reserved for your spirit. In these times the veil of many mysteries is unraveling, many secrets will come to the light of truth and therefore I will be better loved and understood by my children.

40. Can there be a likeness between the son and the Father, if the son lacks the wisdom of his Father? Not my children: but it will not be I who will keep you in ignorance. I am the light that is wisdom and I will bathe you with it so that you may love me; indeed I am hungry and thirsty for your elevation, here you have the most powerful reason for my manifestation and for my communication with you.

41. Enlighten yourselves and strengthen yourselves with this teaching because the omens of war exist in your heart and it is necessary that you be prepared; I have kept this nation in peace so that it may receive me in its heart; the seed of my Doctrine will have to bear fruit.

42. How much you will cry if you do not take advantage of this precious time of peace! You will be surprised by war, plague and desolation. Do not try to stop the war with material penances that are useless sacrifices; if you want to offer me any penance, bend the reluctance, the arrogance or the materialism of your matter; if you want to offer me any fast, let it be by turning away from the superfluous, from what is harmful to you by dominating your passions; but in this be careful not to fall into new fanaticism because there are many works that being licit you can make them illicit.

43. I want you to achieve the regeneration of both your body and your spirit. If you understand well what I ask of you, it will not seem like a sacrifice to achieve it and you will recognize that this fulfillment will bring you great satisfactions and a higher peace.

Love one another!

44. Those who rise from the mire, from the scum or from selfishness, to a life of service and charity towards their brothers, I will show them as an example that my Doctrine has light and grace to regenerate sinners. That example will resound in all hearts. Who does not wish to be one of those who testify to me? But truly I tell you, if your actions do not flow out of your heart with truth, they will not bear fruit in your brothers and you will often hear that they call you hypocrites and false preachers. And I don't want this for you.

45. You must know that in these times it is very difficult to deceive humanity; its spirit is awake and although lost in the materialism of its existence, it is sensitive to every spiritual manifestation and if you cannot deceive your brothers, will you deceive your Father?

46. Let the love of the Master shelter in your being so that you may come to forgive your enemies as He forgives you; then your heart will be among humanity as an anchor of salvation.

47. Prepare your boat because the storm may arrive from one moment to the next. Why don't you feel the fighting atmosphere? Does nothing reveal your spirit to you? Listen to the voices of Nature and observe the course of the elements. Penetrate into the hearts of your brothers and you will find the announcement of the approaching struggle; everything speaks to you of chaos. If it is the human mind, it only conceives weapons for destruction; if it is the heart, it gives no shelter to feelings of brotherhood and if to hatred. Health does not exist in one body, everyone is contaminated with disease and plague; children are born with a burden of pain; parents do not know their children and children do not know their parents; husbands separate, women lose their virtue without giving it any value; men desecrate the most sacred; religions are unknown and tear each other apart and vices take strength among men. Meanwhile, my word awakens you with a sweet appeal, invites you to regeneration and to be free from perishing in that stormy sea. Only a spiritual doctrine like mine is capable of sustaining man on the path of life. Only my word can solve the deep problems of the spirit and sweeten the existence of man in his journey of trials and bitterness.

48. If humanity has cultivated a great tree whose fruits have mostly been bitter and deadly, doesn't it seem beautiful that I plant a tree, that you help me to cultivate it and that its fruits of life, of true peace and divine wisdom compensate you for so much pain? For I am that tree, I am the vine and you are the branches, let your spirit grow in its gifts so that you may give welcoming shade and fruits of life and good taste. I am the truth and it flows from these lips of men, even if they are sinners, because my truth is stronger than your sins.

Love one another!

49. Once again I discover the way and life for you and I take the blindfold of darkness from your eyes. When you hear this word you say in your heart, Why if the Doctrine of the Lord is so beautiful, before it was not able to separate me from vices, nor was it an incentive in my existence? For it was not my doctrine with which you were nourished, but with rites, which only impress the senses and leave the spirit empty. Here I come to give you my word without forms or rites so that it reaches directly to your spirit. There is no recreation for your material senses here; today only your ear takes part in the instant of my communication; tomorrow, when my word given through the human understanding has ceased to be heard, not even your bodily ear will perceive my voice; it will be your spirit that receives my teaching through inspiration and its echo will be heard in the heart. Take the path with faith and walk calmly and slowly.

50. The days are approaching when humanity commemorates my passion; in truth I tell you that when this humanity awakens to the light of this time and stripped of materialism seeks me in a spiritual way, its elevation and simplicity will be the best palms with which they receive me in the second Jerusalem, the spiritual city. I would like that whenever you think about my passion, you do it without rites or representations, that you remember my works and meditate deeply on them; then you will feel that wisdom revive in your spirit.

51. With these teachings I will set aside your traditions, as in former times, causing your spirit to be preserved in my Doctrine and in my Law.

MY PEACE BE WITH YOU!

Love one another!

Teaching 66

1. You have heard the ringing of the bell and have woken up. The bell has been my voice, which you have received through the understanding of man and the one who has awakened has been your spirit. Do not fall into lethargy again, beloved people, because you are living in a time of struggle. If you have already begun to sow, I do not want you to leave your land abandoned or to lose the place that you have come to occupy in my countryside and that it has cost you so much pain to reach.
2. Let your conscience do its will over what your mind and spirit thinks, since it is she who truly realizes the mission that weighs on the spirit. See that if, instead of following the dictates of conscience, you incline to obey the impulses of the flesh, you will soon return to the path of sterile struggle, to the world of frivolities and vanity, where your spirit will feel empty and sad.
3. Come to my countryside and stay in it; in its lands there is room for everyone, in my barn there is seed in abundance and in my love there is water of life, so that you may cultivate the divine seed.
4. I, the Universal Sower, will teach you everything you need to know, My love and my patience will accompany each of my lessons, so that they will be engraved in your spirit, and so, when you need to sow remembering that your heart was turned into a storehouse of my word, turn to him in search of my seed of love for your brothers.
5. Stop for now to listen to my word so that you may let it penetrate as far as it needs to go and when the time comes to sow, start the day slowly, so that if you stumble you get up in haste and do not get tired prematurely.
6. Do not dwell on the superficiality of the word, because you will not have the opportunity to perceive its essence and plunge into its infinite light.
7. Do not become fanatical or fall into idolatry by loving objects to which your brothers have given some divine representation. Think that if you are going to be the disciples of a deeply spiritual Doctrine, you have to fight to remove from your heart that material cult that for centuries has nourished humanity; but of course, disciples, do it with all firmness, when you are truly convinced of the step that you are going to take, lest one day you preach so that your brothers turn away from idolatry and religious fanaticism and suddenly, in a trial that you have, you fall like fennels before an idol.

Love one another!

8. Do you understand why I am always telling you to analyze my word and study it? Because only in this way can the light of persuasion penetrate into your being. Then there will be a total transformation in your way of feeling, thinking and practicing.

9. If you observe the development of my manifestations through the human understanding, you will come to discover that the advancement of my teachings has been achieved with a slow but firm step and surely I am advising you to follow.

10. See that in years past I did not speak to you as clearly as I do now. I was tolerant and accommodating, I allowed you some external practices because it was not the right time to separate the chaff from the wheat, that is, the essence of my teaching of superfluous practices. I contemplated that your faith was not firm enough to listen to some revelations; on the other hand, now that the light of my teachings is penetrating the spirit of some of my disciples, I can speak to you clearly.

11. I know that not everyone understands the meaning of spirituality by now, nor is the idea of feeding only on essence and having to renounce rites, symbols and external practices that many hearts like so much enough for everyone. But it will be enough for me that when I raise up my word from among this people, a group of disciples has understood the meaning of spirituality because that group will be considered as the First fruit that my word gave communicated by the understanding of man. To help you understand my Doctrine I continue to give you my lessons, I bless you and I say to you: Welcome, my children, feel the warmth of my spirit, feel my presence and remember that time when you surrounded me to listen to my divine words, when you followed me along the roads to see me perform miracles, while some did not lose a single syllable of my to find out if it was true or not what I said. Both of you heard a harmonious voice that spoke tirelessly of love, forgiveness and charity; it was a light that had never shone before humanity. That word opened a new time for the people of Israel and for all humanity.

12. Many of those who heard me in Jesus have come to earth at this time and have listened to me again. When they believed that they had fulfilled their destiny on this planet and had conquered the Promised Land, the spirit has returned to try to take just one more step forward on the path of their spiritual perfection.

13. Evolution is necessary for the spirit to be enlightened with my wisdom. Today you are hearing again the voice that speaks to you of love. To the new disciples and to all men I say: love your brothers, ask me for your fellow men and I will grant you wonders. Do not be afraid to discover before the world the mission that your spirit brings; truly I tell you that you will not be able to hide your gifts and that sooner or later they will manifest themselves.

Love one another!

14. How difficult it seems to you to make your way fulfilling your mission at this time; but I tell you that it is not difficult, because humanity is ready to receive my message.

15. In all times the weak have cowered before the struggle while the strong have shown that faith in my Law conquers all. Your destiny, Israel, has always been to communicate new messages and revelations to the world, that is why sometimes you doubt whether you will be believed; but do not be afraid, take the seed that I have entrusted to you and sow it, you will see how many lands that you thought were barren you will find fertile by being fertilized with the truth of my Doctrine.

16. Do not fail to fulfill your mission because you feel unworthy; truly I tell you, he who knowingly profanes the Law does as much evil as he who has a mission and fails to fulfill it.

17. Do not forget that in the end the Father will come to claim for you what you have done wrong, as well as what you have failed to do; know that both one fault and the other will make your spirit suffer. Spread my Doctrine, speak to the men of my word, convince them with your works of love, invite them to listen to me and when they arrive among the crowds and the light of faith is lit in their hearts, I will name them children of the new people of Israel.

18. You will no longer be able to stray from the path; I have given you the light for you to analyze and I have opened your eyes so that you may penetrate even into the hereafter. May the use you make of your gifts always be good so that the results may be pleasing to your heart and pleasing to the Father.

19. Understand that I have come to teach you a perfect lesson. You have heard through my spokesmen, in different places and regions, that my word will cease to be heard in 1950. From this day I say to you: how many who today listen with apparent respect to my word, when that time comes will mock; how many who now say to me, "Lord, I will not depart from this way," then they will look for me in temples, in synagogues, on altars and in images and they will not find me.

20. See that I am not trying to surprise you by unexpectedly lifting up my word, but long before and in different ways I am announcing it to you, so that you understand that you must take advantage of these moments and these lessons, so that later you will not fall into confusion and desecration. How many of those who call themselves my disciples today, my farmers, are going to betray me at that hour!

Love one another!

21. The moment when you cease to listen to me through the understanding of the mouthpiece is marked; but I have promised those who prepare that they will hear later the echo of my word in the sanctuary of their heart.

22. My justice will have to come to nip all the weeds in the bud and it is my will that at that hour my sickle will find you as wheat and not as tares. I speak to you in your language and with all clarity so that you will not say tomorrow that I spoke to you in a figurative sense and that is why you did not understand me.

23. These venues will be prepared for your meetings and to continue receiving the new crowds. Spiritual guardians will guard them.

24. I am speaking to you of a momentous step that you are going to take, of a moment of trial that is going to come and I do not see that your heart will tremble. How much have you become acquainted with my word; but it will pass away and you will not have known how to appreciate the treasure that you had!

25. I have told you on many occasions that I do not get dirty with the superfluous or bad, so you must understand that I will not be mixed up in your impostures and profanations.

26. Some of us have been transformed by listening to my teaching; but see what their transformation consists in: they arrived humble, tearful and contrite, without any good, but after they received their spiritual inheritance they haughtily lifted up their face, they felt lords and even kings, and in their arrogance they wanted to pass over the will of their Father. Do you know where vanity and pride stay? in the bowels of the earth, what about disobedience, contempt and offenses?, in your spirit once it comes off its wrapper. You are atoms who live by my divine charity without which you would no longer exist.

27. He who conceitedly thinks he can grasp my Work with his mind and know everything, it is because he knows nothing; but he who plunges into my wisdom and my greatness to such an extent that he says, I know nothing and I am nothing before my Lord, the same is about to know.

28. This people who have enjoyed my word so much at this time, if they do not prepare themselves, if they do not bend their reluctant understanding to my lessons, there will be a lot that they will have to cry later.

29. Do you want to know what my wish is? May you humbly fulfill my commands on Earth so that at the end of your mission, your clean and luminous spirit for its fulfillment, reaches very high until reaching those blessed dwellings that are reserved for the obedient children of the Lord.

Love one another!

30. On my table there is a place prepared for each of you and a delicacy too. When you have eaten and drunk at my table, you will no longer be hungry or thirsty. You will stop looking for me in temples and altars made by the hand of man, recognizing that you carry me in the inner sanctuary of your spirit.

31. I had everything ready for when you came before my word because I am the one who watches over everyone. Ah! if you had been waiting for me, how great would have been your advancement; but you are already with Me listening to my teachings.

32. Men, do not be afraid of the trials of life, nor do you bend under the weight of your guilt; give the spirit time and strength for the fulfillment of your spiritual mission and you will always be able to rise on your path of evolution.

33. Women: do not cry only for your own, see that your heart must feel the pain of humanity. Forgive your brothers so that your heart may be clean and may give shelter to charity.

34. Do you think that I would have come to you if you had not been forgiven before and if charity did not exist in my Spirit?

35. This I want you to do with your brothers; but do not be afraid to bring the good news to them, do not doubt your gifts, nor distrust the result of your works of love towards them, because lack of faith would lead you to failure, your word would not convince, nor would your works have the seed of firmness.

36. O humanity, blessed creation, if you only knew how your Father loves you! You are lost and I come in search of you; when you are looking for me, I open the doors of salvation for you, you call me and I answer you immediately; but you do not feel me, you do not listen to me, nor do you see me, because you are not prepared.

37. In this Age I am preparing this people so that the one hundred and forty-four thousand who will carry my message to humanity will emerge from it.

38. Beloved people, wait with serenity for earthly vicissitudes and see in each trial a step that brings you closer to the mansions that, although unknown to you, are sensed and desired by your spirit.

39. It is I, the Lord, who speaks to you, do not be surprised that I communicate with you because I have done so since I formed the first man. Meditate a little, turn your thoughts back to the past, go through history and you will find me communicating with humanity at every step.

Love one another!

40. To the little ones who listen to me I say: Blessed are you who have come to Earth in the time of the Holy Spirit because your gifts will find a favorable field to manifest themselves; but listen to me, do not let yourselves be carried away by the bad examples of your elders; look that the blood of the Lamb made light has fallen on your spirit to show him the path where he must climb with obedience and love to reach Me. Welcome are you who come in search of your inheritance that you have been waiting for for a long time.

41. There is joy in the Spirit of the Father when you cease to be the needy; but I do not come to put a price on what I give you. I give you my charity without putting conditions on you, whereas you do put them on me to love me if I grant you what you ask of me. In this teaching you will learn to ask, to receive and to give. Also learn to wait for the hour when it is my will to give you what is most convenient to your spirit. No, do not despair, do not blaspheme, do not disbelieve; think that I love you, that I am just with you. To those who serve me in this Work I say: Do not seek payment or rewards; do charity and move on. Whatever you do in my name, you will see it done and in it you will have the best reward.

42. Listening to my word through the human channel, many are surprised and wonder: What grace do we mortals enjoy so that God himself deigns to speak to us? And the Master answers you: I do not find grace in you, but privilege, that of which you have the spirit. And if I speak to you through the understanding and the mouth of a man, it is because he has life, not so your idols through which you worshiped me. I did not communicate in this way in the past times because your spirit and your mind were not prepared or elevated enough to receive me. Today I have found you qualified to be able to manifest through you. It was no longer necessary for the Word to become man in order to speak to you. The Holy Spirit has reserved this gift for you.

43. I am over the times, over everything created; my divine Spirit is not subject to evolution, I am Eternal and Perfect, not so you who do have a beginning, who are subject to the laws of evolution and who also feel the passage of time on your being, Then do not say that the Father belongs to one era, Christ to another and the Holy Spirit to another because the Father is eternal and does not belong to any era, but the times belong to Him and Christ, as man, is God himself, as well as the Holy Spirit, who is none other than your own Father who has been preparing his most elevated expression before you, that is, already without the help of some material element.

44. If you see that I am communicating by the human understanding, take this form only as a preparation so that tomorrow you will communicate with perfection from spirit to

Love one another!

Spirit with your Father. I have called you to this communication, but I have not stopped manifesting my glory through it, nor have I stopped revealing perfect teachings to you.

45. You should not see several gods where there is only one that has had to show itself under various phases according to the spiritual advancement that humanity is reaching.

46. Jesus, at that time gave you, from the first to the last moment of his passage through this world, a perfect revelation; however, he declared to you: "I am not telling you everything because you would not understand." But then he said, "I will send you the Spirit of Truth, who will reveal everything to you." Thus I gave you to understand that those who could not understand my revelations at that time, the time would come when, through the development of their spirit and their elevation, they would understand them through my word of the Third Time.

47. Today you are in the Era when the Lord comes in Spirit to show you new teachings of His arcanum. This time is just beginning and you cannot conceive what it reserves for the spirit of humanity, the steps that men will take on this path, nor the new revelations that are reserved for you. The time of material miracles, as you understand them, has passed. Today your spirit will be overwhelmed with admiration and love before my new works and manifestations. Yesterday you only believed before the impossible made possible, before the material prodigy. Today you will believe, by the divine essence of my manifestations, in your spirit. Will you sigh for the miracles of the past times like the rock that gushed water when you touched it or the manna that saved the multitudes from perishing of hunger in the desert? Do you think of Christ giving sight to the blind, cleansing the lepers and making the paralyzed walk just by commanding it to be done? Do you think of the dead that he resurrected just by saying to them, "Get up"? Verily I tell you, all these miracles will return, but you will see them performed in another way and verily, How many of them am I doing among you!

48. From time to time, I descended more and more until I became a man to dwell among men. Now it is you who are beginning your ascension and you will be getting closer and closer to Me. Who will be those who, when the year 1950 arrives, will at least understand these teachings?

49. The ladder of Jacob is before you; it is the one that the patriarch saw in a dream, it is the path that your spirit will travel to reach the Lord. You know many new lessons, but let this not be a reason for you to mock those who in their ignorance seek me through idolatrous cults. Do you know if those, knowing less, love me more than you do? The scale of which I am speaking to you is the path by which everyone must inexorably reach Me.

Love one another!

50. People: the nations are at war, pray and do not judge them; do not be wishing for the victory of some and the destruction of others because they are all under a severe test.

51. My love and my grace are with you. This is the Third Time in which your spirit rises again in search of the light; despite the times that have passed and even in the midst of the chaos that reigns in your world you know how to get up to look for me, Who can prevent the development of the gifts that he carries in his spirit?

52. Let my word penetrate into your heart so that later it may reach all men. If you notice that my spokespersons have not reached perfection, understand that even the simplest lesson or maxim, which I teach you through them, contains divine essence, Encourage those hearts with your faith and with your trust and in truth I tell you that you will reap perfect fruits.

53. When this nation lives practicing my lesson of spirituality, you will see caravans of foreigners coming who will look at this soil as a land of promise and when they find themselves in its bosom and see how this people lives and how they raise their worship to God, they will recognize that in your heart there is the peace and the light of the Lord, but that the New Jerusalem is beyond this world. Take care that your works do not erase the path that can lead you to the desired goal that is my Kingdom. May it be love, goodwill, fraternity, with which you receive your brothers. Let there be no antipathy or rancor towards any brother of other races or peoples. Love and forgive and with this you will ignite in his heart the hope in my divine forgiveness.

54. Teach amendment, repentance, regeneration, patience in trials and atonement and thereby you will destroy the superstitious fear of hell that you have imagined, and instead, you will build a sanctuary to my Divinity and a more perfect concept of my divine justice.

55. If I was the one who taught you to "love one another" and to forgive anyone who offends you, I gave you proof of it with my works too, I speak to you of heavenly manifestations, but I do it figuratively so that you understand me better. I cannot reveal to you the whole spiritual life because your mind would not yet be able to conceive it. It is better that I am revealing to you step by step the path that leads to the summit and when you least think you will see yourself in my presence.

56. I have foretold to you times of trial and of sorrow; but do not be afraid, for if you enter into them with preparation, you will be amazed at the wonders that I have reserved for you for those days; then the unbelievers will believe.

Love one another!

57. All that I have revealed to you in these times is for you to make it known to humanity; this is your mission, which you will fulfill in order for you to continue advancing in the Hereafter.

58. Disciples, truly I tell you, if at this time I came to manifest myself among you, it was not because men had called me. I have visited you because this has been my will and with it I have fulfilled a promise. The elements testified to my new presence and some hearts felt it; it was not the bells that announced me. How much men will have to purify themselves so that they can perceive my presence!

59. If the world had persevered in my word, it would not be necessary for its eyes to weep in order to contemplate me!

60. I am going to show you the leaf of the Law again; it is the beginning and the end of the book that I am revealing to you so that at the time of my departure you may be prepared.

61. Today it is a short portion that surrounds me, but tomorrow the multitudes that surround me will be immense; among them will come the Pharisees, the hypocrites, looking for errors in my Doctrine to excite the mood of the mobs against my Work. They do not know that before they search my word, they will be searched.

62. You will only have to remain calm, calm and show the virtue of my teaching in your works; if you behave like this in trials, even the fiercest persecutors will confess that you have really heard me. I come to pour out knowledge in you because only with wisdom will you be close to the Father.

63. I give you my word with the same essence with which I spoke to you in the Second Time and I have come to remind you of many of my teachings that you had forgotten, or from which you have departed due to erroneous interpretations of your ancestors.

64. To such an extent you fulfilled my Doctrine poorly, that I can tell you that you had created a completely different path from mine but to which you gave the same name. No one but Me could bring you out of your mistake with words of life, love and truth.

65. Therefore, now that you are listening to me, analyze and understand my word and there will be light in you. This is the time when I come to tell you with all clarity that the reincarnation of the spirit exists, that it has been since the beginning of humanity as a light of justice and divine love, without which you could not advance on the long path of the perfecting of the spirit. It is I who has told you that you belong to the spiritual lineage of Abraham, that you belong to this humanity that at one time sinks, and then rises in another at the voice of one of my messengers, to fall again and rise again as in the present. You have reached the Sixth Seal, but you present me with a bundle of errors as the scum of humanity, but you rise above sins with the spiritual capacity to understand and feel me and with the mettle to follow me without hesitation to the end.

66. If you have faith, listen to the voice of your conscience and it will seem clearer to you; if you listen to this word, remember your past so that you judge your life, your love and your merits; it will tell you if you have consecrated yourself to the fulfillment of your mission or not. But do not be afraid, for there are no righteous people on earth before whom you could be ashamed; I am the only righteous one, and I have come to judge you with love.

67. I have called you scum because of your sins and because of your insignificance among this humanity; but I also know how to tell you that I will use this scum to after cleansing it, present it as an example.

68. Form a people where you give good fulfillment to the Law of God and human, where there is morality and elevation of spirit. Verily I say unto you, I behold that at this time man and woman have turned aside from their way.

69. I discover men who turn away from their responsibilities, women who flee motherhood and others who invade the fields destined for men, when since ancient times you were told that man is the head of woman. Not for this reason does the woman feel belittled because now I tell you that the woman is the heart of the man. That is why I have instituted and sanctified marriage, because in the union of these two spiritually equal but physically different beings, the perfect state is found.

70. Who doubts that I am speaking to the world, just because his sin makes him unworthy of Me? What merit would there be in Me, if only I went to where only the righteous existed, where there was no pain and ignorance? If the Father inspires the children to make merits so that they may achieve his grace through them, the Father also makes merits in front of his children in order to have the right to be loved. I still see you as children whom I have come to help to lift you out of the mud, take you to the fountain and wash you in it, and then dress you in the garb of virtue.

MY PEACE BE WITH YOU

Love one another!

Teaching 67

1. I bless all my children, those who are listening to my lecture and those who are absent from this manifestation, Come and hear the Spirit of Truth, because this word will be your spiritual staff. You present to me your heart burdened by the sorrows, the troubles, the ingratitude and disappointments that have accumulated in your life, take from this word as if it were a wine and its sweetness will attenuate your bitterness.
2. Some delight even at this time with the pleasures of the world; however, others did not know those false joys having found peace in their spirit when returning to the spiritual world, because if you think that those who enjoy material satisfactions and pleasures are those who are closest to Me, you are in error; truly I tell you that they still have many lessons to learn, but he who renounces everything that shines with false splendor, he is in communion with his Lord and is saturated with his divine strength.
3. Little children, let the Teacher show you a new lesson; prepare yourselves, so that He may give you new revelations. You know that the term of my manifestation will cover from 1866 to 1950 only, and it is necessary that I tell you everything that I have in store for you for this stage. You have a few years left to listen to me in this way; if you take advantage of them, you will finally have the great lessons that I have promised you.
4. Who has thought that after 1950 the farmers will rest from their work? Truly I tell you, then the struggle will begin. My disciples will have to become teachers so that the multitudes will seek them as they have sought Me. The seers will be perfected to become the great prophets before the people and you must all prepare to receive the inspiration of the Holy Spirit. You will continue to gather so that the crowds will seek you, attracted by the spirituality and elevation of your meetings, as well as by your works of love and charity.
5. Think about these events that await you and that will have to come because it is said in my word; then your conscience will tell you if you have meditated, if you have analyzed and understood my lessons and if you are preparing for that stage of struggle.
6. This people will give new patriarchs under whose leadership virtuous families will arise that will be an example for others. He will also give martyrs; these will be those who will have to endure during his fulfillment the attacks, persecutions and taunts of humanity, those who will have to suffer poverty and deprivation for serving their fellow men.

Love one another!

7. Everything is prepared for the final battle, after which only one Doctrine will be established, which will be this truth that I teach you and that I have been revealing to you from time to time, as the law of the spirit, full of wisdom, justice and love.

8. Your works and practices must be more and more pure and you will not fear being handed over to justice in the time of slander and persecution against you, if your fulfillment is according to what I have taught you.

9. So that the light of my Spirit shines in your understanding during your meetings you will learn to keep silence and a recollection as you have never had it and you will truly feel my presence and my wonders, my spiritual world will strengthen and enlighten you; but woe to those who exchange my truth for imposture!

10. Understand how great my Work is and how little value you have attached to it. If you have been very pleased to listen to me through the understanding of the speaker, truly I tell you that I have reserved for you an even more perfect way, the one in which you will receive me directly in your thought. My teaching will come to you clean, pure, divine, because it will not have passed through the lips of the mouthpiece.

11. Do not be confused if I tell you that I am again before judges, tribunals and doctors of the law; truly I tell you that in many of those who follow me today I have found a court and I have found myself before a judge. Tomorrow humanity will judge me in you; this is the reason why I ask you that your works be good, so that instead of denying this truth those who judge it, amend and convert to it.

12. How much I have had to talk to you in this time! Truly I tell you, if you knew how to take advantage of my word, a chair would be enough for you to sustain yourself with it, but just after a few moments of having listened to me, you no longer keep my peace nor have you manifested my charity among your brothers.

13. Rise to the life of grace by eating of the delicacy that I have brought you at this time. Don't you understand that you have to leave that imprint of your passage through the world? Today I want that footprint to lead the multitudes to my divine presence. Come along paths of light, of peace, of fraternity and soon you will find me. Do not be discouraged if you sometimes encounter a stumble or if your plant is injured by the thistles of the path. Verily I say to you, if your faith does not falter, you will not need crystal clear water to quench your thirst, because you will be sustained by my word.

14. If you feel strong and you see that your brothers are walking with difficulty next to you, do not feel superior, because you would fall into a serious lack of vanity and you would be like the worm that swells with the moisture of the earth. In my new people there will be no kings or lords. Every evil seed will be cut off from your heart so that you can be my prophets.

Love one another!

15. Do not be content with having been saved from the uncertain paths; go and seek the lost so that you may save them, be humble, give shelter to charity, become men of good will and thus you will be able to fulfill your mission.

16. There is no shortage of people telling me inside. "Sir, I am complying," to which I reply that he is just learning to comply. You are not yet firm enough on the path. I have to strengthen you often by my example and that of my apostles.

17. In the Second Time humanity gave me a wooden cross to which men sentenced me to martyrdom, but I carried another heavier and bloodier one on my Spirit: that of your imperfections and that of your ingratitude.

18. You would be able to come to my presence carrying a cross of love and sacrifice for your fellow human beings! See that's what I sent you to Earth for, therefore, your return will be when you show up with your mission accomplished. That cross will be the key that opens the doors of the promised kingdom for you.

19. If when you go with your cross along the path of life, which is your street of bitterness, the mobs hurt you and mock you, remember what you did with Jesus and see what He did with you: forgive you.

20. With what fear do some of my children listen to this word that pours from the lips of the human mouthpiece; it is because they know that it is inspired by the Holy Spirit, and among those present there are some who knew of the end of Sodom and Gomorrah and who later saw the destruction of Jerusalem.

21. When you hear these revelations, you think that you have lived a long time on Earth and that despite this, the fulfillment that you make present to me is short. In the past times I gave you temporal goods in abundance, so that in that wealth you would see a symbol of spiritual wealth. Today you look at your empty material saddlebag, because you no longer need those flows, the time of material wealth has passed for you.

22. Christ came to you and his body at birth was not wrapped in linen or silks, a single robe covered his body. However, in his word he brought a treasure and represented a kingdom more powerful than all those on Earth. You have been slow to understand because you have loved the goods of this world very much and have not loved the purity of the spirit; but today you find yourselves in a new time and before a new opportunity for your spirit to rise up overcoming human weaknesses and let all the spiritual riches with which it has been endowed spring forth.

Love one another!

23. You are great for your evolution and yet you feel clumsy to take the first steps in this new time; therefore I have come to manifest through your understanding, to teach you to walk the path of your spiritual evolution.

24. See the men, the women and the children, gather around the religions and the sects, and being the light of my Spirit poured out on all flesh and on all spirit, they find themselves sleeping to the reality of this time.

25. So that you may not feel contempt for the poor or disgust at the diseases that you call repulsive, how many trials will you have to go through, who can know if that leper who has held out his hand to you and from whom you have turned away in horror was in another incarnation your father or your son?

26. You beget children of your flesh, but I am the one who distributes the spirits in the families, in the peoples, in the nations, in the worlds, and in that impenetrable justice for men, my love is manifested.

27. People, take advantage of this time that I have granted you; it is precious and decisive for your spirit. My vibrant and sonorous voice has awakened you from your lethargy. For Me, none has brought guilt, I have loved everyone equally. Begin by loving one another, so that humanity may become reconciled in my Law, fulfilling the divine precept that tells you: "Love one another".

28. How is it possible that peoples who call themselves Christians destroy themselves with war and even pray before going to kill their brothers asking me to give them victory over their enemies? Can my seed exist where instead of love there is hatred and instead of forgiveness there is revenge?

29. It is necessary that my prophets rise up again to warn men, because while there are peoples who are being destroyed blinded by ambition and violence, those who have received my light and serenely judge humanity, fear to rise up to give the good news. If this humanity knew how to pray with the spirit, it would hear my voice, it would receive my inspiration, but every time it prays it puts a veil in its eyes that hides the light of my presence from it. I have to come to men at the moments when their bodies are resting to awaken their spirit, call him and converse with him. It is Christ who, like a thief in the middle of the night, penetrates your heart to sow my seed of love in it.

30. Listen disciples and understand: do not do with your indifference that at the end of the time of this communication, the Master says that he spoke alone in the desert; but if you do not take advantage of this time you will have to cry your ingratitude, despair will often surprise you and illness will bring you down when you had at your fingertips a source of health that you did not want to take advantage of. Only my charity can save you; to deserve it I have taught you to share your bread with the hungry.

Love one another!

31. Understand the divine charity that reaches out to your heart so that you can look at everyone as your brothers and sisters.

32. I do not separate you from any of your human duties, but I do tell you to take care also of the teachings of the Father so that your spirit may be perfected by doing works pleasing to Me.

33. Today my divine ray descends to your world and it is in the whole Universe, it vibrates in every creature; while in some it is intuition, in others it is inspiration and in others human word, as it happens among you.

34. These walls and this roof perform only the mission of protecting you from the elements and protecting you from the indiscreet or disrespectful gaze of your brothers; these men and these women for whom I give you my word, have nothing divine, they are as human as you and the seat where they rest is not my throne, nor is it my tribunal; that bench only serves to support the speaker during his ecstasy.

35. I come to build a kingdom of love within your heart; but so that the foundations of that kingdom may be indestructible and eternal, I have come to reveal to you the teachings of the spirit, without whose knowledge you would only create confused religions.

36. Until the year 1950 you will have this word; then I will leave you this planet for your fulfillment and not only the Earth, but also the spiritual space.

37. At the moment of your recollection and prayer, I have come to you to give you my caress and to make you feel my presence, to make you see that communication from Spirit to spirit is true. Thus you have learned to wait for my arrival every time I manifest myself to address you my word.

38. Your heart is at peace and you keep gratitude in the spirit because you remember that when I called you, your conscience claimed you: "You are unworthy". Then you heard my voice saying to you: "I love you, come to Me, you are my chosen ones, I forgive you", then faith and love for the Master arose in your heart.

39. In your spirit I have deposited this inheritance; on these foundations I am resting my Work which should not have weak foundations. This light will not be extinguished, because I first lit it in your heart; this Doctrine will not be lost, because I purified you first.

Love one another!

40. Do not think that it is you who support my Work on earth, it is she who supports you.
41. Do you know why I chose to put simple and rude hearts in front of the first portions? For no matter how many imperfections they would mix to my Work, despite this, its essence would not be lost and my justice would arrive at the right moment to reap the harvest, to separate the wheat from every weed; but do not forget that I have told you that the first will be the last and the last first, because from generation to generation disciples will arise whose evolution, spirituality and understanding, allows them to take great steps forward on the spiritual path.
42. You have sworn to follow me on this path and I tell you that it was not necessary for you to swear. For who is he who, coming from the path of pain, pretends to return to it?
43. I draw you the path of true life where there is peace; you create random paths, which you mark with tears and with blood.
44. I give you my lessons in a language that even the most clumsy can understand, because I do not come to speak to you in unfamiliar terms, nor with scientific words; I use humble words because I am the Word of love that speaks to every spirit and to every heart. I want that by ceasing to speak in this way you have taken advantage of the essence of this wisdom, so that tomorrow you can deliver it to humanity with the truth and the purity that it contains.
45. The roads are being prepared for humanity to rise from the different points of the Earth in search of the luminous beacon of this Doctrine, which will soon be the ideal of every spirit, your whole being is preparing to bear witness to my word: spirit, heart and lips so that you may be like a clean source where these crystalline waters overflow their fragrance among men.
46. Fulfill your destiny; do not want to return to Me without having first traveled the path that I pointed out to you, because you would have the pain of contemplating stains in your spirit that he did not manage to wash away, because he did not come to the end of his restitution. Reincarnations have passed over you and many of you have not appreciated the infinite grace and love that the Father has granted you with them. See that the greater the number of opportunities, the greater your responsibility will be and if these opportunities are not taken advantage of, restitution and justice will increase in each one; that is the burden whose unbearable weight many beings are not explained and only my Doctrine can reveal to you.
47. My teaching comes to make you masters of this passing kingdom so that it is not this one who takes over you; is it not my desire that when you come in spirit to my presence

Love one another!

you should say to me: Father, why have you called me when I still wanted to live on earth? How seldom do you show yourselves conformable to my will!

48. Today I say to those whom I have called preschoolers and disciples in this time that no one will come to Me without first having traveled the path indicated to his spirit for his complete evolution. This is a time of restitution and justice; only I know the judgment of each one; every past fault is repaired today; suffice it to tell you that he who yesterday put his fellow men to death has now had to come to raise the dead.

49. Blessed childhood, I know your prayer and I understand your language; they do not take you into account because they judge you small and weak suffering the spirit that is hidden in you.

50. Old age, you have bowed under the weight of time and struggles, your lips are silent, your heart is sad; you have learned a lot in life, you cannot aspire to the glories of the world, because your youth was left behind and you only put your hope in the life that beyond death awaits your spirit. You feel useless because your brothers believe that you are useless, because you do not help materially, but you know that a light burns in your heart and there is a book. I, your Master, understand you; I know your heart and I say to you: Converse with me, see how my love envelops you. Wait quietly for the hour of the call, do not worry, there true life awaits you, eternal youth.

51. Maidens, only I understand you; your heart has opened to life like the corolla of flowers; you dream of love, of tenderness, of happiness and I tell you: Do not dream anymore, wake up that you have a lot to prepare for you to fulfill the sublime mission that awaits you and a lot you have to strengthen yourself to hurry your cup of bitterness but if your heart loves, in that love you will find the staff and the consolation for your journey.

52. In this time of restoration, my justice will leave a deep imprint on men. Humanity will have to give an account of all its works, Whoever on this Earth has his eyes open to the truth must watch and pray for everyone, because if in the midst of confusion men do not rise up in prayer, chaos will be in the world. These moments are also waking moments. You, people, to whom spiritual prayer has been entrusted so that he may do merits for peace, turn away from the superfluous and the bad and prepare your spirit more and more.

53. It is necessary that an army of soldiers of peace be prepared on earth, which will fight against hatred and sin until they are exterminated. That army is the one I have come to gather and prepare, which will be made up of visible and invisible beings; my apostle John had the gift of seeing it in his revelation.

Love one another!

54. Soon my legions will be ready and will invade the fields of death and desolation; their arrival will be like a whirlwind that will touch the hearts of men. There will be a storm inside each of them and only one lighthouse will give light in the darkness of those days, and that lighthouse will be Me. All the children of this people who do not rise up to fulfill the mission that I entrusted to them when I sent them to Earth, will be raised up to the spiritual valley so that they leave the place to those who have to fight. Later, those who are lifted up will begin to work in spirit, but their effort will have to be greater.

55. Those who obediently fulfill their mission here will fear nothing, because the light of the divine beacon will illuminate their paths in the midst of the storm; there will be nothing that can make them capsize or sink them into the abyss.

56. Blessed are those who know how to use this time as restitution, because they will come out of this battle unscathed; but for those who still love the treasures of the earth and aspire to the first places and the glory of the world, those will have to endure their restitution with the greatest pain of their spirit.

57. What can those who have only loved the world be able to offer the Father? What will they be able to answer when they come in spirit to the one who has loved them so much and who has offered them so many opportunities for their salvation?

58. You all should have been prepared for this time. Remember that my messengers have given you even to life to proclaim to you my righteousness. You have paid little attention to those voices, only because you thought them very far from the truth; but behold, those voices of messengers and prophets arise and vibrate with greater intensity at this time. Verily I tell you, when those messages are listened to with attention and studied with faith by men, I will send my new prophets to announce to them what is coming after this time, and by the previous prophets, those who are about to arrive will be believed.

59. Blessed is he who, having peace in his life, takes advantage of it to do works of charity for his brothers, Blessed is he who, carrying a pain in his heart, forgets himself to console his fellow man. That one is imitating Jesus when he was walking burdened under the weight of the cross and still consoling, healing and forgiving the multitudes.

60. Elijah, the prophet, the forerunner, the messenger of the Third Time, intercedes for his flock, prays for those who do not know how to pray and hides with his cloak the stain of the sinner in anticipation of his regeneration. Elijah prepares his multitudes, his armies, to fight the darkness formed by the ignorance, sin, fanaticism and materialism of humanity.

61. By the one last one who is among you every time I give you my word, there is a feast in my Kingdom, a feast in which you all participate. If you knew how much joy there is in the Teacher whenever someone comes for the first time to listen to my lessons, it does not matter that in his heart there is doubt, hardness and even mockery. My word knows how to overcome all human weaknesses. Today a heart asks me: If you are Christ, why are you in this poverty? And the Master has to tell him: When have I come to crown myself King in your world? When did I dwell in palaces on earth? Once I dwelt among humanity so that you could know me as a man, and I manifested to you my perfect humility and meekness, I am a King, but men did not carve my crown, which is of wisdom; my crown is that light that shines in the divine mind of the Creator and the rays that it sends out are directed to your understanding, not so that you may believe yourselves kings, but so that, having knowledge of the greatness that God has placed in your spirit, you may know how to be humble with the true humility that I taught you through Jesus when I told you: "I am the Way, the Truth and the Life ".

Love one another!

MY PEACE BE WITH YOU!

1. I come to teach Elijah's flock. My word is to this people what manna was to the people of Israel in the wilderness. Your spirit at this time searched futilely for the truth in the ways until you came to listen to the voice of your Lord. I am the Wayfarer, the Stranger who has knocked at the doors of hearts. Men, instead of feeling my presence, have remained devoted to their worries, their ambitions or their sufferings. You, who have felt my presence and listened to my voice, have received strength to go through the vicissitudes and the light to understand that there is no paradise in the possessions of the world; that the Promised Land is not found here, that now the world is a sad valley of tears, a land of exile and atonement. It will be in the spiritual valley where you will find true peace and happiness, where I will celebrate with you the festivities of your arrival. Everyone who aspires to true peace will have to seek it in my truth, in my way. In vain men go after a crown or a throne believing that by reaching it they have achieved peace, I tell you that the time of kings has come to an end. My righteousness has come among men.

2. I, your king, have taught you that on earth there is no crown but that of thorns, and no throne but the cross. And all that you did for Jesus, I suffered for your sake. Today that I have returned and I meet you again in the world, I do not come to claim that blood from you, I come full of love and forgiveness for you to manifest myself among the humble, among these simple children who did not conceive of my arrival in this form.

3. I have rescued you from the perversity of your life, to cleanse your stains, appoint you disciples, entrust you with a precious seed and call you my husbandmen, I have charged you to take care of that seed jealously, because whoever loses it, will find himself more needy than before.

4. People, this is the time when you must penetrate the path of my Law, so that the case of the past times will not be repeated in which the weaknesses and falls of the people of Israel were obstacles that prevented the other peoples from worshiping the true God.

5. The light of the Holy Spirit is in your brain so that you can analyze what I am manifesting to you and know how to answer satisfactorily to your brothers, Do not think that I am going to leave you delivered to your own strength, only with what your memory has kept of what I taught you. What can you deliver to men without my intervention? What proofs can you give without my help? But if you have faith in my power and in my help and are prepared, you will be able to heal the sick, convince unbelievers and raise the dead; some you will seek and some you will receive, and the good news will be given to men that I have communicated Myself by human understanding.

Love one another!

6. Until the last day of the year 1950, when I will withdraw my word, I will continue to deliver to men my message of peace and love, My manifestation and my word of this time will move humanity, will shake the religions at their very foundations and even science itself, intrigued, will stop to search.

7. Here is the truth that you were feeling at this time, but you did not think you would find it manifesting itself with this humility and even less under this form, But here it is, judge it!

8. I have come to speak to you in a human language, sometimes figuratively and in parables, sometimes quite clearly. I will reveal great truths to you even through different spokespersons because one alone would not be enough to transmit the message of my Divinity.

9. You come from distant lands, with your storehouse empty and instead you bring a heart full of sorrows; but when you have listened to this heavenly voice and I have welcomed you, you have seen how your path is illuminated and peace, true peace, penetrates into your heart.

10. Thus, hearing my word through the human understanding, you have come to understand that this is the Third Time; that my communication in this form will be brief and that therefore, you must take advantage of this lesson.

11. You consult with your conscience and she replies that you were on the wrong paths; then you feel infinite joy when you realize that it was a real miracle to have found the path that you had looked so distant. And for faith there are no barriers, for repentance a sob is enough, for prayer, an instant of elevation and for regeneration, you always find an opportunity to restore.

12. When you entered as the last ones into the bosom of these your brothers, you felt unworthy to be with them, you looked at them as superior beings; later your perseverance, your faith and love, made you sit among the disciples. Already in that place, some have known how to keep themselves in humility; on the other hand, others, due to their lack of understanding of my Doctrine, were filled with vanity, felt themselves masters and even came to look at little ones whom they had admired and envied before. These I have had to touch and correct; but just as I tell you to imitate only those who give you good examples, see how I also use the disobedient and the ungrateful to give you lessons of great wisdom.

Love one another!

13. Some, at the first touch of my righteousness, know how to return to the path of obedience; but there are also those who, in their arrogance, profane my commands and mock the Law. My word then becomes extensive and clear so that man understands that it is humility and obedience to my commands that brings you closer to Me.

14. Disciples: contemplate the light that comes to you; it is the reflection of the lights of the New Jerusalem that sends its message to you from infinity.

15. This nation in which my word has been manifested is not the new Jerusalem that John saw with the eyes of the spirit when he prophesied thus: "And I, John, saw the Holy city, the new Jerusalem coming down from heaven as a bride clothed for the bridegroom"; however, this nation will be a symbol of that spiritual city. Its inhabitants will be prepared; peace and welcome will flow from their hearts for everyone who knocks at their doors; from his spirit will spring the light that resolves the conflicts that have engulfed humanity and from his worship will come the example of spirituality and elevation for other peoples.

16. Today you still doubt that this nation can fulfill such a destiny and that doubt arises in your heart, when you see that even listening to the Divine Master and calling yourselves his disciples, you find yourselves materialized, linked to the delights of the world.

17. Understand that I did not want to hurry you along the path of my teachings, but that I also told you not to park. Are you afraid of the judgments of mankind? Are you afraid of the torments that you may suffer because of me? Verily I say to you, the crown of thorns will not be girded to your temples, nor will you carry a heavy cross under the whip and blows of a bloodthirsty crowd.

18. Love your brothers and sisters, sow my charity everywhere, but never be bitter because humanity pays poorly for the service you do to it, remember the examples of Jesus.

19. The path that I traced out to you yesterday with my blood, I have come to mark today with my light; but do not imprint any stain on it, nor leave traces of imperfection or impurity because tomorrow men will say that whoever spoke at this time was an impostor.

20. Do not defy my divine justice with disobedience or transgressions of my Law; neither do you bring down the justice of the earth on you because of impure practices.

21. I want your spirit to manifest and overflow at this time without its matter being a barrier that stops it or a veil that hides it and that every word that sprouts from its lips is of life.

Love one another!

22. Beloved people, for you the Second Time belongs to the past. For Me it is present. Today Judea is not the place of my manifestations; Jerusalem is not the city that receives its Savior with psalms and olive branches. It is another place in the world where I am presenting myself today, but it is the same people, the same spirits. Now the city is your heart and your psalms and olive trees are of inner joy.

23. Now Peter, Andrew, John, James, Bartholomew, Philip and the other disciples do not surround me; they fulfilled their mission and bequeathed their example to you; today they are crowds of disciples whom I am preparing. You are feeling your spiritual gifts. In some the gift of prophecy is manifested through clairvoyance and dreams, in others the gift of the word and in others more the gift of inspiration, spiritual communication and healing; but in all of you there are the same gifts that you can develop with your works of love for your brothers.

24. You have all seen or felt the transfiguration within my communication, when the spokesman through whom I give you the word disappears from your sight and Christ appears in spirit, full of love for you.

25. Disciples, we are already approaching the gates of the city; look at them, it is the heart of humanity. Will she be ready to receive the Master and his disciples?

26. Watch and pray, because as long as some receive me with hymns, the Pharisees will be lurking and there will be those who will also offer you the coins in exchange for your silence. Take care that you do not fall into temptation, because from that trial the bad disciples will arise who will betray their faith.

27. I bring you peace and a new teaching. If my sacrifice of the Second Time abolished the sacrifice of innocent victims that you sacrificed on the altar of Jehovah, today the support of my divine word has caused you to cease representing my body and my blood with the bread and wine of this world. Every spirit that wants to live will have to feed on the Divine Spirit. Whoever hears my word and feels it in his heart has been fed in truth; he has not only eaten my body and drunk my blood but has also taken of my Spirit to feed himself. Who, after having tasted this heavenly food, will return to look for me in bodies and forms made by human hands: From time to time I have been erasing traditions, rites and forms and I only leave in your spirit the Law and the essence of my teachings.

28. This is a time of remembrance, meditation and analysis; let me penetrate among you. I come from the cities and the battlefields and I have shared with my children the bread of their bitterness, I have shed light on all roads, I have done wonders and I have given proofs of my presence among men and it is necessary that you receive me so that you listen to the last of my words.

29. Let me find the room prepared in your hearts, let there be my table and on it the bread. I want to feel you lulled by my love as I did with sweet John. O multitudes, know how to prepare yourselves and enter into true vigil so that you do not profane the divine and do let it manifest; see that you receive my divine ray in your understanding still full of sin and passions. If in the Second Time you made me carry a cross under the scourge and ridicule, today let me dwell in your heart.

30. I ask you for preparation, which means regeneration and spirituality, so that when the year 1950 arrives the multitudes will be very large. Because among the crowds my gaze discovers those who are of the 144,000 and that I have to point out on their forehead and make them recognize their mission. But do not be afraid if on the last day the 12,000 of each tribe have not been marked, from infinity I will make them feel my caress and I will point out the mission entrusted to them. It doesn't matter where they are. I tell you this because only I can point out the fate and the charges of each creature and there will be no one who can do it after my departure.

31. I will make you aware after 1950 who are those who, without having listened to my word, will be part of that number; they will also know how to give proof. After my word has ceased, there will be those who will try to imitate you in order to surprise the good faith of men; but you will be prepared so that you will discover all falsehood.

31. You will keep my farewell in the form in which I give it to you in your heart; but you will spread this testimony to other nations and you will tell humanity that I am in spirit very close to all my children.

33. Today I tell you: behold the Master, the one whom the crowds called "The Rabbi of Galilee." I come to give you the usual Doctrine, the teaching of love; the banquet to which I invite you today is spiritual, the bread and the wine, too; but today as yesterday and as always, I am the Way, the Truth and the Life.

34. I come to give you my strength because this Third Time is one of trials. My warmth has descended to your heart that was cold as the slab that covers the dead, and you already feel that it beats with love for your Father. You have seen how from among the great multitudes I have been picking out those who have to wear the divine mark on their foreheads, and that my word tells them that this grace with which I have invested them is not so that they rise above others, humiliating them, but that they must carry it with the humility of one who is ready to serve his fellow men because he recognizes that this lesson is for everyone.

Love one another!

35. A stage of grace is at your doors; this people must enter it with their inspired mind and with full knowledge of what they say and see; you should not be surprised by this time wrapped in routine and less busy with the superfluous.

36. This stage in which I have come to give testimonies of my presence under this manifestation, pouring wonders on the path of each of you, will be the memory that strengthens you tomorrow in the struggle so that you can walk with submission, spirituality and love. My Law will shine through your consciousness and illuminate your path as the face of Moses shone when he descended from Sinai in search of the people who were in the skirt.

37. The twelve tribes will gather again around my Law. The twelve thousand appointed from each tribe will be in front, and when this is done, I will tell them: Go along the roads like the good disciple of Christ to give the good news of my presence.

38. All the prophecies will be fulfilled and humanity will see a humble people emerge from its darkest and most ignored corners, poor in material goods, but strong in spirit, jealous of my Law and merciful to their brothers. His sanctuary will be interior, invisible and intangible, therefore impossible to be destroyed; there will burn an inextinguishable lamp that will illuminate the path. His journeys and trials will be painful and hard, but he will never falter because of it, nor will he weep for discontent or affliction, nor will he turn his back on me, because he will have the strength of the apostle. Men will rise from the dross, from the mire and from sin to the Law and virtue, and will walk in the ways of love and grace. Everywhere my Spirit will be felt, every eye will see me, every ear will hear me, and every understanding will understand my revelations and inspirations. Men who are considered clumsy and rude will suddenly be enlightened and become my prophets; words will flow from their lips that will be like crystal clear water on withered hearts.

39. That water the prophets will take from the source of wisdom and truth that is Me; in it they will find health, purity and eternal life.

40. All the pain that is currently bearing down on humanity is the cup of bitterness by which they will achieve purification. Widows and orphans are multiplying day by day and Mary's mantle has been spread over their desolation and their lamentations. My justice has descended upon your world and with it even the face of the planet will be transformed. Nature demands from man his profanations, therefore the elements have been unleashed. The men of science who claim to believe in Me are surprised and confused, and when they have seen my righteousness coming, they have exclaimed:

Love one another!

Father, Father!; but his cry was not of love or repentance, but of fear for his life and for what he has in the world. I tell you again that not everyone who tells me Father loves me.

41. If, when humanity saw all the signs of judgment, the rich would hasten to share with the poor what they have, those who have offended would ask forgiveness, those who have been stained by theft, vice or lies would repent and prepare to clean up their stains, verily I tell you, the waters would return meekly to their channels, the hurricane winds would become a gentle breeze and war, which has possessed men, would become an angel of peace; but your heart is hard, you see the naked man pass by you without feeling his cold, and you do not sense the hunger or pain of your brothers, even when they are within reach of your help.

42. No one wants to meditate that you are only pilgrims in this world, nor do you want to do something that can be useful to you on your journey to eternity.

43. Here you have me, spiritually present, real and true inside and outside of you, so that you may listen to the voice of the Word and get up to take the sandals, the saddlebag and the staff, and continue along the path of my teachings to the presence of the one who is your only God.

44. O people of Israel, you are in my presence. You come as innocent children, without recognizing that you bring in the spirit a pile of debts that you must pay off. You have been sent once again at this time so that you may have the opportunity to repair your past faults, and be able to rise up to that plane on which I want to contemplate you.

45. You come to hear my word on this day and with insecurity in your hearts you bend before Me and ask me if I have returned among you and I say to you: Meditate and you will see that I have manifested my love to you and I have made you feel my presence. I have chosen you from among great multitudes of beings so that you may receive this inheritance and then pass it on to your brothers.

46. You present to me your struggle, your work and your efforts, and I receive them because they are pleasing to me. I contemplate you tired, with your bleeding plant but with the experience that gives life. Some of you imitate me and carry out your mission with patience and elevation. Think of those who will come after you and prepare their way for them; your example will be the best inheritance. While you live humbly and work obeying my commands, you feel my peace; but when you allow your ears to be closed to my warnings, you are leading the wrong way and do not consider that humanity is watching over your actions and judging you every moment. How could you speak of my power and my wisdom if you attributed my words to be exalted? Feel the real greatness that I have granted to each of my children and that is greater than that which you pretend to have. When I grant you a miracle, rejoice and think that in him I have manifested my love to you.

Love one another!

47. Study me: Parable

48. There was an old man in a district surrounded by men, women and children, whom he had invited to share a feast. They all came from different paths obeying the call of that old man. A sonorous bell rang overhead and at its voice they had come in caravans full of submission to the place where the one who called them lived.

49. When those crowds entered the room, they did not see the bread, the delicacies and the water that feed the body on the table, and distrust in some and mockery in others began to invade the hearts. They bowed their necks apparently humble, but deep down they made judgment against the old man; but he, who knew what was happening inside them, said to them: "Come to Me and listen: You have found yourselves lost like shipwrecked on the path of life, without a beacon to save you; you have died to love and joy and you do not know the end for which you have come into this world. You have also allowed yourselves to be overcome by the vicissitudes of life, by the world and its passions, and that is why I have called you. I am going to draw you the path that will make you happy and give you the light. Ask me and I will give you." They, fearful, feeling that the old man read in his heart and knew his thought, showed him their sick body, their tiredness and their thirst for spirituality.

50. "Blessed are you," the old man said to them. "I am going to grant you the goods you need, I am going to satisfy your hunger and thirst."

51. Among these multitudes were the hypocrites as well as the pure-hearted men, and they all listened to the lesson. He opened the book of his perfect teaching and gave them his word for food and when he had finished he asked them, Have you calmed your hunger? Are you satisfied? They gave thanks for the miracle they had received, because they never imagined that love was so powerful. The old man continued to say to them, "Blessed are you because you have known how to receive me." This is the bread that sustains the spirit and the water that quenches the thirst for love and perfection.

52. Then he gave laws and commands to that people so that they could be governed by them and keep themselves worthy to always receive that delicacy. Those who understood this message promised to obey and always live in the exercise of the virtues that that old man taught. He told them that when they felt strong they would take their teaching to other regions, that the first ones would take this position while the others would stay to receive the new walkers.

Love one another!

53. Those appointed to fulfill this mission left carrying the old man's fortress. They watched, prayed and began their work. They were all united by the same ideal, a single thought dominated them; to bring that bread to the hungry. They encountered stumbles in their path and their spirit struggled to overcome them; soon they began to weaken and judge the old man wondering if his protection would follow them everywhere. They knew that from time to time they had to return to that house where the old man had gathered them. The time came when that people celebrated the commemoration of the day on which they had first heard the voice of the old man, and great crowds came; but those disciples who had left did not return, they had erred in the way and adulterated the Law. The old man felt pain at the absence of those disciples, prepared new messengers and sent them to work. While the former prevaricated and forgot the essence of that doctrine, the latter spoke in the name of the virtue that that old man taught and converted hearts with the truth of his words."

54. Analyze my parable and do not forget that you must watch zealously if you want to fulfill my commands. Gather the sick, the thirsty and the hungry and give them the bread of the Spirit. Pour love into hearts and do not forget that you are messengers in my Work of light and restoration. Give no place to pride or vanity so that you will not be disinherited. Do not stray from the fulfillment of my Law; love one another and you will live in peace.

MY PEACE BE WITH YOU!

Love one another!

Love one another!

Teaching 69

1. At this moment I forgive you of all guilt and I also say to you, go as far as the sacrifice if you want, but do not sin again. I have written a book in your heart; but if I asked you for the lesson, you would not be able to explain to me a single one of its pages.
2. I have subjected you to small trials so that you may practice charity by putting those in need of bread and consolation on your way, and how many times have you closed your door to me! I have told you many times that I hide in the hearts of those brothers of yours who implore your charity. Disciples, those occasions that your Lord gives you, to impart spiritual or material charity, serve to practice perfect charity, that which does not expect reward and that instead, is recorded in the book of your good works. Have I not shown you my charity by what I have done to you? Then go after your brothers. Remember how many times I have granted you what you considered impossible. If you want the world to recognize that this is the time of my new manifestation, prove it with your works of love and do not do the opposite of what I have taught you in my lessons, because you will be denying my presence.
3. If, in spite of your struggle, you do not come to contemplate the fruit of your sowing, do not be afraid; this charity is similar to that which you do with the needy who knocks at the door of your home and from whom you do not expect payment; but I will grant to your spirit that from the ladder in which it is, it descends to rejoice with the fruition of the seed that it left on Earth.
4. Parents: Be sensitive to the manifestations of spiritual advancement of your children; observe with love and charity the childhood entrusted to you so that you may guide the new generations along the path traced by my light. Do not lead them into the abyss, nor dig precipices for them. These spirits should not penetrate the Sodom and Gomorrah of this time.
5. Put on patience, for the time will come when many will ask you about this word. The new Pharisees and scribes will come among them to search you. Do not be prejudiced to answer and give a sincere answer to everyone, because even from the answers and treatment that you give to your searchers, you will have to answer me.
6. Today your heart beats full of joy and the prayer that you raise is like the smoke of incense or the perfume of flowers. When your thoughts reach that purity, they are united with those of the righteous spirits who dwell near your Lord.
7. Through the ages I have said to you: pray. Today I tell you that through prayer you can attain wisdom. If all men would pray, they would never lose the path of light traced by

Love one another!

Me. By prayer, the sick would be healed, there would be no more unbelievers and peace would return to the spirits.

8. How can man be happy if he has rejected my grace? Do you think that love, charity and meekness are not attributes of the human heart?

9. The spiritual life is also governed by laws and when you move away from them very soon you feel the painful result of that disobedience. Look how great is my longing to save you; today, as at that time, I will carry the cross to raise you to true life. If my blood shed on Calvary touched the heart of humanity and converted it to my Doctrine, in this time it will be my divine light that shakes the spirit and matter to make you return to the true path.

10. I want those who have died to the life of grace to live eternally; I do not want your spirit to dwell in darkness.

11. Do you not hear the voices of justice? Don't you look at the elements touching shire after shire? Do you think that if you lived a virtuous life, there would be a need for my righteousness to make itself felt in such a way: Truly, I tell you, it would have no purpose to purify you if I had found you clean.

12. Bend your matter throughout this day, for it is not right that your spirit should later have to break out in pain because of your weaknesses.

13. Sinners weep when they hear these words and ask me what they should do to wash away their stains in this life, to which I reply: Do works of charity among your brothers; your world is a favorable field for sowing charity, it is populated by millions of hearts that suffer in different ways, of homes in misery, of men and women lost in vice; a world where places of atonement abound, hospitals, prisons, war camps. Forgive, forgive a lot in your life, understand that forgiveness is born of love. He who truly loves me will have to love his fellow man because he is my son and he will know how to forgive him when he was offended by him. Remember that when I was on the cross, my first words were of intercession and forgiveness for those who sacrificed me.

14. In every place and in every family I will put a child of light so that they may prepare the way of others and not only on Earth, but in the spiritual life so that they may cleanse and prepare the way before their brothers.

15. Many come to hear my word, but only I know which spirit is hidden in each body. Some listen to me coldly, others with doubt; but there are many who tremble with love and joy when they feel my divine essence, while others are tormented by regrets that their matter ignores, because many of them shouted at that time to Pilate: Crucify him! Crucify him! and today they are sobbing, and in their pain they would be able to cry out with tears in their eyes: Do not crucify him, he is the Divine Master!

Love one another!

16. I have told you a lot that you and those are the same. Come and taste the wine again and eat the bread from my table, eat of the Lamb. He is the germ of life. Come, ye hungry, ye thirsty, ye tarnished; strengthen yourselves and be filled, for I will say to you afterward, take up your cross and follow me. At my table at this time, the man and the woman will be the same as an apostle; at this table I will seat your spirit.

17. It has been the women who have raised the spiritualist banner in front of the crowds at this time; they have been leaving on the way the footprint of the zealous apostle of the Law of the Lord. In my new apostolate, the woman will be next to the man and there will be no ages to serve me; the adult will do the same as the child or the elderly; the maiden will do the same as the mother, because I tell you again that it is your spirit that I am looking for and that he has long left his childhood. These servants will not be twelve as in the Second Time; now it will be one hundred and forty-four thousand, twelve thousand from each tribe. They are scattered among humanity, but my love has marked them, and spiritually they are united even when some live in this world and others in the spiritual valley. Of those who inhabit the earth, some speak one language and others different languages, but none will be lost from the path of their destiny because the light of my Holy Spirit guides them. I know the trunk of that tree, its branches and its leaves, and that tree has the mission of giving shade to humanity.

18. My Spirit comes to give you His revelations in fulfillment of the prophecies of times past. Truly, I tell you, you are already living in the times that were announced to you. I promised to come back and here I am. I made known to you the signs that were to be before my arrival and what was to be in the time of my presence among you and see that everything has been fulfilled. The promise of my coming was not erased from your spirit and you were waiting for me; but you were about to faint, scourged by vicissitudes, and today that you have me and are listening, I ask you: When will you make my passion yours? When will you truly love and suffer for the cause that Jesus embraced?

19. People: My word shakes your heart and tears come out of your eyes when you think that the One who loved you so much, ended his life on a cross; you remember me bloodied on the tree and then your spirit is moved. But know, humanity, that if the bodily sufferings of Jesus were bloody, they were only a reflection of the pain of the Divine Spirit.

20. Today I come to offer you the bread of my word, bread that is not kneaded with yeast, nor is it earned with the sweat of the brow. Elijah has opened the door of the room for you to pass through and sit at the table of the Lord in the Third Season and has blessed your path so that you may come to the presence of the Master.

Love one another!

21. Those who considered themselves stained and unworthy to appear before Me, today feel clean; it is that my blood has not stopped flowing, it is that my wounds have not yet closed and every time men get lost from the way or fall into sin, the sacrifice of the cross, loneliness and the darkness of humanity are present on my Spirit.

22. The evil disciple will also get up from the spiritual table of this time to go and hide his betrayal and his remorse and also today the disciples will ask me that question: Who is he, Master?

23. At that time I dined for the last time accompanied only by my apostles and what Christ told them only they heard it. Today I have a spiritual dinner with my new apostles who form multitudes and among them I discover the Pharisee, the hypocrite, the traitor. From different religions, men and women come mixed among the crowd to search this word and these manifestations, to judge them through what they know and to be able to say if it is true. I let you all come closer so that you may be witnesses of this message of spiritual wisdom that I am delivering to you; it is the Third Testament which only the Spirit of Truth could reveal to you.

24. Behold, the Israelites keep the law of Moses and the word of the prophets because of the matter; the Christians united the law of Moses and the word of Christ into one law. What is strange about this spiritualist people joining those two testaments to the revelations of the Holy Spirit? Here is the Ark of the perfect Covenant, there are the law of Moses, the love of Christ and the wisdom of the promised Comforter for this time.

25. Men who lead the spirit of humanity along the paths of religion; open your eyes to this light, contemplate this people who have risen up in demand of love crying out for justice and asking for light and it is only a small part of humanity that is going to rise up as one man in search of Christ, in search of his truth and his promise. Observe the inclination of man towards the eternal, towards the spiritual, or is it possible that having eyes you do not look? I know everything and I see everything, that's why I have come at night like a thief to surprise you in your sleep and to wake you up in the light of the new day.

26. It has been a long time since I have been teaching this people, that I have discovered the teachings that men had hidden from them; I have also revealed to them what I had in store for them, but I have not yet told them everything, I will still manifest myself in this form until 1950. Those who have not listened to my lessons will receive my message through the book written by my golden pens.

Love one another!

27. After my departure many will rise up against this people, against my doctrine. The seas will be crossed by those who come to fight and persecute my servants, but who can hide the light of the Divine Master? Who can stop the evolution of the spirit or turn back time? If in the Second Era humanity believed that by putting Christ to death on a cross, their Doctrine was going to die, with their own hand they signed their sentence, because Christ from the cross with his infinite love overcame everything; truth, like light, always triumphs over darkness, no matter how dense they may be.

28. My Spirit gives you the seed so that you may sow it in the lands that are the spirit of humanity, those that are fertilized with pain and struggle and are only waiting for the arrival of the sower. Soon my name and my Doctrine will walk again on all lips.

29. To give you a lesson in love, I am going to wash your feet, beloved disciples, so that you may join the teachings that I gave you at this time to those that I revealed to you in times past. I want that when 1950 arrives, the last year of my word among you, who today are infants, you will then be disciples; today you still listen to me with joy, but what will it be when you are listening to me and know that it is for the last time? I remind you of the trials of the Second Time, but I speak to you in new words, through the understanding of man, because if I spoke to you directly you would not resist the strength of my word, nor the intensity of its light, nor the majesty of my presence.

30. That is why I came to you as a man at that time, and before John himself, after my crucifixion, I presented myself under some symbolic figures so that he would understand my revelations. Verily I tell you that I am preparing you to receive from spirit to Spirit direct communication with my Divinity. After 1950 you will no longer hear me in this form, but you will feel my presence because your elevation will be greater and you will fully enter the time of spiritual communication. And when union and fraternity have penetrated between you, it will be the time of the great wonders, the time when my voice will be heard by humanity; then the struggle and persecution will come, the doors of these houses will be closed, your homes slandered, you will be called sorcerers, your relatives will not know you and some of you, to defend my cause, you will even reach the prison; but I will be with you not to let you faint because I am life and being in you, Who can fight against Eternal Life?

31. Alert disciples, because when your voice awakens those who are sleeping today, they will come from sects and religions to tell you that what you possess is false, that they possess the Ark and the fulfillment of the prophecies as well as the contents of the Seven Seals and then if you do not know how to fight with the weapons that I have granted you that are weapons of love and wisdom, there will be many confusions among humanity, and men eager for truth and in need of light, they will go wherever they are called and they may mistake the path.

Love one another!

32. You who have received the mission of guiding and leading this people, give the example of fraternity by uniting yourselves in spirit under the example of Jesus, Moses and Elijah, who appeared united in spirit at the transfiguration of Mount Tabor.

33. Disciples, it was not only with the word that I have taught you in this time, but also with my charity that I have constantly poured out on you. The times of symbols have passed; today I will be believed, loved and understood without symbols and even my word will lose its figurative sense because you are already able to understand my teaching, analyze it and put it into practice in your works of love.

34. If you believe that Jesus, because he is the Son of God, did not experience pain, you are mistaken; if you believe that because I come today in Spirit I am alien to pain, you are also in error; if you think that because I know that in the end you will all be with Me today I do not suffer, you will not be in the just either: truly I tell you that there is no other being more sensitive than the Divine Spirit, I ask you: Who gave sensitivity to all beings? What good can you do that doesn't make me enjoy? And what can you do wrong that is not like a wound in my sensibility? This is why I tell you that humanity has crucified me again. How long will I come down from my cross and the crown of thorns be torn from me?

35. Today you must remember the Upper Room of Jesus with the spiritual bread that I have been giving you throughout the ages. I have given you great teachings: the manna of the desert in the First Time, the miracle of the fish in the Second. The bread that I blessed and distributed on my table in representation of the divine, was a lesson that I gave to your spirit so that he would understand my love. Today I do not bring the material bread that speaks to you of heavenly teachings; the time of symbols has passed; today I only give you my word in which I tell you that this communication is not the highest that you will ever know, nor will what I tell you by this means be all that I have to tell you.

36. Beloved people, remember and meditate in these hours on all that I did that night, which was the last that I spent among you as a man, and meditate also on all that I have said to you in these moments when, in giving you my lesson, I have said to you: Welcome, disciples of the Third Time, whom I have gathered by bringing you from various points of the Earth. I have gathered you to form the new caravans of Israel that cross the desert that stretches out before your gaze and there you will receive the new lesson of the Lord.

Love one another!

37. I contemplate that idolatry has not been able to be removed from some, despite the teachings and trials they have gone through. See how I have cleansed the path of your evolution so that you may walk along it; but do not let doubt get in the way like a cloud that prevents your spirit from contemplating my light.

38. You have found that you are in this time more free from human temptations and that I have only granted you the indispensable and I tell you: do not go after the superfluous.

39. You have found a palm tree in the desert and a source of crystal clear water; it was not a mirage, it was not an illusion, it was a reality. The branch and the shadow of the palm tree are my spiritual presence; its fruits, my word; the source is the love and wisdom that I have poured into your heart.

40. The one who has listened to me carefully has learned this time to listen to the voice of his conscience, to judge himself, to see his own work and accept for himself the pain he has carved out for himself. Then the spirit reveals profound lessons to matter to convince it that it must be meek and conform to trials. Whoever comes to these profound reflections will not be able to oppose my divine commands.

41. My word is not hidden from anyone, as in the second Time; I let it reach the ignorant, the understood, the pure of heart and the sinner, the sincere and the hypocrite. The heavenly bell has rung in flight for everyone. If this humanity, which for the most part has drunk at the fountain of the Doctrine that I taught you in Christ, had been watching and praying when I gave them the signs of my new coming, how great would have been their joy in feeling my presence. It was necessary that I sent a man to you so that in 1866 he would deliver my message to you and that through his lips Elijah would announce the new time to you. Since then, this palm tree has spread its foliage more and more, my word reaching new regions, making those appointed arise and teaching the multitudes. Those who have listened to me with meekness and have followed me along the path of their spiritual evolution, have not felt fatigue, hunger or thirst on their way again. In their path they have encountered ingratitude, mockery, contempt and indifference; but nothing has stopped them because their ideal is fixed at the point of arrival and they know that that goal is not on Earth.

42. Only those who prepare themselves with this meekness and spirituality will achieve the power to take away the pain of the one who suffers, because whoever fills himself with vanity or misuses his gifts is deprived of that grace.

43. Impose my doctrine on no one under a certain name, but raise up the one who is fallen and tell him to have faith in Me. Who can ask you to do good to your fellow man?

Love one another!

44. Stop thinking about earthly comforts so that you can prepare to fulfill your mission by thinking about those caravans that will rise up in search of the ark of love that is my Doctrine and that along the way they will have to find your hearts.

45. When will apostles of my cause arise again like those who followed me in the Second Time? With what faith, love and firmness they defended my truth! You would like to do those works and those miracles, but truly I tell you, you will be able to do it if your faith is as great as theirs. Be men of faith and you will perform miracles, even when you are materially needy. Listen to me and analyze my word, otherwise you will have left me to speak alone in the desert.

46. Be humble, see that Jesus bowed down to his disciples to wash their feet. Do with your brothers works similar to this and you will be able to be worthily called my disciples.

47. How few there are who have watched and meditated on the day when Jesus expired on the cross! but in truth I propose to you that when you meditate on the death of the Master, you should think that this moment will come for each one of you. I could not fear death because I am Life; but you do have to worry about arriving ready and prepared to fulfill your mission.

48. Let no one feel insignificant and petty because you do not know the gift you bring to speak or the abundance of your heart to love your brothers.

49. You weep for the shameful death that you gave to your Lord on Calvary and you have no idea that at this time you are going to hurt me again and mock my word; but I have promised to save all my children and my will will be fulfilled. If my blood shed at that time was not enough for this humanity, I will take up a spiritual cross to crucify myself on it and shed flashes of light that reach the spirits through the consciousness of men.

50. Woe to those who at this time with their profanations and disobedience set a bad example in front of the children whom I have sent on a spiritual mission! Do you want to imitate the mobs who, amid shouts and jeers, led Jesus to Golgotha, sowing terror in the hearts of children who could not explain why a man who only distributed blessings was being martyred and put to death?

51. Every time Jesus fell, those innocent people wept; but truly I tell you, their weeping came more from the spirit than from the flesh. How many of them followed me afterwards and loved me without the memory of what their innocent eyes witnessed being erased from their hearts!

Love one another!

52. It is time for you to meditate on what I am telling you. Let the crowds hear me, let the sick be the first to come to my presence. Pray for the absent sick and visit those who are in seclusion; think that at that second Time many of the lepers lived on the outskirts of the cities and knowing that Jesus healed the sick, they resigned themselves to listening from afar to the echo of his voice, because they said: How to get to the Master if the crowds reject us? Then Jesus, faced with human indifference and selfishness, rewarded their faith, cleansing their body of the evil that afflicted them.

53. Do not stop listening to me at this time because those who will hear my last word in the year 1950 will receive it in their spirit in representation of the last drop of blood that fell from my body on the cross.

54. You have forgotten the Law and have waited for the elements to remind you of my justice: hurricane winds, waters that run out of their channel, earthquakes, droughts, floods, are voices that awaken you and tell you about my justice.

55. What other fruit can humanity offer me at this time other than discord and materialism? This people who have listened to my teaching for years cannot present me with a pleasant harvest either.

56. No one escapes my justice. I am judging the living and the dead; but truly I tell you, unless you rise up to practice my Doctrine truthfully and purely, the justice of men will judge you. How much this humanity has been stained! The blood of the Lamb taught men the path of the evolution of the spirit along which they must walk to make up for the sins committed; but on that divine blood you have sinned again. The world has captivated you, but I come to claim for you what belongs to Me.

57. I will turn aside the weeds that are tares and I will sow the golden grain of wheat again and those lands that have been barren for a long time will be fertile and lavish.

58. From ancient times you have known from John, my prophet, that a time was coming when every eye would see me; that time is in your sight. In this age the spirit of humanity will open its eyes to the light of truth and will contemplate me, understand my word and feel my presence. From the stones will sprout not only water but also flowers.

59. Today you conceive that my justice punishes you by unleashing the elements to sow desolation, mourning and hunger; however, someday you will understand that it was your works that unleashed those calamities on you, that justice. You will also learn that your merits, your faith and prayer can calm the forces of Nature. Have you not heard that when I spiritually frame my children I give them power over the elements? This should not surprise you if you remember that I authorized the first man to have dominion over the

Love one another!

Creation of the Earth. This is why I sometimes tell you that man has not found himself and therefore does not know himself.

60. I am the Universal King, the man here on Earth is the prince, since he is my son. Has man been able to make good use of the power of all his gifts? Verily I tell you, he has unknown his Father and has crowned himself king to do his will in the world; but whoever does not unite his will to mine and walks outside the divine laws is entitled to be judged by them; you call this punishment and you come to call me an unjust Father.

61. In this Third Time, many spirits will see my light and, illuminating their path with it, they will not deviate their steps again; rather, they will remember their past to know all their faults and repent of them, they will no longer seek human greatness, only the immortality of the spirit.

62. Men will climb the summit of the mountain and from there they will contemplate the silhouette of the Promised Land, the new Jerusalem that awaits you as the supreme reward in eternity.

MY PEACE BE WITH YOU!

Teaching 70

1. I am the ark of wisdom that humanity has not been able to study until now. I have come to give you the key to spirituality, so that with it you may open it and be able to know what I have in store for you.
2. If any of my children think themselves unworthy or feel unable to open the doors of my love, truly I tell you that all my children are worthy of my love. You all have the key to open that door. Do not lose it, lest you imitate the tribe of Judah, wandering in this life, wandering restlessly on earth.
3. I do not want to look at you as powerful or beggars, but as walkers who never lack in their saddlebag the sustenance for themselves and for the hungry that they find on their path.
4. I want you to know the roads, to know how to distinguish the different trees and to recognize in each traveler that you find your own brother, so that when they ask you: Where are you going? answer with sincerity and firmness, always telling my truth.
5. In this way you will be the wayfarer who trusts in tomorrow, the one who walks free of worries for himself and can think of others, because I am teaching you to feel the pain of your fellow human beings and to calm it with a drop of the balm that I grant you so that with it you can help your brothers.
6. How much I have had to purify your spirit through the ages! Do you think I was going to stain you so that you would get up and preach my Doctrine?
7. I am preparing you to be among mankind the strong Israel.
8. Upon hearing my word, your spirit has been shaken by remembering that once upon a time you heard this voice and wondered: Where? And I tell you: it was in the desert, in the mountains and on the banks of the rivers of Judea on the lips of Jesus of Nazareth that you doubted, even though you recognized that in his word there was a Divine essence, a love and a strength that gave you life, health and peace.
9. You have been resurrected at this time and your spirit has returned to listen to my teaching, your heart has trembled at the echo of this voice that you already know. My word is simple and humble, but do not just contemplate the color of the fruit; eat it so that you will find its seed inside; that seed will be the one that you will cultivate tomorrow. If you cultivate it well, it will bear you good fruits; then you will recognize that the tree from which it came, enclosed the love of your Father.

Love one another!

10. Make merits so that you may reach the place that belongs to you, which is not found on the thrones or in the palaces of the Earth, nor is it in the glories of the world, in flattery or in material honors, Your place here on Earth is in the struggle for peace and good, and in the hereafter it will be in my love.

11. This is not the land of promise; that mansion promised to your spirit you do not know yet, nor is there a burning desire in your spirit to reach it because of your materialism.

12. To all men of different beliefs and religions I say that they have not been able to give their place to material riches to place in the one that corresponds to those of the spirit. If they were complying with my laws, they would already be contemplating the silhouette of the promised land from here and listening to the echo of the voices of its inhabitants.

13. You say that you believe in my existence and have faith in my Divinity; you also say that my will be done, and truly I tell you, How little is your faith and your conformity to what I have in mind! But I have come encouraging true faith in you, so that you may be strong in the way that I have laid out for you.

14. Prepare yourselves, do not expect death to surprise you unprepared. What have you prepared for when you return to the spiritual life? Do you want to be surprised when you are still tied with chains to matter, to passions, to earthly possessions? Do you want to penetrate with your eyes closed into the Afterlife without finding the way, carrying the tiredness of this life imprinted on your spirit? Prepare yourselves disciples and then you will not fear the coming of the death of the body.

15. Do not sigh for having to leave this valley, because if you recognize that there are wonders and great things in it, in truth I tell you that they are only an image of the beauties of the spiritual life.

16. If you do not wake up, what are you going to do when you find yourself at the beginning of a new path, illuminated by a light that seems unknown to you?

17. Leave this world without tears, without leaving pain in the hearts of your own. Let go when the moment has arrived, leaving on the face of your body a smile of peace that speaks of the liberation of your spirit.

18. The death of the body does not distance you from the beings entrusted to you nor does it separate you from the spiritual responsibility you have over those who were your parents, brothers or children.

19. Understand that death does not exist for love, for duty, for feelings; in a word, for the spirit.

Love one another!

20. I have spoken to those who thought they were dead, and they have said to me, Who has spoken to me? I touched them and they asked: Who touched me? And they have heard a voice saying to them: I am the one who raised Lazarus, the same one who rose from the dead to give spiritual life to all of you!

21. My Doctrine can never induce you to fanaticism, nor does it inculcate superstitions or idolatries in you; on the contrary, it comes to liberate your spirit from the chains that humanity has placed on it. My path is narrow, but whoever walks along it, possesses and enjoys true freedom.

22. I do not wish to enslave you with my teaching, because there are no dogmas, sentences or anathemas in it; I want you to come to Me out of love, out of merit, out of faith, out of conviction.

23. I have allowed you to know religions, sects and doctrines, so that by tasting the fruit of the different trees you will know how to appreciate the flavor of this one that I am offering you. And I ask you: Will you be able to ask the ministers and priests if it is true that I am communicating through the human understanding? Why do you ask those who forgot my promise to return and did not even prepare to receive me? Truly I tell you, even the most foolish of you will understand for himself whether it is I who am speaking to you. If my word stirs your spirit, if it awakens and moves it, it will show you that I am with you, because I am the only one who has power over spirits.

24. The word of man may make your heart tremble or impress your senses and intelligence; but if there is something that has made you vibrate beyond your senses, your heart, or your intelligence, that something has been the voice of your Lord.

25. I tell you that anyone who has not been moved by hearing this word may deny my presence, but it will remain engraved in his conscience and the time will come when he will say: That voice that I heard was the Lord's.

26. To help you to continue carrying your cross, I come to pour out the manna that nourishes your spirit, to prepare your hearts and to become my servants.

27. Time has changed, I have been removing all fanaticism and idolatry from you so that you can only make your spirituality present to me.

28. I am making the call to my chosen ones from different regions, drawing them from different paths so that they all carry the essence of my word and reach the clear and true understanding of my Doctrine and practice it in their works of love among their brothers.

Love one another!

29. If you are infants now, tomorrow you will be disciples and imitate the disciples of the Second Time, and just as they rose up bearing witness to the truth, to my wonders and to my love, so you will have to get up tomorrow to testify to my truth.

30. I have inspired you with the virtues that you should practice, and with the gifts that your spirit possesses from the beginning of your formation, you will make yourself known among humanity. I am preparing my new farmers, who tomorrow will sow this seed all over the world. Step by step the great multitudes are coming to my Work, attracted by the light of the Holy Spirit who in this Third Time is pouring out His sparkles among all men.

31. I have come on the cloud to speak to humanity that, because it is obstinate in its perversity, has not felt my steps, nor my presence; it has not realized my communication with you through human understanding. I will be tireless to awaken her from her lethargy and you will be contemplating that little by little the multitudes will come from different paths to meet you. Many will convert to spiritualism because I am pushing away fanaticism and idolatry, stagnation and confusion from humanity.

32. This is the third revelation announced by Me and by the prophets; this is the time in which the light of the sixth candlestick is illuminating humanity. It is the announced time when I would come radiant with light to fulfill my word. I have come to make known to you the same spiritual and divine Law of all time.

33. Blessed people of Israel: in all times I have rescued you from the slavery of Pharaoh and I say to you: If you do not want to continue being slaves, come to Me, and I will give you the strength and the power to break your chains, Do you want to rise by the ladder that is prepared for your spirit? Then persevere, study and analyze my word so that you can come to understand it in its depth and in its spirituality, so that you may make merits on this path that will lead you to Me.

34. There are those who tell me, "Father, I want to be your laborer, I want to serve you, I want my spirit to be close to your Spirit, but I don't know what I should do to deserve your forgiveness." And I answer to that heart that communicates with its Father in this way: Regenerate yourselves, little by little, leave your old doubts, your materiality, so that you may come to understand me and recognize your mission. But everyone who desires regeneration, has to go through many trials, because temptation is stalking you and when contemplating that you are turning your spirit away from false ways, he will have to sustain a terrible struggle to make you desist from your purposes, and if you show yourself fragile, he will take advantage of that weakness and try to make you return to your old customs and it is not my will that you be surprised by it; I want your step to always be forward, that your faith be firm and your purpose to spiritualize, true, based on what you have learned.

35. If you are Israel, it is right that you learn to love me and worship me from spirit to Spirit; that the materialism of your practices be refined until you reach spirituality. My Spirit will cleanse you from all misinterpretation of my Work. Man has mistaken my teachings, my maxims, my prophecies and it is my will that my people of Israel arise with the gifts and the wonders that they achieve through their spirituality.

36. I will present you to humanity as my servants, as the Marian Trinitarian Spiritualists of the Third Time. The Spiritualists, because you will be more spirit than matter; the Trinitarians, because you have received my manifestation in three times; Marians because you love Mary, your Universal Mother, who is the one who has watched over you so that you do not faint in the day.

37. This communication through the human understanding will have to end, but then you will have to seek me from spirit to Spirit to receive my commands; that is why I am asking for your regeneration, so that you may achieve that spirituality. I will continue to teach you to communicate with my Spirit and you will be recreated when you have come to obtain that form of communication, worthy of everyone who calls himself a Marian Trinitarian Spiritualist.

38. Be strong and defend yourselves in all trials with your prayer. My spiritual pleasures will continue to be poured out among you for your perseverance and willingness to fight. You will not be alone, my spiritual world will be there to give you protection, guide you and help you in your struggle.

39. I am the light that invites you to come and light your lamp in Me so that you may illuminate your spirit and discover my presence in it. The day you know how to penetrate into yourselves, it will be easy for you to reach the heart of your brother.

40. At my word the first weep and the last rejoice, why? Because the first ones are getting tired and are accumulating wounds, although I must tell you that they are the ones who make their cross heavy and the chalice they drink in their restitution bitter, because I have always given them my help on their way so that the journey is bearable and their steps firm.

41. My company has not lacked you for a single moment, my word has not ceased to manifest itself; I have never left you lonely in your trials; my spiritual world has descended to your bedside when pain has overwhelmed you and you have not lacked his help and his advice for you to help the needy who come to your doors day by day. The gift of intuition, inspiration and clairvoyance have awakened in your being, illuminating your path. In your human life you have had me; daily bread has not been lacking on your table. And after giving you so many proofs of my love and having kept your nation in peace, when the world is turned into a bonfire of hatred and passions, do you still complain about the weight of your cross? O disciples of the Third Time, do not forget that the cross that the world offered me at that time was of darkness, of ingratitude, ridicule and contempt and I accepted it because it was my children who offered it to me! Instead, look at the cross that I have entrusted to you, how sweet and light it is if you know how to carry it with love!

42. It is necessary that you know your origin and the end to which your steps lead you so that you accept with love your destiny and embrace your cross until you die on it, as Christ did: your Master.

43. I have come at this time to tell you about your origin, your mission and the end that awaits you in the eternity of the spirit. If he has not understood my word and feels weak after having listened to my lectures, it is because he has not come to sustain and strengthen his spirit; it is because he has always been asking for the goods that belong to the world, those that are never essential in your life and are granted to you in addition. Why do you let yourselves be tempted by the world? It is necessary that you learn to overcome earthly vicissitudes, because in many cases they are only trifles and miseries to which you attach too much importance. If, just as you care about the material, you care about the goods of the spirit, you would lack nothing and your evolution would be great.

44. Forget your past, avoid all the mistakes that have accompanied you for a long time and slowly you will experience an absolute change in your being because you will have begun your elevation towards spirituality.

45. Understand that I have come to offer you a worthy place, both here on Earth, while you live on it, and in the Hereafter, when you come to dwell in the spiritual realm.

46. What do you need for you to take the decisive step? Ask, ask that it will be given to you.

47. Take my seed of love in your heart and begin to cultivate it without ever abandoning it and soon it will bear fruits that will serve as food on your walk.

48. Converse among yourselves taking my word as the theme, but always carry the purpose of instructing one another. This change of ideas and knowledge will be beneficial to you and will lift your spirits. I promise to be present in those moments of spiritual conversations to inspire you and always lead you to understanding and light; but never turn into vulgar discussion what should be spiritual communion because then it will not be my presence with you.

Love one another!

49. I want to speak to those who until now have not felt my healing balm on their body, nor has my peace reached their heart.

50. Truly I tell you, I have poured out my balm on you, but you were not ready to receive Him. Some have rejected him with their blasphemy, others with their lack of faith.

51. I tell you that your mistakes are forgiven but you have to learn to deserve by means of merits each of the graces or benefits that you request from your Father, because if I gave myself to you without you putting anything on your part, I would not advance your spirit. What could you teach tomorrow to those who are suffering? What experience would you have gleaned from your trials? Look at the sick who have received a miracle from Me and you will discover that each one did merit to achieve a reward. In some, faith triumphed; in others, regeneration arose; others felt true repentance; others have punished themselves in their weaknesses or in their pride.

52. With what satisfaction the spirit rises after fighting a battle and emerging victorious in it! What satisfaction could be experienced by those who, without any merit, received some good from their Father? They would not know how to estimate what they received, nor would they know how to keep it, since no effort or sacrifice cost them to obtain it; but he who has conquered peace, after a great struggle, is not exposed to losing it, he takes care of it and watches over it. He who, through renunciations and sacrifices, regains his health does not put it in danger again, because he knows how much it cost him to achieve it.

53. Do not be afraid, you who show me your exhaustion and your decayed spirit; I do not come to ask impossible things of you. Listen: On this day I ask only your attention and that you let my word reach your heart because it is necessary that it awakens your sleeping fibers so that it illuminates your spirit and faith and hope ignite in your heart like a flame. This is necessary for you to prepare the way and fulfill the miracle that you expect from Me.

54. I convinced you that you no longer live in the times when the Father gave you everything done, because your spirit lacked evolution, experience, knowledge; now you have to put a lot of your part to achieve what you want or need.

55. Do you despair because I speak to you like that? Are those of you who are sick discouraged? I grant at this moment my balm to all those who are going to embrace the cross of regeneration, of amendment, of moral and spiritual recovery. I am also going to give health to some who will soon forget my charity, because they will not even realize why their Teacher has healed them; but in your spirit I have deposited in advance the seed that sprouted from the teaching of this day, and in due time they will answer me.

Love one another!

56. The pain of some and others comes to Me; for all my love has a drop of divine balm.

57. Feel close to me, heal and rise to life so that you may bear witness to my truth.

58. People, the prophets died, but an indelible writing remained of their message. In Jesus many of those prophecies were fulfilled and the others had to wait for the arrival of this time to have their fulfillment.

59. Ten and nine centuries have passed since I told you my last word on the cross, and when I have made my voice heard among humanity again, I have found that instead of loving each other, they hate each other, do not recognize each other as brothers and even kill each other just as the prophets prophesied and Jesus announced. But it was at this time that perversity has reached a great development, when a people has arisen with the seed of spirituality, who with a prophetic voice awakens men, who with their power over the elements and over diseases, give proofs of grace and power to men of science and with their penetration into the gifts of the spirit, proofs of their truth to those who teach religion. Also the appearance of this people had already been foretold by the prophets.

60. I have come to communicate through the understanding of these spokesmen to engrave on your hearts my divine teaching; but they in their rudeness have a likeness to the stone where I engraved the commandments of the law in the First Time.

61. When you meditate on the teachings that I have come to give you, on the era that you are living and the way in which I manifested myself, you will see that both my arrival and the time that my manifestation lasted and the day when it ceased, everything was surrounded by a great number of surprising and remarkable events and facts, both in human and spiritual life. Then you will see in all these events the signs announced from those times for my new advent.

62. The sciences, religions and theologians will not be able to discover at this time how my righteousness works, but I have revealed it to you. Every human heart is a living proof of my justice and my wisdom. Sometimes in the heart of a wretch hides the spirit of the one who once wore a crown on his head, or in a convict hides the one who in another life deprived a people of their freedom. Your whole existence is an infinite lesson of love to perfect the spirits, so that they can arrive as submissive and obedient children to the bosom of their Father; but while these darkness that are covering humanity become denser, men will have to cry out when the terror overwhelms them: My God, my God,

Love one another!

why have you abandoned us! without realizing that the light of my Spirit is destined to penetrate their hearts as soon as they rise to faith; but those darkness will not be eternal, not even too long, although by the intensity of their pain it seems to humanity that they have lasted an eternity. The light will begin to shine in the spirits and they will exclaim full of joy: hosanna, hosanna, the Lord is already with us!

63. People, look at all the struggles of this humanity; look at the crowds penetrating their temples in search of me, their heart carries an inexplicable desire because their spirit awaits my return.

64. Regenerate your life, purify your heart because I tell you that in the spiritual space there are many spirits of light who are only waiting for your preparation to incarnate among you and give their message to humanity. These are the generations promised and announced to you, these will be your children and descendants; therefore I tell you to hurry your cup with patience so that the inheritance you bequeath to them is clean and that they also find the path prepared with your love and faith.

65. Will those who have heard this word deny it when they are questioned? Don't want to cry bitterly. Testify with words, with deeds, with thoughts, with prayers, with your silence; that is also your mission.

66. Your Lord tells you: Blessed are those who do the will of the Father because although they will cry when they hear my word for the last time in 1950, they will later see me present in the cloud, never disappearing from their sight again.

67. In many places of your nation I have prepared houses of prayer so that in them you may hear my word.

68. My people are as humble as the places where I manifest myself; but it is my will to surprise humanity once again through the humble and simple of heart; through them I will make it known that this is the era of light and grace.

69. My call has brought together this people whom I have patiently prepared under my protection, so that they may be worthy to receive the Law and carry it as a message of divine love to men.

70. I tell you that the conversion of a sinner exerts a great influence on the heart of humanity, because it serves as an encouragement to him. That is the reason why I have not come to seek the righteous to form my new apostolate, but sinners, to make them my disciples and prove to humanity that it has strayed from the path of good and that it is possible for it to return to it by regenerating and transforming itself.

Love one another!

71. I sent you a righteous man at the opening of this time, Roque Rojas, through whose lips Elijah, the forerunner, spoke. He came to prepare the way of the Lord so that I would communicate with men and you could hear my voice. From the moment it first resonated, you have not stopped listening to it and having my manifestation. No one has been told to hide in order to be able to hear me, or to seclude himself in a certain place to carry out his mission. Neither catacombs, nor hidden places have been necessary to delight you with my word and to be able to fulfill your practices. Instead, I have taught you the Law that you must already live, which is that of "Love one another".

72. I have given you the time so that you can carry out your mission and an unlimited field for you to sow in it. I have not marked specific places or time for you. Again I say to you, "God is spirit and you must worship Him in Spirit and in Truth."

MY PEACE BE WITH YOU!

Love one another!

Teaching 71

1. Beloved disciples, At this time you have received the grace to sit at my table; come and be with Me in spirit. Keep my word in your heart and you will come to form an album of wonderful wisdom with my lessons of love.
2. The light of my Holy Spirit will illuminate paths and deserts so that humanity can find the true path, that of its spiritual evolution. I come when perversity and corruption are at their greatest height; my Doctrine appears before you as a saving ark. The world is an ocean of pain; when humanity sees this ark, will it not desire to find salvation in it?
3. Disciples: All of you know the deserts and the crossroads of the roads, that is why you are the ones indicated to go in search of the multitudes eager for light.
4. Go after the leper when in your heart there is no longer leprosy, speak of love to those who are overwhelmed by pain, and when my Doctrine has been identified in your feelings and you feel love and charity towards your brothers, you will have advanced in your spiritual evolution. Point out to your brothers the way and do not be upset if in the end they leave you alone because of their ingratitude. You will have your satisfaction in knowing that those who were lost are approaching Me, and you will feel my company in your solitude.
5. There the manna will descend to sustain you and you will always have something to give to those in need.
6. I love you and I want you perfect, that is why my justice manifests itself inexorably among humanity. All the past and apparently forgotten works of God, will be judged in this time in which the incarnate spirit can understand, accept and comprehend my judgments. Kings, judges, lords, all those who in some way have sown the seed of evil among their brothers, will be present at the judgment of the Lord; but I tell you that instead of binding them with chains, depriving them of the light or subjecting them to eternal torments, as humanity might believe in its ignorance, I will point out to them a mission in my Work of salvation in order that they may purify their spirit, repair the mistakes they have committed and understand that my justice comes from divine love. If the time has come for these great sinners, many of whom your history has collected the names of, to carry out works of fraternity and peace among humanity, how is it that you sometimes come to consider some of your brothers as an obstacle in your way? How is it that you even want to turn away from the path of your destiny those beings whom my will placed there? Oh, if you only knew that many times they are the ones who serve me the best and the ones who will help you get to Me!

Love one another!

7. May your heart be like these precincts where you gather to hear my word; through these gates have passed those who have committed crimes in many ways, those who have stained their hand with the blood of their brother, those who hide theft, slander and dishonor; and yet, when have they been rejected by Me? or at least when have they been discovered in front of others? A pious veil of tenderness has covered his spots, while my Spirit has conversed alone with that sinner. See how hearing my word they learn to pray, raising their thoughts to infinity, to feel that whoever approaches the spiritual receives strength, light, inspiration and balm, breath and peace.

8. Blessed people, in these moments when war is shaking the world, I have asked you to watch over and pray for your brothers, to feel their pain and send them feelings of light and peace; but I must tell you that first you must learn to love, to serve and to forgive those around you, so that you may know how to love and serve those who are absent. Love your destiny, accept your chalice, embrace your cross with love; no one knows what spirit animates his being, nor does he know while he is on Earth, the reason for his restitution.

9. Let it be the consciousness that enlightens the spirit and the spirit that guides the matter.

10. Leave your sadness and your hopelessness, you will all be able to reach the promised mansion, for that I come to help you. What more propitious times than the present are you waiting for to get up? Do you wait for times of peace to make merits? Verily I say to you, this is the best time to attain your restitution and to attain merit.

11. I say to you people: Take advantage of the divine lesson that I have brought you, because in the year 1950 you will be left without it; the sun would sooner cease to shine, than my word would cease to be fulfilled; but those who have not kept it in their hearts will have to cry for their ingratitude, that not being my will.

12. Every moment I make you alert and in every lesson I prepare you so that you do not get lost on the way or stain your spirit anymore.

13. Do not be men of little faith; see that what I offered you in the past times I have come to fulfill to you in the Third Time, on the other hand, man has not been able to fulfill his promises and duties.

14. At times you get up to follow me, when you feel that I helped you in your trials and that my charity helped you to get out unscathed; but later you forget again because of your ingratitude.

Love one another!

15. Among you there are also those who love me, those who are only waiting for the time of trials and persecution to prove their fidelity and strength. Those will be the ones who will rise up after the regions hit by the elements to impart their charity to those in need. I will make them recognize the due moment to rise to fulfillment by making them feel in their hearts the message that will tell them not to carry double saddlebags for the trip and to trust in my heavenly power.

16. Other farmers will be sent to talk about my Work in other nations and there with their works of love and their prayers they will stop the war. When the moment of their fulfillment comes, they will not rebel against my command because they have to leave their own and their property; they will not imitate the rich miser.

17. The one who regrets having to leave what he has to follow me, will make his path painful and his cross heavy; on the other hand, the one who, full of conformity and trust, abandons everything to my citizens will have peace and strength in the struggle and on his return he will find everything just as he left it.

18. I have come to reveal to you the spiritual gifts that you possess and to teach you the use that you should make of them, so that you never take them to do works that are not within my Law because then instead of giving light, you would sow darkness and confusion.

19. Do not let your own imperfect deeds make them unaware of you and turn away from you. They will come to understand you when you have understood Me.

20. I want my disciples to always be prepared to respond to the call of the sufferer and heal him with true charity.

21. Look at how many sick people there are near you; contemplate that there is no home free of diseases. See how many possessed who receive charity from no one. There are the lands to sow; take your gifts, take the light and free them from their chains, without forgetting that you must also treat invisible beings with love and charity so that you can make them penetrate the light.

22. Why, when I fill you with peace and goodness, do you become lazy? Will it be necessary for pain to accompany you always so that your heart remembers Me and your spirit is alert?

23. Get up and do not sin again; do not weaken yourselves in the pleasures of the Earth because you will have to answer me both with your spirit and with your body and the moment will come when, although your cry rises to the heavens, what you ask for will not be granted, because for the first, second and third time it was given to you, and you already knowingly missed it. It is that you have seen that first of all I am love and forgiveness, but do not forget that in my justice I am inexorable.

Love one another!

24. Watch, for I will soon come as Judge over every sect and religion, and I will ask every guide, every pastor or minister what he has done with the spirits entrusted to him. I will ask everyone what they have made of my Law and my Doctrine and every weed will be exterminated.

25. Watch also for the peace of this nation to which I have appointed, so that my word may be heard and studied in it. War, greed, ambitions and false doctrines lie in wait for your people. But I will deliver you from the clutches of Pharaoh who would like to make you his vassals because now you are serving my cause.

26. But if you wanted slavery again, it will be given to you; but do not forget that you are destined to ensure the peace of the world and prevent war from snatching children from the arms of their parents. Pray that with your prayer the darkness will be dispelled.

27. Mothers, pray for humanity. Maidens, persevere in prayer and in virtue; you are the source from which the generations of tomorrow will spring, who must bear witness to my truth.

28. People, it was not the words that you uttered in your prayer that opened my arcanum; it was the voice of your spirit and the beating of your heart. Receive all that I give you because I do not want to perceive sadness or hardship among this people that I love so much. Do not lose the garment of peace with which I have come to cover you.

29. The spiritual altar, invisible to your material eyes, invites you every moment to deposit in it your offering, which must also be spiritual.

30. Listen to my word, she is the seed that you must sow, she has love as her essence. I give it to you without any price, it is the gift reserved for you at this time. I do not tire of pouring love on my children, nor do I tire of waiting for their return to the good path; but humanity will have to get tired of continuing to sow hatred, violence and selfishness. Every seed of hatred that he sows will multiply in such a way that his strength will not be enough to reap his harvest; this unforeseen result and superior to his human power, will stop his dizzying and senseless career. Then, I will do a miracle in every heart by making charity spring up, where there was only egoism. Men will return to ascribe to themselves all perfection, knowledge and justice. You will remember that Jesus said: "The leaf of the tree does not move without the will of the Father"; because today, according to the feeling of the world, the leaf of the tree, the beings and the stars move by chance.

Love one another!

31. Verily I say unto you, I will touch you with my rod of love, and will cause water to gush forth from the rocks. The faults and debts that humanity has been carrying for centuries will be forgiven and peace will be in the spirits. Come to Me, O sick, O blind of the spirit, my balm is ready to be poured out on each one of you! Come to Me, those of you who yesterday were lords and today suffer privations, humiliations and miseries; you who yesterday knew about finery and honors and today hide your tears in the corner of your bedroom! Come near to Me, you men who hide your weeping from your wife and your children, so that they will not be cowed by life; open your heart to me and tell me all your worries. I will give you a key, a loaf and a coin so that your bitterness may become joy! Today you have nothing; the nest in which you live and in which your children were born is not yours; you are like birds who do not know how, but you live.

32. It is time for justice and proof. The time of complacency in which you had everything has passed. Do merit in trials and in righteousness I will grant you light and peace for your spirit and whatever you need on earth will be given to you in addition.

33. How much pain I behold in your world! Childhood already knows the cup of bitterness and soon his heart hardens. Flowers wither in full youth, gray hair begins to shine prematurely. I receive your tears as a present; they knock at the doors of my charity and I open them to fill you with hope and peace.

34. Don't you feel like you're coming back to life? You have placed your complaint and your confession in Me knowing that you are heard and comforted because I am the resurrection and the life.

35. Today you come under the cloud of my promise to receive shade and your spirit is illuminated with the radiance that my lessons deliver to you.

36. You are living the time announced by prophets and seers of past times whose spirits are now contemplating the fulfillment of the divine word.

37. If you were spiritually prepared, you could contemplate in infinity the multitudes of spiritual beings that before your eyes would resemble an immense white cloud and when the messengers or envoys broke away from it, you would see them approaching like flashes of light towards you.

38. Your spiritual gaze is not penetrating yet, and that is why I have to tell you about the afterlife, about everything that you cannot reach to contemplate yet; but I tell you that the time will come when you will all be seers and delight in that wonderful life that you now feel distant, but that in reality vibrates close to you, envelops and illuminates you, inspires you and knocks incessantly at your doors.

Love one another!

39. This Doctrine brings the mission of sensitizing all the sleeping fibers in your being so that man from this dwelling glimpses the light of the Kingdom that awaits him.

40. Many centuries of materialism weigh on humanity, but that is not its destiny; man is not condemned to ignore the higher life eternally; if he still ignores many of the great things of Creation, it is not because God has hidden them from him, but because his love for the world has blinded the eyes of the spirit; But he will already open them to the light and then he will recognize that his Father has always sought him to reveal the contents of the Book of True Life.

41. How strong men will be when they unite with their brothers who dwell in the Kingdom of light; but for that time to come, humanity will still have to drink a lot of bitterness!

42. Pain will be the chalice that restores sensitivity, nobility, purity and spirituality to men; but truly I tell you that it will not be your Father who offers you that chalice, it is you who have filled it and who will have to drink it so that you may come to know the taste of the fruit of all your works, and after that judgment you may rise to true life, whose path will be illuminated by the light of conscience.

43. Beloved farmers, have you made an examination of conscience before offering me your fruit?

44. Why do I see tears in you? Why do tears come to your eyes? It is because you are not satisfied with what you have done.

45. Do not be afraid disciples, I am receiving your tribute of love, each of your works of charity and even those tears that you have shed, Lean your temples on Me, rest listening to my sweet word, and you will heal of all your wounds.

46. Delicate is the task that I have entrusted to you and it is precisely by listening to my voice that you understand it best; it is that you compare the perfection of my teachings with the humility of your works and it is then that you find them small and unworthy of Me; but I tell you that of the purity or lack of it in your works, only your Father can judge.

47. You are in front of a people who, day by day, are looking for you in demand of balm, of advice, of light and of consolation and you are sometimes afraid that you are not offering them what I have entrusted to you.

48. I am pleased with your fear and zeal, because this will make you advance in your evolution, with which you will come to develop and manifest all the gifts that I have given you.

Love one another!

49. Do you want to perfect yourself? Listen carefully to my lessons; no one will be able to correct you with the love, wisdom and tenderness with which I do it.

50. Do you want to wash your stains? Let my charity touch you with its wise and perfect justice.

51. I do not rebuke you or betray you in front of your brothers; I know how to reach every spirit with my light and I know how to speak closely in a low but deep voice to every heart.

52. The days will come when my word will be more severe, because the longer you have been listening to my Doctrine and receiving my commands, the greater will be your responsibility. If you want the master not to speak to you in a severe tone, it is in your fulfillment to avoid it, being obedient to my orders, not familiarizing yourself with this blessed manifestation and being tireless sowers of charity, light and peace.

53. Let it be my word that strips you of blemishes and impurities and wait until it is not pain that purifies you. There, at the bottom of my word, you will be able to find everything you need to understand the perfect way to practice my Doctrine and have faith to fulfill your restitution.

54. Think that if you take a transcendental step on the path of spirituality, the generations that will achieve greater advancement will come after you; you will remain as firm foundations so that your brothers and sisters full of faith may rise up on them.

55. You will form a new apostolate within my Work, inspired by the high examples of those who followed me in the Second Time; but if you recognize that some of them had moments of weakness that made them miss, try not to fall into those mistakes. Do not harbor the fears of Peter, so that you will never deny me; nor feed dreams of glory or earthly greatness, so that you will not exchange my Work for miserable coins, like Judas Iscariot; nor ever doubt my presence, like Thomas, so that you will not have to repent painfully.

56. Know that I love you, since in each of my words I reveal that love to you, but do not forget that I would also come to touch you severely to make you get out of your mistakes or your obstinacy in something that is inappropriate for my disciples. What do you need to be able to be my good disciples? You have everything; embrace your cross, carry it with love because in it you will rise towards the light that awaits your spirit when your mission has been completed.

57. Your joy is very great when you contemplate that my love prepares new understandings by which I will give you my word because you understand that you will not lack manna in the desert. This word will be the sustenance that will give you strength to reach the gates of the Promised Land.

58. You are praying people, my voice takes you away from the world and helps you to rise up. How many times do you have to wait for the moment when my ray descends among you to be able to pray, because before you had not achieved it. Look how as your spirit is purified, you feel my presence closer. The time has already passed when you felt distant, when you had me as a King unable to descend to you because you judged yourselves unworthy and miserable. That is why I have come in three times to make myself fully known by man.

59. Today I have said to you: Prepare yourselves so that you may feel my love and be able to understand me. He who has been able to spiritualize himself, everywhere discovers my imprint and at all times feels my presence in him.

60. Come tirelessly to listen to Me; I give you the necessary weapons so that you can overcome the obstacles and the bad influences that may obstruct your path, Overcome the world, overcome yourselves and you will reach Me; fight that I will not abandon you in your struggle.

61. Perhaps it was not he who brought you to listen to me at this time; it was my charity that drew you out of the crowds because I recognize you spiritually as the firstborn. My law and my righteousness have come down upon you for a long time. The law of the prophets was in you and the blood of the Lamb; now it is the light of my Holy Spirit that is clarifying the mysteries for you. In the past times I formed a people with your spirits, a people that at this time, being incarnated, is invisible among humanity. Today you will not be united by race, blood, name, tribes, one will not even know where the other is, and yet you will be united by the spirit. Only my discerning gaze can discover you, but not Caesar's gaze. Who will be able to find you to reduce you to slavery, to captivity?

62. If I have called you firstborn, do not expect anyone to bow down to you, you will humiliate no one. I alone know who is first and who is last in this way; but as I have inherited you, inherit also your brothers. Unite in spirit, in intuition, in thought; establish bonds of love and goodwill between each other, then you will be strong and no one will humiliate you again. Pharaohs, kings, Caesars and executioners were upon you in times past in the moments of weakness of my people. Who will oppress you at this time if you do not become weak? You have no need to know anyone to comply with my Law. You will not reject the men of science, nor the ministers of any sect or religion. Your mission is reduced to making known the revelation that I have brought to you. I speak to you in this way because in creating you I deposited in your being my seed of perfection. I want you to be like Me by your deeds. Do not be content to resemble my Divinity by possessing spirit, intelligence, conscience and other attributes, because all this is my work.

63. I will not be the one who comes to offer you a fruit and say to you, Eat it and you will be like gods. I have said to you, Eat this bread so that you may live in my grace, but why has man not been able to resemble his Master with his works? Because spiritually and morally he has been deformed into materialism and as long as he has the longing for the greatness of the Earth, he will not be able to possess the Promised Land.

64. I said that first a camel would pass through the eye of a needle, that a rich miser would penetrate into the heavens, and if someone asks me if the one who was rich is condemned to never enjoy the delights of my Kingdom, I tell him that when that heart has divested itself of its greed, its egoism and its materiality, it will have ceased to be the rich miser and then it will be able to penetrate into my Kingdom. My justice condemns no one, least of all eternally. The fire that the Scriptures tell you about is the inexorable conscience that will burn like fire until it purifies the spirit of every stain and that fire ceases when the trace of sin has disappeared. Understand that it is not I who am dictating your sentence, it is you yourselves.

65. The time in which you are penetrating is the one in which you will discover the treasure that my charity endowed each being and that no one on Earth has taught you to discover; rather, these lessons were forbidden and hidden by men afraid that you would come to know you; but I have arrived who know that by the way of the spirit and conscience, no one will be lost, to encourage you and continue searching, studying and knowing your being, which is a principle to find and know me. Who can stop you from looking within yourselves? Who could know the moment of your spiritual communion with Me? Who can close your eyes to the light of truth?

66. You are finding yourselves and through the spirit you are receiving the revelation of spiritual life. Who of those who have awakened and contemplated that light will be able to attack his own spirit? Who would dare to deprive his body of its existence, having the intuition of what the afterlife is? Know that it was not chance that sent you to earth. Nothing is done without my will. I have sent you to be guardians of peace, which you will share with your brothers through prayer, word and thought, when you communicate spirit to Spirit with my Divinity.

67. Look at war, famine, plague and death as a gloomy procession that goes from village to village sowing mourning, desolation and extermination. Fight the war, you have the weapons of love and charity. You, from this world, can be subjects of my Kingdom of peace by loving one another.

Love one another!

MY PEACE BE WITH YOU!

Love one another!

Teaching 72

1. Blessed are those who with respect and humility penetrate the divine revelations with the eyes of the spirit, because their testimony of my manifestation as the Holy Spirit will be true. Go to humanity and even in the arid lands sow the seed of my Doctrine and irrigate it with the water of my love.
2. There are many who at this time contemplate the spiritual; but do not for that reason believe that all of them love me; I have already told you that not everyone who says to me "Father, Father" loves me, but he who silently performs charity with his brothers and humbly penetrates into communion with Me.
3. The gift of clairvoyance is a gift of the Holy Spirit, but while some are humble and know how to tremble with joy and fear before the sights that I grant them, others in their vanity are flaunting the gift they possess.
4. Why are there disciples who seek the first places, if I do not distinguish any at my table? I, Who am the Teacher and who should occupy the center of the table surrounded by the love of my children, by penetrating into the heart of each of them, I have found in some a tribunal where my words and my works are judged, in others a gloomy prison where they mock and mock Me, and in others I have found a cross prepared for a new sacrifice.
5. Some of my children suffer as they contemplate the misunderstanding of the people who are always disobedient to my commands and teachings.
6. However, and despite so much selfishness, there are those who know how to visit the prisoner in his cell, the sick in his bed, and there are those who go to hospitals to bring those who suffer there, forgotten, a ray of light. Those who do this love me in their fellow men and honor me with their deeds.
7. Quiet your mind, think that the moments in which you will have me present at this manifestation are already short; the year 1950 is coming and I contemplate you still sleeping in a deep lethargy. It is that you listen to my words through a sinful matter like yours and that is why you do not give them the credit they deserve; but the day will come when my prophetic word will be fulfilled and you will repent of your misunderstanding.
8. This has been the time appointed by Me to speak to humanity, then yours will come; but if you close your lips and do not make my Doctrine known, the stones will speak and the elements will awaken you.

Love one another!

9. People: I come to deliver you from the pain that burdens you, help me in this work Do you have the will to do it? Then learn from Me, listen to my lecture, take advantage of this time which will pass quickly for you.

10. If the upper room is left empty and the table alone, it will be because the disciples scattered along the roads carrying the good news on their lips and not because they have turned their backs on me and have not come to my call.

11. After my departure, but before you spread throughout the world, I promise to come in spirit to give you the light that will make you understand everything that I inspired you with my lessons and to give you the indispensable strength to fulfill your mission. In those moments it will be the light of the Holy Spirit in every understanding; some will see me, others will hear me and everyone will spiritually feel my presence.

12. Make yourselves worthy of that grace, so that none of my words may be erased from your heart because you would fall into forbidden paths.

13. Learn now, fill your spirit with my light, because the moment will come when you will feel the impulse to get up to fulfill your mission; but what can teach who has learned nothing? Can a blind man guide a blind man?

14. With true faith you feel that my presence is among you, but you feel incapable of doing great works on behalf of your brothers; but in truth I tell you that despite your coldness, at this time there will arise from among you disciples who will leave everything to follow in my footsteps, as well as sinful women who by my word will rise up to sin no more and be an example before their brothers.

15. See that the light of the Sixth Seal is illuminating your spirit. The book is open because from the first to the sixth the Seals have been untied. I have been gathering those who will bear my sign to entrust them with a very delicate mission. At the end of this stage I will receive those who have complied with it and those who have disobeyed or altered my commands, I will make very serious charges against them and my word will be severe with them.

16. People, understand that you should no longer waste time on vanity, on acquiring superfluous wealth or on new worldly experiences. Know that every moment I give you means light and progress for your spirit.

17. My presence surprises this humanity unprepared to receive me. My manifestation in spirit in this Third Time coincides with the greatest materialism of science, which has reached its greatest height. I see the weapons with which men are preparing to combat my Doctrine, which are: their science, their philosophy, their materialistic theories, their egoism, their ambition and their arrogance. But I possess a sword that is the truth whose radiance no one can resist, its light in this time will illuminate humanity and will expose everything that is false and will destroy darkness. When my light shines in all paths and the truth is in all spirits, who will be able to shelter the imposture? Who can fool his brother?

Love one another!

18. The human heart has hardened to the point of becoming insensitive to the spiritual, which is its essence and its origin. I tell you that while my charity calls to your heart without receiving an answer, creatures inferior to man and everything created, feel the presence of the Creator. I speak to the mountains and they answer me; I speak to the birds and they answer me with trills; I bless the valleys and they are covered with flowers; but I speak to men and to be heard I have to die, as a man, before them; but if I have come again, it is because I know that your spirit will rise in the light of my lessons to return to the true path.

19. Beloved people, I give you the name of Israel because once again I have come to give you my Law and to teach you perfect worship. You were far from worshipping the elements and the stars, as the ancients did; however, I found you at this time given over to a new idolatry. My word has had to fight against your mistakes and there are still roots of past customs, beliefs and traditions in many hearts.

20. Where are the gods of gold and silver that men forged in times past and where are the divinities that the imagination of humanity created? Stone upon stone they have been falling from the imperfectly erected altars.

21. Today I come to you with a teaching that although it seems impossible for the world to practice it, once it is understood, it is the easiest to fulfill. I come to teach you the cult of love for God through your life, your works and spiritual prayer, which is not pronounced by the lips in a certain place, nor does it need forms or images to be inspired.

22. It is not my will that you continue to live in darkness; that is why I have sent my light inviting you to communicate from spirit to Spirit with your God.

23. My Doctrine teaches you to look at me closely as a loving Father and not as a distant God, as most of humanity feels to me; it also points out to you the cleanest, easiest and most certain way to reach my presence.

24. People, here you have a perfect teaching; try to elevate yourselves, strive to raise the mountain, purify yourselves so that your spirit may be freed from worldly passions and may experience the joy of dwelling in the infinite. Understand that your spirit is hungry and thirsty to be sustained by my love in the regions where my strength, my essence and my universal effluvium vibrates.

Love one another!

25. When you have managed to take a few steps forward, do not give room to vanity believing that you are the first people on Earth possessing the truth. Do not forget that without humility, all your works will be false.

26. I want you to distinguish yourselves by charity, by spirituality, by virtue, so that with your life you may give the best testimony to humanity that you are Israel, the People of God, into whose bosom my word is inviting every spirit to penetrate.

27. Today you want to explain why you are Israel, and you have no arguments; you want to explain why you are spiritualists and you lack words; you try to demonstrate what your gifts are and you lack reasons and spiritual development to manifest them; but when your elevation becomes true, the necessary words will come to you, since with your works of love you will explain who you are, who has taught you and where you are going.

28. Times are approaching full of surprises and unexpected events for humanity; I want this people to know how to give the right interpretation of those events, since in my word it has been revealed to you what is to happen.

29. You are under trial and in preparation within the divine crucible of my Work; but do not faint before the pain, because it is necessary that you be polished. Learn to hurry the cup of bitterness with patience so that you have the right to comfort those who suffer and do not curse the pain, since feeling it in yourself you will be able to better understand that of your brothers.

30. I am preparing you to be doctors of the spirit and of the body in a short time; but know that he who heals the spirit is more important to Me than he who heals only the pain of matter.

31. To the men, women and children who listen to my word I say: keep it in your heart and remember in the light of your conscience my maxims and precepts, because tomorrow they will be the weapons that will serve you to spread and propagate the Doctrine that will be your cross of love and redemption so that I can say to you: Blessed are you, because you are recognizing the true path of the spirit from which many have departed because it is long and they have said to me: Lord, we cannot follow you.

32. There are many who have listened to me but few who follow me and I use these to encourage those who have strayed from the path to make the blind see, hear the deaf, walk the paralyzed and raise the dead. Through my servants I have done and am doing prodigious works among humanity to awaken it from its deep lethargy.

Love one another!

33. If in the Second Time you left me alone on the cross hurrying the chalice of gall and vinegar and it was only my blood that was spilled on Calvary, now you will accompany me with your cross taking your Lord for a Cyrineus just as I had on the Via Dolorosa a man who helped me with the cross. Your life is the street of bitterness through which you will arrive step by step, falling and rising to the top of the mountain where you can say to your Father: Lord, into your hands I entrust my spirit.

34. Who will be the ones who will follow me to the end without boasting? You don't know who will arrive? All, the Master tells them; some first, others later. Some with less pain and others with great sacrifices according to the path that each one chooses and the way they walk along it.

35. The straight path is the shortest, it is traced with light, with love and virtue: it is the path of the Law.

36. The crooked paths slow down the journey more, but at last you will all reach Me.

37. You do not know the mansion of peace that the spirits who reach the summit reach, but you have faith in the existence of the Promised Land and that is why I say to you again: Blessed are those who have believed without seeing.

38. From ancient times the prophecies announced to you that at this time every sinful and non-sinful eye would see me; but Jesus, limited in human form, not everyone will see. My presence will be contemplated by the eyes of your faith, of your love and elevation.

39. My voice will vibrate in the depths of your being and you will feel me living with you. But you must clean your dwelling so that you will not be ashamed to receive me there if it is stained. Seek the help of your spiritual brothers and they will help you in your preparation.

40. You have already started your march along the path of your spiritual evolution, continue it without fear. I have encouraged you in the trials I have given you. What human power could have lifted the one who was sunk in the abyss? Who could have made the impossible that was in your life possible? Who could destroy the bonds of temptation that overwhelmed your spirit?

41. I am the only one who can do these works among you without asking you for a reward for them. It is not that I come flaunting before you what I give you by listing my benefits to you; it is that I want my lessons not to go unnoticed and for your spirit to analyze and understand them. I want your heart to be softened so that it may help the spirit to carry out good works and sow the path of your brothers with love and charity.

Love one another!

42. You come to these humble precincts to listen to my word as to a school to which you come to learn what you will later have to put into practice on your way. Understand that just by listening to the lesson you have not fulfilled. I offer you the world so that in it you may sow the seed of my lessons; I entrust you with your home, I point out to you the regions and the roads, the prisons, the hospitals, the orphanages; the places where vice and evil reign are propitious fields for your prayer and your works of charity.

43. Overcome yourselves and the way will be easy for you; then you will be able to overcome the beast that John my apostle contemplated in his revelation.

44. Many times you have wanted to promise me that you will follow me and I have sealed your lips so that they do not pronounce the promise. Others of you have wanted to write the oath that you will always love me and I have stopped your pen because I want it to be from your spirit that the unshakable purpose of following me springs.

45. If you could contemplate your own spirit for a moment, you would be amazed to know who you are; you would marvel at its light and you would feel respect for yourself. But if you cannot see it with the eyes of your body, have faith in it by its manifestations and thus your matter will not continue to be a prison or an obstacle to its elevation. Think that your spirit as a being similar to the Creator is destined to perform works worthy of the One who gave Him life.

46. Now more than ever you must gather your strength to seek the progress of your spirit that in many of you has left behind an imprint of pain, mourning and tears. But now that you have left the city of sin and are approaching step by step to the virgin land that awaits you, do not turn back your face, go on to the end.

47. Look at humanity disoriented, because the great religions that call themselves Christian give more importance to the ritual and exterior than to my own Doctrine. That word of life that I sealed with works of love and with blood on the cross no longer lives in the hearts of men, it is enclosed and mute in old and dusty books. And there you have a Christian humanity that neither knows nor understands nor knows how to imitate Christ.

48. That is why I have few disciples at this time; those who love their brother, those who suffer, those who relieve the pain of others, those who live in virtue and preach it by example, those are the disciples of Christ.

49. He who, knowing, hides my Doctrine or makes it known only with his lips and not with his heart, that is not my disciple.

50. I have not come at this time to look for stone temples to make myself present in them; I come looking for spirits, hearts, not material finery.

Love one another!

51. To the men who deny my existence because they have strayed into the paths of science, I look at them with pity; to those who try to destroy me in the heart of humanity I do not even see them as enemies, I love and forgive them because they are my dearly beloved children.

52. Enter into my word, but do it with respect and do not want to come to know what should only be of the knowledge of your Lord; but feel the infinite joy of knowing that you have for God a perfect, wise and just Being.

53. Beloved people: look at this burdened and sick humanity that does not realize the time in which it lives, nor of my presence among men.

54. Wake up people, because I am giving you a message of light, faith and health for this humanity. Come out of your lethargy and meditate on the mission that you bring to Earth at this time.

55. I do not tell you that you will be the saviors or redeemers of this humanity, no; but I do let you know that having been witnesses of my word you will have to take the good news to the regions and nations; that mission will not be fulfilled by repeating my phrases, but by explaining them, always accompanying them with works of charity, sowing love among your brothers.

56. Do not doubt your power to do works that surprise and convince your brothers; it is not an obstacle that you are humble and rude so that you fulfill the mission that I have entrusted to you; there is a spirit of light in you that only needs your faith to manifest itself.

57. From among these multitudes of the poor and disinherited, I will enlighten those who will be counselors, doctors of the spirit, commentators on my Work, messengers of peace and prophets.

58. Some will go after other peoples, the others will await the arrival of those you call foreigners, of pilgrims who seek peace, light, fraternity and hospitality.

59. I have told you that this nation is being prepared so that at the hour marked by my will it will rise up among the peoples of the Earth as a banner of peace and spirituality. She will know how to shelter, be a refuge and protect those who, overwhelmed by pain, come to her. Great is the destiny of this people, that is why I prove it and touch it in my justice.

60. Would not your heart be filled with joy, seeing the great caravans arrive at your doors looking for peace? Would you not rejoice in sharing your bread with the hungry?

Love one another!

61. Prepare your heart and ennoble your feelings because you do not know the hour or the day when my word will be fulfilled. Develop the gift of healing with which I have enriched you spiritually, since many of the walkers and others burdened by fatigue will have to arrive sick. Diseases known and unknown will afflict them; but I give you one balm for all ailments, whether of the spirit or of the body. This balm for him to work wonders needs true charity, which is based on prayer.

62. O blessed nation, where I have made my ray of light reach, converted into a word, where I have made my people arise. Destroy your religious fanaticism, free yourselves from ignorance and you will never be slaves again!

63. I have given to these lands so that when the day comes, the manna of mercy will descend to them and the great multitudes who seek the truth will eat of it.

64. Watch over your inheritance, watch over your gifts, because you are destined to teach humanity spirituality, the Doctrine that reveals the greatest wisdom and ensures the peace of men and the elevation of the spirit.

65. The offices and missions that I entrust to you are far from being a yoke or a burden for you; you have borne the weight of your imperfections and have dragged the chains of humiliation and slavery to offer you a new yoke. These missions that I entrust to you are certainly delicate and of very great responsibility, but their fulfillment ensures your peace, well-being and salvation.

66. Well carried out your mission, instead of being the heavy cross or the painful burden, it is an ineffable pleasure for the spirit and an immense satisfaction for the heart.

67. This is the Age of Elijah, who has come to you in spirit preparing all paths, breaking down obstacles, making light in darkness, breaking chains of ignorance and showing the way to all spirits.

68. Just as Moses delivered Israel from the yoke of Egypt and transferred it to the lands of Canaan, Elijah will at this time free you from the darkness of the world to take you to the light of the Spiritual Kingdom, the New Promised Land.

MY PEACE BE WITH YOU!

Love one another!

Teaching 73

1. The thirsty multitudes have come before my presence and have received my word like a waterfall of crystal clear waters that has washed away their stains. Gratitude has made many hearts open to love in the likeness of the corollas of flowers.
2. This is the time when I offered to return among you. It was necessary that your pain be very great for you to come to Me, but everything was prepared from the beginning of the ages and everything had been prophesied. You did not watch or pray and that is why you got lost on the path; but verily I tell you that despite so many thorns and stones that cover the Earth today, despite so many crossroads, slopes and abysses that exist in it, the way of the Lord is always perceptible to the one who decides to go along it. I have come to remove weeds and obstacles from your path, so that you may behold the splendor of the Promised Land. Tomorrow men will call this Era "The time of light."
3. Great will be the transformation that humanity will undergo in the short term: institutions, principles, beliefs, doctrines, customs, laws and all the orders of human life will be shaken from their foundations.
4. Yes, this is the time of light; I tell you that light is strength, it is purity and it is truth; therefore that purity and that truth will have to shine in all the ways and works of men. Many will then say: Lord, how long have you hidden yourself from our eyes! but I will tell them, It's not that I hid Myself, it's that you spread a thick veil so that you wouldn't see me.
5. Humanity is my countryside, I am its farmer; but I see that countless plagues have fallen on its paths and that has made your salvation too laborious. Materialism, war, sin, have been the plagues that have struck the lands of the Lord without ceasing; but the power to exterminate it is in Me and soon the moment will come when they will be exterminated forever. Then the fields will bloom, there will be peace in the hearts and bread in abundance in all homes. Human life will be like a cult that rises up to Me by fulfilling the precept that tells you to "Love one another".
6. Everyone who wants to become a sower, let him listen to my lesson, engrave it in his spirit and take the seed, the tool and the water to go after the barren lands that he will make fruitful with his love.
7. What better inheritance can you leave to your brothers than to have served the Lord in his blessed lands? Your memory will one day be blessed and your example will be imitated.

Love one another!

8. Understand that this is the time when you will be saved by your own works. Not all the merits should be done by Me in the Third Era of humanity.

9. To help you, I have come again to show you with my light, in the midst of so much darkness, the way of good, so that you may soon reach the kingdom of peace that your heart intuitively longs for, even if it does not know it.

10. You do not know the end of the road, but you have confidence in reaching it; you do not fully know the Father, but his voice awakens in your heart an absolute faith and hope. To those who believe in this way I will say again: "Blessed are those who have believed without seeing."

11. Cease to be the materialized man who at every moment demands the Father to descend to his abode without first having prepared it. Be already the one who knows and can rise up to his Creator; make yourselves worthy of deserving spirit-to-Spirit communication.

12. If on the way you have received proofs of my truth, let them be a testimony and encouragement in your journey. But do not let matter close your eyes to the truths that your spirit receives because it is deaf, weak and ungrateful and may interfere with your path of evolution with its reluctance.

13. I have given you the necessary strength to carry out your mission and with what I have spoken to you so far would be enough to save all humanity, but you are weak and I will continue to give my people my lessons until the appointed time comes for this manifestation to cease.

14. I could divide my people into two groups: one who has understood me, the other who has not come to understand my truth. Both have received the same teaching, but the one who has not understood me is crying, feels needy and failed. Sometimes he thinks he is persecuted and sometimes that he is tied up and cannot fight temptations. He goes on the way feeling that the thistles are stuck at every step in his plant and every day he sheds tears of pain; he leaves on the thorns of the path shreds of the garment of grace with which I have adorned him. The other group is the one who sings victory at the end of his daily task, the one who knows how to rise up in the struggle to bless me, the one who does not cry, nor asks, nor denies; it is the one who when he speaks to me it is to tell me: "Lord, I give you infinite thanks because I have seen your charity in Me because you have manifested yourselves in my trials that are those that perfect my spirit. I thank you that in the midst of these trials I will have your peace and sustenance."

Love one another!

15. This is how those who have understood me glorify me; for them every day, every dawn is a new light of hope and a new step on the path of their evolution. But I do not come to divide you, rather I want to merge you into a single family where I do not contemplate kindergartners and disciples. I don't want superior beings next to inferior beings. If I have given everyone the same gift, I want you all to know how to appreciate it in the same way.

16. You who are crying, listen to me: When you came to my presence hidden in that human body, you presented him to me tired and dejected, sick and decayed; but I healed him, restored his strength, filled his heart with joy and hope; in his hands I left the keys to open the doors of work and I left bread for them, I blessed and purified his people and cleared his path of obstacles. I awakened your spirit from its deep lethargy and if I did not increase it one more gift, it is because it possessed everything since its formation; but I had to take away from him the fatigue, his illness and I judged him at that moment through his conscience. Once body and spirit were strengthened, I merged them into a single being, into a single will so that he would fulfill my Law. What more could you wish for? I said to you, Fulfill this Law and you will have peace in this world and then your spirit will be in glory. This is how I woke you up so that knowing who you are, you would come to understand the highness of your destiny and your mission.

17. Now I say to you: Do not persevere only in listening to me; you must also practice, strengthen yourselves and learn in trials. If you only listen and do not analyze, you will have learned nothing, nor will you be able to practice. Take these precincts as the school where the Teacher comes to teach you the lesson and take the world as a vast field where you can put into practice what you have learned.

18. This world is a favorable field for you to work; in it there is pain, illness, sin in all its forms, vice, disunity, misguided youth, old age without dignity, bad sciences, hatred, war and lies.

19. These are the lands where you are going to work and sow; but if the struggle that awaits you between humanity seems gigantic to you, in truth I tell you that with being great it does not compare with the one that you will have to engage in with yourselves: the struggle of the spirit, of reason and conscience, against the passions of matter, its self-love, its egoism, its materiality. And until you have triumphed over yourselves, how can you sincerely speak of love, obedience, humility and spirituality to your brothers and sisters?

20. See that the most powerful enemy you carry in yourself. When you have overcome him, you will see under your feet the seven-headed dragon that the apostle John told you about. Then it will be when in truth you will be able to say: I can lift up my face to my Lord to say: "Lord, I will follow you", because then it will not be the lips that say it, but the spirit.

Love one another!

21. If for an instant the eyes of your body could contemplate your own spirit, you would be dazzled to know who you are and how you are, you would have respect and charity for yourself and you would feel a deep pain when contemplating where you have taken that light.

22. Today I come to tell you who you are because you don't know each other. You are saying that you have spirit without knowing what it means, without even having faith that you have spirit because you have not seen it as you would have wished in your materialism. If you do not know it, how can you develop it: No longer be the prison or the executioner of the spirit. Let matter not be its owner and mistress, let it free itself, let it reject the unclean inclinations of matter, as one who drives away the wolf that stalks him at every step.

23. Those who inwardly feel that they have understood me and believe that they are fulfilling their mission, help those who come after; but do not offer me your fruit yet because the work that you have wrought, not only in this time, but throughout the ages, is not yet worthy of Me.

24. Do not feel pain about it or be discouraged, If I told you that you had already achieved perfection and that your works have no defect, would you strive to continue advancing on the path of your spiritual evolution?

25. Do not stop any longer, do not turn your eyes to the past; what you left behind was pain, tears and sins, You left the city of Sodom; do not turn your face to it. It was the city of sin. Go in search of a new land whose crystal-clear springs and fertile countryside will make your existence kind and happy.

26. See that there are many paths that open before the spirit of humanity; however, I tell you that I do not contemplate a single perfect religion in this world, even though some are based on my Doctrine. I do not come against the word that I gave you in the Second Time, I cannot ignore Myself; but I ask you: Where is that word, that teaching? I look for it in the heart of humanity and I can't find it. It has remained stored in old and dusty books and there are still some among humanity who have dared to adulterate it; that is why I tell you that I do not find the perfect religion among you, because instead of love and charity, of humility and justice, I find only rites, traditions and vanities, many sufferings and ignorance; but these are errors that do not reach Me. Only love, gentleness, justice and patience come to Me.

Love one another!

27. Whoever loves, practices my Doctrine; whoever feels the pain of his fellow men, suffers for them and seeks comfort for them; that is my disciple. He who teaches virtue by works, by his own life, that is the Teacher. He who truly loves his own brother, that is my deign son.

28. He who, knowing my Law, hides it, cannot call himself my disciple; he who gives my truth only with his lips and not with his heart, is not imitating me. He who speaks of love and with his works proves the opposite, that is a traitor to my lessons.

29. He who rises up unaware of the purity and perfection of Mary is clumsy, because in his ignorance he defies God by denying his power. Whoever does not know my truth in the Third Time and denies the immortality of the spirit, is sleeping and does not remember the prophecies of past times that announced the revelations that humanity is living in this time.

30. Here is why in my third manifestation I did not appear in the bosom of synagogues or churches, because those are not my home. The quarry temples made by the hands of men cannot be my temple, but man's own heart where is the altar of his love, the light of his faith and the offering of his merits.

31. I am looking for hearts and spirits to manifest in them.

32. If you want the truth to exist in you, practice love, make light with words, deeds and thoughts, heal the sick in spirit and body.

33. If there are those who rise up as my enemies, I do not regard them as such only as needy. Those who think they are wise and deny my existence, I look at them with pity. Those who try to destroy me in the heart of humanity, I judge them ignorant since they believe they have the power or the weapons to destroy who is the Author of life.

34. Only a being who was omnipotent like Me could fight with me; but do you think that if a god sprouted from Me, he would be against me? or do you think it could come out of nowhere? Out of nothing, nothing can spring. I am the Whole and I have never been born. I am the Beginning and the End, the Alpha and the Omega of everything created.

35. Can you imagine that any of the beings created by Me can become God? All creatures have limits and to be God it is necessary to have no limits. Whoever harbored such dreams of power and greatness has fallen into the darkness of his own pride.

36. Egoism cannot exist in Me, that is why, being great in my Divinity, I wanted you to be great too. I know that while you are small, you will be weak, and you will not be able to follow me, understand me, or love me. That is why I am looking for you to teach you and make you great in spirit and understanding; I love you and I want to feel you close. A Father can never be happy knowing that his children are absent and that they also suffer.

Love one another!

37. My mansion is prepared for you; when you come to it, you will truly enjoy it. How can a father live in a royal apartment, savoring delicious delicacies, knowing that his own children are like beggars at the doors of his own house?

38. My children, you have done justice to yourselves for transgressions of my Law; you have stumbled along the way believing that I have punished you and you have called me ungrateful forgetting that the one whom you call unjust and ungrateful is your Heavenly Father.

39. Did you not conceive the Father's love through the stern Judge of the First Time? And in the loving Master of the Second Time did you not discover the Father? Remember that I said to you, "He who knows the Son knows the Father."

40. Today, when my Holy Spirit speaks to you, He truly speaks to you the wisdom of the Father and the love of the Son.

41. I do not come to humble you with my greatness, nor to flaunt it; but I do come to show it to you in my will so that you may feel the supreme joy of having as a Father to one God all power, wisdom and perfection.

42. Take pleasure in thinking that you will never see the end of my power and that the greater the elevation of your spirit the better you will contemplate me. Who can be displeased to know that he will never attain the greatness of his Lord? Have you not been content on earth to be less in age compared to your earthly father? Have you not willingly given them experience and authority? Have you not rejoiced to behold that you have for your father a man stronger than you, arrogant, courageous and full of virtues?.

43. Disciples, never apply this light that I have placed in you to evil. I am teaching you this way because this form of my manifestation will soon cease and the grace that I have poured out among you is so great that some, when they see me leave, in their folly they will feel free to make use of their power and gifts to magnify themselves before humanity.

44. Then: Woe to those who seek flattery, vanity and money! Because pain and trials will make their brothers come to prostrate themselves before them to get a drop of balm, but woe to those who think they are gods, not knowing that their power has become evil and their light in darkness! Woe to my good disciples because they will have to suffer because of them, because there will be confusion!

Love one another!

45. Whenever you want to know if the path you are following is that of evolution, you will consult your conscience and if there is peace in it and charity and goodwill for your brothers and sisters are housed in your heart, you will be sure that your light still illuminates and your word comforts and heals; but if you discover that greed, ill will, materiality and lust have germinated in your heart, you can be certain that your light has become darkness, an imposture. Do you want that when the Father calls you, you will present instead of golden wheat an unclean harvest?

46. Keep these words in the innermost depths of your being so that they will be unforgettable. Fulfill in your life with meekness and you will have peace. I want the bread to be sweet to your lips, that your home is not a fragile boat, that you be united so that when the unbelievers of this word arrive among you, the whirlwind of their words and their evil intentions do not take away your faith.

47. In the Second Time, many were confused because of my presence in Jesus, because it caused division in the bosom of families. Out of five that there were in a household, three were against two and two against three. And while three followed me two denied me. The same thing happens at this time. There are homes in which the father has recognized me and the companion and the children have risen up against him. Others where the woman who is the mother of a family has come before Me and bathed in tears has told me: Master, I follow you and I want mine to follow you, but they, my own children, have unknown me.

48. How few are the families where everyone in perfect harmony comes after my teaching.

49. This is how this people is suffering the ignorance of relatives and neighbors, denying them bread, closing their doors, putting them at crossroads and throwing slander and false testimonies at them. Do not be afraid, be strong, that those who do not know you the most will be the ones who come contrite to seek the footprint that you follow.

50. I love you and I will save you at all times and it will be my charity that you receive in your path, with which the unbelievers themselves will be surprised to see that you have peace in your heart, bread on your table and strength in your spirit.

51. To help you I send you my caress. O disciples!, as my divine ray ascends, my peace will remain in you; but today the Master says to you: Alert people! This is not the time to sleep. Hurricanes strike you every moment and it is necessary that you remain firm. It is a time of judgment and meditation; plague, famine, war, death and all visible and invisible calamities and plagues are unleashed. Pray and work in silence, do not extinguish your lamp or hide the gift that you possess. Be always ready to receive whoever knocks at your door and in this way you will be imitating the faithful virgins of my parable, those who knew how to wait for the chaste bridegroom with his lamp lit.

52. Your spirituality will come to influence the minds of all those whom you want to help; in this way you will be able to illuminate the path of your brothers who govern you on Earth. They must have the doors of their hearts open to receive the foreigner and they will know how to transmit to them the message of peace that I inspire them.

53. This nation will have a delicate mission to fulfill among the others of the Earth; but for this, first I will uproot every weed, I will make men put off the mask of hypocrisy and fill their hearts with sincerity, fraternity and light. Spiritually, this nation will also have to set an example, but it must spiritualize its worship by putting to death religious fanaticism and idolatry.

54. It is necessary that my Doctrine be lived by you so that others can give it credit and when this people rises, enlightened men will arise from all points of the Earth to extend my Doctrine; they will then thank me because they will not feel alone and will recognize that they all have gifts, because before coming to Earth they received them from my charity under the promise of fulfilling their mission.

55. Blessed is he who develops his gifts guided only by the inner voice of his conscience, like John the prophet, the one whom you called the Baptist, who guided his steps illuminated by the light that he received from his Lord. Who else could teach or speak to him in the desert?.

56. Arise, O people, do not sink into the sunset, do not forget that I have always called you the children of light; let at least every day a flash of light shine in your spirit. How can I do that? your heart asks me. To which I answer that humanity is full of the needy to whom you can give something of what you have as a spiritual flow. It has been time that I have appointed you for this mission and what I have done in this time to mark your destiny, has only been the confirmation of the destiny and the gifts that you received from Me from the beginning of your being. Peace, strength, perpetual light, power over troubled spirits, the gift of healing, the word, spiritual prayer and so many gifts that clothe your spirit, are the weapons with which you will be able to work the peace of this nation, which will be a fruitful land of prophets, emissaries, teachers and apostles of good.

57. When all these prophecies are fulfilled and men look in the Scriptures for some indication of them, they will be surprised to find at every step the clear indication of everything that your eyes have contemplated in this time and in those that are to come. Then mankind will say: Truly this is the Third Age, the new coming of the Lord.

Love one another!

58. For some it will seem that this people enjoys a privilege, but then everyone will feel that the Spirit of the Lord is poured out without distinction throughout his Universal family.

MY PEACE BE WITH YOU!

Teaching 74

1. It is the propitious hour in which, by your elevation, I make my manifestation felt among humanity; by listening to me, you turn away from the world to penetrate into spiritual recollection.
2. Truly feel that you are standing at my table, waiting for Me to divide the bread and offer you the wine. You know that I speak to you in a figurative sense reminding you of my word of the Second Time, since bread is my word and wine is the divine essence that is in it.
3. Bread and wine, body and blood, manna and water, all this has been the representation of the words love and life that is the eternal sustenance of your spirit.
4. The manna of the desert and the water of the rock represented in their time the bread and the wine of the spirit; they are the same symbols that I took at the table, when surrounded by my disciples, I said to them: "Eat and drink, this is my body and this is my blood". With that lesson I opened a new era for humanity, that of love.
5. Today new disciples gather around me and the multitudes follow my footsteps again; but it is no longer only the figurative sense or the parable the means by which I come to make you understand the divine lessons; it is the clear word that speaks to your mind with a divine essence that only with the spirit can you perceive.
6. Meditate on these lessons disciples and you will eventually understand that the time of figurative meaning and symbols is about to end, because your spiritual evolution and your mental development allow you to better understand the truth.
7. I am among you even though you cannot touch me with your hands or look at me with your mortal eyes. I come in Spirit to speak to you and to teach you how you should seek me in your prayer.
8. I will not leave any material trace of my new manifestation, any more than I left it in the Second Time despite having dwelt among you. Humanity is prone to idolatry and to consecrate material objects in order to consider them divine and make them the object of their worship. What would have become of humanity if I had been able to preserve my body, the cross of my martyrdom or the chalice of that last supper with my disciples? But everything was erased so that only my divine essence remained in the spirit of humanity.
9. In former times I also removed from the sight of men both the objects that had served as a symbol, and the envoys or interpreters. In the First time, while Moses was on a mountain, he disappeared from his people who idolized him; Elijah, the prophet of fire, was lost among a cloud that snatched him from the Earth. One and the other, like Jesus, left only the imprint of their works on the spirits as a spiritual essence.

Love one another!

10. Now I am here in fulfillment of one of my promises by gathering all the tribes into one people and men of various races into one apostolate.

11. I am bequeathing to humanity a testament more full of light and clarity; look how religious fanaticism has reached its greatest height in some of my children, while in others, materialism and lack of faith have seized their spirit. Great and bloody is the struggle that awaits both of them until the light shines again between men making them feel the true peace that comes from the love of one another.

12. In the face of a real chaos of passions and ideas, the people who are witnesses and bearers of new teachings will have to rise up. To be believed, it will be necessary to prepare oneself and to be filled with humility, obedience, spirituality, strength and charity.

13. Do not be afraid of the storm, beloved disciples, for I will be with you inside the boat and if you have faith in Me you will not perish. You will fight full of faith, considering that just as you had the joy of receiving my word, all your brothers deserve to know it because there are already many who are waiting for it.

14. Do not say that my Doctrine is difficult to practice or that it forces you to hard deprivations; he who follows me with love does not feel the weight of his cross.

15. This is my word, engrave it in your spirit because soon you will need it.

16. The ringing of the sonorous bell has awakened you; its echo has resonated in your spirit and then you have remembered that this is a day of grace in which your master appears among you. You have risen in haste with the longing to hear this divine word, which is life for your spirit and which fills your heart with courage.

17. In truth, my word comes revealing to you the path that the whirlwinds of life had hidden from you. Understand how close I am to you as I am to all men; my light is with everyone. At this time many spirits will follow the path of light and will no longer be confused. You would be surprised if you saw that the hard of heart and reluctant of the neck are the ones who get up the fastest to follow my footprint; but it is that I have given each one the necessary time to awaken to the light of spiritual life.

18. How many hardened in sin have come at this time to listen to my word and before I have finished my lecture, bathed in tears, have told me: It is you, Teacher! It is that my clean, sweet and persuasive word has been able to speak to the hearts of those. And I tell you that he who once felt my presence will not be able to deceive himself with false appearances. You who have heard Me at this time, prepare yourselves so that you may be able to bear witness to Me because you have to show my Doctrine as I have revealed it to you and not at your whim or will.

Love one another!

19. Just as you had a friend on your way who would give you the good news, so all this humanity that is perishing in a world of hardships will also receive the warning that the Lord is present and will come to listen to me.

20. What would become of you if in my mercy I did not shorten the days of your affliction? You would have all perished by now. In this age I come in search of sinners to give them a task in my divine Work and to tell them that my love has never excluded them. Tomorrow, how much satisfaction and rejoicing there will be in those spirits when they have reached the elevation by the practice of charity. There exists in the infinite a love, which is that of the Father, which has no more interest than that of your salvation and that of your attaining eternal peace.

21 Since 1866 I have opened again the ark of my love, which has overflowed into you as a consolation and revelation. I did not wait for the day of my departure to tell you until then that you were getting up to practice my teachings, but from the first moment you heard them I told you: do charity, bring comfort to the sick, talk about my new manifestation, attract the needy and the lost. It is that I did not want you to become the theoretical disciples, who speak wonders of my Work and who are not able to extend their arm to touch the sick and soothe their grief. Is it true that your heart has been filled with joy when the dying man has been brought back to life by your cares and prayers, by hearing that his lips bless you?

22. The time is near when these my children will stop transmitting my word to you. I am going to leave and the Master will no longer give you this teaching. I want that by then, the feeling of charity will have settled in your heart and spirituality will have penetrated into your life. Elijah, your spiritual shepherd, announced my coming to you and also prophesied to you on the day of my departure.

23. My word, which is simple and humble in its form, is profound in its content and will be so until the last day. Do not ask me to speak to you in flowery words because your spirit does not need them to understand my teaching.

24. I know those who are practicing my Doctrine according to my will and those who are departing from its essence. Nothing is hidden from my wisdom and in truth I tell you that if you want to reach Me, come by the ladder of love, charity, justice and humility.

25. Do not want to turn this spiritual Work into a material work waiting to see its fruits here on Earth. Do not doubt the triumph of my Doctrine, have faith in it and you can turn the plains into mountains and the deserts into valleys. Remember that in the Second Time when Jesus expired on the cross abandoned by his disciples, less by John, they came to think that everything was over; however, later the divine seed began to germinate in the hearts, which could not die because at every step it was watered by the blood of the martyrs, blood that was love and faith.

Love one another!

26. I tell you that at this time my divine seed must be watered with works of charity, with tears of repentance and reconciliation.

27. At this time I came to free you from a new slavery: the temptations, the pleasures, the vices that are like the tyrannical and cruel pharaoh who has loaded you with chains. This new liberation will be celebrated by humanity tomorrow, not with feasts or traditions, but with the spiritual love of one another.

28. The victims that you offered before the altar of Jehovah, were received by Him; but it was not the most appropriate way to raise your spirit to the Lord; it was then that I came to you as Jesus to teach you the divine commandment that tells you: "Love one another". I tell you now that the lessons that I taught you in the Second Time through the works of Jesus have sometimes been altered and sometimes misinterpreted; therefore I have come as I announced to you, to clarify my truth. My sacrifice of that time prevented the sacrifice of many victims and I taught you a more perfect worship. My new manifestation of that time will make humanity understand that symbolic forms should not be taken without first analyzing their meaning, since they are only a representation of my lessons.

29. Before I am felt by a heart, Elijah appears before him to tell him to repent of his sins because the Lord is coming; just as he did in the Second Time through the Baptist when he commanded them to do penance and purify themselves because the Kingdom of Heaven was approaching.

30. My charity reaches at this moment to the spirit and heart of the multitudes who listen to me. This is the time foretold when the spirit of Truth was to descend among men. Hear his voice in the infinite, look at him in the invisible, feel him in your heart. My love and inspiration help your spirit to rise and receive my teachings.

31. Men have misinterpreted my Law and misrepresented my teachings; therefore at this time I come to pour out my light in every spirit and in every mind so that the lesson that I have given you through life you may come to understand it. This world that has been the abode of imperfect beings, of spirits in atonement, will be a mansion of light and spirituality. Today my justice is clearing the lands and cutting the weeds by the roots to exterminate them with the fire of restitution and love.

Love one another!

32. The fratricidal wars prophesied since ancient times make you shudder day by day; their rumors disturb you and their consequences make you shed tears, Those men who make wars with their ambitions and their hatreds, are my children who seek me on altars and worship me in tabernacles without realizing that instead of a love offering they come to offer me the blood of their victims. Ah, blind men who in their pride feel absolute forgetting that they are very small before my Divinity! Human vanity has reached its limit and it is necessary that I make him feel my presence and my power; it is not necessary that I use all my omnipotence to prove my greatness to you; a faint touch or a slight breath of the elements are enough for me to demonstrate to the foolish and vain man his littleness.

33. As the golden calf was abolished at that time, so the worship of wealth will disappear in this one; and as the merchants were thrown out of the temple, so will now be touched those who, taking advantage of weakness and ignorance, profit from the pain of their fellow men.

34. Men have entered into a struggle with their Lord; but wherever they go they find me blocking the way to their iniquities, but those who in that struggle ignore the voice of their conscience find death and judgment, and after that restitution.

35. O disciples who listen to me, search the revelation of the Sixth Seal; there you will find what you are looking at, hearing and living today; but if you have faith in my word, analyze it and keep it in your heart, because the year 1950 is already approaching when you will stop listening to my voice in this way.

36. A whirlwind envelops humanity; but in truth I tell you that my word does not come to increase your confusion; it is the light that comes to guide your spirit and illuminate your intelligence to help you in your spiritual evolution.

37. I am with you again reminding you of your mission of love among humanity, as Elijah penetrates everywhere in search of wayward sheep to bring them to the pasture on his shoulders, so that there they may find the love of their Creator.

38. Remember that I am the way that invites the one who has forgotten him. I am pouring out my word on you so that tomorrow you will bear witness to it with your works of love. Many will come in search of the humble houses where I manifested Myself to remind you of the times when I spoke to you through the spokesman, so that you may explain to them the way in which I manifested myself and the charities and wonders that I did among you. Only the memory will remain under these roofs, because my word and the echo of it, will be kept in your heart. That is why I am preparing the youth, so that they will be the ones who receive those who have not listened to my word and who will come in search of charity. How many will cry for not having heard me! But I also tell you: How many of those who have heard me will cry because they have not prepared themselves and when they see that my word is no longer manifested, they will understand that they did not take advantage of the Father's charity to learn his Divine Doctrine, his lessons of infinite charity and love, They will direct their gaze to the place where the spokesman took a seat to interpret the divine word and they will contemplate only emptiness.

39. The years pass fleetingly, they are like instants; soon you will cease to hear me, that is why I tell you: let me heal, caress and comfort you and let me give you my teaching. I came to prepare you, but if you remain weak in faith and in the will, then you will be sick, and who in the world will be able to speak to you, teach you, and heal you as I did?

40. If I told you that I have always wanted to communicate directly with your spirit by making my voice heard in your heart, you would not believe me, but your materiality and your doubt made the Lord communicate by certain understandings prepared by my love, so that in that way you could hear me and when analyzing my teaching you would understand the greatness of my charity.

41. If I tell you that your spirit, during the sleep of your body, sometimes detaches itself and approaches the thresholds of the Hereafter and seeks me, you would doubt it; but you have lacked preparation and faith to know how to take advantage of those moments spiritually, and I have had to prepare seers and prophets to help you and tell you about tomorrow, to alert you and warn you, so that you watch and pray.

42. Do you believe, people, that this man through whom I communicate, is the one who gives you the word? No, my children, he is your Teacher. Do you believe that the spirit of God is within the speaker as he speaks? Also. I have told you that one ray of my light is enough to enlighten and inspire his mind, putting on his lips an inexhaustible torrent of words of great teaching, as a test for the unbeliever. Listen carefully to Me during this time so that you will be strengthened for the times of trial to come.

43. Before receiving my spiritual presence, you have prayed before your Heavenly Mother to ask her to help you prepare a sanctuary for me in your heart. For this I bless you disciples. Hear my word, which is the way that leads to the perfect, to the eternal.

44. You ask me: What are the divine mansions and the life of perfect beings like? Truly I tell you, do not ask what you could not understand for now. Practice my laws, that practice will take you step by step through the scale of perfection, from which you will be able to contemplate, admire and know, what the Father has saved for the happiness of his children.

Love one another!

45. Your spirit, having been a dweller in the spiritual valley, has seen very little and knows almost nothing about that life. How do you want from here to contemplate the thresholds of what you call Glory or Heaven?

46. The eyes of your body, when they have most reached to contemplate the nearest stars; your science has not taken you much further and your spirit, which is the one that could abolish the distances and discover the invisible to man, feeling in itself and outside of itself, the spiritual knowledge that surrounds it, allows itself to be dragged by the materialism of the world, merges with its matter and instead of rising, crawls and instead of admiring, doubts.

47. Sometimes admiring the wonders of Creation you exclaim in amazement: "Lord, how great is your power", without imagining that everything that surrounds you is but a pale reflection of what eternal life is.

48. I certainly want to awaken with my word your interest in the spiritual life, but understand what I am saying to you: in order to reach that life, you must reach it by the evolution of your spirit and not only by that of the mind. Let the intelligence, the heart, the senses and all your powers be united to the spirit, and you will reach the necessary elevation to be able to look at the splendor of your Father; but if the spirit trusts and surrenders to the capacity of the understanding, then its penetration will be limited, as everything human is.

49. Heaven is not a certain place in the Universe; my Glory is everywhere, in the spiritual and in the material. Do you not say that God is in heaven, on earth and everywhere? Then understand what you are saying so that you may know that where God is, His Glory must be.

50. I want you to come to dwell in that infinite mansion, to reach a state of spiritual elevation that wherever you are in the Universe, you will feel the bliss of the divine, that you will enjoy eternal life and hope for the presence of the Creator. That summit has only been reached by those who have taken me as an ideal, and love as a path.

51. Whoever understands this Doctrine, will have to recognize that this world is only a small dwelling that has momentarily retained the spirit, to reveal elementary teachings to him. From the earliest times a torch of faith has been burning to illuminate the path of men with its spiritual light, but how few have been guided by it. How few have persevered on the way and how many, upon reaching that crossroads where death stops them, have had to present themselves before the spiritual, which is the true homeland of the spirit, as if they were foreigners, without knowing the ways, the laws, or the duties. How unjust you have been to yourselves!

Love one another!

52. Today I have been explaining my teachings to you so that you can retrace your steps and take the path of true life with the knowledge of the end you are pursuing and when death comes to free you from the flesh, may your spirit rise and reach the spiritual abode without being surprised by confusion, as something worse than death. Knowing all this, you will be able to live convinced that you are passengers on Earth, children who had to go through this school. Do not renounce your life, however reluctant and rebellious it may be, nor abhor having to endure the life of this world, which you have considered as a deceitful Eden full of temptations and abysses, because that flesh that you carry as an apparatus to inhabit this Earth, will not be an obstacle to your spiritual elevation, or to make a virtuous life if you manage to overcome its weaknesses, passions and miseries, to let germinate only in your heart the seed of spirituality. By then, this Earth and the Nature that surrounds it, has new lessons in store and also secrets that future generations will have to know.

53. It will no longer be the pain of the Teacher that corrects men, nor wars that touch the pride of peoples, nor misery that purifies the heart of humanity. Other lessons, unknown until now, will be received by the men of those times that I am announcing to you today.

54. Bless your pain, do not dry your tears with courage, bless your bread no matter how poor it may be because no matter how prolonged your pain seems to you here in the world, when you are in the spiritual life, you will feel as if it had been a minute and you will recognize all the good that it did you.

55. Heaven is the state of perfection; I have symbolized it to you as an immense and white city that you have to conquer with your courage, with your faith and with your unshakable will. Be soldiers of that cause. Unite all of you who already feed that ideal and march step by step, winning battles in life, until you make that city surrender to those who conquered it with their love, That city is your home, that home is the endless Universe, where the Creator dwells with his children.

56. Carry my word in your heart and there, in the solitude of your bedchamber or in the peace of the fields, remember it and analyze it; be the good disciple.

57. To those of you who have had the grace to listen to me in this way, I say: keep my word, analyze it, put it into practice in your life because soon it will cease to be heard. I want that when this is, you remain as teachers, firm in my Doctrine and not as confused disciples, or as children who feel orphaned.

58. Today you can still call the multitudes to hear my manifestation; tomorrow, when 1950 has passed, they will only hear the voice of my disciples and witnesses.

Love one another!

59. Do not distrust men, no matter how hard and fanatical you see them in their cults; every spirit is evolved and in time to receive these revelations.

60. Disciples, understand and accept your mission with that love and obedience with which Jesus took his destiny. Pray, watch, patiently pour out the cup of bitterness and know how to carry your cross with love. Inwardly bless everything and forgive from the heart with deeds, those who offended you.

61. Blessed are those who say to me through tears: "Master, I offer you my pain, may your will be done to me." My will is that you have my peace, O suffering and poor people, but forget for a few moments about your sorrows and ask for the world, pray for the nations, "Love one another!".

MY PEACE BE WITH YOU!

Love one another!

Teaching 75

1. You recognize that this is a propitious time to become my disciples. You understand that this path will lead you to the perfect abode, which you do not know, but you know that it exists and that it awaits you. The eyes of your body will never be able to see what only your spirit must look at; but they have infinite wonders with which to recreate themselves, and when admiring them you exclaim: Lord, how great is your power, how wonderful is your Creation, how immense is your love! Truly I tell you, do not stop at the limits of what you can see with your mortal eyes, because beyond all this is a perfect and eternal life.

2. Do not try to imagine what the divine mansion will be like; expect that your spirit will know it when it reaches it by rising up on its own merits. Truly I tell you, you will not be disappointed, because it is the divine surprise that as a reward is reserved for every child of God.

3. This earthly life is temporary and serves as a stepping stone to climb and a crucible to reach true life. The teaching that I have come to reveal to you will show you the way so that through this life you may reach light and peace and get rid of the material bonds that bind you to the world. The one who from here prepares his spirit for that transit with his works of love for his brothers, by penetrating the spiritual valley feels himself in his true home, in his true homeland, is not a stranger. On the other hand, the one who by surprise penetrates into that infinite valley will have to feel like a foreigner in an unknown country. There are those who do not believe in this life, others who believe in it but fear it, but there are others who, because of their innumerable sufferings, ardently desire it. To the latter I say: do not wish to penetrate into the spiritual life believing that you will find in it only rest for your sorrows, because I promise you something more than that in that existence. Wait, resist your pain, pray and meditate, and the distance that separates you from Me will be shortened. Your crying in this world is not eternal, I have not created you to impose a torment on you. Understand that every pain has a cause, that this cause is some imperfection of yours; therefore hurry up the contents of that chalice that many teachings will reveal to you. Think about all this before my voice calls you to the Afterlife.

4. This is how I speak to all humanity, but to my disciples I say: you have to be my strong soldiers, those who leave a trace of love behind them and carry peace, fraternity and goodwill as their banner. Analyze my teaching so that you will not be confused by so many theories and doctrines that exist in the world today; but if anyone becomes confused, it is a sign that he has not understood my word. Therefore I say to you, search my word if you will, but do not let the wind carry it away. Keep it in your heart, remember it in your solitude and review it in the peace of the fields, then you will feel my presence, my love and my charity again.

5. Who will become teachers in my teaching? Understand that you will not only have to teach with words but with deeds, because they will be the first thing you show to the world. Humanity is tired of words. Is it a sacrifice to fulfill the law that your Lord has taught you? At that time I said to you, "Love one another as I have loved you" And Elijah has now said to you, "Charity and more charity to your brothers and sisters and you will see my Father in all his splendor."

6. You form a people or rather a group of spirits in whose bosom I have manifested myself now and in all times.

7. The Messiah that the prophets announced and the patriarchs waited for, the Teacher who gave his word and his life to the world promising that he would return, is this one who today in the humility of this people has appeared invisible to the material eye, but full of glory and majesty before your spirit. I have not come to hurt you, claiming the way you treated me at that time, could God ignore the fate that awaited him when he became a man? Truly I tell you, the Father voluntarily imposed this sacrifice for love of you, He knew before he came that the cross was waiting for him; he also knew that his sacrifice was going to give you the perfect lesson of the purest love, and he was going to teach you the way by which you will achieve the forgiveness of your sins.

8. Understand that I am the faithful guardian who watches over all, both for the righteous and for sinners. Like the thief who waits for the night to surprise those who sleep, so I penetrate into your heart, from there I take only pain and instead I leave you my peace as proof of my presence. Know how to feel me in the acts of your material life. Feel Me when you sit around the table eating your bread. Truly I tell you, I am present at that moment. Eat in peace and I will be the one who distributes your bread, bread of concord, peace and blessing.

9. How much the Divine Spirit suffers when he encounters in homes, disunity, ill will and lack of charity! If you return to the path of love, you will instantly feel the peace of my presence.

10. My lessons are very extensive for you to assimilate some of them. When those whom you call foreigners come to this nation and learn of this revelation, they will be intrigued and ask me: Lord, why did you love this people so much and favor them with your lessons? To which I will answer: I love Him just as I love you and all mankind, but not everyone would have understood me in the way I manifested myself. You will not look at them as foreigners, you will sit them down at your table and converse with them, because among those hearts are those who will take my word to other peoples. They will sow on their way and they will fight like good soldiers and when the struggle has passed and peace, like a divine iris, appears in the firmament, a spiritual hymn of all my children who in different parts of the Earth were united in prayer and struggle will spring up. This hymn will be the one that says: "Glory to God in the highest and peace on earth to men of good will."

Love one another!

11. Today you are still like children who need the love of their father; that is why I come to lavish my caresses on you, because I am your Father, I penetrate into your heart and I know everything that you keep in it. No one can have secrets from Me, for I dwell in yourselves.

12. When you were just beginning to hear this word, the flame of your faith was weak, its light dim; but as you understood my teaching, the lamp of your faith became a luminous torch.

13. Truly I tell you, it is only with faith and an unwavering desire to fulfill my Law that you will be able to cross this desert, like the strong Israel of the First Time.

14. Do not shun the trials of life, nor disobey my teachings, for they are forging your spirit.

15. The strong will be the ones who give the best testimony of my manifestation and of my truth; the weak will go around looking for how they pretend to fulfill their mission, when in reality they do not testify with their works to the love and charity of my Doctrine.

16. There are still a few years left in which you will be able to continue listening to these lessons so that you will be properly prepared to transmit my teachings, once my word has ceased.

17. From now on I tell you that you are nothing more than anyone, that the belief that you have nurtured that you are a people of privileged beings is a mistake, because the Creator in his perfect love for all his creatures, distinguishes no one. I tell you this, because tomorrow you will have to teach your brothers the Doctrine that I bring you at this time and I do not want you to appear before the last as superior beings, nor that the merits made you worthy of being the only ones to listen to my word.

18. You will be understanding, humble, simple, noble and charitable brothers.

Love one another!

19. You will be strong, but not arrogant, so that you will not humiliate the weak. If you have great knowledge about my Doctrine, you will never flaunt your knowledge so that your brothers will not feel dwarfed next to you.

20. You shall bear in mind that all that you have accumulated in your heart was not given to you to treasure, but to make known my truth to your brothers, a portion of whom is assigned by Me for each farmer.

21. Why repeat to you at every step that everything good you do will be for the benefit of your spirit?

22. Do not feed selfish interests thinking only of your salvation and your reward, because your disappointment will be very painful when you present yourself in spirit, because you will find that in reality you did not know how to earn any reward.

23. In order that you may better understand what I want to tell you, I give you the following example: There are and there have always been men and women who have tried to do works of charity among their brothers and sisters and who, however, when they come before Me, have not presented me with merits for their spiritual happiness: What was this due to? Can you imagine that they have been victims of an injustice on the part of their Father? The answer is simple, disciples: They could not collect a good for themselves, because their works were not sincere, because when they extended their hand to give something, they never did it moved by a true feeling of charity towards the one who suffers, but thinking of themselves, of their salvation, of their prize. Some were moved by interest, others by vanity, and that is not true charity because it was not felt or disinterested and I tell you that he who does not carry sincerity and love, is not sowing the truth or is carving out a reward,

24. Apparent charity may provide you on Earth with some satisfactions that come from the admiration you arouse and the adulation you receive, but the apparent does not reach my Kingdom, there only the true arrives. You will all arrive there without being able to hide the slightest stain or impurity; because before presenting yourselves before God you will have stripped yourselves of mantles, crowns, insignia, titles, and everything that belongs to the world, in order to present yourselves before the Supreme Judge as simple spirits who will answer to the Creator of the mission entrusted to them.

25. Understand that you are the people who have been walking since the First Time; unite yourselves now in one will and thus you will be able to see my wonders and say God has forgiven us, the Lord pours out his love on us.

Love one another!

26. Some of you come in the wrapper of a child, others in that of a young man or a maiden, and others in an old man; there only my gaze can discover you, only I know the burden that each one brings and the atonement that he is fulfilling. The thistles that have stuck in your feet, only I see them and it is my love who pushes them aside, to then heal your wounds.

27. I want it to be my word that you will receive until 1950, the one that unites you all, other than pain; but as long as you say: "In such a place it is not true what is given", you will be cultivating in your heart the seed of division and discord. Your pride and your vanity makes you feel superior and first among others and in that way you are not imitating the Divine Master. The Word, being one with the Father, became man for the love of sinners and you do not know how to renounce your pride, your false personality to love your brothers, as I have taught you.

28. To communicate with this people, I have had to humanize my voice by making use of a human spokesman, who is not even clean of understanding and heart. You judge the actions of your brothers and sisters and if you find them imperfect, you ignore them and turn away from them, and I ask you: Is that the teaching that I have given you? Like a new Lazarus I have said to this people: "Get up and walk", but the life that I have given him has been so that he consecrates it to love and serve his fellow men, but you have not tried to imitate the meekness of the Lamb, you are reluctant with necks, hard of heart and that is why there are wars and division in your bosom, imitating with it the peoples who are at war. Remember that I said to you, "Do not judge your brother, for in due time your Lord and God will come to judge you." Do not imitate the bad examples of men, imitate your Teacher. You have a perfect example that serves as a lesson for you in your march of evolution towards the Promised City where the love of your Father awaits you.

29. Do you want those prophets of the First Time to arise among you, who, amid lamentations in the streets and squares, admonished you, so that you would do penance and repent of your faults? Verily I say to you, you would judge them astray from their minds and would not believe them. But some will rise up speaking to the crowds in the porches of the temples and precincts, where men gather to worship me, discovering the falsehood of idols and proclaiming the worship that God wants from His children.

30. Here among you, every speaker, teacher or seer, has been a prophet; their voices united in one have risen to teach this people the way through prayer, the practice of charity and worship through your works of love for your brothers. How is it that you sometimes lose the path when it is traced with the blood of divine love? Is it possible that you confuse them with the paths that men have traced with the blood of murders?

Love one another!

31. Your conscience knows how right I am to speak to you in this way, but your heart resists and believes that I speak to you with excessive harshness; so, full of repentance and tears, you ask me if you will be one of those who will stain this path or fill the hearts of your brothers with pain. I tell you that you will not be confused, because my way is clear and luminous and whoever opens his eyes and seeks him will soon find him.

32. I will lift up my word and later men will come from distant lands to ask you if it was true that God came among you to speak to you as a Teacher. What will you answer then and what will be your testimony?

33. It has been a long time since I have been calling your heart and that is why I was saying that you have me close, but you have not opened its doors for Me to come and dwell inside you. I have remained outside patiently calling.

34. One of the most serious defects is that of hypocrisy; do not proclaim love until you are able to love me in your fellow men. How many of those who have judged the kiss of Judas do not want to see that they have given the kiss of apparent fraternity to their brother and have betrayed him on his back! How many of those who claim to be serving those in need I see giving in exchange for coins, light, truth, charity. Why, when someone has frightened you with his questions, have you done as Peter did in his moments of weakness: deny me and affirm that in truth you have not even met me? Why are you afraid of human justice and not afraid of mine? Truly I tell you that between divine justice and your sins, the intercession of Mary, your Heavenly Mother, who always prays for you, is interposed.

35. I have been teaching you to guide the multitudes, even though from the Second Time I had already shown you how to lead them without tiring, reviving them with the sweetness of my word, sustaining them in the desert and doing wonders to ignite faith in their hearts.

36. I have told you that by the year 1950 my communication that I have had with you through the understanding of the spokesman will end; but I also tell you that before I raise it, there will be spokespersons who, due to their impurity and lack of spirituality, I will close their brains before the appointed time; but this will be so that they will not confuse anyone with lessons that do not contain my truth.

37. My light enlightens, but it does not blind or disturb; I am the Truth. Analyze this word and this manifestation and your conscience will tell you if it teaches you the true life.

38. Remember that there are two eras that this humanity has previously lived through. The first illuminated by the light of knowledge about the Divine Law; the second strengthened with the lessons of divine love that I gave you in Jesus. A new time has already begun to send its lights on men and yet they are still sowing and reaping the seed of evil, destroying each other, causing damage to each other and fighting to the death brother with brother.

Love one another!

39. Centuries and more centuries have passed and still men are not tired of sowing and reaping so much evil, nor have they tired of causing so much crying to be shed, nor of watering the Earth with human blood, to what degree of bitterness will they want to drink the cup of pain that stops them in their incessant career and return to the true path? Your Father does not want you to drink the residue that remains at the bottom of that chalice; however, that is what you are looking for with your pride and your hatreds.

40. Beloved people, look that humanity is hungry for peace. Why don't you prepare yourselves so that with your works of love you can bring the good news to him, lifting him up to faith and to true life? Why not extend a fraternal, noble and sincere hand to her, inviting her to reflection and prayer?

41. It is true that you will stumble over the pride of scientists who believe they know and dominate everything, who believe they have discovered the secret of the infinite; but with how much wisdom and justice I am going to touch you and that will be the moment when this people, who will already know how to testify of my Doctrine, will speak of the spirit, of eternal life and of the knowledge of spiritual communication with God; they will make their voice reach the nations, and that testimony will be like fruitful seed that falls on fertile ground.

42. Men will open their spiritual eyes to the light, but truly I tell you, before that is done, they will still have to receive many trials from Nature with which humanity will be surprised and shaken.

43. When all this has been, the inexorable justice of God will be presented, putting an end to so much desecration and such excessive pride.

44. Pass the hard test; many of those who had forgotten me will remember to pray and many who believed that in order to discover and know the mysteries of Nature, it was essential to renounce all spiritual belief and all worship of God, will be convinced of their error, my light will be bathing them and inspiring what their poor intelligences would never have found.

45. The men of science have been very ungrateful, because they have forgotten who did everything that they are proud of today, because they believe that they have discovered it.

Love one another!

46. They have also been foolish and clumsy, because they have filled themselves with arrogance and superiority believing that they have penetrated into the knowledge of Creation, when in fact they only superficially know it.

47. In the Arcanum of God no one penetrates, unless He deems it good to reveal to His children something of its content; this should make you understand that whoever aspires to know what the Lord keeps in his Arcanum, it will be necessary to seek it by the way of humility, love and spirituality.

48. The supreme knowledge is not reserved to men of developed mind, but to men of high spirit.

49. It would be enough for you, witnesses and hearers of this word, to make known this Doctrine on which men have not reflected, so that they, enlightened by their conscience, would perceive my truth in your words

50. I need men of good will, strong and loyal men, sensitive to the pain of others and jealous of the fulfillment of my Law, so that as my envoys they cross borders, cross countries and go sowing and spreading the knowledge of this divine message, men who will explain the why of trials, of my justice, of wars, of destruction and pain, who also teach the safe way to find peace and health, whether of the spirit or of matter.

51. From this people will arise the heralds, the prophets of my New Word, the husbandmen and sowers of this Doctrine of love and spirituality, so that among you there must be purification and justice.

52. That manifestation of my spirit promised by Me in the Second Time, is this that you are witnessing, people, see that its end is already approaching. Take advantage of each of my lessons because after 1950 they will not be heard in this form again. The time is set and my will is irrevocable. If I did not keep my word, I would cease to be your Father, because I would descend to the plane in which men vibrate, who today affirm a concept and tomorrow betray themselves.

53. There can be no variation in God's plans, because knowing the future, He cannot be wrong.

54. God has planned everything from the beginning, with the utmost justice and perfection.

55. Understand this which I say unto you, that ye also may know how to be steadfast in your works, as your Master hath taught you.

Love one another!

56. I am speaking to you from the radiant cloud of light that my disciples of the Second Time contemplated in Bethany and that the seers have now contemplated. Verily I tell you, even those who saw me depart among clouds did not understand the meaning of that manifestation. Nor did those who at this time saw me descending in spirit understand the meaning of that cloud, until my word explained everything to you and my spiritual messengers made you understand it with their broad and clear word. Also the disciples of the Second Time, in the moments of contemplating the ascension of their Master, without understanding it, had the presence of a spiritual being who explained to them that that Jesus whom they had seen ascending among clouds, the world would see him descend in the same way, that is, in Spirit in a new time.

57. This manifestation is the fulfillment of that promise, O people; if the way in which I have come seems too poor to any of my children, it is because they have not been able to rise spiritually in order to contemplate the radiant light with which my Spirit illuminates the New Era.

58. Also in the Second Time many men who dreamed of the coming of the promised Messiah, felt disappointed when they contemplated the humility of Christ and that is why they denied me. They could not discover through the outward poverty of Jesus the presence of the Kingdom of Heaven, the Kingdom of Light and Truth.

MY PEACE BE WITH YOU!

1. It is a day of grace for you. You come to listen to my loving word that floods your heart with love. You tremble with joy at the thought that you are the forerunners of those generations of my disciples who are about to arrive on Earth; then you confess before Me that you are clumsy and weak to carry out a mission worthy of Me. You doubt because you have not understood me, but I would not send you to fulfill such a delicate position looking weak as you are at this moment. My teachings come down to you day after day to doctrienate and strengthen you, so that once you are firm in your faith, I will send you to the fight.
2. If anyone thinks that sinners are not worthy that I should come to save them, truly I tell you, he does not know me. I do not want death for any of my children and once again I am willing to sacrifice to save them and bring them to true life. Understand that it is not possible for there to be a being who, having been created for a certain purpose, manages to vary the will of the creator, and you were created to rise up to Me along the path of truth. That path is the one that men have lost with their materialism and it is the one that I have come to trace to you again with my love.
3. I will make this humanity, in the likeness of the people of Israel, break the chains of slavery and go to the foot of the mountain where he will listen to my voice that will point him the way to the Promised Land.
4. I did not grant all humanity the grace to listen to my word in this Third Time; I did it with those who could feel and believe me in this form. This manifestation, this word, will serve as a preparation for all humanity to later feel my presence in only one form: the spiritual one.
5. Do not be afraid people, be assured that you will not be alone in that hour because Nature will speak and the elements will testify and fulfill my prophecies so that humanity recognizes that this is the Third Time, that of the manifestation of the Holy Spirit.
6. My righteousness will pass over every creature and touch every human being, just as at that time the angel of the Lord passed over Egypt fulfilling my righteousness, only those who had pointed out their door with the blood of the lamb were saved from it.
7. Truly I tell you, at this time everyone will be saved who watches and has faith in the word and in the promises of the Savior, the Divine Lamb who sacrificed himself to teach you to pray and to fulfill with perfect love the mission of your restitution, because my blood, like a mantle of love, will protect him; but whoever does not watch, whoever does not believe or blasphemes, he will be touched so that he wakes up from his lethargy.

Love one another!

8. The year 1950 is approaching and soon the time of justice of which I am speaking will arrive, the time of the struggle of light against darkness. Prepare yourselves people, watch and pray, feel the pain of your brothers. Look at how the wrappings are getting sick and the spirit full of anguish for the dangers that lie in wait for him, he is looking for a beacon to illuminate him and a balm to cure his ills. I have prepared you to be shepherds of those lost sheep and bring them closer to Me to cleanse their spirit, heal their body and prepare their path by inspiring them with love and righteousness so that they can start a new life.

9. My light has appeared on this Earth and is spreading everywhere, gathering around me my children of all races and beliefs. You who now hear my word, have recovered your gifts, have healed and are full of strength. When humanity knows about these events, it will call you privileged, it will ask you to give it a little of this truth that I have revealed to you and it will listen anxiously to your words. There are many who should already be reading in this book, have delayed its arrival and will come when my word has ceased; but by then you will be prepared and you will teach them with love as I have taught you.

10. Do not be afraid of the darkness in which your brothers live, nor of leprosy, nor of the sword of their tongue. They will come to you, some reluctant, some understanding; you will teach them all with charity. I have spoken to you with love and my words have been a caress and a comfort for all my children. I have appeared before great multitudes without looking that some believe and others deny my word. I have come to cultivate the human heart without any distinction; this watering of my love will fertilize it and in a short time man's life will be transformed. After my word has ceased, you will remain as my disciples and you will follow in my footsteps, testifying with your works the truth of my lessons.

11. I want to make of you a strong people, a fighter, who overcomes obstacles and reaches the end of his mission to conquer the reward that I have promised him. When I have anointed you, I have made you recognize your gifts and you have been prepared for the great journey. Do not put these gifts to the test, but rather believe in them and do not lack faith. Do not test Me, for if you do this, I will always prove who I am; but if I put you to the test, you would falter.

12. If you want to heal the sick, do it in my name by humbly carrying out your mission. When I indicate the end of the life of your brothers, do not ask me to prolong their existence; become guides of those spirits who are called to the Hereafter and to whom I entrust your charity; but when you have to restore the health of the body, feel the pain of your brother and resort to your gifts, advising and giving strength and your love will do wonders.

Love one another!

13. You make Me present to the hearts that because of their insensitivity have not received my Doctrine; put on patience, that if you have faith in my word you will sow this seed in all hearts and I will grant to your portion the necessary tests for their conviction.

14. I want you to always remember my lessons because I have not come to speak in the desert, but to deposit my light in your spirit and heart. Think that if you waste my teachings, there are many hungry people who have been waiting for me for a long time because they know that I have to come to correct all the mistakes.

15. My chosen ones are wisely scattered among all nations; they all have a commission from me to fulfill. Some will come to this nation, apparently moved by material causes: some in search of work, others for tranquility; for that time I want you to be prepared, that you already be my disciples. Only in this way will my word be believed, by the example and faith that the people know how to give to their brothers.

16. I am the divine administrator who will send you in time to scatter the seed, but I do not want to hear these words from my disciples: Teacher, you have told me that the earth was prepared and clean and I have found thorns and stones on which I have stumbled. And I answer you: I have not offered you a flowery path, I have told you that it is the same one that Jesus traveled in the Second Time and after Him all his disciples.

17. You can all follow me because you are clean. Before I draw you to Me, I have purified you, therefore, you are worthy to scatter my seed in the hearts of your brothers; the lands are arranged and prepared because the Spirit of Elijah has been at this time like the sound of a bell that has awakened everyone who sleeps. All of you who take pleasure in hearing my word have been touched by the grace of that spiritual shepherd. Truly I tell you, when I see you gathered together listening to me, there is joy in Me, and when you do not approach the tree to eat of its fruit, there is sadness in your Father.

18. I have come to gather you to this people, time has dispersed in the world; I have come to gather the twelve families to then make them one and send her on a mission of peace among humanity; but when I contemplate the ingratitude among these children I can not but feel pain and sadness.

19. I come to entrust to you the tree of Eternal Life whose sweetest fruit is health, joy and peace. I have let men cultivate trees and I have seen that most of their fruits have been bitter and they have made humanity eat of them.

20. My word has stumbled over your egoism, that is why I have told you that what I am handing over to you is so that in turn you can make it known to your brothers, but you only want to recreate yourself with my manifestations without contracting duties to others; but the Master has not called you to teach you useless lessons, he has come to tell you to learn this divine lesson so that later you can take advantage of it in your life by putting it into practice with your fellow men. I reveal to you at this moment that your spirit owes an overdue debt to everyone who comes to you with a suffering, with a need or with a request. Look with how much love I place them in your path so that you may fulfill your restitution by making them the object of your charity.

Love one another!

21. The time has come for me to speak to you in order to form a new apostolate within this people. Generation after generation has listened to my word and I have not yet discovered those who by their firmness are the foundations of my temple.

22. The year 1950 will have to surprise you and by no longer listening to my word you will feel like orphans.

23. My justice will have to touch you until you understand that you have to come together and form a people full of harmony and fraternity. Those times are coming and now that there is still an opportunity when you can prepare with love, I tell you: do not wait in your sleep for that hour to arrive.

24. Unification seems difficult to you and your reconciliation and fraternity with all the peoples of the earth impossible; verily I tell you that men will come to recognize and love each other.

25. When men submit their free will to conscience and act in accordance with the divine will, they will feel that the burden of life becomes light and that nothing fatigues the body or the spirit.

26. How much the Father longs for you all to feel before Me as sons and not as prisoners! Whenever you leave the Earth and present yourselves to give me an account of the fulfillment of your mission, you feel dejected under the charges made by your conscience, and it is time for you to arrive singing a hymn of triumph and joy so that you can say to your Father. Sir, everything is finished.

27. If the path had been wide, all humanity would have already reached the summit; but since the path has been one of trials and the gate narrow, it has been necessary to make merits in order to penetrate it.

28. It is impossible for you from this world to try to imagine what my Kingdom, Heaven and Glory is and how it is. I want it to be enough for you to know that it is a state of perfection of the spirit from which he sees, feels and understands the wonderful life of the spirit that today you cannot understand or conceive.

Love one another!

29. I tell you that even the spirits who inhabit higher planes than the one in which you live, do not know the reality of that life. Do you know what it is to live in the bosom of the Father? When you live there, then you will be able to know. Only a vague presentiment, a slight intuition of that mystery will fleetingly cross your heart as an incentive on your path of evolution,

30. Come to the Father by the narrow way of love, which is charity, which is forgiveness, which is humility, and you will remove His sadness from Him.

31. People, I have seen you cry for the world. Blessed are you! Your heart begins to feel the pain of others. I have contemplated you in the silence of the night raising your thoughts to Me to ask Me for peace and balm for humanity. Verily I say to you, you do not know how much the world reaches by your prayer!

32. Do not be afraid that you will not come to know in this life the result of your requests and of your tears for those whom you do not even know. The chisel of pain is polishing your heart and my word inspires charity in you every moment. Today you will understand the strength that you possess by thought, as well as by other gifts that until now you have not cultivated. There is a life within you that is still unknown.

33. can you imagine the pain of a spirit when, upon returning to the spiritual valley, he realizes that he did not know how to fulfill his mission in the world, or reveal to matter his gifts and attributes? At this time I come to give you my lessons again, although in the Doctrine that I gave you in the Second Time I had already given them to you, but then you could not annul them. Everything that you could not understand, you considered a mystery and spread a veil over it. That veil is the one that I have now come to tear with my light so that the mysteries may show you their essence.

34. This is why I have told you that you did not know the power of thought. Today I tell you that thought is a voice and it is an ear, it is a weapon and it is a shield. The same creates that destroys. Thought shortens the distance between the absent and finds those who had lost. Know your weapons before the fight begins; he who knows how to prepare will be strong and invincible. It will not be necessary for you to wield the murderous weapons. Clean and pure thought will be your sword, and faith and charity will be your shield. Even in the silence your voice will resound as a message of peace.

35. This is the lesson that I come to teach you now and truly I tell you that my words will not be lost, just as not a single drop of the blood shed on Calvary was useless. Of the time that I have given you for your material life, I am taking away from you a few moments by which you can attain eternal life. These moments are priceless.

Love one another!

36. I did not even demand that you believe in Me; when you arrived, it was I who came forward to give you tests by healing your ills of the body, giving peace to your spirit or something that you thought unattainable. Then, when you believed in Me and committed yourselves with faith to the fulfillment of my Law, I pointed out to each one his mission so that he would not make a mistake on his way, so that he would only take what corresponds to him and give charity and love to his brothers as I have come to do in you.

37. Do you think everyone who teaches is a teacher? Do you think that all those who are appointed ministers of God are sent by me, that is, that I have given them the mission that they are developing? Do you believe that everyone who reigns, governs and commands in the world possesses the necessary gifts to fulfill that mission? Not village. How few there are who hold the office that has truly been entrusted to them. While some usurp a position that does not correspond to them, those who should perform or are humiliated and postponed. I have had to come again as a Teacher to teach you, I who am your God, to offer you spiritual communion and I who am your King to govern you to channel your spirit on the path of evolution.

38. Yesterday you only stored words that no one taught you to understand or interpret and that only filled you with confusion. Which of you, after receiving my word as a seed and the fertilizing dew of my light that explains everything, still believes in the eternal fire of hell? No. Today you know that it will not be the fear of punishment that will make you fulfill my Law, but your love, born in the depths of the heart. Those times when your spirit trembled before the justice of a terrible and inexorable God have passed. What I figuratively revealed to you in times past has been wrongly interpreted. What you should know is that when the conscience of a sinner manages to turn the spirit away from his materialism and points out all his mistakes, the understanding of his ingratitude will make him repent and the shame he suffers will be so intense that it will seem weak next to it, the false idea of material fire as a purifying element of the spirit.

39. Conscience is the light of God and that light is the fire of love that consumes all impurity. Here is the fire in which the spirit melts again, to rise again full of light.

40. I also tell you that just as there is that fire in the consciousness that is not material fire, there are also darkness and loneliness in the spirit that are not like the ones you have in the world, or as you imagine them.

41. How could you believe that on the day of judgment the bodies of the dead will rise and join their spirits to penetrate the Kingdom of God? How can you interpret in this way what was taught to you in other times?

Love one another!

42. The flesh is of this world and remains in it, while the spirit rises free and returns to the life from which it sprang. "That which is born of the flesh is flesh; that which is born of my Spirit is spirit." The resurrection of the flesh is the reincarnation of the spirit and if some believe that this is a human theory and others believe that it is a new revelation, verily I tell you that I began to make this revelation known to the world from the beginning of humanity; proof of this you can find it, in the text of the Scriptures that are a testimony of my works.

43. But at this time this revelation has come to your spirit in a greater degree of evolution and will shortly be held in justice as one of the most just and loving laws of the Creator. Throw away the belief that you had about the "Day of Judgment", which is not one of your own, because it is a time, and the end of the world is not that of the planet on which you live, but that of the selfish life that you have created on it.

44. Truly I say to you, You are living in the day of the Lord, you are already under His judgment. The living and the dead are being judged; past and present acts are weighed in this balance. Open your eyes so that you may be witnesses that wherever divine justice makes itself felt.

45. Now is when you must remain strong because the tempest has been unleashed and temptations are stalking you at every step. Leave Sodom and Gomorrah, sinful cities, and do not turn your faces, for they are inviting you and since you have been set free, do not fall back into their bosom, lest later you will not have the strength to separate from them. Go without stopping in pursuit of the city of peace, the one that will become established in your heart when the time has come.

46. How long will the trial last? You do not know this, but truly I tell you, the time of purification will be shortened by my divine charity. Elders who weep because your reason tells you that you will not see the triumph of my Law on earth, truly I say to you: Who can assure you that you will not return to the world by then, to be witnesses of the coming of my Kingdom and to take another step on the way? To those who did not return, I say that I will make them contemplate from beyond the triumph of my justice and the voice and the presence of those beings will be felt on Earth.

47. I have given you a new lesson; with it I have destroyed erroneous concepts because you had materialized previous teachings. See that I speak to you in many ways; I teach the same lesson to you in different ways, so that no one will be left without understanding my word. Bear in mind that neither your spirit nor your understanding has the same degree of evolution in all of you who come to listen to me. I know what everyone needs,

Love one another!

that's why I humanize and limit my word to make it understandable to each and every one of my children.

48. After giving you my lesson and in order for your analysis to be correct and your interpretation fair, I send you my spiritual emissaries, messengers and explainers of my word, to help you in your study and find the essence of my revelations.

49. I want you to come to understand the importance of the study and analysis of my word, since each phrase contains, when not a revelation, a prophecy; when not a judgment, a lesson for your spirit.

50. Those who give my Work the importance that it contains in this Third Time and deepen their analysis of my word, will see the flowering and development of many gifts that were latent in their being. Blessed are those who wake up to the voice of their Lord, because when they get up to fulfill their mission, they will realize that they are not outcasts or needy as they had believed and they will also know that they were never forgotten by their Father.

51. Whoever, out of foolishness, unbelief or materialism, does not develop his spiritual gifts and powers at this time will be surprised at every step by the great events and trials destined to manifest themselves in this era; therefore I say to you: prepare yourselves, watch and pray, alert humanity.

52. Have you noticed in yourselves your spiritual awakening? Are you convinced that you were really sleeping? So do with your brothers what my word has done with you and you will be in a position to initiate yourselves in Spirit-to-spirit communication.

53. When you speak of Me and give your testimony, speak clearly so that you will confuse no one. Was it by chance that I came hidden behind the mystery or shrouded in shadows? It is true that I have come in the Spirit, invisible to your human eyes, but spirit does not mean mystery or darkness, but light, truth and clarity for those who know how to observe with good faith and analyze with good will.

54. To this people who have witnessed my communication through the human understanding, I let you know that in order for the time you have dedicated to this study and the struggle you have sustained to stand firm among the multitudes to bear fruit worthy of your merits tomorrow, it is necessary that when this word ceases to vibrate through the speaker you have accumulated in your heart all my teachings, so that you will be able to testify to this truth.

55. My people say to me in their hearts: Master, for many years we have listened to your divine word without being able to get to the bottom of your teaching. How can we achieve the preparation that you ask of us in the few years that remain to listen to you: And I tell you that if you have not come to understand my revelation it has been because you have lacked preparation and meditation to achieve the best analysis of the lessons that I have been delivering to you.

56. I am going to grant you a grace by means of which you will be able to extract all the wisdom that I have given you in my word; but do not think that this grace consists in prolonging my stay among you, no; what purpose would it have to stay longer after having said everything and having bequeathed it to you in the writings? You will have that grace of which I am speaking to you immediately after my word has ceased to vibrate in 1950; then I will grant you some time to devote yourselves to reading the innumerable lessons that I gave you; you will do a conscientious meditation and a deep study that will help you discover the whole essence that the Word turned in his communication with men.

57. With that study you will be spiritualizing and advancing in knowledge and preparation. Then you will exclaim with joy: Lord, blessed are you, because you gave us the opportunity to take advantage of that flow of light that you brought us and that was already receding from our hearts.

58. This is the Third Testament of the One God Who has manifested Himself to men in three different forms or phases.

59. You will not be able to deny that during the time of my communication my pleasantries were with you, although my justice was also present; all this has helped you to understand that it was truly a divine revelation and that it is true that a new era has begun for humanity.

60. O blessed nations, even if you do not feel the closeness of my presence, nor do you realize that you have penetrated into the new time that is of light and justice, I give you my love, my forgiveness and my blessing!

MY PEACE BE WITH YOU!

1. Welcome you beloved farmers who have become my companions of struggle and work.
2. Joyful come to offer me the fruit of their labor those who have embraced this cross with love because they are happy knowing that they serve their Father. Others arrive sad and downcast before Me; they are the ones who, when they heard that they were called heretics, traitors or sorcerers in the street, felt invaded by fear and shame and since then they hide from the eyes of their brothers; and when they come to talk about my Work they do it briefly with fear and hesitation. What fruit will these timid hearts be able to lift up, and what peace will knowing themselves to be disciples of this Doctrine be able to produce for them?
3. I want my disciples to feel on all occasions, masters of themselves; that they testify with their works of love before their brothers the truth of my Doctrine and carry their high forehead and peace in their heart because all this will be a proof of the firm conviction of the truth that they have embraced a testimony of faith and dignity before their brothers.
4. To the weak and fearful I come to speak to you with words that will lift up your fallen spirit and ignite your faith. I come to convince you that no one in the world will be able to present to you a more perfect and spiritual doctrine than the one I have revealed to you at this time.
5. When that certainty penetrates their hearts, they will no longer hide from the eyes of their brothers, nor will they be ashamed, nor will they remain silent. They will lift up their face, they will put in their actions the light that my teaching radiates and they will not fear anyone's judgment because they will be at peace with their conscience.
6. I have brought you a lesson and I have explained it to you in easy-to-understand words so that you can practice it soon; I have taught you maxims that, being indelibly engraved in your heart, you will be able to keep them in mind at any moment of your life so that when humanity comes to ask you for proofs, you will without hesitation and without fear bear witness to my truth.
7. I have not come to offer you thrones, crowns, or treasures of the world, but the knowledge of the gifts for the spirit; but truly I tell you, one of these gifts alone is worth more than all the kingdoms of the earth.

Love one another!

8. To you I say that even if you know that what I have given you is of infinite value, do not be arrogant about it; keep in mind that I, your King, being the owner of everything created, have arrived humbly and without boasting before you.

9. Whoever wants to know my Kingdom, to dwell in it and to possess its riches, let him conquer it with love and humility.

10. My spirit invites everyone to come after my Kingdom, not only the inhabitants of this nation, but the people of all peoples. My seed is scattered throughout the world, they are those marked with the blood of the Lamb, those who have arrived and will continue to arrive among humanity giving the Good News, awakening men from their lethargy and preparing the way for them. They will raise up the great caravans behind them to guide them towards spirituality; they will go before the peoples like that star that guided the magi in the Second Time indicating to them the place of the Savior's birth

11. It is arranged that I will have to manifest through each of my children and my manifestations will be of light, of power and of consolation. They will be my forerunners, my prophets, my inspired ones, they will be apostles of spirituality, doctors, guides and counselors. All this that I am talking about was already written and planned.

12. Here you had the messenger of the Third Time, through whose lips Elijah spoke, who came to prepare the New Age; you had the spokesmen through whom my word vibrated. In other places, in various forms, they will have my message that will be for their spiritual preparation as this communication has been for you.

13. The message will be brief and once delivered those who received it will have to get up to fulfill it with their works of love.

14. Humanity will be spiritually united with these messages because the essence of all of them will be one: My Truth.

15. Let no one change or alter the meaning of my revelations so that at the time of your meeting you will not stumble upon different interpretations.

16. You who are receiving a clear and broad revelation, as is My Ray of light made word, are in this era the most responsible to this Work and to humanity. Blessed are the disciples faithful to my teaching, blessed are those who diligently seek my word because in them there will be wisdom.

17. There are those who attend my manifestations out of habit and while my word speaks to their heart, their thoughts wander in various places, occupied when not in deep worries, in superfluous aspirations. I tell you not to sleep before my chair, because you do not know the moment when I call you to fulfill a delicate mission.

Love one another!

18. You ask me why I have come to communicate through the ignorant and I tell you that his ignorance will be in his uneducated mind, but not in his spirit which is evolved. Some will say, "Lord, how accurately your prophecies are being fulfilled." Others with sadness tell me in their hearts that they are afraid to imitate the traitor of my apostles forced by the heavy burden of worries and duties they have on Earth. But I say to you: look at Me who, having to attend to the needs of all the worlds and of all the beings that make up the Universe, I still descend among you to bring you a light, a hope or a drop of balm.

19. I promised you at that time to return to humanity and I am here to fulfill that promise even after many centuries have passed. Your spirit longed for my presence in its desire for peace, in its hunger for truth, in its thirst for knowledge, and my Spirit has descended to make you hear a teaching according to the time in which you live. How do men want to continue living as they have done so far? It is no longer time for them to remain spiritually stagnant, nor lethargic in the practice of rites and traditions. 03-077.20 Humanity should already know its Father better, feel the pain for its fellow human beings in its heart and contemplate with the eyes of the spirit the beings deprived of light who wander through space filling their incarnate brothers with pain and shadow so that they could lead them with their prayers to the path of spiritual advancement.

21. To your right and left are the needy, also the dead to the life of grace and you let them pass because you do not know what to do with them; but if you do not know what to do with one of your brothers when you see that the world wars are unleashed and the pain multiplies and overflows, what are you going to do? You feel insignificant and powerless to help those who suffer in any way.

22. It was necessary that I should come in this time of sorrow to remind you of forgotten teachings and to reveal new lessons to you. It will not be necessary for you to come to perform miracles as you imagine them. Truly I tell you, many times you perform real miracles that only I know, because even you do not realize it.

23. I only ask that your faith be great, that you practice spiritual prayer and that you persevere in the good and your eyes will witness great wonders.

24. I promised humanity to return in another time and here you have me fulfilling my promise. He had to come again to conclude a teaching that for two ages he had been revealing to you and the last part of which had been reserved for this Third Time.

25. It has not been your heart that has waited for me, since I lacked knowledge about the promise of my return because my word and my prophecies of the Second Time remain almost hidden; it has been your spirit that has received me because he kept my promise and knew how to feel in the call of consciousness the presence of the Creator appreciating the essence of the divine word, when it touched the fibers of your heart.

26. This has been a time of complacency, in which I wanted you to feel the presence of the spiritual very close, humanizing my word, allowing to a certain extent the materialization of the Spiritual World and allowing that through the gift of clairvoyance you contemplate something from Beyond and something from the future as well.

27. All these manifestations have momentarily dazzled your mind because I find you disoriented. You hear my word and although it is clear you cannot understand its meaning; you know that this Doctrine has descended from Me, free of all human influence and yet you are mixing cults and practices of idolaters and fanatics with it; you know very well that this teaching is spiritual and you would like it to be something tangible or visible to material eyes.

28. You have been dazzled by the torrent of light that has overflowed over your spirit, you have not yet managed to find the essence of this revelation; but in truth I tell you that this confusion will be temporary and that as you penetrate to the bottom of my word, you will acquire knowledge of the truth and spirituality of it, both when interpreting the Doctrine and when practicing it.

29. Not everything has been imperfect and impure; there has been something in you that has allowed you to feel the message of the Third Time and that something has been your sensitivity to the spiritual, for which I have named you precursors of the Most Spiritual among the peoples of the Earth.

30. This message that you are receiving from your Master through the speaker has been the preparatory lesson because my communication in this form will soon cease and then you will begin to communicate from spirit to Spirit and you will rise up after peoples and nations to deliver the message of spirituality that announces to humanity that the Third Time is present, that the spiritual era has arrived.

31. As long as you do not analyze and understand the Doctrine of Spiritualism., I will not allow you to get up and preach, because my word is divine wheat to which no other seed should ever be mixed, nor should it be confused with chaff.

32. Before the light is made in your mind, there will be a struggle within you; but it is necessary that this struggle arise so that it forces you to meditate and deepen in my Work until you manage to see it defined and clear, until you find its truth and its essence. When this struggle ceases, the spirits calm down and the whirlwind calms down, the people will come out of darkness into the light to become the propagator of a doctrine of peace, a teaching of divine morality and a profound and true wisdom that will reveal to men the most unexpected secrets that will help them to be great, strong wise and spiritually elevated.

33. Seek the immortality of the spirit by practicing my Doctrine of love. The lands are suitable for sowing my seed, see the confusion everywhere, men are like the winds that do not know where they come from or where they are going. It was necessary that my light should appear on the path of humanity. The light has already been made, I have sent it, it remains for men to open their eyes to it. In these moments I am preparing you to teach your brothers to raise their eyes to infinity where they can contemplate the divine light.

34. But truly I tell you, how hard and cold I find your heart; despite listening hour after hour to this heavenly teaching, the doors of your charity are not yet opened. I have taught you to visit the sick on their bed, to visit prisons and hospitals to bring a ray of light to those places of atonement; I have taught you to give a wise advice or a phrase of true consolation. Do you know why I am sending all of you to visit these places? So that those who know how to feel the pain of their fellow human beings practice charity and those who are cold of heart so that when they find themselves in front of these pictures of pain, they are moved and the seed of piety and charity begins to germinate in their heart.

35. Make your existence on Earth fruitful so that when you come before my presence you do not have to confess full of regrets, that you did not know how to take advantage of the time and that your life was spiritually sterile.

36. It is the moment when conscience speaks and tells you whether you have worked with cleanliness or not; if you have harmonized with each other; if you have known how to receive with love and charity the needy, the sick, the poor.

37. Pray, beloved disciples, that good inspirations may always accompany you and that you may not fall into temptation tomorrow; I want to see you united in my Work, loving one another and living to serve your brothers and sisters.

38. Each enclosure where you make your love present to me is like a branch; all united they form a corpulent tree, some are large and strong, others are still small and weak, but all are taken into account because from their union freshness, shade and shelter for walkers arises; may each one watch over his branch because the whirlwinds are approaching that will shake the foliage of the tree with violence and fury. This test is necessary for the dry leaves and bad fruits to fall to the ground so that when the caravans approach they will find good shade for their fatigue and fruits in season to calm their hunger.

Love one another!

39. The dry leaves and the bad fruits are all those practices and habits that you have introduced into My Work, not being part of it, those that by dint of practicing them day by day and year by year you have come to look at them as if they were the same Law.

40. I want you to open your eyes to the truth so that you will realize the purity of my Doctrine and that little by little you will be exempting yourselves from everything superfluous that you have mixed in your practices.

41. The tempest is approaching, but it does not come to destroy you, but to leave you a very great benefit if you know how to remain serene and take advantage of its lessons; but if, due to your fanaticism, you stick to your customs and miss the test, you will be plunged into a deep stagnation that you do not know how long it will last; then a new whirlwind will come, even stronger, to take you out of your sleep, your mistakes and your disobedience.

42. Meditate deeply on the purpose of my new manifestation and you will be convinced that I came freed from the lords of the world, from the chains of ignorance and fanaticism, freeing your spirit to help it rise to Me and to serve his fellow men by making use of their spiritual gifts. But after you have been given this freedom, do you want to fall back into darkness and into a more painful yoke? Reflect with the maturity of an evolved and doctrinaire spirit so that you can measure the consequences that a new disobedience could cause you.

43. I convinced you from now on that I did not call you to come to worship new symbols, but to learn a lesson of love; understand that it is not even my will that you always remain united to the warmth of these enclosures, but that once you are strong you will have to get up to practice the lesson learned, it does not matter that you move away from those who together with you listened to the Master, if at last in the spiritual you will always be united.

44. Think that I have told you that scientists, theologians and philosophers will come before you to question you, and that you are not going to hide with unworthy practices and confusing words the splendor of the light that I have ignited in your spirit, nor to tarnish the purity of an unblemished Work such as the one I came to entrust to you, but to show them the wisdom of which I have made you possessors.

45. Think of your children, of those generations of tomorrow, who will see you as privileged beings for having had the incomparable joy of having listened to the Holy Spirit through his spokespersons and who, of course, will want to see in your works the virtue and purity, spirituality and wisdom that you inherited from Me. Have you ever thought about all this? However, if you prepare yourselves, you will all be able to serve

Love one another!

Me, you will all be able to be good and rise up to Me; if it were not so, I would not have come to call you in the Third Time.

46. Now you are human; but I will make angels of you to come and dwell in my Kingdom of light. Today you are being tested, you are purifying yourselves in this crucible of vicissitudes from which you will come out clean and strong.

47. Just as I point out your imperfections for you to correct, I also bless and praise your qualities and good deeds. Do you think I haven't seen you praying for the sick? Do you think that I have not contemplated your struggle to extend the knowledge of my Doctrine and that I have not realized your effort to regenerate yourselves, as well as your renunciations and sacrifices to deserve my charity? I know everything and I see everything and proof of this is that in every good work you do I make you feel my peace and a deep satisfaction for having done good.

48. In these moments I hear you say to me: "Father, how much pain the war leaves in its wake among humanity" We can anoint the sick who are within our reach, but what can we do among those who suffer in distant nations? The Master says to all of you who know how to weep for your brothers: Keep visiting and anointing those who are within your reach and pray for those who are distant that I will do what you cannot do. The time will come when you will have to spread throughout the world carrying to the nations my message of spiritual freedom, peace and salvation; the time will come when my emissaries will make humanity feel the sweetness of my balm in the essence of my word.

49. Now, all of you, eat the bread of my word and feel forgiven by your Father; all of you sit down at the table. I am not here to ask you who washed their hands to take the bread and who did not. I want both the one who knows how to prepare his heart to hear my word and the one who arrives without that preparation, to delight in eating the divine bread because you are all my children and I will make you all apostles of the truth. The tree, the fountain and the path are for everyone.

50. Here is the Spirit of Truth in the twentieth century explaining what he told you in the Second Time and that you did not know how to interpret. My apostles at that time, when they heard me, they got confused and when deliberating among themselves, they said: it seems that sometimes the Teacher contradicts himself; but the time came when they were filled with the Holy Spirit and recognizing the greatness of my word, they understood that the human language is poor to express the divine and therefore sometimes they believed that the Teacher had made some mistake in teaching them.

51. They continued my Work of salvation by writing their names next to that of their Master with works of love and humility and thus testified to my truth.

Love one another!

52. See how much time has passed since then on this humanity that calling itself a believer of Christ and recognizing my apostles as followers of the Master, has been removing more and more from its heart that essence and that seed, leaving only my name, which they do not know how to pronounce with respect or honor with their works.

53. Seek my name on earth and you will find it on the lips of most men; seek my presence and you will only find it represented in images made by human hands; seek my imprint and you will not find it in the heart of humanity because from there it has been erased.

54. This people has listened to me at this time and has heard that revealing phrase that has said to you: "You and they are the same". He who understands the meaning of that phrase then says: How is it possible that I remain in ingratitude and shut myself up forever in my egoism? And before that reflection awakens and rises to the fulfillment of his mission.

55. I tell you that it is necessary for humanity to know that his spirit has come to Earth many times and that he has not yet been able to get up on the path of my Law to reach the top of the mountain.

56. In the middle of the present century I will raise up this word that has been in you today and that tomorrow will be in all my children fertile seed.

57. Study my word searching in its depths for the divine essence and you will live the supreme joy of being sowers in the lands of the Lord.

MY PEACE BE WITH YOU!

Love one another!

Teaching 78

1. The clarity and simplicity of my teaching have inspired you to take the first steps in the Third Time and you are already beginning to babble my divine phrases. You begin to recognize that it is a pleasure for the heart to take away the pain of a fellow man and give him love and charity.
2. Do not call me unjust if for a moment pain and trials loom over you; you should know that they strengthen the spirit and that, moreover, this people has been an instrument of my will throughout the ages to present examples to humanity through it. Be strong so that in your vicissitudes you may give proofs of love and obedience to my will.
3. Analyze and understand all the lessons that I am giving you and do not misuse them because you will return with your clothes torn and your heart full of bitterness like the prodigal son of the parable. Make your heart a granary and store the divine seed there, When the time has come I will make the call to humanity, inviting it to come to this Nation, which will open its doors to strangers, to walkers seeking peace, light and health. And the doors of your heart will be opened in the likeness of those that the second Jerusalem, the spiritual city whiter than the snow cones, has open from eternity waiting for the children of the Lord.
4. Great is the spiritual mission of the inhabitants of this nation; therefore prepare your hearts to give shelter to every brother who approaches you, regardless of race, color or condition.
5. Your spirit is not yet able to comprehend the full magnitude of the revelation that it has received at this time, but your heart senses that something great has descended among you. Your world of yesterday has disappeared since you heard my word because your egoism was touched by it. That world was small because it was concretized to your affections, to what you have on Earth and to the imperfect concept that you have of what the Law of God is. Now your horizon has expanded to infinity, and in it you present an unknown world that you will come to conquer by your spiritual elevation. Today you see in every human being a brother and in every man a son of my Divinity. Today you look at life as a stepping stone on the infinite scale of your elevation to the Creator. Today you know that those who suffer in this valley of tears have not been forgotten by God, that everyone receives the light of his love.
6. Disciples, remain in the peace that I give you, do not let the world take it away from you with its temptations, because you have to pray for your fellow men and, how can you think about them if there is no peace in your heart? Overcome the obstacles of your life, do not consider them invincible; the strength that is in man is great, what you have lacked is faith. Persevere in faith, in good deeds, and with them you will change the mountains of place.

Love one another!

7. Do not consider your life to be barren by thinking that you have not accomplished great works. If she is clean, you will have done a good thing because I have told you that by the first, the last will recognize me. Gladly accept this mission.

8. I receive the complaint of some hearts in which they expose that among their own are the unbelievers who have twisted the way. They tell me that they have talked to them a lot and have achieved nothing. I tell you to learn to speak with works, also with silence, to be intuitive so that you are not inopportune. If you prepare yourselves, if you know how to persevere, your gaze will become penetrating and you will not let the opportune moment escape in which you must give in that heart the last touch with your chisel. Your triumph will show you that those whom you considered strong in their obstinacy, were weak in reality. Put my divine counsels into practice and you will soon bear witness to my truth. I will grant you this charity because I have more to give to you than you have to ask of me.

9. Among yours are those who have greatly torn my Work with their tongue and have made your heart bleed. I will not avenge you, because my justice is perfect; but I will soon come to touch you, because it is the time when "every eye will see me."

10. Ask yourselves: Would you be here listening to me if the pain had not touched you? There were some who blasphemed, denied, and did not know me; but the pain was stronger than them and subdued them; then they came before the presence of my manifestation and wept with repentance. Today they are the ones who bless that pain that made them reach Me.

11. It is up to you to pray for those who do not know me today. Make them understand that I come in search of your spirit because I see him thirsty and hungry for my divine essence. I am not looking for your matter because she has everything she needs on Earth.

12. I must tell you not to think that the human body and life in the world are indispensable to the spirit in order to evolve; but the lessons it receives in this world are of great use for its perfection.

13. Matter helps the spirit in its evolution, in its experiences, in its atonement and in its struggles; this is the mission that corresponds to it and you can verify it with this manifestation of my Divinity through the man whose brain I come to serve me, using him as an apparatus to transmit my message to you. Understand that not only the spirit is destined for the spiritual, but even the smallest within the material has been created for spiritual purposes.

Love one another!

14. I have come to make a reminder and a call to your spirit so that he, overcoming the influence of the material that has come to dominate him, may bring his light to the heart and understanding using the gift of intuition.

15. This light means for your spirit the path of his liberation! This Doctrine comes to offer him the means to rise above human life and to be the guide of all his works, lord over his feelings and not a slave of low passions, nor a victim of weaknesses and miseries.

16. When the spirit allows himself to be dominated by the influence of everything that surrounds him on Earth, he becomes so identified with his matter that he forgets his true nature, he moves away from the spiritual life to the point of being alien to him, and that is why when his body dies, he has to be troubled or confused.

17. How easily the body dies! but how difficult it is for the spirit that did not know how to prepare to be able to get rid of the confusion.

18. While some, in their confusion, remain attached to his dead body, others, preserving in their spirit the impressions of his envelope, believe they are still human without being able to rise to the abode that corresponds to them, remaining tied to those they loved in the world.

19. There is no more bitter chalice or more intense pain on Earth than that of troubled spirits. The stumbles, the not being able to understand what is happening around them, the regrets, the nostalgia for what they abandoned, the loneliness, the silence and the impotence to rise, constitute the fire where they will have to purify themselves until they reach the light.

20. Do you think it is inaccurate if I tell you that millions of spirits depart from this world in a state of confusion? It is the result of the ignorance of men by their lack of meditation and prayer.

21. My Doctrine of the Second Time revealed to men the spiritual life, but instead of analyzing my lessons and fulfilling my precepts, they created religions around my Doctrine, concretizing themselves to the fulfillment of material rites and ceremonies, which did not give more light to their spirit and did take it away from the path of its fulfillment.

22. There are those among you who ask me if, when they leave this life, they will fall into darkness, to which I tell them that if they have not analyzed my word and put it into practice, it will be of no use to them to have been among these multitudes listening to my Doctrine of light.

Love one another!

23. What the spirit cultivates, that will be what he collects; that is the Law and justice.

24. I, your Savior, have pointed out to you in all times the true way and have revealed to you the means to avoid pain, confusion and darkness,

25. Today I come to you once again in fulfillment of that mission, making light on your uncertain paths, awakening you from your lethargy, reminding your spirit that a new dwelling awaits him, which he must arrive prepared to be able to inhabit and enjoy eternally.

26. I come to you to wake you up and ask you. Which of you is a disciple of his own free will? None, I am the one who has called you. To hear my word again, you had to be on Earth several times. Between one incarnation and another I have granted you a truce of meditation and preparation for a new life.

27. The spirit, when he is in matter, participates in the fatigue of it and it is necessary for him after a struggle to rest, as well as meditation to form the plan that he should follow, before embarking on a new battle. Without these truces or halts in your path you would advance very little in your path; but it is necessary that a clean and pure Doctrine teach you these lessons with complete clarity, so that your heart convinced of this truth has a knowledge of the why of many of the phenomena and events that without my revelation you would never be able to understand. In my charity is time, life, the destiny of all; nothing escapes my power.

28. You knew me first as an inexorable Father in his justice before your faults; that Father became before you the sweetest and most loving of Teachers, However, you did not know how to properly interpret His teachings because you believed that He punished with eternal fire those who did not love him, Now I come to show you that the Father does not reject his children just because they do not love him, I come to show you that divine love has no limitations and that that love and that justice are manifested through the law of reincarnation that I have come to enlighten you. Now you will understand that through that divine law there is no fault, no matter how serious, that deserves eternal punishment for a spirit; but to get to Me, you will first have to repair said fault.

29. What would He achieve from you if He truly gave you eternal fire as a punishment? May you blaspheme eternally against a God whom you would judge unjust, cruel and vindictive.

Love one another!

30. My duty as a Father is to give you at every step an opportunity to perfect yourself by teaching you the way through perfect lessons. If I, who have taught you to forgive and love your enemies, and have said to you, do to your brothers what you have seen me do to you. Would I be giving you an example of this when you saw that I punished with eternal condemnation those who did not love me? Do you think that I have no power to make myself loved by those who have hated me? These are the ones I give, not eternal punishment, but enough time for light, regeneration and finally love to sprout from them. Just as the earth is expected to be fruitful so that the seed may germinate in it, so I expect of you that you will fulfill my precept that says to you: "Love one another".

31. Who can know your spirit in this world? The pastors of the churches do not, because if they do not know themselves, they will be less able to know others. Your parents, with all their intuition, barely manage to cross the thresholds of the heart. Little, very little does humanity know about the spirit, because it has surrounded this light with mystery; but the mystery does not exist, only ignorance. Who then will be able in the future to guide the spirit of humanity along paths of light? Who will be able to save you from the great confusions? Only my Doctrine, this Doctrine that I will write in your spirit. From her will spring the light that points out the path to you, the voice that guides you; but know that everyone who does not listen to that voice that lovingly makes itself heard within his heart is ignoring the principle of his Creation, because at the moment of making him be born of my Spirit I ignited in him that divine spark that is consciousness so that he would repeat to him throughout his entire existence that he is my son.

32. Truly I tell you that sin and confusion in the spirit are temporary before eternity, so purification and judgment cannot be eternal.

33. Now is when you realize what you have done with your spirit and the wealth of teaching that you have not been able to take advantage of. The voice of your conscience becomes clearer and stronger; it tells you about the past, the present and prepares you for the future. Learn to recognize that voice because I speak to you in it and when you hear it, have faith in it; woe to you if you doubt! That voice will always guide you towards good; but if you listen to a voice that guides you towards evil, it is not the voice of your conscience, it is the voice of your passions that inspires you with the influence of materialism.

34. Tomorrow they will fight you for believing in this Doctrine because just as you are rushing and preparing to analyze this word, so men are also preparing to fight against you. They will do wonders of knowledge and of human power to show you that they possess the truth. You will do, without boasting, spiritual wonders with your works of love towards your brothers.

Love one another!

35. Elijah, the forerunner, announces again to humanity the spiritual presence of the Lord; the arrival of the Spirit of Truth, the one who clarifies and reveals the mystery of Reincarnation.

36. I give you this lesson because the world will besiege you and will not let you leave for the East, nor for the West, nor for the North nor for the South. Then you will make use of the power that I have given you so that you will be freed from your oppressors.

37. Do not be afraid, because you are not the only ones in the world who have sought the liberation of the spirit. At this time, men are rising up in pursuit of light, truth and the elevation of the spirit.

38. Remember Elijah who bore witness to the true God in the First Time. Listen:

39. The people of Israel fell into idolatry and worshiped a pagan god. Elijah, in order to convince him of his error and his wickedness, said to the priests of the idol in the presence of the people gathered on a mountain: "Make a burnt offering with wood and place the victim on it. I will also form another holocaust. Call on the names of your gods and I will call on the name of my Lord and the God who sends fire to consume the victim, that one will be recognized as the true God."

40. The idol remained deaf to the pleas of his priests; Elijah said to them, "Shout louder so that your god may hear you, so that he wakes up, for perhaps he is sleeping." When the idolaters considered their efforts futile, the prophet gave himself up to prayer begging his Lord to show himself as the living and true God. Elijah had just said his prayer when a bolt of lightning came down from heaven and consumed the victim of the holocaust.

41. The people recognized the imposture of the priests of Baal and at the same time recognized that Jehovah, the God of Elijah, was the one and only true one.

42. That Elijah promised in those times for this one is once again among you. The divine Master promised it to you in the Second Time and it has come at the right time.

43. Let Elijah be in each one of you, especially when you are subjected to a test; but then remember that Elijah is all love, faith and humility so that you imitate him and then prophecy can spring from you.

44. Many forms of idolatry exist in the present age. Science, war, gold, power, religious fanaticism, pleasures, are so many other deities before which men prostrate surrendered.

45. Feed yourselves with my word so that you will be strong. See that you will have to listen to many words contrary to what I have taught you and none of them should confuse you or make you doubt.

Love one another!

46. The book is open, read in it, because if your Father is a book of wisdom, you too can be a book of teaching and experience for your brothers.

47. The life that surrounds you is one of many pages of the divine book, that is why I have often said to you: learn the daily lesson that life gives you. At this time you will have to become the good counselors who speak with words and also with deeds. Could you talk about regeneration if your brothers surprised you in inconvenient places? Could you teach them to live in peace, if they discovered that there is no harmony in your home?

48. I see that many of the hearts of this people are still asleep, not wanting to understand that the day is coming when I will cease to give you my lessons in this way, and when they see that the book has been closed, they will cry their incomprehension; but then it will be too late.

49. Blessed are those who prepare themselves and are ready to obey the will of their Master because they, at the beginning of the new stage, will know how to communicate with Me through thought and will exclaim: Lord, your book is still open.

50. I have compared my word to the seed of wheat; I have sown it with infinite love in your heart. The heart is the land where it began to germinate because it is endowed with sensitivity, but its impressions are transmitted to the spirit who is the one who truly keeps my word so, even if the heart forgets its Father or stops beating for life, that seed will remain stored in the spirit and the moment will come when it germinates. That moment can be near or distant, depending on the awakening of the spirit to the love of the Creator; but since spiritual evolution belongs to eternity, there is no impatience in the Father. You are the ones who, either as humans or as spirits, must hasten your steps in order to avoid painful experiences through the practice of good.

51. The book of divine wisdom sealed with seven seals was untied by the Lamb; it was the Divine Master's love for men that caused the mysteries of its arcanum to be revealed to him. The Sixth Seal shows its content at this time and speaks of profound teachings, makes you look at the future of your world and opens the way to spiritual eternity.

52. I have taught you that wisdom is acquired by prayer, but that is not why I want you to prolong your prayers. I have asked you for the five-minute prayer and with this I want to tell you to pray briefly so that in those moments you will truly surrender to your Father and the rest of your time will be devoted to your spiritual and material duties towards your brothers.

Love one another!

53. Sow the path of your life with love, charity and good works and when you leave matter to free your spirit from it, he, instead of descending into the valleys of atonement, will rise to those worlds where he collects among spirits of light all the fruit of his sowing. If you do not behave like this, you will pick up the pain at your own pace and for this you will not be able to blame Me, since I, having created everything that surrounds you, did not make the pain, it is your creation, it is the result of your imperfections. If I allow you to hurry the pain it is because I know that knowing the result of your works you will be able to perfect yourself because by the fruit you will recognize the tree.

54. Disciples: Form with my word an album with which you can recreate your spirit and bring this testimony and this delight to your brothers tomorrow. My word will reach to the ends of the world and will touch all spirits transforming the lives of men. My word will do the miracle that peace will return to this earth.

55. If the elements are hostile and inclement, it is because there is no harmony between them and men. When humanity lives in accordance with the obedience to my laws with which other creatures live, they will know on this planet the image of eternal life, that paradise that will house in its bosom those who purify themselves and rise along the path of love that Christ points out at every step.

56. Now the people of Israel are resurfacing in the land; today they are still living in captivity, but my light is freeing them. The way and the divine promise are presented before him, inviting him to put on his sandals, to take the staff, to pray before Jehovah and go into the desert in search of the Divine Voice, of the Law of God and his wonders.

57. The awakening has already begun, you have already heard the voice of Elijah, the new Liberator; he has brought you to the skirt of the Mount of the new Zion that in this Third Time rises before your spirit, so that you may hear the living voice of the Lord through the human understanding.

58. Before the divine voice you have remained ecstatic listening to her, but she has announced to you that her manifestation will be brief so that you get up to continue the journey begun that will take your spirit to the gates of the Promised Land.

59. In other parts of the world the peoples are waking up because Elijah is knocking on their doors.

60. I have named you Israel because you will gather the essence of the revelations of the Third Time, because you will be the ones who give the spiritual and just interpretation to my word and because in you the history of that people will be repeated, with its trials, its struggles and its combats to reach the Promised Land and at last the triumph, which was the conquest and the possession of an ideal.

Love one another!

61. Know that you are Israel, think that you are the people of God, take possession of it so that you will be stronger on the long journey, but do not proclaim that you are children of Israel because you will not be understood, but they will mock at your word. Who will be those who discover that the new Israel is by the spirit?

62. This knowledge revealed by your Father, keep it in your heart; but when the searchers and the fools came to you asking, Are you the people of Israel? answer them as I did the Pharisees and the fools: when they asked me if I was the Son of God, I answered them, "You have said it.",

63. After telling you this, I want you to know that this people, which is just beginning to gather, will invite other peoples to join it, inviting them more than by word, by example; it will clear the path of thistles so that the last ones find the prepared path because I make the call to all the peoples and nations of the world because the new people of Israel will be formed by men of all races, classes and creeds.

64. Those who believe that the true people of Israel was that of the First Time will be in error; that was only the image of what in the course of time would be the true people of God in which all men will have to merge loving their Father in their own brothers. This is what the Law said in the First Time: "You shall love God with all your heart and with all your spirit. You shall love your neighbor as yourself." This is what Christ said in the Second Time, teaching humanity a new commandment: "Love one another." To those who fulfill the highest precepts, Elijah has announced at this time that they will see the Father in all his splendor.

65. Each one will be entrusted with a mission and their gifts will be revealed to them so that they may have in themselves the means to be able to sow good and make light. Also at that time, each tribe was entrusted with a mission and their gifts were revealed to them so that all together they would offer the Father a fruit of submission, harmony and faith.

66. Beloved people: I am providing you with everything you need for the trip. Your storehouse will be full of my blessings and you will not fear that they will be extinguished; but if scarcity should come to test your faith, you will not forget that Israel, in the First Time, learned from Moses that whoever trusts in the Lord, never perishes.

67. Watch and pray, Israel, O people who are appointed to carry the banner of spirituality throughout the world! Learn to carry the Tabernacle in your heart, the Ark in your spirit, and the law in your conscience.

Love one another!

68. Go along the way announcing to your brothers that the hour of freedom has arrived and that that voice that is heard in the silence of the night is the voice of Elijah, who goes from one end of the world to the other awakening the sleeping spirits. Do not be afraid of the mockery and mockery of your brothers; but if the world hates you, know that it hated Me before it hated you.

MY PEACE BE WITH YOU!

Love one another!

Teaching 79

1. Some have come to hear my word at this time at an early hour, others have arrived late; but truly I tell you, it is not the length or the shortness of the time that you have listened to me that will give you elevation and advancement, but the longing and the love with which you embrace my Doctrine and the charity that exists in your works.
2. Come to Me those of you who are tired, sad and hungry for love, those whom humanity has treated badly. Come to Me sick, I will make you feel the sweet love of my charity. I come to put away your bitterness to become the children of peace, light and faith. Do you ask me why I have come to you? For I see that you have forgotten the way by which you must return to the womb from which you sprang, and I am coming to show it to you again.
3. The way is my Law and through its fulfillment the spirit will achieve immortality. I am showing you the door as narrow as the path that I pointed out to you at that time with my teaching.
4. I am rebuilding the temple to which I referred when I said to my disciples who marveled at Solomon's temple: "Truly I tell you, not one stone will remain of it on top of another, but I will rebuild it in three days." I meant that all external worship, however sumptuous it may seem to humanity, will disappear from the hearts of men in order to raise up in its place the true spiritual temple of my Divinity. This is the Third Time, that is, the third day in which I will finish rebuilding my temple.
5. Disciples, my word overflows over your mind so that when the hour comes when you no longer listen to it, there will be no hunger or thirst in your heart to listen to me.
6. "Love one another" from here on Earth thinking that you are all united by indissoluble spiritual ties and that the moment will inevitably come when you will all be united in the spiritual valley. Do not carve only regrets for that life, nor do you expect to have to be ashamed in the presence of those whom you offended.
7. Those who have developed the gift of clairvoyance will be able to testify to my presence; but those who have failed to develop it and lack faith say, I would like to see in order to believe.
8. You would like me to show you my wound in order to contemplate it and sink your fingers into it, but I tell you: Thomas asked for this test and it was granted, but then he wept for his lack of faith and gave his life to testify to my doctrine. If I were to grant you this grace, would you do the same as that disciple?

Love one another!

9. The day I give you my lesson is a day of grace because the peace of my Spirit is poured out throughout the Universe. As the absolute owner of everything created, I make my presence felt in everyone by asking each being and each creature to show me the fulfillment of their mission. Finally I seek my temple in the heart of man to dwell in it.

10. The people who listen to my word do not know if, when they present their works to Me, they will be to my liking. Ah if instead of fears you had only joy when my divine ray descends! But your faith is small and your presentiment has not yet told you anything about the approaching battle, so it is necessary that I tell you that under the light that the Sixth Seal spreads, all the beliefs, religions and sects of the Earth will unite to worship the one God that everyone seeks.

11. On these arid lands the fruitful irrigation of pain has descended and soon they will be ready to receive the spiritual seed. I am preparing a village, which will grow from day to day. I will train him with men of all races and his first mission will consist of opening grooves in the earth with his works of love to sow later the seed of my truth.

12. How much you will have to meditate on my doctrine and prepare your hearts to present to your brothers a testimony and a true example with the love and charity of your works!

13. Take advantage of these teachings because this is the instant in which my light, upon reaching the understanding of the speaker, becomes a word on his lips and speaks to you of the spiritual kingdom to which you are all invited to dwell.

14. I come to speak to the man whose being sprang from the creative source of God, who, because he has received the divine breath in his spirit, is able to understand his Father and have spiritual communication with Him.

15. I am your Father, from my Spirit came the idea of making you be born to life and this inspiration became a work. In my Spirit was the will to form you and man was made, I wanted you to have a likeness to Me as befits between a father and his children and I gave you spirit, and by that spirit you will be among all creatures the closest to Me.

16. To the spirit I have entrusted a mission in the material world so that in it he would find an extensive field for his evolution, a world of lessons and small and large trials that would be a scale, a crucible and a valley of atonement.

17. The human body was entrusted to the spirit so that in it he would find the most effective and perfect means to develop. Body endowed with a brain so that through it the spirit manifested his intelligence; possessed of sensitive fibers so that he perceived every sensation; also in the body the heart was placed so that love and all the good feelings that derive from it could have a human interpreter; but that creature so graciously given by the Father, in order to offer it as a staff to the spirit destined to incarnate in her, I wanted it to be weak so that the spirit would struggle in it and never entrust itself to the inclinations of matter.

18. The flesh in its weakness is capricious and sensual; it loves the low and therefore it must be governed. Who could better fulfill that mission but the spirit endowed with strength, light, intelligence and will? In order for the advancement and evolution of the spirit to achieve merit before God and before himself, he was granted free will, that is, the free will to choose the path of good or evil, ascending or descending by himself.

19. Thus arose the struggle within man, the struggle of spirit and matter, who would win at the end of the battle? The spirit had no weapons because he was beginning his journey of evolution, on the other hand the world and matter had many weapons with which to defeat him, many temptations with which to make him fall and many crossroads where to lose him,

20. The Father, far-sighted and merciful, watching over the triumph and salvation of the spirit, lit in him a light that along the path would be a beacon that would guide him in the darkness, an interior judge in each of the works performed, a counselor who would always lead man to the good, freeing him from falling into errors. That light that reaches the material part of man through the spirit is consciousness, it is the divine spark that never goes out, the judge who can never be bribed, the beacon that never changes places, the guide who never mistakes the path.

21. There you have the three parts of which man is formed or are his three natures, the divine, the spiritual and the material in a perfect union so that the spirit triumphs over the trials, over the passions and the storms of the world, and can come to possess the Spiritual Kingdom.

22. Considering that sin, errors, passions and evil in all their forms have always prevailed among humanity, do you think it can be said that the spirit has lost the battle or that conscience has been ignored? For the moment you can assume it like this; because they have not been small tests to which man has been subjected and for that reason many of them have not resisted them, and it has been necessary that in their fall they rushed the chalice of pain so that they woke up and listened to that voice for so long unheard,

23. This is the time of awareness, judgment and balance as the Second Time was the birth to spirituality and the First was the Natural Law.

Love one another!

24. In three different ways, but all three forming a single essence, I have manifested myself before humanity, so there have been those who looked at three gods where there is only one.

25. I am One and I will only admit that you attribute a Trinity to me when you understand that in the First Time I manifested myself in justice, that in the Second I revealed my love to you and that I reserved wisdom for you for the last time.

26. Wisdom is the book that opens before you today showing you its content of infinite light, of unfathomable revelations and of knowledge never reached. Only there will you know what exists beyond you and you will explain to yourself the why of many of my teachings of now and of times past.

27. What do you know about the Afterlife? What does man know about what exists after this life? What do you know about why you are born and why you die?

28. Everything that you call injustices of God or ironies of fate and that you should call justice, you will explain clearly when you learn the lessons that the Book of Wisdom comes to reveal to you in the Third Time through your consciousness.

29. Did they not prophesy to you that every eye would see me at this time? By this I meant to tell you that you would all know the truth, which is Me.

30. How do you conceive that, having stood before the light of the Holy Spirit, you could remain forever in darkness?

31. Look at humanity busy destroying and hating each other, taking power from each other without stopping at crime, theft or betrayal. There you have the men who by millions succumb victims of their fellow men and others who perish under the effect of vice, is there light in it? Does the spirit that exists in them speak? What there is is darkness and pain, the result of the abuse of the gift of free will and of not listening to the inner voice, of not looking at the light of that spark of God that you all carry in your being and that is the divine flash that you call consciousness.

32. Man has descended to the abyss and his conscience has accompanied him there, waiting for the right moment to be heard. Soon that voice will be heard in the world with such a great force that you cannot imagine now, but it will make humanity come out of its abyss of pride, materialism and sin to wash itself in the waters of repentance and begin to rise on the path of spirituality. I will help all my children because I am the resurrection and the life that comes raising the dead from their grave. In this life that I have been offering to humanity today, men will do my will renouncing free will out of love, convinced that whoever does the will of the Father is not a servant or a slave, he is a true child of God. Then you will know the true happiness and perfect peace that are the fruit of love and wisdom.

33. People, you ask my forgiveness for all the mistakes you have made because my word has come to move your spirit and I ask you: Why don't you feel this same repentance when the voice of your conscience is reproving you of some of your works? Is it that this inner voice and the one that manifests itself through these spokespersons are different from each other? Reflect and understand that you are not always going to be listening to me in this way so that you can repent; it is necessary that you become more spiritualized and that every day you listen more clearly to the voice of your conscience that exists in you as a book of wisdom and love.

34. Understand that although apparently Creation has been finished, nevertheless everything evolves, everything is transformed and perfected. Could your spirit escape that divine Law? Not my children. No one will be able to say the last word about the spiritual, about science or about life, because these are my works that have no end.

35. I teach you to occupy with dignity the place that I have destined for each one and to walk with meekness and at the same time with firmness along the path that my charity has traced for you. My heavenly word illuminates the one who occupies the place of lord as well as the one who fulfills the mission of servant; it is in the likeness of the light of the sun that illuminates everyone.

36. Men have not yet fulfilled on Earth their greatest works, those that bring to my Father's heart a divine satisfaction. Still many of his wonderful works, within the human, turn out to be small if their authors judge them with my laws of love. There you have the reason why many men of science do not want to look at the spiritual, because they know that there is the presence of the one who knows everything, of the one who sees everything and judges everything. They prefer to deny my existence and thereby silence the voice of their conscience.

37. Do not think that I misjudge my children because I want to know the mysteries of Nature, no; my wisdom is the divine inheritance that I have for my children; but I do judge the purpose or intention of men of science when they are not directed to the ends for which it is revealed to them.

38. If I tell you that my wisdom will be yours, do you think that a single existence can be enough to know everything that I have to reveal to you? If I tell you that you will not be able to acquire human science without following the extensive path of evolution, even less will you be able to acquire the knowledge of the spiritual without a complete evolution of your spirit.

Love one another!

39. I do not come to put spirituality in conflict with science because that error has belonged to men but never mine; on the contrary, I come to teach you to harmonize the spiritual with the material, the human with the divine, the transient with the eternal; however, I declare to you that to walk along the paths of life it is necessary to know first the path that conscience traces you, whose spiritual law comes from the Divine Spirit.

40. Man believes that he is doing his will, believes that he is free from any influence superior to him and even comes to believe that he is absolute and the forger of his own destiny without feeling that the time will come when everyone will understand that it was my will that was done in them.

41. Many works of divine justice will be seen on Earth; among them you will see men of science descend to the humble, those who in their hearts carry the seed of spirituality or who have developed the gift of spirit-to-Spirit communication to hear through them the revelations that their mind did not discover.

42. To you people who listen to me, I say once again that you take into account my lessons because the moment is approaching when this manifestation ends and then the one who fed, learned and retained, he will be strong; but the one who did not understand or interpreted it to his will will be weak.

43. Do you see how many multitudes surround me in this time of communication through human understanding? Truly I tell you that after 1950, few will follow me.

44. Today you do not know what I am saying to you, but then you will understand.

45. Feel with your spirit the scale that rises before you to infinity; it is like a luminous path that invites you to reach the bosom of the Father who is the bosom of peace and ineffable joy.

46. I found you lost like castaways without a compass, like pilgrims lost in the desert; but I sent you a light that helped you find a path full of hope, faith and consolation that encouraged your spirit flooding it with vigor and energies to continue in pursuit of the promised goal.

47. At the end of the Ladder, there at the summit, there is an abode to which you are all predestined to arrive, but to which it is necessary to conquer with merits, with faith, with great love and immeasurable charity, knocking down obstacles, overcoming adversities, dominating enemies, until at last you reach the new Promised Land that is not of this world.

48. This ladder is a straight path in which there are no crossroads or labyrinths, so I give you to understand that in the fulfillment of My Law you will find no complications.

Love one another!

49. You are finally going to march along that path, you are going to fight for your elevation, I will make you strong, understand that if it is not with my power and my light, with what weapons are you going to fight and defend yourself? If I did not lend you my sword of light, with what would you overcome your temptations? If I did not cover you with my mantle, how could you get rid of your enemies? But truly I tell you, you will also have to earn my protection and the light of my sword by your merits.

50. Your footprints will be imprinted on the spiritual path that opens up before you; they will be an example of good works, of renunciations, of noble acts, of high love and of charity without limit.

51. Each one has his destiny mapped out with his spiritual mission and his human mission; both must harmonize and tend towards the same end and in truth I tell you that I will not only take into account your spiritual works but also the material ones because through them the spirit can also make merits if in them there is love and charity towards your brothers.

52. You will not be alone in the walk; ahead of you, some closer and others more distant, there are many beings who also advance step by step and who watch and pray for those who walk behind them. Their ideal is not to arrive alone, or they first, but to prepare the path for their brothers so that one day the joy of the first may be the joy of all.

53. How beautiful I contemplate that road! How My Spirit is recreated by watching the advancement of my children and their effort to rise to reach new degrees of perfection.

54. There are beings from all the worlds and abodes there, some in spirit and others incarnated, all carrying out various missions. It is in infinity that you are building your abode to delight tomorrow with the peace of the spirit.

55. As you reach the goal, quiet your mind that sometimes resembles a storm and listen to my word, pay attention to it and analyze it because it is the light of the beacon of your salvation. Many have come to Me like shipwrecked people, but I have given them my peace, which has been like a saving boat, and I have sent them out to sea again in search of their brothers who are lost.

56. He who had the certainty of perishing and suddenly felt that a provident hand rescued him from the abyss, it is natural that later he understands his fellow men when he sees them in that same situation and reaches out to them.

57. He who does not know my love will not be able to make his brothers feel it, but he who knows how to feel it throughout his life, he testifies to Me and finds joy doing with his brothers what the Father has done with him.

Love one another!

58. O beloved people, the Master would like you to understand his lesson and practice his teaching, I have told you that my Doctrine is a narrow path because if you deviate from it to one side, you will depart from my laws of love, and to the other you will be in danger of falling into fanaticism, which means blindness and stagnation. Temptations are on the sides of the path, the divine light always shines ahead, on the horizon, inviting your spirit to elevation and perfection along the straight and narrow path of good.

59. Someone asks me in his heart: Is it necessary to love in order to be saved? And the Master answers: No, it is not necessary to love in order to be saved because love is not given by force, it must sprout naturally and spontaneously, The one who has asked that question is because that feeling has not yet been born in him; but it will germinate and blossom and then he will understand that love in the spirit is something that has been born with him like the fruits of the earth, that the most natural thing is that in his heart they carry the seed that is the germ of life, Just as in the spirit, love is the germ of eternity.

60. You have understood, disciples, but then the doubt assails you that this humanity can be saved by love, if that is precisely what it lacks. To which I tell you that love is like a divine seed that can never die, that remains hidden in the innermost recesses of man's heart, and that if it has not germinated until now, it is because it has not been watered with the water of truth, because the irrigation it has received has been of apparent love. Egoism, falsehood, hypocrisy, vain words of light, is what the heart of humanity receives day by day, and is it possible for the heart to feed on something that does not contain the essence of eternity?

61. I, the Divine Sower, the one who tills the lands with love to give them life, arrived to water them with my own blood and now, in this Third Time, I will give you one more proof of the power and the life that the seed of love possesses.

62. If I have called you farmers of my lands, it is not because you are already truly farmers, but because I want you to work together with Me in this divine task of saving your brothers out of love.

63. You have suffered a lot and I say to you at this time: Stop and rest! Through vicissitudes you have persevered in my footsteps. Leave all that bitterness that you have collected in the long journey. If, when you begin to receive this seed in your heart, you see that I am giving you more and more and I do not ask you to account for it, know that you have the duty to cultivate that seed in your life because the day will come when I present myself as administrator of my lands and I ask you to account for your work. Work with love and hard work, but also with simplicity and naturalness; I don't want you to be called fanatics, I don't want my Work to become an obsession in your mind. Give my truth through true charity and do not ask for anything in return that I will do you justice.

Love one another!

64. Rejoice knowing that you carry a beautiful mission that your Father has entrusted to you and always think that if your cross is heavy, you have the Almighty for Cyrene; climb the slope that it is not precisely Golgotha that awaits you, but my Father's love.

65. See to it that this revelation is not altered by anyone. Refine your practices as much as you can and increase your understanding and spirituality. My Work is perfect in all its parts, but when you find something that you judge to be imperfect, be certain that that imperfection is not divine but human. Pray for all the nations of the world, see how day by day they purify themselves by pain and become stained again with sin. Pray that the light may be in them and knowing at what moment they are clean, they may know how to retain that purity because they will be worthy of having me and sensitive to feel my presence.

66. I bless all peoples, those who love me and those who do not know me, as well as those who follow me, as well as those who have turned away from Me. Everyone is marked to come to my presence and sooner or later they will find the way that leads them to the abode of the loving Father who awaits them.

67. You will all arrive at the table where the first ones have been recreated and you will contemplate that there are also places and delicacies that are waiting for you. Apply this parable to both material and spiritual life, and you will understand that those who comply with the laws of human life and those of the spirit, will not have to feel pain. Meditate on these teachings and concentrated in the depths of your heart listen to the voice of your conscience.

MY PEACE BE WITH YOU!

Love one another!

Love one another!

1. People, I have poured out my good pleasure on you to keep you and to make you hear my word. I have made a feast in this time of commemoration so that when you stop hearing my word, you will be prepared and your meetings will be like a banquet of fraternity to which those who did not listen to this voice will come and come in search of you. And when my word comes in all its purity and essence to the multitudes, they will exclaim: Truly the Holy Spirit has shed light on us and they will understand my teaching in which I told you: "Man does not live by bread alone, but by every word that comes from God".
2. They will no longer bend their knees to pray because they will have learned to raise their thinking in search of spiritual communication with their Master. Your spirit will be strengthened; in the time of struggle he will be tireless sowing the divine word through works, words and thoughts; he will go in search of the needy to bring him a spiritual message; other times from the corner of his bedroom he will fulfill his mission praying for his brothers.
3. There are coming times of pain in which many of the men who think they are prepared to sustain humanity spiritually; they will be able to do nothing or very little because they have occupied themselves only with filling their minds with the wisdom and science of the world and have left their hearts empty.
4. You who hear me will prepare the way for those who will receive me in spirit. It was not chance that brought those who received my teaching to my presence, just as it will not be chance that develops the spiritual gifts in which they will feel my presence without the need for human spokesman.
5. Sensitivity, foreboding, revelation, prophecy, inspiration, clairvoyance, healing, word, all this and other gifts will spring from the spirit and through them men will confirm that a new time has opened before humanity.
6. Today you doubt that these gifts exist because there are those who hide them from the world fearing their judgment; tomorrow it will be the most natural and beautiful thing to possess them. I come to you in this Third Time because you are sick in body and spirit. The healthy does not need a doctor, nor does the righteous require purification.
7. My charity has forgotten all the offenses that humanity has launched against me and my love has sprung inexhaustible to give it life. The centuries have passed over generations and more generations of sinners, of fratricides, and when man loses hope of obtaining salvation, I come who continue to trust in you, because I know that you will have to love me at last. Your love will save you in this time.

Love one another!

8. Today the Father will not ask: Who can and is willing to rescue the human race with his blood? Nor will Jesus answer: Lord, I am the Lamb who is willing to trace with my blood and my love the path of the restitution of humanity.

9. Nor will I send my Word to incarnate at this time. That Era has already passed for you and left its teaching and elevation in your spirit. Now I have opened a new stage of spiritual advancement in which it will be you who will make merits.

10. The Word of God, who is spirit, light and life, meekly descended from his Kingdom at that time to speak closely to his children, Christ, as for his matter, was an example of humility among men. As for his Spirit it was perfection.

11. When the last moment on earth came for the Lamb, with the same meekness with which he accepted his mission, he said to the Father: "Everything is finished." That sacrifice is the greatest lesson of love and charity that I gave to humanity. That work was like a seed that fell in every spirit.

12. Why are there those who wait for the Spirit of Truth as man, in order to consummate that sacrifice again? At this time I have come in spirit, as I offered it, to pour out my light in the form of inspiration among humanity so that it, illuminated by this light, may be saved by its own merits. Do you find it difficult to love and help each other in life?

13. I do not ask you to leave everything, as I asked those who followed me in the Second Time, among whom the one who had his parents left them, the one who had a companion left her; they abandoned their house, their bank, their boat and their nets, they left everything to follow Jesus. Nor am I telling you that it is necessary for you to shed your blood at this time.

14. I have told you that wherever one of you lives, he will be able to do a lot every day. Seek in the innermost depths of your being the noble and good fiber that I have placed in each of the children of my Divinity; that fiber is not of the heart, it is the spirit.

15. Do not forget that your origin is in my love. Today your heart is hardened by selfishness, but when it becomes sensitive to every spiritual inspiration again, it will feel love for its fellow human beings and will experience the pain of others as if it were its own. Then you will be able to fulfill the precept that tells you to "Love one another".

16. That is my weapon, that of love, the one that I have never hidden from you, the one that I always show in the fight against the darkness of sin. Whoever wants to be my soldier, let him take the sword of love. Only in this way can I speak to a people that through the centuries and the times, has been forged in pain.

Love one another!

17. Your spirit has reached serenity and just wait and trust in my will.

18. In this age Elijah came as a forerunner to prepare the spirit of man for my communication with him. The word of Elijah awakens you, shakes you and makes you alert, because his light is like that of lightning.

19. Your spirit is enabled in this age to understand who Elijah is. It's been a long time since you left spiritual childhood. It is faith and intuition that have made you feel my presence and each of my manifestations in this time when my Doctrine will give men true greatness, not the false one that the world gives, but that which comes from humility and virtue.

20. A delicate mission awaits everyone who gets up to follow me. Without a cross, no one can imitate me; but truly I tell you, the cross that I place on your shoulders will not be to bend you, but to support you on the painful way of your life. Whoever throws down his cross, will have to fall; whoever loves it, will reach the end; whoever carries it on Earth until the moment of exhaling the last breath; in that instant he will contemplate how his cross sustains him, lifts him up and leads him to Me. Everyone who is caught by death carrying his cross on his back will not be afraid to penetrate into the unfathomable. There many mysteries that man could not decipher will disappear. Do you think the Father prefers you ignorant on earth? No people; I am a constant revelation of mysteries before men, but they persist in being blind to the evidence and deaf to my voice.

21. Those who believe in Me know that I am clean and just; but since a man loves the unjust, is attracted by the unclean, and is tempted by sin, he prefers freedom from his passions to the enlightenment of the spirit. The attraction that sin has on man is similar to that which you feel before the emptiness and the depth of an abyss. How difficult it seems to others to save themselves by thinking that at the last moment of their life, it will be enough for them to confess their faults to achieve absolution and conquer a place in the Kingdom of the Lord!

22. Know that the stains are washed away only by the water of repentance, not by the fear of justice; that what brings the Lord closer is the reparation of all the faults of the repentant spirit.

23. Everyone believes in Me, even if not everyone confesses it, and not everyone loves me. Do not believe in the atheist, I do not contemplate atheists nor can they exist; matter will deny me but not the spirit. Can any man deny his carnal father, even when he has not known him? So the spirit will not be able to deny his spiritual Father either, even if he does not know him. Can there be a fruit that has not been on the tree before?

24. From the beginning of time I have taught you and judged you with love. If you call my justice unduly punishment or sentence, then I tell you that I punish you and I sentence you with love. I speak to you this way because you live in a time within which it does not have to be the fear of my justice that leads you to the fulfillment of my commands, but to the approach to my love, to my law, because in it is love for your Father. But if you want my laws not to judge you, know them by my teaching and live within them. How do you want to live freely out of the way without pain surprising you? He who breaks the laws is touched instantly by them. Do you want more proof of love?

25. This Nature that I have entrusted to you is a true source of life and health; drink its waters and you will live without afflictions, you will have strength, light and joy in your journey and your spirit will better fulfill its destiny. How do you intend to be healthy in body and spirit, if you do not seek these benefits where they are found? You seek the health of your body in the doctor of the Earth, whose heart does not always harbor charity and you seek the health of the spirit, detaching yourself from something material to offer it in exchange for your tranquility before the voice of your conscience.

26. Verily I tell you that Nature has a lap similar to that of a loving mother; as long as you live within her, take pleasure in it because the spirit also participates in the delights of matter through which the Lord gives her so many and so beautiful lessons of love.

27. Today humanity lives far from every source of life, hence its affliction. Then the world believes that I must raise up my justice from among men so that peace and prosperity may return to them, when all you have to do is return to the way of the Law. The man says that he is pursuing an ideal and I say to him: Is it possible for him to achieve that ideal if he walks along a path without light?

28. Men have created a world to their idea, to their will. I have left them so as not to deprive them of their free will; but they will destroy that world themselves as a proof that they built on quicksand. How is it possible, say the powerful, that so much power is extinguished? And yet kingdoms, thrones, sceptres, science and streams will collapse. One faint breath and only history will pick up the ashes of so much false greatness.

29. I call your world false because while your face laughs, you carry your heart when not full of bitterness, but of ill will. And if this you have made of human life. What can you say about what you have done and not done regarding the life and laws that correspond to your spirit? You have allowed him to become so far removed from the source of eternal life, from the truth, justice and love that are in your Creator, that from being the Lord in the world and being over the material, he has become an outraged and humiliated servant. The spirit has been subjected to the weaknesses and inclinations of matter. He has come to yield because of the love he feels for the flesh, to which he is bound. Despite the love that the spirit feels for the world, despite the extreme materialism that he has reached, there is not one who has not felt, even for an instant, the desire to penetrate beyond this life, into the spiritual world. There is not one who has not had a moment of elevation from here, who has not sensed the existence and peace of that life. My spiritual revelations in this world are an invitation to my Kingdom.

Love one another!

30. The day will come when all mankind will know my teaching. Many will deny it and will even say that it was the tempter who inspired these lessons; but when it is believed and practiced by one of my children, they will see good fruits sprout from those who denied me as a testimony of this truth.

31. Be healthy in body and spirit and you will imitate the good patriarchs, those who knew how to give their offering to the Father and found joy in fulfilling the duties of the Earth. I speak to you people, and I speak to humanity. To you, because even listening to me you are not fully on the road, but you try to step with the right foot on my path, while with the other you go out of it.

32. I tell you all, "I am health, I am the Way, the Truth and the Life."

33. The spirit of Elijah leads you into my presence and helps to make you worthy that I should come among you. Do not be ignorant of Elijah at this time as you were ignorant of Christ in the second age and of Moses in the first.

34. Think that Elijah is coming to open the veil with which you covered many mysteries so that you may see the splendor of your Father.

35. Be meek and obedient so that you may give occasion to your spirit to fulfill its mission. He is the possessor of the light of experience, evolution and knowledge.

36. The spirit is born in Me; it has its infancy, its development and its fullness, unlike the flesh that ages and dies; it always grows in knowledge and in love, that is, in perfection. You know that you have sprung from Me, but you do not know how; you also know that you will return to the Father, but you do not know in what form. Those are my high judgments, they are the secret that you must respect.

37. I have placed greatness in man, but not that which he seeks on earth. The greatness of which I speak is sacrifice, love, humility, charity. Man continually runs away from these virtues, turning away from his true greatness and from the dignity that the Father has given him as his son.

Love one another!

38. You run away from humility because you think it means smallness. You flee from trials because misery frightens you without wanting to understand that they come only to liberate your spirit. You also flee from the spiritual because you believe that to deepen in that knowledge is to waste your time, without knowing that you despise a light superior to all human science.

39. That is why I have told you that there are many who, swearing to love me, do not love me and saying they believe in Me, have no faith; they have come to tell me that they are willing to follow me, but they want to follow me without a cross. And I said to them, Whoever wants to follow me, take up his cross and follow me. Everyone who embraces his cross with love will reach the summit of the Mountain where he will exhale the last breath on this Earth to rise to eternal life.

40. The spiritual life that is desired by some is feared, denied and even mocked by others; but it, impassive, awaits you all. She who is the bosom that shelters, the arms that clasp, the homeland of the spirit, is an unfathomable mystery even for the wise, but my arcana can be penetrated as long as the key you use to open that door is that of love.

41. Understand that from the beginning of man's existence, the Father has been for the son a perpetual revelation of mysteries. Enjoy thinking that if in so many eras of your life man has not reached the limits of his science, when he penetrates the paths of spirituality he will eternally be finding new beauties, new wonders, new beings, different worlds that will make the son love his Creator more and more perfectly with a love similar to the one I have for you. Because of that pure and great feeling that I feel for humanity, I became a man so that you could have me close. But after that sacrifice I see that the men of this time are deaf, blind and ungrateful for that love; that they have created for them a world in which they will not have to comply with my precepts, with my just laws, with my Doctrine of love.

42. The abyss attracts men, the forbidden seduces them, they take free will in their own way. To such a humanity, given over to the passions, interests and pleasures of the Tierra, its doom seems irremissible. It seems very difficult for the spirit to save himself and he does not understand that in divine justice, in the love of his Father, he can find the way where he can purify himself, rise up and be saved.

43. All humanity believes in my existence because it has spirit and retains the intuition that I exist. Even the one who denies me believes in Me because my presence is in him and in everything that surrounds him. But man has succumbed under material impulses and temptations. The darkness that he has thus formed is what does not allow this humanity to contemplate the radiance with which the Holy Spirit approaches it at this time. But there will be no human strength or spirit that will overcome my power, my light or my love. And when the sobbing children come before the Father, some will ask for forgiveness and they will be forgiven because of their humility, others will come asking me: Father, why have you punished me? To these I will say: I never punish, you have only gathered on your way what you sowed in it, you did not know how to preserve the health of body and spirit, and whoever defies or violates my laws judges himself by means of them.

44. Live in harmony with the natural laws and with the spiritual laws and you will always be healthy in body and spirit.

45. Humanity has a lot of science today, but with it it has created a strange world that separates it from what is natural, from the source of life, from the elements of Nature that I have entrusted to it for its conservation and recreation. How can the man who lives in this way be healthy in body and spirit?

46. The earth is like a mother who opens her arms to receive you from the moment you are born; the air you breathe in her is similar to my divine breath. The king star, majestic in its greatness like a torch of fire, is the image of the Omnipotent Being because it is light, heat and life. You have in this Nature the water that is similar to the truth because it is crystalline, transparent and pure; it calms the thirst that burns, purifies and washes; under its action the fields are fertilized and the seeds germinate. These four elements united by laws of divine wisdom form with their unity and harmony your abode. To inhabit it, to consciously enjoy it and identify with its laws, man was filled with all the attributes, potencies and senses necessary for life.

47. Then why, if you are certain that I love you, do you call me unjust when you suffer because of yourself and say that the Father punishes you?

48. My love is immutable, it cannot be greater because it is perfect, nor can it ever decrease. I have given you proof of this by granting you this life that is your shelter and that always shows itself lavish and maternal with you. Have you missed a single day of sunlight? Has the air stopped giving you life? Have the seas dried up or have the rivers stopped flowing, the liquid of which bathes the whole Earth? And has the planet in its evolutions fled under your feet to throw you into the void sometime?

49. I have not made a mistake in what I have done, man has made a mistake in his path and in his life, but he will soon return to Me as the prodigal son who dissipated all his inheritance. With his science he has created a new world; a false kingdom. He has made laws, he has raised his throne and has awarded himself a scepter and a crown, but how fleeting and deceitful is his splendor! A faint breath of my justice is enough to make your foundations shake and your entire empire crumble. However, the kingdom of peace, justice and love is far from the heart of humanity that has not been able to conquer it.

50. The pleasure and the satisfactions that his work provides to men are fictitious. In his heart there is pain, restlessness and disappointment, which are hidden behind a mask of a smile. This is what has been done of human life and as for the life of the spirit and the laws that govern it, they have been twisted by forgetting that there are also forces and elements that vivify the spirit with which man must be in contact to endure trials and temptations and resist on his path of ascension to the perfect, all obstacles and setbacks.

51. That light that reaches every spirit from infinity does not come from the king star; the force that the spirit receives from beyond is not emanation from the earth; the source of love, truth and health that quenches the thirst for knowledge of the spirit is not the water of your seas or your springs. The environment that surrounds you is not only material, it is emanation, breath and inspiration that the human spirit receives directly from the Creator of everything, from the One who has made life and governs it with his perfect and immutable laws.

52. If man put a little good will to return to the path of truth, he would instantly feel, as an incentive, the caress of peace; but the spirit, when it materializes under the influence of matter, succumbs in its wars, and instead of being the lord of this life, the helmsman who rules his ship, becomes a slave to human inclinations and tendencies and a shipwreck in the midst of storms.

53. I have already told you that the spirit is before the body as the body is before the garment. That matter which you possess is only a passing garment of the spirit.

54. No one is born by chance, and no matter how humble, clumsy or small he thinks he is, he has been made by the grace of the Supreme Being who loves him just like the beings he considers superior and has a destiny that will take him like everyone else, to the bosom of God.

55. Do you see those men who like outcasts cross the streets, dragging vice and misery without knowing who they are or where they are going? Do you know of the men who still dwell in jungles surrounded by beasts? No one is forgotten by my charity, everyone has a mission to fulfill, everyone has the germ of evolution and is on the path where merits, effort and struggle will take the spirit from step to step to Me.

56. Who is he who has not desired, even for a single moment, my peace, longing to be free from earthly life? Every spirit is nostalgic for the world he once inhabited, for the home where he was born. That world awaits all my children, inviting them to enjoy the eternal life that some desire while others only wait for death to cease to be, because their spirits are troubled and they live without hope and without faith. What can encourage such beings to strive for their regeneration? What can awaken in them the longing for eternity? They just wait for non-being, silence and the end.

57. But the light of the world, the way and the life has returned to raise you up with my forgiveness, to caress your weary forehead, to comfort your heart and make the one who felt unworthy to exist listen to my voice that says: I love you, come to Me!

58. But just as I awaken in you a longing for eternity and perfection, I also say to you: Do not for this reason think that I want you to be ignorant of material life. Do not misinterpret my teachings. Everything that was created and placed on earth is for your happiness.

59. The patriarchs and the righteous taught you by their example to live happily on earth enjoying natural goods and also fulfilling the spiritual law. Imitate them and you will become healthy and strong again, I want a strong people among you who will rise up fighting and defending the truth; if I taught you to turn away from nature then it would come against you.

60. There is no contradiction in God, even though people sometimes think they find it in my teachings. To help you understand it, I have come to open your eyes to the light, telling you: if you want the health of your body, return to the arms of your mother the Nature from which your envelope sprouted, in whose lap you have rocked and in which you will be confused when her bowels receive you again. I have also said to you: If you want to possess a strong and healthy spirit and the hope of achieving the reward that I have promised you, practice my Law by fulfilling the precepts that tell you: "You will LOVE YOUR GOD WITH ALL YOUR HEART AND SPIRIT" and "LOVE ONE ANOTHER".

61. To fulfill my Law it is not enough to talk about Me, nor is it enough that you are the great analyzers of my Work to believe that you are my apostles, because greater will be before me that humble one who does not know how to express my Word but instead knows how to practice love and charity among his brothers.

62. In the Second Half, three years of teaching and twelve men were enough for me to convert humanity. Many years of preparation and a multitude of disciples have not been enough today.

63. It is that you are materialized. You only think about Me for five minutes, and the rest of the time you devote to the worries of the world.

Love one another!

64. I encourage you so that you will not stop on your way. Watch that soon you will see how the lords of the world will end and at the end the slaves will disappear. Then humanity will begin to consider itself as one family. An atom of good will will spring from the hearts of men among one another and peace will come to them.

65. Lost spirits, spirits without peace and without law, come! It is not darkness or nothingness that awaits you, it is my Father's love, it is the Universal concert.

MY PEACE BE WITH YOU!

Love one another!

Teaching 81

1. You come on this day to commemorate the new covenant that you have made with your Father. In this Time of judgment, my Spirit comes among you to ask you for the first accounts of your work, of your deeds and to ask you what you have done since the moment you promised me to fulfill my Law, loving one another.
2. Among this crowd are the first to whom I entrusted the responsibility of the lands and the farmers, to whom I gave the crystal clear water of the fraternity, so that with it they would give irrigation to the trees.
3. Does your conscience claim nothing from you? Has your mouth been opened only to advise, teach and guide? Or has it been unleashed like a two-edged sword to wound left and right? Have you gone along the spiritual path leaving traces of union, peace, goodwill or have you left bad examples imprinted on it?
4. If my word sometimes becomes severe, it is because I do not want lies, vice or adultery to exist among my people; if the one who is leading a congregation presents bad examples, those who follow him will have to find the stumbling block. In this time of judgment, every moment I will present to you the fruit of your sowing. Do not challenge my justice, remember first of all that I am an inexhaustible source of goodness.
5. I cannot contemplate you as little children to whom all your imperfections are dispensed, because your spirit, having made a pact with my Divinity at this time, had already traveled a large part of the way before. Who was a child of my Law in the First Time, a disciple in the chair of Jesus in the Second, at this stage will have to become similar to the Master.
6. I come to entrust to you, so that you may cultivate it, the good, pleasant and sweet fruit that gives life, so that he may make you notice the contrast of the bitter taste and the havoc that the fruit of the tree of evil has caused among humanity.
7. I see the earth and the waters stained with human blood, men ignoring each other as if they were beings of different species, giving themselves death without compassion or mercy. This tree of ambition and hatred has been cultivated by men and its fruits have poisoned the peoples of the earth. Do not let that seed enter into your bosom.
8. Today the voice of Jesus could not be raised saying "Father, forgive them because they do not know what they are doing", because your spirit carries in itself the knowledge of my Doctrine of love.

Love one another!

9. Elijah has opened the door of a new era, he has prepared the ways of the Lord, he has prepared you so that you may receive the first fruits of my revelation and of my teaching; analyze my lessons and testify with your works.

10. At this time the Sixth Seal is untied, its light is poured out on the orb so that these men and women who hear my voice wake up and rise up to fight; it is propitious time.

11. There is only one way, you already know it, you must follow it, so that you will never get lost from it. It is the same path that I have traced for you since you sprouted from Me. At the same time I have granted you to gather in enclosures to listen to my lessons of love and so that in them you may receive the multitude of needy who day by day will knock at your door, which is mine.

12. How should you prepare at every dawn to receive those in need? With absolute humility, not with a crown or a scepter of vanity.

13. When this people have spiritually united, I will give signs of it all over the world.

14. I entrust to you part of my Work, which is whiter than the snowflake and purer than the water of your springs; so I want you to keep it until the end of the day.

15. Today, as if a bell were ringing inside your heart, you remembered that it is a day of grace, the day on which the Master descends to converse with his disciples. My Spirit appears among you and opens like a book of wisdom, your consciousness appears before Me like a white page and on it I write my lesson.

16. The light of my Spirit poured out in all matter and in all spirit, in fulfillment of an early prophecy, touches the understanding of these chosen ones called spokesmen to make you listen to the divine lesson.

17. Some receive my manifestation full of faith, others listen to me feeling that doubt has taken hold of their heart; but I do not censure them because doubt will make them deepen in the study of my Doctrine and through it they will also achieve to possess faith.

18. A new life awaits men. It is not that Nature is going to be transformed, it is that when humanity becomes spiritualized through this teaching, it will see everything through love, faith and charity, that is, man will see life through the spirit. If you look at, feel and judge what surrounds you through a materialized mind and an egoistic heart, this life will have to seem to you a valley of tears, a world of sins and sometimes even a place of punishment. Your eyes will not discover beauties, the spirit will not find room for it, nor sustenance, nor incentive; but if you allow the spirit to rise and from the height you look at everything that surrounds and envelops you, you will have to surrender to your Father and confess that you have been deaf, blind and insensitive to his divine presence, manifested in everything that exists spiritual or material.

19. Then bitterness will flee from you and you will know the sweetness that springs from everything created because everything is the fruit of the divine tree.

20. The pain that humanity suffers today is for having misused its free will and for its disobedience to my Law; its last fruits will be so bitter that it will throw them away from itself and that will open its eyes to the light and its heart to repentance.

21. Make matter docile and meek so that it will not be a barrier to your spirit. Subdue her until you make her the best instrument and collaborator of your spiritual mission. Let the light that the Sixth Seal sends you, be contemplated by the spirit and also by matter because you already know that this light pours out on every being.

22. Understand my lessons and you will be my good disciples, those who, when the time comes, will rise up after their brothers and know how to analyze the revelation of the Seven Seals. Do not stop your steps thinking that by the works of your matter you are not worthy of my grace. I have already told you to stop the dizzying career of that reluctant and weak creature that has been entrusted to you on Earth, and that in that struggle you make merits to achieve my grace.

23. It is not time for you to feel sad or ashamed about your past; just think that you must purify your spirit. It is the moment when you should feel the happiest on Earth to be listening to the divine concert of my word. Yes, people, my ray of light becomes inspiration and human word so that in that way you have my presence. Stop thinking about your past to think about your future.

24. Prepare your weapons of love to contend with human ideas and theories; strengthen your heart in faith so that you do not feel small, ignorant or weak before those you call cultured and wise, because they will know about science and religions, but they know nothing about my new revelations.

25. If I have asked for your regeneration, it is so that, being the mind and the heart clean, they can reflect my divine light.

26. I have seen how many of you have searched and judged my word, but for this reason I have not claimed you, because I know that tomorrow, from among those who judge me, fervent disciples will arise. Later, on your way, you will be doctrinating and you will become mocked; remember then the teaching of the Master and instead of claiming your brothers their doubt and their mockery, you will forgive them knowing that among them are those who will repent of their judgments to make way for faith.

Love one another!

27. No one feels forced to be my soldier, follow me when your will is firm and your love impels you to practice my teachings. The times will pass and then you will understand and appreciate everything that the Lord granted you in this Third Time and you will feel pain for not having been understanding and obedient when I was giving you my word; but I grant you a few more moments so that you repair your mistakes and make up for the time that you have lost.

28. While the world attracts you through matter, my voice is calling you to the spiritual valley where you must penetrate clean of all stain and full of light. There my voice, resonating in the consciousness, will tell you if you have fulfilled your mission on Earth and if you can already climb one more rung on the ladder of spiritual perfection.

29. On the day that you now dedicate to rest, I come down to enjoy myself with you. It is the moment when you better recognize that you can live not only on bread, but that you need my word, which is your spiritual sustenance. Many of you come to listen to me, but not all of you believe in my presence; there are those who would rather see me than hear me through these understandings, or at least hear my voice in infinity, in spiritual space. But how do you want to contemplate me and listen to me spiritually if you are in full materialization? That is why you must prepare yourselves so that you may reach that elevation that I make known to you through the understanding of man. After this time of my communication in this form, you will be in a position to receive my intuition or inspiration from Spirit to spirit. That will be the perfect communication.

30. You are amazed by the advances of science; understand that a few centuries ago you would not have believed in what man has now realized through the evolution of the spirit and the perseverance of matter.

31. Why should you not evolve spiritually if you persevere? How do you intend to discover new lessons, if you have not yet understood the past ones?

32. The believers and the unbelievers of my existence of all times, would have wished to contemplate me now visible to human eyes, materialized in some form, and why should you attribute form to me if as for spirit I do not have it? I am visible and tangible both to the eyes of your body and to those of the spirit, but it is necessary that you know how to look. It is unfair that you say that God hides himself from your eyes, that you say that I am selfish for not letting me hear or look at those I call children of my Divinity. I am always ready to let myself be looked at, but you, believing that you are blind to the spiritual, having everything at your fingertips, do not know how to see it and many times, feeling me, you do not realize my presence.

Love one another!

33. In every age a messenger of God has had to come to teach men to seek their Lord, to pray, to worship him, to know how to feel, look, hear and interpret him. At this time Elijah came to prepare the way so that the human spirit could receive the presence and revelation of the Holy Spirit.

34. So that the voice and the steps of Elijah could be heard and felt in a world deaf by its materialism to all spiritual manifestation, I prepared a man, who upon reaching the maturity of his age, let manifest the light of that great spirit that inspired him, who did miraculous works through him and prepared humanity with his light for the advent of a new time. Elijah had to clear the road in which there were many thorns, many weeds and also stones. They were religious fanaticism, ignorance, the persecution of every inspiration that seemed new. But Elijah inspired laws, prepared hearts and sowed a seed that would favor the unfolding of a divine revelation and the spiritual fulfillment of a people who in the most hidden of the world were waiting for the appointed time to rise up to fulfill their mission.

35. That man chosen by Me to be the spokesman of Elias, his name was Roque Rojas, the one who in 1866 made it known to the world that a new era was opening for humanity governed by the same Law that the Lord has revealed in the three times, in which I have always told you: "Love one another".

36. Few knew how to truly feel the presence of the divine messenger! Once again it was the voice that cried out in the desert and again prepared the hearts of men for the imminent arrival of the Lord, Thus the Sixth Seal was opened, allowing its contents to be contemplated and overflowing like a torrent of justice and light on humanity. Many promises and prophecies were thus fulfilled.

37. Elijah, like Jesus and like Moses, came to enlighten the eyes of your spirit so that you contemplate the Father, Moses taught you: "You shall love your neighbor as yourself". Jesus said to you, "Love one another." Elijah commanded you to have "charity and more charity with your brothers" and then added "and you will see my Father in all his splendor."

38. It is the Word that speaks to you in this age, I have not come to become a man; however, you will be able to find similarity between my previous manifestation and this one; if the cradle of Christ was humble and his death was on the cross of the sin of the world, the place where the light of the Third Time has now been born cannot be poorer and more humble and the cross from where I will give you my last parable will be the same man through whom I communicate.

Love one another!

39. Through this medium by which I speak to you, I have also received the mockery, the derision, the doubt, the wound. So it has pleased me, for you are now my cross.

40. Today I tell you: since your eyes have been opened to the light, see how your world, its science, its morals and its religions, are approaching the end of its existence; from all this only the spirit will survive, which will rise from the rubble of its past life to a new spiritual era.

41. All the signs that were foretold as an announcement of my new manifestation among you have already been fulfilled. Will the world wait for new manifestations to continue awaiting my arrival? Will he do what the Jewish people who had the prophecies of the coming of the Messiah, saw the fulfillment of them, received the Savior into their bosom, did not recognize Him and still continue to wait for Him? The experience is very great and painful for this humanity, so that it still stubbornly pursues materialism. If the signs and the tests have been fulfilled and I have not appeared in the synagogue, nor have I arisen in any church, does the world not sense that somewhere I must be manifesting myself, since I cannot break my word?

42. Disciples: persevere in my teaching, so that tomorrow you may bear witness to Me.

43. Do not be afraid of misery. Misery is temporary and in it you must pray imitating Job in patience. Abundance will return and you will have no words with which to thank me.

44. When illness overwhelms you, O blessed sick, do not despair; your spirit is not sick, rise up in prayer to Me and your faith and spirituality will restore you to the health of the body. Pray the way I have taught you: spiritually.

45. Understand that you have the light of your Master. Jesus is still the perfect model that you should imitate; neither before nor after Him will you be able to find an equal example in the world.

46. Jesus, the Christ, has been the clearest teaching that I gave you in the world to teach you how great is the love and wisdom of the Father. Jesus was the living message that the Creator sent to the earth so that you would know the virtues of the one who created you. Humanity saw in Jehovah a choleric and implacable God, a terrible and vengeful judge, and through Jesus he came to lead you out of your error.

47. See in the Master the divine love made flesh; he came to judge all your works with his life of humility, sacrifice and charity, and before punishing you with death, he offered his blood to make you know the true life, that of love. That divine message illuminated the life of humanity and the word that the Divine Master gave to men gave rise to religions and sects, through which they have sought me and still seek me; but truly I tell you that they have not yet understood the content of that message. Humanity comes to think that God's love for His children is infinite, since He, in Jesus, died for the love of men. He comes to be moved by the sufferings of Jesus before his judges and executioners, he comes to see the Father in the Son, but the content, the scope of what the Lord wanted to say to humanity through that revelation that began in a virgin and concluded in the cloud of Bethany, has not been interpreted until today.

Love one another!

48. I had to return on the same cloud in which the Word ascended to the Father to give you the explanation and show you the true content of everything that was revealed to you in the birth, life, works and death of Jesus.

49. The Spirit of Truth, the one promised by Christ at that time, is this divine manifestation that has come to illuminate the darkness and to clarify the mysteries that the mind or the heart of man could not penetrate.

50. My Law is always the same, it is no less profound sometimes than others. It is your spirit that sometimes reflects the light of the Lord better than others. This is according to the evolution that your spirit has reached.

51. Today I tell you: the spiritual banquet is waiting for you; sit down at the table and eat of the delicacy. I have also granted you the multiplication of bread at this time because thousands and thousands of your brothers are listening to my word in many regions.

52. I am inheriting you without your sin being a reason to consider you unworthy. The gates of my Kingdom remain open waiting for those who will arrive later. Here is my charity demonstrated, which you did not expect to reach the point of communicating with you.

53. Now that there is a shortage of love in the world, come and feel the pure love of your Master so that you may heal from all your wounds.

54. If your heart comes to Me full of vain seed, weeds and thistles, I will forgive it, I will purify it and make it flourish. I only hope that you will rise up to reveal to you all that I still reserve for your spirit and when you are possessed of what I promise you, you will not seek catacombs to hide from the eyes of humanity; on the contrary, you will go out into the light of day and under that clarity you will reveal this truth. Open your heart, your mind and your ear, so that you may let my lessons reach your spirit.

55. What times are you waiting to learn from Me? Are you waiting for 1950 to arrive, to wake up from your dream? No people, for then you will no longer hear my word. It is necessary that you come to have the absolute conviction that you have come into the world to serve your brothers and sisters.

Love one another!

56. You look at one another and recognize that I have formed a people with sinners, with the ignorant and you are afraid that you will not be able to get ahead in the trials; but I know what I do, it is up to you only to believe, trust and fulfill. The day will come when you will offer me the seed as I have asked for it.

57. People: prepare yourselves, let new multitudes come to you; among them will come those whom my love will pick out and choose so that through them I may deliver my word, because you well know that it cannot be your mind that chooses them. Only I know the destiny and the gifts of each one.

58. Cleanse your thought, lift it up so that you may join at this moment with the pure spirits who dwell near Me. Raise a prayer inspired by love for God, in your own pain or in repentance for the faults committed, also in thanksgiving for the goods received, that will bring your spirit closer to the Father.

59. Everything that surrounds you tends to purify you, but not everyone has understood it that way. Do not let the pain that you rush into your cup of bitterness be sterile. From pain you can draw light that is wisdom, gentleness, strength and sensitivity.

60. Do not be afraid to reach the spiritual valley thinking about all that you have sinned on Earth; if you let pain wash you away, let repentance spring from the heart; if you fight to repair your faults you will arrive dignified and clean before my presence and no one, not even your conscience, will dare to mention your past imperfections.

61. In the perfect mansion there is a place for each spirit which awaits in time or eternity the arrival of its possessor. By the scale of love, charity, faith and merits, you will arrive one by one to my Kingdom.

62. Present before your children good examples that will serve as a staff on their way to continue their ascension to Me. Not because you look at them in the infancy of matter do you attach little spiritual importance to them; observe them and you will see how their faculties are more developed than yours, they will learn my teachings for you and then teach you to analyze them.

63. Those of you who are young today, when you reach old age, will have seen many wonders through the new generations of spiritualists.

64. I say to parents that just as you care about the material future of your children, do so also for their spiritual future, for the mission that in that sense they have brought to the world.

Love one another!

65. Think that those beings before incarnating have already prayed for you, protected you and helped you in your struggle; now it is up to you to support them in the first steps that, through the fragile flesh, they are taking on Earth.

66. Come to Me, disciples. Here is peace, not the fictitious one that the world gives you, but the one that comes from my Spirit; fill your hearts with it so that you can listen to me, understand me and then put my teaching into practice.

67. A certain number of hearts are destined for each of my farmers; it is the land that each of them will have to work to make it bear fruit and in the end present me with an abundant harvest.

68. No one would be able to build a temple like the one I am raising up in your spirit. The charity of the Universal Maker has been building this sanctuary with infinite patience. This temple will be indestructible and as long as the temples made by human hands fall stone after stone under the onslaughts of time and storms, it will remain unshakable, because its foundations will be in your spirit and its towers will touch the Kingdom of Heaven.

MY PEACE BE WITH YOU!

Teaching 82

1. Why do some of my children feel unworthy to call me a Father? Come to Me, sinners; leave your burden of sorrows, lift up your face and look at me, my love makes you worthy. If I don't forgive you, who will forgive you?
2. You were hungry for peace, because your conscience reproached you for your mistakes until you came before the manifestation of my word and your crying washed you away. Only I know to whom or to whom I speak in this way and only they know to whom these words are addressed.
3. It has been a long time since you blessed my name; your tortures and sufferings made you believe that you were in an endless hell. It is that your eyes had been closed to the truth, to that light that shows you my presence everywhere. The splendor of the Nature that surrounds you, nor the miraculous way in which the daily bread reached your lips were not enough for you to believe in my blessings. You saw only darkness around you and only the fire of your sufferings was what you felt; but when you were about to succumb, the Divine Cyrenian came to get you up, to help you carry your cross.
4. Your eyes are opening to a life of light and faith. From the bottom of your heart you say to me: Lord, how blind I was, how troubled my heart was; today I see Your presence at every step and everywhere and I feel your blessings.
5. Truly I tell you, these who suffered and offended me greatly, will be the ones who love me the most fervently; the offering to my Divinity will constantly flow from their hearts. They will not be material offerings, nor psalms, nor altars of the earth; they know that the most pleasant offering and worship for Me are the works of love they do with their brothers.
6. Beloved children who came to Me as the prodigal son, do not forget the love with which I received you and the humility with which you came; it would be sad if when you felt full of peace in life again, you became vain in front of your brothers or selfish in front of those who will seek you to ask for something of what you have today, because before Me you would be the ungrateful children. Always watch and pray so that you do not fall into temptation.
7. Understand, beloved disciples, that this existence that you are enjoying today is a good opportunity to raise your spirit. For some, this will be the last incarnation, others will have to return to Earth again. This is the propitious time to speak to you in this way, let no one be scandalized or surprised by it.

Love one another!

8. Jesus at that time revealed to you many unknown lessons and carried out many works that at first caused confusion, but which were later recognized as True divine revelations. Keep this background in mind so that you do not venture your judgments at this time without having first analyzed my teachings.

9. If humanity had known how to analyze the prophecies of the First and of the Second Time, it would not be confused today before the realization of them; this is what happened in the Second Time when the Messiah was born among men, the same thing that happens now that I have come in Spirit.

10. The meaning of my teaching is the same in both times; it prepares you to make this life a kind but temporary home, where men look at each other and treat each other as brothers and the warmth of true fraternity flows from each other. Also prepare the spirit to penetrate after this life into those worlds or mansions that the Lord has reserved for His children. My wish is that when you go to them you will not feel strange, but that your spirituality and intuition will make you look at everything you find as if you had already been there before. There will be a lot of truth in it, if from here you know how to be in contact with the spiritual through prayer.

11. Open your spiritual eyes until you see the splendor of the light that radiates my truth, so that when you enter another dwelling you will not feel in darkness.

12. There is not one world of darkness among so many dwellings as the house of the Father has, its light is in all of them; but if the spirits penetrate them with a blindfold due to their ignorance, how can they contemplate that splendor?

13. If here in the world you ask a blind man what he contemplates, he will answer you that only darkness. It is not that the sunlight does not exist, but that he cannot contemplate it.

14. See that although the number of those who gather to listen to me is small, the love with which I come to give you my lesson is very great.

15. Among you are those who will bear witness that this is the Third Time in which the Holy Spirit speaks through the conscience to all men.

16. Within these multitudes are the spirits who were once part of the tribes of Israel, called the people of God, because they were entrusted with the Law and the revelations to spread them throughout the world. Some of these beings come to Earth for the last time to conclude a mission and to complete a spiritual restitution. When they ascend, they will form the steps where their brothers who are still left in the earthly valley can climb.

Love one another!

17. The light and the love that my word has has done the miracle of making pure and beautiful flowers sprout from the mud; try that when your body becomes human waste, your spirit full of whiteness and light detaches from it.

18. O spirits who are receiving my Doctrine, when you come to my presence, be humble and submissive, letting only my will be done in you! Many times you have come to incarnate on Earth because you persistently asked the Father; now I tell you not to ask me again, let my will be done in you.

19. When you came into the world because I commanded you, upon your return I rigorously asked you to account for your deeds. What will it be when you return after you have come because you asked the Lord for it? What will your judgment be like and how will you respond?

20. You marvel at listening to my teachings and you say in your heart: How perfect are the Master's lessons, to which I tell you that these are still small, because they all tend to correct and model imperfect beings: when you have reached spiritual perfection, then you will listen to the Word of God in its fullness.

21. Now your spirit has felt the time of my new manifestation through the human understanding and through it you feel my divine presence. My manifestation has once again been that of a Teacher; I am the one who gives you the lesson, but in turn, I have servants who come to explain to you later the teaching that you received; they are not human beings, because truly I tell you that there is no one on earth who can explain my new revelations; it is the spiritual world of light that comes to your aid so that you do not fall into confusion or make new mysteries of teachings that are as clear as daylight.

22. Everything has been arranged for the realization of this spiritual Work; not only your spirit was prepared to enter this path, also your flesh, the earth you tread, the environment that surrounds you, everything was arranged for my light to shine in the depths of your being.

23. The spirit was purified in the Afterlife, from the stains contracted in previous defilements; matter was washed away with pain and tears; the Earth claimed from men its primitive purity and the environment was saturated with prayers and prayers. Through the ladder of perfection the Lord descended to his people, he reached the step where you were and from there he made you hear his voice through his messengers or spokespersons.

24. How many lessons, how many teachings have I given you since the moment I gave you my first communication; through them I want you to come to understand that I have not come to divide men, but to unite them. To you, whom I found professing a religion, I came to tell you to read my book of love and divine wisdom, so that you may learn to be in spirit with all your brothers, without distinction of creeds, religions or ideologies.

Love one another!

25. This will be difficult for you at first, but when you understand this lesson, you will feel truly identified with all human beings, because you will feel vibrating in the depths of each of your fellow beings a spirit, who being a child of God has to be your brother.

26. Study, beloved people, so that you may be the disciple of the Third Time who is distinguished by his spirituality.

27. Analyze and you will understand that you are living the propitious time for you to study my Doctrine. Come disciples, come to Me, that I may lighten the weight of your cross. I will help you to conquer the place that in the Promised Land is reserved for each of you.

28. Feel my love in your being so that you understand that I exist and feel the divine desire to save you. My light is shed on all humanity because no creature could escape my gaze.

29. What would become of humanity if for a moment I denied it my spiritual light in these moments of trial and pain? Darkness would invade his reason, he would become obfuscated, and without hope he would run after death and be lost in the abyss; but if men, despite the chaos in which they are debating, secretly nourish a hope of salvation, it is because my divine light encourages them through their conscience and teaches them to expect everything from the infinite power of the Omnipotent God.

30. Verily I tell you, my word will change the face of your present world and of your whole life. For men of this time, the world and its pleasures are the reason for their life, the sooner they will know how to put the spirit before the body, and the body before the dress, and instead of going after worldly glories, they will seek the immortality of the spirit.

31. At first there will be fanaticism for the spiritual, the fulfillment will be taken to the extreme; but then the hearts will be serene and spirituality will emerge full of truth and purity.

32. When you look at the world struggling in wars, perishing of hunger or scourged by the force of the elements, there is no shortage of those who say that it is my justice that comes to destroy humanity; but truly I tell you that I have not come to destroy you but to save you. Those who believe that their life lies only in their matter and do not think about the survival of the spirit, look at their passage to the Afterlife as the end of their existence and then judge me inexorable and cruel.

Love one another!

33. If you knew that many times it is necessary to die for the world in order to survive in spirit, and that sometimes only a bitter pain or a bloody death are capable of awakening and shaking a spirit lethargic in materialism.

34. What do you know about life and death? What do you know about the spirit? Very little; it is precisely of what I come to instruct you so that you may be the ones who know how to live according to the greatness of the life that surrounds you.

35. At this time there is a hunger in the world, a hunger of the body and of the spirit; the hunger of the body afflicts you more and this is what makes you say to me: "Lord, in the past times you sent the manna of the desert on your people so as not to let them perish; then you entrusted to them a land prodigal in blessings, from the waters of Jacob's well his children drank and his children's children and many generations more, and when you came into the world to teach with your word, you took the crowd to the desert, you pitied them for their fatigue and hunger and you worked miracles for that they should eat loaves and fish. Why, now that you are watching us suffer so much to get bread, are you not moved by our hunger and our misery?"

36. If I told you that the answer to all these questions you carry in your conscience, you would not believe it; then I have to speak to you to tell you that what I gave you in the world for your sustenance and conservation, I have not taken it away from you, everything is there; but if it does not reach everyone it is because instead of cultivating that seed with the irrigation of fraternity, you water it with selfishness and perversity.

37. That is why it is necessary that a light of justice descends to the spirits and that is my inspiration that is poured out in this time on every being.

38. When men grow weary of the bitter fruits they have cultivated and turn their eyes to Me, they will find that spiritual life and material nature have never denied their fruits to the children of the Lord; they exist within every creature, and it was man who closed his eyes to reason and his intuition to eternal life. Then those who blasphemed before will confess that manna was never lacking in the desert of this life, that Jacob's well still pours crystal clear water and that the Lord performs a miracle every day so that humanity does not perish from hunger or thirst.

39. When the spirit of humanity opens its eyes to the light, it will contemplate a new life within the same life that until now it thought it knew too much and that in reality it had never known how to appreciate.

Love one another!

40. I come to you as the divine doctor who approaches the sick in body and spirit to restore them to lost health. I am the one who comes to raise up those who have died to the truth and true life. My charity is ready to wipe away the tears of those who have cried a lot, I will anoint all of them with its only balm, which is that of love.

41. Welcome the poor, those who mourn and those who suffer hunger and thirst for justice on earth and who suffer everything with patience, because I have come to them to reward their submission and their faith.

42. This era is a new opportunity to achieve the elevation of the spirit. Everything, even pain, influences humanity to move away from the materialism that has enslaved it.

43. Men will climb the holy mountain on whose summit they will find me, but before them, I will have already gone through a new Calvary in the heart of humanity and I will have been placed once again on the cross of my mission.

44. I will not build a new world on sins, hatreds and vices; I will build it on firm foundations of regeneration, of experience, of repentance; I will transform everything in you. Out of the same darkness light will arise, and out of death I will cause life to spring up.

45. If men have defiled and profaned the Earth, tomorrow with their good deeds they will dignify this dwelling, which will be seen as a land of promise to come to it to carry out noble missions. Who can then doubt the conversion of the world?

46. I tell you that when this humanity is more against me because of its impiety, because of its distance from justice and goodness, I will appear on its path full of splendor, as I went before Saul and I will make him hear my voice; then you will see how many of those who have inadvertently persecuted me, will rise transformed and enlightened to follow me along the paths of good, love and justice. To them I will say: stop your walking plant and drink from this fountain of crystal clear waters. Rest from the hard day to which I have subjected you. Entrust your cares to me and let my gaze penetrate deep into your spirit because I want to fill you with grace and comfort you.

47. Who among you can tell his Master that he does not have a suffering, that he carries peace in his heart, that he has conquered in this life of struggle and vicissitudes? I contemplate you sailing in a sea of trials and that is why I come to give you strength. Learn to read in the Book of Life that I eternally show you, because tomorrow you will have to be teachers. Each one of you will have to rise up imitating me by practicing the Law in order to be healthy in spirit and body. You will find many teachings in your path that will not lead you to Me; I show you the straight path, the shortest, that of spirituality.

Love one another!

48. In the Second Time only three years I gave you my word, and in them I prepared my disciples; in this Third Era I have spoken to you many more years and my disciples have not advanced nor have my apostles left the world to follow me.

49. Whoever wants to follow me, put the humble sandals on his soles, do not carry a double saddlebag because he will not need it on my way.

50. Prepare your pupils so that in the Third Time you will look at what is happening in the spiritual regions and you will be able to announce to the world that I have descended to enlighten every spirit. Prepare yourselves so that you may feel me and know how to receive what I am giving you. I will leave humanity a book and each of its pages will be a proof of love; you will join it to the first ones written by Moses and my apostles, and the works of my disciples of all times will also be written in that book that will contain my wisdom.

51. If you are still unable to make a great harvest present to me, pray and ask me for strength; watch that your lamp may shine with greater splendor and be the one that illuminates your path. I have seen you cry when you contemplate that obstacles do not allow you to work. You have said to me, "Master, cleanse our path of thorns, to move forward." Bend with love the sheath that I have given you, and do not show signs of weakness or nonconformity, do not tell me that you are weak, because I have made you strong. Do not say that fulfillment is a sacrifice; work with love and your works will be written. Climb the mountain of perfection until you find my presence. Lean on the staff that Elijah offers you. Look at his example. He, represented by an old man leaning on a staff, does not rest for an instant; he always goes in search of his lost sheep to rescue them and lead them to My presence. His spirit does not faint before disobedience and reluctance; his zeal and perseverance do not exhaust themselves; be like that, go on the roads and do not fear the world or temptation. Be strong because of the spirit I have given you.

52. Many regions have already prepared to wait for the farmers, and they have not yet fulfilled their mission. When you feel the full weight of your charge, you will take the road submissively and go in search of your destiny. In this time of surrender, do not limit charity, but do not come to sacrifice either; you could get tired and abandon the cross.

53. When you have healed the sick and removed their darkness, he will awaken his sleeping spirit and will rise to a new life. I will always protect you if you are within my laws because scientists will approach you who will claim you for having anointed the sick without being doctorates in the schools of the world, and the men who govern the destinies of your nation will also ask you what your law is and you will talk about my manifestation at this time and my revelations.

Love one another!

54. To testify my Doctrine, glorify my name with your works and your offering will come to Me.

55. Let the sick, the lepers, the afflicted, those who have no peace in their hearts, and also those who have sinned or blasphemed be with me; I will heal them all in body and spirit.

56. Verily I tell you that the sick person who knew how to keep, analyze and put into practice one of my words of life, would heal, because he would have a drop of my divine balm stored in his heart.

57. I have given you proofs of my power and of my charity so that you may take the path with full confidence. Receive this message of hope so that you may be strong in this time when sin has spread as the most contagious of evils.

58. An immaterial leprosy has spread over the earth, eating hearts and destroying faith and virtue. Men go covered in spiritual rags, they know that no one will be able to discover these miseries because humans do not see beyond what is matter, but the hour of consciousness is approaching; it is the same as if you said the day of the Lord or his judgment is about to arrive. Then shame will arise in some and remorse in others.

59. Those who listen to that inner voice, burning and inflexible, will feel inside the fire that devours, that exterminates and that purifies. To that fire of righteousness the sinner cannot resist, nor anything that is not pure. Only the spirit can resist him because he is endowed with divine strength; thus, when he has passed through the fire of his conscience, he will have to come out clean of his mistakes.

60. I told you a lot in times past about that fire, that judgment, that atonement; but the figures with which these teachings were represented you took them in a material sense and your imagination distorted the reality of those revelations.

61. How many twisted interpretations men gave to these divine lessons. They make me appear as a judge of monstrous cruelty. How many absurdities the human mind has created and then imposed them as the supreme truth.

62. Today I come in spirit to make you understand and live my divine teachings.

63. The prayer of birds is their song; the prayer of men are their pure thoughts that lift Me up. Everything created has an offering for its Creator. The Father also has a present for each of His creatures. However, in the human species there is neediness, misery, pain; it is the result of having made use of free will without listening to the voice of conscience;

Love one another!

it is the lack of harmony in the lives of men, between the divine and the material; but all this pain that weighs on the world today will serve to awaken it from its deep sleep. When humanity knows the truth and adjusts its life to it, it will find the harmony of the spiritual with the material Nature that surrounds it.

64. My new word will reach humanity as a message of light that will dispel the darkness of ignorance.

65. I am preparing at this time the new spirit fishermen who will rescue the shipwrecked from the raging waves. Among these fishermen will be those who listen to my word at this time, there will also be those who, without having heard me, have awakened the gifts of intuition and inspiration to receive my revelations; they will arise in different parts of the world and will know how to communicate and unite to be strong in the fight.

66. My new disciples will have many means for the propagation of this blessed seed; but never forget humility and simplicity because in this way I have reached you and in this same way you will approach hearts, homes and peoples. If you arrive in this way, you will be recognized as emissaries of a spiritual message and your struggle will bear fruits of true spirituality, regeneration and fraternity.

67. In the Second Time, when Jesus had concluded his divine mission on the cross, raising his eyes to infinity, he said thus: "Everything is finished".

68. In this Third Time, when I give you my last word through the human understanding, I will repeat those same words, as well as I will pronounce them again for the last time, when all of you in spirit will find yourselves in the land of promise where you will see me descend from my cross of redemption to tell you again: "Everything is finished".

MY PEACE BE WITH YOU!

Love one another!

Teaching 83

1. This is the time in which, as the prophets announced to you, every eye will see me, now I add, this is the time in which also every ear will hear me and every brain will understand my revelations.
2. The spirit is already able to interpret many lessons and penetrate many mysteries; it is no longer the infant of the first times, to whom many lessons had to be hidden so that he would not be confused, and it was necessary to present to him under symbolic figures all the mysteries that were revealed to him, so that he could start on the spiritual path.
3. Each era is a light, a new lesson and if I have prolonged this stage, it has been in order to give the great spiritual multitudes the opportunity to pass through the Earth so that they analyze my lessons and fulfill my teachings; thus they will take a step forward on the path of true life.
4. My new word will make you understand a lot about your past and that understanding will be the lamp that illuminates your spiritual path. That is why I have told you many times. "Lift up your face and realize the time in which you live", only in this way will you be able to take advantage of the stage of life that I have entrusted to you on Earth.
5. The spiritual gifts, faculties and potencies, have remained dormant in many men, in others they have had a weak development, but my divine light has come to tremble in its lethargy to the spirits to raise them to a higher life, through which they will be able to receive me in a more perfect way.
6. Analyze my lessons and tell me if this Doctrine can be enclosed within one of your religions; I have revealed to you its character and its universal essence, which does not materialize only to portions of humanity or peoples, but crosses the orbit of your world, to encompass the infinite with all its dwellings where, as in this world, children of God dwell.
7. Disciples: wake up, open your spiritual eyes, listen to my word, penetrate into its meaning and then take the good news to your brothers, but take care that your message is always clothed with the truth and purity with which I came to you and then you will gently awaken all those who sleep from their sleep, just as I came to awaken you all.
8. Come to Me, O beloved people! come to rest from earthly fatigue. Your heart opens to receive my love and strength and I welcome you and bless you.
9. I want you to live awake to the spirit in this time of materialism, in which every spiritual manifestation is despised, without remembering that in man the essential part is the spirit, and that he comes to forge himself and to rise in this life by his own merits.

Love one another!

10. It is my will that you, whom I have wrapped in my love, teach and cause to be reborn in your brothers, faith and trust in Me. I do not want to contemplate your indifference and lack of love for my Spirit. No one can break the sacred bonds that bind man to me, or prevent Me from loving you. Why has humanity not sought me in spite of its pain? Their words and actions lacerate my sensitivity as a Father, they do not appreciate my love or feel my blessing.
11. The solution of all the problems that afflict your brothers is in you. I have given you the key to peace so that there may be charity and love for one another. You can all attract my Spirit and feel my divine influence if you invoke me with love.
12. I want to see you smile with satisfaction after your struggle, I want you to feel that I have been very close to you. Do not complain to me if the present times are inclement; if you had remained virtuous, pain would not have hurt your heart, nor would you have stumbled. I have sent you to fulfill a destiny of love, which you have not yet understood.
13. The time is coming when you must go to work in other Lands. From today on, pray and watch over all the nations, because they bind you to it duties that you have to fulfill. Your prayer will enlighten and save spirits.
14. How will you be able to look with tranquility, that your brothers return to the spiritual valley bearing imprinted the materialism and the pain that they have collected on Earth? Many of them will incarnate again and let the suffering caused by their disobedience be seen, then you will see that the struggle of the spirit ends until it has been perfected.
15. Trust that your sweet teacher is leading you on the path of truth, wherever you are. Some at the beginning of the way, some at the end, you are all guided by Me.
16. My new divine revelations will surprise the spirit of humanity at this time, although in truth I tell you that their strangeness will be unjustified, because the most natural thing is that the spirit will receive on its way the fruit of its evolution.
17. I am the one who had to follow you along the paths you have taken, to get rid of risks and prevent you from getting lost. When will you come after Me, encouraged by that voice that said to Simon, Andrew and John, "Leave your boats and your nets and follow me"?
18. The struggle has been established inside your heart, you hear my voice that touching your spirit through your consciousness tells you: Follow Me! while the flesh and the world exert great influence on the spirit.
19. It pleases me that there is this inner struggle, because it means that despite feeling subject to the temptations of the Earth, you still retain love for Me, and you know how to listen to the voice of the spirit who claims the world and the flesh for their rights, but woe to those who do not feel that tempest within themselves, because their cold heart will be like the tomb that keeps a dead man!

Love one another!

20. Everything that happens at this time, said and written was by my prophets. Search in those scriptures and you will find the anticipated history of everything that you are now seeing in the world, but I tell you, there are events that are still to come and that were not announced in those times, because those prophecies, the Lord had reserved to make them known at this time through the human understanding.

21. Do you believe that everything was already foretold and that there would be no more prophets on earth?

22. Understand that I have come to reveal to you many prophecies that will be fulfilled tomorrow and I have done it through creatures clumsy in understanding and rude in word, to give you proofs of my power. Those prophecies, which have sprouted from humble lips, you have already seen some fulfilled, and the humanity of tomorrow will see every last one of them fulfilled.

23. Beloved disciples, be recreated with this atmosphere of spirituality that envelops you in the moments of my communication. Savor this bread and be strengthened with it, for you will soon cease to listen to my word. I will leave you full of my grace and my love, so that you may be able to get up quickly to spread the good news that I brought you in this Third Time.

24. Take care that there is always cleanliness in your heart, in that glass that you must keep as clean inside as outside, because that is where my love is deposited, as the water of eternal life.

25. Keep these meetings and make of them the holy cenacle. Not because you see that I lift up my word from among you, do you think that my Spirit is going to be distant from my disciples: always leave an empty place at the table for the Master, because I will always come to preside over your meetings and to distribute the spiritual bread in each one of you; but I tell you, that place should be in your heart.

26. The testimony that you give of my new coming must be clean, and then you will see the multitudes rise up from all parts of the earth, saying, "The Lord has returned as he announced to us on the cloud; he has sent us his people and we have joined Himself to Him."

27. O multitudes who hear me at this moment, you do not know which of you will be my messengers of tomorrow! Men will listen to them, but they will not expect any reward from them, nor flattery; they will go through the world sowing my seed, with an eye on the Lord.

Love one another!

28. I will not abandon my messengers to their own strength, because they would soon succumb in the struggle; they will be clothed with a power and a superior strength that will make them indefatigable and invincible.

29. A messenger of mine has never been alone in the struggle, legions of beings of light have accompanied and protected him, no one doubts or trembles when the hour of preaching and sowing approaches, because my love will be with you to give you courage, faith and strength.

30. The Sixth Seal was opened and its light was contemplated by the simple, by the humble, by the pure of heart. The candlestick is lit and humanity is still sleeping, and this people has not realized the greatness of the manifestation they have received; hence their fear to announce it to the world. at least let the waters of this fountain not be troubled, so that when the weary and thirsty walkers come to you, they may quench their thirst in them and confess that they are pure.

31. You have become familiar with the shadow of this tree and you are afraid to follow the roads that lead to other towns and regions, but I tell you not to wait for nightfall to go and give the good news, because everyone will be sleeping, go to the daylight, so that there is no mystery in your works. Do not rush your step, but every time you prepare, take a step forward, because the hour of your struggle is approaching. Whoever thinks he is ready and has risen ahead of time, I am stopping him with tests that I put in his path so that he recognizes that he does not yet feel my Work in his heart, that he has not analyzed it enough to preach it, that the feeling of charity still does not spring from his heart nor does he have the courage in the spirit to resist the hurricanes. Examples abound among you of those who, having risen up of their own free will, disobeying my orders, have fallen on the roads and their return has been painful. Why do you become ungrateful to my charity?

32. When some of you were tired of life, some lost in the uncertain paths and some sunk in the mire, who gave you help? Was it by chance the man? No, disciples, it was this word that overflows with life and hope that raised you up. What you were before you received my light, I did not realize, but what you do now, I do have to claim you. You know that my gaze discovered the one who came hiding his sister's bloodstained hand, the one who hid the petals of leafless roses and the one who tried to hide theft or adultery in his heart. I saw everything and on the cloak with which you hid your shame, I spread the veil of my mercy so that no one but Me would judge you, and with forgiveness and love I converted you and purified you.

33. Before this voice you had to wake up and before the invisible presence of the one who speaks to you, you had to believe. Again I say to you, "Blessed are those who have believed without seeing."

Love one another!

34. The hearts of the women trembled at the voice of their Divine Mother and every word of Mary was a drop of dew on those hearts dried up by suffering. And to the pleasant garden of the Virgin, the maidens, the wives, the mothers, the widows and also the defoliated flowers were led. A new fragrance has sprouted from all of them.

35. When will you be ready to take the teaching you have received to other peoples? See that the seed of love and spirituality is not yet germinating in the heart of this humanity. Fanaticism dominates the lives of men, religious fanaticism, fanaticism for their races, fanaticism for the glory and power of the world and fanaticism for themselves.

36. It is necessary that you improve your life every day so that you become an example and stimulus in the lives of your fellow men: Fulfill the mission that your Father has entrusted to you, which I will grant you to see your highest desires fulfilled.

37. But you must study and analyze my teaching, because if I asked you about my previous lesson, would you know how to repeat it? Verily I say to you, no, but do not be afraid, for I bring you one more this day, which will remind you of the previous one and help you to understand it. Here is the Master clothed with patience and love.

38. In the Second Time the Divine Word became man so that his teaching would be heard on Earth; in this time, the Word is light that descends to the human understanding and blossoms into the word of life.

39. John the prophet announced my coming at that time; now Elijah, communicating spiritually with men, prepared my spiritual manifestation in this age; but truly I tell you that one and the other forerunner are one spirit.

40. Each new age has been for you a set of revelations that explain to you the past events that you have not come to understand. The final harvest will give you true wisdom.

41. As long as my communication through these spokespersons lasts, I will not be recognized throughout the world, some time will have to pass, the hearts of my emissaries will have to be purified, then this message will be able to reach humanity, clean of material influences.

42. This teaching is the way to eternal life, everyone who discovers in this Doctrine, elevation and perfection, will know how to unite it to the one I entrusted to you when I was on Earth, because its essence is the same.

43. Whoever does not know how to find the truth contained in my lessons, will even be able to assure that this Doctrine does not lead to the same end as the teachings of Jesus; the spirits obfuscated by misinterpretations or confused by religious fanaticism, will not suddenly be able to understand the truth of these revelations, they will have to go through a path of trials to get rid of the materialism that prevents them from understanding and fulfilling my precept that teaches you to love one another.

44. I, the Master, am the only one who can reveal to you that at this moment millions of beings are traveling that painful path of trials, of experiences, of awakening, so that their eyes will open looking for horizons that are beyond what their heart and mind had been able to create.

45. "I have thirst," I say to you again, thirst for your elevation and for your love, but no one brings the water to my lips that can quench it; rather it is I who must keep the wound on my side open and fresh so that the water of life does not cease to flow over the world.

46. This is the time of the great battle described by the prophets in their spiritual visions and mirages; the time when men will oppose my Law with their strength, when every material or spiritual being who harbors egoism in his heart will rise up to fight against my justice. My sword is there, it is not the weapon that punishes or kills, it is the sword that in its struggle to save the one who perishes victim of himself, will lift him up with such force that sometimes even his body will lose to make him reach the eternal life of the spirit.

47. Understand these lessons well and you will not be confused, on the contrary, you will understand the reason for many of the terrible trials that humanity is going through and to which you are not able to explain.

48. The purpose of my manifestation is to divert your spirit from the path of pain. I called insistently until you had opened the door of your heart, then I was able to make you feel the tenderness of my blessing and my peace and you exclaimed: How close the Lord was to me!

49. Tomorrow you will bring this good news to humanity, which has believed itself to be more distant from its Lord, because when he speaks of God, he does so as something unattainable, incomprehensible and inaccessible.

50. The concept that humanity has of Me is childish, because it has not been able to penetrate the revelations that I have incessantly made to it. For the one who knows how to prepare, I am visible and tangible and wherever I am present, on the other hand, for the one who does not have sensitivity, because materialism has hardened him, he barely understands that I exist, and I feel immensely distant, impossible to be felt or seen in any way.

51. It is necessary for man to know that he carries me in himself, that in his spirit and in the light of his conscience he has the pure presence of the divine.

52. When my new message is received by humanity, you will feel a thrill of joy that will make you return to spirituality, through which you will feel closer to your Lord.

Love one another!

53. One of the reasons why I have materialized to manifest myself at this time, has been that you feel that I cannot be far from any of my children, nor is the spiritual life far from yours, and to prove it to you, I allowed the manifestation and presence of the spiritual world among you.

54. These are works that only I can and must do, no matter what judgment men form of them. I know that in the end my works will be seen by everyone as perfect.

55. The set of manifestations that you have had in this time, will be studied with great interest and in it humanity will find the great truths and the great revelations, because nothing is small in my Work.

56. Have confidence that this word will lead you on the right path, because if at that time Jesus passed and many did not feel it, now you must prepare your heart so that it receives the essence that I have brought to humanity. The promise I made to my apostles to return, I have fulfilled, but I still have many lessons to make known to you.

56. What am I manifesting among the rude, clumsy and sinners? Verily, I gave it to you to understand at that time, that my coming would be when there was great wickedness in the world.

58. A great confusion has also been foretold to you and is about to come; it is necessary that by then there is a luminous beacon that guides the shipwrecked and they can find the right route, and I tell you in truth that this beacon has already turned on its light and illuminates the world: I, who approach the heart of man to make him hear my voice.

59. Again I tell you, whoever keeps my word and observes my teachings, he will be saved.

60. I do not come to awaken religious fanaticism among men; my Doctrine is very far from teaching falsehoods; I want amendment, faith, charity, spirituality. Fanaticism is a sign of darkness, it is an insane passion, it is darkness; take care that this evil seed does not penetrate into your heart, see that sometimes fanaticism has the appearance of love.

61. Understand that these darkness have invaded humanity in these times. See how, in spite of the fact that the pagan peoples have disappeared from the Earth and that the majority of humanity professes a cult of the true God, men do not know me or love me, because their wars, their hatreds and their disharmony are the proof that they still do not let me live in their hearts.

62. Over the darkness of this religious fanaticism and idolatry, great whirlwinds are approaching that will have to purify the spiritual worship of this humanity. When that work has been accomplished, the iris of peace will shine in infinity.

Love one another!

63. Only my voice, in its divine justice, can tell you that you have not fulfilled your mission on Earth, nor in the spiritual space, when you have passed through it.

64. There are no obstacles for Me to communicate with men and make them know my will, see that there has been no need of righteous men for my manifestation, because I have given you my word through sinners, and in this you will be able to find one more proof of my power and of my charity.

65. I want everyone to whom this message reaches, to purify himself here on Earth with the practice of this heavenly Doctrine, so that when he returns to the Afterlife, he will already make him clean in spirit.

66. Every word that flows from Me is of eternal life, today you are receiving it through the human mouthpiece.

67. I tell you, it is a good indication that at this time you had communicated with the Father through your understanding, but you should also know that this way is not the goal, nor the summit of perfection; that before and in all times, the Lord had spoken to the world through human mouths, but this communication, in the midst of a materialized humanity and a world insensitive to the spiritual, is a miracle that tomorrow men will attribute only to the love that God has for you, but it is also proof that the spirit of man tends to rise spiritually.

68. This is the dawn of a new era; the first rays begin to awaken men. When your faith and elevation conceive me beyond what you understand as just, eternal and perfect, you will see me in the infinite sending my light to every being.

69. My Divinity will be for your spirit, like the light of noon, like the star that illuminates and gives life to the universe, the zenith will shine, and the hearts, when communicating with their Father, will receive directly its divine rays through the perfect communication of spirit to Spirit, which is the goal and the ideal for harmony between the Father and the children, and also between brothers.

70. I must ask you, people, What have you done with the seed that I have entrusted to you? What have you sown in your fields? have you cleared the roads, so that your brothers can reach Me? Great are the multitudes that listen to me at this time, but the portion that truly follows me is small. I contemplate the innermost depths of your heart and I tell you: Do not seek me as a judge, always seek me as a Father and as a Teacher, then I will open my arcanum to you, and you will feel safe.

71. In my new advent, as in times past, I have left the Arcanum open to reveal many teachings to you, because there is joy in the Father when he reveals new teachings to his children, but woe to you if, also receiving my divine commands, you forget them or stop fulfilling them for lack of love, because you will have made your Father a Judge!

72. How much Mary has wept over your misery! How much you owe to his tenderness and his love! Both those who call her and those who ignore her, she makes everyone feel her maternal warmth and the infinite sweetness of her caress. Truly, I tell you, before the spirits can come to Me, they must encounter Mary, the divine Mother, on their way.

73. You also have a pastor at this time. As Moses brought you out of Egypt and led you gathered together through the desert to the foot of Sinai, so that you would listen to the voice of the Father and receive the Law, so at this time, Elijah has brought you out from different parts of the Earth, to bring you along the path of spiritual preparation, to the foot of the new mountain, from which you hear my divine voice and receive the revelation.

74. Here is Elijah, the one who, together with Moses and Jesus, the disciples contemplated in a spiritual vision on Mount Tabor. This is his Era. Strengthen your spirit with the warmth of His presence and awaken to hope.

75. Verily I tell you, that this time of transcendence on Earth is also in the whole Universe and that while I speak to you in this way, in other worlds and in other valleys, I also make myself felt. My Spirit is omnipresent.

76. Pray, people, with a spirit and thought of peace, that you may overcome temptations. Do not settle for the peace of your home or your nation. Work for the peace of all your brothers. "Love one another."

MY PEACE BE WITH YOU!

Love one another!

Love one another!

Teaching 84

1. I have not come to contemplate great or small, in this age I have spoken to all of you as children whom I love in the same way. Seek the essence of my teaching and spread it, and the more you give to your brothers, the more it will be multiplied to you.
2. It is My charity that helps you to endure the pain of your atonement, by means of which you purify your spirit. Preserve the state of spiritual elevation as much as you can, so that you will not find yourself groaning again in my presence.
3. Multitudes have come from different regions in search of my word, their cares and visions make me present. I, who contemplate the afflictions and sufferings through which the nations are going through, ask you to send them a message of peace with your heartfelt and full of charity prayer. Pray for your brothers; ask that it will be given to you.
4. If you have faith in Me and trust in my word, war will not penetrate this nation and this will be one more testimony that my divine Spirit descended on you. The merits that you must do so that miracles may be accomplished in your path will be: regeneration, prayer, charity, goodwill and love for your brothers and sisters.
5. You who form a people destined to give proof and witness of my manifestation in this age, do not go to falter, do not want to see sister blood shed in your nation, in your squares and in your fields; do not want to see mourning or hunger in your children. I am giving you weapons of light so that you can defend yourself from any stalking, I have also taught you how you can preserve the health of the spirit and that of the body, so that you will find yourself strong. Yes, people, do not look for the disease anymore, do not forget that it is always disobedience that opens the doors. Pray for yourselves and for all humanity; to those who shed tears for the nations that are going through the hard trial, I say that peace will arise from them again. From those who kill each other today and wage war against each other, I will make those who preach and practice love for one another tomorrow spring up. My power is great, do not doubt him. You will see how on the destruction of this humanity I will build a new world, where no trace of what was sin will be found.
6. If I have called many nations and peoples deaf, it is because my voice knocked on the doors of all hearts and they did not understand my call. Those who have fallen into the abyss of passions may blaspheme against me here in the world, but once in my presence they will have to confess that I was with every man and with every people in time to warn and warn him. I do not predispose you against anyone, I charge you every moment to make your thoughts pass as a spirit of peace over the world, although I do warn you, so that you do not let yourselves be surprised by strange doctrines, or by false promises, so that you do not let tares, discord, selfishness be sown in your heart. Fulfill your mission and leave the rest to Me.

7. Truly I tell you that the elements are ready to be unleashed in obedience to divine justice. They will do the work of purification and, I also tell you: humanity may disappear from the Earth, but my name and my presence can never be erased from the spirit.

8. Disciples: as long as the world recognizes that you were not wrong, put up with ridicule and mockery; I will pour out on him the signs and proofs that will make him wake up and open his eyes to the light, but work, for I will not send the world to sleep. Today that you have awakened by the call of your Master, take advantage of the time so that at the end you can show me an abundant harvest of your sowing.

9. Come before my chair and fill your spirit with wisdom. In the midst of the chaos that reigns in your world, you have found this corner of peace, where you can listen to the voice of the angels, who tell you: "Peace on earth to men of good will".

10. If some of your brothers find out about these lessons, let them, my new disciples are scattered among humanity and if the unbelievers mock you and slander you, forgive them, I will do justice; many of those who do not know you today, tomorrow they will bless you. On your way, always keep in mind the example that I came to give you in the Second Time, he will help you to bear your cross with patience. Remember that I was unknown while I was on Earth and I was only recognized long after my passage among men.

11. Have patience and understanding, for it will not be you that humanity will have to recognize, but my work, my Doctrine, and it is eternal. Your mission is to carry, with your words and your deeds, the message that reveals to men the way to take a step towards perfection.

12. Truly, I am hungry and thirsty for your love and your understanding. You all have the intuition that I exist, but who knows Me? Truly the idea you have of my Divinity is vague, because through your rites and images you have limited and falsified me. To free you from this error, my word, like an inexhaustible torrent, will continue to fall on your spirit until the moment appointed by my will. In the meantime, my teachings and my revelations will tell you who you are, what is your beginning and your end and by knowing yourself, you will know your Father better. I declare to you that what I have revealed to you in this word and what I am about to reveal to you, no teacher in the world, no matter how wise, could have taught you, because only I can discover the impenetrable, when it is necessary for you to know it.

13. This has been my communication in the Third Time, something that was not foreseen by humanity, because it has forgotten the prophecies, and today I have come in fulfillment of them. The language of the spokespersons through whom I have communicated with men, has been humble, but in the essence of this word is my love and my wisdom.

14. Whoever analyzes my spiritual Doctrine of the Third Time and testifies to it with his works, will encompass with his spirit, his heart and his mind, everything revealed by my Divinity in the previous times and his interpretation of those lessons will be just. Again my Law will rise up among men to destroy whatever falsehoods they have created to cover up and protect their wickedness. The book of life and truth will be opened before all the peoples of the earth and no one will be able to deceive them.

15. The mask of hypocrisy will fall from the face of the Pharisees and their mouths, which have always lied in offering salvation to humanity, will remain silent forever, but do not point fingers or betray them.

16. In the Second time, when the scribes brought the adulterous woman to my presence, after confusing them with my fault, I touched the spirit of each one, without betraying them publicly; my index was writing in the dust of the earth, the faults of all those who came to see what Jesus was writing. I say today to those who listen without faith: while you are listening to this word. be silent and meditate so that later you can judge, you will understand that in this age I have come to give you my love so that you may drink drop by drop of this virtue that among you you have not been able to find. There are few who follow me and I will use them to spread my seed.

17. I am the God of all men, of all religions and of all sects, the only one, and if I open my arcanum and pour it out for everyone, why should they not recognize me? No one can live without the idea of God, even if the way he conceives him is imperfect and his worship imperfect. I receive the offering of all my children, but the Father already wants to receive the just and worthy tribute.

18. My Doctrine does not come to enslave anyone, it comes only to elevate your life within the human and the spiritual. He who aspires to be by his works a true son of God, will not be able to reserve for himself, all that he has received from me, How many there are that having a lot of knowledge seem to be wells of wisdom and in reality they are only by their egoism, wells of darkness!

19. Be disciples of Jesus and you will be brothers of humanity. Feel what you do and what you speak. Whoever does not feel my love in his heart, take pride in talking about love, because he will fall into transgression. To talk about love, you must wait for my seed to germinate in your heart. I will give you time to achieve your preparation, your conversion and your transformation. Remember that many of you, when you came to hear this word, were unbelievers. Before my manifestation, some even mocked her and others mocked the spokespersons for whom I was speaking to you at that time, but I waited, I spoke to you through your conscience and then with tears of repentance you asked me for forgiveness for your doubt. Now, despite the trials and obstacles that accumulate in your path, you are following me with unshakable faith. I am the sower, the fighter who never rests.

20. In order to give you tangible proofs of my truth, I have prophesied to you many events of near fulfillment. So you saw that when I announced to you an upcoming war when everything was peace, the war was. When I told you that the elements would be unleashed and that for some they would be like friends, but for others they would show themselves as enemies, how soon you saw their fulfillment; but to each one of you in the silence of his life I have also fulfilled a promise. And if many of my prophecies you will not see fulfilled, it is because they are given for many generations after yours; but you already know what will become of this world, of man and of his spirit, in times to come. From the past times, I predicted to you the signs that would announce this Era and my new manifestation; the signs, great and clear, were shown to confirm my truth. From now on I am announcing to you those that will precede the spiritual battle and then the time of peace. The light of prophecy is once again among humanity. My word is full of prophecies, men see tomorrow, through dreams, mirages or foreboding. Ancient prophets foretold the prophets of this time. It is not hallucinations that you are contemplating, but it is necessary that you channel your gifts well so that the light of the Holy Spirit is reflected in you. You will have to give true tests to humanity and by those tests many will believe. There will come before this people, men and women in caravans, men of other races and speaking other languages, you will receive them all. Truly I say to you, if there are no strangers or strangers at his table in the house of the Lord, neither should you, who are the Lord's children, for this reason distinguish those who are your brothers.

21. I point out to you your mission, take life as I give it to you, walk serenely step by step. Thus, even if you lived for a short time in this world, you will have gathered an abundant harvest in it. Then you will not be like those who, having lived a long time on Earth, come to my presence as mean and naked as when they started the journey.

22. Do good deeds in your life, which have a spiritual essence or purpose. Do many of those works that are not published or seen, because they are done with the heart.

23. Have the book of my teaching before your eyes, do not let its lessons go unnoticed; truly I tell you, the moment will come when I will ask you for the summary and analysis of what has been revealed to you. Life will also ask you for the lesson through the trials that it puts you on the way, but who is life but I who have given light to your understanding, sensitivity to your heart and gifts and powers to your whole being, so that you understand the deep and eternal language of your existence?

Love one another!

24. In my Doctrine I teach you to live in such a way that even in the most bitter trances, you should feel happy to exist, knowing that you are children of God, and I also teach you to appreciate what surrounds you so that your joys may be healthy and true.

25. The world is a great garden where I cultivate hearts, but at this time you will find all its flowers withered. I come to give you a new watering and I will not cease in my efforts to lavish my care on you until I inhale the fragrance of this spiritual garden. When the corollas of the flowers open, there will be wonderful signs and manifestations among men.

26. These spokesmen through whom my word flows at this time, were plants withered by the burning sun of pain, but the divine irrigation descended to them and they bloomed. The beauty and nectar of the phrases that pour their lips, have the likeness of flowers.

27. This people, which has known how to inhale that perfume and keep that seed, has also flourished and fructified. It is a small garden from which my charity is picking the most fruitful plants to sustain the faith of the multitudes, because in truth I tell you: I am the seed of eternity. Mary is the divine watering. There in the divine the Creator and the Mother watching over His Work.

28. My words of the Second Half have been the way of salvation for those who have persevered in it. Blessed are those who have put their trust in my teaching. But do not think that everyone who claims to believe in Me trusts in my word or practices my Doctrine. I see in men at the moment of trial, hesitating between forgiving as Jesus teaches or defending themselves as their instinct advises them. In their hearts they feel that it is difficult to put the Master's lessons into practice. To these I say, that until they have faith and love for their fellow men, it will not be possible for my Doctrine to be the one that guides hearts; but I will send virtuous men to the peoples of the earth who will prove to you the strength of faith and the miracles that forgiveness, charity and love do.

29. Without faith and without complying with the Law, my word is only like a vain seed that, sown, is not born because the one who fertilizes that seed is virtue. When this word reaches all hearts, there will be many who judge the Lord's judgment too severely, that's why I tell you that you are a world that needs faith, to be able to feel and understand me.

30. I say to all of you who call yourselves belonging to the Christian world, that my judgment is benevolent if you take into account that twenty centuries ago I brought you a divine message so that with it you could overcome the world, the flesh, the passions, death, and I still see you entrusting everything to your own strength, to your way of feeling and thinking. And if the instincts of the flesh still prevail over the virtues of the spirit, it is because you are still more matter than spirit.

Love one another!

31. The contest is approaching, they will fight the faith of some against the skepticism of others; the morality of some against the evil of others. And as in times past, my charity will be with the children who trust in Me, to help them to perform prodigious works, as can only be done when they have true faith in my Divinity.

32. You must understand that I am not only coming in search of those who believe in Me, but I am coming for those who doubt my existence. The second time I came as the promised Messiah, I appeared among the people who believed in the invisible God, but my message was not only for Israel, but for all the Gentile peoples who did not know me. He did not come to save some and let others be lost.

33. The stout tree stretches out its branches to protect everyone and offers its fruits without distinction. Do you remember that I have ever pointed out to you peoples to whom you should not have taken my word? I have never taught you to look for reasons to deny someone my light. Were you truly righteous when I made you worthy to hear my word and to receive my good pleasure? I tell you the truth, no.

34. I found you sinning and so I chose you to lead you to the source of regeneration, so that tomorrow you would do the same with your brothers. This is the time when sinners will save sinners and the dead will rise to raise their dead. Hardened hearts, those who have seen the widow, the orphan, the hungry, the sick pass by without their fibers being moved, will awaken to love, they will shudder at the pain of others and destroy their egoism; they will forget even themselves, to share the pain of their brothers.

35. Whoever does not know pain, will not be able to understand those who suffer; that is the reason why I use those who have drunk a lot in the cup of pain, so that they may be able to understand the miseries of humanity and be the ones who bring true comfort.

36. He who has sinned and then returned to the right path, he will never be able to be scandalized by the faults of his fellow men, but he will know how to be forgiving and understanding.

37. Anyone who wakes up surprised by the clarity of this light will understand that this is the time in which he must work for humanity, separating a few moments from the time he dedicates to the world, to consecrate them to the spiritual practice of charity, so you will love your Lord and serve your brother.

38. You will not be one of those who, seeing what is happening in the world, exclaim, "This is the time of judgment and death, after which, perhaps, hell awaits."

39. I tell you that it is a time of reconciliation and resurrection and that beyond awaits the peace of my glory to all who believe and rise up after my word.

Love one another!

40. There is joy in my spirit, when I see myself surrounded by those whom I have called at this time my disciples. You are the ones predestined to fulfill a spiritual mission, in this Third Age.

41. It has been a long way that you have had to travel in order to be able to receive this revelation, but you do not feel tired, because the spirit that knows how to rise above matter and above the passions of the world, never tires of seeking me or following me. At this time I have come to pour out my charity on every spirit and on every understanding so that, by opening your spiritual eyes, you may contemplate true life in all its fullness. "Every eye will see me"" I told you referring to this time, and indeed every eye is beginning to see me.

42. Humanity is awakening and sensing the truth, many teachings will be revealed directly to your spirit, because it will not be men who point them out to you. When this humanity comes to hear my voice in the depths of its heart, it will not turn away from Me again, because it will have felt my love and it will have contemplated the light of truth. You are the children of light, the Trinitarian Marian Spiritualists, because you are the ones who have seen the Holy Spirit coming and have heard His revelation. Would it be right for the children of light to create darkness among mankind? No, my children.

43. Your heart is surprised and says to me: Master, why do you distrust us? To which I reply: I give you these warnings, because this time of light is also a time of lies, of deception, of dangers, because the forces of evil float in your environment, which make people fall and can tarnish your light if you do not watch. It is the time of the light, not because man has kindled it, but because I have brought you my revelations in fulfillment of the prophecies. It is the time of falsehood, but not because of my coming among men, but because of their wickedness, which has reached a greater height.

44. The final battle is approaching, but I am not talking about your fratricidal wars, but about the struggle of the light against everything that is false, impure, imperfect. Recognize the moment you are living, so that you may hasten to gather weapons of love and spiritual strength. Understand from now on, that in the midst of this battle, you are not only going to fight for your own faith and salvation, but forgetting yourselves, you will have to go after those who are in danger of perishing.

45. This is a time of light, because the human spirit through its evolution and experience has collected light in life. Do not mourn your past anymore, but you must take advantage of all its lessons, so that from now on you may look at your enlightened path and no longer have stumbles or uncertainty at crossroads.

46. Your spiritual past is unknown to your matter, I leave it imprinted in your spirit, so that it is like an open book and is revealed to you by consciousness and intuition. That is my justice, that before I sentence you, I give you the opportunity to repair the fault or to rectify the error. If the past were erased from your spirit, you would have to go through the trials already passed again, but if you listen to the voice of your experience and let yourself be illuminated by that light, you will see your path cleaner and the horizon brighter.

47. The world offers you many pleasures, some granted by Me and others created by man, now you have seen that you have not been able to reach them, which has caused discontent to some and sadness to others. I must tell you that it is not granted to many at this time to fall asleep or get lost in the delights and satisfactions of matter, because their mission is quite another. Truly I tell you, there is not a single spirit in mankind who has not known all the delights and eaten all the fruits. Today your spirit came to enjoy the freedom to love me and not to be a slave to the world, gold, lust or idolatry again.

48. The ladder of Jacob's dream is presented before your eyes so that you may ascend it in search of your greater dignity and your perfection. My spiritual Law does not exempt you from your earthly duties, you have to find a way to harmonize both laws so that your fulfillment is perfect before my Divine and before the world.

49. The good soldier should not run away from battle, he should not be intimidated by rumors of war. In that approaching universal contest, you will be soldiers, justice will be your cause and love, goodwill and charity will be your weapons. For a long time, without realizing it, you have been fighting against the adversary that is evil, the one who inspires war and hatred. Your weapons are not only fighting against visible elements, but also against invisible elements: to help you in this fight I have given you the gifts of clairvoyance and revelation, so that you may discover the wolf when it stalks you.

50. I want my disciples to learn to live in harmony with all creation, to march in step with the times, so that they reach the end at the right time, at the hour appointed by Me, so that when I call you, you will already be present and able to answer me.

51. At this moment your spirit will rise up to Me to ask for my help, he knows that I have given him gifts that are eternal and innate to him, but the matter as a weak creature also raises its eyes to the Creator to ask him and what she asks for, are only satisfactions for the world and many of them superfluous.

52. Let the last one ask of me, but what can you ask of me that you do not possess? Why are you asking me for what you already have in your being? If you pronounce the Lord's Prayer that I taught you, do it by feeling and understanding its essence and then meekly let the Father's will be done "Both on earth and in Heaven". Penetrate into my Doctrine and you will find in yourselves treasures and gifts that you do not believe today, possess.

53. It is necessary that you learn to ask, to wait and to receive and that you never forget to give what I grant you, which is what contains the greatest merit. Pray for those who die day after day in the war. I will grant to those who pray with a clean heart, that before 1950, everyone who has died in the war, will rise spiritually to the light.
